Manor Heights

Beautification for Posterity

AN outstanding characterization of Daytona Highlands, and one which carries a strong appeal to every visitor is the self evident permanency of the entire project. There is something about the hills and lakes themselves that creates this impression; the magnificent pines and other mammoth trees, rear guard of a vast primeval forest, serve to augment this impression as well as to furnish welcome shade. So also do the rock quarries in operation on the property, turning out Coquina rock for building and road construction.

As one swings around the loop, entering the property through the North Wing of the stately Tarragona Tower, proceeds along Volusia avenue to Hillcrest, around the shore of Lake Minorea, up over the hill by Florida avenue, along Tarragona Way and out through the South Wing of the great stone gate, one is never without this impression of permanency. This applies not only to the property itself, but to the work that is being carried on, from the gigantic stone entrance, involving the use of more than three thousand cubic yards of solid Coquina rock, to the ornamental planting being carried out along the rock and asphalt streets now under construction.

The beauty of the suburb will create an immediate enhancement of property values and more than this, by its very nature, an ever increasing enhancement as the years pass. Building restrictions, calling for fireproof construction of all dwellings throughout the development, serve still further to make its rare beauty a lasting gift to posterity.

Visualize the investment possibilities of such a project. Almost within the city itself, with an altitude unobtainable elsewhere within many miles of the seacoast, with improvements and beautification proceeding at a tremendous rate and with prices at their present low value, Daytona Highlands offers to both the investor and the home seeker an opportunity unsurpassed for soundness and for adequacy of returns.

Our Sanford office is now open and one of Daytona Highlands palatial motor chair cars is making regular trips between Sanford and Daytona. Reservations may now be made through our local office for this complimentary tour of Eastern Volusia County, including many points of interest as well as an inspection of the property.

WOMEN WORKERS FIND FAVOR WITH TRADE UNIONISM

Women's Membership Shows Increase of 500 Per Cent During Past Ten Years, Declares Research Bureau

NEW YORK, Feb. 23. — The number of women workers organized in trade unions more than doubled in the decade from 1910 to 1920, says a statement issued today by the National Bureau of Economic Research, Inc., of this city, summarizing an exhaustive report on the subject.

In 1910 the statement shows the female membership of American trade unions totaled 75,748, divided among 34 organizations. In 1920 the total women membership was 396,000, divided among 37 organizations.

All organizations but two, the musicians and the brewery workers, had a larger membership at the close of the decade. Three important new organizations, it is pointed out, which were not in existence in 1910, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the Amalgamated Textile Workers and the telephone operators' branch of the Electrical Workers, contributed practically 100,000 members, or nearly one-fourth of the total rise.

Another organization, the Railway Clerks, whose female membership in 1910 was negligible, was responsible for 35,000 more in 1920. In both years the membership of the clothing unions was the dominant item. The International Garment Workers and the United Garment Workers had, in 1910, 40 per cent of the total; and in 1920 these same organizations, together with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, had 42 per cent. By 1920, however, the shoe, textile railway clerks and electrical workers unions had risen to a place of importance, with a combined membership of more than one-third of the total. Most of the unions dropped a large part of their female as well as their male membership during the years following 1920. Any estimate of the total loss between 1920 and 1923 can be more than a guess, but it is judged that it was not much more than 100,000. A considerable part of this loss, moreover, is probably ascribable to the exodus from industry of the many women who found employment in industry during the war.

"The course of the labor movement among women in this country is unintelligible without some conception of the number of women who work and the nature of the work they do," explained Dr. Lee WOLMAN, who conducted the investigation. "Both in 1910 and in 1920 women requested just about one-fifth of the total number of persons who in the United States worked for an income and were therefore counted in the occupation census. While the number of women who work in small are absolute magnitude, it has since 1880 increased at a much more rapid rate than the total working population.

"The substantial gains took place in trade, professional service and in clerical occupations. Manufacturing and mechanical industries hardly moved.

