Student Demonstrators Hurl Rocks At Nixon

Kiwanis Club Schedule Told At Noon Meeting

LIMA, Peru (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon today walked into a crowd of yelling, rock-throwing students and challenged them to "hear the truth". A stone grazed his neck. Another rock thrown by a student struck Nixon's aide, Jack Sherwood, in the face and chipped a tooth. About 12 stones were hurled at the Nixon party from the edge of the crowd of shouting, whistling students as Nixon left his car and walked into the center of the mob.

Earlier, the vice president himself had cancelled his plans to visit San Marcos because the students might provoke a violent riot. It was not immediately known why Nixon changed his mind. U. S. Secret Service agents and Peruvian security officials were with Nixon in the noisy crowd...

over-zealous efforts of the police to protect him. When Nixon announced cancellation of the university tour, about 1,000 students were gathered in university park waving large banners that bore the legends, "Get out, Nixon," and "Down with imperialism."

Mock Alert Shows Area Would Be Handicapped In Actual Evacuation. The Seminole County Civil Defense staff took part in a national "alert" exercise simulating a widespread offense by an aggressor. This was identified as OPAL 28 and was held on Monday and Tuesday. The local action was under the supervision of Director A. B. Peterson Sr., and according to staff officers, showed that this area would be under many handicaps in the event an actual evacuation was demanded.

Zoo Attracts Many Each Year

Sanford's 45-year-old Municipal Zoo attracts from 12 to 18 thousand out-of-town visitors very year. Mrs. Hood gave the Kiwanis Club an overall picture of the local zoo, pointing out especially that the animals were valued at approximately $11,000. "Jiggs alone is worth $700," she said. "I hope someday the zoo will be enlarged to the west," Mrs. Arnold Hood said, "to give the animals more room to move around." Asked if she is afraid to get into the cages with the animals, Mrs. Hood said "You're just as safe there as you are walking on the streets." She explained, "When you cross a street an automobile can kill you—you just have to be quick enough to get out of the way." Pointing to the fact that ordi-

Carnival Time S.H.S.

By Kathy Carles

We would like to extend our greatest appreciation to everyone who had any part in making our Carnival a success last Friday night. I know everyone had a wonderful time and it seemed to have served its purpose of raising funds for equipment for our new patio also.

Let us start at the beginning of things and express our thanks to Miss Hasty and all of the luncheon ladies for contributing their delicious food and the time and work they put into it. Also to the P. T. A. members who worked in that connection. All of the athletes who provided entertainment were excellent and who could ever forget Mr. Bracken, Mr. Silvers, Coach Pigot and Mr. Lauer playing the role of clowns in the dunking booth? You were all wonderful sports.

Miss Ruppert and her Home Ec girls really put a lot of effort into selling in the country store and the Jamboree, but they all seemed to have enjoyed their work. Those dear people who bought poetry candle stick holders and cookie jars and delapidated Easter bunnies deserve some praise too because they were a big help (I hope you all find uses for some of those horrible gadgets we couldn't find names for).

Many thanks to the boys who ran the balloon and teddy bear department (I admire you for your patience) and to Mr. Bracken and other members of the faculty who furnished such beautiful (ugh) music.

Oh, Yes! You mothers who displayed such talent in volleyball against your daughters should be given a trophy, maybe not for the game, but for the good sportsmanship displayed.

We enjoyed listening to Eddie Kirehboff play his two selections on the piano. I must say, Eddie, you surprised a lot of us. Next on the program was Henry Russ and his Debonaires who were excellent, as always, and after that music was supplied for dancing by Sid Vihlen and his orchestra which was enjoyed by all.

I didn't get to see the film being shown on the Brahman Bowl game but I'm sure it was very interesting with Coach Ganss narrating.

It was a lovely evening full of fun and we don't know how to thank so many people for their time, work, and cooperation, but we do appreciate everything. Thank you.

Camp Business Booming

NEW YORK—We will have with us, before long, a spectacle that has become an early-summer ritual in the United States—millions of moppets marching off on a pilgrimage back to nature.

The summertime trek of grammar and high school age kids to supervised camps is a fixed institution in many densely packed cities such as New York. Its magnitude nowadays is arresting. Business is booming.

Within three decades, while we have become more and more a nation of city dwellers, the number of boys and girls attending such camps has grown 300 per cent.

The American Camping Assn., an organization of camps and directors, says that one million children attended camps in 1930. This summer, it expects the camp population to be 3 million. That would be 11 per cent of all U. S. grammar and high school children.

The association estimates there now are about 13,000 camps in the United States—61 per cent operated by agencies such as youth organizations and voluntary service groups; 30 per cent privately owned; 10 per cent by such groups as churches, municipalities, schools, businesses.

American boy-camps are one of the greatest organization countries ever to come down the pike of history. We organize everything. And, sure enough, the association claims that organized camping for recreation and education is a U. S. invention, nearly a century old now.

The whole thing started, according to this version, in 1861 in Connecticut when Frederick William Gunn took the students of his boys' school to the country for two weeks of camping. The outing became annual for 16 years.

A further step came in 1876 when Dr. Joseph T. Rothrock set up a health camp in Pennsylvania for "wacky boys." In 1899, the Rev. George W. Hinckley began a religious camp in Rhode Island, mixing in sports and recreation.

Scouting Booms

In the early 1890's city wilderness and YMCA's got into the camping act. In 1910, the Boy Scouts came along and gave a mighty shove to the camping movement's progress. The girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls gave new impetus two years later.

