Richberg Says That 8 Codes, Involving Over 2 Million Workers, Are Dead

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—(AP)—The number of working millions involved in the NRA's past and future occupied a Senate committee today as Administration leaders polished their strategy for the impending struggle over the $4,850,000,000 work relief bill.

Donald Richberg, recovery coordinator, under cross examination by the Senate, said eight service industry codes affecting nearly 2,000,000 employees are already virtually suspended by Administrative NRA action.

But he left Congress the task of saying what codes should be dropped permanently.

He named the harbor shops and building codes as not in operation today.

Others he named as having about 1,000,000 workers which have been limited in operation were the cleaning and dyeing, restaurants, motor vehicles, storage, advertising, display advertising distribution, bowling, and billiards, and shoe rebuilding.

Richberg warned that a complete abandonment of the codes would bring a "relapse in to a more vicious competition."

President Roosevelt joined other high officials in paying final tribute to Oliver Wendell Holmes, former supreme court justice.

The Senate was expected to act on the work relief bill before the day was over.

The extension of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation's borrowing powers occupied the House.

"A possibility but hardly a probability" that a new cash payment of the $2,000,000,000 might be delayed beyond next week was foreseen yesterday by Chairman Doughton of the House ways and means committee.

He made that carefully-phrased assertion shortly after his committee had voted, 23 to 1, to submit to the House the Vinton American Legion bonus payment bill.

Owners Of Longwood Dog Track Expect To Run Two Weeks

ORLANDO, Mar. 8.—Prospect of dog racing for Central Florida appeared bright Thursday night, with an announcement that the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club, Inc., would hold a 15 day race meet, starting next week at the Longwood track.

The announcement was made by D. Frank Carden, Dallas, Texas, president of the organization. He stated the exact date of the opening would be announced later.

Army Expenditures Bill Boosted As Senators Talk War

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—(AP)— Amid talk of possible war, and much mention of Japan, the Senate yesterday added $20,000,000 to the Army appropriation bill.

It now stands at $100,000,000, and the measure will be pushed to the point of passage.

The measure probably would have been approved and sent to conference with the House before government had not been for an attempt by Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, to add $375,000 for an air base in his state.

This caused another flurry of debate and since the Senate already had spent five hours in talking war and rumors of war, the bill went over until today.

The bill, carrying an appropriation greater by nearly $70,000,000 than a year ago, and one of the largest ever proposed in peace time, was passed by the Senate yesterday.

Arrangements have already been made to bring canines to the track which have been racing in Miami and Jacksonville.

Workmen are already rushing repairs at the kennel club to completion. The rabbit has been ordered and will be installed by Tuesday night, it was reported.

Coast Movie Leaders Worried Over Levies

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Mar. 8.—(AP)—Leaders of the motion picture industry here joined yesterday by a powerful association of the banking world in their statements that California stands a chance of losing its biggest enterprise if the state tax burden is increased by the legislature.

Dr. A. H. Giannini, president bank official, issued a statement warning that the film studios would be forced to move from the state if proposed tax legislation is passed.

Jury Unable To Find Cause Of Girl's Death

PINEHURST, N. C., Mar. 8.—A coroner's jury decided yesterday that Mrs. Eva Blaffer David died from carbon monoxide poisoning, but found the evidence too weak to determine whether it was suicide, murder or an accident.

So they returned an open verdict—"that Mrs. Eva Blaffer David died from carbon monoxide poisoning under circumstances unknown at the time and cause." It

He was convicted for murder.

Alvin Colley, his professional associate, Mrs. Colley, and their two children died after drinking poisoned grape juice which David served at a picnic lunch. David said in a confession afterward that Colley had attempted to poison him.

He was convicted for murder.

Talks To Parents

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

THE BULLY

The big boy, who on account of superior size and weight terrorizes other boys, is harder to deal with than the bantam fighter who is asserting his strength. The trouble with the average bully is that his mind is sluggish and his imagination unawakened. His energy has gone into size, and generally bulk and muscles are our claim to fame.

Everyone wants power. Some gain it by superior brains, some by wealth, some by looks, some by special skill. The boy who has only brains and strength to brag of, is going to gain his power by his manners.

The first thing to do with this kind of boy is to stir his imagination and rouse him to using his strength on constructive rather than destructive efforts. He must learn that to protect the weak is preferable to oppressing them.

Then he should be taught the rules of fighting. A few stiff bouts of punishment will probably give him his first taste of the thrill of the fellow feels. After that he should be encouraged to learn form in fighting, and to take pride in his own development of skill. Emphasis should be laid on the rules of sportsmanship. A fair play, and the underlying reasons for these rules impressed upon him.

