Parker Announces 'State Of Legal War' Over Smoking Issue

By JEAN PATTESON Herald Staff Writer

A declaration by Sanford resident Merle E. Parker that a "state of legal war" existed between himself and Seminole County school officials, was countered Wednesday night by School Board Atty. Douglas Stenstrom, who said he would defend the board against Parker's claims that minors were smoking illegally in county schools.

Included in a six-page presentation, Parker made a variety of accusations and insinuations against school teachers, principals, superintendent and the school board.

"That's implied," he told Leyer, "but don't ask the question yet."

Stenstrom continued that he was preparing some motions on Parker's suit. "We will defend the suit," said the attorney, adding that he believed school officials have the right to establish smoking areas on school campuses. He also said 18-year-olds have the right to smoke.

He advised Leyer that school principals should inform students under 18 that they would be subject to disciplinary rules if they were found smoking at school.

"At no time did the board or I agree there would be no smoking areas," Stenstrom continued. "The school officials had the power to prohibit smoking in lavatories, but could restrict 18-year-olds to smoking elsewhere."

After the meeting, amid reactions from school officials ranging from outrage to amusement, Leyer commented that "this thing has gone on long enough." He said it was time to settle the matter in court.

"He (Parker) must be made to put up, or shut up," said Leyer.

State Atty. Abbott Herring, in a letter dated March 9, said he was "in complete disagreement with Mr. Parker regarding the designated smoking areas."

Herring recommended Leyer for setting up the areas, which he said, if properly regulated for 18-year-old students only, can be a powerful deterrent and factor in the control of marijuana smoking.

"A student that is over the age of 18 is legally permitted to smoke. In my opinion you can lawfully control where he shall smoke," said Parker.

Interviews For Top County Post Are Scheduled Friday

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

Friday is D-Day for interviews for Seminole County government's new $25,000-a-year executive assistant.

Bob Ellis, the commission's acting administrative assistant, confirmed today interviews for four applicants are scheduled.

The applicants' names were kept "secret" because some commissioners felt publishing them would drive away qualified persons.

However, last week the names were revealed. Interviewing Friday will be Robert Sampson, a 27-year-old assistant county manager from Charlottesville, Va.; MacLaren Peace, a 33-year-old former city manager and Roger Neiswender, Seminole County's 30-year-old director of public works.

The fourth applicant asked that his name not be released, but he presently resides out of state, is 34, and is employed as a county administrator.

Commissioner Richard Williams has already made it known that he is going to be angry if the person hired doesn't work out. Controversial from the first, the assistant first was known as the "Rose," because that was the name assigned after commissioners couldn't agree on a title.

Management Consultant E.H. Underwood came up with the title executive assistant.

The executive assistant could become very powerful. He could do that by keeping his job while elected commissioners come and go.

Or, the composition of the board could change in November, and the position could conceivably be abolished.

Whatever happens the assistant will be up front and on the firing line. To survive he must be a capable politician, as well as administrator.

Most counties as large as Seminole have a top administrator. Generally, he is called county administrator or manager.

Candidates for the county commission could easily latch on to the executive assistant as a campaign issue. They could promise taxpayers a fulltime commissioner — and claim an assistant isn't needed.

And if Kimbrough and Williams already oppose the position, one additional vote is all that would be required.

A job depends, really, on the applicant chosen for the job.

If he pleases Republican commissioners, he is sure to stay.

If the final choice is displeasing they might make their displeasure known after elections in November.

Stone Street Residents Denied Courtesy Busing

A request from a group of Stone Street (near Grybo) residents for courtesy busing for their 13 children was denied by the Seminole County School Board Wednesday night on the grounds the area did not qualify under the board's new courtesy busing policy and that there was no safe turn-around at the end of Stone Street.

School Supt. William P. Lauer said he had surveyed the area using procedures under a new system adopted by the board last week.

Also using the point system to make independent surveys of the Stone Street area were Fred Taylor, director of federal programs; Sgt. Beau Taylor of the Sanford Police Department; and Carmen Hall, representative of the busing committee, County Wide Advisory Committee.

The average of the four surveys was 34 points in favor of courtesy busing for the area — 16 points short of the required 50 points for granting courtesy busing.

"One of our main complaints is that elementary school age children must walk one mile through a heavily wooded area, and Sgt. Taylor never even saw this part of the road until after his evaluation was made," said Turner. "The major point of our complaint was not taken into account."

He claimed the sergeant told him, he would not allow his own children to walk through the wooded area alone.

Ms. Hall replied that in a discussion with Sgt. Taylor, Taylor qualified this statement with the fact that he would feel responsible for taking his children to the bus stop, or arrange to have them taken.

Turner told the board that County Commission Chairman Mike Hattaway had inspected Stone Street on Monday, and had told Turner it was in no worse shape than any other dirt road in the county.

Some improvements had been made to the road by the county, and more work was scheduled, said Turner. He maintained that there was enough space for a bus to make a three-point turn at the end of Stone Street. Fred Taylor replied that "there is not, at this point, a safe turn-around."

Taylor told the board it was policy to deny courtesy busing to students who lived within one and a half miles of a bus stop, unless there were hazards exceeding 50 points when evaluated by the point system. He urged the board to abide by the policy guidelines.

Lauer also recommended to the board that they deny the request for courtesy busing.

Board member Allan Keeth requested that prior to the establishment of bus routes for the 1976-77 school year, the question of busing for Stone Street be reviewed in relation to courtesy busing along other spur roads that were less than one and a half miles from a bus stop but presented no real hazards to students traveling them.

Turner said the Stone Street residents had anticipated the board's refusal to provide busing, and said the parents would submit claims to cover the cost of transporting their children down Stone Street to the bus stop.

In other action, the school board tentatively approved the low bid of $178,847 from Agard Jurgens Inc. of Orlando for additions to Bear Lake Elementary School, and the low bid of $113,600 from Reginald N. Williams Construction Co., Winter Park, for additions to Pincrest Elementary School.

The board instructed Lauer to proceed to a July 15 deadline for submission of bids on medical and life insurance proposals. Lauer was told not to actively seek bids on general insurance, but to study any proposals made voluntarily by insurance firms.

Pollution Warnings Requested

Due to alleged pollution, Seminole County Environmental Services Director Bill Dale is recommending posting warning signs to advise swimmers and skiers of possible dangers at one area lake and possibly a second.

Though Dale asked the county commission on Tuesday to initiate a countywide posting system, no action was taken.

The issue stated after Commission Chairman Michael Hattaway and Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski refused Dale's request. The request was favored by Commissioners Richard Williams and John Kimbrough.

Dale says Lake Howell — a 106-acre body of water South of Casselberry — is presently at the "danger level" because of pollution to the water caused by a Maitland sewage plant which "spills into the water."

A second lake which Dale says may soon reach what he terms "danger level" is Lake Orienta, a 129-acre chain of lakes in Altamonte Springs.

At Lake Orienta, problems result from storm runoff into the lakes, according to Dale.

Dale will know for certain what the bacteria level is at the two lakes when equipment used to run tests arrives here in two or three weeks.

Board Completes Election Canvass

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

A board composed of County Commission Chairman Michael Hattaway, County Court Judge Wallace Hall and Seminole Supervisor of Elections Camilla Bruce completed the canvass of Tuesday's presidential preference primary Wednesday afternoon.

The canvass showed that 58.5 per cent — 24,963 (including 457 absentee) — of Seminole County's 42,442 eligible voters cast ballots in the election. The turnout four years ago was a shade higher at 59 per cent. Mrs. Bruce had predicted a 60 per cent turnout.

Official results gave the following totals:

In the Democratic presidential primary, Birch Bayh 50; Arthur O. Hiesatt 127; Robert C. Byrd 122; Jimmy Carter 5698; Frank Church 49; Fred R. Harris 78; Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson 2479; Ellen McCormack 82; Milton J. Shapp 279; Sargent Shriver 90; Morris K. Udall 254; George C. Wallace 4310 and no preference 627.

Statewide the results came out in similar fashion with Carter first, Wallace second and Jackson third.