There's one aspect of organized camping out that, to me, at least, is not so attractive. As William Cullen Bryant once wrote, "To him who in the love of nature holds communion with her visible forms, she speaks a various language." But an organized camp sometimes seems long on supervision and organization and short

Kiddie Korner

By JOHN MILLER

Everyone is sure to come to the May Day Ball this Friday night at the new Civic Center. As this dance is being sponsored by the Student Council, "no admission" is the official word. This news is glad tidings to certain gentlemen around BHS whose pocketbooks, purses, wallets, etc. are not as fat as they would like for them to be. This recession is terrible.

As we write this Thursday evening, the first election returns have come in, and we stand primarily awaiting the morning. Most of the offices did not require a second ballot. In next year's Sophomore Class, Emmett McCall came out ahead as President, there is to be a runoff for Vice President between Judy Ludwig and your writer, and Diane Baty will be next year's secretary. Other officers include Doug Tammy—Treasurer, a runoff between Ross Mary Southward and Helen Pittard for chaplain, and Alex McKibbin and Betsy Williams as student council members. Well, tomorrow will tell. (Please bear in mind I'm writing this one week ahead of time.)

Angelo, in reply to your request for information about who will get Kiddie Korner next year, I haven't decided. I may write it myself. Angelo! Please don't shudder like that!

We want everyone to remember about the Glee Club Spring Concert coming up Tuesday, May 18. It's going to be a great show.

Goodnight, my friends.

Survey Shows Pays To Go To School

WASHINGTON—The Census Bureau has offered figures to show it pays to go to school. A report based on 1936 surveys showed income and education moved together.

For example: One out of every 10 families surveyed was headed by a college graduate; the average income of these families was about $7,800. One in four families headed by a high school graduate had an average family income of $5,500. In families headed by an elementary school graduate the average income was only $4,300.

Of 43 million American families about 8 per cent received incomes of $10,000 or more in 1936. Nearly one million American families had incomes of over $18,000.

The largest group was 17 million families with incomes between $2,000 and $10,000. About 10 million families had incomes between $2,500 and $5,000.

Question Of Week

By Faye Garner

"What was your most embarrassing moment?"

Linda Cannon—I'm always making such a mess out of myself that I don't have a most embarrassing moment. I'm always embarrassing myself.

Shirley Morgan—Spanish class is always my most embarrassing HOUR rather than moment.

Dickie Korgan—The time I had to play a drum cadence alone and dropped my drumsticks.

Janet Glynn—When I first got to drive my car, I drove past Al's house trying to impress him, and stalled in the middle of the street blocking all traffic!

Kay Ivey—I can't say on grounds that it might incriminate me (and someone else). (Hum!) Who would that be?

Winston Flery—The day I had to make a speech in front of the Kiwanis Club and forgot my speech. (Did the pie taste good, Winston?)

Sidney Vihlen—In West Palm Beach, when I dove off the diving board, I lost my bathing suit. I thought I'd never find it!

Vivienne Morrison—When my ermine fell off right in the middle of class one day.

Richard Powell—The day I went up the stairs to the top hall and my long handles were longer than my pants.

Linda Anderson—I can't say because I'd get embarrassed again.

Angelo Compain—The day I was born. . . and every moment since then.

Carol Ellison—When I was pushed into a big container of cement in my best dress.

Henry Schumacher—The time I spoke my "almost last words." "I couldn't get up in time."

Marylee Barron—Mr. Ray's English class, sixth period always manages to trip me. I always seem to say the wrong things.

Faye Garner—When a certain someone I know read ALL the notes in my purse. (They were mostly about him!)

FFA Attends Sub-District Contest Recently

By Burke Winn

The FFA meeting was called to order at 8:45 p. m. last Monday. The business was mostly about our sub-district contest. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Priest and Mrs. Winn.

The contests we entered were horseshoe pitching (Billy Alford and Billy Teale), softball (which we lost to Pearson), sweetheart contest (Kathy Carles), public speaking (Roger Jimenez, who came in second), Parliamentary procedure (Carl Remusat, Randall Priest, Billy Teale, Billy Alford, Larry McQuarters, Bobby Thompson, and me), and tractor driving (Roger Jimenez, who won).

Sub-district contest was held in Pearson. The teams competing were from Tavares, Pearson, Umatilla, DeLand, and Sanford.

All of us had a wonderful time Friday at this contest.

On nature communion.

One of the delights of unorganized, helter-skelter camping is the sheer loafing which lets you hear nature speak without someone hovering by, telling you what she is saying—the supervisor's interpretation.

But that is too Meillette's view. Certainly supervision, and guidance, is needed. Particularly in the case of underprivileged kids who live out most of their childhood in a city of concrete, slums, and steel with never a glimpse of growing greenery.

Tom Tom Talk

Mr. Bracken, we all admire you for the stunts you pulled to keep everyone laughing at the carnival. We're proud to have such a wonderful person and such a good sport as principal of Seminole High School.

Who in the world was the clown with the ragged clothes and big feet? You were a riot, whoever you were!

Ray and Marilyn seemed to have had a great time. I think Ray tried to wear everything he bought. Don't you agree, Marilyn?

Suzanne Jones looked awfully cute in her lavender outfit, didn't she Tommy Bunn?

Clara Hittell wasn't that your cousin Clarence who worked in the punchkarns for a while? He was quite a salesman. He even sold glasses with one lens. Pretty good, huh?

