

Pan Am temporarily halts flights

By Dan Ping Editor

Operations will cease for about a month while company plans restructuring

SANFORD — Pan Am will cease flight operations in Sanford for about a month while the company undergoes a restructure.

Officials at Orlando Sanford International Airport (OSIA) confirmed that Pan Am will halt flights beginning Jan. 12 and is schedule to restart service on Feb. 13.

Sanford Airport Authority. "While they're putting that new structure in place, they won't be flying."

The airline's decision is not a complete surprise to airport officials. In September, Pan Am sharply reduced its flight service in and out of OSIA, and there was speculation as early as October that the company would stop flights in January.

Currently Pan Am has a total of 10 flights a week out of Sanford to three destinations:

Bangor Maine, Portsmouth, N.H., and San Juan, Puerto Rico. That's a substantial drop from this summer when the airline was offer service to New York, Baltimore and three daily flights to San Juan.

Pan Am's vice president of marketing, Dan Fortnam, said in September, "There's no point in burning fuel if we don't have the passengers," and said the airline industry as a whole is suffering huge losses. He said Pan Am's strategy is to conserve resources during the slow periods and provide limited service only to those markets that are profitable.

"We're a leisure carrier, and from the first of the year until spring vacations you are going to see a real valley in the number of passengers," Fortnam said. "We've made the decision not to fly because it's not profitable. You're going to see many of the other carriers offering deep, deep discounts to attract passengers. We're not going to do that."

Pan Am, once one of the premier companies in the airline industry, originally made

City manger discusses new form of city government

By Dan Ping Editor

SANFORD — City Commission approved on first reading an ordinance that would ask Sanford voters if they want to change the city charter to provide for a strong mayor form of government.

The matter will be decided Monday, Dec. 23, when Commission will have a second reading of the ordinance.

Mayor Brady Lessard is pushing the proposal, saying Sanford needs an elected official who is accountable to citizens running the day-to-day operations of the city. City Manager Tony VanDerworp performs those duties currently.

As a follow-up to last week's interview with Lessard, I sat down with VanDerworp to get his views on the issue.

TV: Before we start, I want to limit what I say to the operational process. I want to talk about the impact on operations.

DP: Can I ask you your opinion of the types of government?

TV: Yeah, I can do that. From an operational standpoint, I think a change in government has the potential to impact major projects, like the Riverwalk. You could change the head of government every four years. When you do that there is going to be a learning curve. That's going to impact those projects. For example, I've been working on securing land next to the State Farmers' Market for a public safety headquarters. Any time you have a transition you're going to lose continuity on these projects. Stormwater park is another one.

Second, I think delivery of services is impacted because of the Sunshine Law. Right now I can

Santa plans tour of Lake Mary

He's leaving the reindeer at home and getting a ride on top of a fire engine

The Lake Mary Fire Department plans on bringing back a city tradition this Saturday when Santa returns to the city to tour various neighborhoods throughout Lake Mary on top of a fire engine.

On popular demand, tradition returns to city

By Michelle Jerla Managing Editor

Santa Claus is coming back to the city of Lake Mary.

After a several year hiatus, Santa will be traveling throughout the city on top of the city's reserve fire truck beginning Saturday. Members of the Lake Mary Police Department will escort St. Nick's entourage during his journey through the various neighborhoods in Lake Mary.

Santa's tour through the city was a yearly tradition up until about five years ago when it was stopped because of growth-related issues.

"It is one past tradition that Lake Mary citizens really missed," Lake Mary City Manager John Litton said. "It was something people kept asking each year if we were going to do again."

"So, the process had to be revamped to minimize traffic and safety impacts," he said. "It'll be more efficient, and something kids young and old can enjoy."

Custody battle leads to 12-hour standoff

By Nick Pflauf Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — A nearly 12 hour standoff situation, which started over a child custody issue, came to a close just after 10 a.m. Thursday in the Sweetwater area of Seminole County.

The man who was barricaded inside the house, identified as Mario Arteaga, 43, had to be subdued after the Seminole County Sheriff's Office SWAT team made entry through the front door of his home at 310 Riverview Boulevard.

According to a deputy's report, the incident began Wednesday night when Arteaga's ex-wife and her current husband, left their home which is in another part of the county, for a dinner engagement. Her 12-year-old daughter (Arteaga is the girl's father) was left at home.

Upon their arrival back home, they discovered the girl was not home. A short time later, Arteaga called his ex-wife's cell phone and reportedly advised her that if she wanted to see her daughter alive, she needed to be at his home in 20 minutes.

Sheriff's deputies were contacted and one of them accompanied Arteaga's ex-wife to Arteaga's home. When the mother asked to see her daughter she was told she could not, but that the daughter was in a safe place.

The deputy observed loud yelling and screaming accompanied the conversation with Arteaga.

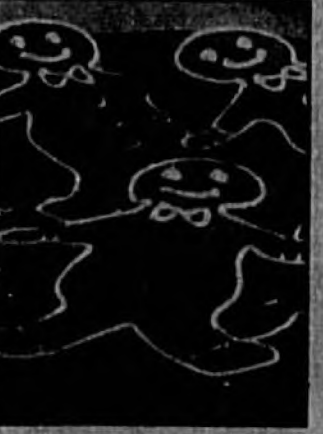

At this point, the deputy identified himself to Arteaga, but the man immediately slammed the door and locked it. Arteaga reportedly yelled, "Now you've made a big mistake bringing them here."

He advised her that deputies had arrested him several days ago and wanted them to leave. He then yelled through the door that the house was "booby trapped" and that he would shoot the first person through the door. The mother then advised the deputy she saw Arteaga briefly with a "bow and arrow or a sea fishing

School Board begins discussion on how to search for system's next superintendent

By Michelle Jerla Managing Editor

SANFORD — After 11 years, the Seminole County School Board is once again looking for a person to lead the school system.