"The type of skilled craft union which is so prevalent among men and which plays so dominant a role in the American labor movement is practically non-existent among women. The nearest approach to it is to be found in the unions of professional workers, like actors, musicians, and teachers. Except in the case of actresses, who are now highly organized, unionism is very weak indeed."

Paola Subdivision Will Be Placed On Realty Market Soon

Plans for the development of an extensive subdivision in Paola have been tentatively arranged and were announced by R. R. Eldridge Friday morning. A company has acquired 80 acres of land in Paola that is regarded as particularly desirable and portions of it have now been placed on sale.

Paola is regarded by the developers as an ideal district in which to live. It is 92 feet above sea level which insures adequate drainage at all times. The property already has numbers of large shade trees and lakes, with boating, bathing and fishing, add to the desirability of the place.

Water, roads and other utilities, including electric lights are either secured or now being secured or now being arranged for. The town is situated at the junction of the rail lines to St. Petersburg and Leesburg. Streets are being laid out in the property and other developments being made.

Teachers Of North Want South Sea Jobs

HONOLULU, Feb. 23.—The influx of applications of mainland teachers for positions in the Hawaiian schools this year is growing daily into proportions that lead Superintendent W. E. Givens, of the department of public instruction, to predict that the number will exceed that of last year, when there were 5,000 applications from mainland teachers for 125 vacancies.

There will be only about 100 vacancies this year and preference will be given, as in the past, to graduates of the territorial normal school or the University of Hawaii.

According to school authorities, the so-called lure of the South Seas is very potent upon teachers, thousands of whom apply annually for the comparatively few vacancies that occur in the department's staffs.

Winter Park Plans Flower Show Soon At Woman's Club

The show is open on Wednesday evening from 9 o'clock to 11 o'clock and on Thursday from 9 o'clock to 5 o'clock and plants to be brought in by Wednesday morning. Forty Former Service Men Taking Vocational Training At University

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 23.—There are at present about 40 men taking vocational training at the University of Florida, according to Dr. L. W. Bucholz, who is in charge of the work. The training is offered under the provisions of the Smith-Hughes Act which was passed soon after the end of the World War.

When hostilities ceased the government wished to do the best for its men and to being the offering to soldiers of compensation. Those who had wounds which had made them at least ten per cent less efficient than before, were given the choice of a monthly allowance or the opportunity of continuing their education. At one time at Florida there were as many as 250 former soldiers taking advantage of the federal government's offer. Among those who have graduated from this class of students are a lawyer, a teacher and a student from the agricultural college.

Each vocational student is allowed $100 a month for maintenance. In addition he is furnished with all material necessary to do his work, such as writing paper, pencils and so on. Some of those who have come here have hardly been able to read while others have had the benefit of high school and college training.

The United States has entered into an agreement with a number of institutions of higher learning throughout the country, both private and public, to provide for the vocational courses. The Smith-Hughes Act will automatically go out of existence on June 31, 1926. It is expected by that time, however, that all men who might profit by its provisions will have done so.

The accident is regarded as having been unavoidable and an investigation by the police failed to fix the blame for the occurrence. Young Ray escaped without injury. The automobile was damaged.

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 28.—Four children of Mr. and Mrs. Merie Carson, of Pearl, Tex., were burned to death early this morning when the home was destroyed by fire. The parents were not seriously injured when they were forced by the flames to jump from a second floor window. Four other children escaped without serious injury.

German President Suddenly Called By Death This Morning

al president, receiving 277 out of the 370 votes cast in the assembly. The constitution adopted by the National Assembly provided that the executive power lies with the people.
The provisional government functioned until August 23, when Ebert took the oath as Imperial President and was obliged to leave the National Assembly behind him, being succeeded by the new Reichstag. Upon taking the oath President Ebert said: "The essence of our constitution shall, above all, be freedom, but freedom must have law. This you have now established. We will jointly hold it. It will give us strength to testify for the new vital principle of the German nation, freedom and right."
During the first few months of the provisional government its foundation was threatened by the crisis which arose over the question of signing the peace treaty. President Ebert and his first premier Philipp Scheidemann opposed yielding to the demands of the Allies. With no other course left but to accept, Scheidemann and his cabinet resigned and a pro-treaty government was formed, which included some of the ministers of the previous cabinet. The new government, while denouncing the terms of the treaty, decided to accept it and in July, 1919, President Ebert signed the bill ratifying the treaty.