I guess all of you gals have seen Johnny Lovelace, our new sophomore boy. He really seems to be a nice boy.

Come on gang — let's get on the ball and buy tickets to see the senior play "Old Doc" tonight and tomorrow night. We hear it's just great.

I bet ya'll didn't know that Barbara Knudson is engaged to Dick Harrell isn't that nice. Good luck, you two.

Johnny Wheelchel — did Mr. Skinner, our clown Friday night, really borrow those shoes from you? Congratulations, Charles Messer, on your engagement. We're all proud to hear the glad tidings.

Ever steady stendies seen together in the halls, but more so in band, include Irma and her pet Lion. Don't they look darling together?

Edna Earle and Harry are still as strong as ever. Now, there are two people who are really content with each other.

Marcia Locheit and Gene are finally among the throng of to-be-married's. She sure is proud to tell you that she's marrying right after graduation.

CRINKLED CHIFFON and moulted mohair tweed are combined in this costume from Ben Buckerman's collection. They are dyed to match in a brilliant shade of peacock, with the coat lined to match the full-skirted, crinkled chiffon dress.

HELANE HOUST SHIPS HELSINKI, Finland (UP)—A Russian cruiser and two Russian destroyers will pay a visit to Helsinki between Aug. 7 and 11, it was reported today.

May Day Ball Tomorrow Night In Civic Center

By John Miller

The annual May Day Ball will be held tomorrow night at the new Civic Center, in the main auditorium. Of course, the dress will be formal. No admission is being asked, since the Student Council is sponsoring the event. Corsages will be acceptable.

In an interview for this paper, Miss Ethel Riser, one of the sponsors of the Student Council, disclosed the information that Sid Vihlen and his Orchestra will play for dancing. She also said that entertainment is being planned for the event, which will be highlighted by the coronation of the King and Queen of May. We hope everyone will come to-morrow night, as Miss Riser said the public will be invited. The Student Council, with the help of Miss Ollie Reese Whittle, has prepared a delightful evening.

What To Do About Delinquency

The editorial written by Joseph B. ... Sheriff of Cook County, Illinois ... in the May issue of The ... comes to "the ..."

... Sheriff Lehman isn't soft toward any ... of juvenile delinquency neither is ... or indifferent as he approaches the ... of children from a forthright ...

... For these reasons we reprint the editorial in our column today.

... During the past five years, a great ... has been written and said about juvenile delinquency. Meanwhile in the same ... the number of juveniles passing ... American courts has increased by ... of per cent. In addition, 1,000,000 ... who did not get to court, appeared before juvenile agencies for ... of teachers. Of these who are ... 500,000 became wards of the ...

... At the present rate, already crowded ... will be looking after 800,000 more ... by the time the next five years ... of preventive talking and needless crime ...

... If we are to stop this waste of a nation's most vital resource — youth — we must devote some of our energies to doing ... as well as talking. And the first thing we must do is change our minds. We must cast ... the myths that have so long bedeviled us. We must come to realize, instead:

- (1) That all delinquents are not alike. They are alike only in the common name we give them: delinquent.
- (2) That swift and certain justice, not severity of punishment, is the ultimate deterrent.
- (3) That our problems are not solved when removed from sight. Every youth in jail must someday return to the community. We take an enormous risk when we send him there.
- (4) That the first offender, who is merely admonished and "given another chance" gets no chance at all, and instead, receives a familiar contempt for the law. A real chance means addressing the youngster's underlying needs, placing him in touch with persons or agencies equipped to cope with these needs.
- (5) That there is no simple, single solution, unless it be that each child must be treated as an individual. And that is not always.

In short, we must recognize specific problems of specific human beings. Problem children must be dealt with as they really are — persons whose emotional, mental, educational, and recreational needs are not being met. We must work, especially, with young men between 15 and 17, who are lingering aimlessly as they await their call to the armed forces. But it is not the delinquent, alone, that ... It is also the framework of delinquency. We must act to impede the development of delinquent careers.

"This is a task in prevention, and prevention, to begin with, is not easily defined. Many well-meaning activities directed toward young people are justified as helpful in the prevention of delinquency, when, at best, they can only be considered as hopeful. Furthermore, delinquency is often said to begin with so-called pre-delinquent acts. The fact is that confirmed delinquency follows, and is the by-product of misguided treatment of a child's early misbehavior. Prevention of delinquency must be concerned with such treatment, as well as misbehavior itself. Prevention must also consist of something more than romantic proposals for the elimination of every possible childhood deviation. Deviations are a part of growing up. The most undesirable deviations, of course, must be corrected. What is to be avoided is the dramatization of a youngster as evil, and his consequent public definition and self-identification as a delinquent. It is this public "branding" of the delinquent, and the resulting acceptance of the brand by the child himself, that is the heart of the prevention problem. Ways and means must be developed to correct labeling.

"This is more than mere rhetoric, for it is characteristic of most prevention programs that they are not equipped, or find it inconvenient, to deal with marginal youngsters within their well-regulated circles. It is for this reason that most conventional child welfare programs are unattractive and unavailable to aggressive and hostile young people.

"The recent increases in delinquency should make plain that existing programs are far from adequate. Even those who conduct the programs seldom provide for evaluation as to their success or failure. Unless a control group is established for measuring the efficiency of a program, accuracy is impossible. To assume a program is successful because it has beneficially protected children who might otherwise become delinquent is not enough.

