Burns On Benny: His Memory Will Live On

Police Robber Shootout Sends Crowd For Cover

NEW YORK (AP) — A gun battle between police and a robbery suspect in a crowded Washington Square subway station sent horrified straphangers diving for cover and left one officer mortally wounded in the heart.

The suspect, a former convict, was killed outright in the shootout Monday afternoon.

The wounded officer, Joseph R. Garcia, 34, was kept alive on the way to Bellevue Hospital by a fellow officer who applied heart massage. He died eight hours later on an operating table.

He was the second New York City policeman to be killed in the line of duty this year and the third within a month.

Because of the crowd of several hundred in the station, the officers did not fire until they were eight feet from the suspect.

President Changes Format

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is dropping one of his innovations for his news conference today.

Press Secretary Ron Nease said Ford would answer questions on domestic and foreign issues in the order in which they were asked. Ford's last news conference was unique in that it was divided into two parts, with domestic questions first followed by foreign questions in the second half.

Nease said Ford would not have a prepared statement. The nationally broadcast session, set to begin at 2 p.m. EST, is Ford's first news conference in six weeks.

Albert Feels Insulted

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert is insulted because of three major television networks refused to provide him live television time for a Democratic response to President Ford's economic address. Albert's office says.

NBC-TV televised a taped version of the speech at 9 p.m. EST Monday, an hour after Albert delivered it on Mutual radio. ABC-TV said it would televise a tape of the speech at 10 p.m. EST Tuesday, and CBS-TV said it would air a speech by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., live at 10 p.m. EST Wednesday.

Inflation Rate Hits 12.2 Per Cent Consumer Prices Show Rise Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose another seven-tenths of a per cent in December, giving the nation an inflation rate of 12.2 per cent in 1974, the government reported today.

It was the highest inflation rate in 28 years and the worst in peacetime on record. And, as inflation clipped more than 12 cents off the value of every dollar, the government also said the purchasing power of the average worker's paycheck fell 5.4 per cent last year.

The Labor Department said last year's 12.2 per cent increase in the cost of living was the highest since prices soared 18.2 per cent in 1946 when World War II price controls were lifted.

It was also the sharpest increase ever recorded in peacetime since the government began measuring consumer prices in 1913. The old record for a nonwar year was in 1960 when prices rose 11.6 per cent.

However, despite last year's record rate of inflation, the latest price report offered some solace in the fact that inflation has been easing in recent months. The seven-tenths of a per cent rise in December was the smallest in five months and followed increases of nine-tenths of a per cent in both October and November.

Wholesale prices also have been declining in recent months and this trend is expected to begin showing up in retail prices early this year. However, new energy taxes proposed by President Ford would, if approved by Congress, add about two percentage points to the inflation rate this year, the administration has said.

The December increase in over-all prices pushed the government's Consumer Price Index to 156.4, meaning that it cost $156.40 to buy a variety of goods and services which cost $100 in the 1967 base period.

The government said food accounted for a fourth of the increases in consumer prices last year while price increases for energy products, including gasoline, fuel oil, coal and natural gas, were responsible for more than a tenth of the increase.

Recession is dampening inflation and government economists say that while prices will continue to increase in 1975, most increases will be smaller and less painful to consumers. Food prices, however, are expected to climb at a 15 per cent annual rate during the first half of the year, according to Agriculture Department forecasts.

President Ford's economic advisers had predicted that inflation would ease to 6 or 7 per cent this year. But that was before Ford proposed new energy taxes last week which the administration acknowledged would add another two percentage points to this year's Consumer Price Index.

The record inflation rate in 1974 compared with a 8.8 per cent rise in living costs in 1973. In both 1972 and 1971, the nation had an inflation rate of 3.4 per cent.

The Consumer Price Index, published monthly by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, measures average changes in prices of goods and services usually bought by urban wage earners and clerical workers.

In other economic developments: —House Speaker Carl Albert criticized President Ford's income tax and energy conservation proposals.

Democrats Can Do Better Job: Albert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats led by Speaker Carl Albert, say they can do a better job than President Ford in directing tax relief where it's needed, fighting the energy crisis and helping the poor cope with inflation.

In making these arguments Monday night, Albert joined other Democratic leaders in a steady drumbeat of criticism against Ford's economic and energy proposals.

Albert, in a broadcast reply to Ford's economic address last week, said the Democrats would control Congress and would welcome cooperation from the executive — "We are not seeking confrontation. We are seeking solutions."

But he said Ford's proposal to rebate 1974 income taxes by 12 per cent would put 43 per cent of the refund into the hands of the richest 17 per cent of taxpayers. Democratic leaders have asked the House to pass by the end of March a tax reduction for middle and lower income persons only.

Albert said Ford's proposals for oil taxation would mean price increases as much as 25 per cent for gasoline, heating oil, electricity, food, fertilizer and other products.

