Swank Club Life Fails To Stop Soldier "Gripes"

Men From War Theaters At Lake Placid Prefer Their Homes

By Luke Carroll
LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Jan. 26.—The United States Army has left no stone unturned in its efforts to make life as pleasant as possible for the men who fight the nation's battles, but apparently the answer to the age-old problem of how to stop a soldier from "griping" has yet to be discovered.

This was never better illustrated than here, where the Army has taken over the world-famous Lake Placid Club and put it and all its peace-time "luxury" and facilities at the disposal of the men who have come back from Europe, Africa and the South Pacific for reassignment or separation.

Under the plan worked out by the Army the owners of the club receive a lump-sum payment for having as "guests" the battle-weary soldiers who have served two years or more overseas. No civilian guests are accepted, but the civilian atmosphere is maintained as much as possible.

Food served by several hundred pretty waitresses is as good, if not better, than that served before the Army moved in. Chambermaids who once made up the beds of wealthy vacationers now make the same beds for sergeants, corporals and privates. The linen and the silver have not been locked up for the duration, but are being used.

Pictureque scenery of the picturesque mountain scenery of the year-round resort is not to be changed. And to give every man a full opportunity to view the area, the Army has on hand hundreds of pairs of skis, sleds and ice skates. Several dozen horses are quartered here to pull heavy sleds. Jacques Suzanne, the owner of five dog-teams, has his huskies ready to take the soldier over the hills.

To make the two-week "vacation" more complete, the Army has made arrangements so that every married man can have his wife along with him during his stay. To cover her expenses, the soldier pays $1.25 a day for quarters and $1.07 for the three daily meals—a far cry from the club's previous prices to civilians. Many couples prefer to stay in the heated cottages surrounding the club and invariably the Army officials in charge of the club—it is never called a camp or installation—meet the request.

Last week the Army Service Forces of the 2d Service Command invited newspaper men to tour the camp, inspect the facilities and interview the men. It was the first man in the last war with the fathers of the boys now under him and that the same "gripes" or two were heard then.

One of two such centers. One of two such redistribution stations serving this section of the country, the club is geared to serve 3,800 persons a month. Already about 6,000 soldiers have been sent here and 600 are living here now. The men are examined for future service after they have spent at least two years outside the continental limits of the country.

During the conducted tour of the club and the facilities, it was obvious that the peace-time standards still prevail and with this in mind, the reporters began interviewing the men from areas covered by the tour. The majority said they didn't like the place.

One common "gripe" was that the soldiers would rather be at home for the holidays, than anywhere else. Other soldiers, especially those who served in the cold regions of Italy or Alaska or Greenland, wondered why they weren't sent to Florida where they could swim and where they wouldn't see more snow. Another group of New Yorkers declared they had never been on ice skates or sleds in their life and asked how they could enjoy these sports; others complained that there were not enough girls.

Officers here, as well as in Washington, said they are not too worried about complaints. Lieutenant Colonel James H. Mankin, commanding officer of the casual battalion, said he fought as an enlisted time since the Army took over the establishment last Sept. 8 that a full inspection was permitted.

"An army is not a good army if the men are a contented happy bunch," he said. "When that happens we know something is wrong. On the other hand, if the men complain about this and that then everything is alright."

Americans Are Now Within Thirty-Four Miles Of Manila

1st. And 3rd Armies In Europe Also Reported As Making Substantial Gains

(By Associated Press)

Three American columns today bore down on San Fernando, the gateway to Manila while Superfortresses again struck Iwo Island on the sea road to Tokyo. A Singapore broadcast said 145 carrier-borne planes raided Sumatra oil refineries around Palembang.

Tokyo reported American bombers attacked Ichiho Island, 200 miles south of the Nipponese capital for the first time. Single incendiary-dropping Superforts were reported continuing their Tokyo excursions.

On Luzon, the Americans were only 34 air miles from Manila, three from San Fernando.

The European battlefront the American First and Third Armies gained from two to four miles on a 40-mile front, pulling within artillery range or closer to the Siegfried Line.

The First seized four towns northeast of St. Vith, getting within a mile of the German border.

The Third captured Maxwell, getting near or across the border down to Saarbrücken. American and French troops advanced two miles to within a half mile of the outskirts of Colmar, the capital of Upper Alsace.

