RALLY IN NINTH GIVES SAINTS A WIN OVER FEDS

Sanford Touches Austin And Hawkins For 13 Hits While Braziermen Get Only Ten

ST. PETERSBURG, Florida, August 9. (Special to the Herald.) Although Sanford touched Austin and Hawkins for 13 bingles the Feds lost the first game of the series when the Saints came back in the last inning to score two runs and win the game.

Withrow was given credit for the defeat after he had relieved Ferguson in the seventh inning. This was the fourth consecutive day that Withrow has been used by the Feds for relief hurling, and was the only game in which he failed to come through.

Manager Crowe used every man on the club's roster in the game today. Frisbie and Crowe were banished from the game in the fourth inning for questioning a decision by Umpire Raphael and Dunbar was also chased later in the game when he threw his hat into the air in protest of a called strike by Umpire Lohr.

The loss yesterday coupled with Miami's victory over Orlando gives the Hustlers a full game lead on the Feds.

TILDEN WILL NOT PLAY FRENCHMEN UNTIL CUP GAMES

Big Bill Entered in Meadowbrook Tournay And So Are French Stars But They Will Not Meet, Says Net Board

By Davis J. Walsh International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—There will be no further episodes in the eternal vendetta involving our Mr. Tilden and members of the French Davis cup team until the challenge round for the international trophy comes down to a decision at Philadelphia next month, if you care to accept a tip that came today over the sacred door mat of the United States lawn tennis association. It was not specified whether the issue would be avoided by Tilden or by the French, in Toto. Merely that a meeting on any courts, except those of the challenge round, was rather unlikely. Tilden is entered in the annual meadow club's singles now in progress at Southampton, L. I., so are Rene Lacoste and other members of the French team. But the tip says that, in the event that Tilden finally finds himself faced by one of the "Bullie invaders," something will happen to prevent the match from taking place.

If the alleged ukase was laid down by the tennis association, it obviously constitutes a studied attempt to conserve Tilden or conserve the gate receipts for the challenge round or both.

The conservation of Tilden is, of course, important. It is, in fact, almost as important as the gate receipts themselves.

According to present advices, Tilden either will save the Davis cup for American tennis or bear the burden of its loss. He probably will play in both singles and doubles—three matches in as many days—and it is no star chamber secret that at the tender age of thirty-odd, he has played more and harder preparatory tennis this year than at any time during his tennis life.

It, therefore, is altogether credible that the tennis association may have called its man off, leaving the present situation without a climax beyond the possibility that one might be furnished by Tilden himself. He plays ball with the association much better than he once did but, if he has decided that he wants to take a pot shot at a Frenchman at Southampton, nothing this side of the hereafter will stop him.

However, a rather ponderous schedule has been devised and that may occupy William's wandering attention between now and the challenge round. The Davis cup trials will start next Monday at Forest Hills and William will be among those present. There is nothing for him to try in particular but try he must or there will be no trials at all. The following Friday and Saturday will see him involved in the annual East-West series at Longwood, late in the month just after the French have played the final round of the Davis cup series, Tilden and Francis T. Hunter probably will start in the national doubles championship.

They will meet a French team somewhere along their line of March but the burden of proof will be on two men instead of one. Besides a doubles victory never added a customer nor has a defeat subtracted as many as one from the 14,000 that make amateur tennis possible. Nobody, in fact, is interested in doubles, except the day after they are played in the challenge round.

Baseball Attendance Here For Three Days This Week Will Settle Future Of Club

Upon the attendance at the three ball games that are to be played here the last of this week depends the future of baseball in Sanford for this year according to a statement made this morning by President Floyd Palmer of the Sanford club. Mr. Palmer stated that the club would have to be self-supporting and that the entire matter rested with the fans.

The club is a gone behind Miami in first place and the team has an excellent chance to win out in the second half and be eligible to play Orlando in the post season series. Mr. Palmer stated. There are 20 games yet to be played in this half and 12 of that number are to be played in Sanford. The club, should it continue to play ball as it has during the second half, stands an excellent chance of winning this half, and the proceeds from the post season series could add much to the coffers of the club.

The team left early yesterday morning for St. Petersburg where it will play a three game series with the Saints. The Colerymen will return here Thursday for three games with Erie Burke's Sarasota Tarpons and upon this series hangs the financial standing of the club.