With this phase of the treaty crisis over the Ebert government was confronted with the problem of getting delegates to go to Paris and shoulder the responsibility of signing the treaty. These were obtained after many declined what they regarded as an empty honor, because the opinion was practically unanimous in Germany that the terms of the treaty were unjust and sought to disrupt Germany as a nation.

DIRECTLY ON THE ATLANTIC OCEAN

HOLLYWOOD

BY THE SEA

FEW cities on the east coast of Florida have the natural advantage of facing directly on the ocean—most of them are separated from the bathing beaches by intervening dunes that must be spanned by long bridges or causeways.

Hollywood By-the-Sea is directly on the ocean—No bay lies in front of it—nothing but the broad Atlantic.

Here are miles of shimmering ocean front—a magnificent stretch of superb bathing beach—one of the finest on the east coast—with a surf that rolls in under the benign effect of the Gulf Stream, which flows past Hollywood, hugging its shores, making ocean bathing a delight the year 'round.

Along the entire length of this beautiful shore line will run a Cement Broad Walk, thirty feet wide—of which more than two miles are now completed, and electrically lighted by White Way Lights of five clusters each. Work has started on the new $250,000 casino and bath, which will be unequalled by any similar building in Florida. Other building plans to be started in the immediate future include the erection of a stately shore hotel, exclusive homes, apartments and specialty shops, all to grow in the characteristic speed of Hollywood Building.

A program which means opportunity to the investor and home owner—it means profit—jumps in value. It means that the opportunity Hollywood By-the-Sea offers today is greater than ever before.

Every visitor to Florida should see and study Hollywood By-the-Sea; there he will find the ideal place for a permanent home; a luxurious location for a winter home and a highly proved place for property ownership.

UNDER THE COLD

Under the cold the roses Under the snow the grass—More than a man supposes Who carelessly may pass. Under the winter's chill are things Of green and yellow that are the springs.

So, let us go on smiling Who can smile through tears, Sorrows of men beguiling, Though through the weary years Under the snow men's hearts may hide, Showing us only their wintry side.

For I am sure forever, Though they may scoff at song, Even the very clever Under the ice may long For tear-wet daisies, for heart-blown flowers, For some of the spring that is ours.

So let us go on singing Even though men disdain Into life's dance flinging—Some little glad refrain—Under the snow perhaps somewhere A soul may hear, or a heart may care.

By Douglas Malloch. Sanford—the city of greatest opportunities.

This is the last day of February. Now for another batch of bills.

It's a poor day that doesn't see the announcement of a proposed million dollar hotel in some Florida city.

Yes, Sylvester, a girl who likes a fellow is willing to share his lot—if it is in the right subdivision.—Tampa Times Philosopher.

Things to worry about: a synthetic sugar five hundred times sweeter than honey, is called Benzoylsulphonimid.

Our office boy says you never can tell when the dumbell of today will become the wise man of tomorrow.

No, Mable, the only difference between a jumping bean and a jelly bean is that the first uses its bean.

In line with the president's economical policy, we suggest that he ride his hobby-horse in the inaugural parade instead of using an automobile.

Governor Charles W. Bryan, brother of the Great Commoner, was caught making seventy-two miles an hour in his automobile near Pensacola last week. Why didn't he run that fast in the November election?

Edward Bok, of Americanization and peace prize fame, has offered 2,000 acres of land in Polk county as a refuge for wild life. Judging from the vitality shown at the present, the wild life is good for many years before it needs refuge.

At the rate property in the First Street extension section is being purchased there will be none left by the end of next week. Sanford people will be acting wisely by investing in this property which offers such wonderful opportunity for quick and substantial profits when the resale begins.