Of course, if at the same time, the boy's interests along intellectual and artistic lines can also be aroused, the cure is more easily effected. He now has a position of real superiority which he does not have to keep propping up to rest his self-respect.

It is always easier to teach fair play to a small boy than to a big one. The youngster who has for years kept his playfulness in subjection by bullying them is not easily going to give up his advantage. Training in sportsmanship should begin when a child is quite small.

Newmans Entertain Evening Bridge Club

Honoring the members of the Evening Bridge Club and a few other guests, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Newman entertained with a buffet supper and bridge party Tuesday night at their home in Rose Court. A profusion of petunias, roses, gladioli, and other bright-colored garden flowers was used to adorn the rooms where the guests were received.

Taking its setting and its mood as well as its title from the internationally famous Parisian musical entertainment, "Folies Bergere" offers Chevalier his first dual role. He is seen both as his gay, straw-hatted, singing self, and also as a be-mustached, bearded French baron.

Anna Sothern and Merle Oberon, making her Hollywood debut, share feminine supporting honors, while the cast of this David L. Zanuck production also includes Eric Blore, Ferdinand Munier, Walter Byron, Lumaden Hare, Robert Greig, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Hallowell Hobbes and others.

Ray Del Ruth directed the production from a screen play by Bess Meredith and Hal Long.

Dave Gould of "Carillon" and "Continental" fame staged the elaborate musical ensembles.

Chevalier sings five new song hits, as well as a chorus of the memorable "Valentines," "Rhythm of the Rain," "Au Revoir, I Am Out," "I Was Lucky" and "Sing a Happy Song" were written by Jack Meskill and Jack Stein, while Burton Lane and Harold Adamson, the team who wrote "Sunny Weather," collaborated on "You Took the Words Right Out of My Mouth."

"Folies Bergere" is released through United Artists.

those matters which were of general concern to all of them, while preserving to each unit its full measure of independence and local self-government.

"Today these same happenings, conflicts and local ambitions are manifesting themselves on a most gigantic scale, but among some seventy odd nations as the struggling and ambitious units instead of only thirteen relatively compact states. What must now be done for the world is precisely what Hamilton and Madison and their associates did for the Americas states a century and a half ago.

"They need not be indeed there cannot be, a close international federation in the form of a single government such as that which marks the organization of the United States, but there should be, and there must be—indeed there must be—a new application of the federal principle which will bring to an end the present anarchic conditions by creating for the family of nations a single central authority in the direction of which they may each and all participate and through which they will deal, each and all, with those problems and questions that concern every one of them in this modern and closely inter-dependent world.

"American public opinion has shown many times that it is highly emotional and mercurial, and that it is all too easily influenced by demagogues and propagandists. It has also shown, however, that, given time fully to compare the significance of what is taking place, it will assert itself vigorously and effectively on the side of common sense, of right thinking and of sound morality. It is this fact which offers to the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace its invitation and its opportunity. The objective of the endowment is the education of public opinion by bringing to it the wide, most accurate and the most interesting information regarding the life, the thought and the political, social and economic organization of other peoples, and through presenting to these people similar facts relating to the United States.

"The struggle is on between those who are content to drift, each one heavily armed, and to await the disastrous consequences which all reasonable and farsighted men see to be unavoidable if present policies are continued and those men of vision, of high intelligence and of courage who are ready to build for the nations of the world what the American nation builders did for the states of the Union. To be sure, it is a far cry from the federal government of the United States to a constitution for the family of nations, but the underlying principle in each case is one and the same—namely, local self-government in the largest possible measure together with a united delegation to a common international agency of those powers and functions which, if they are to be exercised effectively at all, must be exercised on the part of a single nation but of all nations. Tennyson's 'Parliament of man, the Federation of the World' is just below the horizon.

"With all the experience of mankind to look back upon, nothing is sadder than to hear men holding responsible public posts in position to influence public opinion through the press, continuing to preach the impossible, the unreasonable and the suicidal doctrine of isolated nationalism under the guise of prosperity, to use up the whole of the natural resources and, in the guise of finding security, to expend countless millions upon the manufacture and maintenance of those armaments which are the surest sign of a nation's insecurity and weakness.

"As we pointed out in the last annual report, a chief factor in bringing about the existing lack of confidence, with its paralyzing economic and political effects, is the failure of governments to respect the solemn declaration which they all have made, now almost a decade ago, renouncing war as an instrument of national policy. This was hardly dry upon this immortal declaration when in every land the military minorities began to assert that, of course, this declaration had no meaning because each nation must guard its own security. These minorities promptly asked that several governments for literally huge increases in their armaments, military, naval and air. Nothing has been more discouraging than the sequels of these demands.

