Two out of three traffic accidents — and nearly three out of four traffic deaths — occur on two-lane roads. Last Memorial Day weekend, 474 Americans died in traffic accidents. All but 12 of these deaths were on two-lane roads. Modern, four-lane highways drastically reduce accident, injury and death rates and result in lower insurance rates. Yet, 43 percent of Florida's primary highway system is classified as "poor" or "critical" by engineers. The $300 million Highway Improvement Amendment provides the means for constructing 1241 miles of new, four-lane major route improvements. Projects were selected on the basis of traffic volume, safety hazards, condition of present facility, area economic consideration and other sufficient ratings prescribed by the Florida Highway Code. Provision is included for the state to assist counties in buying rights-of-way on a 50-50 basis. One-third of the rights-of-way has already been purchased. Florida's tremendous traffic growth has outrun the pay-as-you-build policy. The 1965 Florida Legislature voted overwhelmingly in favor of this emergency program. You can assure Florida an adequate primary highway system now by voting for Amendment #4 on November 2nd.

Fort Reed. Why was it established and where did it get its name?
It was built to protect the Indians from the Army, we are told. The Indians built it under water and elevated the entrance by a beaver dam. Since the fort was under water it was necessary for the Indians to breathe, so they stuck hollow reeds up above the water's surface to get the air in. That's how it got the name Fort Reed.

That's What FSU Coach Fears At Kentucky Ambush For Seminoles?

By David W. Wolfe
UPI Sports Writer
ATLANTA (UPI)—You'll have to forgive coach Bill Peterson of Florida State if he appears a bit apprehensive this week.

Peterson's Seminoles visit the Kentucky Wildcats at Lexington, Ky., Saturday night for a game that will be the first of two in the series.

But that was last year, and Peterson fears that if there is to be a similar "re-buck" Saturday night, it will be the Seminoles who are devoured.

The Wildcats appear stronger than last year, although they were knocked out of the top 10 this past weekend in a 23-18 upset by Auburn. But Peterson figures that loss will make them harder to handle than if they had gone against Florida State with a perfect record.

The Seminoles' defense still looks pretty tough, however. Two Southwestern Conference quarterbacks, Texas Christian and Baylor, got only one touchdown each.

Kentucky, Vandy Top SEC Stats

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—A Football Kentucky offense and a stingy Vanderbilt defense today led the Southeastern Conference in team statistics.

The Wildcats have averaged 314.3 yards per game with Vandy's Commodores have allowed opponents only 162.2 yards per contest.

Mississippi State was second in total offense and Tennessee held the No. 3 spot in total defense.

The Louisiana State Tigers have rushed 214.7 yards per game for the rushing lead and Tennessee—allowing the opposition only 68 yards per game on the ground—held the rushing defense lead.

Kentucky, with Rick Norton at the helm, leads the conference in passing offense. Vanderbilt is best in passing defense, allowing just only 84 yards per game through the air.

Mississippi State is the scoring offense leader with 94 points. Tennessee has allowed the opposition only 61.6 points per game for the scoring defense lead.

Mustang Features Included In 1966 Falcon

Drawing upon the most successful cars ever introduced — the Mustang and the Falcon — Ford Division of Ford Motor Company has combined the outstanding features of both in the 1966 Falcon.

"To look the Mustang to displace the Falcon as the most popular new car in America," said Walter T. Murphy, Division general marketing manager. "For 1966 — with the most exciting changes since its re-introduction — the Falcon is about to become a family Mustang."

Noting the Mustang's touch on the 1966 Falcon styling — long hood, short rear deck, a hop-up in the rear quarter and round wheel openings — Mr. Murphy emphasized that additional Falcon features also have been retained and improved.

"Very reasonable, outstanding economy and technical innovations make the attractive automotive value than before," he said.

Current side glass makes its appearance in the Falcon line for the first time in 1966. An optional air conditioning system includes optional interior with the instrument panel. Removable keys and key-locks also are features of all 1966 Falcons as are new, stronger lock assemblies.

The overall side glass side-to-side measurement in the new Falcon. The wheelbase for sedan models length has been increased 2.7 inches to 114.5 inches. The increase in station-wagon also is even more dramatic with overall length increased 14.4 inches to 136.7 inches and the wheelbase increased 2.5 inches to 113 inches.

The trend of the 1966 Falcon also has been extended to the 102 cubic inch V-8 — up as much as three inches over comparable 1965 Falcon dimensions. The wider front and longer wheelbase contribute to improved ride and handling.

