Army Defeats Navy Six To 0 In Charity Game Before 70,000

West Point Fails To Take Advantage Of Many Opportunities To Put Over Scores

Starting Line-Ups

ARMY	NAVY
Goalkeeper	Goalkeeper
Defenders	Defenders
Halfbacks	Halfbacks
Forwards	Forwards

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y., Dec. 13.—After having made two early threats at the Navy goal line only to have them stopped, the Army, because of its brilliant halfback, Stetcher, who slipped off left tackle late in the last quarter and ran 56 yards to score, triumphed over its ancient enemy this afternoon by a 6 to 0 score. Over 70,000 wildly howling fans sat through one of the fiercest and most stubborn battles ever played between the two branches of the service, and they were rewarded many times over. The weather was clear and cool, and it was estimated that the gate receipts were nearly $1,000,000, practically all of which will be turned over to the Salvation Army for distribution among the poor and unemployed.

The Army clearly outplayed the Navy in every phase of the game. The Navy was limited to only four first downs during the entire game, and two of them were chalked up because of Army penalties, of which there were many. Meantime the Army was running up 14 first downs.

Outside of Stetcher's brilliant run, the longest gain from scrimmage was a 13 yard run by Bowman of the Army just before the game ended. The Army varied its attack and was successful in more phases than was the Navy.

The first quarter started with a rush and before five minutes had passed the Army had run up four downs and was on the Navy 15 yard line. However, an Army pass at that point was incomplete and the Navy varied its attack and was successful in more phases than was the Navy.

HOSTILITIES QUIT BETWEEN HOOVER AND UPPER HOUSE

Senators Turn Efforts To Get Co-operation For Relief Measure

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Hostilities between President Hoover and the rebellious Senate quieted down yesterday as the death of Senator Overman, of North Carolina brought a truce.

Senate Republican leaders turned to the ambitious task of bringing about a new co-operation movement on relief legislation with the understanding that before Mr. Hoover strikes out again at their recalcitrant members he will confer on strategy.

The administration forces have made it plain that they did not like the tactics employed by the President in accusing those who sponsored relief legislation outside his program of "playing politics at the expense of human misery."

But word reached the capitol that Mr. Hoover contemplated a new attack on the Senate floor. This did not materialize although it became known that the executive officers felt the deletion by the Senate of the presidential authority to transfer from one department to another funds of the emergency appropriations bill would hamper relief activities.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, who has been striving to smooth over the Senate's attitude toward the relief bill, is bringing about a closer cooperation between the White House and Senate, issued a statement last night saying the President's attitude and the President's who was called upon to explain the President's attitude in the instance of the Senate Republicans that he could not do so.

Meeting To Discuss Fertilizer Costs Is Attended By Many

The meeting of the Seminole Agricultural Club which was held at the Seminole High school Thursday night for the purpose of discussing "Lower Fertilizer Costs" was held by Alex R. Johnson, director of Vocational Agriculture at the school, to have been attended by over 80 farmers, a record crowd.

Mr. Johnson was the principal speaker of the evening and led the discussion on plant foods and their relation to the amount of fertilizer used and the total cost of preparing the ground. It was brought out that the relay plots on the school farm which are being grown for a fertilizer cost of about $109 per acre were equal or possibly better as to quality and condition of the ground, than the relay fields of many farmers in the vicinity who pay about $140 per acre for fertilizer. An invitation was extended to every grower in this section to visit the school farm.

Plans are now being made, according to Mr. Johnson, to hold discussions of fertilizer cost problem, and members of each class at the school are expected to prepare a program and lead the discussion on the subject.

Important Meeting Slated By Chamber

Over 200 invitations were mailed to the members of the Chamber of Commerce this morning by Miss Mary M. Powell, secretary, to members of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce calling their attention to the regular membership luncheon which will be held Monday at 12:15 o'clock at the Walden Hotel.

Several important matters are expected to be discussed, and a number of committee reports are scheduled for hearing. President Harry M. Papworth declared today that at this meeting he will answer certain accusations made recently that the Chamber of Commerce is a political organization.

VICKERY FOUND NOT GUILTY OF SLAYING BEAL

Acquittal Verdict Is Brought In At 10:30 O'clock Last Night After Deliberation

"Not Guilty" was the decision of the jury which had been sitting on the case of the State of Florida versus J. M. Vickery, former Sanford policeman who was on trial for his life charged with murder in the first degree. The verdict was rendered before a small audience in Judge Wallace W. Wright's 23rd Judicial Circuit Court last night at about 10:30 o'clock, more than seven hours after the jurors had been given the case.