The Board's search process for a new superintendent began earlier in the week with a work session led by Florida School Board Association Executive Director Wayne Blanton. Board members listened while Blanton presented an outline of what they need to consider for a successful search.

"You have to remember, no two superintendent searches are done the same," Blanton said.

"Many aren't done without controversy."

The work session followed Superintendent Paul Hagerty's announcement last month that he is retiring on July 31 after serving as the school system's leader for the past 11 years. As required by his contract, he gave six months notice in order for the Board to conduct a search for Seminole's next superintendent.

Hagerty was hired in 1992 following a national search conducted by the School Board. During the work session, Board members agreed to once again consider applicants from throughout the country.

Blanton advised the Board to advertise in national publications as soon as possible in order to select the best candidate before July. He estimated the school system would probably receive between 60 to 65 application during the nationwide search.

With consulting, advertising and travel, Blanton also estimated the total cost of the search would be about $30,000. Travel costs include the interviewing process when Board members may visit the location of various candidates and vice versa.

During the next few weeks, the

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Pain in the neck award: Since the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks, airports across the nation have undergone security overhauls. The agency charged with implementing is the Transportation Security Administration (TSA). The agency may have a three-letter acronym but it's been a four-letter word for most airport administrators (kind of like the IRS).

Case in point: According to the data the feds had on file, Orlando Sanford International Airport was categorized as a Class III airport, meaning it served less than 250,000 per year. In actuality, OSGA surpassed that figure more than six years ago.

Around The Clock

by Dan Ping

The Federal Aviation Administration's (another three-letter agency) out-of-date numbers were a source of irritation to Larry Dale, president of the Sanford Airport Authority, and not just for bragging rights. Under the new security guidelines, size matters. Class III airports aren't required to meet all of the security measures and, more importantly, aren't eligible for as much federal money to make security improvements.

In typically fashion, Dale used all the grace of a bull in a china shop to argue that the FAA and the TSA were wrong. In typically federal red-tape style, the folks in Washington didn't seem to care. Apparently the dispute became so heated that at one point the feds were threatening to arrest Dale, to which Dale promised to promptly return the favor.

Dale's demeanor did manage to win the sympathy of the TSA officials, specifically Nick Scott, the TSA regional director overseeing security measures in Sanford. (Dale won't confirm or deny if he used the ranching techniques he learned as a Middle Tennessee dairy farmer.)

With the help of Scott and Congressman John Mica, the FAA eventually changed the airport to a Class II designation, where it should have been all along.

To show that there were no hard feelings, Scott presented Dale with the letter, attached to a plaque, officially announcing the change.

The moment wasn't lost on Airport Authority board member Geoffrey Longstaff.

"It's the first time Larry's gotten an award for being a jerk," Longstaff said.

Signature mistake: Is there some backstabbing going on at City Hall over Mayor Brady Lessard's proposal to change the city to a strong mayor form of government? Depends on who you talk to.

Here are the undisputed facts: The city wants to secure the property, currently owned by Seminole County, where the old FPA&L Building used to be. The city wants to use it as part of a redevelopment project proposed by Sunco Properties Inc. which wants to build condos, offices and retail shops on the lakefront. City officials had hoped the county would donate the land, but discussions with county commissioner made it pretty clear that wasn't going to happen.

At this point the facts get a little slippery. City Manager Tony VanDerworp and the city's economic development guru John Jones (recruited from the county by VanDerworp) drafted a letter sometime in November asking for the county to donate the land. They asked Lessard to sign the letter, but he says he delayed signing it because he felt county commissioners were clear in their negotiations: no freebies. After a few days Lessard told Jones the letter should include a $200,000 offer.

Under Sanford's current form of government, the mayor can't make such an offer, without some type of consent from the city commission. Any acceptance by the county would still have to come back to the city commission for approval, but it's wise to at least make commissioners aware of the deal on the front end. Since the mayor can't contact commissioners outside a public meeting, normal protocol has been for VanDerworp to shop these letters around individually to the commissioners.

Jones made the change to the letter and it was sent to the county. Lessard says he assumed VanDerworp and Jones were informing the other commissioners. VanDerworp says he was out of the loop and didn't know the letter was sent. Jones says first VanDerworp was "out of the loop," then later recanted and said he was in the loop.

All of which caused Commissioner Whitley Eckstein to flip his lid during the work session. (That's a fact.) The city's senior statesman (or maybe it's cityman) chewed on Lessard then turned to VanDerworp and asked why he wrote the letter and didn't tell the other commissioners.

VanDerworp's response? "I didn't sign the letter, commissioner," VanDerworp said.

And Nixon didn't burglarize the Watergate. Sounds like a lot of assumptions were being made during this whole deal, and each party should shoulder some of the blame. But VanDerworp's answer about not signing the letter is pretty weak, particularly since any correspondence about property - donated or purchased - should have been presented to commissioners. Come on Tony, drop the phony baloney.

Greens Giant

Willie Laura Cochran may not have a large garden behind her home on Orange Avenue in Sanford, but she sure has some large fruits and vegetables growing there. The mustard green plant has about 2 feet long leaves and is about 5 feet across. She also grows lemons the size of softballs and sugarcane stalks that are more than 12 feet tall.

Commission receives briefing on Wekiva Task Force

On Dec. 10, the Seminole County Board of County Commissioners received a briefing on preliminary recommendations recently developed by the Wekiva Basin Area Task Force.

Chairman Daryl McLain identified that these recommendations would be a topic of further discussion, public input and potential action at the upcoming Dec. 16 and Dec. 17 meetings of the Task Force.