Day by day Sanford takes on more the appearance of a big metropolitan city. The eyes of Florida are on it. It is destined to become one of the largest cities of the state. Real estate purchased today will be worth double next year.

After a busy week Sanford will find interesting and helpful services in the churches of the city tomorrow. And if you have prospered don't drop just a nickel in the collection plate.

Yet He Was "A Jolly Good Fellow"

Curious what a "little" thing can mar all the pleasure of a vacation spent in Florida! The little thing is like this: Ten or twelve years ago a Good Fellow from a northern state came to a certain resort in Florida for the winter season. He spent money freely, was a jolly good sport, and he made many friends.

But in the crowd with which he was so popular there was one young fellow who irritated the rest by his silly aversion to strong liquor. He steadfastly refused to drink with the bunch and sometimes refused to join their parties entirely, much to the disgust of the fellows who felt that he was feeling himself superior. The young man was a witty, likeable chap and he seemed to be craving the jollity that he found in this crowd, many of whom were young professional men like himself, living at hotels and rooming houses, their families "back north," or in other southern towns.

The Tourist, who stars in this tale, made a wager with some of the crowd that he could teach the young man to like his booze. And he won the bet. When he returned north at the end of the season, the young man was taking drinks with the rest; and never, they say, was any one funnier than was this naturally witty fellow when he was "pretty well tanked up."

During the ten years that elapsed before the Good Fellow Tourist returned to the Florida resort, he had changed his mind about the value of booze. He "cut it out" entirely, in fact, for the sake of his wife and little ones for whom he had begun building happiness. He was so busy in those ten years he could not take a trip to Florida until he had fixed everything safe financially. Then he came with the wife and the babies.

Then the "little" thing happened. He arrived in the town he visited so gayly ten years before, and began looking up the members of the crowd that had helped him enjoy himself. One after another welcomed him and soon he was learning all about most of the fellows who had been together that winter.

It was pleasing to see that many of them had prospered in fine fashion. Some were important personages. Some were "rolling in wealth," as the others pointed out right merrily. And then the Tourist asked directly about So-and-So, the fellow who had to be browbeaten into taking an "innocent highball."

"Well, there's not much to tell," one of the men blundered, "you see he is down-and-out—got to boozing like a fool, was mixed up in some disgraceful things, and we had to cut his acquaintance. His old Mother came down to straighten him out, but she couldn't stand his pace and died, they say, from sheer worry. It seems that the kid's Father went that way, and he had never tasted the good old stuff—By the way, do you remember how he fought when you crowded that drink down his throat?"

And that "little" thing spoiled the Tourist's vacation. Good Fellows who scorn to be their brothers' keepers frequently have that kind of reckoning to deal with. And this particular Good Fellow is man enough to recognize the fact that he has been another Cain.

All Right, If It Goes Far Enough

One does not have to be so very old to remember the time when there were no "Better Home Contests." The "Better Home Contest" is a decidedly modern indoor sport, and it promises to have a popular run.

Already the "Better Home Contest" in Florida has spread to forty counties, with home demonstration agents in charge, trying to arouse enthusiasm for the improving and beautifying of the home and its surroundings.

In the contest ending June first with a presentation of prizes for the most outstanding work, members of "home demonstration clubs" will undertake to show what they can do toward the improvement of the homes in which they live, or in the homes of other people in their communities. "Even boys," one of the press reports naively remarks, may join in this work which is divided into five classes.

These five divisions, it will be seen, offers opportunity for several kinds of home improving, since they are given as according to expenditure of money. 2. Most sanitary and beautiful living room. 3. Most sanitary and beautiful bed room. 4. Most sanitary premises. 5. Most artistic planting.

"Even boys" undoubtedly can take a hand in this contest, and win the prizes, too. The fact is that "The Better Home" as provided for in this year's contest would amount to precious little, if along with this work for improvement of buildings and grounds we were not hearing of inspiration for the greater "betterment" that comes to the family within the walls, or under the tent, or with no home at all.

"Home", after all, is where the heart is. And home without a heart, home without love and virtue, unselfishness and joy, is of a home at all.