The 1966 Falcon retains its standard construction, but the structure has been revised to provide greater strength and rigidity. Like the Mustang, the Falcon body has a rigid "backbone" chassis design. A solid floor pan contributes to easier cleaning of the front compartment, improves appearance, and eases entry and exit.

Isolated front torque boxes — similar to those on the sport-riding Ford — direct vibrations from the passenger compartment to the underbody structure and provide the structural rigidity of a unitized body design. A solid floor pan contributes to easier cleaning of the front compartment, improves appearance, and eases entry and exit.

The Falcon lineup for 1966 consists of 10 models in three series. Included are four-door station wagon, two-door and four-door sedan, and a new Falcon Falcon Sports Coupe. The new Falcon Sports Coupe has an exciting, sporty, most widely used seats, an optional paint stripe, deluxe wheel covers with hood-rod hubs, 14-inch wheels, and the 200-CID six cylinder engine.

The Falcon Station Wagon, Club Wagon and Deluxe Club Wagon are retained in the line, and the "extended body" option — formerly available only on the Station Wagon — now is available on all three.

In announcing the new Falcon, Mr. Murphy noted that many persons have written to suggest that Division should consider a station wagon as a Mustang wagon.

"We explained to these people that such models were inconsistent with the kind of sporty car the Mustang was intended to be," he said. "But we have confirmed that the 1966 Falcon we were designing was in line with consumer wishes."

New safety features standard on all 1966 Falcons — which include new-style rear, locking hubs, padded dash and door interiors and other improvements — are being emphasized. New Falcon also features a station wagon which has been shown to provide added protection in the event of a collision.

All 1966 Falcon models will be in Ford dealer showrooms on October 1.

The 1966 Ford Falcon was designed as a sporty compact car with new proportions inspired by the Ford Mustang.

— long hood, short rear deck, a hop-up in the rear quarter and round wheel openings — suggest power and performance.

Hood length is accentuated by a sculptured crease in the front tip of the front fender and flows into the surface over the rear-wheel opening. Beneath the crease, a deftly sculptured character line sweeps downward from front to rear to add to Falcon's look of motion.

The drive wheels are accentuated by a smoothly curved hop-up and slightly outswelling in the rear quarter. On two-door hardtop models, the hop-up is capped with a bright molding that flows from the door cut to the top of the tail-lamp.

Curved side glass improves the appearance as well as the roominess of the Falcon.

Falcon is lower and broader in front view, but consistency with previous Falcon designs is maintained by use of single headlights and a vertical crest that drives the grille.

New Thunderbird Features Add Up To Higher Standards

The elegance, sportiness and distinctive features that add up to Thunderbird reach new and higher standards for 1966.

Gordon B. MacKenzie, Ford Division general sales manager, said four Thunderbird models will be offered in 1966 compared with three in 1965. The new lineup includes the convertible and hardtop which are retained and a new Town Landau and Town Hardtop which feature a new roof line.

New features for 1966 include an overhead safety-convenience console in "Town" roof models, a new Stereocore tape player built into the radio in the center console, and a new fingertip automatic Highway Pilot speed control integrated into the steering wheel.

"New elegance is evident in the new Town Landau and Town Hardtop models with their unique roof line," Mr. MacKenzie said. "New sportiness is reflected in the lighter, more graceful styling of all 1966 Thunderbirds and in the new optional high-performance engine."

"So widely copied was the Thunderbird roof, with its broad rear pillar, that Ford stylists were inspired to develop a new definition. In a bold styling stroke, they eliminated the rear side window and extended the pillar to the front window for a special 'Town Car' effect."

The new "Town" roof line not only offers a distinctive exterior appearance but also affords greater rear-seat privacy, he said.

The Town Landau and Town Hardtop interiors have a molded headlining with integrated door-ajar warning light, fasten-seat-belt warning light, and emergency flasher. The safety-convenience console is mounted above the center console on the dash panel as before.

In addition to the new "Town" roof, a competition-type grille, new power-dome design, and full-width tail-lamps are the most obvious styling changes in the Thunderbird for 1966. The Thunderbird sequential turn signals are retained.

The performance look of the 1966 Thunderbird is matched with a new performance engine option. The new engine is a 281-cu-in. V-8 which combines performance closely comparable to that of the famed Ford "427" high-performance engine with the smoothness and quietness of the standard Thunderbird 200-cu-in. V-8 engine.