Based upon significant concerns of detrimental impacts for the citizens of Seminole County, the Board adopted a resolution opposing any toll route or expressway facility that crosses the Wekiva River into Seminole County. The Commission further requested that the Task Force remove from consideration any such proposed corridor in Seminole County and urged partner agencies in central Florida, a transportation planning to consider other alternatives to address the Governor's Executive Order which created the Task Force.

The resolution further identifies that the Seminole County Expressway Authority should be recognized and included as the legislatively established decision-making authority if further consideration of an extension of the western beltway into Seminole County were to occur. This resolution, background and a report of the County Commission's discussions will be delivered to the Task Force by County Commissioner Randy Morris, Chairman of the Seminole County Expressway Authority during the upcoming two-day Task Force meeting.

The true meaning behind Scrooge

There are certainly a large number of TV movies being telecast at this time each year dealing with the Charles Dickens' Ebenezer Scrooge type characters. Most recently there has been "Scrooged" starring Bill Murray as a cynical TV executive who insisted the holiday was only to obtain network ratings and earn money. There was "A Diva's Christmas Carol" with Vanessa Williams, in which a singing star paid so much attention to her career that she ignored the holiday as well as her family, in favor of performing (even on Christmas Eve) to make more and more money.

Then of course there is "A Christmas Carol" the real Scrooge story, with the event taking place in London and another show of the same name taking place in the United States. And who could forget the late Jim Backus, the voice of Mr. McGoo, who also was cast in a Scrooge animated movie. There was also a Disney movie starring Uncle Scrooge McDuck as the main character, and Donald Duck as Bob Cratchett. There are probably many more, but these are the ones which come to mind.

In each case, the featured person in the movie is more interested in making money than helping others or joining in the Christmas spirit. He (or she) is visited by ghosts of Christmas Past, Christmas Present and Christmas Future, only to awake and find themselves on Christmas morning, still with time enough to change their attitudes and become involved in the spirit of the day.

We watch these programs knowing the outcome, but delighted that the stars of the show have a turn-around in their lives bringing about a happy ending.

But are we missing something here? I believe what Dickens was attempting to stress is the need for each of us to examine our past, present and future, especially in our relationships with one another. Are we helping the poor (Bob Cratchett)? Are we helping the disabled (Tiny Tim)? Are we being generous in our donations (Men seeking funds for rehabilitation centers)?

Are we being kind to other members of our family (Scrooge's nephew and his family)?

What about our past Christmases, do we recall the joy we experienced? Where are we today in this modern world? Where will we be in future years? How will we be remembered? I believe at this time of year, it may behoove each of us to pause and reflect on these three spirits of Christmas. Yes, it is better to give than to receive, and that goes for the spirit of kindness and love. It's something to ponder in this season of the year, and hopefully, all year long.

Neighbor's help makes resident Sanford Proud!

To the editor: On Monday, Dec. 9, Harold Edwards, the neighbor next door to my house at 801 S. Park Avenue was outside under his carport and heard a popping and saw arcing at the back of my house near the A/C. He called the fire department and they came out but didn't find anything (keep in mind that it was raining Monday night).

Then he went over to Marveen Kelly's house because he didn't have my phone numbers and knew she was a friend of mine. She called me and told me what was going on. I called the fire department for more info and was told that the officers hadn't found anything. In the morning, while on my way to the house, I put in a call to Sanford Electric. Sanford Electric was able to have someone meet me at the house with only 45 minutes notice. Harold was there also and gave detailed info about what he had seen and heard the night before.

The electrician was just about to give up finding anything when I asked him to just check under the house a bit near the A/C area. When he moved one of the lattice panels covering the crawl space, the arc and popping happened! What was causing this to happen was that a conduit had broken and the wire inside had gotten rubbed exposing the metal. The wire was touching another piece of metal and causing an arc. Also, the breakers going to that wire were sized wrong in the panel and therefore they didn't trip.

This was a dangerous situation and potentially could have caused a fire that may have gone unnoticed until the whole block was in jeopardy. I would like to thank, my neighbor Harold, my friend Marveen, the Sanford Fire Department and Sanford Electric for being there for me and my old house. This is exactly what

Sanford Proud is all about! Monarcha Marcet Orlando

Home owners believe Board shouldn't prevail

To the editor: We strongly disagree that the School Board should prevail against the City (Lame Mary) or that they have more right. Wouldn't they look foolish though, having spent $1.1 million of our tax dollars for a building they couldn't use for EXCEL and could have bought for half the price elsewhere?

Huntington Pointe residents did some investigative work of their own and came up with at least a half dozen sites in other locations that were cheaper, had more space for buses, parking, and future expansion. On several occasions we have offered our assistance to help the School Board locate better sites and have been ignored. Why didn't the School Board already have more than one site as an option? Why are they so insistent on this site? It's not the only site in Seminole County, it's not the cheapest and parking is very minimal.

Since we pointed out a possible conflict with attorneys Grey, Harris, the School Board and the owner, attorneys have changed. Interesting, huh?

In our opinion, the School Board is trying to take the City's Future Land Use policies out of context and create a "loophole" to serve their own purposes. They purchased this building despite the city's decision. Why? That's $1.1 million tax dollars that could have been used to pay teachers, buy school supplies and build new classrooms. Hillsborough County School Board has set a "precedent" we feel all school boards should follow. They have numerous public hearings and meetings and work closely with the public to select suitable school sites. Seminole however, feels the need to ram things down our throats, right or wrong, refusing our offers to help. What are the true motives? Do they care what their constituents think and how they spend their money? We will continue contacting our State officials to hold them accountable.

Sincerely Concerned, Jo Ann Lucarelli President, Huntington Pointe Home Owners Assn.

tem should be debated from time to time.

I am confident the people of Sanford will listen to the debate and make the right decision for Sanford's future on March 4.