The past series with Tampa the last three days of last week was one that pleased followers of the club. The team played great ball throughout the series and the hitting showed a fine improvement over that of the past games. That Sanford took all three games and that the last one was won after 13 innings of battling.

Presbyterians Are Winners Of Sunday School Title Flag

The Presbyterian team of the Sunday School League defeated the Methodist yesterday thereby winning the championship of the league for this year. At the beginning of the game the count for the first season series between the winners of the two halves was three to two in favor of the Presbyterians and the Methodist.

The series called for the best four out of seven games. Woodruff, star pitcher of the Presbyterian staff, was given the best of support he managed to tighten down with men on bases to hold the Methodist check. Woodruff was given good support at bat for his teammates won the game with smashing blows through the Methodist infield and to the outfield. Wallace's long triple in the sixth with the score tied at five all and just a moment to play, set the Presbyterians in position to score and Wallace carried home on Bach's hit to short.

Paul McCall, Methodist hurler, and one of the best amateurs in Sanford, pitched a nice game. For the losers but he could not stem the tide of hard hits that the winners were shooting through his infield. Roll and McCall were the heavy hitters for the Methodists while Woodruff and Wallace led the Champ's attack.

The winners of the series will be given handsome gold baseballs by the local Y. M. C. A., which is sponsoring the league. This is the first city league ever to play out its schedule to completion in Sanford and much credit must be given the directors for their work in carrying it through.

Apply the spectacular spurt of the Braves in 1914, the Boston Red Sox are learning on the American League these days. The surprising fact have won six straight games and have capped 11 of their last 14 contests, a record unequalled by a Red Sox aggregation in some moons.

While the Braves of 1914 won the pennant, their unblemished follow-up season hardly can finish higher than sixth this season. Today they are only 6 1-2 games behind the Browns.

The Sox got only five hits off Stoner and Carroll of the Tigers yesterday, but won 3 to 2 by taking advantage of Detroit errors.

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 10, 1927. THE HERALD'S PROGRAM: Economy in city and county administration.

RIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: A NEW CREATION:—Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me, Psalm 51:10.

PRAYER:—Take my heart and let it be Always only, Lord, for thee.

HEROD. By William E. Brooks. In Century. And so the Magic-worker comes at last!

Three years he's shown his wondrous might to men. They say his touch has power, that fever flees.

Before his fingers, even blind eyes see. Today perhaps he'll show that power to me.

Youth slips from me, my body's growing old. Older than my years warrant, I have lived.

With wine and merry Roman girls. And merry Roman boys in Caesar's house.

And now I pay the price. Perhaps this mar-. Will touch me and will bring my youth again.

I'll try him, seek a sign, and then I'll draw. Him close beside me, offer him his freedom.

All he desires as well, if he will work. The miracle that brings me youth again.

He has his prize, I'm sure, like any man. Then Rome once more, while Caesar sits agape.

At my new strength—and nights of wine and song! He stood and looked and answered not a word.

But, ah! how deep he looked within my soul. Past places where I had not looked for years.

Such men as he and John would drive me mad; And so he goes to Pilate—and his end!

By the way, we had almost forgotten about that canal election.

Oh, say, are you quoting Sacco when you say, "It won't be long now?"

Don't talk about the heat all the time and it won't bother you half as much.

If Doyle Carlton keeps after Fona Hathaway, the gubernatorial campaign may get under way before long.

We wonder if there is any truth in that report that mosquitoes are getting bigger and fatter since dresses got so short and socks so thin.

It would have been rather embarrassing for the revivalists who allowed a snake to bite him to demonstrate his faith in God, if he had died.

They say Lindberg does not smoke, chew, drink or go to parties. It is no wonder he can fly.—Sarasota Times. But there is many a high flier who can't.

The blow was too much for him. E. T. Walker, of New Hampshire, inherited thirty million dollars, and died the next day. There's some advantage in being poor.

The Herald commends the City Commissioners for the manner in which they are using the pruning knife. We want neither extravagance nor stagnation. We want sound, sensible economy.

No Armament Race Wanted

The failure of the Naval Limitation Conference recently held in Geneva is just another indication that most countries regard disarmament as a fine thing for other nations but not for themselves.

But it seems to us, why should we care? If Great Britain wants to spend all the money she can get her hands on building cruisers, she is the one who will have to pay for them.

If we wanted to, we could build two ships for every one constructed by Great Britain. We have the money and we have the workmen.