In the Republican presidential primary, Gerald R. Ford received 5126 votes, and Ronald Reagan received 5439.

Statewide, President Ford won the primary.

In the special election on the proposed constitutional amendment authorizing and limiting local taxes for water management purposes to not more than one mill — For the Amendment 9,533 and Against the Amendment 11,210.

The amendment passed statewide.

On the Seminole County referendum of whether the county government will find it hard to believe it ever survived without its executive assistant.

The decision on the final selection is scheduled for Tuesday. All along two commissioners — John Kimbrough and Williams — have opposed creation of the position.

But it was recommended by Underwood, and Commission Chairman Michael Hattaway and Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski pushed for its creation.

What will happen when the board's composition changes in November is anybody's guess.

Hattaway and Williams both are up for reelection. And the assistant's third advocate — Sid Vilhen Jr. — will not seek another term.

NATION IN BRIEF

Eastland Aide Fired In 1968 Espionage Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI investigated espionage charges in 1968 against one of Sen. James O. Eastland's aides who subsequently admitted furnishing information to Soviet agents and was fired, according to two knowledgeable sources.

The FBI tried to use the man as a double agent who would maintain his contacts with the Soviets in order to gather information for the FBI, the sources said Wednesday.

But that plan was abandoned because FBI agents concluded the man was unreliable, said the sources. He was never prosecuted. Both sources are familiar with the case; one is a former FBI intelligence official.

The FBI also investigated two of its own agents suspected of passing secret information to hostile foreign spies in the 1950s, the former official said.

Storm Threatens Plains

A winter storm threatened the northern portions of the Rockies and Great Plains this morning. Some light snow fell over North Dakota and there was rain with some snow in the higher elevations in northern Idaho and northwestern Montana. Snow was expected to become more widespread today as the storm developed.

Legislative Delegation Okays Downtown Bill

Legislation to permit the creation of a Sanford Downtown Improvement Authority has been approved by the Seminole County Legislative Delegation.

Thomas McDonald, a member of the board of the Downtown Development Corp. and chairman of the delegation's legislative action committee, said today the next step is having the legislation approved in its final form by the delegation, adding that the delegation has agreed to submit the "bill" in the Florida House of Representatives and the Senate for passage.

No decision has yet been made on when the referendum of the property owners in Sanford will be held, McDonald said today. The organization wishes, he said, to have it held at the most convenient and economical time, which he assumes will be during the city's December general election.

McDonald, a former state legislator, said the legislation will create the authority to be appointed by the Sanford City Commission. The authority will have taxing powers in the freeholders (property owners) in the affected area.

He noted that during a meeting of the Downtown Sanford property owners and tenants last December, responses were favorable. McDonald also invited all property owners in the Downtown Sanford area to become acquainted with the objectives and desires of the organization.

The objectives, McDonald said, are to recruit new business for Downtown Sanford, the training of both management and employees in good business methods, general promotion of the Downtown area and improvement of the appearance of Downtown structures under a designated theme.

Pollution Warnings Are Requested

(Continued from Page 1-A) dictations "of possibilities of fecal material, sewage or human waste," according to Douglas Cowan, chief operator of the county's utility system.

"Just because it (bacteria count) is high doesn't mean you are going to get something — but chances of that are better than in clean water," Cowan said. Tests for nutrient levels have been run already and Dale says results aren't promising. He said water quality at both lakes "can't get better" until something is done to relieve factors which caused the pollution.

Nutrient tests reveal "several organic overloads," Dale said. He said if bacteria counts are abnormal he will ask the commission to close the lakes. Lake Howell and Lake Orienta are the "problem lakes" in the county, Dale said.

Kimbrogh today was miffed at the commission's refusal to grant Dale permission to post warning signs.

"I feel when you have a body of water that represents a potential health hazard, well, then you are a damned fool not to warn people about it," Kimbrogh said.

"A high bacteric count could present a health hazard. So we're going to keep it a secret and let everybody get sick. You ought to post it," he added.

Williams agreed that Dale should be granted the permission.

At Tuesday's meeting, Kimbrogh said he opposed the program because only biologists or persons with scientific knowledge would be able to understand the signs.

And Hattaway said it was his understanding the state is responsible for testing for pollution. He said it is the state's responsibility, also, to post the signs. This work done by the county is a duplication of efforts, Hattaway said.

Williams agreed that Kimbrogh's statements about not being able to understand the signs, "Ninety nine per cent of the people would be able to understand the signs," Kimbrogh said.

If the system gets commission approval, Dale said signs would read: "Warning, Extremely High Bacteria Count."

The reason for signs, Dale said, is to warn people about the water.

Orange County has a posting system.

Wekiva Question Gets Shot In Arm

Florida Attorney General Robert Shevin, after an inquiry by Representative Vince Fecthel, a member of Seminole's legislative delegation, Shevin ruled that state trust fund money could be spent to determine the boundaries of state-owned land in the Wekiva basin.

Director of the Florida Department of Natural Resources Harmon Shields, who controls the trust fund money, had said earlier that it could not be spent on a boundary survey because Florida boundaries of state property must be determined.

All the squatters' shacks must be removed from the river before the Wekiva is eligible for environmental protection under Florida's scenic and wild rivers program.

Shevin's opinion says "The expenses of determining boundaries would appear to be most necessary and prudent under the circumstances in order to protect and preserve state lands."

Fumigant Blamed In Evacuation

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Approximately 250 guests at the Days Inn motel and restaurant, SR-46 and I-4 west of Sanford, were evacuated Wednesday night by sheriff's deputies and county firemen after fumes from a soil fumigant used on a field nearby, filled the motel and restaurant.

Firemen said the evacuation was a safety precaution until they could use detection devices to determine that the fumes, which had apparently entered the building via air conditioning systems, were not combustible.

Motel officials called in the firemen after guests started complaining of eye irritation and headaches, deputies said. Deputy J. F. Bennett said deputies and firemen knocked on doors of 120 rooms at the motel and evacuated guests to the perimeter of the parking lot where they stayed for nearly an hour after the 7:15 p.m. report on the fume-filled buildings.

Firemen said the guests returned to their rooms and the restaurant after the fumes dispersed and the source of the fumes was determined to be a field on the south side of SR-46, across from the motel, that had been sprayed with soil fumigant three hours before.

Harold H. Kastner, owner of Kastner Produce, Sanford, said the soil fumigant, identified as Vorlex, is non-toxic unless ingested, but is an irritant. The chemical, he said, was being used to stop nematodes and weeds in the field in preparation to plant peppers.

Wednesday was the first time that the fumigant had been applied to the field near the motel, but that it has been used for years in other fields in the Sanford area.

Kastner said the fumigation of the field would continue today.

He said that emergency crews at first thought the fumes were coming from a tank mounted on a tractor at a barn in the field but discovered that the tank had been washed out with water after the fumigant had been applied to the field.

Out of Gas, Lack of an escape from the Orange County Correctional Institute ran out of gas and out of luck Wednesday on I-4 at Lake Mary.

Price reported he noticed Fred Lee Leewood, 41, Lake Butler, walking on the Interstate highway. Lenwood said the auto he was driving had run out of gas and he was walking to a service station to obtain fuel.

Price said a routine computer check on Lenwood revealed he was an escapee and he was arrested and held without bond in county jail for Orange County authorities.

Williams jailed, deputies killed Daniel Warren Williams, 33, of Zellwood, in lieu of $5,000 bond on a circuit court warrant charging uttering a forged check.

Held On $15,000 Bond David Dockery, 25, of New York City, was being held in lieu of $15,000 bond today in county jail after being arrested Wednesday by sheriff's detectives on a charge of receiving stolen property.

Trucks Entered Sanford police today were investigating the theft of items valued at $850 from trucks parked at Sanford Truck Service, 700 French Ave.

Larry Blaha and Eric Fields, both of Sanford, told officers items stolen when the trucks were burglarized included tools, tape player speakers, a radio, antennas, clothing, cigarettes, $12 in change and a fire extinguisher.

Smoking Issue Boils Over

Parker contended that on March 1, 1976, at Seminole High School, he found "not less than 30 students around the flagpole smoking cigarettes, most of whom were 16 to 17 years old."