Albert asked what good it would do a family to get a $75 to $100 tax rebate if at the same time the family's gasoline, heating oil bill went up by $250 to $300.

Albert said Congress would have to consider such things as gasoline rationing, prohibiting the sale of gasoline on Sundays, excise taxes on automobiles with high horsepower and possibly other measures.

Other Democrats also were critical of Ford's proposals.

—Rep. Al Ullman of Oregon, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee where all tax bills originate, said he favored a cut in 1975 withholding tax rates instead of the single-shot tax rebate on 1974 taxes that Ford has asked for.

Ullman also said Ford's proposed tariff increase on imported oil was unfair. He said that while rationing is "a tough bullet to bite," it would probably have to come as the "ultimate objective."

—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Henry M. Jackson of Washington said they would introduce a resolution to delay for 90 days the Ford plan to increase oil import tariffs beginning next month. The resolution would in effect suspend authority that Ford already has.

—Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine also said he opposes Ford's plan to increase oil tariffs, saying that such a plan discriminates against New England, which depends heavily on oil to heat homes and fuel industries.

Ford's program also was criticized by a Republican, Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York. The President's economic program falls "far short of the magnitude of the crisis," Javits said.

The senator said any tax rebate should be prohibited for families earning more than $25,000 and be urged authorization of wage and price controls.

Jury Selection In Murder Trial Proceeding Slowly

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — A new group of prospective jurors were subpoenaed for today after only eight of 94 were tentatively seated in the first degree murder trial of former county manager Alan G. Stanford Jr.

Stanford, 50, is charged with the machete slaying of his next-door neighbor, former showgirl-model Athalia Ponsell Lindsay, 36.

The eight jurors were tentatively selected on the opening day of the trial Monday. But the state had used only three of its preemptory challenges and the defense only one.

Each side can excuse up to 10 prospective witnesses without citing a reason.

Most of the prospective jurors said they knew the defendant, attorneys or witnesses and didn't believe they could be objective.

Rate Increase Opposed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Supreme Court is being asked to overturn a $17.2 million rate increase granted Gulf Power Co. last month.

Public Counsel Frederick Karl, who represents consumers before the Public Service Commission, said the PSC failed to meet legal requirements of a hearing before granting the increase.

Karl said he was granted an opportunity to cross-examine company witnesses at a PSC hearing in Gulf Breeze on Dec. 11.

Nine days later, the PSC granted the Pensacola-based company an interim rate increase expected to boost monthly home bills $4 for 1,000 kilowatt hours.

The interim hike is part of a Gulf Power request for a total $19 million increase.

Shevin Seeks Statements

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin has asked his staff to file financial disclosure statements if they have no deep philosophical objections to it.

Shevin also listed 17 division and bureau heads and other personnel who must file such reports with the secretary of state's office by May 15. Others who wish to file will be furnished forms, he said Monday.

Shevin reminded his staff that he had filed financial disclosure and networth statements with the secretary of state's office for the past six years, while he was first state senator and then attorney general.

Switch Proposed For 1,500 Students

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

An estimated 1,500 students — including almost all at Rosenwald Elementary — will switch schools next year if a proposal by School Supt. William Laver is approved by the Seminole County School Board.

"Black people will be split like a shotgun," school board member Davie Sims said yesterday at a work session. Rosenwald is located in a predominantly black section of the county, near Altamonte Springs.

The Rosenwald change is due to receipt of a $100,000 grant to turn the school into a center for exceptional children.

Most of the school's 218 children will transfer to Lake Orlena, with the remainder to be logically a part of the Lake Orlena community.

All the children live in Bretton Woods — 7-1 Hidden Estates and Sims — 7-5, live within walking distance of Lake Orlena.

Laver's reply was that any further changes would necessitate revised boundaries at other schools. He also said anyone who can come up with a better concept is welcome to try.

$175,000 Loan Needed

By MICKEY LOCHRIDGE
Herald Staff Writer

The attorney for the Seminole County Port Authority (SCOPA) will meet on Wednesday with bank officials to try to get a final decision on a $175,000 loan in order that Sav More Terminals, Inc. may complete construction of additional storage tanks at the port.

Attorney William Hutchison told board members last night that he would meet with officials at ComBank in Casselberry "to determine the interests for the Authority."

The board agreed in December to contract with Sav More to construct 10 oil storage tanks pending the port's borrowing the money from the bank.

The additional storage tanks will increase the port's storage capacity to 3.5 million gallons from its present 1.5 million and

Port To Add 10 Tanks

Hutchison said that no lease agreement could be made before the court rules on SCOPA's reorganization plans.

Monday night marked the final meeting for resigning Chairman Harold Kastner, who has served as chairman for four years and served on the board for 8 1/2 years.

Earl Downs of Longwood has been appointed by Gov. Reubin Askew to fill the vacancy. The board will elect a new chairman during their next meeting.