Letting citizens vote is enough participation

To the editor: After reading your article about the proposal to let the citizens vote to decide on what type of government Sanford should have, I was once AGAIN disappointed in my commissioner. Art Woodruff says he voted against the proposal because he "wanted more citizen participation." Duh?!? How can you get more citizen participation than letting the people vote on the issue?

I hope the city allows the residents to make this important decision. I'm voting "yes" if it gets on the ballot, and all Sanford residents should also have the chance to vote "yes or no".

Sue McDaniel P.S. Can we have a referendum on Art Woodruff?

On the Street

The Herald asks people what they think ...

The holiday shopping is almost done, and soon many people will be giving their friends and loved ones the perfect holiday gift. We asked several people what they remember as their most memorable Christmas gift.

I think it was my Swatch watch because I liked it so much but couldn't buy it for myself. Jeff Pfeifford Sanford

Probably when the board of directors at a Chamber I previously worked at paid for a trip for me to the Fiesta Bowl to watch the university I graduated from, W. Va. University play Notre Dame for the national championship. Ron Rose Sanford

It was probably an Omega gold watch my mother bought for me about eight years ago because she had a hard time buying things for me. When she found something I wanted, she got great delight in surprising me. Peggy Pyle Heathrow

It was probably my first mini-bike because me and my dad used to ride on Old Airport Road in Daytona Beach. Michael Stearns Lake Helen

It was a jewelry box from my grandma. It was during a Christmas when everyone was in town that year. That's why I remember it. It was a very special Christmas. Kristan Blackshaw Orlando deputy fire marshal, the fire department received numerous requests for Santa to visit various neighborhoods during the holiday season. Based on the number of inquiries, the department decided to approach the city manager and City Commission about bringing back the citywide tradition.

"They decided to provide the service to the entire city," Benton said. "So, we are going to try it out and see if we can make it an annual event again."

While Santa rides on top of the fire engine, off-duty personnel will be walking alongside the truck handing out candy. Since the procession will be traveling at a slow rate of speed and children will be gathering around the group, motorists are urged to take extra precaution.

"We definitely want drivers to be watching out for us," Benton said. "We will try to get out of their way, and we hope they will be patient with us."

In an effort to visit all the neighborhoods in Lake Mary, Santa's tour has been mapped out and divided into two days. The tour will begin Saturday and continue on Sunday, Dec. 21, beginning at 8:30 a.m. each day and ending around 5 p.m.

"We want to spread a little holiday joy and let the citizens know that we appreciate them," Lake Mary Fire Chief Craig Haun said. "It's a small way to bring the community together during this special time of year."

The Lake Mary Fire Department is still collecting food items for its annual food and toy drive. The department is helping about 20 families in Lake Mary this holiday season.

"We've already collected a lot of toys for our drive," Benton said. "But, we still are collecting food. We are helping several adult families — seniors who need help

Board will also establish a citizens committee comprised of community members in order to gather public input during the search.

"I like the idea of community buy-in," Board member Diane Bauer said. "You get nothing but good results. I think it is imperative to have community involvement."

The Board is scheduled during Tuesday's Board meeting to approve the distribution of a Request for Proposals in regard to hiring a consultant and to pick an evaluation committee for the search process. The meeting will begin at 3:30 p.m. at the Education Support Center, located at 400 E. Lake Mary Blvd.

gun, though the deputy did not see any weapon because Arteaga slammed the door again. Because of concerns that the girl might be in the house, the SWAT team and negotiators were called.

During the standoff, authorities were under the impression she might be held against her will inside her father's home. It turns out she was not inside the home at all. This was learned after the SWAT team made forced entry into the home.

About seven hours after the standoff ended, deputies did make face-to-face contact with the 12-year-old girl. She was in the company of the father's girlfriend, at another location, during the stand off.

After officers broke into the home and subdued Arteaga, he was taken to a mental health facility for evaluation. The Sheriff's Office is currently weighing its options as to what charges should be filed against him, once his mental health issues are dealt with.

Woman loses daughter second time after missed telephone call

DEAR ABBY: Thirty-six years ago, I gave birth and placed my baby girl for adoption. The father was going away to school and had no interest in me or the child. My parents were about to divorce, and my brother was in trouble with the law. I knew there was no way I could keep my daughter, so with a heavy heart I signed away my parental rights and tried to go on with my life. Eventually I married and had a son, who is now 32.

Dear Abby

My mother has since moved in with my husband and me. Two weeks ago, a call came to the house while I was at work. Mom answered the phone. The woman calling was looking for her birth mother, and had information that I was, indeed, that woman! Mother explained all this to me when I got home. As I was becoming more and more excited, she gave me the devastating news that she had told the woman that I had only ONE child — a son — and that I was NOT the person she was looking for. The caller continued to ask questions, but Mother denied all of the facts, and finally ended the call by hanging up on her.

I am crushed. For years, I have hoped for a call like that, but had not searched for my child because I did not want to invade her life or the lives of her adoptive parents. My mother was extremely judgmental and non-supportive when I was pregnant that first time, and the day my daughter was born, she pointed at my baby and said, "She is NOT coming home with us. I am NOT raising any more children." Now I am desperate for my daughter to call again. I must find her! I have filed with the state adoption registry and private bureaus, called an attorney, and searched online. I pray that she will call back, so I can assure her that I love her and have thought about her every day since her birth.

My husband is anxious to welcome her into our lives. We are both heartbroken we may never have the chance. Mother has since come to understand what a grave injustice she performed — for a second time.

Abby, please help. What more can I do?

HEARTBROKEN IN EAST KANSAS

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Unfortunately, there is nothing more you can do. I hope your daughter sees this letter, puts two and two together and calls you again.