"Juvenile delinquency must be realistically and soberly attacked now. The job belongs to everyone — to the church, the schools, the police, and to social and civic groups. To do it well involves two major considerations: First, there should be a new focus upon those specific geographic areas that produce an excessive proportion of crime and delinquency. Second, we must examine those aspects of criminal justice that aggravate delinquency by relying on the negative measure of arrest and detention. We must help our law enforcement agencies to understand delinquency and to combat it in a new and constructive manner.

"It is essential that any prevention program be logically related to conditions of delinquency as they exist in society today. What must be urged are not mere palliatives, but changes of considerable and far-reaching significance. In my judgement, nothing short of such changes can produce the results we seek.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES H. MCCANN, United Press Staff Correspondent

The confused and complicated summit conference situation may be cleared up pretty soon. It looks as if the moment as if serious negotiations for the meeting will be started within the next week or so between the United States, British and French ambassadors in Moscow and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. At Gromyko's insistence, he will negotiate separately with the three envoys instead of receiving them together.

This is a clumsy procedure, in which Gromyko may be expected to do all he can to divide the three Western allies and thus strengthen Russia's position. But once the talks get really started, the way may be cleared for a meeting of foreign ministers which in turn would lead to the long-discussed summit meeting of heads of government.

Meeting Not Certain

There still is no certainty that a summit conference will be held, of course. The hickering over preparatory negotiations and the complete absence of any apparent basis for agreement between East and West on means of reducing world tension seems to offer no solid ground for hope that a summit conference can accomplish anything.

However, the feeling seems to be strong among most of the members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that however pessimistic the atmosphere, the conference should be held.

Herlong Report

The coalition of Southern Democrats and Republican conservatives which has been so effective in the past in turning back legislation that would put the country further along the road to socialism is being felt again in the House. It was disrupted in the vote on segregation issues, when the South stood alone.

The coalition, however, was most effective last week in defeating a bill to extend unemployment compensation which was universally accepted as nothing but a Federal dele. Instead, the House accepted overwhelmingly a bill I introduced which left the matter of unemployment compensation up to the states, where it belongs.

My bill was along the line of that suggested by President Eisenhower but there were several important differences. In pushing this legislation, I had the backing of Democrats from the South as well as a few from other parts of the country who still believe in states rights. I am happy to say that when we got around to voting we had the support of many others outside the "coalition" and on final passage my bill was accepted by a heavy 370 to 17 vote.

Under my bill, which now goes to the Senate, Florida and other states may participate in the program if they so desire. The legislation allows Federal loans to those states in which there is a need now for more employment compensation money. Under the defeat bill, the Federal Government would have made outright grants costing 1 1/2 billion dollars, to the states, whether they needed it or not.

For a number of years, I have been a member of a "committee" of long time House members from the South who do their best to screen legislation before it is acted upon on the House floor. We always try to do what is most beneficial. While our group is vigorously opposed by left wingers, I am sure we have earned their respect.

Civil Service annuitants who are concerned over the delay in getting on with the conference on the annuity increase bills will be interested to know that it is possible due to the fact that the conference on the part of the House are the same members of the House Committee who are working day and night on the postal pay bill, and partly to the feeling that it would be advisable to wait and see what final action is taken on that bill before agreeing on a compromise figure on the annuity increase, in order not to risk losing the increase through a Presidential veto.

It has been nice to welcome a large number of visitors from the 5th Congressional District in recent days. There were many at the Florida State Chamber of Commerce banquet. James Melton, the former Metropolitan Opera tenor, was on hand to sing and reminded the crowd that he was from our District. Citrus in fact, and that he had learned to swim at Silver Springs.

NON-POLITICAL PARTY—This year, Harold Cole opted himself. As Executive Vice President of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, he began the annual Florida dinner in Washington. He has made it the top event in the Washington-Florida social calendar. And as we said, the 1958 show was his best yet.

The dinner is a part of the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce meeting here. From Florida came many of the top business big-wigs. Everyone in Washington with any Florida connection tried to make the dinner. Tickets: 12:00 per person.

James Melton, Florida boy who made good in grand opera, was guest of honor. He sang several of his best—including "September Song." Later he teamed with Miss Barbara Meister, lyric soprano, in a duet arrangement of "El Rancho Grande." Also on the musical program were the "Gay Barbers."

the trumpet section of the 1958 ... West Palm Beach High School band, passing through Washington on a concert and sight-seeing tour.

In line of the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Claude J. Yates. Mr. Yates is president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce and is vice-president of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, of Jacksonville. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cole were next, followed by the entire Florida Congressional Delegation and their wives. Special guests included most of the Ambassadors of Latin American Countries and of Canada.

Other outstanding guests included former Governor of Florida Doyle E. Carlton, now serving on the President's Civil Rights Commission; former Congressman Bill Lanier, of Miami, and his wife, Betty; Carl D. Brown, President, Peninsular Telephone Company, of Tampa; Mr. J. Clay, President, Florida Power Corp.

Mr. Lee is a past president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and was one of the speakers. (He is worried about the many problems facing our railroads.) Mr. Cole turned in his usual excellent job as toastmaster and each of the members of the Congressional Delegation was called on for a speech. (None declined.) Congressman Bill Cramer of St. Petersburg came in for the brunt of much fun and kidding because he is the only Republican member from Florida.