In other action last night the board passed a resolution which it will present to the Seminole County Legislative Delegation in February.

The resolution, to be considered by the state legislature, expands the powers of the authority to include industrial development, bond financing of capital projects for port facilities and industrial and manufacturing plants.

CSOI built a 40,000 sq. ft. building at the port over a year ago, but because of the bankruptcy proceedings the building has been locked by the court.

If the plan by CSOI is recognized as being feasible by the courts, the plant will be reopened. CSOI assembled prefabricated units of motel rooms, and future plans called for the plant to manufacture one and three bedroom homes.

The board discussed the possibility of leasing the building to another firm, Sav More was mentioned, but

Four Altamonte Springs Men Jailed; Juveniles Charged In Robbery

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Sheriff's detectives have arrested four Altamonte Springs men for buying, receiving and concealing stolen property in a raid on an apartment at 757 South Wynore Road.

In county jail today on $5,000 bond each are Samuel Albert Macsimino, 20; Russell Joseph McDonald, 20; Fred Richard Lizzoli, 20, all of the Wynore Road address.

A spokesman for Sheriff John Polk said the four men were arrested after detectives executed a search warrant at the apartment and recovered approximately $200 in stolen property. The arrests were results of information obtained from Altamonte Springs police, the spokesman said.

Sanford police have charged two 17-year-old male juveniles with the Jan. 17 armed robbery of Shepard Grocery, 904 S. Willow Ave., Sanford. Officials said the youths were turned over to the state Division of Youth Services and later released to the custody of their parents.

Sanford police today arrested Larry Donel White, 19, 1021 W. 12th St., Sanford, on a circuit court warrant charging robbery and use of a firearm in commission of a felony. White is in county jail on $10,000 bond.

Officers said the charges are in connection with an armed robbery July 22, 1974 at 15th St. and French Ave., Sanford. A second suspect, John Lee Perkins, 18, Apt. 53, Castle Brewer Court, Sanford, was arrested under an hour after Perkins pleaded innocent when arraigned on the charges Monday in circuit court and was set for trial Feb. 17.

Altamonte Springs police and sheriff's detectives today were probing the robbery of a hitchhiker last night on SR-34 at Northwood.

Thomas Younger Strader, 26, of Fresno, Calif., told investigators he rode from Atlanta, Ga., with a man in a pickup truck. He said the man robbed him in Altamonte Springs of a $120 check.

Altamonte Springs Detective Sgt. Jim Martindale discounted Strader's claim that the man who used a pistol in the robbery, had 50 kilos of marijuana behind the truck's seat. Martindale attributed the claim to "excitement" on the part of the dead male robbery victim.

Martindale said police aren't "actively looking for the truck, but if we run across it we will stop it" for investigation.

Sanford police today were investigating several burglaries and thefts.

Florence Campson, 213 Bradshaw Dr., reported clothing, appliances and an auto tire, total value approximately $1,150, was missing after her home was entered by cutting a screen and forcing a door lock.

Officials at First Federal of Mid-Florida reported a candleabra and flower arrangement valued at $200 were taken from the clubhouse in the Sanora planned unit development off S. Sanford Ave.

Burglars entered the Knights of Columbus building at 2504 S. Oak Ave. by prying open doors. Officers said a cigarette machine was vandalized and an undetermined amount of money was taken.

W. B. Richardson, 2503 Myrtle Ave., reported gasoline tanks and fishing equipment valued at $125 were stolen from his front yard.

Two county residents filed delayed theft reports with the Sheriff's Department. Ardell S. Lalumia, Hobson St., Longwood, reported jewelry valued at $355 was stolen from his home sometime in December and Grace Hughes, 2038 Nottingham Rd., Winter Park, reported jewelry valued at $400 was taken from her home.

CIA May Disclose Size Of Secret Annual Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said he would name some younger senators among the Democrats he chooses for the committee. The resolution calls for a panel of either 7 or 11 senators with the size left to Mansfield and Scott, who would name the Republicans.

The caucus, with one senator abstaining and nine absent, gave Mansfield authority to bring to the Senate a resolution creating the committee with subpoena powers, a $750,000 budget and nine-month mandate expiring Sept. 1, 1975. He said it is expected to agree to it.

The budgets of the CIA and other supersecret U.S. intelligence agencies are hidden in the annual appropriation for the Pentagon.

The annual total for all intelligence units has been estimated from a low of about $4 billion to a high of more than $8 billion.

Two years ago, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., estimated that the CIA's portion of that was about $750 million a year.

Ex-CIA official Victor Marchetti put the CIA budget at the same figure in the book "The CIA and the Cult of Intelligence," published last year.

Cranston contended that there is no valid security reason for hiding intelligence spending figures from the public and members of Congress except to bring to the Senate a resolution creating the committee with subpoena powers, a $750,000 budget and nine-month mandate expiring Sept. 1, 1975. He said it is expected to agree to it.