DEAR ABBY: Every year as the holidays roll around, my husband and I get the same speech from certain elderly relatives: "You HAVE to spend the holidays with us because it might be our last." I am so tired of this guilt trip being laid on us — and I'm sure a lot of other people are, too.

Just because someone is old doesn't mean he or she is next in line to kick the bucket. When I explain to relatives that my husband and I wish to stay home and make only short visits to them during the holidays, someone always guilt-trips us and we cave in.

TRAPPED IN BRANDON, FLA.

DEAR TRAPPED: I have a response for the people you feel are manipulating you, but before I offer it, I should remind you that what they are saying will at some point be true. When that happens, can you handle the guilt? If the answer to that is yes, then proceed:

The response to the statement, "You have to spend the holidays with us because it might be our last," is:

"Then it's all the more important that we start NOW to establish our own holiday traditions, because it will lessen our heart-break when that happens."

Please join us at OUR home."

County Commission ponders Florida Power & Light's power line request

By Nick Pfeil
Staff Writer

The question posed to the Seminole County Commission Tuesday morning was whether to allow Florida Power & Light to have overhead or buried power lines along certain sections of East Lake Mary Boulevard.

The request from FP&L came in two sections. The first was to relocate existing overhead utilities on East Lake Mary Boulevard between Ohio Avenue and the existing entrance to the Orlando Sanford International Airport.

The second request was for the installation of new overhead lines on the extension of East Lake Mary Boulevard which has not been constructed, from the airport entrance eastward for approximately 3,000 feet. This would be in anticipation of the proposed extension of Lake Mary Boulevard from the airport area to the east then north, eventually joining SR-46.

The Land Development Code specifically requires the undergrounding of any transmission or primary distribution feeder lines.

Addressing the Commission, County Engineer Jerry McCullum explained that he would recommend approval of the first request, as the lines are already in existence. He added however, that he would be against the second proposal, as it would be in a new area.

Although it was on Tuesday's commission agenda, McCullum observed that FP&L had requested the entire matter be temporarily delayed.

With a unanimous vote, the commission agreed to continue the requests until at least the Jan. 14 commission meeting, pending further discussions with FP&L.

Investigators searching for bank robbers

Major Crimes Investigators with the Seminole County Sheriff's Department are looking for four suspects who took part in a robbery at a credit union Tuesday. It occurred just before 10 a.m. at the Gulf States

Credit Union, 9405 U.S. Highway 17-92.

They have been described as black males, in their 20's. Two had their faces obscured by masks. It is believed they left the scene in a gray, four-door automobile, perhaps a newer model Ford Taurus.

Anyone with information regarding this case is urged to call Investigator Rob Hemmert at 407-665-6600, or Crime Line at 1-800-423-TIPS.

Mayor

DP: Still, wouldn't those discussions be better in public, where citizens and other commissioners could hear them?

TV: It slows the process down. Like I said most of what comes out of those meetings is requests for information. That research has to occur sometime. ... The third area where you have an operational impact is on commissioners' projects in their own districts. A strong mayor is going to campaign on his vision and is going to come in with his own agenda. Staff is going to spend a lot of time on the mayor's projects at the expense of projects in commissioners' districts.

DP: So operating in the dark is better than operating in the sunshine?

TV: We're not violating the Sunshine Law because ...

DP: I know you're not violating the law, but you're saying it's better to conduct a major part of debate on an issue in one-on-one meetings that the public is not privy to? That the press isn't privy to?

TV: It's mainly a lot of informational requests. You'll notice that when we bring an item to the work session we very seldom have to have a follow up. I'm not polling commissioners in these meetings or counting votes. A lot of times in those meetings a commissioner will ask for more information, and I can provide that before the meeting.

TV: You've already touched on it some, but what's your opinion of a strong mayor form of government?

DP: I think a strong mayor form of government works in large cities, cities where you have major crime, mass transit issues, an exodus of downtown businesses ...

DP: Like Sanford?

TV: No, I mean these large, complex social problems that major cities like Miami have. I don't think a strong mayor works well in small to medium size cities (defined as less than 250,000).

DP: Is this a debate the city should be having?

TV: The city's changing and going through growing pains. I think it's always good to go through debates.

DP: But will it benefit the city or is it disruptive?

TV: Any time you can learn more about your government I think it can be a good thing.

DP: How do you respond to people who say that want to have an elected person running the day-to-day operations?

TV: Well, like I said I think it has a negative impact on the delivery of services. And you're going to have a mayor that comes in pushing his agenda. Right now the commission is equal. ... If the commission is unhappy with my performance, they can fire me. They wouldn't be able to do that with a strong mayor.

DP: How many city managers get fired every year?

TV: I don't know. There is a number for the average tenure of city managers, but a lot of that is because city managers move on and take other jobs. It happens, though. You read about it all the time.

DP: If the ordinance to put this to a referendum passes and if the referendum passes, what will you do?

TV: All I can tell you is that my job is to do the commission's work program. That's what I've tried to tell our department heads. We have a job to do and we need to continue to do it.

DP: If the ordinance passes and the referendum passes, will you start looking for another job?

TV: No comment.

DP: Have you already started looking for another job?

TV: No comment. I don't think it's appropriate to talk about that right now.

Pan Am

it's name in the Caribbean and South America. Fortnam said the company's success lies in returning to those markets.

"In that region of the world the Pan Am name has real clout, and we've had some recent success with those destinations," Fortnam said.

Gouldthorpe said Pan Am's decision to narrow its focus should pay off big for the company.

"I would expect to see Pan Am back at the flight levels of early 2002 sometime by mid summer," Gouldthorpe said. "I think you are going to see multiple daily flights to San Juan again. If their strategy is correct, it will open some brand new markets for them."