Reported dead-locked at 6 o'clock last night, Judge Wright adjourned court until 8 o'clock, but it was not until 8:30 o'clock that the jury made its re-appearance in the court room. At that time the foreman asked that the jury be charged again, for it was in doubt as to a matter of law, Judge Wright then read the entire charge to them, and the jurors returned for further deliberations. It is reported that at that time they stood eight for acquittal and four for manslaughter. The decision was reached at about 10:15 o'clock, but some time was lost because court authorities went for Mr. Vickery who had gone home, but whose presence was required. No comment was made by either attorney following the verdict, but Vickery's counsel turned to him with a smile and a nod, Vickery answering with only a slight smile.

The case thus ended exactly one month after the fatal shooting of Sam W. Beal, son-in-law of Vickery, took place. Vickery maintained on the stand that he did not know how the gun went off during a struggle of some minutes' time. There were no eye-witnesses. To the shooting, although Walter Russell, an employee at the cigar factory, owned by Henry Groper and Vickery, where the party was held, was in an adjacent room and heard a part of the scuffle.

The state introduced in evidence, while the defense offered by one, Vickery himself. State Attorney Millard Smith handled the prosecution for the State.

The jury was composed of J. J. Carter, Sanford, banker; F. W. Hall, Sanford, salesman; B. E. Munger, Oviedo, farmer; J. E. Munger, Longwood, field man; A. C. Haines, Altamonte, farmer; A. H. Stone, Sanford, civil engineer; C. E. Cherington Jr., Sanford, insurance owner; R. R. Murphy, Oviedo, garage owner; W. H. Sley, Oviedo, packing house manager; A. E. Morgan, Oviedo, farmer; G. E. Parker, Galvesta, orange grower; and W. H. Pope, Galvesta, orange grower.

While court is scheduled to reconvene Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when the second murder case on the docket, the State of Florida versus Roy White and Percy Peterson charged with having slain W. T. Hines, a local farmer, will be tried, at a late hour today, there was some indication that because of the absence of one of White's attorneys, the trial will be postponed until Thursday.

This morning Rufus Merchants, a negro youth who is accused of having stabbed to death a negro named Roosevelt Kendrick, was given a hearing at a coroner's inquest. He admitted cutting the negro Kendrick, and gave as his motive the fact that Kendrick came at him with a chair, and that he was defending himself. He was bound over for action of the grand jury at the Spring term by a jury composed of Howard Overlin, W. C. Woodruff, D. J. Garrett, B. W. Pearson, M. D. Tarbell, and Sam Bradford, who were of the opinion that Kendrick came to his death as the result of being stabbed by Merchants.

DEFENSE CALLS ITS WITNESSES IN MAJOR'S TRIAL

Grandmother Of Victim Takes Stand In Behalf Of Accused

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The 80-year-old grandmother of Mrs. Zenetta Shepard, alleged by the government to have been fatally poisoned by her husband, Major Charles A. Shepard, took the witness stand today in defense of the army medical officer at his murder trial. The aged witness, Mrs. Zenetta Curtis, Los Angeles, was the first defense witness to testify. After the court had overruled a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal, the prosecution brought the case to a close. It alleged that statements made by Shepard after his arrest included the assertion that Miss Grace Brandon, libelous stenographer for the late of whom the government charges he poisoned his wife was a "liar" if she said he would divorce his wife to marry her.

In the statement Shepard was quoted as saying he had never discussed the subject of divorce with his wife and that nobody had (Continued on Page 4.)

Premier Of France Presents Ministry Before President

PARIS, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Theodore Steeg, new French premier, called this morning at the Elysee Palace and presented the members of his ministry to President Doumergue. He was undisturbed by the defection of two under-secretaries as he reached the presidential quarters.

Yielding to pressure from their groups Etienne Riou, under-secretary of air, and Leon Barthe, under-secretary of finance, informed M. Steeg they will be unable to stay in the cabinet, their decisions breaking at the last moment into the complete list of officials which the premier achieved only after many hours of labor.

Riou belongs to the left socialist radical group. Barthe was under-secretary in the Tardieu government. It is not understood whether their action will stop the government's going ahead and writing a declaration of policy in which it will stake its life before the chamber of deputies next Thursday.

Varner Will Remain In Charge Of Church

The Rev. Carroll Varner, pastor of the First Methodist Church who came here some months ago to succeed the Rev. W. P. Hubbard, will remain in charge of the local church for another year. That was the decision of the short session of the Florida Conference of the Methodist Church which was held early this week at Lakeland.

According to the Rev. Varner, the meeting adjourned Wednesday night after a busy and heated session. Only a few changes were made throughout the state. Bishop John M. Moore presided over the session. It was not decided where the next session of the Conference would be held. Rev. Varner added.

Ray Hubbuck Is Dead Following Illness

Illness of short duration resulted in the death of the Fernand Loughlin Memorial Hospital last night of Raymond J. Hubbuck, 28, for the past six months a resident of Sanford and an employee of the Zachary Veneer Co. He resided at 205 S. 12th Street, and is survived by his widow, Alma Hubbuck, one son, aged three years, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Hubbuck, of Louisville, Ky.