The engine offers Thunderbird buyers added performance over the standard engine, yet permits availability of automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes, air conditioning and limited-slip differential.

Perhaps the most futuristic innovation among the many in the 1966 Thunderbird is the fingertip-operated optional automatic speed control integrated into the steering wheel.

Called "Highway Pilot Control," the new system, which supersedes the manual-control wheel formerly used to select the desired cruising speed, offers new control possibilities.

With the unit in operation, the driver can maintain his desired cruising speed by merely touching a "speed set" button. If he wishes to slow down, he may do so by touching a "slow" button and holding it until the desired lower speed is reached. When traffic clears, he may return to his former cruising speed by touching a "resume" button — all without moving his hands from the steering wheel.

It thus becomes possible, with today's turning driving conditions, for the Thunderbird driver to cover long distances without removing his hands from the wheel or touching his accelerator or brake.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha Educational Project Titled 'Science Of You'

Epsilon Sigma Alpha has chosen a program called "The Science of You" as its educational subject for the coming year.

The subject concerns the new world in which we live and the mental, emotional and physical or spiritual aspects.

To coincide with this they had as their guest Sept. 28, Mr. Harold Heckenbach, principal of Pinecrest School, who spoke and gave a written test concerning attitudes and values. The test gave each member a chance to evaluate themselves and others as seen by themselves.

This year, as a means of showing off the many talents of the members, each hostess created something and it is a prize at the meeting. The first winner was Mrs. Margaret Leonard. The hostess was Mrs. Ruth McKenna.

Those members present were as follows: Mrs. June Brodie, Mrs. Kathy Baker, Mrs. Kathy Hanson, Mrs. Shirley Higgins, Mrs. Mary Leonard, Miss Betty Mann, Mrs. Ruth McKenna, Mrs. Jean Novy, Mrs. Hope Schard, Mrs. Pat Smith, Mrs. Kathy Toole and Mrs. Beverly White.

Buying Children's Clothes? Smart Shopper's Guide

Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series on the art of buying clothing and food designed to help every consumer become a "wise shopper" and get more for his money.

Children's clothes should fit properly. Check the necklines to see that they fit without gaping or binding.

Children's clothes should be made of good construction and age groups that the American shopper with a basic knowledge of good construction can choose sharply for less money than in any other country in the world.

Outwear for children must be designed to take a lot of punishment and it must clean and wash well to get the most for the money.

Medical News

Much of the emotional upset that follows surgery for "male complaints" is due to lack of information. This feeling comes from a gynecologist and a psychiatrist who studied the reactions of 100 women ranging in age from 20 to 50. The emotional stress, the doctors say, has several causes.

Ignorance of female anatomy. Since almost all the women had only a vague understanding of their physiology, they had many fears about how their organs would function after surgery.

Fear of cancer. Many women mistakenly believed they had cancer—especially if there had been internal bleeding. They were highly "cancer-conscious."

Worry about femininity. Many were so concerned that their femininity had been affected that they asked that their husbands not be told the nature of their operations. They feared the husbands might show less interest in them or stay away from home more frequently after surgery.

The investigating doctors observed, however, that men who were well informed were more able and likely to give emotional support to their wives.

School Lunch Week Slated Oct. 10

By Robert B. Thomas Jr.

School Lunch Week, Oct. 10-14, is proclaimed in honor of the program which already has done much to contribute to the health and welfare of our children.

The school lunch program, as we know it today, came into being as a result of the passage by Congress of the National School Lunch Act in 1946.

This program has been a vital factor in changing the food habits of the children; and as it continues, we can look forward to improved nutrition and a better balance of food.

Provision education is a means by which children can grow and develop and perhaps even truly appreciate the abundance of our bountiful land.

Through nutrition education, this program is teaching the child that a well-balanced diet can make a tremendous difference in their development during the formative years and can actually add years of good health and well-being to their life span.

The school lunch program is not a free lunch program, nor is it an extracurricular activity. It is and should be an integral part of the educational experience in its own right and it increases mental alertness and receptivity.

Miss Elaine Cronin is lunchroom manager at Crooms High School.

Crooms High School Quarterback Club will sponsor a benefit dance at the Delta Club Friday following the football game. The proceeds from this affair will be used to defray expenses for the Junior Varsity equipment. The public is asked to come out and contribute to this cause.