As usual at this dinner, Congressman Billy Matthews stole the show with his humorous antics. On this occasion he called for the help of Congressman Bob Sikes, but from the beginning it was a one-sided performance. Sikes acted as his end-man as Mr. Billy gave a satirical demonstration of how a speech is made on the floor of the House. At times in the skit, Matthews neared the heights of grotesque-grotesque because his humor came so close to the truth.

Also as usual, affable Cliff Davenson, Director of Advertising for Florida's Silver Springs, played host at the Press Table for the Washington newsmen who regularly cover the Florida "beat."

Most interesting bit of gossip carried away by the ladies was an item dropped by Florida's bachelor member of the House, Paul Rogers. He hinted that his bride-to-be had been chosen, and that the big event might come at any time. Who is she? When?

On the other hand, one Copenhagen dispatch says that word is being circulated there that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev not only wants a summit conference but needs one to maintain his position in the Kremlin leadership.

This report is being spread by Eastern European diplomats. The idea is that Khrushchev needs the conference to maintain his prestige against the opposition of fellow-leaders who favor a return to old-fashioned harsh Stalinist dictatorship.

The dispatch points out that this may be a bit of Soviet propaganda, intended to persuade the Western allies that they had better hold a conference on Khrushchev's terms or see an intensification of the cold war. At least the report would indicate that Khrushchev does want a conference.

The old national pipe was the first road to be built by the United States government.

Conning The News

I see some kind soul has put a fashion note on my book. It reads, "interesting sights along First Street—back" in the big wind. No comment. Thought the book and the wind were infallible. Evidently not.

Augusta Russell, Sanford Golf Association Champion, will depart May 20 for Fredericksburg, Va., where she and her family will reside from now on. Sorry to hear of this, as the Russells have been a wonderful addition to our community.

Also leaving very soon are Earl and Edna Crittenden. The Crittendens came to Sanford ten months ago from Jacksonville, and are now going back there. Guess they are a little displeased with Bell Telephone, since they had just built a beautiful house in Jacksonville and now can't get it back. No complaints from them, however, except they are sorry to leave Sanford.

"Sweet-Swinging" Sonny Powell has been on my book again to inform all golfers of the Sanford and Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Department will be a real smasher. They served over 300 dinners of ham, potato salad, cole slaw, beans and hot rolls. Coffee and milk, too. President Bill Gray greeted the customers with brightly colored leis—and all those serving were adorned in old-fashioned frock coats.

Incidentally, the ham dinner cooked last week by hard workers of the Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Department was a real smasher. They served over 300 dinners of ham, potato salad, cole slaw, beans and hot rolls. Coffee and milk, too. President Bill Gray greeted the customers with brightly colored leis—and all those serving were adorned in old-fashioned frock coats. Proceeds will go to build a firehouse.

And consider this one—the newly formed Civitan Club is going to sell fertilizer next Saturday. Trucks with compost and fertilizer will be parked all day by Touchton's Drug Store, Wain-Dixie at 25th and French and the Food-mart. Megan runs something like this, "Grow with the Civitan Club."

Special services include free delivery to your home and a laugh a minute from the happy fertilizer handlers. Rab, Rab, Rab.

Evidently a group of Sanford pioneers objected to my discussion the other night involving Sanford and the Navy. An anonymous caller informed me last night that my remarks were not appreciated. She stated that Sanford had gotten long very well before the Navy came.

There was an inference that I had represented Sanford as a backward community with no future. This was not my intention. There is no town in Florida that has not seen an amazing amount of growth during the past decade. Sanford is one of them. The town would have grown whether the Navy had come or not, although the Navy eased the situation. I believe.

The town that I grew up in is now the center of one of the biggest shopping and residential districts in the New York area. Why not admit that Sanford is expanding?

But I still feel that many Sanford natives think that since the Navy is here and willing, why not let them do most of the work. It has been proven in the Girl Scout program, High Fever Polioes and many other projects. Since Sanford is no longer a sleepy, peaceful town, dependent on its farming, why not admit that things have changed? End of sermon for today.

Mrs. W. V. Roberts, central district chairman, installed the following officers: Mrs. Angelo Constantine, president, serving her second term; Mrs. Ernie White, vice president; Mrs. Ted Nichols, secretary; Mrs. Lee Swigonski, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Frank Muhn, treasurer.

Butler Hearing Talky Talk Among Newsmen

By LITTLE C. WELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Paul M. Butler of the Democratic National Committee has heard a lot of talky-talk among Washington newsmen that your correspondent would seem unlikely on the face of it, but it could be true. Who heard what wouldn't make much difference, anyway, but for the fact that Butler reports the newsmen's griping to be twanging with reports that there is a deal for President Eisenhower to resign.

Butler told a questioning panel on "Reporters Roundup" that he thought a deal had been made between the President and Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the former to quit after the November congressional elections.

"This is something that is very difficult to prove," Butler said. "But certainly there has been so much talk and conversation about it in official circles and particularly among the Washington press corps that it would appear that there is some basis for it."

Distorted Deal
It is true that there was a deal, announced by the President some weeks ago. It was an agreement as to the circumstances and method by which Nixon would take over as acting president if the boss were incapacitated. This was no such deal as Butler suggested however.

Neither is any deal by which the President would resign soon or ever much discussed or given credence at the grill tables or at the bar of the National Press Club where Washington newsmen gossip most often and most freely.

One day you can get a hot that the President will not live out his second term. Another day you can get a hot that he will. Bet that he will up and quit in any deal to get Nixon in the White House, however, are few, if any, although they might be had at the right odds.