Gouldthorpe said Pan Am is making plans to provide service by spring to the Dominican Republic and Aguadilla, Puerto Rico.

Domestically, Fortnam said Pan Am will continue to fly to Bangor and Portsmouth from Sanford. Additional domestic destinations would have to be proven success, he said, noting that Pan Am is considering two Northeastern cities for future expansion.

Sanford Airport Authority president, Larry Dale, said Pan Am is committed to keeping more than just a cursory presence in Sanford. In addition to being the "Florida hub for points south," Dale said Pan Am continues to expand its support services such as maintenance and flight training.

"They've picked up construction on their simulator building, which is a big investment," Dale said.

The Way We Were: Profiles of Sanford leaders from 1933

Today, we return to the April 29, 1933 edition of the Sanford Herald for additional biographies of people, mostly men, that the newspaper deemed important.

Edward F. Lane
Edward F. Lane lived in Sanford all of his life and at present was the local representative of the Federal Life Insurance

Grace Marie Stinecipher

Company. When not engaged in the duties of his profession, he was fond of state work, and appeared frequently in vaudeville acts for various groups in the state.

Before entering the insurance business, Mr. Lane had spent many years as manager of the local theater, then known as the Lyric, but was now named the Princess, located on West First Street.

During his youth, he had traveled extensively through the United States and had attended three World Fairs.

He had taken an active part in several organizations such as Masonic orders, and had been the Lt. Governor of the Florida State Kiwanis.

Mr. Lane was married to the former Mary Parrish and they resided at 510 Park Avenue. He had attended Sanford public schools and also Stetson University's business school.

C.W. Adams

C.W. Adams had been a freight agent for the ACL Railroad in Sanford since 1927. He was born in Lancaster, N.Y. and attended schools there and in Buffalo, N.Y. He became connected with the railroad in 1918 when he was employed by New York Central Railroad in Buffalo. He also served in Michigan and in 1922 became connected with the Atlantic Coast Line.

Mr. Adams married Edna Young. They lived in Loch Arbor. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church, Lions Club, Masons, and was president of the Progressive Club. The latter was a large, active social club comprised of ACL employees of this section.

He was an enthusiastic football fan and enjoyed swimming as recreation. For a hobby, he raised poultry near his home.

W.H. Schmidt

As President of the Seminole County Dave Sholtz for Governor Club, William H. Schmidt played an active role in securing this county's majority vote in the re-election of Gov. Sholtz.

Mr. Schmidt was born in Augustus, Georgia where he attended local schools, later studying at the Academy of Richland County. In 1905 he was employed by the Southern Express Company where he worked until 1908 when he accepted a position with the telephone company.

Before moving to Sanford in 1927, he had lived in various states and had been employed by Lynch Theatrical Enterprises, a drug store, a lumber concern and National Biscuit Company.

Upon coming to Sanford, he and his wife, Myrtle Warner Schmidt, had opened a restaurant, Myrtle's Coffee Shop, located on Magnolia Avenue.

Their residence was at 1609 Park Avenue. They had one son, Charles, 14, who was living with relatives in Daytona Beach.

Mr. Schmidt was a member of the Elks Lodge, Knights Templar, Shrine Club, and attended First Baptist Church.

J.H. Cochran

For almost eight years, J.H. Cochran had managed the Winn Lovett Store on Sanford Avenue. Before that time, he spent most of his life in farming.

He was a native of Georgia where he lived until he moved to Lake Mary. He was married to the former Martha Augustus Rivers. They had nine children, Horace, Elmer, Lee, Sam, James, Jane, Glenn, Mrs. B.Y. Carver and Mrs. Merrill Roberts.

The family attended Lake Mary Baptist Church. Mr. Cochran enjoyed farming and chose fishing as his favorite outdoor sport.

J.W. Hartwell

With over 21 years experience as a banker to his credit, J.W. Hartwell came to Sanford in January 1931 to become receiver for the defunct First National Bank. He continued in that position with offices on the third floor of the bank building.

He was born in Eatonton, Georgia and was educated in the public schools there, later completing special courses in a private school.

He was a Mason, member of Knights of Pythias and First Baptist Church.

At present, Mr. Hartwell was residing at the Valdez Hotel. He was married to the former Mamie Wood and they had one daughter, Mary Elizabeth, 17.

He had been a baseball fan most of his life, but more recently had taken up golf for his own recreation.

ORLANDO — Forward Ed Dotson scored a game-high 18 points and UCF had three other players finish with double figures in scoring as the Golden Knights rolled over No. 25 College of Charleston, 82-64, Thursday evening at UCF Arena.

The win over the Cougars (6-1), marked the first time UCF (5-2) has ever beaten a nationally ranked opponent.

Dotson was dominant down low for UCF connecting on eight-of-13 field goal attempts, most from inside the paint. The senior scored 11 points in the first half, enabling the Golden Knights to pull away and send C of C to their first loss of the season. Earlier in the year the Cougars had put together an impressive run winning the prestigious Great Alaska Shootout, defeating Wyoming, Oklahoma State, and Villanova.

The Cougars led early on as UCF did not have a field goal until center Roberto Morentin grabbed an offensive board and scored to tie the game at six with 16:23 left in the first half. Ray Abellard then hit two free-throws following a C of C technical foul to give the Golden Knights an 8-6 lead. UCF did not trail the rest of the way. Abellard's foul shots were the start of a seven to nothing UCF run, capped by a Dotson slam with just over 14 minutes remaining.

Two minutes later Dexter Lyons picked up a loose ball and drained a three-pointer, giving the Golden Knights a 27-12 lead.

