H. Ashcraft, Banker Of Long Experience, Given Appointment For Seminole Bank

Receiver Has Been In State 4 Years

Appointee Will Come Here To Assume Job Within Two Weeks

Announcement of the appointment of E. H. Ashcraft as receiver for the defunct Seminole County Bank was made today by George C. White, state bank commissioner, who has received notification of the selection of Ernest Amos, state controller.

Selection of the receiver approximately six months after the bank was closed and the appointment was made from a list of names, several of them being Sanford business men in whose behalf petitions had been filed here and conference held with Comptroller Amos in his office.

Mr. Ashcraft is a banker of 20 years' experience, he told a representative over long distance telephone this morning. He lived in Tampa for four years, being connected most of that time with the Citizens Bank and Trust Company, one of the largest financial institutions in that city.

Mr. Ashcraft had experience in business and Kentucky.

The receiver's first bank connection was in Tennessee, working in various capacities for several years. Going to Huntsville, Ala., he became cashier of the Huntsville Bank and Trust Company, a position he held for three years.

Mr. Ashcraft is 30 years old. He has never been in Florida before, but plans to assume his duties about the first part of October.

September 22 has been set as the date on which Judge Wallace Wright will confirm the appointment of the receiver. This explained this morning by Mr. White as a mere formality unless some reason why a receiver should not be appointed should present. Lake signs his willingness to accept responsibility of the bank, Judge Wright will probably confirm the appointment at once, it was learned.

The procedure is anticipated in the belief that Mr. White will present no claims to the bank that do not need receivership.

Best Women Golf Bugs Gather For Open Tournament

GARDEN CITY, N. Y. Sept. 19.—With as strong an international array as has ever been entered and with a particularly formidable field of home talent, play in the thirty-first women's golf championship of the United States got under way here this morning at the Cherry Valley club.

Chief among the outstanding figures in the tournament was Miss Thelma De La Chaume, holder of the British and French titles. She is still only a slip of a girl in her teens.

Miss Ada MacKenzie, the Canadian women's champion, and Miss Eileen Pattison, champion of the Bermuda, round out the trio of foreign champions. Another leading contender was Mrs. William G. Frazer, better known formerly as Miss Alexia Stirling, of Atlanta, three times winner of the American title.

Mrs. G. Henry Stetson of the Huntington Valley club of Philadelphia, the 1925 title-holder, was determined to win the glory a second time. Other former champions included Miss Glenna Collett of the Greenwich Country club, Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of the Merion Cricket club, Mrs. H. Stout of Apawamis, Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson of the Round Hill club, and Miss Margaret Curtis of the Essex Country club.

The Calvert system of kindergartens, Miss McRae, a nominal charge will be made to the expenses of the school.

Machine Gun Used To Hold Up Crowd

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—(INS)—When a funny looking man entered the Red Parrot Inn, a famous roadhouse northwest of Chicago, and mounted a machine gun in a strategic position, commanding a sweep of the dance floor, forty men and women patrons were curiously fascinated.

What a novel act this is going to be they thought. It was a moment later four other men entered, more sinister looking than the funny man. They carried sawed-off shot guns and two were armed with revolvers.

"Everybody lie flat on the floor," commanded the leader. The terrified patrons obeyed. Then two bandits went through the crowd and took all cash and jewelry available.

SCREEN ACTRESS SUES BERRY FOR ALLEGED ATTACK

Miss Montanya Sues "Villian" For One Million And Says He Is Father Of Her Unborn Child: Beery Still Missing

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Blood tests may determine the paternity of the expected child of Juanita Montanya, 19-year-old Spanish dancer and film actress, who is suing Wallace Beery for $1,000,000 damages on charges that the screen "villian" is the father of her unborn baby.

Miss Montanya, who charges that Beery attacked her while she was a guest in the actor's home, says she expects to become a mother within a month.

The scientific test to determine the child's paternity was suggested today by Louis Greenbaum, attorney for the young actress.

Beery, who set out six days ago with an Indian guide on a hunting trip in the High Sierra mountains, had failed to return to his lodge at Carson's camp at a late hour last night. His wife, Rita Beery, was reported prostrate with fear for her husband's safety.

Miss Montanya, who came here from New York two years ago, seeking a film career, charges she was twice attacked while she was the guest of Mrs. Beery in the actor's Hollywood home. The alleged attacks occurred in December, 1926, and during Mrs. Beery's temporary absence.

In her suit, the actress charges Beery played the real villain, using "great physical force and violence" against her. The first attack, she alleges, took place in the bedroom of the actor's home, despite her "protests and use of her utmost physical strength."

The second attack took place, the actress charges, on the day she ended her visit and Beery insisted on driving her to her home. Beery, according to the girl's suit, stopped his machine on the way and forcibly carried her into a vacant house.

Miss Montanya first broke into the public prints here sometime ago when police arrested her following complaints that she had been peering into the homes of film stars.

Later she was caught in the home of Richard Dix by a night watchman who reported she was carrying a revolver wrapped up in a black handkerchief. The actress was taken when police attempted to question her at her Hollywood hotel, she fired several shots at the officers.

She was placed in juvenile hall following the dismissal of insanity charges against her.

LITTLE CHANCE SEEN FOR TAX CUT THIS YEAR

Mellon's Policy Is To Apply Treasury Surpluses To Retirement Of Public Debt As Means To Cut Future Taxes

Insurgent Block Is Back Of Secretary

Administration Leaders Decline To Discuss Possible Extent Of Tax Reduction

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The possibility of the new Congress enacting a sweeping tax reduction bill at its coming session appeared remote today to open opposition from the insurgent bloc and the apathetic attitude of the administration.

Rumors were current here that the Treasury Department will await estimates for flood control, farm relief and a "bigger navy" then oppose a general revision of the present tax rates. If the subject is taken up by Congress, it was said, the Treasury will urge limitation of tax reduction to a decrease in the corporation tax rate and a possible repeal of the automobile tax.