Cherrie Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mollie Miller, of 1705 Southwest Road, is residing in Philadelphia, Pa. Cherrie is a 1960 graduate of Crooms High. She is employed by the Universal Dental Company of Philadelphia.

Pvt. Alton Brooks, son of Mr. Edna Pearl Brooks, of Rochester, N. Y., visited with his grandparents for a few days. Brooks is a member of Co. C-11, 8th, and 7th Brigades, at Fort Jackson, S. C. He is a former student of Crooms High.

The pastor and members of St. James' A.M.E. Church will observe Women's Day Sunday. The theme will be "The Role of a Christian Woman."

Interesting and inspiring programs have been planned for morning and evening services.

Mrs. Annie Hagan, member of the English department of Crooms High School, will be the morning speaker. A group of civic leaders in the community will discuss the theme, "The Role of a Christian Woman," during the evening service.

You are cordially invited to come out and worship with us. Mrs. Eubanks is chairman of Women's Day Program; Mrs. Sylvia Stallworth, co-chairman; Mrs. Shirley Wilson, chairman of publicity; Mrs. Shirley Baker, chairman of program committee; and Rev. William Burke is pastor.

Do not forget the Halloween Carnival at Goldboro Elementary School Oct. 26 from 4-8 p. m. Parents are asked to come and bring their children. Yes, please bring your children.

School Luncheon Week Scheduled For Observance

By Maryann Miles
School luncheon week at Bear Lake Elementary School and those of today are the subject of much discussion and planning by the efficient staff members of Bear Lake Elementary School Cafeteria as they prepare for next week's observance of National School Lunch Week.

Mrs. Katherine Grimm is in charge of cafeteria operations at Bear Lake and working with her are Mrs. Catherine Garrison and Mrs. Patricia Weis, bakers; Mrs. Adeline Karns, who is in charge of salads; Mrs. Jean Reed, who is in charge of the dining room.

Mrs. Grim attended a two-room school in Maryland, where there were no facilities for hot lunches. The school principal realized how important a hot cup of cocoa or vegetable soup could be on a cold day and set up an afternoon program wherein grades one through four made hot cocoa while grades five through eight had cocoa and soup, and vice versa. The only facility for cooking was a two-burner kerosene stove which was set up in the classroom. Donations of vegetables for the soup always were welcomed.

Each week, as part of home economics assignment, a group of girls was selected to prepare and cook the soup and cocoa for ten cents a cup and cocoa for five. The students ate at their desks and soiled dishes were washed by the children in a small dippan.

Mrs. Garrison carried a lunch bucket since the small school also attended in Georgia had no lunchroom facilities. Once each month, the teacher permitted the students to eat "buffet style" lunches. Mrs. Karns attended school in Rhode Island where youngsters all brought their lunches to school, eating in the classroom.

Mrs. Weis, who started school in Indiana, recalls having a plate lunch prepared and served in the school but they were not the well-balanced meals of today.

The board voted to approve use of road department equipment and personnel to move and plant palms and warms in an island of U.S. 17-22 in Fern Park.

Vernon Dunn, planning director of the county beautification committee, appeared before the commission to request its aid. Dunn said approximately 60 palms and 40 warms will be planted in other islands in the future.

Dunn also said the county still needs contribution of plants and trees for its beautification program.

Dunn said he was under the impression that the City of Sanford is the only community that has more trees than buildings in its city.

Rambler Adds Rebel, Rogue And DPL

American Motors revealed a wide range of new features and changes in its cars for 1966, and announced three new names in the lineup — DPL, Rebel and Rogue.

Thomas A. Coupe, vice president — automotive sales, said the DPL is the top-of-the-line hardtop of American Motors' luxurious 1966 Ambassador series, while the Rebel and Rogue will lead the Rambler Classic and Rambler American series, respectively.

"These new models, along with the fastback Marlin, Ambassador 190, Classic 770 and American 440 will give us solid representation in the fast-growing hardtop market," Coupe said.

The two-door hardtop was introduced in mid-March. The Ambassador, which more than doubled in sales in 1965, and the top-volume Classic feature new roof panels, padded instrument panel and visors, back-up lights, left outside mirror, and windshield washers will join front seat belts and variable speed wipers as standard equipment on all 1966 models," he said. "And we have retained all long-life and safety features such as advanced unit construction, double safety brakes and seven-armored exhaust system."

"All of our cars also will feature higher-strength laminated safety glass windshields for greater durability and resistance to penetration."

The 1966 American Motors cars go on sale Thursday.