The Golden Knights shot 57.1 percent from the field in the first half compared to the struggling Cougars who hit on only seven of 25 attempts (28 percent). Five UCF players hit three-pointers in the first stanza including Abellard, Al Miller, and Will Bakanowsky. Bakanowsky later followed up with a lay-in with 15 seconds remaining to give UCF a commanding 47-26 advantage at the break, also its largest of the first half.

C of C was unable to close the gap in the second half, as Abellard hit one of his game-high four three-pointers at the 13:42 mark to push the Golden Knights lead to 25. UCF hit 10-of-13 foul shots in the second half and 80 percent from the charity stripe for the game (20-25).

The Golden Knights 82 points was the most given up by the Cougars since November of 1998, when C of C fell to Georgia, 84-63. Also, the game marked the Cougars largest losing deficit since a December 1999 loss to Princeton.

Abellard finished with 16 points for UCF, while Miller and Lyons rounded out the double figure scorers with 12 and 11 points respectively. Morentin paced the team with 10 rebounds. The Knights finished the game hitting a season-high 50 percent from the floor and 42 percent from behind the arc.

Thomas Mobley and Zeke Johnson scored 15 apiece for C of C. Mike Benton had eight rebounds. The Cougars shot 43 percent from the field and were only two-of-14 from three-point range.

The Golden Knights hit the road for a pair of games, starting with a visit to Tennessee-Martin on Sunday. Tip-off is slated for 6 p.m. After facing the Skyhawks, See UCF, Page 2B

Raiders on a roll

Women on three game
win streakBy Craig Johnson

SANFORD — To borrow a line from Gene Hackman in the movie Hoosiers, "All of the pieces are coming together and all of the pistons are firing."

That may be the best way to describe the Seminole Community College women's basketball team at the moment.

After suffering a disappointing home loss to obviously inferior Hillsborough Community College team last week, the Raiders had to go on the road for the Daytona Beach Winter Classic at Daytona Beach Community College and faced a Palm Beach Community College squad that had already beaten them twice this season.

Things didn't look like they had changed much as the Panthers took a 30-24 lead at halftime.

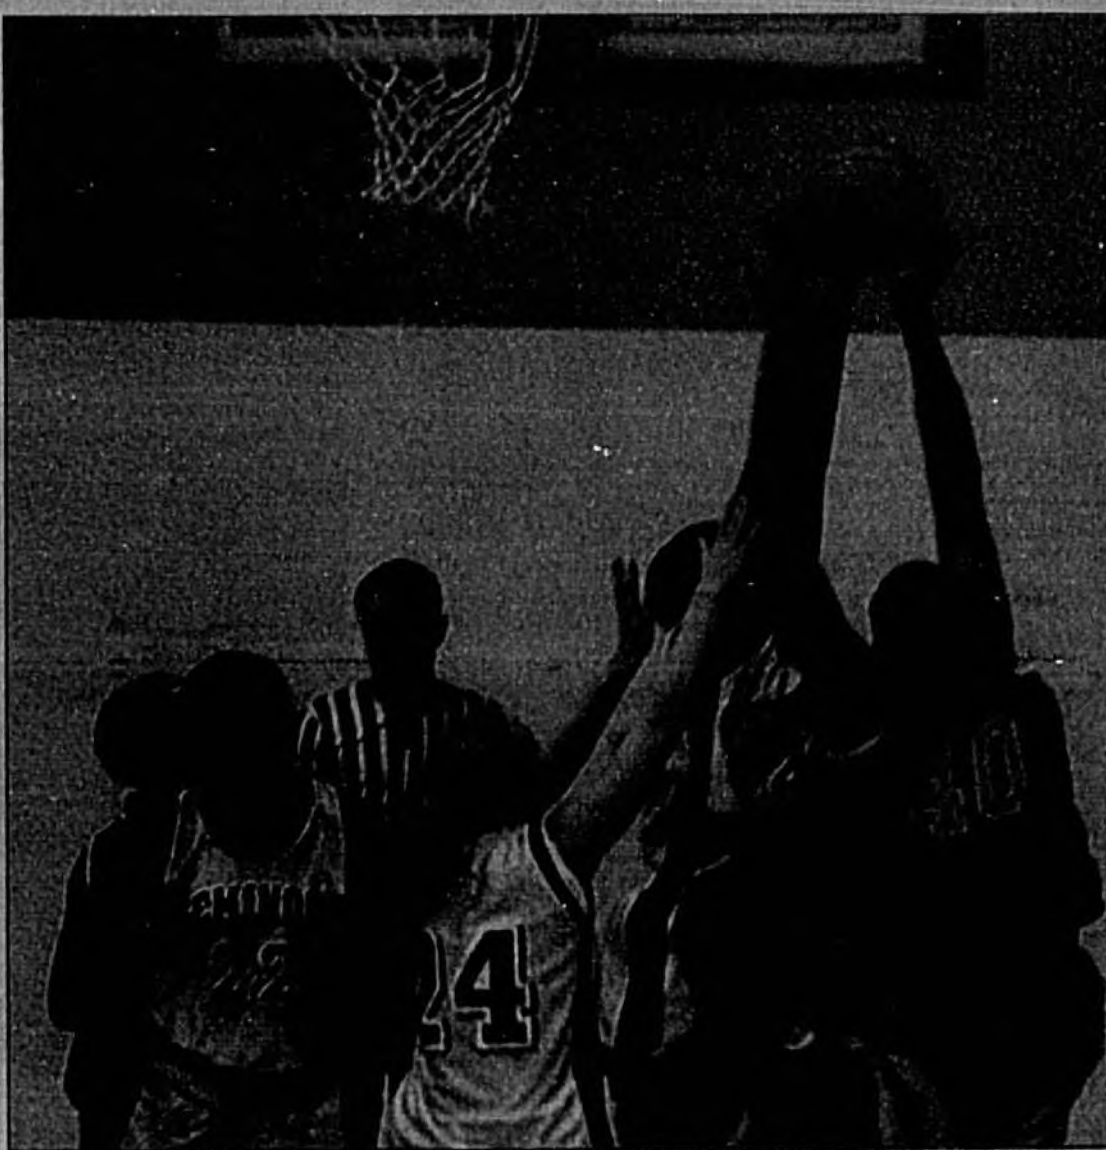

But led by sophomore Ditte Jakobsen, who scored 10 of her team-high 14 points in the second half, and a strong defense, the Raiders won the final 20 minutes, 46-25, to post an improbable, 70-55, win.