That same afternoon, he filed suit for injunction in circuit court.

Parker claims he was told last Friday by Seminole High School Principal Don Reynolds, that "no smoking" signs were put up on campus shortly after a memo was received from Layer, but that Reynolds said he had never enforced the no smoking rule, nor did he intend to do so.

Reynolds said today that he and his staff abide by the School Board's policy and that they do not enforce the no smoking rule before and after school or at lunch times, for students 16 years of age and older, in specially designated areas.

"Handling it this way, we've had less smoking than ever before," said Reynolds. "Out of 1,800 students, you rarely see more than 20 smoking."

Reynolds said that Parker demanded the police be called

Harts Quit: Too Costly To Remain Open

LONGWOOD — Hasley Hart locked up his Longwood 66 Servcenter for the last time Friday night, moving his remaining property out of the gasoline station at the southwest corner of U.S. 17-92 and SR-434 Saturday, ending a three-month long fight to stay in business.

"I could continue to win the battles, but lose the war," Hart said Friday, saying he could not afford the legal fees necessary to fight Seminole Petroleum's move to shut him from the facility.

"I won one court fight, but apparently the company has planned to continue to attack and I was scheduled to be back in court Monday," Hart said. "There was no way to continue paying attorney fees."

"It is survival of the fittest," he said, noting that Seminole Petroleum has offered to buy back the stock he had purchased for the station. Hart said the new operator will open the doors at the servcenter for business Monday.

In early January, Hart and his wife, Evelyn, vowed to operate for five years until the sheriff's Department physically evicted them.

"But, I cannot take it any longer," Hart said Friday.

Hart said in January that the distributor insisted as a condition of extending the lease that Hart pay for the price of gasoline to customers by five cents per gallon, absorbing four of the five cents lost. "We are barely meeting the payroll now," Mrs. Hart said.

They were scheduled to leave today (Wednesday) but now it's just kind of an open-ended thing," said Harris Lydon, vice president for corporate sales. "It's the kind of a meeting that comes and goes at it please."

Reception Aids Barron

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Senate President Dempsey Barron, D-Panama City, got a little help from his friends at a Feb. 9 reception in his honor — $38,959 worth.

The Senate leader, reporting Wednesday on proceeds of the 283-head affair, listed $46,185 in contributions and $28 in expenditures.

He reported 831 contributors, mainly special interests who may be expected to assure this spring up past or kill bills that affect them. The interests included bankers, insurance officials, doctors, contractors, liquor dealers and bail bondsmen.

Cabinet Delays Decision

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — After clearing four General Services Department officials who were under a legislative cloud, the Cabinet has reached the heart of the case on dismissal of the agency's chief — huge overpayments for land purchases under the Capitol.

The Cabinet Wednesday night delayed a decision until today when to fire or retain Building Construction Director Albert Bass. The decision was put off so the Cabinet could consider Bass at the same time as General Services Director Jack Kane.

"I don't think we can separate them," Comptroller Gerald Lewis said after four hours of testimony on Bass' ouster. "I want to know who's responsible in this outfit."

Security Guards Hired

TALLAHASSEE (AP) The Department of Commerce has hired security guards to protect warehouses that cannot be locked, an official says.

Agency officials acted Wednesday after it was reported that $100,000 worth of office supplies were vulnerable to theft or rain damage because a jammed overhead door could not be locked.

E. Hayes, the department's support services director, said the agency has contracted with a Tallahassee security firm to provide guards at night and on weekends at a cost of about $335 a week.

Death Sentence Possible

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Clayton Simpson of Delray Beach faces a possible death sentence after being convicted of killing a policeman in 1974.

Asst. State Atty. Carl Harpman of West Palm Beach was expected to argue for execution today before the Duval County Circuit Court jury that convicted Simpson, 19, on first-degree murder charges Wednesday.

Presiding Judge William Lamar Rose will not be bound by the panel's sentencing recommendation.

Court Rules On Insurance

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Insurance payments awarded by juries to drivers in major auto accidents must be offset by the amount of damages they cause, the Florida Supreme Court says.

But the 4-2 decision handed down on Wednesday applied only to major accidents when juries determine both parties were partly responsible, not to lesser accidents covered by no-fault auto insurance.

Insurance companies are required by the no-fault law to settle less serious accidents without regard to who was at fault or whether both parties shared in the responsibility.

Askew Analyzes Primary

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew has analyzed the Florida presidential primary as "a great victory" for former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter and a "surprisingly strong" showing for Sen. Henry Jackson.

But Askew's assessment Wednesday of Carter's victory was qualified, and he apparently intended to downplay any significance in light of his own determination.

"With the closeness of the vote... and with proportional representation, I don't think this is significant as great as it would have been under the winner-take-all system," Askew said in an interview.

Official To Defend Budget

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Secretary William J. Page of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services says he's ready to respond to lawmakers who have attacked his budget requests and charged that his department is lighthearted with bureaucrats.

Page promised a House appropriations subcommittee Wednesday detailed responses today to all of the issues it has raised in more than two weeks of budget hearings.

Page was criticized last week by Chairman Earl Dixon, D-Jacksonville, for talking at an order to cut his personal staff in half.

Panama City Oil Talks Continue Amid Speculation

PANAMA CITY (AP) — Talks leading to nationalization of the Arabian-American Oil Co., the world's largest oil-production firm, are still in progress with only speculation to indicate when they may end.

Since the service is denied to some residents of the community, Anderson said, "I would like to see us do away with free trash collection."

Councilman Gerard Connell urged that the franchise be placed out for bids if the city plans to take this course.

In other action, council: The two freshman members of the council began squabbling over the vehicle in January after Goldberg pushed through a motion to council approval placing the old humane office truck under the police department contract.

Goldberg said at the time that a police officer was willing to do the work at no cost to the city on his own time.

The next week, Anderson reported back to the board that repairs had been accomplished by the public works department before the transfer to the police department and that public works needed the vehicle.

"What's the catch?" Councilman Parker Anderson responded.

Water Department Gets Vehicle

LONGWOOD — A city-owned van that has traveled from Longwood to department for the past six weeks and has been the subject of barbs between two councilmen has finally found a home — the city water department.

The city council on a motion by Councilman Lawrence Goldberg which was unanimously approved this week, has transferred control of the van to the water department from use by the police department as a "surveillance" vehicle.

Judge Presents Program To Streamline Justice

Dade County Circuit Court Judge Harvie S. DuVal, candidate for a Florida Supreme Court judgeship in the Sept. 7 non-partisan primary election, is presenting a program by which the state's high court can "bring law closer to the people."

He said the program would achieve more uniformity in judge's decisions, provide faster, less expensive justice, and reaffirm public confidence in the courts and the law.

Points listed by DuVal include: — Reduction of time in disposing of cases on appeal again to speed cases to the benefit of litigants and attorneys and to reduce costs.

— Greater effort to involve more trial judges and attorneys in the process of developing court rules and procedures.

— Clearer liaison between Florida's Supreme Court and Legislature to assist the Legislature in eliminating ineffective and unnecessary laws and recommending amendments to pre-empt laws that the courts have come in contact with.

DuVal is also recommending a speed-up in Bar Association procedure concerning attorneys accused of misappropriation of clients' money or other serious criminal or unethical conduct, resulting from the attorney-client relationship.

He said under current procedures an attorney may not be found guilty or cleared for a year or two — sometimes longer.

He recommends that all cases where a complaint is made to the Florida Bar against an attorney, which, if true, would be a violation of the criminal law, be promptly referred to the state attorney for him to investigate and publicly prosecute if the complaint is found justified.

He also recommends that when a formal charge is made against an attorney alleging embezzlement or misappropriation of his client's funds that he be immediately suspended from the practice of law and upon conviction be disbarred.

Judge DuVal is urging that prosecutions by Florida Bar of attorneys charged with criminal violations be made public when probable cause has been found and a formal charge made.

Longwood Council Hears Water Cut-Off Controversy

LONGWOOD — The issue of whether the city should give notice before water service is discontinued for lack of payment, much discussed over the past several years, came to the fore again this week.