Lieut. Gen. Hodges' First Army sprang a surprise attack at 4 A. M. in a hillside which heaped snowdrifts seven feet high. In the early hours the First overwhelmed startled garrisons of four towns northeast of St. Vith.

Veteran First division troops appeared in the attack, and with forces from other units charged through waist-deep snow, capturing Herchenheim, Valendör, Heppenheim and Heppenheim in a cluster of five to seven miles northeast of St. Vith. Hoppenbach is four and a half miles from the German frontier.

Nazis Begin to Hold

There was no advance artillery preparation. After the first surprise, the German resistance began to stiffen.

Snowdrifts and mines were the chief obstacles. AP Correspondent Hal Boyle said the drive was a cluster of trail-blazing units had to change off every 50 yards—so exhausted were those plodding through the snowdrifts.

The reopening of the First Army's drive came 43 days after Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt broke through the Ardennes in his December offensive.

Sanford State Guard Unit In Rifle Shoot

Capt. John L. Gallaway, Lieut. John Maich and 18 men of Company C, Florida State Guard were among those of the Fourth Battalion, who participated in a non-competitive practice rifle shoot in Pinecastle yesterday held under direction of Col. Cedric C. Sims, battalion commander.

This practice shoot was held in order to familiarize the men with the loading and shooting of the Enfield service rifles, and each man kept a record of his own scores, said Capt. Gallaway. He added that the practice proceeded very nicely, and the men were enthusiastic over their valuable training. It is hoped, he said, to have another practice within the next few months.

Sanford's Company C, Orlando's Company D, Leesburg's Company A and Eustis, Company B participated in the practice.

Men from Sanford included: Cpl. Tyre, Pfc. Howell, Pfc. Taylor, Pfc. Shoemaker, Pfc. Urie, and Privates: Raborn, Jr., Jackson, Weeks, Johnson, Stacey, Reed, Wilson, Moore, Fenchel, Hines, Madson, Baker and Schenck.

Farmers Urge ODT To Lift Rail Embargo

Big Losses Seen For Vegetable Growers From Tie-Up And Manpower Shortage

Faced with possible heavy losses by reason of a week long rail embargo, which with harvest later shortage is causing daily increasing alarm among vegetable growers and shippers of Seminole County, local growers and shipping organizations wrote to Secretary O'Dell and other officials in Washington to lift the embargo as scheduled at midnight tonight.

The embargo was put into effect by the ODT last week in the northeast area of the country to achieve acute and varied relief measures against the conditions of vegetable and fruit production and marketing. It is estimated that the embargo will cost the vegetable and fruit growers of Seminole County at least $100,000 in lost production and marketing. It is also estimated that the embargo will cost the vegetable and fruit growers of Seminole County at least $100,000 in lost production and marketing.

Vegetable growers here are protesting the necessity for this embargo, which they say is not cooperative without a complaint. However, there already exists a shortage of labor for harvesting and processing these vegetables and every day further aggravates a situation that now spells thousands of dollars loss to growers.

Urgent appeals to the War Food Administration through the State Extension Division for additional labor from the Bahamas area have been made, he declared but no definite assistance as to when this labor will be available.

Rail Embargo Is Declared Serious To State Farmers

Director Wilson Laments Necessity For This Drastic Act

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 29. (Special)—A critical condition on Florida growers with perishable vegetables maturing in high fields has been created by the government embargo on rail shipments.

"We do not question the necessity for this embargo, as we are confident the government would not have taken this drastic step if such action had not been imperative," he continued, "but we do feel and strongly urge that our growers should be compensated for the loss they will suffer."

(From Kaleidograph) To each alone Truth comes stumbling Through the dark, Pressing her face Against the pane, Battling the latch. But the shy mind Housed in comfort, Draws the blind, And throws a log Upon the fire Of resistance.

Even the heart's Impulsiveness Is hushed like a child And tucked snugly Under the woven Quilt of fear.

The Russians are getting so close to Berlin they can hear Hitler's knees knocking.

Col. Elliott Roosevelt is about to be promoted to a higher general. Wonder if that will increase his transport priorities?

He drinks nothing but milk, eats only sieved vegetables and breast of chicken. Others who have stomach trouble continue to eat pickles, cucumbers, pork and potato chips might try Admiral Clark's diet.