"The government of the United States has been a leader in this respect and has thereby stimulated like action on the part of other governments. It is truly pathetic that, with a vast majority of our population devoted to peace, to the judicial settlement of international disputes and to the cause of international understanding and international co-operation for the purpose of advancing our own happiness and prosperity through the establishment of the peace of the world, we should still be compelled to act by the political process.

It has been appropriately at the critical period of history that there were thirty-some of each of them, on the one hand, hostilities with the genius and compelling leadership of Madison, of Wilson, of Franklin, of Sherman, of Washington, formed a plan for common action of states in reference to the grievances of the world, which set every part of the socio-economic and political action by the political process.

Figures Reveal Florida As On Way To Prosperity

State Quickened Its Pace 25 Percent During Last Year

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 6.—Florida quickened its commercial pace in 1934 fully 25 percent over its 1933 speed; it is revealed by figures now coming to light, and promises to hang up a 1935 record that will definitely wipe out all remaining traces of 1929's economic collapse, according to Florida's State Chamber of Commerce.

Authentic figures put together by research departments of several Florida organizations agree, according to K. G. Grassfield, the State Chamber's general manager, that Florida helped itself most generously last year to "a returned prosperity."

"Indeed, Florida's 1934 business which are reviving in such a satisfactory manner that one hesitates, even for the minute it takes, to look back beyond the few weeks that separate the present year from the last," commented Mr. Grassfield; "those who do so will see a noteworthy picture."

"Fertilizer consumption in Florida in 1933 was 261,550 tons. In 1934 it was 311,143 tons, an increase of 18.8 percent.

"Electric power production in 1934 increased 24 percent over 1933—669,653 kilowatt hours as against 511,343.

"Retail trade in Florida in 1934 was 26.2 percent greater than it was in 1933, and wholesale trade increased 15.7 percent, which is obviously the best indication of increased purchasing power.

"One fourth more was spent for life insurance in Florida in 1934 than in 1933—42.6 percent to be exact. The figures are $4,041,000 as against $3,368,000.

"In building construction contracts awarded in 1934 amounted to $42,489,100 in 1933, a gain of 47.8 percent.

"For passenger motor cars in 1934 Florida spent 49.1 percent more in 1934 than in 1933, purchasing 26,717 cars as against 17,294. Trucks 32.2 percent were 4,186 in 1933 and 8,046 in 1934. There were 55,007 more automobile tags issued in 1934 than in 1933, an increase of 15.3 percent or from 295,833 to 331,410.

"Gasoline consumption jumped up 14.5 percent, from 205,112,182 gallons in 1933 to 235,712,182 gallons. In gasoline tax the state collected $16,260,251 in 1934 as compared with $14,114,295, which is an increase of 14.6 percent. Due to a lower rate of excise effective motor oil tax was brought the state in 1935—$4,903,608. In 1934 the amount was $4,314,541, thereby saving the taxpayers 13.1 percent.

"Combined fruit, vegetable and general agricultural crops showed a gain of 34.5 percent from a valuation of $6,215,440 in 1933 to $8,274,615 in 1934, an increase of $2,059,172.

"The citrus crop brought a 36 percent increase, from $32,610,451 to $44,301,191; truck vegetables a 43.2 percent increase, from $21,265,283 to $30,298,346, and general agricultural crops a 41.6 percent increase, from $11,013,600 to $18,583,000. Citrus comprised 41.3 percent of the total Florida agricultural crop; truck vegetables 33, general agricultural crops 16.8 berries and melons 4.5.

"Florida exported 16 percent more of her products in 1934 than in 1933, $34,559,056 as compared with $29,878,883. Her imports increased from $10,503,000 to $11,323,153, a gain of 15.8 percent.

"Viewed from any angle, the showing made by the state has been remarkably good," said Mr. Grassfield, in conclusion.

Special shows are relaxing up the boxes, Doughton said, it did so because his drafting clerks were so far behind with the re-writing of the Administration's new security bill "Part II" agreement was to resume work on social security when the clerks caught up.

The word yesterday, Doughton said, was that the drafting would not be finished before next week. He promised, however, that would make every effort to have it ready by the time the House voted on it before it goes to the Senate to take up the social security bill again.

The committee of which Doughton is a member, the House Select Committee on Small Business, was working on initial committee action on social security.