The policy of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, it was pointed out, has been to apply all surpluses in the treasury to retirement of the public debt. This policy, according to Mellon's followers, is in effect a tax reduction measure as it constantly decreases the cost of government and therefore reduces the amount of revenue needed to run the government in future years.

The insurgent bloc quite unexpectedly championed this policy a year ago and prevented any drastic downward revision of the tax rates. The bloc will permit the same policy in the coming session or Congress and in particular will oppose any effort to reduce corporation taxes. As the insurgents held a complete balance of power in the senate, their wishes will be respected to a great extent. In event of a tax battle, it was said, the insurgents probably would win.

Administration leaders would not discuss the possible extent of tax reduction.

"It is early to discuss tax reduction," said Senator Curtis (R) of Kan., majority floor leader in the Senate. "We can't take up tax reduction until we get the estimates from the army board of engineers as to what money will be needed the first year for flood relief along the Mississippi. We can proceed with hearings on a tax bill. Of course, but we won't be able to fix the amount of reduction until we learn what we'll have to spend for flood relief in the first year. We ought to know this by the time Congress meets, so I see no reason for delay in considering tax relief legislation."

The views of Curtis however have as yet received no endorsement from the Treasury. On the other hand, members of the insurgent bloc voiced opposition to tax reduction legislation. Senators Nye (R) of N. D., Brookhart (R) of Iowa, and Lofollette (R) of Wis., all declared in favor of using the Treasury surplus to retire public debt.

"The present tax rates work a hardship on nobody," said Nye, the largest taxes but that is economically sound and just. We incurred the debts of the World War and it is our duty to pay off as much of this debt as we can. Therefore, it is our duty to use any surplus to retire the debt. Tax reduction will come automatically when this debt is gone."

CLEMENTON, N. J., Sept. 19.—(INS)—Charles R. Miller, of Wilmington, former Governor of Delaware, died suddenly today of a heart attack, at the home of Capt. Joseph Baker, in Pine Valley, near here, where he had been visiting.

Ex-Governor Miller had gone to the rear yard of the Baker home to chop wood, feeling that he needed some exercise. The chopping proved too violent, evidently, and he was seized with a heart attack. He died before medical aid could be summoned.

Miller was born in Chester, Pa., in 1857. He was a graduate of Swarthmore College. While serving in the Delaware senate he resigned to accept the Republican nomination for Governor. He was elected in 1913 and served one term. He is survived by his widow, the former Abigail M. Woodnut, of Richmond, Indiana.

As a protection to local citizens who anticipate planting flower gardens, the police department has pledged its co-operation in the enforcement of a City ordinance affecting fowls running at large.

The announcement was made this morning by A. H. Beckwith, acting chief of police, who stated that he and members of his department are prepared to act on any complaints that may be lodged with them.

As a means of securing the best results, Lieut. Beckwith pointed out the necessity for people informing the officers of violation of the ordinance and then by prepared to appear against the offenders in Municipal Court. The police had pointed out that unless complaints are followed by testimony of the complainants there will be few convictions in court and consequently little progress will be made in checking the menace.

Section 158 of the city ordinance affecting fowls running at large reads as follows: "It shall be unlawful for the owner of domestic fowls to permit same to go at large upon the public streets, or slays of the city within the five limits or within one block of any street on which tile or cement sidewalks have been laid by order of the City Council."

The ordinance is antiquated, making no provision for fowls running upon private property. City Manager W. B. Williams, however, today interpreted the charter provision governing trespassing as covering the particular phase of violation of chickens and other fowls going at large on other people's property.

Section 158 of the charter provides the following penalty for violation of the preceding law: "Any person violating the provisions of the preceding section shall be punished by fine not to exceed ten dollars or imprisonment not to exceed five days."

The menace of fowls destroying seeds and plants was brought to the attention of the police by local clubwomen who pointed out that there is an extensive flower campaign now under way as a part of a City-wide beautification movement and that unless precautionary steps are taken the seeds and plants will be destroyed by trespassing fowls.

Letter And Handkerchief Found Near Murder Scene Add To Chain Of Evidence

HAMMONTON, N. J., Sept. 19.—(INS)—A letter found at the murder scene and a small white handkerchief, formed the latest developments today in the mysterious murder of Dr. William Lillendahl, retired narcotic specialist, who was shot to death last Thursday while motoring with his thirty-year-old wife, Margaret, 30 years his junior.

While authorities were attempting to reconstruct the slaying with the aid of the freshly uncovered evidence, attorneys for Mrs. Lillendahl were preparing to seek her release from custody on bail.

"We are prepared to put up any reasonable amount," a member of the defense staff said. Mrs. Lillendahl was held as a "material witness" when an investigation failed to substantiate her story that her husband was slain by negro bandits.

The letter which created something of a sensation, was a request for $500 which the writer promised to apply on a bank loan of $1,500 authorities said the letter was addressed to Mrs. Lillendahl and was signed either fictitiously or by the writer's nickname.

NOTHING IN MEET OF PARTY CHIEFS IN NEW YORK CITY

McAdoo And Meredith Both In New York But Neither Knew The Other Was Going There; Says McAdoo Presumptuous

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Both William G. McAdoo, and Edwin T. Meredith, of Iowa, today denied that their presence in New York had any political significance, both also denied that they knew the other was in the city.

A report had been circulated in political circles that the simultaneous visit of the two Democratic leaders might result in McAdoo who has announced he will not be a candidate, throwing his support to Meredith for the Democratic presidential nomination. McAdoo laughed at the report. Meredith declared he was here solely to transact affairs for his publishing business.

Meredith was asked what he thought about McAdoo's declaration that he would not be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"If reports are true," said Meredith, "I think it is rather presumptuous of McAdoo to say he will not run when no one has yet asked him to run."

Meredith said he knew nothing of any "private" of New York Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who is a candidate. He declined to give a definite answer to the question as to whether, if urged by delegations from other states as well as those of Iowa, he would seek the nomination.