Dept. May Stop Financing Citrus Research Data

LAKELAND (UP)—The U. S. Department of Agriculture has indicated it will stop financing consumer research data on Florida citrus after next year.

But the state Citrus Commission has reported that the federal government probably will put up another $50,000 this year on the project.

The commission quoted Don Faustberg, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, as saying a serious question arises as to whether public research funds should be placed with a private contractor for the purchasing of marketing data for an indefinite period.

A meeting to discuss plans for the coming year has been scheduled in Washington next month with representatives of the Agriculture Department, the citrus industry and the Market Research Corp., which has been gathering the data.

Citrus interests and the federal government pay the firm $100,000 a year for weekly, monthly and quarterly research on consumer purchase of citrus and citrus products.

Minnesota's Centennial Hits Climax This Week

By BOG QUIGGS
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Joseph H. Dillon, a sandy-haired Irishman who has just been re-elected to his third consecutive term as mayor of St. Paul, Minn., has been in our town to let us know that his great state's centennial celebration hits a climax this week.

On the motion of Senator Douglas of Illinois, Minnesota was admitted to statehood 100 years ago next Sunday. On Saturday, St. Paul streets will ring to the deaf with the state's centennial parade since Paul Bunyan and his blue ox, Babe, stomped about the state creating one of its 10,000 lakes with every footprint.

Celebration on Hand
There'll be 87 floats, 87 historical units, and 67 bands of the 18-trombone variety headed by Gen. Lauris Norstad, a Red Wing, Minn., boy and viewed by Judy Garland's Grand Rapids, Minn., girl along with Princess Astrid of Norway and Prince Bertil of Sweden.

In Minneapolis, a place reputed to have more Scandinavians than Stockholm has Sweden, centennial day will have its main speech by one of the most traveled men of the century, John Foster Dulles, who will brose in from Copenhagen, Berlin, Paris, and other points too numerous to record.

One out of every three persons in Minnesota, Dillon said, is of Scandinavian descent. He doesn't claim that this matter of nationality is the main causative force in the state's greatness, but he does point out that Minnesota's railroad titan, James J. Hill, once said:

a man on whom snow doesn't fall." Which remark brings the mayor to a laughing comment on Minnesota's weather: "I like what I call our balanced climate." If you live in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area, the balance strikes the delightful extremes of 30-below-zero every winter and 100 in the shade every summer. What man could complain about a 130-degree weather range?

Indian Name
As for Minnesota, that's a Sioux Indian word which the mayor translated as "land of the sky blue waters." And those 10,000 lakes have helped make Minnesota perhaps the fishingest inland state. It leases more than a million fishing licenses a year.

Incidentally, the jutting northwest angle of the Minnesota border is the northernmost part of the United States. Remember

Doolittle: Mankind Will Benefit If U.S. Masters Space

WASHINGTON (UP)—Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle testified that if Russia gains control of space "the consequences are fairly plain—probable Soviet world domination."

But if the United States wins the space race, he said, "all mankind will benefit."

The retired general said this country should send manned vehicles to the moon just as soon as research permits and "then on to the planets."

Doolittle, World War II hero and now chairman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, made the statements before the Senate's special space committee.

He endorsed President Eisenhower's proposal for setting up a civilian agency, built around the NACA, to carry out a non-military space exploration program. "Just as rapidly as research can provide the necessary data, we should employ this information in the development and use of manned vehicles to deepen our penetration into the far distances of our solar system, first to the moon and then on to the planets," he said.

Doolittle said a space program will cost "in the hundreds of millions of dollars" for years to come. He said it is too early to say what benefits, other than national prestige and greater security, will come from such a program.

Roy W. Johnson, director of the Defense Department's Advance Research Projects Agency, told the House space committee Monday his agency has decided to go ahead with a "very urgent" secret space project with a "50 per cent chance of success." He refused to disclose details in public.

Attack On Tito Puts Khrushchev On Spot

WARSAW, Poland (UP)— Communist China's violent attack on the "heresy" of Yugoslavia's President Tito has put Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev squarely on the spot, Polish sources said today.

They said the blistering editorial assault by Peking this week on the program of the Yugoslav party almost certainly was aimed as much at Khrushchev as it was at Marshal Tito.

"It is a direct challenge to Khrushchev's position on ideological grounds," a Polish source said. "He is being told to take his choice between orthodox and heresy. If he backs Tito, he is affronting the most populous country in the communist world and all orthodox Communists," the source said.

"But if he joins wholeheartedly in the condemnation of Tito, he will be forced to eat not only the words he uttered in Belgrade in 1956, but more important, most of the statements he made at the 20th party congress of the Communist Party in Moscow. 'Either way, he's in serious trouble.'"

Khrushchev's stand on Yugoslavia was made in public statements twice—and both are in sharp contrast to the views of Peking.

In 1956 Khrushchev went to Belgrade to head the split which he expelled the Yugoslav from the Cominform in 1948. Khrushchev specifically disavowed Stalin's action and pledged eternal friendship with the Yugoslavs.

The People's Daily, official newspaper of the Chinese Communist Party, said the action in kicking Tito out of the Cominform was "basically correct." At the 20th Congress of the Soviet party, when Khrushchev launched his de-Stalinization campaign, he denounced Stalin's insistence on a single road to socialism, and suggested that communism can be developed peacefully.