We find today:

It seems quite clear to me that there is going to be a great deal of negotiation over widening the participation process of social inclusion and exclusion and that no real artificial and more or less dogmatic distinction as that of the common railings is going to mark its limitation. In the second question, the one that I asked him after he had told me of his economic condition, he said that there is no real economy except that that state does not control basic direction of American industrial development.

It is quite evident now, however, that we cannot go on with the kind of administration we have now, which as far as I can see, has passed it to nearly an automatic level, except to say that now that a committee has been formed, it is not likely to be much political participation, I am afraid.

With great constructive discussions on the supreme court has made it clear that while the federal government has left, (and should leave) to the states, local governance of commerce whenever possible yes; yet that, whenever Washington as much as speaks in this area of its own power control, the power of the state's commerce vanishes.

"It is my belief that, within its proper field, there is land there should be practically no limit to this federal power over commerce of all kinds."

Taking up Senator Borah's recent assertion that Johnson had receded himself as against the little man, the general declared President Roosevelt had "seated" more little men under NRA than Senator Borah or Nye ever preached about."

GREECE CLAIMS REVOLUTION IS ABOUT TO END

A report that King George might be recalled from exile to save the situation from chaos was heard simultaneously with reports that the rebels were threatening to bombard Athens unless the government capitulated.

Border posts listened to the roar of artillery, machine guns and rifles, evidence of heavy fighting in Macedonia. An Athens dispatch to Paris said the loyalists completely routed the rebels, killing 600, wounding 2000 and capturing 1000.

Conflicting with that were dispatches from the Greco-Bulgarian border saying the population of Macedonia, long eager for autonomy, was rushing en masse to the rebel side.

As three Greek islands surrendered to the rebel fleet, French and British warships dropped anchor at Piraeus, port of Athens, and consuls of the two nations went there to protect their national interests.

Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Turkey continued strengthening their border guards, the Slav kingdom sending scouting planes over the battle lines to determine the insurgents' strength.

At Geneva the Turkish and Bulgarian delegates exchanged accusations of war preparations.

A dispatch from Rome said

Italy was following the Greek situation "with great interest, studying what measures it may be necessary to take to protect Italian interests."

Major Question Lies Bank Holdings and Washington Dispute: Times Getting Better? Advance 190 P.C.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—(AP)—Roosevelt supporters who assert that the battle is definitely won in simple language, the point is Washington is at least one business man of very large responsibilities, who says that the depression is over, but Washington and New York will be the last to realize it.

This important business figure even disputes the unemployment situation by arguing that a very large percentage of the 10,000,000 on relief is composed of persons who are public charges even in times of prosperity, chisellers, and others whose woes cannot be charged up to the depression. He puts the number of heads of families who really want work and cannot get it at 5,000,000—or about normal.

This opinion is not, of course, accepted even by the Administration's own relief officials, but it illustrates the wide divergence of view.

There is between these extreme positions a third view, of which Mr. Roosevelt himself has hinted once or twice in public speeches. It is the view that, whether things are improving or not, as far as the "New Deal" policies have kept the nation's economic structure alive, and saved it from the complete collapse which many thought it faced on Mar. 4, 1933.

Wherever the truth may lie among these various opinions, there is no indication the dispute will have an early end. Washington and the country have entered upon a period of debate—that nothing short of a convincing turn of the economic curve, one way or the other, can quiet.

CARE-FREE NEW ORLEANS CELEBRATES MARDI GRAS

Thousands of persons turned care to the winds to join carnival-mad New Orleans in its annual Mardi Gras celebration. Intermittent showers failed to dampen the spirits of the joy-seekers as they frolicked to the music of several bands, and paid tribute to Rex, ruler of the Mardi Gras. Rex (Garner H. Tullis, cotton broker) is shown as he drank a champagne toast to his Queen (Barbara Boudin) as she appeared during the festivities. (Associated Press Photos)

Prince Ananda Is Monarch Of Siam

BANGKOK, Siam, Mar. 8.—(AP)—Prince Ananda Mahidol, a boy of 11 years, was proclaimed the new monarch of Siam yesterday as the government gazette formally announced the acceptance of King Prajadhipok's abdication with profound regret.

In this period the proportion of interest-bearing debt held by banks, other than Federal Reserve Banks, increased from 2% to 40 percent, while for the regional banks the comparable proportions were 3.0 and 9.5 percent. Practically all of the earning assets of Federal Reserve obligations in recent months, the proportion of the total on Dec. 12, 1934, being 99 percent.