McAdoo said: "I did not know even that Meredith was in the city."

Meredith said he did not expect to see McAdoo. Meredith was Secretary of Agriculture in President Wilson's cabinet when McAdoo was Secretary of Treasury. They both opposed the nomination of Governor Smith for President in the last Democratic convention.

NEW AIR DERBY FOR BIG PRIZES SEES 25 STARTS

Clock Like Precision Marks Take-Offs Of Entrants In New Air Race From N. Y. To Spokane, Washington

Trip To Cleveland Proves Uneventful

Visibility Is Bad But Weather Fails To Hamper Flyers As They Get Off To Early Start

ROOSEVELT FIELD, MINN., Sept. 19.—(INS)—A single file of 25 airplanes, scarcely a mile apart, flew ahead of the rising sun today toward Spokane, Wash., in a trans-continental air race. Their first stop was to be Bellefonte, Pa., an airport 250 miles west of here.

Although visibility was low, and the flying weather bad, the start of the 25 racers and their passengers was affected with clock-like precision. Beginning promptly at 7:01 o'clock, the planes left the ground at exactly one-minute intervals. There was no mishap; not even an interruption.

The pilots took off in prearranged order. Only one entrant in this class B group failed to start. He was H. E. Campbell, of Long Island, whose Eaglerock ship was an undelivered motor plane.

J. S. Charles, of Richmond, Va., led the field, his Eaglerock biplane rising to the starter's flag as the first streak of sunlight tipped its wings.

The second plane, a Hess bluebird, entered the city of Hartford, Conn., took off at 7:02 o'clock. It was piloted by E. W. Fleet. The other planes followed in quick succession.

Just at the stroke of 7 o'clock, as the starter was lifting the red flag, the first streak of sunlight made its way through the clouds.

For a time, the rain had threatened to postpone the take-off for several hours. It started to rain at about 3:30 o'clock, and stopped before 6 o'clock. The field was wet, but not muddy. But the darkness was deeper than had been anticipated, and the lack of artificial lights except hand election flashlights and ordinary oil lamps made it difficult to get the planes out early and tune up the engines.

There was not a big crowd to watch the take-off. There was none of the excitement that had attended the starts of the various trans-Atlantic planes, when motorist park on the field all night in order to be certain of a good position.

The planes getting off today in the start of the Epeal Air Race, were all single seater commercial planes designated as the class B group and scheduled to stop overnight in Chicago with another stop tomorrow night at Glendive, Mont. due in Spokane Wednesday. They must pause for five minutes at the following airports: Bellefonte, Pa., Cleveland, O., Bryan, O., St. Paul, Minn., Fargo and Bismarck, N. D. and Billings and Missoula, Mont.

The class A group getting underway tomorrow and due in Spokane at about the same time as today's starters, is scheduled for only one overnight stop, that at St. Paul, Minn., with five minute rests at Cleveland, Chicago, Aberdeen, S. D., and Miles City and Butte, Mont.

The feature race of the derby, the non-stop event, is scheduled to get underway Wednesday afternoon, the contestants due in Spokane Thursday morning. Four planes are entered for the purse of $10,000 to the winner and $5,000 to the runner-up.

Prizes for the class B group now winning its way westward, will net $5,000 to the winner, $3,000 for second place, $1,000 third, $500 fourth and $250 fifth.

In the class A event tomorrow, the prizes stand: $10,000 first, $5,000 second, $2,000 third, $1,000 fourth and $500 fifth.

As the sunlight struggled through the early morning haze, the last plane, piloted by N. Black, of Chicago, took off with a roar. "This is one time when the last shall be first," Black said, as he waved good-bye. "Being the last to hop, I hope to be the first to land."

Observers of the rapid departures, credited Verne A. Roberts of Fargo, N. D. flying a monoplane, with the best take-off of the day. His craft, standing barely seven feet high, is the smallest in the race.

Good flying weather all the way to Spokane was on the menu. Although take-off conditions here were poor.

All of the pilots, who average an age of but 25, were "rain" to go, expressing confidence as they drew up to the starting line.

13 Speed Drivers Ready To Start In Auto Race Classic

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 19.—(INS)—Thirteen of this world's fast automobile racing pilots were flagged off in a series of speed tests on the Carolina Motor speedway oval near here this afternoon.

The 175 miles of sprint racing is divided into three events—A 25 mile dash, A 50-mile sprint and A 100-mile marathon—the first scheduled to start shortly after 2 o'clock.

Two special events, A 10-mile amateur race and A 75-mile stock race will precede the races proper. Frank Johnson, sensational young pilot who qualified at a clip of 138.8 miles per hour for a record mark on the Carolina speedway, will hold the post position in the sprints. The second driver to be flagged will be Peter Depaulo, the Italian ace who won the A. A. A. championship in 1925.

Harly Hartz, reigning A. A. A. champion will be third pilot flagged, followed by Tony Gullotta, Cliff Woodbury, Dave Evans, Babe Devore, Al Melcher, Eddie Hearno and "Doc" Shattuck, the racing medic.

REDS BARK AT 1ST MEETING OF VETS IN PARIS, FRANCE

Savage Has Difficulty In Calling First Meeting To Order On Account Strong Appeal Of Parisian Boulevards

TROCADERO PALACE, Paris, Sept. 19.—Against the colorful background provided by the French government, the ninth annual convention of the American Legion got off to a whooping start this morning.

The falling gavel in the hands of National Commander Howard P. Savage called the delegates to order in the grand hall of this ancient palace at 9:30 o'clock this morning, half an hour later than the scheduled time.

Savage experienced some difficulty in herding the legionnaires into the convention hall for the opening ceremonies, for it was necessary to entice them from the boulevards, decorated in holiday colors in gay festoons of red, white and blue and joyous in the spirit of the holiday.

All of Paris, and in fact all of France, sat in at the convention opening, for today was a national holiday, decreed by the government as a tribute to the 20,000 American visitors who had come to relieve the memory of war days.