Mr. Hubbuck came to Sanford from Louisville, Ky., his home, about six months ago, and has been employed at the Zachary Veneer Co. for about four months. He was a railroad clerk by profession.

His body, accompanied by his widow and son, left this afternoon for Louisville where burial will be made.

CENSORSHIP FOR CUBAN PRESS IS IMPOSED FRIDAY

Move Is 1st Outward Display Of Revocation Of Guarantees

HAVANA, Dec. 13.—(AP)—For the second time since the November congressional elections, a news censorship was imposed in Cuba yesterday. It was the first outward sign the republic was given that constitutional guarantees, declared suspended Thursday afternoon by presidential decree, had been withdrawn through-out the island.

The censorship was less drastic than that previously employed. Censors, stationed in the cable offices and radio stations, were instructed to inspect only those messages sent from point to point within the republic and not to interfere with either outgoing or incoming international transmittals.

The apparent reason for the imposition of the censorship with respect to the interior of the island was to prevent reports of possible disturbances being broadcast about the republic.

Thus far the application of the decree signed by President Machado—suspending constitutional guarantees—has been limited. The military has not yet been called out.

Imposition of the censorship represented another step by President Machado to extinguish the sparks of political discontent, which have threatened to burst into a devastating fire.

The suspension affects six articles of the Cuban constitution. Invalidity of the laws, freedom of speech, right to hearing (Continued on Page Six)

Medical Society Of County Elects New Officers For Year

The election of officers for the coming year occupied the attention of the 111 Sanford physicians who met last night in the offices of Dr. W. T. Langley for the purpose of electing the regular monthly meeting of the Seminole County Medical Society.

Dr. H. D. Smith was elected president, Dr. J. W. Martin, vice-president, Dr. J. T. Denton, secretary and treasurer, Dr. S. Polston, counselor, Dr. G. S. Selmon, delegate to the Florida State Medical Association meeting, and Dr. A. W. Knox, alternate delegate.

"Gastric Ulcer" was the topic of a paper read by Dr. C. M. Mitchell, while Dr. J. N. Talar read a paper on "Perioperative Abscesses." Short reports and discussions of medical conditions locally were also made.

These present last night were: Dr. W. T. Langley, Dr. C. M. Mitchell, Dr. A. W. Knox, Dr. S. Polston, Dr. J. N. Talar, Dr. J. W. Martin, Dr. H. D. Smith, Dr. J. T. Denton, Dr. C. J. Marshall, Dr. C. L. Park and Dr. G. S. Selmon.

Hardly had word of the revolt been received at Madrid than every military establishment in the north was active. Troops trains were rushed toward Jaca and a question of fighting planes was ordered to the frontier.

Liquor Is Found With Two Women And Baby

PENSACOLA, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Customs border patrolmen here today reported the capture of two women and a six-month-old baby in a motor car loaded with liquor near Lake City. Seven hundred bottles of liquor were taken valued by agents at $1000. The women, agents said, were going from Miami to New York but declined to give their names. The women are alleged to have said they had been told they couldn't get the cargo through officers and decided to take the baby with them as a ruse to throw the officers off guard. They were taken to Jacksonville.

Six Persons Injured When Train Derails

CANTON, Miss., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Six persons were injured and others thrown from their benches today by the derailment of a passenger train at Canton, Miss. Illinois Central running from New Orleans to Chicago was going through Canton. The train broke under the fifth car from the engine derailing the remaining cars. Railroad officials said the injuries were reported as being only sprains and cuts from flying glass. More than a hundred passengers were on the train.

BASEBALL FACING OPEN WARFARE IN LEAGUE MEETING

Relations Blasted Between Minors and Majors At Session

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP)—Relations between the minors and the major leagues were blasted apart Thursday by the controversy over the universal draft and organized baseball faced its first open warfare since the days of the Federal league, 15 years ago.

Bubbling over with wrath, the committee of nine, representing the American association and the Pacific Coast and International leagues, stormed out of a joint meeting with representatives of the National and American leagues late Thursday afternoon determined to carry on business in the future without any relations whatsoever with the majors. The breaking of an end to three days of negotiation here and left no prospect that the big and little leagues would be able to settle their differences in the near future.

They split definitely on the proposition of applying out players to the majors and the price to be paid for athletes drafted by the majors. The majors insisted they be allowed to select players from class A teams—teams of the American association, Pacific Coast, and International leagues—who had had four years of experience anywhere in minor league baseball. The minors insisted they be allowed to hold a player three years regardless of previous experience in the lesser leagues. On this and the question of price, the committees could reach no agreement. The majors offered $7500 for each drafted player, while the minors asked for $10,000.