The Giant-Killer Rides Again!

American Motors Challenges the "Big 3" of Detroit—With 4 New Lines of '66 Cars that Give the Public What it Wants.

Last time it was size. This time? Quality! Quality that's built-in—not added on. The premise: more built-in quality features at no extra price.

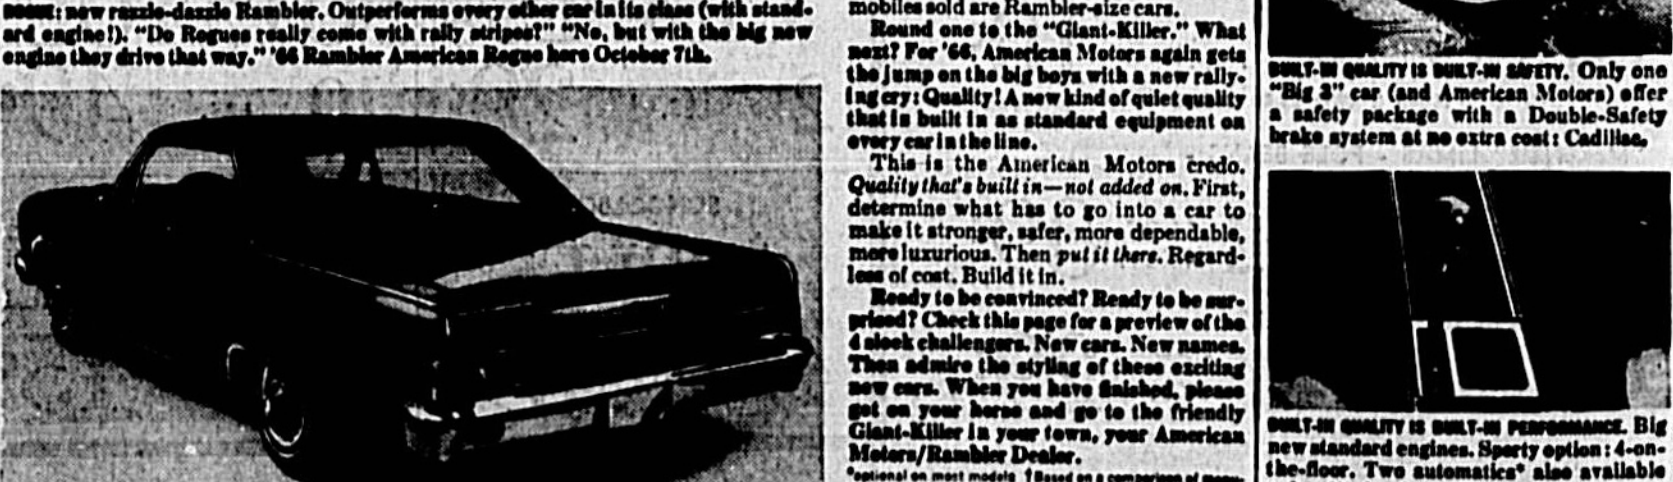

Remember when American Motors came out with the trim little Rambler and knocked the Detroit "Giant" on their collective ear? Overnight, big size and lead yachts went out of style. American Motors came along with the right cars at the right time and caught the competition napping. This year, almost half the automobiles sold are American-made cars.

Named one of the "Giant-Killer." What next? For '66, American Motors again gets the jump on the big boys with a new quality in every line. A new kind of quiet quality that's built-in a standard equipment feature on every car in the line.