Robert Gelm, a city homeowner and water user, appeared before the board asking that a $5 late charge and $10 cut-off fee be reimbursed. He said the U.S. post office failed to deliver a check for his $3.85 monthly water bill, was discontinued.

Freshman Councilman Parker Anderson took the battle for notices to be sent or at least telephone calls be made to water system subscribers before service is cut off.

Gelm said he was a "victim of circumstances" and that an "injustice" had been done. He said he promptly paid by U.S. mail his water bill last month and without notice the service was discontinued.

City officials said, however, Gelm's check had not been received. "I mailed the check in plenty of time. I cannot be responsible for the postal system," Gelm said, pointing to his past record of prompt payment. He showed his check book which recorded the check to members of council, adding that the check has not cleared the bank and the mail has not been returned to him.

Longwood Council Considers Franchise Trash Collection Proposal Under Study

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The city council has tabled, for one week's study, a proposal by Samuel Hodge of H and W Garbage Service to free city trash collection by stopping in favor of the city granting an exclusive franchise for the collection of both garbage and trash.

Noting that the city service costs $28,000 annually in tax money, Hodge said his firm already is picking up garbage and trash for 40 per cent of the city and that many city residents do not have garbage collection, depending on trash collection alone.

Councilman Parker Anderson insisted that Lake Ruth South, where he lives does not receive the service. From Kerb, president of the Skylark Homeowners Association, said his development also is not receiving the service.

Since the service is denied to some residents of the community, Anderson said, "I would like to see us do away with free trash collection."

Councilman Gerard Connell urged that the franchise be placed out for bids if the city plans to take this course.

Reception Aids Barron

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Senate President Dempsey Barron, D-Panama City, got a little help from his friends at a Feb. 9 reception in his honor — $38,959 worth.

The Senate leader, reporting Wednesday on proceeds of the 283-head affair, listed $46,185 in contributions and $28 in expenditures.

He reported 831 contributors, mainly special interests who may be expected to assure this spring up past or kill bills that affect them. The interests included bankers, insurance officials, doctors, contractors, liquor dealers and bail bondsmen.

Cabinet Delays Decision

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — After clearing four General Services Department officials who were under a legislative cloud, the Cabinet has reached the heart of the case on dismissal of the agency's chief — huge overpayments for land purchases under the Capitol.

The Cabinet Wednesday night delayed a decision until today when to fire or retain Building Construction Director Albert Bass. The decision was put off so the Cabinet could consider Bass at the same time as General Services Director Jack Kane.

"I don't think we can separate them," Comptroller Gerald Lewis said after four hours of testimony on Bass' ouster. "I want to know who's responsible in this outfit."

Canada's Trudeau Isn't Neighborly

A committee of the Canadian Senate has identified 32 different "problem areas" in relations between Canada and the United States of America. The length of the list surprised U.S. officials, even those who have been noting a deterioration in U.S.-Canadian relations.

However, we can add one problem that the Canadians understandably did not mention, and it could be the key to many of the others. It is the behavior of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, which at times seems deliberately calculated to aggravate the United States rather than nourish what ought to be a close working relationship between our two governments.

Mr. Trudeau is obliged, of course, to stand up for Canada's independence from U.S. influence. National pride demands this of Canadian politicians, and Canada has some genuine problems in national identity resulting from a heavy reliance on U.S. trade and investment.

Nevertheless, when the United States recently was trying to wage a diplomatic offensive against the intervention of Cuban troops in the Angolan civil war, it would not have been difficult for Mr. Trudeau to postpone or schedule his visit to Havana as a gesture of support on an issue that should concern every nation in this hemisphere. Instead, he not only went to Cuba but he muddied the atmosphere by reporting afterward that Fidel Castro was sending troops to Africa with "a great deal of thought and feeling."

This is not what we would expect from a friend and ally. And it leads to the question of whether Mr. Trudeau is doing more to hinder than to help in the search for solutions to the problems drawing Canada and the United States apart. His government is following an alarming path of "protectionism" — ranging from restrictions on oil and gas exports to the United States, to an attempt to bolster the Canadian publishing industry by changing the tax status of two popular magazines owned by U.S. companies. A government take-over of the potato industry in Saskatchewan is leading U.S. farmers to fear that a vital supply of fertilizer may be cut off.

Mr. Trudeau's attitude toward the United States often resembles that of a Third World statesman. Canada is not a developing country, by any means. Canada and the United States have developed side by side. Their economic destinies are inseparable — or should be, if their relations are to continue to be of mutual benefit.

U.S. officials have been accused of taking Canada for granted as a willing partner in policies perceived from Washington to serve our common good. This is no doubt true, and there must be more effort on our part to understand the Canadian point of view. However, the point of view often represented by Mr. Trudeau is so nationalistic that it can only make the job of fence-mending much harder.

The Cable Picture

Someday the cable television industry will be freed from protectionist regulation by the government and will be allowed to test its strength in the marketplace against the existing commercial television system.

That day, when viewers can choose the number of channels they want to have, will make possible television programming directed to smaller, more selective audiences — like magazine audiences.

The present system dictates programming that appeals to a mass audience and only a mass audience. All three of the major networks must strive for mass appeal during all of the prime time.

Cable channels, perhaps as many as 60 available to each subscriber, will offer much greater selectivity and specialization.

In 20 years, cable television has made little progress, always regarded by Federal Communications Commission rulings designed to protect commercial television stations from competition. Cable systems are told what movies they can show and what channels they can retransmit.

Congressmen have sided with the commercial broadcasting industry but now the Justice Department has joined with the cable systems to argue in court that cable television has been excessively regulated and unjustly restricted.

There is no reason for the government to protect over-the-air signals at the expense of signals that come into the home over a wire.

RMN No Albatross For Ford

WASHINGTON — In their effort to put the best face on Gerald Ford's less than smashing victory in the recent Republican primary, the President's people are blaming that conservative stalwart, Richard M. Nixon, for the Republican stands for milder.

Generously indulgent, White House employees suggest that Nixon's trip to China has reminded voters of the recent Republican past and thereby interrupted Ford's attempt to convince the populace that he is brave, loyal, trustworthy, obedient and, don't forget, reverent.

It isn't the first time the Nixon name has been used to explain away the negatives of Jerry Ford's crusade for sainthood. From the beginning of his unselected administration, the President through his apologists has whispered that the Nixon legacy and the Nixon apparition are at the bottom of the Decent One's most vexing troubles.

First there was the Nixon fallout to endure, then there were the Nixon holdovers, and through it all the Ford forces say there has been the Nixon-poisoned atmosphere in which the nurturing of effective leadership is all but impossible. The White House says Ford was blackened by Nixon in pardoning him and from then on the benefactor's ghost has been everywhere detrimental. "The greatest problem we have," said a Ford ally recently, "is to get rid of the totally false notion that this is a Ford-Nixon executive branch."

Forgetting for the moment that President Ford would still be Congressman Ford were it not for Dick Nixon, there is some truth in the Administration's insistence that the latter is the former's everlasting low blow. To the extent Ford is the chosen successor and by the most denigrated President in American history, he suffers wrongly from associated guilt.

Nonetheless, there are limits to this kind of cause and effect. Clearly, Ford's belief that a globe-trotting Nixon is costing him votes is absurd, it is in fact an unworthy excuse.

It can't be overlooked here that Ford came by his excuse honestly. Perhaps not bright enough to create such complicated reasoning himself, he has been assisted by a popular sentiment which has been almost unanimous in opposing the Nixon China trip.

For weeks Washington observers have been preening only mischief in the event, drawing precariously ominous inferences from it. I.e. Nixon would not only hurt Ford in Peking, but U.S. foreign policy would be hurt. Surely Nixon's visit, pundits have suggested every evil save the possibility he would bring home some new form of Asian flu.

Well, humbug. Nixon's journey was little more than an attempt by a defeated man to prove to the world he still has friends. Surely even his bitterest enemies can understand the pathos involved. Dishonor aside, he's only been discredited, not convicted, and he can't be fairly condemned for massaging his spirits. By the way, the alternative to his re-emergence into the daylight of reality is his continued isolation in San Clemente, which the pundits also condemn.