As a final resort, the minor league committee offered to allow high commissioner, Kenesaw Mountain Landis to settle the dispute. The major league committee refused, and the minors thereupon launched out in war-like formation.

The minors, offering several propositions, agreed to permit each minor league club to send 15 players out on option for three years apiece, instead of the eight players now permitted each club for two years. The little brothers demanded, however, the same consideration in developing players be extended them.

The minors pointed out that universal draft of players, with four years of minor experience, at a cost of only $7500, would rob the class AA clubs of stars just coming into their own.

As soon as impasse was reached, the minor league committee of nine met again to formulate plans for the future that include no hope of reconciliation.

The majors met, discussed the draft but took no further action, and disposed of several minor matters.

Following the gathering, the minors issued this statement: "We feel that the majors today have created a new major league. We are sorry that they could not see our viewpoint in this draft situation."

"We have tried to the best of our ability to cooperate with the majors but find their attitude is not conducive to cooperation."

"We hope that as long as the majors have created this situation that they will join us in giving us world's series competition, and that the most friendly relations will govern all future actions."

ARMY AND NAVY TEAMS CONVERGE FOR BIG CONTEST

Service Outfits Will Meet For 1st Time In 3 Years Saturday

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP)—For the first time in three years, the athletes and supporters of the Naval and Military Academies converged upon New York Thursday night for the most colorful football show on earth.

Amid a barrage of ballyhoo worthy of the occasion, more and more of the football public of this and other cities dug into the bankroll to buy the ticket sale, and the unemployed and gain admission to a game that promises to take rank with the best in Army-Navy history.

Although business conditions somewhat slowed the sale of the higher-priced seats, the Salvation Army citizens committee, headed by Grover Whalen, announced there would be no reduction in the rates which range up to $50.

"Even if there should be a block of unsold seats," said Whalen, "the citizens committee has ruled that there must not be any price reduction. Such a reduction would be obviously unfair to the early purchasers."

"We have a record football gate receipt total if we stopped selling tickets right now, and we are under no necessity of cutting prices. The person who waits for a price cut is going to miss the game."

Indications Thursday were that the net gate would exceed $600,000, with a possibility of realizing a total of $750,000 when the additional funds received from various other sources such as concessions, programs and voluntary contributions from radio listeners are added. Between 16,000 and 17,000 of the 78,000 seats remained unsold.

No possible chance to increase the sum that will go to aid the unemployed is being missed. Not only will the souvenir football, autographed by President Hoover and Army and Navy notables, be auctioned off, even the coin to be tossed by the referee at the start

Stribling Two To 1 Favorite To Defeat Griffiths Tonight

CHICAGO, Dec. 12—(AP)—On the eve of their 10-round bout here tonight in the Chicago stadium, W. L. (Young) Stribling, Georgia heavyweight, was still a 2 to 1 favorite over Gerald Ambrose (Tuffy) Griffiths, of Sioux City, Iowa.

Both were apparently in good shape as they rested last night. The former sent the scales up to 188 Wednesday, while Griffiths made 188.

The promoters of the match expect a crowd of 20,000 for the match with a gate of approximately $100,000.

The Georgian is riding the favorite here chiefly because of his greater experience, but Griffiths has been given an outside chance to outpoint his foe.

Pa. Stribling, father-manager of the Georgia puncher, said Thursday it was his prediction that the bout would be won by William Lawrence (Big Boy) Stribling's dad, said the younger Stribling is in fine condition for the fight.

"The fight will be a close one," said the elder Stribling. "There is not the least vestige of the old injury to his left hand."

ALABAMA DRILLS IN RAIN FOR GAME ON PACIFIC COAST

Wallace Wade Sends His Team Through Stiff Scrimmage

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Dec. 12—(AP)—Despite a pouring rain which fell throughout the afternoon, Wallace Wade sent his Crimson Gridders through another hard workout yesterday in preparation for the New Year's day game with Washington State at Pasadena.

The first injuries of the post-season training period struck the Crimson camp yesterday as Hugh Barr Miller and John Tucker, crack backs of the shock troops reported leg hurts from recent practice.

After an examination Coach Wade said both would be out of practice for several days, but their injuries were not serious.

Everything that Alabama hasn't faced against its southern opponents this year—and some of the power plays it has used to win against the Washington Cougars in the Rose bowl. Wade trotted out a few new plays today and spent most of the afternoon drilling his players in these formations.

Only once this year has Wade resorted to the pass as a scoring weapon, depending almost entirely on rushing power smashes, but with such a strong forward wall Washington State is known to have, some observers look for Wade to spring a surprise aerial attack.

Both Elmore and Moore, the regular ends, as well as both the backs are good receivers, but Wade has yet to show a polished passer. Cain has possibilities, however, and Wade may develop some aerial bombs with this sophomore as the starter.