Meanwhile, Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller said "the impression left so far" is that the CIA did not conduct a massive, illegal domestic spy operation. Rockefeller commented following a second day of appearances by former top A.S. intelligence officials before the blue-ribbon citizens commission on the CIA which he heads.

Sanford school members will vote on Laver's recommendations at a 7 p.m. meeting Wednesday at the Altamonte Springs City Hall.

Springs Moves Bradshaw

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS — Council voted last night to move Public Works Director and Building Inspector Ray Bradshaw out of the new city hall council chamber to the police trailer.

Although Bradshaw said he preferred locating his office in the north end of the mobile home, he was assigned the south end after it was learned his phones were connected there. Phones for the police department are installed in the other end.

An effort at last week's meeting by Councilman John Daniels and Irene Van Epeel to move Bradshaw out of city hall failed. Daniels complained there was too much noise from those conducting business with Bradshaw's department, and dirt was being tracked in on the new carpet. In addition expenditures had been made to extend phone service to the trailer for Public Works.

Mrs. Van Epeel read into the minutes a long list of conflicting legal opinions and alleged improprieties of Thomas Freeman, whom she said she would like to see replaced as city attorney. She accused Freeman's partner Edmund Woodfolk, who was representing the firm at last night's session, that she was not criticizing him.

An open house for the public is scheduled Sunday for the new $175,000 fire station-city hall.

The new facility occupied Jan. 1, already is plagued with a plumbing problem that resulted in flooding from both restrooms and complaints of "noxious odors."

Mayor Troy Piland said although validation proceedings were completed today for bonds financing the new building, it would be two more weeks before closing funds would be available.

Council will discuss how much of the maximum $200,000 to borrow during a 7 p.m. work session.

City Judge Newman Brock recommended another "plea day" be added to court sessions to handle the increased case load. Presently there is one plea day and one trial day.

Brock said the new Traffic Infraction Act will probably reduce the amount of court room appearances permitting the option to pay traffic fines or go to court.

Council voted to allow three court nights a month at $100 per session for the judge's salary. Council ratified Piland's appointment of Robert Melton of 302 Moss Rd., to the Board of Adjustment, but postponed naming a replacement to fill the vacancy on the Planning and Zoning Board until next week.

Council, which last week voted 3-2 against ratification of the mayor's choice for the P&Z board vacancy, John Booth, unanimously passed a resolution commending the former councilman for his dedication and hard work while in office.

Auto Repairs, Drugs And Roaches

WASHINGTON—The big auto makers are trying to make up some of their sales by jacking up the prices of replacement parts because auto owners are repairing their old cars rather than buying new models.

We have had access to a private industry study, which predicts the repair boom will bring in an extra $1 billion by 1980. The motorists' repair bills, according to the study, will soar from $35 billion to $43 billion.

The rush of motorists to repair shop began about four months ago. The shops are now raking in the money at a rate 12 per cent higher than in past years.

The auto manufacturers are trying to squeeze more profit out of the repair business, therefore, by raising prices on captive parts, such as fenders, doors and grills.

Where there is market competition—for such items as spark plugs, light bulbs and batteries—the prices are holding better.

The dealers also charge independent shops more for captive parts than the dealers pay themselves. An intricate rebate system has been designed to benefit the dealers at the expense of their customers.

Some insurance companies are also ripping off their policyholders by sending them to inferior garages, known in the industry as "enforcer shops" for accident repairs. These do a shoddy job but keep down the cost to the insurance companies.

For example, some shops replace modern "super shock absorbers" with old-fashioned "spring shock absorbers" glass, now standard equipment in most new cars, with cheaper, old-style glass, which is far less safe.

Tests by the Society of Automotive Engineers show the modern glass crumbles into rice-sized bits instead of breaking into jagged missiles.

But the cheaper glass saves the insurance companies money at the expense of their client's safety.

EMBARRASSING SITUATION: We recently reported after a two-month investigation that the Drug Enforcement Administration's top command has been virtually paralyzed by dissension.

We cited investigations which we charge had been held over the heads of top officials as "management tools" to keep them in line.

Our findings have been confirmed by a confidential management study, which found that the unresolved investigations leave "the agency in an embarrassing situation" and the victims in a very uncertain and very vulnerable position.

An estimated 25 per cent of the closed cases, according to the study, were "closed on the basis of investigations that were judged to be incomplete." Yet "nearly all of these incomplete investigations involved serious allegations." Among the unresolved charges against DEA officials and agents are these: the murder of a confidential informant, sale of narcotics, loss of $2,500 in seized funds, continual intoxication and illegal possession of firearms.

And this is not to mention all the open investigations which have increased dramatically. The backlog of cases, states the confidential report, "has grown 60 per cent in two years."

The purpose of the investigations is to make sure drug enforcement people are so clean they can't be blackmailed. Yet the open investigations themselves leave the agents "extremely vulnerable to extortion," alleges the document.