It is evident now that Richard Nixon is neither going to go away forever nor live among us as a properly confessed and remorseful sinner. He is going to march to his own drum, wherever it leads, hence the jargon is going to have to come to terms with this inevitability.

He is going to travel, and has a right to it. He is going to make money with his memoirs, for that is the capitalist way. One day, like Herbert Hoover, he may even become a curiosity that transcends public bitterness, and we will have to accept him as sentimental Sunday supplement fare. To simply continue to hate him because God doesn't strike him down, or to go on reacting in heat whenever he displays his arrogant jewels would hurt him less than us. He did wrong, but he was brought down for it and then banished.

Ghandi Launches Sterilization Program

Being getting calls from a Police Benevolent Association (PBA) lately requiring contributions? If so, don't be misled!

The PBA that's calling you isn't the Sanford Police Benevolent Association nor any of its members.

According to Bob Bernosky, president of the Sanford PBA, the local association is in no way connected with the state association, the Orange County association or any other outfit which might be soliciting funds.

The local group, according to Bernosky, WILL be making telephone calls starting this Friday (March 12), asking people to help support the Sanford PBA-sponsored Bluegrass Festival, which will be held here May 28-31.

That's the only time any member of the Sanford organization will be asking for a tax-deductible contribution — and believe us, it's worth every cent you'll spend.

Last year's Bluegrass Festival was a huge success and this year's is expected to be even bigger and better.

Florida's business community will observe a "Salute to America's Armed Forces" this Friday during the 35th Recruit Brigade Review at the Orlando Naval Training Center, according to the Florida Chamber of Commerce.

Florida Chamber President MacDonell Tyre of Orlando, a former Navy lieutenant commander, will serve as Reviewing Officer for over 600 recruits completing their nine-week basic training activities. Nearly 100 business executives and local chamber of commerce leaders from all across Florida also will participate in the graduation exercises from the reviewing stands.

Following the ceremonies, a luncheon will honor the military in Florida, which contributes so greatly to the security of our nation and to the economic stability of our state," Tyre stated. With this graduating class, more than 170,000 young men and women will graduate from training at the Orlando Naval Training Center since 1968.

"This facility is unique since it is the only location in the nation which trains both men and women recruits for their Navy careers and, because of its standards and performance, it justly deserves its reputation as the 'Cradle of the Navy,'" Tyre stated.

On second thought, Burns could turn out to be Mr. Ford's nemesis — a stone about the candidate's neck — if this candidate's controller of the nation's money supply should take it in his head to clamp down on the number of dollars floating through the banking system.

Mr. Nixon blamed his 1960 defeat on the lagging economy, due in part to Federal Reserve Board stringency, when he was Vice President under General Eisenhower. Mr. Nixon made certain there was no such problem facing him in 1972. Some say we are still suffering from that overheating of the economy.

For now, Burns, though it's clear he is dominated by economic formulas and not politics, is doing well by Mr. Ford. He's expanding the money supply at a steadily rapid pace, considering everything — and prosperity seems around the corner. The rate of inflation is sliding down, somewhat erratically to be sure, but down. Employment is inching up, having risen 2 million since last March. The decline in unemployment, however, has been unsatisfactory, down only to 7 and three-quarters per cent from 9, leaving seven million unemployed and an average unemployment period of 27 weeks — a time when many have exhausted their benefits.

Promising for the months ahead, however, is the fact that industrial output rose almost 1 per cent in December and another 0.7 per cent in January, and that man hours worked in private nonfarm industries increased at an annual rate of more than 8 per cent those same two months. More work for those already on the job usually prelude to increased hirings in the months that follow.

Overall, since last April, the combined output of factories, mines and power plants has increased at an annual rate of 11.5 per cent.

Exports are on an upswing and expected to continue to improve as the economies of Japan and other industrial nations move out of the doldrums.

On the home front, mortgage money is available and rates are edging down.

Burns is still talking a warty game. But Burns always worries. He is happiest when he's fretting. And he's always threatening to clamp down on the money supply to prevent runaway inflation.

He seems to fall into a new school of economists — protagonists of the Keynesians — who hold that a too liberal supply of money leads to inflation, causing consumers to tighten their belts and spend less, even though they have more money.

Right now, says Burns, however, consumers are loosening their pocketbooks in anticipation of better days. His goal is to keep just enough funds in our pockets to keep us all optimistic and spending, and panting for more, but not enough so that we overspend, drive prices up, then retreat in panic and caution, causing the economy to stumble.

If Burns is successful in this tightrope walking between too much and too little money, and few Federal Reserve Board chairmen have proven themselves adept at this juggling, then, the polls or no polls, primaries or no primaries, the past relationships between presidential elections and the anticipation of prosperity certainly would favor Mr. Ford providing he keeps his nose clean and makes no outrageous blunders.

The All-India Medical Institute in New Delhi has developed an anti-pregnancy vaccine using hormones generated during pregnancy. Trials may last 500 days which suggest that immunity will be now rapidly available in India but the vaccine is not ready for use in rural areas where four out of five Indian families. One recent investigation in a district of Mrs. Ghandi's home province, Uttar Pradesh, showed that some 80 per cent of adults had never been in contact with any family planning workers. The rise in oil prices is having an effect: to cut costs the government has cut down the numbers of vehicles allocated to family planning.

A national package of incentives and disincentives is still being evolved by a committee of senior civil servants. But several states are already going ahead with radical new programs which may be used to test popular reaction. Haryana, whose birth rate is higher than the national average, has announced it will withdraw subsidized housing and other benefits from workers with more than two children unless they agree to be sterilized or adopt other approved methods of birth control.

Last week Punjab followed suit and ordered all people joining government service to sign an undertaking not to have more than two children; those already in service with two or more children would be asked to have themselves sterilized or commit themselves to contraception. Other proposals now being considered include a change in inheritance laws to limit inheritance rights to the first two or three children and raising the minimum marriage age for girls from 14 to 18.

Independent surveys confirm that the idea of limiting births is now widely accepted in India but the vaccine is not ready for use in rural areas where four out of five Indian families. RAY CROMLEY

President Has Secret 'Weapon'

WASHINGTON — Candidate Gerald Ford has a secret weapon — Arthur Burns, known to most of us as the controversial, stubborn, some say bumbling, independent theoretician who runs the Federal Reserve Board with an iron hand.

On second thought, Burns could turn out to be Mr. Ford's nemesis — a stone about the candidate's neck — if this candidate's controller of the nation's money supply should take it in his head to clamp down on the number of dollars floating through the banking system.

Mr. Nixon blamed his 1960 defeat on the lagging economy, due in part to Federal Reserve Board stringency, when he was Vice President under General Eisenhower. Mr. Nixon made certain there was no such problem facing him in 1972. Some say we are still suffering from that overheating of the economy.

For now, Burns, though it's clear he is dominated by economic formulas and not politics, is doing well by Mr. Ford. He's expanding the money supply at a steadily rapid pace, considering everything — and prosperity seems around the corner. The rate of inflation is sliding down, somewhat erratically to be sure, but down. Employment is inching up, having risen 2 million since last March. The decline in unemployment, however, has been unsatisfactory, down only to 7 and three-quarters per cent from 9, leaving seven million unemployed and an average unemployment period of 27 weeks — a time when many have exhausted their benefits.

Promising for the months ahead, however, is the fact that industrial output rose almost 1 per cent in December and another 0.7 per cent in January, and that man hours worked in private nonfarm industries increased at an annual rate of more than 8 per cent those same two months. More work for those already on the job usually prelude to increased hirings in the months that follow.

Overall, since last April, the combined output of factories, mines and power plants has increased at an annual rate of 11.5 per cent.

Exports are on an upswing and expected to continue to improve as the economies of Japan and other industrial nations move out of the doldrums.

On the home front, mortgage money is available and rates are edging down.

Burns is still talking a warty game. But Burns always worries. He is happiest when he's fretting. And he's always threatening to clamp down on the money supply to prevent runaway inflation.

He seems to fall into a new school of economists — protagonists of the Keynesians — who hold that a too liberal supply of money leads to inflation, causing consumers to tighten their belts and spend less, even though they have more money.