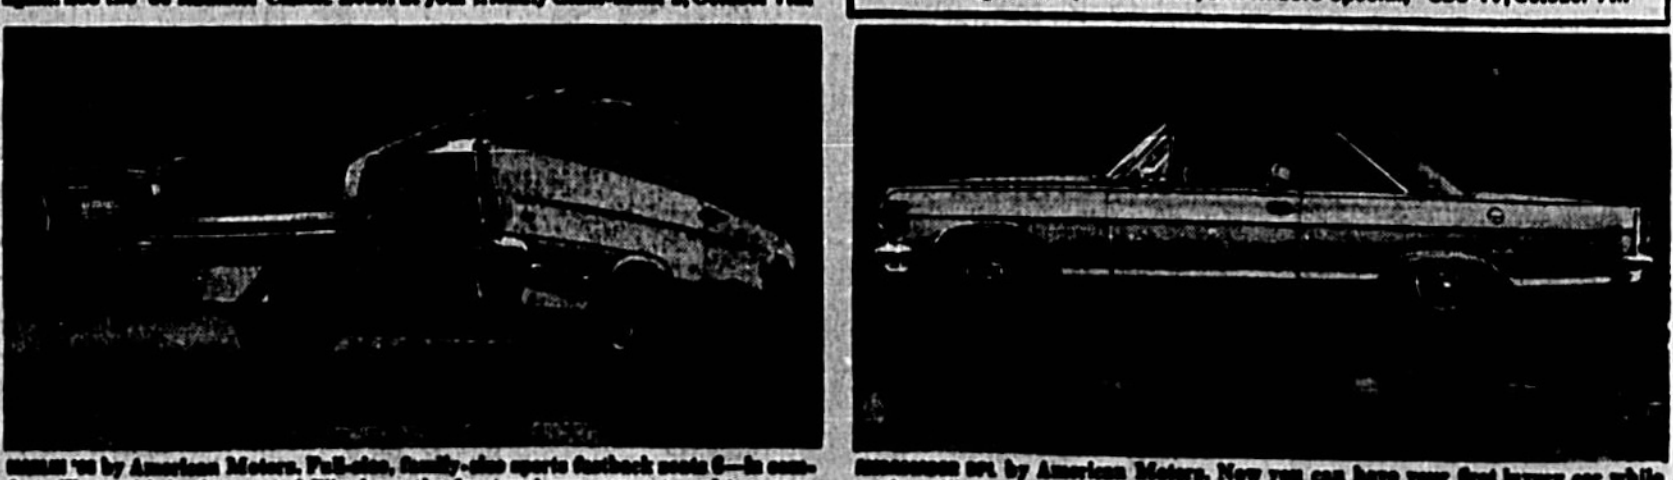

This is the American Motors credo. Quality that's built-in—not added on. First, determine what has to go into a car to make it stronger, safer, more dependable, more luxurious. Then put it there. Regardless of cost. Build it in.

Ready to be convinced? Ready to be surprised? Check this page for a preview of the 4 new challenges. New cars. New names. Then admit the styling of these exciting new cars. When you have finished, please get on your horse and go to the Friendly Giant-Killer in your town, your American Motors/Rambler Dealer.

Meet the new Rambler Rebel. Outperform any other car in this class both inside and out. The Rebel really comes with rally stripes! *Yes, but with the big new color as they drive that way. *'66 Rambler American Rogues here October 7th.

Meet the new Rambler Classic. Built-in sports features make it a real winner. *Yes, but with the big new color as they drive that way. *'66 Rambler Classic Rebel at your Friendly Giant-Killer, October 7th.

Medicare Insurance Available

By John Trean
WASHINGTON (NEA) — In your 65th birthday in January you may sign up for supplementary Medicare insurance.

If you may sign up for supplementary Medicare insurance.

The supplementary insurance will help pay for doctor bills, out-of-hospital diagnostic tests and other health services not provided to persons past 65 by the basic Medicare plan.

The basic plan financed by Social Security taxes, will offer hospital and nursing-home benefits as well as some services in the patient's own home following hospitalization.

The supplementary insurance will cost an individual $3 a month. Premiums will start next July, the same month benefits become available.

An estimated 19 million persons will be eligible for supplementary insurance by mid-1966.

Initial enrollment begins Sept. 1 for persons who are ready were 65 or will be before the end of this year. They have until March 31 to sign up.

Folks who will become 65 in January may enroll between now and April 30. Those who will reach 65 next February may begin signing up Nov. 1. Persons reaching 65 next March may start enrolling Dec. 1.

Those who will be 65 in April may start signing up Jan. 3. Persons reaching 65 next May, may begin enrolling Feb. 1. And those who will be 65 next June may start signing up March 1.

The Social Security Administration will begin distributing Medicare identification cards next April, and everybody who is signed up should have one before July when benefits first become available.

Those drawing monthly Social Security Railroad Retirement or Civil Service retirement checks are receiving applications in the mail.

About 10 million such applications already have been sent out. Mailings will continue until all eligibles on the Social Security Railroad Retirement and Civil Service rolls are contacted.

A postage-free envelope is supplied for return of the application, on which each person is asked to specify whether or not he wants supplementary coverage in addition to the basic Medicare benefits to which he may be automatically entitled.

Similar applications are being mailed to anyone past 65 who has established eligibility for Social Security benefits but isn't collecting them at the moment, because, for instance, he's earning too much money to draw monthly checks.