"The existence of an open investigation," the report adds, "often inflicts a penalty on the subject—regardless of its outcome."

The management team, headed by Harvard University's Dr. Mark Moore, strongly urged that the investigations be conducted according to the book, with presumption of innocence and no undue disclosures.

The team was dismayed to find that one official learned he was under investigation "as the result of a piece of paper being left on a Xerox machine."

Part of the problem, the team found, was that

DEA's inspection office has "no system for assigning priorities to investigations." So the inspectors took off on "expensive distraction" instead of concentrating on "more productive activities."

For example, an investigation of DEA public affairs chief Vince Prunotto, the report claims, "resulted in postponement of regional inspection scheduled for August and September."

The Prunotto investigation, in the opinion of narcotics chief John Bartels, is part of an internal power struggle.

The regional reports, meanwhile "often focused on the wrong issues — (and) ignore important issues," the study found.

Bartels told us the study was one of a series which he plans to use as a guide for shaking up the DEA.

WATCH ON WASTE: The armed services spend $12 million on cockroach control. To save a few dollars, the Army had just abolished its two-man cockroach research program at the U.S. Army labs in Natick, Mass.

This leaves the Army without a research program for combating cockroaches, which carry 40 different bacteria and inhabit everything from helicopters to field kitchens.

The two-man Natick team was just making progress with new chemical and ultraviolet ray techniques for controlling cockroaches when the cutback occurred.

DON OAKLEY Students Find Issues Long Gone

"Where did all the issues go?" asked a recent editorial in one midwestern college student newspaper.

The causes and slogans which once took up most of student energies, wrath and idealism—Kent State, Black Power, the clenched fist, the Pentagon—seem almost camouflaged on the campus these days. All these "causes" are still very important but seem far less in the consciousness of student thought, the editorial lamented.

The average freshman who entered college in the fall of 1973 was, indeed, a different breed of cat from his predecessors of a few years ago, according to a survey by the Co-operative Institution Research Project and the American Council on Education.

The freshman survey has been conducted since 1966 to provide base data for determining how four years of college affect the outlook of those who undergo the experience.

Half of the 18,733 freshmen surveyed at 360 institutions described themselves as "middle of the road" politically, with 32 per cent characterizing themselves as "liberal" and 13 per cent as "conservative."

The survey revealed that, overall, the freshmen tended to be academically conservative, and only 34 per cent favored abolishing grades, and only 25 per cent favored college admission being open to everyone.

The freshman group also reflected a large measure of self-confidence. Some 54 per cent thought they would be satisfied with college; 57 per cent thought they would get a job in their chosen field; 60 per cent thought they had a good chance to get a bachelor's degree, and 86 per cent didn't think they would make a major change in their career or degree choice.

Only 13 per cent said they expected to transfer to another school and less than 2 per cent felt they would drop out of college temporarily.

When asked what factors influenced their choice of careers, nearly 71 per cent of the students cited "intrinsic interest in the field," while 62 per cent said they wanted to be helpful to others. Another 48 per cent cited a vital need that contributed to society, while 42 per cent said that anticipated high earnings were an important factor.

That's where all the "issues" went.

RAY CROMLEY Wanted: Symbolism Sense

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — In his running fight against the British, Mohandas Gandhi would journey to the sea to extract a tiny amount of salt from the water.

Economically this was insignificant. Politically it was dynamite. Salt manufacture was a British monopoly and Gandhi thus was breaking the Empire's law.

In considerable measure, Gandhi succeeded in his war against England because he knew the value of symbolism and the dramatic gesture, whereby some small acts takes on a deep meaning.

In their own way, a series of recent American presidents — whatever their other failings — have understood the political impact these acts have had.

President Ford does not.

Unfortunately, this decent and straightforward man has shown little ability to project faith and confidence in his programs aimed at curing the recession-inflation and at getting us out of the energy shortage in one piece.

In fact, Mr. Ford hasn't been able to convince many that he has a program.

Now this is a pity. For though the recession is real, as attested by the alarming unemployment figures just released, we can climb out of the economic morass we are in only by a change in spirit — by faith if you will.

Mr. Ford is right, I believe, that the government cannot cure a recession. Only we can.

The dramatic presidential gesture all too often produces only a cosmetic effect, a 30th century Potemkin village with nothing behind the store fronts. For all his virtuosity, most of President Franklin Roosevelt's economic razzle-dazzle failed of its purpose. There is, in fact, a strong body of economic opinion which holds that the total calories in the nation's food supply, these are "empty" calories that provide only energy since sugar itself contains no nutrients such as protein, fats, minerals or vitamins.

Moreover, too much sugar may be indirectly linked to cardiovascular diseases, obesity and malnutrition.

The high cost of sugar could be a blessing in disguise to consumers' health, if not to their pocketbooks.