Right now, says Burns, however, consumers are loosening their pocketbooks in anticipation of better days. His goal is to keep just enough funds in our pockets to keep us all optimistic and spending, and panting for more, but not enough so that we overspend, drive prices up, then retreat in panic and caution, causing the economy to stumble.

If Burns is successful in this tightrope walking between too much and too little money, and few Federal Reserve Board chairmen have proven themselves adept at this juggling, then, the polls or no polls, primaries or no primaries, the past relationships between presidential elections and the anticipation of prosperity certainly would favor Mr. Ford providing he keeps his nose clean and makes no outrageous blunders.

Homes Priced Too High?

NEW YORK (AP) — Home ownership, said Philip C. Smaby, is a principle that made America great. He feels that freedom, independence and owning a piece of property are all facets of the same aspiration.

Now in this bicentennial year, many Americans who sought to fulfill the dream find they cannot afford the down payment or the monthly installments required. The average new home is priced beyond the average person's means.

Do we abandon the goal? No, said Smaby, who is the new president of the National Association of Realtors, we remain instead to another trait found in the forerunners, to basics and simplicity.

"People will demand such houses be built," said Smaby, president also of Bernel-Smaby Realty of Minneapolis. "I feel they are willing to give up the amenities for a plot with a basic house."

That house would contain two bedrooms and one bath. It would be similar to those built immediately after World War II, he said, a house of 900 to 1,100 square feet with an expansion attic for another bedroom as financial ability improves.

Conceding that the price of land, labor, money and materials have contributed to the sharp rise in the cost of new housing, Smaby notes that another reason was the enlarging of houses to 2,000 square feet and five bedrooms.

As a result, the cost of the typical new, single-family home is around $40,000 today, while the median income is around $13,000. Only a small percentage of Americans, therefore, can afford the house they want.

What Smaby says is not new, but it is a hard lesson to accept, many builders went bankrupt rather than cut back, and many potential buyers continued to rent rather than lower the level of their dreams.

Some also sought out older homes, which the cutbacks generally involve reducing the lot size and the size of the house too, leaving the attic unfinished, reducing the detailing, eliminating garages and even carports, using less glamorous kitchen fixtures and the like.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Japanese Company Head Relates Tale Of Bribery

LOS ANGELES (AP) — They met in a room in Hong Kong's Mandarin Hotel, and when it was over Lockheed had blank receipts to cover part of its multimillion-dollar payoffs in Japan and Shig Katayama was $75,000 richer.

Katayama, president of the ID Corp., named in Senate testimony as a Japanese agent for the scandal-racked aerospace company, told The Associated Press on Wednesday that he was approached early in 1974 by A.H. Elliott, the Lockheed official in charge of selling the company's L1011 jumbo jet in Japan.

"He said, 'Shig, we want to do it with someone we trust and naturally we don't want it advertised,'" Katayama said. "He told me, 'You probably know about Swiss bank accounts — that they don't release names.'"

Murder Testimony Changed

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — A Bahamian psychiatrist has changed his testimony that a convicted murderer now sentenced to hang was sane at the time he fatally stabbed a vacationing U.S. businessman.

Dr. Henry Podlewski, the psychiatrist in Wednesday testimony that he had a three-judge appeals court Wednesday that Michael Shobe, 21, of Milwaukee, was "probably a paranoid schizophrenic."

The court to which Podlewski's written statement was read still must decide whether to take up Shobe's appeal and whether to let the psychiatrist testify.

Deaths Bring Controversy

MONTREAL (AP) — The Confederation of National Trade Unions has blamed management for a construction accident Monday at the Olympic stadium that killed four men.

Olympic officials have said the accident was the result of massive concrete beams being installed incorrectly. The men were inside the beams at the time that they fell 185 feet.

Marcel Pepin, CNTU president, said Wednesday that the workers had received specific orders from management on how to install the beams.

Questions Motives For Joining SLA

Psychiatrist Testifies Against Patty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A psychiatrist whom Patricia Hearst once accused of bullying her to tears says she "quivered and half-sobbed" when he bluntly inquired into her motives for joining terrorists in a bank holdup.

Dr. Harry Kozol, who was embroiled in a dispute with Miss Hearst in January, began his testimony for the prosecution Wednesday at her trial for bank robbery.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said Kozol, who interviewed the defendant five times, will challenge her contention that she was still a frightened kidnap victim when she joined her Symbionese Liberation Army captors in crime.

Chief defense counsel F. Lee Bailey said he would vigorously protest Kozol's testimony and probably would refer to the previous dispute between the doctor and the defendant.

The diminutive, gray-haired expert appearing for the government said Wednesday that he first mentioned the SLA, the tiny terrorist tribe that kidnaped Miss Hearst on Feb. 4, 1974, by asking her to describe slain SLA chieftain Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze.

"He was always giving orders," he quoted her as saying. Kozol, 69, depicted Miss Hearst as ill at their first meeting on Jan. 7. He said he was disturbed by "her smoking constantly."

He said he got the impression "this was a girl who talks directly and likes to be directly spoken to."

In that vein, he said, he referred to the bank robbery and "I asked bluntly, 'Why did you do it?'"

He said she replied, "They told me to," and he quoted this exchange with the defendant at her jail cell:

Q. Who were they?

A. Cinque and the others.
 Q. What did they do?
 A. They told me I would go in the bank and get my picture taken and I did it.... they told me that if I didn't do it, I would be killed.
 At that point, Kozol said, Miss Hearst "quivered and half-sobbed" and he suggested that she take a sip of coffee.

During a pretrial hearing in January, Miss Hearst testified in court that Kozol had "ordered" her to drink the coffee and had driven her to hysteria with accusing questions. Her attorneys asked that Kozol be prevented from examining her again.

Kozol denied that he had been harsh, and U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter refused to remove the psychiatrist as a government consultant. Kozol subsequently examined Miss Hearst four more times.

Questions Are Raised About Aims, Funding Voice Of America Is Facing Some Serious Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—Criticism is not new to the Voice of America. The government's overseas radio network often has been described by Moscow as a Western propaganda tool whose newscasts stretch the truth.

Today the criticism strikes much closer to home. Serious questions are being raised on Capitol Hill about VOA's broadcasting and whether it may be too tightly under the control of the State Department.

While the Soviets accuse VOA of sowing anti-Soviet propaganda, some congressional critics claim that within recent years VOA has adopted too soft a tone and has shied away from reporting on Soviet dissidents and other sensitive topics.

The rising criticism, however, is only part of VOA's problems. The network is beset with problems involving its basic organization and aims, funding, high-level administration disputes and poor broadcast reception because of aging transmitters.

The basic problem, according to NBC's John Chancellor, a former VOA announcer, is that the Voice "has been placed at the intersection of journalism and diplomacy."

"Almost universally there has been a feeling that BBC is a more credible and accepted news reporting service," Percy said.

Both the Senate committee charged that VOA deliberately concentrates on siring anti-Soviet statements by former Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger and others "who

NASA To Recruit New Candidates

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—The space agency will soon start looking for a few good men — and for some women, too.

For the first time since 1969, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will recruit candidates for the nation's astronaut corps this year.

The new astronaut group is expected to include engineers, scientists and other technical specialists who are not pilots. Qualified women not only will be eligible, but will be encouraged to apply.

Most are expected to be civilians or military test pilots. Abbey said the mission specialist astronauts could be scientists, engineers or technicians. Physical requirements will not be as strict as those for pilot astronauts, he said, "and qualified women candidates will be welcome."

Abbey said experts who develop space experiments will be allowed to fly on the shuttle to perform their experiments and will be "more or less passengers" for the balance of the mission.

"These will be the payload specialists," he said. "They'll train for just a short period of time, up to the point they will be comfortable in space."

The payload specialists will not be employees of NASA or members of the astronaut corps and may only make one space flight in a lifetime.

Abbey said NASA has not established requirements for the new generation of full-time astronauts, nor has it decided how many flights "spacecreepers" will be needed.

"That will depend on how many of the current group of astronauts stay on board... how many missions are projected for the shuttle, and other factors," he said.