But do we want to do that? Is it necessary, in the first place? We hardly think so. We don't believe that the largest navy in the world is necessary to our peace and security.

But as for any desire to have the largest or the strongest in the world, we should not consider it. It is not necessary, and it is a waste of money.

Filling Two Important Posts

With the death of Governor General Leonard Wood in Boston, President Coolidge is confronted with the task of filling two most important diplomatic posts, one as ambassador to Mexico and the other as administrator of the Philippines.

The diplomatic post in Mexico City has long been one which required the service of men of exceptional ability, men who could lend a sympathetic ear to the Mexican demands and yet uphold American claims.

None the less important and hazardous in its undertaking is the post of director-general of the Philippines. Dealing with a group of people, who are jealous of their big protector and who demand the right to govern themselves.

It is to be hoped that President Coolidge will deliberate long and carefully over these two appointments. There are many men available, but many of them would be unable to cope with the two situations.

Press Comment on The Journal's announcement for Fona Hathaway for governor as partially examined by this writer indicates that the following contemporaries are already either definitely for Dr. Hathaway or favorably inclined towards him.

A federal agricultural report says there were two million less acres of corn grown last year than the year before, and 7,000,000 less acres of all crops than the year before.

A man appeared before the county commissioners of this county and objected to the publicity tax on the ground that advertising was bringing in too many farmers and too much was being produced for the good of the market.

The blow was too much for him. E. T. Walker, of New Hampshire, inherited thirty million dollars, and died the next day. There's some advantage in being poor.

The Herald commends the City Commissioners for the manner in which they are using the pruning knife. We want neither extravagance nor stagnation. We want sound, sensible economy.

J. W. Young, developer of Hollywood, predicts the largest tourist crop in the history of the state for next winter. "They're not going back to California," he says. "They'll be in Florida by the thousands and now is the time to get ready for their reception."

Sympathizers of Sacco and Vanzetti by resorting to bomb plots and the like are doing more to hurt their cause than to help it. Many people who are inclined to believe the radicals innocent do not believe in throwing bombs to demonstrate where they stand.

The Red-haired woman," asserts the English Mary Agnes Hamilton, using the voice of New England's most distinguished magazine, "the red-haired woman has no soul." Now, by Mrs. Leslie Carter, that is not so. By history, posterity, and the dead child of Dinah Shadd, it is not so. The red-haired woman may have a different kind of soul, she may keep it in a different place, she may mislay it, she may even lose it upon provocation, but a soul she had and has, as we could very cleverly prove by part of the English Hamiltons themselves. If we cared to. Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch was a red-haired woman. Tiny Tim's mother was a red-haired woman, Sara Bernhardt had red hair. The bright red hair of woman with souls had been the light in more windows of love, laughter and trouble than there are cross-eyed fairies in Ireland. God love us.

As Brisbane Sees It

Oh, Joy! Free Air. Germans Can—We Can't. Faith, Blessed Gift. Crazier In Cities. By ARTHUR BRISBANE. Copyright 1927 by Star Co.

THE DEPARTMENT of Justice says that no one has authority to control radio and the air. "The air belongs to the people."

It is a comfort to be told that the people can still control something, even if it is only the air. They have had it well rubbed in to them that they are not fit to control railroads, street cars or anything else that has money value.

Needless to say, if the air becomes valuable and if our "best people" think they need "reasonable control" of it, they'll get what they think they need.

High finance does not know what electricity is, but knows how to make it pay. The German government has decided to run all employment agencies for servants, actors, etc.

NOT ALL COLLEGE Presidents deny the truths of revealed religion. Dr. Hemin, late professor of architectural history at Columbia, begins his last will and testament: "I bequeath my body to the elements, and my spirit to him who gave it, in the confident hope of salvation and eternal life through the perfect righteousness of Jesus Christ."

Happy he who, strong in faith, believes that his individual soul, one among thousands of billions rising from this planet, which also is one among thousands of millions of planets, will be welcome, worthy of special attention, when it arrives at its destination.

DIFFERENT MEN and Countries have different troubles. Prosperous citizens are worrying because India, which ordinarily collects and hoards silver, threatens to continue selling millions of ounces of silver. The mere suggestion caused a big drop in silver's value not long ago and worries mine owners.

That being the case, government will take notice and help if it can. Wheat drops every little while and farmers worry, but everybody is used to that.