The Conference Board study shows that on June 30, 1930, the government security holdings of the Federal Reserve Banks totaled $591,000,000, or 59.3 percent of total bills and securities. Four years later government securities held amounted to $2,411,834,000 out of total bills and securities of $2,462,249,000, or 99.3 percent.

Holmes' Pointed Maxims Attracted Wide Attention

Late Liberal Voice Of Supreme Court Used Homely Phrases Often In His Decisions

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—(AP)—In his decisions, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes' enclaved formal legal language except where it was necessary, and used instead homely maxims.

Some were:

A horsecar cannot be handled like a rafter.

A man cannot shift his misfortunes to his neighbor's shoulders.

Most differences are merely differences of degree when nicely analyzed.

Every calling is great when greatly pursued.

The notion that with socialized property we should have a piano for everybody seems to be an empty humbug.

There is no general policy in favor of allowing a man to do harm to his neighbor for the sake of doing harm.

One of the eternal conflicts out of which life is made up is that between the efforts of every man to get the most he can for his services and that of society, disguised under the name of capital, to get his services for the least possible return.

Fair competition is worth more to society than it costs.

Nature has but one judgment on wrong conduct—the judgment of death. If you waste too much food you starve; too much fuel, you freeze; too much nerve, you collapse.

Those trampling the road of life have at their command one and only one rule to success, to bring to their work a mighty heart.

The man of action has the present, but the thinker controls the future.

Man must face the loneliness of original work.

We cannot live our dreams. We There is no basis for a plowman are lucky enough if we can give ph that tells us what we should a sample of our best and if in want to want.

our hearts we can feel that it has been nobly done.

Life is action, the use of one's powers. As to use them to their height is our joy and duty, so it is the one end that justifies itself.

Life is an end in itself, and the only question as to whether it is worth living is whether you have had enough of it.

There is in all men a demand for the superlative; so much so that the poor devil who has no other way of reaching it attains by getting drunk.

We are all fighting to make the kind of world that we should like. Others will fight and die to make a different world with equal sincerity and belief.

The life of the law has not been logic; it has been experience.

The constitution is an experiment, as all life is an experiment.

Great constitutional provisions must be administered with caution.

Some play must be allowed for the joints of the machine.

Legislators are ultimate guardians of the liberty and welfare of the people, in quite as great a degree as the rooks.

The word "right" is one of the most deceptive of pitfall—most rights are qualified.

Congress certainly cannot forbid all effort to change the mind of the country.

The best test of truth is the power of the thoughts to get itself accepted.

—REPORTERS FEET AT HOME

We should be extremely rigorous in the expression of opinions that we loathe.

When differences are sufficient for reaching, we try to kill the other man rather than let him have his way.

A dog will fight for his bone.

Newspaper Woman Satirizes American Scene As Mrs. Roosevelt, Others Laugh

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—(AP)—"Just one day, please make her a newspaper woman's satire tired."

But consternation reached climax when the bells, which supposedly wouldn't ring, went into sudden action—five bells, a number not listed on their chart. A news-ticker informed: "Mrs. Roosevelt just shot to Mars in a rocket ship!" The exhausted newspaper women, like old fire hoses galloped off to cover the story.

Senate Committee Re-

WASHINGTON, Mar. 9.—(A.P.)—

Huey P. Long, the left wing political question mark of the future, lost for the time being yesterday in his effort to have the Senate investigate Postmaster General Farley, but promised to renew his efforts.

The Senate postoffice committee rejected Long's resolution calling for the inquiry—an outgrowth of the protracted and echoing tussle of the Louisiana with the Roosevelt Administration.

Thursday night and yesterday Long made new assaults upon the President and his advisors.

A few minutes after the committee reported, in fact, Long caused a week end delay in con-

Effect On Business

WASHINGTON, Mar. 9.—(A.P.)—

Bitter denunciation of NRA's effect upon small business by Senators Borah and Glass last night brought to a close a day of running debate over the recovery law which started between Donald Richberg and members of the Senate finance committee.

Borah and Glass took the floor after Richberg, the Administration spokesman, and members of the committee had tossed figures and arguments at each other for two hours over the success of NRA in providing work and raising wages.

With crowded galleries listening, Borah demanded vigorous enforcement of the anti-trust laws and a division of wealth, which he said was impossible under monopoly.

Glass, using the vituperative vocabulary for which he is famous, denounced the NRA as "monstrous" and said all the power of the government had been used to a quiet chuckle yesterday at some

When gentle rains carried heavy snows December, January and February, the cold winter that followed will be remembered as one which began Decemforecast in the next two weeks cannot make the approaching winter a cold one," says J. H. Kincer, weather climatologist.