There are now 38 astronauts at the Johnson Space Center here.

traveler, he said, will be the "mission specialist" whose main job will be to handle, operate or deploy the shuttle payload.

During the Apollo and Skylab programs, all astronauts were trained to pilot the craft, plus perform experiments and handle the payload, if any.

On the shuttle, only a pilot and copilot need know how to fly. The mission specialist's job starts after the craft is in orbit. Qualifications of the pilot-astronauts will be similar to astronaut requirements of the past. Most are expected to be civilian or military test pilots.

Abbey said the mission specialist astronauts could be scientists, engineers or technicians. Physical requirements will not be as strict as those for pilot astronauts, he said, "and qualified women candidates will be welcome."

"That will depend on how many of the current group of astronauts stay on board... how many missions are projected for the shuttle, and other factors," he said.

There are now 38 astronauts at the Johnson Space Center here.

When a planned fleet of four shuttles starts operating in the early 1980s, NASA officials expect there will be up to 40 flights a year. The shuttles will be used for repairing satellites or delivering them to orbit, making scientific experiments and even carrying materials for construction of a space station.

Officials announced recently that astronaut Fred Haise, 42, of the Apollo 13 moon mission that nearly ended in disaster will command the first free flight test of the shuttle. With Haise will be Charles Fullerton, 39, an astronaut who has never flown in space.

In effect, the shuttle will be a cargo plane in space.

"There'll be two types of astronauts," says George Abbey, director of flight operations at the Johnson Space Center. "The pilot types of astronauts will have the primary responsibility of flying the vehicle."

The second type of space station from the U.S. Information Agency, as part of a plan to reorganize American overseas information and cultural programs.

VOA's current chief, Kenneth Giddens, concedes that the station tends to be "a little more restrained" in its reporting than BBC.

But he adds that "I really believe... that the Voice of America is a news product as you'll find anywhere on the face of the earth. I'm very proud of it."

However, well the Voice may compare with other Western overseas broadcasting, VOA officials estimate that it has a regular Soviet audience numbering "in the millions," providing them the alternative to government-controlled media.

"To some degree it's fashionable, it's vogue to listen to VOA," one official commented, noting that VOA has been carrying more popular music and feature programs aimed to appeal to Soviet young people.

The anti-VOA broadside published last month in the newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya contended that the U.S. station has been airing statements "by people known for their hostile attitude toward the resolutions adopted in Helsinki."

The Soviet Union had pushed strongly for the 35-nation accord signed last summer in Helsinki, in effect ratifying Europe's post World War II boundaries as permanent. At Western insistence, the accord also included provisions intended to promote freer East-West contacts.

Flam said he believes the Soviet attack is "way off base" in alleging that VOA has skimped on reporting about U.S.-Soviet cooperative research projects and other positive aspects of détente.

At the same time, he noted, "we as the Voice of America reflect the American press" through editorial opinion roundups.

"I think it's fair to say that during the last year, for various reasons, the American press has raised more questions about détente, has been more critical about some of the developments with détente than previously," Flam said.

An examination of VOA program logs and transcripts covering Russian language broadcasting for a week-long period in mid-December tended to substantiate the officials' contention that VOA news reporting is balanced and not slanted toward anti-détente views.

Extensive coverage of the Angola issue included regular newscast items and correspondent reports on the fighting, as well as developments in Congress and at the White House.

Even the best programming, however, is of little value unless it can reach VOA's listeners clearly.

VOA uses a network of 41 transmitters in the United States and 72 transmitters abroad.

But according to one official, many of VOA's transmitters are "very antiquated." As a result, he said, "you try to listen to the Voice and you hardly hear it."

VOA chief Kenneth Giddens said he believes the network should have 30 to 40 new transmitters.

Giddens also pointed out that while VOA broadcasts about 70 hours a week in 35 languages, Radio Moscow's output amounts to some 1,500 hours a week in 44 languages. "I don't think that we are doing an adequate job for this nation," he said.

However, the prospects now appear to be dim for any significant expansion of VOA or upgrading of its transmitter facilities.

SEMINOLE (AP)—As usual at this time of the baseball year, the pitchers are ahead of the hitters.

Only this time the players are the pitchers and the owners are the hitters.

The two sides meet again today for the 28th time in a series of contract negotiations that has produced little progress.

Whether either side is ready to reduce its demands at today's truce session or a longer one scheduled for Friday in St. Petersburg is debatable.

"There's no way to go now but to settle," said Tom Seaver of the New York Mets as the players savored a pair of court decisions that upheld an arbitrator's ruling granting free agent status to pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally.

"The Supreme Court would've even heard the case —

Players, Owners At Odds

SPORTS

Evening Herald, Sanford, FL Thursday, March 11, 1976-18

"The owners told us they had only a 30 per cent chance of winning in the appeals court. They were right. They lost, and now the players have what you might call the ultimate weapon," Seaver said.

The latest court ruling left the owners with an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court as their last recourse.

"Do they want to try going to the Supreme Court and meanwhile not play ball or pay salaries for two years?" Seaver wondered. "The Supreme Court wouldn't even hear the case — they don't get involved in arbitration matters, anyway."

What the owners want — at least in their latest proposal — is an agreement in which a player with six years of major league service could play out his option in his seventh year and become a free agent the following season.

The catch in the proposal is that the club could retain the player's services for up to two months simply by offering him a contract for that length of time. The players' association says that's just another way of wording the owners' previous proposal which would have given eight-year veterans the chance to become free agents in their 10th season after one option year.

The major schism is still whether the rights won by players in the landmark Messersmith-McNally arbitration decision last December — i.e., that a player is bound to a club for only one option year beyond contractual commitments — can be stripped away retroactively in collective bargaining. In fact, Mike Marshall of the Los Angeles Dodgers has announced his intention to sue the players' union if such is the case.

Seminole High's weightlifting team registered a pair of victories Wednesday over Mainland and Lyman in a double-dual meet.

The Seminoles outmuscled Mainland by a 37-35 margin and bested Lyman, 46-14.

Seminole now stands 2-3 and next weighting action will be the county meet Wednesday at Seminole with Lake Howell, Lake Brantley and Lyman also participating in the 2:30 p.m. event.

Edgewater Vs. Manatee

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—An unbeaten team has survived the state high school tournament jinx the past two years, which may be an omen for the Brantley Manatee Hurricanes in the 1976 meet opening today.

They bring a perfect 32-0 record into the Class AAAA big school competition and the highest ranking of the four survivors of regional and district eliminations.

Manatee, second ranked, has a well-balanced squad with the ability to come through in the clutch. The nearest thing to a star is 5-foot-10 guard Reggie Buchanan.

"We try to rely on balance," says Coach Pat Healy. "We've been in a lot of tight games, but we kept our composure and came back to win when we were down."

Manatee meets sixth-ranked Orlando Edgewater, 30-4, Friday night.

Tonight's other Class AAAA semifinal matches fourth-ranked Miami Jackson with a 21-2 record against unranked Tallahassee Leon, which is 24-5.

Miami Jackson came into the 1976 state meet with a perfect record and near-perfect team that won the title easily. Lake Weir kept its perfect record last year in winning the Class AA title.

Deerborne faces AAM Thursday and St. Joseph meets Malone on Friday.

Class A and AA championship games will be played Saturday afternoon. The AAA and AAAA titles will be decided Saturday evening.

The Philadelphia 76ers have been going strong most of the season, but usually have lacked a good finishing kick in their games.

"Early this season we played well at the beginning of games and couldn't get our momentum going," said Philadelphia's Steve Mix.

Buse Denver's Pain In Neck

By The Associated Press

Don Buse had a pain in the back, but he was nothing but a pain in the neck to the Denver Nuggets.

"Boy, what a putsy effort," said Indiana Coach Bobby Leonard after watching Buse collect 19 assists in Indiana's 129-119 victory over Denver Wednesday night.

May, Dantley Head All-Americans

NEW YORK (AP) — Indiana's Scott May and Notre Dame's Art Dantley, two of the country's gold-plated forwards, were named to the 1976 Associated Press All-American basketball team today.