All places of business, with the exception of the cafes, were closed, and Parisians of all classes thronged the boulevards and avenues to watch the "Second A. E. F." get officially into its stride.

Thousands thronged the square in front of the Trocadero Palace to see the former doughboys, many of them dressed in brilliant uniforms such as they never wore in the old days, gather in the convention hall. They were there to see President Doumergue, Marshall Foch and other of the most distinguished figures in French official, military and political life participate in the American convention.

The victors' and delegates to the convention opening mounted the steps of the Trocadero on the traditional red carpet, spread whenever the historic halls are graced with the presence of distinguished personages. On either side of the crimson carpet stood municipal guards, themselves a fitting complement to the scene in their brilliant uniforms and shining cuirassiers.

In spite of precautions the Paris police had taken to guard against any radical outbreaks, hardly had Savage called the convention to order when the voice of a communique rent the air with cries of "Vive Sacco and Vanzetti!" The disturbance came shortly after Savage had introduced Louis Marin, French minister of pensions, as formal welcome to the Legion hosts on behalf of the French government.

Amid the thunderous applause which greeted Marin when he stood up on the rostrum, the Sacco-Vanzetti cries came from an unidentified Frenchman perched high up in the gallery. A pair of husky gentlemen immediately ejected the disturber from the palace, and Marin went ahead with his address of welcome.

"The French nation," M. Marin declared in his address, "Does not admit you solely on account of your participation with us in the great war. It knows in the human struggle for progress and especially the progress of moral conscience, who its American sisters are also imbued with the same care for ideals and the same worship of faith and justice, and the same desire for progress in all objects for which generations of French people have suffered, fought and died for."

"Your pilgrimage increases the mutual affection which exists between our two countries," M. Marin continued. "We all acclaim you most heartily and are happy to find again in the glorious combatants who come back to us most admirable images of our sister republic, the United States."

15,000 Veterans Assemble As Third Parade Of Meet Starts

PARIS, Sept. 19.—Under cloudy skies, which were reminiscent of the "Sunny Franco" that the doughboys knew, the Second A.E.F. paraded through flag-draped streets of Paris this afternoon, while dense throngs of Parisians on holiday, stood along the boulevard and cheered.

In the suburbs communists and soap-box orators called down imprecations on the heads of the Americans for executing Sacco and Vanzetti, but metropolitan Paris, with her police on guard to an extent hitherto without precedent, a truly great tribute to the Americans.

It was the third time in history that the historic streets, which once echoed to the tramp of Napoleon's men, home from great conquests, have heard the rhythmic tramp of American military forces. The first was on July 4, 1927, when a pitifully small contingent of Americans first hearkened the downcast French with a promise of millions of American soldiers yet to follow.

The second time was during the celebration of the Armistice, when the battle-proven Yanks joined in the memorable Paris victory celebration.

Today's parade was the third, and it saw 15,000 Legionnaires swinging through the streets in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of America's entry in the war.

In today's parade, as on the previous occasions, the American were led by General John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of America's war time armies in Europe.

Today's parade was similar, yet different. Today Paris saw a cross cut section of American life—men and women on holiday, bent on having a thoroughly good time, and without thought of war or war's problems.

It was the same crowd, though considerably older and a little more grey, but clothed in a rainbow of (Continued on page four)

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 17.—After five things of light ball, the Miami club went to pieces Friday and Orlando took the deciding game of the Florida state league championship 12 to 1, giving the visitors four victories to three for Miami.

Formby and Hernandez were the opposing pitchers; and the Colts got two runs off the Miami star in the first inning. An error by Casares, who was playing third, starting the rally in the sixth. Casares dropped. Abrams pop fly in the pitcher's box, starting what proved the undoing of the Hunters.

Five runs crossed the plate before the side was retired. Johnson's long home run with two on added three more in the eighth, and two more were chalked up in the ninth, on hits by Tucker and Formby, a walk to Abrams and Tatum's error.

Miami scored on Casares double and Steiner's single in the eighth. Cox made a sensational one-bound catch of a drive off Casares bat in the sixth, crashing into the fence as he caught the ball.

Pittsburgh's winning streak of 10 games may suffer a serious setback today when the Pirates play a double-header with the Brooklyn Robins, who have won three straight from the Cubs. The Cardinals trimmed Boston for the ninth consecutive time yesterday.

The Giants broke the deadlock in the second place by beating the Cardinals. New York still trails the leaders by 4 1/2 games, however.

Today and tomorrow the Giants will publicize their strategy against the Cubs, who are twirling at a fast pace themselves. The Cardinals, meanwhile, have a chance to get back in the running at the expense of the Phillies.

Wouldn't you think Jack Dempsey was preparing for a crow race instead of a prize fight from this picture, but don't laugh! It was Leo P. Rumor Has It That All Is Not Well In Champion's Camp

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—These are days when gossip whizzes around the story that all is not well in the Dempsey camp, so far as serenity, peace and harmony are concerned—and that it is even more so in the Tunney camp.

News sleuths who do not chafe down such rumors discover that the tales are all blab, as they concern the ex-champion's headquarters, but that they are more or less true with reference to Gene Tunney and his mure or less manager, Will Gibson.

From up Lake Villa way word comes down that Tunney, who has had plenty of sarcastic debates with Gibson, the step-manager, discovered will out on the lawn the other night. One word brought on another and the two boys nearly were out their tonal sector voicing disapproval of each other.

Gibson is later for release from Tunney's entourage after this is done according to the best information. And, in the meantime, he has as much voice and as much say as around the camp as your next door neighbor, announcement recently was made that Tunney would work in secret—and that "Even Gibson will be barred."

TUNNEY IS HURT

TUNNEY'S TRAINING CAMP, LAKE VILLA, Ill., Sept. 17 (INS)—Gene Tunney was under strict orders today to do nothing more than nurse a badly inflamed right eye which was injured yesterday in his workout with Jackie Williams, Chicago heavyweight. The champion's sparring exhibition was called off late yesterday after he had received a poked eye from Williams' thumb while they were in a clinch in the first round.