Persons past 65 who have worked long enough under Social Security to qualify for cash benefits but who have not yet filed a claim may do so right now — even if they are still working.

Such claims will be processed immediately. If eligibility is established, the individual will be automatically signed up for the basic Medicare program and offered a chance to apply by mail for the supplementary insurance.

About two million persons in the 65-plus group can't qualify for Social Security, Railroad Retirement or Civil Service retirement.

Some of them are on relief. Welfare agencies are letting them know about their Medicare benefits and about how they may sign up for the supplementary insurance.

The rest must go to Social Security offices to enroll for Medicare. Even if they don't want to buy the supplementary insurance, they'll have to register for the basic benefits. Otherwise, they won't qualify for anything.

Quiet... With Good Reason

The flight line at Sanford Naval Air Station looked about as crowded as a Florida East Coast passenger train the other day.

The usually jammed parking area was almost deserted. Flying activities appeared to be at a minimum.

You probably have wondered why some of the airplanes are quieter now. You can hear "O. K. Cracker" and "Hogan's Heroes" without closing the windows and turning up the sound.

Well, the reason is simple. A large number of the aircraft at NAS are deployed. We don't have to tell you that most of them are in the Viet Nam area.

It used to be when one squadron deployed another returned to home base. That isn't the case these days. They keep going and the others aren't coming back like they used to.

The United States appears to be pressing its hand in the Viet Nam war at the present time with some success. The picture, according to war correspondents on the scene, has turned for the better.

Lyle C. Wilson Says:
Colossal Bust

The hunched U. S. taxpayer probably would be shocked if he had to swallow all of the facts of foreign aid spending in one sitting. The fact is that the aid spending is so colossal that it is difficult to get a realistic picture of it. The aid spending is so colossal that it is difficult to get a realistic picture of it.

Foreign aid spending is so colossal that it is difficult to get a realistic picture of it. The aid spending is so colossal that it is difficult to get a realistic picture of it.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday I ran into the husband of a woman who I had known in school where my husband teaches. He asked me why I wasn't friendly with his wife any more, and told me how hurt and upset she was because I had been avoiding her. I made up some excuse, said I was rushing to an appointment, and ran.

 9:00-10 p.m. CBS: Dick Van Dyke Show "The Tiptoes Out in the World" (his comic strip with a great idea for a sketch involving a beautiful canine guest (how do you write eggs for a dog?), but the appearance is cancelled when the "dog" dies. Also, having his stand with a monstrous animal he was going to use. The only way to get rid of him is to prey him up enough of someone will want him. So he off to "The Pappy Palace," run by hilarious Billy DeWilde who takes on the challenge of his life. A silly situation all the way, but handled with customary wit.

7:00-8:30 p.m. CBS: Lost In Space "There Were Three Clowns In The Park" (The fourth episode of this space-themed series continues the adventures of the Kelly family, led by Mr. Kelly, who is a scientist. The Kellys are on a mission to find a mysterious castle. You may not be able to believe much of what happens, but it's sure a full hour.)

7:00-8 p.m. NBC: The Virginians "The Clums" (Color) William Shatner, who could hold his job as an assistant D.A. (last season's "For the People") turns up in this one as a fortune hunter who comes to leave his job and join him in the never-ending search for big, easy money. Their quest leads to gold and, if you come away from the long Western with the feeling that you've seen a poor relation of "The Treasure of Sierra Madre," don't fight it. At least it's well done.

8:45-9 p.m. The Patty Duke Show "The Guest" (You never really know someone until you live with them, says Patty, and when poor Richard moves in for a week at a guest, bringing along his fiancée, his large appetite and his natural wit, Patty learns a few disillusioning lessons. He does her, she dates other guys right under his nose.)

9:30 p.m. NBC: The Big Valley "The Young Marauders" (Color) The situations and characters are changed, but basically this is the same general plot as the first episode. Instead of the railroad, this time it's a group of outlaws attempting to take over the valley via a protection racket. Aid instead of Heath, Andrea gets emotionally tangled with the young leader of the rat pack. Some loose moments as the Barkleys (main stand up to the aggressors) and Andrea's life is in danger.