SATURDAY, DEC. 13, 1930

RAINY NIGHT That is a night for long remembrances. Light up the fire and watch each rippling spark.

Drift like a firefly where the chimney sings. With all the purple mystery of the dark.

This is a night for books. Turn to a page That throbs with Aprils that were lost; go deep In folded letters yellowing with age.

A night of rain is not a night for sleep. Fill up the hearth with cedar boughs and listen To silver music flashing on the pane.

Speak long forgotten words, and they will gladden Wrappers in their vanished glory once again.

Turn back the clock, and till the break of dawn Your heart will beat with hours that are gone.

It's an ill wind, you know. Cuban disorders will keep many tourists away from Havana, adding to the island depression and increasing the disorders. But the tourists who must go somewhere will come to Florida in greater numbers than ever and will remain here longer. They may want to go to Havana but they won't risk the revolution.

In a brief interview with Mayor Alton of Jacksonville, he declared that he had never owned a newspaper (you're lucky, old boy) but went on to say that a newspaper was always right and he never picked a scrap with an editor in all his life. Senator Parrish of Tallahassee was not so fortunate. He said he owned a newspaper once—Orlando Sentinel. Yeh, but when the Senator showed some news, he got rid of his.

He may get his rest, but if he thinks he will be doing something, many of the rest of us will be the boy, you know, who says that all things are relatively speaking, and that, in relation to the length, breadth, thickness of anything there is another dimension called the dimension of properness, and carried out to the logical place will give you

The Three Fundamentals

Roger Babson, who is not always optimistic, is extremely so about Florida. It is a wise man who can see the possibilities of the future when everyone else is blind to them. Roger Babson is a wise man and knows full well that Florida will lead the nation in the return to prosperity. He bases this assumption on the strength of Florida agriculture and explains it in the following statement:

"I want to say that there is no state in the Union that has such opportunities and such a bright future as Florida.

"You have the sunshine, the water and the phosphate, the three basic fundamentals of agriculture. New Mexico and Arizona have the sunshine, but not the moisture; California and certain other sections have the sunshine and moisture without the phosphate.

"You have got here those three fundamentals, the only state in the Union which has the three fundamentals of agriculture.

"Secondly, you have the strategic location, you are near the great markets, only 24 hours, more or less, to Washington, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, the great markets.

"There is a third factor which is very important. The farmer in the central west is up against this proposition: As the people become more prosperous, they eat less wheat, rye, corn and other cereals, which are the great basic crops of the central west; but the reverse is true of fruit. As people become more prosperous they consume more fruit."

Tangerines To The Rescue!

An Associated Press dispatch from New York the other day declared that an ordinance had been passed by the city of New York permitting unemployed persons to sell tangerines on the streets of the city without the usual necessity of purchasing licenses. The idea was conceived primarily for the purpose of relieving unemployment, and undoubtedly hundreds of individuals will be thus enabled to eke out some sort of living who might otherwise be in danger of starvation.

But it will be not only the unemployed who will be benefited by this move. The consuming public of New York will be helped too. The tangerines will be sold at the extremely low price of two for a nickel. We have seen them sell in New York for five cents a piece when the growers in Florida were not getting any more for their product than they are now. Thousands of people will now be able to eat tangerines who previously could not afford them.

This movement should be extended to apply to oranges, grapefruit, and other citrus fruits. Put the restless unemployed of the big cities to work selling fruits and vegetables and everyone will be benefited. If the seven million people of greater New York all ate two tangerines a day, as the doctors advise, no one would go hungry and everyone would feel better. There's no medicine quite so healthful as plenty of citrus fruits.

Arbitration Approved

Arbitration is being used more and more by civilized nations of the world to settle their disputes. Time was when they flew at each other's throats at the drop of the hat. Wars still persist, of course, and probably will for many centuries; but they are much less frequent than in former days, and relationship between nations is much closer and more subject to misunderstandings than in former days. But, now countless differences and disagreements are terminated every year by arbitration.

This method of settling disputes is becoming more and more popular within the nation too. General dissatisfaction with the inefficiency, particularly of American courts, is spreading rapidly among practical business men. We find a number of the nation's leading attorneys trying to settle the differences, which arise between their clients, by means of arbitration. "I regard it as my first duty to my client to keep him out of court," said one of them the other day.

Harry Hilscham, an attorney of national reputation, writing in the December Rotarian magazine, declares: "Litigation at best is expensive. The cost is not measured in money only. There is the cost in time, in worry, in reputation, and in good-will. And then after settlement, he who wins is apt to lose."

The Tampa Tribune points out that arbitration is the best method of settling disputes and comments as follows: "New York state is leading in the movement to arbitrate commercial disputes by disinterested third parties. Other states borrowed New York's law legalizing the system. Among the industries that have adopted arbitration are the movies, the American Zinc Institute, the American Fur Manufacturers' Association, and the Rubber Association of America. Most of them use the machinery of the American Arbitration Association."