McWeeny outpitched Root as Brooklyn nipped the Cubs again, 4 to 0, sweeping the series. Chicago is now eight games behind the Pirates.

The Yankees staged a double celebration, whipping the White Sox, 7 to 2, for their 100th victory of the season, while Babe Ruth clouted his 53rd homer. Ruth is only three behind his 1921 record.

The Athletics, locking the barn door after the pennant has been stolen, made it six straight by defeating the Browns, 6 to 1. Ty Cobb's three singles gave him 13 hits in his last 18 times at bat.

A homer and double by Hellmuth gave the Tigers a 4 to 3 win over the Red Sox. Other teams did not play.

CHICAGO AERIAL FIRM HAS MADE ENVIABLE RECORD

One Million Miles Of Flight Without Life Lost, Single Person Injured Or Parcel Lost Is Proud Achievement

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—(INS)—One million miles of flight without a life lost, a single person injured or a letter or parcel lost.

That is the record of the National Air Transport, Inc., of Chicago, operators of the New York-Chicago and other air mail services.

Through the foggy lanes along the Great Lakes, across the magnificent states of the North Atlantic seaboard, over the snow-topped plains of Iowa, Missouri and Texas the N. A. T. mail flyers have flown week after week, day and night, for more than two years without a casualty.

New Schedules
And in addition to its record for safety the air mail company has just inaugurated new schedules insuring greater speed in its deliveries. Under the new schedule a letter mailed in Chicago and reaching the Chicago postoffice before 6:30 p. m. will leave on the overnight mail at 8 p. m. central standard time, arriving at Hadley Field, New Brunswick, N. J., at 4:45 a. m. eastern standard time, the following morning. The letter will reach the Pennsylvania station in New York City at 6:15 a. m. ready for the first mail delivery.

Likewise a letter mailed in time for the 5:30 a. m. central standard time, airmail plane for Dallas, Texas, will reach that city at 6:35 p. m. the same day.

Saves 12 Hours
This new speed service saves 12 hours, or one business day, between New York and Chicago; 41 hours between Chicago and San Francisco; 11 hours to Houston, Texas; 40 hours to Los Angeles; 11 hours to Philadelphia; 24 hours to Seattle; 15 hours to Boston; 14 hours to San Antonio, Texas; 24 hours to Portland, Ore.; 24 hours to Denver; 12 hours to Newark, N. J.; 28 hours to Austin, Texas; 16 hours to Cheyenne, Wyo.; 36 hours to Reno, Nev.; 12 hours to Paterson, N. J.; 11 hours to Butte, Montana; 13 hours to Hartford, Conn.; 31 hours to Yakima, Wash.; and 13 hours to Brooklyn, N. Y.

National Air Transport was organized by business men of New York, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and other cities in May, 1925.

Howard E. Coffin, president of a Detroit motor company, is head of the transport concern.

REGISTRATION OF FLORIDA REALTY MEN IS PLANNED

New State Commission Will Enforce New Regulations To Letter, Says Walter Rose, Recently Named Chairman

ORLANDO, Fla., Sept. 16.—(INS)—Registration of all real estate brokers and salesmen who have heretofore been registered with the Florida Real Estate Commission and the making of requests for registration certificates of all brokers and salesmen whether registered under the old law or not, is the point of the new Florida real estate commission. This is pointed out by Walter W. Rose, chairman of the Commission.

The New real estate law passed at the last session of the legislature went into force on June first of this year. In order to avoid confusion, the Commission members emphasize the fact that all those who have been registered under the old law need not register anew in order to receive their registration certificate. The members of the Commission are: Walter W. Rose, Orlando, chairman; William R. Randle Jacksonville and Thomas C. Hammond, Tampa.

While the new law is clear, yet some confusion arises because of the distinction between the registering with the Commission and the making of an application for registration certificates. These are two separate requirements. However those holding registration at this time need not register again, but registration certificates must be applied for each year.

Once the registration is in force the broker and salesman need not register again unless he allows his registration to lapse. The New permits a period of six months to elapse after the expiration of the registration certificate during which time the broker and salesman may renew his certificate without registering. He is not, however, allowed to operate during this period.

All real estate brokers and salesmen actively engaged in the real estate business must hold registration certificates under the new law. A non-active classification is provided for those who desire to drop out of the business for the time being and who wish to keep their registration in force. Officers and directors of a corporation who are not actively engaged in the business are required to hold a non-active certificate. All active officers and directors must hold the active certificate. Employees of a corporation doing a real estate business must be registered as salesmen and hold the salesman's registration certificate.

The congenial and intelligent air of Albin, near here, again have taken the warpath. This time the argument centers about frog legs, a subject of great gastronomical interest.

Feeling has run high. It has been reported, and the controversy has reached the stage where brothers are not speaking to each other and husbands are staying at the club, if there is one.

Submitted to authorities in the person of Irwin Brothers, fish and meat dealers, the question, "Is a frog legs meat or fish?" received a divided answer. One brother stood pat on the fish answer while the other was irresolute on the meat end of the controversy.

A petition is being circulated to have the question settled once for all by a decision of the board of trustees.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 17.—(INS)—The cattle business in all its phases, to the point where heaves, are loaded on cars bound for the stockyards, has been filmed for use in the schools of twelve cities, which are co-operating in a visual education program.

The film was completed on one of the largest ranches in the country, the Heinrich ranch near Billings, Montana. Dr. Thomas E. Plesgan, former Pennsylvania Commissioner of Education, in charge of the Eastman Kodak Company's experimentation in filming subjects of visual education, has announced other subjects as follows:

Philippin Islands, Panama Canal, Pueblo Indians, the iron industry, care and planting of trees, reforestation, irrigation, dairying, fire prevention, and New England deep sea fishing.