Tropical Head Hit With Suit

MIAMI (UPI) — The president of Tropical Park race track was charged Monday with mis-managing more than $1.5 million in corporation funds and a court was asked to remove him from his post. The charges were made in a suit filed in Circuit Court by track manager William B. MacDonald Jr. The suit accused Paul Sherman of borrowing $1,500,000 from the track fund without authority and borrowing $250,000 from the track fund without authority. Sherman said the charges were "all a mistake" and he had not stolen anything. "It is all a bookkeeping error," he said.

Horoscope Forecast

THURSDAY, OCT. 7, 1966
GENERAL TENDENCIES:

You have many brilliant ideas this Thursday for gaining the good will of others through an exhibition you can easily bring to a successful close by a constant vigilance in observing others and their attitudes. When they come to you for suggestions or advice you will be able to give the right answer.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Thinking, planning for the future is wise on this day, as well as being bold in hand when needed. Look to some authority for the key to professional affairs. Be grateful.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Enthusiasm is your asset today as you go about your day. Do not let your light under a bushel and get yourself out of that position. Share in P.M. Be a social lion.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Concluding the month and stating your ideas, showing inventions, etc., is best way to make the most of this day. Be sure to get credit before. Show good will to a friend.

Scorpio Children (June 23 to July 23) You have a different and better conception of what must be done to gain the support and good will of others. Don't waste time. Be just as idealistic in your social life.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21) Get busy handling all affairs and later show your true love that you are highly devoted, very romantic. Let us see the real you in your position. You will be guided properly.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can be very ingenious and make an excellent impression on your associates right now. Don't procrastinate. Many things occur to show just what your relative position is with others.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Tackle all those tasks before you and put them behind you quickly, being most efficient thereby. Turn labor into pleasure. Be neat and precise in all your affairs.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you are almost prepared to your plans, this can be a happy day for you. Take time to realize that others need your help. Take them out for recreation.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Though it may not be to your liking, family expects you to do certain things in a certain way. Be patient. Establish greater harmony. This all works out to your benefit.

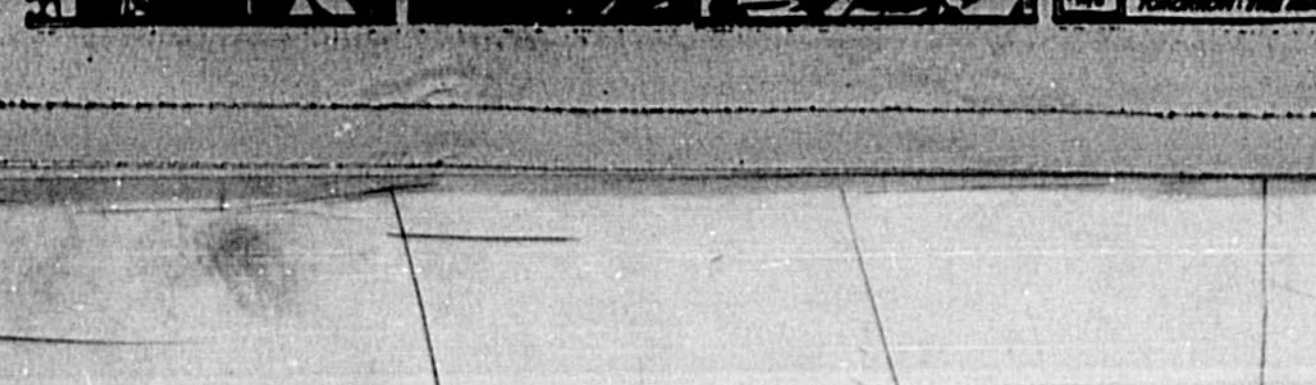

Cancer (Jan. 22 to Feb. 19) You require more data in order for your daily work to go more smoothly and this is the day to go after it. Accomplish a great deal in short time. Wearing recognition vital.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 19) Studying new outlets that will bring you greater abundance is very wise now. Look after your own welfare now and make that of others secondary. Be yourself, expand.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Make a few calls and see if social affairs are going on that you can attend. Otherwise, find own outlet, since you need the company of others today. Dress well, be fascinating.

If Your Child Is Born Today or she will be one of those individuals who will get wrapped up in business and precision but give little attention to the hard work and the desire to be liked by others is great, and there is much appreciation for music and the arts. Give good spiritual training and this can be a very happy life. Efficient if the stars of acting is engaged in or the art of writing just for the love of it and of fellow man.

Pisces: Higher Individual Pursued by your signs for a number is now ready. For your own good your attitude and to your career. Pursued, The Standard. Mar. 1961, Hollywood, Cal.