The "Better Home Contest" is all right, when it goes far enough.

WHEN YOU KNOW a thing, to hold that you know it; and when you do not know a thing, to allow that you do not know it; this is knowledge.—Confucius.

"CHIC" ASHEVILLE CITIZEN

Writers, artists and leaders of fashion in Paris have been discussing the real meaning of "chic." According to the reports, everybody disagrees with everybody else as to what the definition should be. And this diversity of opinion exists in the home of "chic," among those women who are so "chic" that their charm is famous the world over.

But "chic" need not be the exclusive possession of any woman or any city or country. The woman who has it not, neglects to make the most of her opportunities. The woman who exercises it, is supremely attractive.

"Chic" is something that can be expressed in a woman's eye as well as in her clothing, in her conversation as well as in her gestures. It is the champagne of social intercourse, the jeweled mosaic of human relationship. It is charm added to beauty and sparkle added to culture. It is the indefinable but compelling something which draws the male eye a second time to even the plainest featured woman as she goes down the street. It is the magic which makes men forget that a woman is not beautiful. It is, in fact, a stronger and more lasting enchantment than loveliness itself.

The woman who is "chic" carries in her very appearance the promise of wit and laughter, all that delightful froth of life that is beauty and alluring. She takes an interest in everything that is said and holds the interest of all those to whom she talks. "Chic" is trimness, elegance, style. It is the smile at the right time, the gesture of amazement at the appropriate moment. It is the capacity to surprise, to keep the varicolored bubble of badinage dancing in the air. It is the supreme "come again," an invitation which is never refused save with regret.

Best of all, "chic" knows no age. It is a dependable and forceful weapon in the hands and heart of the woman of sixty as it is when wielded by the maid of twenty. Men always fall captive to it, and they never forget it. The woman who is "chic" has conquered Time.

Medill McCormick. A Chance for Congress. Gold, Yellow and Cold. The Baby Crop. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

MEDILL McCORMICK, who died suddenly Thursday, was an exceptionally able, brilliant man. He inherited through his mother the genius of his grandfather, Joseph Medill, and especially the latter's newspaper talent.

BEFORE he left newspaper work for politics, Medill McCormick, although a very young man, showed extraordinary newspaper ability and energy. He was a newspaper editor of the early American type, thin, keen, concentrated, knowing what news is, how to tell it, and how to impress himself on public affairs.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, it's said, means to veto the increased salaries for Congressmen. The total amounts to $1,376,000 a year. The salaries are not high, Congressmen cannot live decently at Washington and at home on today's wages.

CONGRESS could earn the increase in five minutes by creating a great irrigation and power plant at Boulder Canyon on the Colorado River. That project to irrigate two million acres of desert land, supply continuously 600,000 horsepower and protect the Imperial Valley from floods would pay the Congressmen's increased salaries ten thousand times every year and leave enough over to pay for the dam.

MR. F. B. KELLOGG, retiring as Ambassador to Great Britain, will be welcomed home as Secretary of State by all who like a genuine American of old fashioned type.

MR. KELLOGG is cheerful about Europe and says the world is returning to the gold standard. The world knows little about money; professional financiers, as Bernard Shaw says, know even less than anybody else. But gold, "Yellow and cold," for which men struggled, searched, dug, and killed each other five thousand years ago, still retains its power.

And this country, has most of the gold; this is one reason why Europe doesn't like us.

ONE IMPORTANT proof of booming prosperity. In New York, our biggest city, the rush to get married before Lent comes exceeds all records. Not fewer than fifty couples have been standing in line, all day, waiting for licenses.

This guarantees most important of all OUR CROPS, the crop of native born babies on which the country and the future depend. The only real wealth is human intelligence. The mothers create it.

NEAR Morlaix, in Brittany, fire destroys a famous religious shrine, dating back six hundred years. The church, called "St. John of the Finger," was thus named because the relic from which it derived its power was a finger of John the Baptist.

THE RELIQUARY with the sacred finger was saved, fortunately, also another treasure almost as precious, one of the sacred vessels made by Benvenuto Cellini.

