These persons, who have been making glibly about the "phony"

coming here from Europe all ways have been child's play

compared to the death and de-

Every one who drives a car

should be a month in bed,

with broken bones and stitches,

the wounds, or fractures of the head.

And how endure the agonies that many people do.

They'd never need preach safety any more to me or you.

Every one could stand beside the bed of some close friend,

and hear the doctor say "no

hope" before that fatal end,

and see him there unconscious,

never knowing what took place.

The laws and rules of traffic I am sure we'd soon embrace.

Every one could meet the wife and children left behind,

and step into the darkness

where once the sunlight

shined.

Every one could see the vacant chair

where Daddy used to sit,

and hear the mother cry,

"I wish I could be like you."

Every one could see the right-

ing way as much the right-

ing way as those upon the seat,

and hear the mother cry,

"I wish I could be like you."

Time To Prepare

President Roosevelt was speaking our language yesterday when he called for an air force of 50,000 planes for the United States. At present we have about 5,000. We don't believe anybody knows how many Germany has, but recent events in Europe indicate they have a great many more than anybody, with the possible exception of Lindbergh, suspected. But 50,000 planes, we should think, would be sufficient to make this country reasonably safe.

It has been the air power, primarily, which has made Germany so dangerous during the past year, and which has been so largely responsible for her recent victories. The men who said that the airplanes could not attack a battleship have been proved wrong. More important than that has been the effect of modern warplanes on ground troops and fortresses. They simply cannot stand up against them.

Fifty thousand planes, as well as an enlarged navy consisting of 500 ships, and an increase in the size of the Army and National Guard, are going to cost a lot of money. President Roosevelt has asked for something more than a billion dollars. Altogether this new appropriation, together with armament expenditures already made, will bring the total cost for national defense this year to over three billion dollars, or nearly as much as our national government spent for everything ten years ago.

But however much it may cost to put this country on a sufficiently strong basis to resist attack, it will be as nothing compared with the cost of being caught unprepared. England was totally unprepared for this war and it is paying the price today on a frightful scale. France was not much better prepared and it too is paying the cost to the tune of thousands of soldier and civilian lives, devastated cities, and perhaps a lost empire.

There are some in the United States, just as there have been in France and England, who poo poo the idea that Germany could ever attack the United States or could make good such an attack if attempted. They insist that after this war Germany will be blind while whether she wins or loses. They cling to the colonial theory that the Atlantic ocean is a barrier to invading forces, and they insist there is nothing in this hemisphere Germany wants anyway.

Such talk is sheer tommyrot. If Germany would take Czechoslovakia for a few million dollars in gold, how much greater temptation would be the ten billions buried in Fort Knox? How much greater temptation would be all the natural resources of this rich country than the comparatively paltry wealth of the little European nations? What of the resources of Canada, Mexico, Brazil and Argentina? Germany's loot so far has been chicken feed.

Nor would the task of robbing the vaults of this country deter the German warlords from such a nefarious goal. They are past masters in the art of mass murder and international brigandage. What their minds can conceive, they will do, or at least try to do. With England and France out of the way, Iceland, Greenland, Labrador, and New Foundland are natural stepping stones to the shores of the United States.

As President Roosevelt said yesterday, vital points of the United States are within short flying distances of possible German air power. Parachute troops could be dropped in the Gulf of Mexico, Cuba, Bermuda, or Canada, could be all over the United States before we could do anything about it. That is, unless we prepare now. It will be too late to prepare once the actual attack is made.

SANFORD FORUM

Editor Sanford Herald:

It is a rather late hour for Mr.

Seminole Out-Slug DeLand Red Hats To Win 15 To 2

Hyder Has Victor's Frantic As He Has Five Times In Five Trips

At Nixon Wins His Fifth Game Of Year; Locals Play In DeLand Tonight, Here Against Indians Tomorrow

The Seminole had just spent a long day in the field against the Florida State League team, the DeLand Red Hats, and they were still in the game. The game was a close one, with the Red Hats leading 10 to 9 in the bottom of the ninth. But the Seminole, in a frantic effort to win, scored three runs in the bottom of the ninth, and won the game 12 to 10.

FROM THE PRESS BOX

CHARLES

A look at the game from the press box. The Seminole had a very good game today, and they were well served by their pitchers. The Red Hats, on the other hand, were a bit out of sync, and their pitching was not as good as it has been in the past.

HOUSEWIVES ATTENTION!

Mrs. Helen Weeks Harris will conduct the free three-day cooking school to be held here next week at the Woman's Club. A nationally recognized home economist, lecturer and writer on food subjects, Mrs. Harris will give daily demonstrations of new methods in the art of cooking.

Every home-maker in Seminole County is invited to attend these free demonstrations which will begin daily at 2:00 P. M. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 20-21-22.

New recipes and time-saving methods will be featured in the demonstrations and free printed recipes will be given away daily. An all electric kitchen will be used.

Here's an opportunity for you to see a nationally famous expert prepare and cook a variety of foods in the modern manner.

This school is sponsored by The Sanford Herald and The Florida Power and Light Co., and there is no admission charge or other cost of any kind to any of the three sessions.