YOU CAN'T BLAME HIM Dr. Einstein fears American newspaper reporters. You can hardly blame him. Here's a sample of what he might get:

REPORTER NO. 1—Doc, we want you to give us ship news boys a little interview.

EINSTEIN—I have nothing to say that would be of interest.

NO. 2—Doc, would you mind explaining the fourth dimension for readers of the Evening Howler?

EINSTEIN—I am afraid it would take too long.

NO. 3—Well, do you think the American flapper has a fourth dimension?

EINSTEIN—That is not a rational question.

NO. 4—If she ain't got a fourth dimension, what do you think of the American flapper's length, breadth and thickness?

EINSTEIN—I have no opinion on the matter.

NO. 5—Could I quote you as saying the American flapper is too thick?

EINSTEIN—No.

NO. 6—Say doc, who are the six people in the world that understand the Einstein theory?

NO. 7—Oh, a dozen, eh? How about quoting you that the dozen consists of Henry Ford, Babe Ruth, Clara Bow, the Yale basketball team and the Four Marx Brothers?

EINSTEIN—That would be a mis-statement.

NO. 6—It would make a good story, wouldn't it? You know, you need the publicity, doc. You came over here to go into vaudeville, didn't you?

EINSTEIN—Preposterous! I came here for scientific study.

NO. 8—What do you think of miniature golf?

EINSTEIN—I have no impression on the subject.

WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAABEN

From "The Making of William Penn," by Miss M. R. Bratford, the reader learns that Penn's conversion to the faith of his Friends was a sad blow to his family, for the early Friends, who by no means prosperous manufacturers like their successors today. At the best, they were passive resisters; at the worst they were such as the musician, Solomon Eccles (or Eagle) who, after making a bonfire of his viol and virginals upon Tower Hill, proceeded to walk naked through Westminster Hall "only very civilly tied about the loins to avoid scandal," with a chafing dish of fire and brimstone burning upon his head, and crying, "Repent! Repent!" Admiral Penn, Miss Bratford tells us, in fact was very much annoyed at William's conversion. He took his son into a private room and locked the door behind him. Young William suggested a flaming torch and had been his first—instead of which the admiral began to pray aloud to God that his son might never be a Quaker. The door was locked, but young William opened the window; "rather than listen to that prayer," he cried, "I will throw myself into the street." The admiral, though it only amused King Charles II, of whom this pleasant story is told: "On Penn's first visit to court after his conversion to Quakerism," he said to have advanced to meet the king, as conscience dictated, with his hat upon his head. Charles, with a smile removed his own, and upon Penn's surprised question, "Friend Charles, wherefore dost thou uncover thyself?" "Friend Penn," he replied, "it is the custom of this place for only one man to wear his hat at a time."

The ex-quartermaster-general of the German armies, Herr Erich von Ludendorff, who has preserved a stubborn silence the last two or three years, has suddenly come out with a statement that ought to fool the military ardor of some of his warlike compatriots. It has become something of a vogue to mock Herr Ludendorff in the press as an old, antiquated sabre-rattler and fire-eater. Perhaps he deserved to be gayed a little for his peculiar notions on religion. But still it should not be forgotten that this man knew his business, ghostly though it may have been. It took a world in arms to down him. Twice he came within an ace of piercing the allied line. This is what Herr Ludendorff wrote in his newly published pamphlet: "Even if Germany had Italy, Russia and Britain for allies in an eventual war, we would be beaten to a frazzle in five weeks time. Within five weeks the French armies would be between the Rhine and Danube, on the frontiers of Austria and have overrun the whole of Bavaria. We are no match for the superior equipment of the French. The Italians wouldn't help us a mite. They are had soldiers in the first place and secondly, their lips of communication north of the Alps are extremely unfavorable for a retreat." It's the former chief of the German general staff who says this, it should be remembered. Perhaps he underestimates the valor of the Italian troops. "The Jugo-Slavs, Czechs, Hungarians would squeeze us to death in a Vallee's crooning? EINSTEIN—I have no idea. Now, gentlemen, you must excuse me.

NO. 5—Just a minute. What's the Einstein theory based on, anyway, doc? I just want a little statement for Evening Blah readers.

EINSTEIN—The theory is that space is non-existent. Now, I must go.

NO. 6—O-ho! There ain't no such thing as space, hey? You claim the Rocky Mountains are a myth, for instance.

EINSTEIN—I make no such claim. Now, gentlemen—

NO. 7—Look here, doc. If space is non-existent, then a vacuum cleaner is your ideal. Can I quote you as favoring any particular brand?

EINSTEIN—Gentlemen, I am very busy. You really must excuse me.