You admire the power of faith, revealed in the fact that the worshippers are not shaken by the fact that fire, destroying the old church, was caused by a stroke of lightning, and thus, practically, by an agency of Divine Power. Such a man as the late Ingersoll would have found material for unpleasant comment there.

HAVE YOU a little domestic servant problem? Read these figures: Between 1910 and 1920, United States population increased 15 per cent, and the number of domestic servants, cooks, chambermaids, etc., diminished 25 per cent. Moral, be grateful for what you have.

ANOTHER moral, according to F. Schneider, Jr., learned financial editor, is, "Buy public utility stocks." Fewer servants must mean more electric sweepers, washing machines, etc., and, therefore, more current used. The servant problem reaches all over the world. Englishmen have to live in little houses or flats with little rooms because they can't afford to find servants. They have no place to hang their biggest paintings, and sell these at low prices to rich Americans with plenty of wall space.

THE MAYOR of your city will be interested in a machine to get rid of snow used in Vienna. Large metal basins on wheels are filled with snow. Steam jets playing on the sides of the basins melt 1,500 cubic feet per hour.

Cities within easy reach of salt water could melt snow, using salt water under pressure a good deal more cheaply than by the steam process.

PRETTY SOFT!

JUST IN PASSING

Just as predicted two years ago when we started our golf links—it is one of the lodestones that will attract tourists to Sanford. The other one is the big new tourist hotel.

A few worms more or less in the celery crop should not injure the prospects or cause so much fuss. They can easily be controlled by proper precautions and spraying.

Many years ago I said in The Herald that celery growers would have to diversify and rotate their crops. I still maintain that if they will change their lands every year the worms will leave. This is the history of farming ever since the world began. If you don't believe it ask Henry Chappell who has been growing celery ever since Ponce De Leon discovered DeLeon Springs.

Otto Borchart, the genial owner of the Milwaukee ball team, is as busy as a bee these days getting ready for his team and he is also putting Sanford on the map in many ways. Everyone here should assist in making the spring outing of the "Brewers" one of the best in their history.

When Baumel's Specialty Shop invaded Orlando with its Spring Fashion Show the firm put on something that will bring much new business to Sanford. And reports from Orlando are to the effect that this Sanford shop made a wonderful showing in our sister city. A good bit of advertising and another feather in the caps of our folks.

My old friend "Bob" Davis of the Gainesville Sun has been appointed tax collector of Alachua county. Some how or other I cannot picture the Sage of Gainesville as a collector of mere taxes although he formerly did something of this kind in the government land office at Gainesville. Hope it does not interfere with his writing on the Sun.

Col. A. W. Huston, general manager of the Southern Utilities Company was in our midst yesterday and said among other things that his company was putting in many improvements and developments in Florida and the Sanford plant would be enlarged in many ways to take care of the constant increase in population. I understand that the Florida Light and Power Company, the new owners of the Southern Utilities plants will spend nine million in Florida improving their plants. Sanford now has one of the best plants in the state.

Saw a stranger yesterday on the street and invited him out to the golf links to play on the sportiest course in the state. He said he did not know we had a golf course but if the balance of the folks here were as friendly as Frank McNeill he would stick around awhile and play golf. As a tip to some of our folks I would like to say that other cities in Florida find it profitable to give strangers the glad hand.

The last day in the month and Monday the first of another month will take all the joy out of life with the post-office box crowded with bills, etc.

Newspaper report says that thousands of physicians are tramping the streets of London with nothing to do and they are taking jobs at ten dollars a week to keep from starving. Report says that too many thousands of medical students are being graduated every year and there is no business for them—the order of medicine is being overdone. Something like that will happen in America ere long if so many good farmers do not stay on the farm instead of trying to become doctors.

Hulick Brothers are here and the new hotel will be started at once under their direction. They are both hustlers, full of pep and have their own clientele that will fill their new hotel here next winter. Sanford was fortunate to get these hotel people for our first tourist postelry.