Freshman Rosanna Davis was also in double figures with 11 points, but it was the play of a couple of players just back from injury, Yamil Cordero who playing her second game of the season and LaTasha Johnson who was seeing her first action since the first week of the season, that made the difference.

Cordero and Johnson combined for 14 second half points and sophomore center Danielle Richardson came off the bench to score eight final period points to prove the team now has the much-needed depth it had lacked early in the season.

SCC then used that newfound depth to good use on Saturday as six players scored between six and 12 points, with four scoring in double figures, as the Raiders got

The Seminole Community College women's basketball team played maybe its finest all-around game of the season Tuesday night in crushing Indian River Community College from Ft. Pierce, 84-42, at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center. After falling behind 8-7, sophomore Danielle Richardson (shown blocking a shot, above), who came off the bench to score a game-high 17 points, and freshman point guard Natalie Emmanuelli (No. 12, right), who had a super all-around floor game, including a 13-point scoring effort, the Raiders went on a 58-11 run over the final 12 minutes of the first half and the first seven minutes of the second half to build a 64-18 lead and turn the game into a rout. All told, five players finished in double figures and first-year coach Lisa Nuxof's squad is now 8-6 and riding a three-game winning streak as they head into the prestigious Central Florida Community College Pepsi Classic in Ocala this weekend.

improve
to 10-4By Craig Johnson

COCOA — The Seminole Community College men's basketball team survived a 74-72 nailbiter over Brevard Community College in Cocoa Wednesday night for its 10th victory of the season.

The Raiders, who are now 10-4 and ranked #7 in this week's State Poll, jumped out early 8-4 lead on a pair of three-pointers by sophomore sensation J.D. Bracy, and a layup off a beautiful head fake by freshman Corey Williams that got a Titan defender in the air.

But Brevard's Tomandie Alexander and Teon Jefferson began to catch fire as the Titans put together a run to take a 24-18 lead.

SCC head coach Stan Cromartie went to his bench for the freshman inside-outside duo of guard D.J. Wesley and Terrell Morris to pull the visitors back even and then regained the lead on a steal by fellow freshman Jamaal George, who got the ball up to Wesley for an easy lay up.

With just over six minutes to play in the half George hit Williams with a Houdini no-look pass under the basket that forced a BCC timeout.

But Williams got a steal out of the timeout turned it into another lay up that started a 13-6 run, capped by George "three" and a Rushawn Johnson 15 footer that put the Raiders up 46-38 at the half.

Coach Cromartie was a little disappointed in the fact that the Raiders had only 10 rebounds and shot only four free throws in the half and reminded his players that they were a better team than that.

The half time talk worked as the Raiders started the second half with a lot of emotion.

Bracy's tenacious defense forced a turnover that led to a basket by Josh Houston on an assist from Daniel "Jumpman" Jackson as SCC eventually built a 16 point lead, 52-38.

But just when the Raiders looked like they were going to put Brevard away Stacey Pearson-Taylor threw down a crowd pleasing dunk to make it a 53-42 ball game.

The Raiders answered with a nice lay up from Jackson, who had an unusually quiet night scoring.

But the Titans kept coming as a three-pointer by Quennell Green and a toilet bowl lay up by Devon Valentine cut the lead to just seven.

With 5:20 left in the game the Raiders made one last push when George made the entire Brevard defense look silly with a shake-and-bake dribble to the hole for two and then Jackson found Houston in the corner for a three to out the visitors up 12, 70-58.

But Pearson-Taylor got the crowd back on their feet and into the game with another ferocious jam and a later added putback to cut it to 70-67. See Men, Page 2B

The hosts would respond with three goals in the final seven minutes to make the score look a lot more lopsided than it should have been.

That is when Bracy showed why he deserves the ball in crunch time, as he dribbled twice to his right and popped a jumper to momentarily silence the crowd, but Pearson-Taylor, who had 17 points in the game, hit another basket to make it 72-70.

With 27-seconds left George was sent to the line for a one-and-one that didn't fall but Jackson grabbed the rebound and hit the floor hard, but still had the presence to call a time-out.

Out of the timeout the Titans sent George back to the line, but this time he hit one-of-two to push the lead back to three, 73-70.

Things then got very interesting when BCC's Anthony Hatcher got fouled attempting a three-pointer and went to the line with a chance to tie the game.

Luckily for SCC he only converted on two of the three free throws and with just eight seconds to play Williams got his 10th and most important point at the line to give the Raiders the 74-72 win.

Alexander led all scorers with 24 points, while Bracy led the Raiders with 17 points, eight rebounds, five assists and four steals.

Dickman, Erin Huber, Jennifer Ostrander and Christie Ashton scored the goals as Lake Brantley edged Deltona, 4-3. Katie Hart and Sarah Amat had assists for the Patriots to back the winning goalkeeping of Christine Smith.

Friday, November 22

Coffmann drilled two goals and Campbell added an assist as Trinity Prep (3-1) blanked Daytona Beach Father Lopez, 5-0. Conti stopped five Green Wave shots to record the shutout. Lisa Weber outscored Rylane Gonzalez, 2-1, and that was the difference in the game as Winter Springs nudged Lake Howell, 2-1.