The cities which are co-operating in the program are Chicago, New York, Detroit, Denver, Kansas City, Rochester, Atlanta, Winston-Salem, Oakland, Los Angeles, San Diego, and Newton, Mass.

The growing demand in Rochester and other cities in New York State for employment for men and women along in years who are, and constantly decreasing opportunities for placing them in positions where they can be self-supporting, has made old age pensions a logical solution of the situation, Charles J. Dolan, superintendent of the State Employment Bureau, has declared.

"In our work since the World War we have been confronted with a very serious problem," said Mr. Dolan. "This problem is what to do with the men and women over sixty who have lost their jobs and find themselves mentally fit, but physically unfit and without sufficient funds to sustain themselves in their declining years."

"In 1925 thirty-eight societies here asked for aid for 290, and in 1926 there were 480 calls made to us."

"To my mind, and that of many of the best minds in the employment field there appears only one solution—old age pensions."

Mr. Dolan advocated that both employer and employee should contribute, in the form of an income tax, to a fund which would provide pensions for those who, through no fault of their own, are unable to care for themselves.

Public Education Will Be One Of Problems For New Governor Of The Philippines

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(INS)—One of the greatest problems with which the next governor-general of the Philippines will be confronted is that of public education.

Unusual strides were made by the Wood administration in cutting down disease which can be controlled by proper sanitation and the improvement of the material aspects of life in the Philippines, but disease arising from unclean or unsound personal habits remains as prevalent as ever.

This situation can be remedied, in the opinion of insular officials, only by a public health education program reaching all the inhabitants of the archipelago. In his last annual report, Governor-General Wood said, "While the Philippine Health Service attempts to enforce adequate health regulations in all the provinces disease cannot be controlled by regulations alone. The real solution of the problem, effective health education must begin in the earlier years of life; health habits must be acquired during school years."

Early Steps Taken
Some steps have already been taken in this direction, the most notable being the establishment of a school of hygiene and public health at the University of the Philippines for the training of Health Service officers and physicians in the prevention of disease.

Plans for this school have been completed and funds provided by the legislature, although the institution itself has not yet begun to function. It will be modeled after the most efficient schools of that nature now operating in the United States. It is hoped by this means to increase the knowledge and efficiency of the health service. Only six of the 420 health service officers now have had any special training in public health.

Improper eating and ignorance as to proper diets are primarily responsible for the liability of the insular officials to check the most prevalent diseases. Intestinal infection is common among the Filipinos, and no progress toward checking this disorder can be hoped for until the people have been educated along dietary lines.

Common Diseases
Another common disease, and one which has shown no appreciable decrease in recent years, is tuberculosis. Under-nutrition has hampered the work of the health service curbing this malady. Until economic conditions are improved, said the Wood report, "and until the people are able to buy and know how to prepare a more adequate and balanced diet, tuberculosis will continue." Deaths from this disease last year exceeded 29,000.

Another disease which might be expected to give away before a public health education campaign is that of beriberi, one of the most serious on the islands.

Longworth Against Holding Of Extra Session Of Congress In Next Month

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16. (INS)—Chances of an extra session of congress, or a special session of the senate, were further lessened today.

Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the House, told President Coolidge that there was no need of extra session, and nothing constructive could be accomplished by meeting early.

He said that the House Appropriation Committee, which will meet early, could prepare a temporary flood relief bill and the house could pass it on the first day.

The president is considering the recommendation of the Chicago flood conference that a commission of experts be appointed to study permanent flood control legislation, Longworth said.

Senator Borah, (R) Idaho, after a conference with president Coolidge today, said he saw little advantage in either an extra session or the early convening of the Senate.

Senator Nye, of North Dakota, independent farm bloc republican, on the other hand, vigorously urged an early session of the Senate to dispose of the Pennsylvania and Illinois election controversies.

Nye said his state favored former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois for the republican presidential.

Nominee Senator Norris of Nebraska, was North Dakota's first choice, Nye said, but since he is not an avowed candidate Lowden is favored over secretary of commerce Herbert Hoover, or former secretary of state Hughes.

Nye believes the McNary-Haugen bill will be re-passed in the next congress, and passed a third time over the presidential veto, if necessary.

National Anti-Tipping Organization Has Been Formed By Parties In Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 16.—(INS)—Believing that service should be divorced from "tipping," and with the avowed intention of obtaining fair salaries "for these public servants who now depend on the tipping practice," an organization known as the Anti-Tipping Association of America has sprung into being here.

According to Paul A. Motes, local real estate dealer and president of the association, one billion dollars per year is uselessly squandered on tips in America alone.

One of the chief purposes of the organization is to save a large part of his amount through education.

Local wise cares, in view of the fact that the organization only charge dues of $11, point out that the campaign should have been conducted in Miami during the boom days.

The charter of the new organization, which was not organized for profit, according to its founder, has already been approved by Circuit Court Judge A. J. Rose, in addition to Mr. Motes, two other have been appointed, Frank C. Jr., as vice president and Adam Campbell, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. McAdoo "Does Not Choose"

William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of treasury and the outstanding member of his party since the days of Woodrow Wilson, has fulfilled the wishes and hopes of a large part of the Democrats by declaring himself not a candidate for the nomination next year.

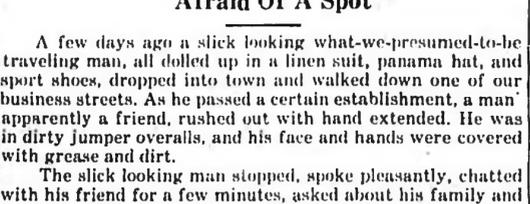

In a letter to George F. Milton, publisher of the Chattanooga News Mr. McAdoo said his withdrawal had been prompted by a desire to avoid a repetition of the 1924 convention. Supplementing this reason was his belief that he could be of more service to the party by retiring to the ranks...