Two years ago I said that a golf course and Country Club would make Sanford a real tourist resort and would also call the attention of more strangers to Sanford than any one thing. Today this is a proven fact and yet our own people are not aware of the fact that Sanford has one of the finest golf courses in the state or in the South.

A visitor here yesterday said it was a joke to go into one of our stores and ask the proprietor or the clerk about golf bags when they hardly knew that Sanford had a golf course. And when you come to think of it how many Sanford business men play golf? Not many.

There is nothing to worry about, nothing to doubt, nothing to excuse about the new and wonderful growth of Sanford. Every man and woman in Sanford are boosters—I said MAN AND WOMAN. At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday at least one hundred enthusiastic boosters were present. Quite a change from yesteryear but that song about old fossils is not altogether true even now. And by the way did you note those wonderful advertisements about the Hotel Realty Company property? Some "nifty stuff" and they will bring the folks to Sanford and then it will be up to you folks to see that they like the city.

Members Literature Department Guests Of Mrs. E. L. Markell

The meeting of the Literature Department on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Edward Markell at her lovely home "Edgewater" was one of the most delightful affairs this department has enjoyed this season.

After reading of minutes of previous meeting and disposal of business, the meeting was open for discussion of plans for program for next year. An expression of views from each one present showed that a large number wished to continue the reading of plays, while some expressed desires to study poetry, moving pictures and current literature of various kinds.

Plans were made by the department to put on a play reading in the near future, which will be a gem, as parts were assigned to some of the members of the department who are most gifted. At the conclusion of the meeting those who were so fortunate as to be present, were given a rare treat in strolling around the grounds of "Edgewater" and viewing the St. Johns River from this point, declared to be one of the most beautiful views in Florida. The charming hostess served tea and cake at the close of this delightful afternoon.

Lovely prizes were awarded for high scores to Miss Maltbie of Altamonte Springs and Miss Wilkey. A delightful tea was served following the game.

Music was furnished by Carmine Guthrie and Wanda Smith gave two fancy dances. Dorothy Smith entertained the children with games on the lawn.

When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

Air Scouts Fail To Find Herring School Irish Find Liking For Breakfast Food

EMDEN, Germany, Feb. 28.—During the fishing season of 1924 herring fishermen tried out airplanes to aid in the locating of schools of herrings at sea, but the results were distinctly disappointing.

Equipped with radio apparatus to report back to their base the pilot of a plane flying over the water looking for signs of the fish, but it was found that the planes moved too fast, and that the herring swim too far beneath the surface of the sea for the observer in the plane to see them.

FLY BELOW SEA LEVEL

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—The lonely wastes of Death Valley, end of the trail for a legion of hardy emigrants in the days of gold, is the grave of many an adventurer even today, recently witnessed the discovery of a page in the history of aviation when three Rockfield Field, San Diego aviators under command of Col. Harry Graham, piloted their planes over the valley 362 feet below sea level. At the time, the planes traveled long distances about 40 feet above the ground, and at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

DUBLIN, Feb. 28.—Complaint is made in a letter to the Dublin press that American flake meal is costing Irish meal from the shops in large and small towns alike. It is argued that whatever may be said of the advantage in quality and price of foreign wheat flour, Irish oatmeal ought to be able to hold its own since it is cheaper than American flake meal.

Nevertheless, says the complaint, American flake meal is being marketed by the public and pushed through the shops, and every backed flake meal prevents the sale of an Irish flake meal.

Guiana Appreciated More By Americans Than By Hollanders

AMSTERDAM, Holland, Feb. 28.—The director of the San Diego far more interest in Dutch Guiana than do the people at home, was the plaintiff of Baron A. J. Van Heemstra, Dutch governor of Surinam, who has been spending a business vacation in the motherland.

whose experts passed through Paramaribo last month and who are now prospecting for gold in the interior of the colony. German industrial firms, the governor added, also have shown great eagerness in taking up various development propositions, but curiously enough the Dutch themselves are not coming forward very readily except for a proposal to erect a sugar refinery in the colony.