Joining the frontcourt stars on the first team are May's teammate at Indiana, center Ken Sellers, the brilliant Rutgers swingman, and Maryland guard John Lucas.

May, a 6-foot-7 senior, and Dantley, a 6-5 junior, were selected for the second straight year. The 6-4 Lucas was a second-team selection last season, while the 6-5 Sellers was on the third team and 6-11 Person was named to the fourth.

With 380 votes from the nation's sports writers and broadcasters, May was the highest scorer on this year's team — nosing out Dantley by four. Behind Dantley's 376 were Lucas with 288, Sellers with 272 and Person with 238.

The first team was cleared choice above the AP's second team which included: forwards Richard Washington of UCLA and Mitch Kupchak of North Carolina, center Robert Parish of Centenary and guards Phil Ford of North Carolina and Ron Lee of Oregon.

On the third team were, forwards Bernard King of Tennessee, Terry Furrow of Michigan State, Kenny Carr of North Carolina State, center Leon Douglas of Alabama and guard-forward Earl Tatum of Marquette.

May and Dantley are the premier players from this year's college crop, according to sports observers.

Scouts describe the slick Indiana forward as "the complete player ... a clutch shooter ... a hard worker at both ends of the court." May scored close to 24 points a game while leading the 1976 major college basketball All-American as selected by the Associated Press on the basis of sports writers and broadcast casters from around the country.

self-sacrificing, tremendously hard-working player." A supreme intimidator under the basket, the 235-pounder collected nine rebounds and 17 points a game. He had a high of 39 points against Michigan this season and came up with a basketful of game-saving plays for the Indiana team.

Lucas, a perfect pro-size guard, is the all-time Maryland scoring leader with an average that has hovered near the 20 mark since his sophomore season. According to pro observers, Lucas is "a great playmaker and shooter ... the top guard in the country ... exceptionally quick and a great penetrator."

Sellers was the heart of Rutgers' unbeaten season. A high-powered scoring machine in his earlier years, he became an all-around player this season — averaging 20 points, 10 rebounds and a fistful of assists a game. He was known, especially, for his court savvy.

PBA Set To Hold Festival

By AUBIE MURPHY Herald Staff Writer

At its board meeting Thursday, the Sanford-Central Florida Airport Authority approved plans by the Sanford Police Benevolent Association (PBA) to hold its annual Bluegrass Festival at the airport.

According to Sanford Police Sgt. Bob Bernosky, the event, to be held May 28 and 29, will be located opposite Lake Golden, where recreation facilities will be available for those wanting to cook out. But overnight camping will not be permitted, Bernosky said.

Highlighting the entertainment at the two-day event will be such bands as Jim & Jesse and the Virginia Boys, and Lester Flatt and the Nashville Brass.

Bernosky said the festivities will begin at 12:30 p.m. both days and last until 11:30 p.m. Advance tickets, priced at $8 for the two days for adults, and $5 for students, are available at the Police Department, Bernosky said. He said those unable to pick up the tickets could have them delivered.

Bernosky said the Sanford PBA has licensed personnel who will be making calls in the area to sell advance tickets, and tickets bought at the gate will cost more.

Proceeds from the Bluegrass Festival will go toward several PBA projects, Bernosky said, including the group's annual Children's Christmas Party.

Another item approved by the "sub-committee" at yesterday's meeting was a day-to-month lease of space for the Little Red Schoolhouse of the Seminole County Association for Retarded Children (SCARC).

The lease of the 22,550 square-foot site, for $1,827 per year, came only two days before the group's lease at the Elder Springs Baptist Church was due to run out, according to Dennis Dolger, the group's vice president.

Dolger said the Little Red Schoolhouse's airport operation will include three portable education buildings and another portable building.

According to Dolger, the SCARC is seeking a permanent site for the program, which is geared for pre-school youngsters.

He said locating the Little Red Schoolhouse at the airport was only "an interim measure."

The car was apparently westbound on Carver Avenue in the Academy Manor subdivision, Bennett said, when it careened through the intersection with Bethune Circle, across the lawn and into the house.

Federal Government Agency To Conduct Audit Of SEEDCO

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

Federal government officials are sending agents to Sanford to audit records of a Sanford poverty fighting agency which is under fire for alleged misuse of funds, an aide to U.S. Sen. Lawton Chiles confirmed today.

Jack Pridden said the General Accounting Office (GAO) has agreed to send agents from the government's watchdog agency to check the records of the Seminole Employment Economic Development Corporation (SEEDCO).

Pridden said Chiles' office received a letter of confirmation from GAO that the agency will conduct the audit as requested by Chiles and SEEDCO Director Horace Orr. "At this point we have set a schedule for a field investigation in Sanford," Pridden said.

He pointed out GAO officials must first contact the Community Services Administration, SEEDCO's funding agency, before coming here to look over Orr's records.

Orr says the GAO audit is complete. Pridden said Chiles has asked for a "full report" of the findings.

The GAO response was to a Chiles' request for an audit. Chiles made his request after Orr called Chiles in a letter last month to conduct an audit.

In Chiles' letter to the GAO, the Lakeland Democrat said "allegations charge SEEDCO's dispersal of federal funds does not meet with congressional intent as to proper disbursement."

"Horace Orr has requested an audit. Since it is not a mandated role of a subcommittee to conduct audits of specific organizations and because the GAO has unique capacity in this respect, I request that such an audit be made by GAO."

Orr said implicit in the "attacks" is the "charge that SEEDCO is wasting taxpayers' money." Orr admits he has had some failures among the corporations purchased by SEEDCO, but the $23,300-a-year director says no instances of illegality or misuse of funds have occurred.

Orr said he asked for the audit to try to clear SEEDCO's name with public businessmen. He said published "attacks" on SEEDCO have injured the agency's reputation.

Illinois Primary Gaining Steam

By ARTHUR H. ROYSTEIN Associated Press Writer

President Ford, campaigning for Illinois' upcoming presidential primary, has denied that Watergate left any stain on his administration. Two other candidates — Republican challenger Ronald Reagan and Democrat Jimmy Carter — attacked Ford's foreign policy.

The President, in search of another damaging blow to Reagan's candidacy in next Tuesday's Illinois primary, was in the Chicago area today to continue a three-day swing. He arrived Thursday in Rockford and went at once for the rural vote.

Ford was scheduled to give a foreign policy address today before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations.

In response to Reagan's earlier suggestion that a Ford nomination would keep Watergate alive, the President, on arriving in Illinois, told reporters that the "Democratic Congress was absolutely convinced I had no connection whatsoever with Watergate. So that ought to lay that allegation to rest."

Ford didn't mention his pardon of former President Richard Nixon.

Democrats, too, were busy in Illinois, biggest of the primary states so far in terms of delegates. Carter was in Chicago and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in Peoria.

And there were other developments Thursday on the political front.

—California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. said in Sacramento he is considering entry into California's Democratic primary in June as a favorite son candidate — and others said he may run in elections in three other states.

—Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, speaking in Boston, attacked critics of the administration's foreign policy. He didn't name names, but his targets apparently were Reagan and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, a Democratic presidential candidate.

—New York's legislature passed and Gov. Hugh Carey signed a bill allowing the listing of candidates' names on Democratic primary ballots. In the past, only those running for delegate to the national conventions have been listed — something observers said favored those with the most money and biggest organizations. The new law is expected to help such candidates as Carter and Rep. Morris Udall.

Panel Approved To Study Double Taxation

The Seminole County Legislative Delegation has passed, in concept, a resolution proposed by State Sen. Lori Wilson (Merritt) establishing a 12-member citizen commission to study the "urgent double taxation issue in Seminole County" and the justification for continuing special tax districts.

The commission, to be appointed by April 1, is to report back to the delegation no later than Jan. 15, 1977, and to be "solely responsible for the delegation."

According to Sen. Wilson, the group will be charged with the duty of investigating all possibilities and forms of double taxation and any tax district, how it operates, if it is equitable and its justification for continuing.

The committee, she said, will have a "catch-all" free rein to look into any problems to do with taxation, to be able to make a report on the entire tax picture in Seminole.