In giving expression to his aims and ideals for the Democratic party, the former cabinet member revives some of policies of Woodrow Wilson of whose beliefs Mr. McAdoo has always been an ardent disciple.

As viewed by his friends and supporters, Mr. McAdoo's announcement is an invitation and challenge to Governor Al Smith to follow suit. Hope for this action, however, is very remote because supporters of the New York executive will see in Mr. McAdoo's retirement the removal of the largest obstacle in their paths...

McAdoo has anticipated Smith's refusal and has sounded his warning with a declaration that he will continue to fight for the suppression of the nullificationists. With this challenge flung by Mr. McAdoo, the deadlock convention is not inevitable as ever.

Director Of Films Learns Of Acting From Emil Jannings

A good actor never acts." This does Victor Fleming, the man who produced "The Rough Riders" for Paramount, sum up years of experience with those who live to emote and emote to live. Fleming declares that only recently has this feeling taken the definite form of a conviction; only when he was directing Emil Jannings in that great international artist's first American production "The Way of All Flesh" which comes to the Milane Theater today.

Fleming explains by citing Jannings' work as an example. "Frequently during the filming of 'The Way of All Flesh,' he says 'I had megaphoned some direction to Jannings, naturally expecting him to follow it. Much to my surprise, especially when we were just starting the picture together, he would turn toward the cameras and me, a questioning look in his eyes. The scene would stop. The 'N.G.' slate was held in front of the lens.

"Now what? I would think, wondering if we would ever manage to get through the entire picture. 'But that is not right,' Jannings would say. There was never a hint of petulance; never a sign of irritation. 'That is not right. Let us talk it over. I must understand what you want. My character must be real.'"

"And so we would carefully go over the change I desired in the scene, discuss the situation thoroughly and in such detail that Jannings became in fact the character of the story, feeling the same reactions. 'It did not take me long to realize that Jannings can never give a true Jannings performance when he feels that he is acting,' Fleming continued. 'And that is why I say that an actor who acts is never a good actor.'

BIG BORROWER OF DAYTON BANK TO BE PROSECUTED

W.H. Tunnell, Receiver of Defunct American Bank and Trust Company, Turns Over Report To State Attorney

DAYTON BEACH, Sept. 19.—I have turned over to State's Attorney Scarlett a complete report of all the questionable transactions of the American Bank & Trust company and I feel certain that Mr. Scarlett is making a thorough investigation and will take whatever action is justified by the evidence.

This statement was made by W. H. Tunnell, receiver for the American Bank & Trust company.

"Did that report include evidence of mismanagement and fraudulent practices?" Mr. Tunnell was asked.

"It did," he replied.

"How much money did Howard Skyles, former president of the bank, borrow from the bank?"

"Personally about $17,000."

"How much had members of his family and corporations in which he was the dominant influence borrowed?"

"I think it will run close to $100,000."

"Have you demanded that he return this money?"

"Yes, indeed. He has promised to pay it back but we are now suing him for it."

"Do you think that the directors of the bank were in any way implicated with Skyles?"

"I do not. It was run as a one-man bank."

Mr. Tunnell said he had every confidence that Mr. Scarlett would go to the bottom of the bank cases. He said he had volunteered his fullest co-operation and that all records of the bank were at the disposal of the state's attorney.

DEFUNIAK SPRINGS, Fla., Sept. 17.—(INS)—As the family of Col. Culpepper, of this city, was listening to a radio concert during a recent storm, there was a sudden clap of thunder, the room was filled with a blinding flash and those "listening in" were stunned. Wires not well grounded were given as the cause.

MOUNT DORA—Additional wells and increased pumping facilities voted for water supply.

WEBSTER—Atlantic Coast Line Railroad will construct $20,000 freight and passenger station.

Crowds Jam Streets Sargent Declares Of Paris As Second Prison Cotton Does A.E.F. Holds Parade Not Hurt Markets

The procession assembled in the shadow of Washington's monument at Place Dieu, and was headed by the Garde Republicaine De La France, mounted, with its best band. The Garde was followed by a battalion of French infantry and the massed flags of the allied nations. General Pershing and National Commander Savage followed, these escorted by a color guard composed of French and American soldiers. Delegations representing the United States auxiliaries followed. From Washington's monument the Americans marched eight abreast down the middle of the street to Place Etats Unis and Alan Seeger monument, where "eyes right" was executed and the colors dipped.

From the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the parade passed through Champs Elysees, passing the reviewing stands erected at the entrance to the Tuilleries Gardens, thence through Place De La Concorde, to Rue Royale and past the Church of the Madeleine, down to Place De La Opera. There the parade turned right, down Avenue De La Opera, thence over Rue Ascole Bridge, and finally disbanded in the shadow of Notre Dame Cathedral.

It is safe to say that no parade in the history of France ever was so heavily guarded. Blue clad police lined the route of the parade throughout, and numbers of them extended into side streets in order to prevent unexpected coups by communists. Soldiers were concentrated about the reviewing stands which held the elite of the French government.

The only note of disorder occurred during the first hour of the parade, when communists tore off some French and American flags with which taxicabs in the outlying districts were bedecked. There were no serious incidents, however.

When the New York delegation passed the reviewing stands General Foch and Gouraud asked for Mayor Walker. Informed that the Mayor was not present, but that he was on the Crillon Balcony, hurriedly sent for him, insisting that he come to the stand. Mr. Walker complied, taking the salutes and the cheers of the New York Legionnaires.

The enthusiasm of the boulevardiers amazed both American onlookers and legion heads. The streets resounded to "bravos" and "vives," the women marchers getting a particularly big hand. The units getting the greatest applause were the Oklahoma Indians, who marched in native regalia; the Kankee, Illinois, drum corps; Charlotte, North Carolina, drum corps; Los Angeles, drum corps; Clearfield, Pennsylvania band.

The Massachusetts large delegation was well received, despite the resentment still lingering over the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti. The Bay states had been apprehensive of possible hisses and cat-calls, but there were none. One group of Italian Fascists among the onlookers saluted the Massachusetts colors.