Nutritionally, we don't need sugar in our diets, says George Briggs, professor of nutrition at the University of California at Berkeley.

While sucrose accounts for 17 per cent of the total calories in the nation's food supply, these are "empty" calories that provide only energy since sugar itself contains no nutrients such as protein, fats, minerals or vitamins.

Moreover, too much sugar may be indirectly linked to cardiovascular diseases, obesity and malnutrition.

Around The Clock

In addition to the special distinguished service award, the usual recognition will be offered in other categories — best teacher, professional, etc.

"I'm not supposed to tell you who this year's top recipient will be... however, there's no way I'd ever challenge him to an endurance run, I'll clue you. See, and I never did tell you that Stan-the-Man is quite some kind of a guy... and richly deserving of the award, too."

Cleaned some of the following from "Digest of Official Opinions" which is mailed monthly from the Attorney General's office in Tallahassee:

Fremont: the use or display of red lights on private vehicles... "When not in use, such lights do not have to be covered or removed."

Public Records: public funds — dues and contributions to non-public associations and organizations from public funds when such associations' records are not open for inspection to citizens of Florida — "If such inspection is not permitted or provided for at the time of payment of such dues, state and local governmental agencies and officials, which have the burden of ascertaining that all records of the affected organizations are open to inspection by any citizen, must pay their own dues or contributions to such organizations and membership from expending public funds for organization. Any payment from public funds of membership dues or contributions without first ascertaining the inspection policy of the organization is done at the peril of the affected agency or official."

The reason for including both these items in today's column is that both have considerable bearing on instances occurring within this county.

The nice thing about credit cards is that you can go three years before they decide you're bankrupt.

You've seen them often on TV, I suppose, and now you'll be able to step right up and touch the Anheuser Busch Clydesdale horses as they appear at the Sanford Plaza on Friday, Jan. 31, from 12 noon to 4 p.m.

It's been many years since I first saw them in Pennsylvania (at some fair, as best I can recall now); but the memory of their tremendous size hasn't left me in all those years.

MIAMI (AP)—Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, Cuban vice premier, has returned from a visit to Paris after negotiating an economic and industrial agreement with French officials, Radio Havana says.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami Monday, said that the participation of French industry in Cuba's five-year plan beginning in 1976, the broadcast said.

Rodriguez also met in Paris with Amadou Mahtar M'Bo, director general of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Iraq Grants Terrorists Refuge

PARIS (AP)—Three Arab terrorists who held 10 hostages in a Paris airport rest room for 18 hours were finally given refuge by Iraq early today after Kuwait, Lebanon, Egypt and Saudi Arabia refused to take them, an Air France spokesman said. The terrorists were allowed to leave Paris Monday morning on an Air France Boeing 707 in return for releasing the hostages. The gunman ordered the volunteer crew to fly to Lebanon, but the Beirut airport would not let them land. They tried Kuwait, Egypt and Saudi Arabia but were turned away, landed at Baghdad but were only allowed to refuel and then flew around the Middle East until the French ambassador got the Iraqi government to allow them to land and surrender.

Less Speed, Please!

The Congressional penchant for attaching riders to important legislation, hoping to avoid close scrutiny or veto, has resulted in another case of mixed emotions.

We're pleased that the nationwide 55 m.p.h. speed limit was maintained. U.S. traffic fatalities dropped by 23 per cent during the first half of 1974. At least half of the lives saved are properly attributed to reduced speed.

Obviously, in conserving gasoline we have cut the accident toll as well.

But the gains may be partially offset by increased hazards from the wavier trucks permitted in the Federal Aid Highway Act signed by President Ford. A 10 per cent increase in gross weight limits was tacked onto the bill, raising cargo capacities per trip but also expanding the potential for higher fatality rates involving large trucks.

Had the truck weight provision been considered separately on its merits, its approval would have been doubtful. Such is the price often paid in the tradeoff to get needed legislation.

Battle Of Bell Landmark Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Still years away from trial, Uncle Sam's battle with Ma Bell seems sure to become a landmark in antitrust law...

Not only is it likely to become the biggest, longest and costliest antitrust action ever filed, the suit brought against American Bell Telephone Co. last November also brings into focus several new legal and economic theories...

Together with the federal complaints against the major oil companies and International Business Machines, the battle with AT&T may change the U.S. business climate for years to come.

"For the first time since 1911 we are seeing a major structural challenge to American industry," says Columbia Law School Prof. Harvey Goldschmid, recalling the government's classic fight with Standard Oil of New Jersey...

"Under these circumstances, of organization, it has long been inevitable and appropriate..."

"If competitors are able to take over AT&T's more profitable operations — such as long-distance — household rates would have to rise, Rostow said...

"Prices in antitrust actions can present ticklish economic problems, attorneys say. Through there's a presumption that prices will drop with court-ordered competition, they don't always. Some say the government's antitrust settlement with Kodak actually increased consumer prices."