CAMERA MAN—Oh, no! Not yet, doc. Come over here and give us camera guys a crack at you. Just sit on top of that life preserver, cross your legs and be waving at the Statute of Liberty.

EINSTEIN—Gentlemen, PLEASE!

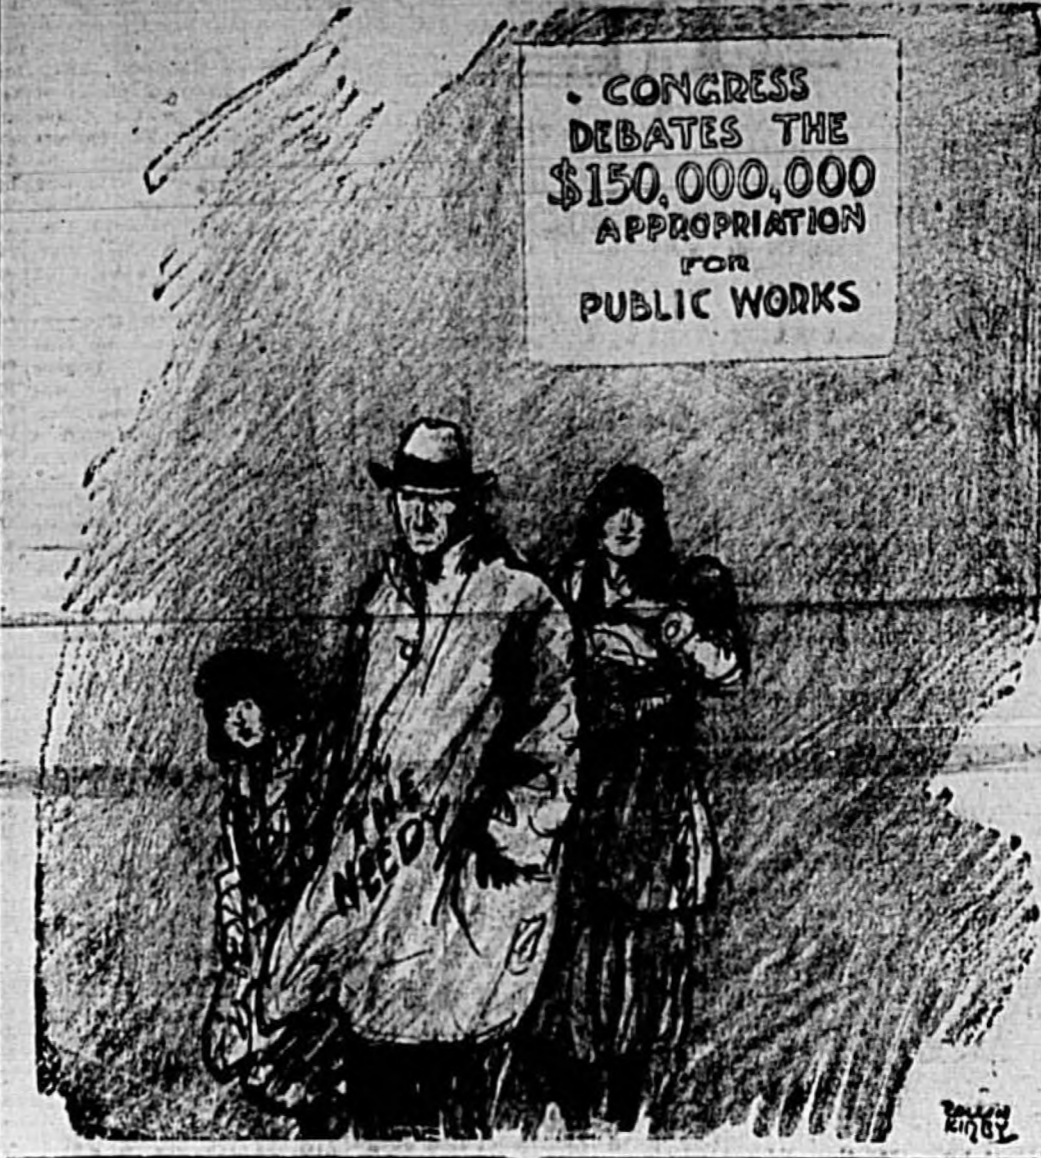

CAMERA MAN NO. 2—Now, just a minute, doc. This time we want you with the life preserver around your neck and you're sucking a lilypop.

EINSTEIN—That is positively all! I am very busy!

CAMERA MAN—NO. 3—Just one more shot for the camera boys, doc. Now we want you to come up on B deck and pose with Miss Lily Lutz, the movie "It" kid, like you was explaining your Einstein theory to her. See?

ANNOUNCEMENT—1931 CONTRACT PRICE (for standard newsprint in rolls)

TO OUR NEWSPRINT CONTRACT CUSTOMERS:

In a letter to you dated November 26th, we discussed problems confronting the newsprint industry of North America today as we see them.