IN CITIES PEOPLE go crazy more frequently than they once did. Excitement, bootleg liquor and other things help. In New York state one person in every 25 has been in the insane asylum, according to the American psychiatric association.

MR. HAYWARD Kendall, who represents unorganized drinkers that ought to be saved from themselves, says: "The eighteenth amendment is saving America (in cash expenditures) and increased efficiency) from six to eight billion dollars a year."

THE NATION'S Purchasing power has certainly increased since prohibition came. In 1919 there was in America 6,000,000 automobiles. Now there are 22,000,000, and not enough. The country spends half a billion a year on radio, many millions for washing machines, vacuum cleaners, electric refrigerators. Workers in America spend more lavishly than the rich in Europe.

MR. KENDALL thinks it would be a national calamity if the out-pouring of money were diverted from automobiles and radio to wine and beer.

PRESIDENT VINSON Tells young people of Western Reserve University that no conflict exists between science and religion; they occupy different fields. He wisely remarks that science, without religion, would lead to hopeless materialism.

RELIGION and science are like astrology and astronomy, or like alchemy and chemistry.

ASTRONOMY STARTED in astrology, chemistry started in alchemy, with experimenters seeking to make gold.

SIR HUMPHREY Rolleston tells the British medical association that in long-drawn mummies of Egypt he finds signs of gout, tuberculosis, and pyorrhea. Scallan mummy feet, shrunken teeth tell the story.

SCIENCE PROGRESSES

Two college professors have recently spoken on the present dispute between the fundamentalists and the advocates of evolution, each trying to bring the warring elements together, and each arguing that they are not far apart.

Prof. Henry C. Cowles of the University of Chicago contends that the fundamentalists are "evolutionists at heart" as they hold, as most anthropologists do, that the present various races of mankind came from a single pair and that the white, black, brown and yellow races have a common ancestry.

If these disputants would remember that evolution is either true and a fact in nature, or it is not, and that man's belief concerning it will not alter the fact they might decide that belief after all is comparatively unimportant and be willing to hold their own beliefs and let the other fellow follow the same course. They can't alter the truth by argument or legislation.

Sacco And Vanzetti Are Doomed To Die In Chair Tonight

(continued from page one) person decides he has the power and duty to allow it to go. Today we are to put the bill into final shape, which means that it will be written out and proper exhibits (affidavits) attached. We expect to see Justice Sanderson tomorrow and obtain his decision. I have been asked to come to the council meeting at the state house. Mr. Reading has shown me every courtesy."

STATE'S PRISON, BOSTON, Aug. 10. —(INS)—Nicola Sacco, near to a state of collapse in his death cell, today balked efforts to bring his case to the United States District Court.

Week-end sullen Sacco looked up at Attorney M. A. Musmanno and Alfonso Gagliano and said "They have crucified me for seven years and I will not give them another chance."

Sacco continued to refuse to sign an application for a writ of habeas corpus.

Vanzetti signed the application but told the lawyers that he considered his case and that of Sacco hopeless. He added there was a faint ray of hope that the United States courts might give him and Sacco justice.

It was understood that the application could not be filed without the signature of Sacco.

Doctor Joseph McLaughlin, prison physician, visited Sacco and Vanzetti in their death cells today. They thanked him for his kindness to them and bade him "farewell."

The two prison chaplains waited all the forenoon for a call from the prisoners but when none came they left the institution.

Regardless of the action of the Sacco-Vanzetti case, however, indications were that Celestino Madoiros, slayer of an aged Wrentham bank cashier, would be executed a few minutes after midnight. Madoiros "confessed" that the slaying of a South Braintree paymaster and his guard—a crime for which Sacco and Vanzetti were convicted—was engineered by Rhode Island gangsters and that Sacco and Vanzetti were not involved. His statement lacked confirmation and was branded a "fake" by Governor Fuller. The New Bedford man already has had five reprieves and two trials.

Abandoning all hope, Sacco and Vanzetti in their death cells at state prison were ready to die. Sacco entered the 25th day of his hunger strike and Vanzetti joined him in refusing food. Both men continue to assert their innocence claiming that they were being "railroaded" because of their radical beliefs.

"They remain courageous and feel they are dying for a principle," said Attorney William G. Thompson, former head of the defense legal forces, who visited them, he said, "on the ground of humanity."

Sacco and Vanzetti were very weak because of their self-imposed fast but Madoiros ate heartily and spent much time in sleep.