Has Two Foundations Polish sources speculated that the move against Khrushchev had two foundations:

Year by Peiping the Soviets would reach a bilateral trade agreement with Washington, thus relegating Communist China to the rank of a lesser power. They said this was based on Khrushchev's suggestion that the status quo in East Europe should be recognized—which could imply the same arrangement for Nationalist China. Genuine ideological objections to Khrushchev's policies and the desire of Mao-Tse-Tung to be the foremost interpreter of Communist theory.

Armed Forces Day Parade Seen As Biggest Ever Held

The Armed Forces Day Committee is very enthusiastic about the number of volunteers and patriotic spirit shown in the planning of the Armed Forces Day Parade. Joel Field, committee chairman, said this morning.

A meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Sanford City Hall was well attended. Field pointed out "It looks good now," he said.

Several new organizations will be represented in the parade which will take place on Saturday morning May 17, said Field following the meeting. They will include the American Kadets who will have a Color Guard, a marching unit of 80, and a float entered in the event. Also in the parade will be the Veterans of World War I.

"Results of the meeting show that we will have quite a number of floats in what we predict will be the biggest Armed Forces Day Parade ever held in Sanford," said Joel Field.

Grand Marshall J. Q. "Slim" Galloway told the meeting yesterday "I am requesting preparation be made to have all units in formation by 9:30 a. m. the day of the parade."

Chairman Field said "A signal from Grand Marshall Galloway will tighten up the parade formation at 9:45 a. m. and all units will step off promptly at 10." Field pointed out that the Armed Forces Day Parade "is not costing anyone anything. It is entirely voluntary on the part of individuals and organizations."

Setting a precedent for the Armed Forces Day Parade will be the Sanford Kiwanis Club marching as a unit.

The theme for Armed Forces Day 1958 will be "Power For Peace" according to a release from the Sanford Naval Air Station which will celebrate the event with an open house from 10:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. The local slogan will be "Bring Your Camera". For the first time in the history of NAS Sanford, the general public is invited to "bring cameras aboard the station during the celebration and open house festivities."

Two hundred and fifty voices will be heard Tuesday, May 13, when the Seminole High School Glee Clubs present the annual spring concert in the SHS auditorium at 8 p. m. The concert is under the direction of Miss Olla Reese Whittle.

The boys' glee club this year is the largest in the school's history while the combined girls' glee club is also the largest with 96 voices.

The girls will be dressed in gay pastel color formals while boys are to wear dinner jackets. The singers will perform against a rose garden background.

Parliamentary Procedure Helps Leaders Says West

Bill West, Vocational Agriculture teacher at Seminole High School, told the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday "We teach parliamentary procedure to develop leadership."

"It is a battle of wits," said West, "which makes parliamentary procedure interesting."

West spoke to the Jaycees on the subject of "Why Parliamentary Procedure."

"This is a hobby with me," explained the speaker, and then went on to explain that one of the main purposes of parliamentary procedure is to have some sort of order.

"It is an orderly way to conduct a meeting," he said, "and is a way to protect the rights of others."

In parliamentary procedure there is no way to suppress the minority explained West, and the chairman should at all times be in complete control of the meeting.

One point emphasized by the speaker was brought out in the explanation that the chairman should never vote except to benefit the organization and to make a tie or break a tie.

West took parliamentary procedure step by step, describing the "making of a motion" and the procedure to follow in the various actions that could be taken.

School Board Requests Reregistration Call

The Seminole County Board of Education made plans yesterday leading to a possible bond election to be held on Sept. 9 along with the primary election.

The board adopted a resolution requesting that the Board of Seminole County Commissioners call for a reregistration of freeloader voters of Seminole County for the purpose of securing a new and up-to-date list of freeloader voters to be used for qualifying freeloader voters to participate in any election

Economics Class Tours Local Bank

A Seminole High School economics class visited the Sanford Atlantic National Bank yesterday to get a first hand look at modern banking facilities and to learn how many of the modern machines used in banking service are operated.

Vice President Roy Mann conducted the tour of the bank as 18 students and their instructor, Miss Rebecca Stevens, visited all of the bank's departments.

"The tour came about this way," the bank's vice president said: Last Tuesday I appeared at Seminole High School to speak to the economics class on the banking organization.

"With a background of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank, how its directors set policies, the history of banking, the students were shown a display of gold coins of various values and a display of large paper money," said Mann. "Those students were really interested in the gold coins and about what happens to gold through the Federal Reserve system," he said.

At the bank yesterday, in an hour-long tour of the facility, students were shown the working of new, modern banking machinery. Each machine was in use as they toured the various departments. (Continued on Page 9)

New Township Is Going Up In South Seminole County

A new township is being created in South Seminole County. The town of North Orlando is emerging from seven square miles of rolling terrain east of 17-92 on both sides of the Longwood-Orlando Road.

Two Florida investor-developers, E. Raymond Moss and William S. Edgemon purchased the huge tract some months ago. The North Orlando Co. was formed with offices in Longwood.

Thirty miles of streets have been laid out, forming wide curbed avenues. The 3,686 acres will be broken into large lots of 2, 3 and 5 acres.

The developers anticipate that within three or four years a complete city of 10,000 to 12,000 homes with a population of 30,000 to 40,000 will be built.

A huge shopping center has been planned to service the new city. Moss and Edgemon have previously developed Lake Placid, in Pompano Beach, Silver Shores in Lauderdale-by-the-Sea, and the Lauderdale Beach Extension.

The new city in South Seminole County is situated halfway between Sanford and Orlando. A water plant, sanitary sewers and paved streets will be included in conveniences.