We are aware of some of the difficulties that now beset the publishers. We know that many are being importuned to lower their advertising rates and that they cannot afford to do so, because generally they are giving exceptional value to the advertiser. We know that labor costs in the publishing industry have remained stationary and that the trend is certainly not downward.

In our newsprint industry labor costs are also stabilized and there is the idea, which also extends to many other industries, that any radical reduction in wages is to be avoided as tending to diminish purchasing power and delay returning prosperity. Obviously, the newsprint mills of North America, running below normal capacity as they are today, cannot make paper as cheaply as when running reasonably full.

After considering the situation very carefully and trying to view it both from your standpoint and ours, we have concluded that there should be no change in our standard price of newsprint for your destination for the coming year, and accordingly, our contract with you will continue for 1931 at the price now prevailing thereunder.

In reaching this conclusion this company believes it is following a consistent policy. A year ago we vigorously opposed any price increase. Today we feel that any decrease in price is unjust and that it would be detrimental to the interests of the publishers as well as the paper manufacturers.

Would you approve of a conference with us next spring, when business trends should be more clearly defined than they are today, for the purpose of discussing our mutual interests, which, of course, are closely allied?

Will you kindly acknowledge receipt?

Respectfully yours,

INTERNATIONAL PAPER COMPANY, J. L. Fearing Vice President.

Pi Kappa Alphas Will Stage Formal Dance

Attracting the interest of the dancing set of Central Florida is the announcement made recently by the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity of the University of Florida that it will give a formal dance on Christmas night at Lake County Country Club, near Eustis. Elaborate preparations are being made for the affair, which is an annual one and is always looked forward to with great pleasure.
 Dancing will begin at 10 o'clock and continue until 3 o'clock in the morning. Music will be furnished by Banaji Currie's 12 piece orchestra of the University of Florida. The dance will be strictly formal and only those presenting cards at the door will be admitted. Invitations will all be mailed by Dec. 20.

Tri Delta Dance In Orlando Is Seen As Large Social Event

By ELIZABETH ROBINSON, ORLANDO, Fla., Dec. 11.—The first outstanding social event here of Christmas week will be a grand affair at the Orlando Country Club on the evening of Monday, Dec. 22, sponsored by the Tri Delta sorority girls of Orlando, assisted by Tri Delta of Sanford, Daytona Beach, Deland, Eustis, Leesburg, Kissimmee, Winter Haven, Lakeland and other towns of Central Florida.

Music to be furnished by one of the best known and most popular orchestras of the state, the Field Brothers and their orchestra. This group of boys has played for script and fraternity dances throughout Florida.
 Tri Delta girls of all towns in Central Florida are being urged by the dance and to invite all members of the dancing set in their home towns to attend. Script tickets have been set at a very moderate figure and may be had at the Country Club on the evening of the dance. The dance is to commence at 10 o'clock, giving those who have some distance to drive ample time to reach Orlando.
 Miss Theresia Robinson of Orlando is general chairman of the dance and Mrs. E. C. Nelson is ticket sales chairman. A number of couples prominent in different dancing sets of Orlando are acting as sponsors for the dance and from present indications it is believed there will be several hundred couples attending the dance. The Orlando Country Club is equipped to handle a very large group and the Orlando Tri Delta has issued a cordial invitation to the dancing set of Sanford to come to Orlando on Dec. 22 and attend the dance.

Rose Varner Gives Party At Her Home

 Christmas Science literature may be read borrowed or purchased Open Tuesdays and Fridays from 1 to 5 P. M.

Dancing School Gives Program At Milane

Seven stairway dancers grouped about Nell Stewart representing the "Cupid of Love" made up the opening scene at Betty Ball Brown's "Salon Dancers" given last night by advanced pupils of her dancing school at the Milane Theatre at 8 o'clock. The dancers all wore attractive costumes designed in pink or blue with long full skirts, and tight fitting waists. Music was furnished by Mero's Orchestra with Miss Carmen Guthrie as accompanist, at the piano.
 Judging from the applause, the adagio dance performed by Miss Mary Elizabeth Neely, Eugene Turner and Berner Winn was probably the best received number on the program. Although a very difficult dance to perform, Miss Neely, Mr. Turner and Mr. Winn executed it with cleverness.
 Other features of the program were the tap dance presented by Miss Doris Jackson and the boxing match between Nell Stewart and the "Cupid of Love" and Daisy Hodge, the "Cupid of tomorrow".
 Following the "Salon Dancers" the indoor parade, sponsored by the Sanford Furniture Company took place. In this over 20 children, all wearing costumes and driving various toys from the Sanford Furniture Co. parade before the audience for several minutes.
 The evening's entertainment is presented follows:

- ACT I