At the state house it was said that there was no doubt in the mind of Governor Fuller as to the guilt of Sacco and Vanzetti and the fairness of their trial. He was said to be of the opinion that the law should take its course without further delay—that there had been enough delay already.

Orlando Man Wins One Of $5 Prizes Offered By Oil Co.

F. C. Tate of Orlando is one of the eight winners in the Purul and Tioleone epigram contest being staged in Florida by the Seaboard Oil Company. This announcement was made today by officials of the company who gave M. Tate $5 for the following epigram: "So softer than velvet, yet toughened for toil; two prominent features of Tioleone oil."

The announcement stated that all that is necessary to win one of the prizes of $5 is to write a witty statement, compose a little verse, or draw a picture that tells in the shortest and crispest manner why use Purul gasoline and Tioleone motor oil and why other motorists are sent to the Seaboard Oil Company at Jacksonville and if it is published a check for $5 will be mailed to the author.

To gain an idea as to the type of epigrams being selected as winners consult the columns of this paper where advertisements quoting the winning witticisms and verses appear regularly.

Other winners this month were: "There ain't no cause to worry and there ain't no cause to frown when it's Tioleone that's making your auto's wheels go 'round" submitted by Mrs. C. C. Cook, 1209 Park Avenue, Sanford.

"A wise old owl sat on a limb and all the folks applauded 'him, for he had said 'It's plainly seen wise men all buy Purul gasoline,'" Roylston Markham, P. O. Box 1214, St. Petersburg.

"The road to motor happiness lies through the portals of a filling station dispensing Purul gasoline and Tioleone oil"—Mrs. Sue L. Townson, 966 E. Court Street, Gainesville.

"Purul's like a college flapper perfectly refined but full of pep" Miss Mildred Myrick Callahan.

"Use Purul and Tioleone and you won't have to watch the rest of the world, go by"—Rose Ueker, Stuart.

"Pouring oil on troubled waters isn't half so effective as pouring Tioleone in a grouchy motor"—Miss Alberta Selter, 258 Riverside Avenue, Jacksonville.

"Up hills, tough hills, or just around the town, Purul gasoline you'll find will never let you down" Mrs. Edna Barber, Ocala.

Before Harold Bell Wright entered the ministry and began writing novels he was a carpenter. Being also a fisherman and having his estate near Tucson, Ariz., a long way from the water, Wright designed and built the water diver shown above. He uses an outboard motor when chasing the finches, and he chases them all over. He takes the boat with him wherever he goes, and first launched it in the Gulf of California.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Hayden explains that he learned his lesson very early in the game. He was elected to the House 16 years ago. For a whole month he kept perfectly still. Then one day up came some legislation affecting forest conservation. Hayden, Arizona's only congressman thought he knew something about forests and forest fires and, under the five-minute rule, undertook to compress what he knew into a measly little five-minute speech.

No sooner had he finished than former Congressman W. J. Talbot of South Carolina, an old Confederate veteran, came over to him and said in kindly tones:

"Well, I see you finally had to make a speech. Every young fellow here feels he has to get into the Record. I'll give you a tip. It's easy to get into the Record, but it's mighty hard to get out."

Hayden says he has always remembered the advice and threatens to be the silent sphynx of the next session in the Senate.

Barkley recently returned from a Chautauque tour through Texas, Florida, New Mexico and California, during which he spoke at one-night stands on public questions of current interest. Apparently he is not unduly impressed by the dignity of his new job. Here's one of the stories he told his audience:

A school teacher in a District of Columbia school, handling a class in government, asked a pupil "How is Congress composed?"

"It's composed of the Senate," replied the bright boy.

"Isn't there a lower body than the Senate?"

"There certainly is not."

CLERMONT — Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company to open branch store in Clermont.

MT. PLYMOUTH — New apartment house being erected here at cost of $35,000.

---a personal message to Sanford merchants

Does stagnation reign when you lock your store?

Does your business "stand still" during the night hours?

Do your sales stop when your salesmen start for home?

Locked doors shouldn't mean suspension of merchandising.

Your salesmen cannot visit people at their homes in the evening; but you CAN send your efficient "personal representative" into the homes and to the very people you wish to reach.

How? The evening newspaper will carry your message and promote sales six nights every week.

Build tomorrow's sales through your advertising message in the evening newspaper which your customers read every night.

The evening newspaper works at night for you while your store is closed.

The evening newspaper is the best insurance against a dull business day tomorrow.