The marchers exchanged good-natured salutations with the crowds. The large delegations from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana sang their native songs as they marched.

Mrs. J. C. Bills and three little boys with her servant have returned from a 5000 mile motor trip through the east to N. Y., camping on the way and visiting friends and relatives enroute. They were accompanied by Mrs. Hugh Chapman, Mrs. Bills' sister, who will teach English and history in the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Franklin and little daughter, Freda, have returned from a two months' trip through Louisiana and Texas visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs. T. Lumanee arrived last Wednesday from Blakely, Ga. She will fill the position of principal of the school.

Henry Anison has gone to Washington, D. C. to take a government position.

Rev. Devett and family returned from a motor trip to Detroit, Mich., and has resumed his pastorate in the Baptist church.

VALPARAISO, Fla., Sept. 17.—(INS)—An 800-pound man-eater was recently exhibited here by Charles Post, of Chicago. He caught the huge shark in the Gulf near the entrance of East Pass, where sharks are said to be quite numerous. Several pieces of broken crockery were found inside the large fish.

MELBOURNE—Work to begin soon dredging mouth of Crane Creek.

"The products of the mill are not sold in the commercial market," Sargent said. "The whole output is used by various branches of the government."

Covering The Field

In buying advertising a merchant must consider what portion of the territory served the medium selected will cover. The cost of advertising should always be judged by results, for results alone are what count.

Reach Sanford's Trading Territory At One Cost

Through The Herald, the only A. B. C. paper in Seminole County, an advertiser can at one cost put his message before 90 per cent of the people that live in Sanford's trading territory. No risks, no if's and's and but's about it--The Herald covers the field thoroughly.

Economy In Advertising Appropriation

Through The Herald an advertiser can reach 90 per cent of the people who buy in Sanford--this medium needs no supplementary publicity--The Herald is an evening paper, a paper which goes home and is read by all the family.

J-U-S-T W-H-Y

Should the good people of Sanford be asked to patronize the Sanford Laundry and the little Red Wagons as a home industry?

Did they patronize home industry when they had the little red wagons painted in Winter Park? Was there no Automobile or Sign Painter in Sanford.

Do not be deceived by hearing some one cry:

"We are a home industry." We were doing business in Sanford before the Sanford Laundry was built, and we have never found it necessary to ask the Chamber of Commerce or the City Commission to protect our business from Competition, we are equipped to give you the very best in Dry Cleaning, Laundering, Dyeing, Rug Cleaning, and Pleating.

OUT OUR WAY BY WILLIAMS

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Mr. Simon Michelet, the intangible analyst of voting statistics, has found that the primary vote of the 48 states which have primaries is increasing at six times as fast as the general election vote, and that the general election vote, in turn, is increasing at six times as fast as the primary vote.

From this, Mr. Michelet deduces that the primaries are coming more and more to take the place of the election. In 13 states the primary vote exceeds the general election vote, in 13 others it appears to be the determining factor in the election and in six or eight of the other 14 primary states the issue is seldom in doubt after the primaries.

Mr. Michelet shows that the primary vote has increased from 8,456,159 in 1920 to 13,829,215 in 1926, when the general election vote for the 40 states was 17,167,314. This was a gain of 60 percent. The gain from 1920 to 1924 was 60 per cent while there were only 10 per cent more votes in the general election in the entire 48 states. On the basis of these figures, Michelet describes the primary growth as "the most conspicuous feature on the face of American politics."

In this study, Mr. Michelet has dealt only with state-wide primaries for nomination of state officials, and U.S. senators and congressmen. Just such primaries, of course, as produced the lamentable Vane and Smith scandals in Pennsylvania and Illinois and led such staunch friends of the people as Secretary Mellon, Senator Dave Reed and Vice President Dawes to suggest that primaries were very bad things for the public's morals.

As soon as the important facts in the Michelet analysis begin to sink in on politicians and others who are interested in such things, argument will begin as to what they mean and the pro-primary folks will use the figures to prove one thing and the anti-primary folks to prove another.

With admirable restraint, Mr. Michelet himself has kept propaganda out of his analysis, but as he is the founder and guiding spirit of the National Get-Out-the-Votes Club it seems likely that many people are voting in the primaries and abstaining from the general election.

The significance of the figures, however, seems to attach to the fact that the primary system has given the voters themselves a chance to pick their candidates and has made it much more difficult for the professional politicians and machine bosses to hand-pick them.

HOODOO CAR

VIENNA.—The motor car in which Archduke Ferdinand of Austria was slain at Sarajevo, Bosnia, June 28, 1914—the incident that precipitated the World War—seems to be pursued by tragedy. A dealer acquired the automobile recently, and while trying to pass another car, the machine skidded, four of the party being killed.

Couzens Builds Bath a School

The schoolhouse at Bath, Mich., wrecked by a maniac's bomb last May in an explosion that killed 40 children, is to have a new school—the gift of Senator James Couzens of Michigan. Here is the architect's drawing of the building, construction of which is now getting under way.

Miss Ruth Elder and George Haldeman of Lakeland, Fla., probably will be the next air to attempt to fly from America to Europe. Both are experienced fliers.

RINGS TOSSED AWAY

NEW YORK.—A strange clause in the will of the late Mrs. Gertrude Woods provided that her rings be thrown into the sea after the diamonds had been taken from them. Mrs. Woods, wife of Prof. James H. Woods of Harvard College, disappeared last June, and six weeks later her body was recovered in the ocean.

REQUEST FOUND

ARMSTRONG, Mo.—After seven years of search Calvin George has found $71,000 in Liberty Bonds. The missing treasure, which was left to him by Fugate Cunningham, was discovered in a pile of old papers and envelopes in a check book left by Cunningham. He had indicated that he had left the Boatman's Bank in St. Louis $71,000 for Liberty Bonds, but for seven years they could not be found.