"It's face it, the name of the game today is to bring down prices," says one New York antitrust lawyer. "And while proof that prices will rise won't defeat antitrust, it may alter the relief the court will take into account."

"Win or lose, the cost of the government's suit will be high. It's been estimated that the AT&T case, if not settled out of court, will take 70 lawyers on each side a minimum of 10 years, working at a minimum average salary of $25,000 a year, for a total bill of $350 million. That includes support staff, witness costs and paperwork."

"One has to wonder whether the Justice Department has considered the total economic effects of this thing," says Weston. "There's been a tremendously important economic policy decision made."

"Some attorneys feel that the AT&T, IBM and oil industry suits may actually limit the government's ability to go after other alleged antitrust violators."

Goin' Places, Doin' Things

Like to help, but don't know how to go about it? That's often the problem with volunteer work...

Since the disturbing coincidence late last year when the nation's first and "second" ladies, Betty Ford and Happy Rockefeller, underwent radical mastectomy operations...

To this end — maintaining awareness and prompting regular checkups — much is being done by local units of the American Cancer Society (ACS) across the nation.

The unit's first area office opened recently in space donated by Chase and Co. in their Oak Avenue, Sanford, building. The office is open Monday to Friday, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Or at least, the office will be open at these times, if just a few more volunteers could be found to lend their cheery voices to the office...

"Just two hours a week," says Sanford's Irene Brown, who is vice president and public education chairman for Sanford's ACS unit, as well as district director for the State ACS.

Affair With Ex 'Moral'?

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I recently began an affair with my ex-husband. We've been divorced for five years and have two children, but I never stopped loving him.

We met to discuss the children a few months ago, and I had to admit that the old magic was still there because after he kissed me just once, I was helpless to resist him.

We were divorced because I caught him cheating on me several times. He admitted that he had a weakness for other women that he couldn't overcome, and being a highly moral woman I couldn't tolerate it.

A year ago, I married a fine older man. He's wonderful to me and the children but he is impatient, and all efforts to correct it have failed.

For some strange reason I don't feel guilty about carrying on with my "ex." I almost feel that under the circumstances I am justified. What's wrong with me? I'm basically a very moral person. What should I do?

FIRST LOVE
DEAR FIRST: You can't have it both ways. If sex is that important to you, perhaps you'd better divorce your husband and re-marry your "ex."

To continue this adulterous affair without guilt feelings indicates that you are not the "moral" woman you claim to be.

Juvenile Crime A Problem In County

Last year, almost 1800 juveniles passed through the county Juvenile Detention Center. Of this number, 1400 were delinquent referrals who had been involved in shoplifting, auto theft and burglary, and 400 were runaways.

During 1975, even more young people are expected to be brought to the attention of juvenile authorities in Seminole County, one out of every six male juveniles and one out of every twelve females, is expected to come to the Detention Center.

Bob Ritz, youth counselor supervisor at the Division of Youth Services, presented these disturbing facts, and more, at a recent program sponsored by the public affairs department of the Junior Women's Club of Sanford.

Nor is the picture any brighter elsewhere in the nation, said Ritz. Every year in the U.S. about 100,000 children under 18 are locked up in jails, according to estimates of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

Jail detention is not only harmful to children emotionally and morally, said Ritz, and likely to produce more delinquency — in many cases, it is unnecessary.

The problem is, there are not nearly enough suitable alternative facilities to shelter delinquent juveniles, Ritz explained.

In Seminole County, the Detention Center can accommodate a total of 12 juveniles at one time. No child may be detained longer than 30 days. Juveniles may also be placed with area families or in temporary "crisis homes."

Families volunteering to assume the responsibility of caring for delinquents are few and far between. The Detention Center is facing many problems, but none so pressing as placement of juvenile law offenders.

The state of Florida has four juvenile training schools, two for boys, one for girls, and a co-educational facility. In addition, there are several half-way houses and treatment centers to help rehabilitate juveniles.

Ritz gave some pointers as to how we in Seminole County can help troubled children locally. Establish a residential facility for those offenders who are mentally retarded, said Ritz.

Set up a Big Brother program where adults are working on a one-to-one ratio with troubled children. And offer facilities for summer recreation that will appeal to older children, keeping them off the street and out of trouble.

Because American women are "working hard to define their dual roles, in the home and at work," American men are on the verge of becoming better fathers, according to Boston pediatrician and author Dr. Berry Brazelton.

"I see many young parents who are looking so very hard for ways to learn their roles," he says. "They are frightened and insecure, but they care a great deal about their children. We're living in a complex society and it's hard for people to see the guidelines."

Dr. Brazelton said during a telephone interview, that the thrust of the program is that women now are beginning to accept or form two roles well, and I think this is leading men to trust themselves as fathers.

"Children need both parents these days because our lonely nuclear family is in pretty grave danger," he said. "I mean that the family is splitting more easily and people are not caring what happens to children. The family today needs shoring up."