Reach the right people at the right hour through the right newspaper by advertising regularly in

AN ARTIST IN OILS

He can never put in his own dinner studs—or select a modest muffler—or carry a tune. But what a delicious French Dressing he mixes!

With what consummate ease he trickles in the oil! With what artistry he flicks in the seasoning! What close harmony in his blending!

For a mild dressing he uses three parts of Wesson Oil to one of vinegar or lemon juice. When he wants a little more tang he uses more vinegar—two parts perhaps. The proportions of Wesson Oil and vinegar depend largely on the strength of his particular vinegar or lemon juice. In addition to salt and pepper he often adds a dash of paprika.

And just to mystify his guests he sometimes mixes in a bit of Chili sauce or a little mustard sauce for green salads—or tart currant jelly sometimes for salads of fruit. His French Dressing is always a delightful surprise and because it is freshly blended, it is much more appetizing.

He is very particular about his salad oil. Wesson Oil he finds very delicate in flavor. It is light in color and blends perfectly. It is, in fact, exactly what he wants.

Everybody likes Wesson Oil because it is good for you as well as good to eat.

Favorable Conditions were An Asset To Bobby Jones Winning English Tourney

By International News Service
NEW YORK, Aug. 10. (INS)—Bobby Jones, accepted by America as the world's greatest golfer, is taken at his own word—"lucky"—insofar as his winning the British Open Golf Championship this year goes.

Jones is given due credit for splendid golf, but American golfing writers agree that Jones played under favorable conditions at St. Andrews.

George Trevor, one of the best known golfing writers in New York, points out that Jones had the rare chance of playing a tournament at St. Andrews without the usual heavy winds. "St. Andrews without its winds is not a difficult course," Trevor believes. He also holds that the British competitors would have been less handicapped by winds than Jones would have.

Trevor also believes that Jones was lucky in fighting this tournament against a field that was not fast as the field he met in the American Open Championship this year. He believes that the British golfers who played in both the American and British open displayed better form than in America than they did in St. Andrews. In fact, Trevor thinks that Jones had the advantage of never being greatly pressed.

Jones played excellent golf at St. Andrews but the experts think he did not display his finest golf, notwithstanding the fact that he set a new world record for low score in any tournament. No one is claiming to scorn Jones' victory, but there is a good deal of comment that it was an easy victory. That is the way with America, we expect our heroes to not only be a super-human but to be super-man plus.

The record Bobby Jones set up this year probably will stand for a long time, yet in locker rooms every where you can hear the comment, "Yes, but the going was easy."

California Ranchers Waging War With Los Angeles People Over Water Rights

LONE PINE, Cal., Aug. 10. (INS)—A twenty-year war is being waged in California.

Owens valley ranchers, feeling themselves defrauded when the city of Los Angeles, with its thirst inhabitants, ran a cement aqueduct, 200 miles to tap the water resources of Inyo county, have vented their dissatisfaction in a long series of outrages upon the Los Angeles canal. Sabotage of the aqueduct, upon which one million residents depend for water, has been constant.

Only within the past three years have the ranchers resorted to high explosives. In that period ten attempts have been made to blast out a section of the long canal and to spill the city's water over the countryside.

Prepared for an emergency, the Los Angeles water commission has posted an armed guard along the canal. In retaliation, the ranchers have organized a "shotgun patrol." With both camps armed and with efforts to settle the feud apparently fruitless, officials here fear an armed clash may some time occur with heavy loss of life.

The water commission has been forced to build a system of reservoirs below the dynamiting sector. These reservoirs, holding a 90-day supply of water assure a temporary water reserve if the "right rick" are successful in blowing out the canal.

Gov. C. C. Young has announced himself in favor of arbitrating the claims of the ranchers, and he is now considering ways and means of settling the ancient and savage California "water war."

Bomb Wrecks Subway Station

One man was killed and a number were injured when a mysterious bomb wrecked the Broadway-28th street subway station in New York City. This shows the wreckage after the blast, with police and firemen exploring the debris.

Leads Strike

When the gas company in Wichita, Kas., decided to raise its rates, the city's Federation of Women's Clubs, headed by Mrs. John Maltbie (above) called a gas strike. A day was set aside to keep the ranges idle, and a survey showed that 75 per cent of Wichita's 20,000 homes burned no gas for 24 hours. Now housewives have decided to make every Tuesday this summer a gasless day.

Philadelphia Church Bombed