Employment Service Officer Says No Recession Here

"There is no recession in Sanford," said D. B. Hahn, manager of the local office of the Florida State Employment Service.

"We have positions open," said Hahn, "that we're having difficulty filling." He pointed out that jobs are available for truck drivers, clerk-typists, stenographers, block layers and others.

"Unemployment claims here have dropped 30 per cent in the past month," the Florida State Employment Service office manager said. "I attribute this to agricultural employment picking up and the construction work uptrend," he said.

"I certainly appreciate the support our office has received here," Hahn stated this morning and "I would like to encourage employers to continue to call us for their help in finding persons for positions of any nature."

"All who are interested and want work are asked to come to the office for we are contemplating a continuing upward trend," Hahn stated this morning.

The Florida State Employment Service is located in Sanford at 110 West Second St.

Hahn pointed out that the service is free and no charge is made to either the employer or employee. "This is a tax supported service," he pointed out.

Members of the Seminole County Board of Education called on the County Commission to meet to consider the resolution.

The special registration, said R. T. Milwee, Seminole County Superintendent of Public Instruction, will be advertised four weeks after which a date is set by the county commission for the opening of the books.

County Commission Chairman John Krider said late yesterday that a special adjourned meeting of the Board of Commissioners has been called for tonight at 9:30 p. m. in the county commission room of the Court House to consider the resolution.

The Board of Education yesterday approved the purchase of four buses following the opening of bids. Low bidder was for an International chassis and Wayne body for $5,430.77 each. Other bids ranged from $5,495.83 to $5,433.23.

Opening of other bids for school supplies brought the approval of the Board of Education for the Superintendent of Public Instruction to study and analyze the bids and accept the lowest and best.

Also, the board approved the employment of Roy Howell of Lake Mary as a heating maintenance man and superintendent of custodians. He will also assist Walter Teague with transportation.

The Board of Education accepted the recommendation of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and approved the sending of five sections of the eighth grade to Seminole High School next year. The approval leaves all of the seventh grade students and about one-third of the eighth grade at the Junior High School building on Palmto Ave.

The placing of grades one through six at Lyman School in double session was approved by the board at yesterday's session. Bids will be opened on June 24 for the Altamonte Elementary School. The board hopes to have children out of double sessions as soon as possible in the new calendar year.

Council, Zoning Committee Agree On Ordinances

A meeting of the Altamonte Town Council with the Zoning Committee was held at the Altamonte Town Hall.

Leslie Bryan, chairman of the Zoning Committee, presided due to the absence of the town mayor, Lawrence Swiford, who had broken his arm just two hours before the meeting convened, and had been forced to seek aid at the Winter Park Sanitarium.

It was agreed at the meeting that ordinances be drawn up to the effect that: all future residence be placed forty feet back from the front lot line or not less than the majority of existing residences, the minimum to be 25 feet; that 1% of square footage of the living area of each dwelling will designate the lineal footage clearance on sides of lot as well as for the rear of each lot; corner lots must have not less than fifteen feet clearance on the side street; that all two-story dwellings shall contain not less than 75% of the designated single dwelling floor area on the ground floor.

May 11-17 Hospital Week In Sanford; Open House Set

In a proclamation read at noon today over WTRR, Merle W. Warner, Mayor of Sanford, officially proclaimed the week of May 11-17 as "Hospital Week" in this city.

The Mayor urged all citizens to acquaint themselves with their local facilities, and to visit the hospital. Open house will be held Monday and Wednesday from 1 to 4 p. m. and Tuesday evening from 7 to 9.

Emphasis this year has been placed on "Careers That Count". Hospital administrator Harry Weir stated today, "Unlike other large industries which are curtailing employment, hospitals are seeking people to fill many vacancies." He recommended that those who are interested in hospital careers should contact the local hospital during the week should they wish more information about vocational opportunities.

Mrs. J. McKay Truluck is chairman of the open house at Seminole Memorial Hospital. Hospital Auxiliary members will act as hostesses during the open house.

County Tax Collections Up In April

Seminole County sales tax collections for April, based on March sales, showed a continued increase over the previous month and over the comparable month last year, according to a report of State

Comptroller Ray E. Green.

The increase is approximately 30 per cent over April 1957 and totaled $45,838.51. Collections of April 1957 totalled $35,574.80.

Total increase in the collections of sales tax over the previous month is approximately 7 per cent.

Only seven of Florida's 27 counties collected less in sales tax in April than they did in March, Comptroller Green reported in his release today.

The seven counties are Charlotte, Dade, Leon, Manatee, Pasco, Santa Rosa and Taylor. Green said the decreases were slight.

Judging from the sales tax collections, Florida's economy appeared to be marking time during March, the Comptroller reported.

Green said the state collected a total of $12,669,748 in April based on sales made in March and $9,461,895 from the gasoline tax for the same period.

The sales tax collections, statewide, showed an increase of $2,333,727 over the same month last year and an increase of $803,414 over the collections made in March.

Gasoline tax collections were up $98,704 over April and $618,212 over March of this year. Although these increases were reported, Green said, they neither indicate an upswing nor a downturn in business activity in the state.

He said the tax collections offered no cause for any revision in present estimate of state revenue to meet the expected $8 million dollar deficit predicted by budget officials.

"HOSPITAL WEEK" is proclaimed by Sanford Mayor Merle W. Warner, as he reads the proclamation over the radio. Looking on are Harry Weir, Seminole Memorial Hospital administrator, and Mrs. J.