"Being a pediatrician, I am more concerned with children than anything else, and I agree with anthropologist Margaret Mead that the nuclear family society is not working out very well for anybody."

"Child care centers, if they took their goal as being a community service for young families and not just a parking service for children, could be a potent force. These centers could give young families backup, and help relieve pressure."

"It used to be here, and still is in most other cultures but ours that the extended family was an automatic backup for the young couple with their first baby," he says. "We have lost that in this country. And fathers are needed so much more today than ever before. Wives need them to back up, to replace the extended family."

"I think our young men are ready to respond to these needs. I think they're doing more as fathers today, he says.

'Death-Threatened' Witness To Testify In Robbery Trial

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer
Mrs. Georgia Peterson, a witness in the robbery trial of Grant Wilson Jr., testified in Circuit Court here this morning that she had talked with the defendant a few days before Christmas over the telephone and he told her that he was going to get her.

"Wilson told us 'don't get up for five minutes' and told the boys 'if anybody comes to the gate, shoot to kill,'" — MRS. MARY BROWN
Midway Ave.
The witness lay face down on the red courtroom carpet near the jury box with her arms crossed behind her back as she told how she peeked from under a sofa pillow the intruders had put over her head and of seeing "their toes" as the safe was rolled from the house.

She stoutly and repeatedly told the jury that one of the men, his face masked with a stocking, was Wilson. "I've known him 19 years and I know it was his voice that said, 'I told you no killing,'" after the gunman struck Hilary twice on the head with the pistol, she said.

Georgia Ave. Paving Gets Approval Of City

Sanford city commissioners have approved an agreement by which Wilco Construction Company will pave 1,250 feet of Georgia Avenue south of West 25th Street at the eastern edge of the firm's Geneva Terrace 185-unit townhouse project.

Commissioners required the agreement after the paving was delayed for nearly a year. Lynne B. Tripp, Wilco Construction vice-president, said estimated cost of the paving of the street, which is a major thoroughfare leading to Seminole High School, is $35,000 and the work will be started not later than Oct. 1, and will be completed by Dec. 31.

Wilco has posted a performance bond on the paving project and also has agreed to escrow $1,750 each from the sale of 20 completed townhouse units to insure the paving agreement will be met.

In other actions, commissioners untangled red tape and gave auto dealer Jim Lash permission, as a conditional use, to open a used car lot in a commercial zone on the west side of U.S. 17-92 south of Lake Minnie and Lake Mary Boulevard.

The city zoning and planning board last week denied approval of a site development plan for the car lot after Lash said he wanted to put in required paving and a sight-triangle at a later date due to an economic squeeze.

City commissioners said they didn't want to "walk over Z.P. Lash's hob-nailed boots" but City Manager Warren Knowles explained that the conditional use permit request doesn't require submission of a site development plan in a commercial zone. Site plans are required only if there is to be new construction, he said.

Lash told commissioners he will use existing buildings on the property as his home and an office. City commissioners accepted written agreements from Lash that he will get Z.P. approval for the location within 90 days and granted a deferral on the fence and paving requirements "for no longer than nine months."

Lash told commissioners that he is no longer participating with a partner in the Lash-Queen new car dealership on U.S. 17-92 due to the slump in new car sales and that he must make his living "sink or swim" with the used car lot.

State May Probe Issue
Teacher Locks Pupils In Hopper Classroom
The school's principal, Mrs. Horlene Evans, today confirmed the door had been locked for about 12 minutes while the teacher, Mrs. Fleur De Lys Healy, attended a planning conference.

"From what I understand," she said, "the door was locked on the outside so older school children could not disturb them from doing their work. All they had to do was open the door and come out."

But, a second grader, according to Mrs. Back, is prone to panic. And in case of fire, she said, it's highly possible second graders would panic.

"My boy couldn't open the door from the inside. You see, a second grader, they panic. They don't know anything. They haven't been taught to open a door," Mrs. Back said.

Sheriff To Monitor Longwood Meet

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer
LONGWOOD — Seminole County sheriff's deputies, at the request of councilman Jerry Connell, and Police Chief Tom Hennigan will monitor tonight's 7:30 meeting of the city council.

Police officers, firefighters and supporters jammed the city council chamber Monday night demanding that police jobs be maintained regardless of the city's financial condition.

Council Chairman J. R. Grant recessed the meeting until tonight after a shouting session developed among police department supporters.

Admitting he was fearful Monday night that violence might erupt, Grant said he expects only a brief meeting tonight.

He said items to be considered include City Attorney Ned Julian's report; a report from City Supt. Ralph Fisher on the utility department and authorization for Fire Chief Roy LaBrosse to hire a replacement firefighter for one who resigned the first of the year.

Budget cutting will be delayed until a full council is on hand, Grant said, noting that Councilman H. A. Scott, absent from Monday's meeting, is ill with the flu.