Martin Andersen who has resumed writing his interesting and provocative column for the Orlando Sentinel tells us that the only trouble with writing a column is that too many people take up too much time arguing over his various philosophies. Someone has said that an editor should read at least ten times as much as he writes. It is equally true that an editor should allow ten times as much time as he writes in order to explain what he has written to those who can't read better than they can read.

No Republican has ever sniped the New Deal with more bitter criticism than some of our outstanding New Dealers are now. We have had a suspicion for some 15 long years that the business was not getting a square deal from the government in spite of hundreds of pledges and promises and means of raising the taxes, but only to learn now that the RFC with all its money lending powers has been but a tool of big business. So speaks no least an authority on the subject than Mr. Henry Wallace.

The purpose of the plan is to help these people who are at present in a state of semi-civilization and who are being kept in government hospitals, where they are starving, with a few cents a day, really are receiving no medical care. Overdue Vindication

Yes, 250 years is a long time to wait for a vindication. But perhaps better later than never. In 1692 Ann Green-glade Pudeator and 19 other residents of Salem, Mass., were convicted of witchcraft and hanged. This was in days which historians now call "the period of the witchcraft delusion", when any friendless old woman who offended a neighbor ran the risk of being called a witch and condemned to death. Though widespread abroad, the crusade against witchcraft in America has been generally associated with Salem. The town lived to repent its activity, and many of those who took part made public repentance later.

Now steps are being taken to wipe out the legal conviction of Ann Pudeator. H. Vance Greenleaf of New Orleans, a descendant, has filed a petition with the Massachusetts legislature to absolve her formally of the crime. The senator who introduced the bill has added five other names, and all who were executed may eventually be included. It would be proper for Massachusetts, even at this late date, to acknowledge its error. At the same time, writers referring to the Salem witchcraft mania should note that, contrary to the popular notion, the witches were not burned, but hanged. The episode is striking enough without adding picturesque untruths.

Can Wallace Make It?

How much of a stepping-stone to the presidency would Henry A. Wallace's proposed new post be? If past history still holds true, the cabinet officer with a good chance for the White House is the secretary of state. In early days one position led almost automatically to the other. Jefferson, Madison, Monroe and John Quincy Adams all had been secretary of state before becoming president. Then there was a change. While Van Buren and Buchanan, both former secretaries of state, became president, several years elapsed between their tenure of the two offices. No other secretary of state has advanced to the higher post.

Other cabinet officials have been talked of for the presidency, but with two exceptions, not seriously. Salmon P. Chase, Lincoln's secretary of the treasury, never ceased to hope, and so embarrassed Lincoln that, when Chase offered his resignation, it was gladly accepted.

The other precedent is distinctly encouraging to Wallace. One former secretary of commerce, already well known to Wallace, before entering the cabinet added so many friends there that, when the president retired, he was nominated to succeed him and was easily elected. His name was Herbert Hoover.

Brainy Bugs

The intelligence of insects, perhaps, has never been properly appreciated. We seem to class them merely as nuisances that don't really know what they're about, getting along by mere luck and numbers rather than brains. But we might be wrong.

A newspaper man writing of silkworms in California maintains that it's unanny, the way news of "good hunting" seems to spread around the insect world. Bugs will travel long distances for delicacies, and seem to have a special desire to find the works of man. When people undertake to tame a plant that has not been cultivated before, he pesky bugs rally around to defeat him.

The guayule, which grows so freely on the western plains, is cited as a notable example. The bugs seem to attack only when man associates himself with it. Lately this is said to be common procedure. It certainly seems like an indication of insect intelligence and natural cussedness.

SANFORD FORUM

Editor Herald, Sanford, Fla. Dear Sir: That citizen of Sanford might know of a movement to bring retired railway employees and Florida as tourists and permanent residents. I wish to advise that I have been sent to Florida for that purpose and have my headquarters at the DeLand Hotel DeLand, Fla.

A unit has already been organized in DeLand of Retired Railway employees, and the city government, Chamber of Commerce, Real Estate Board, Municipal Association have gone on record to back such movement after this war. Some years ago the writer had correspondence with parties in Sanford who at that time were very much interested in building a railroad community. Viz provide houses for same.

As a brief explanation as to such proposition, there are 160,000 retired railway employees now on pension. The government must pay out monthly approximately some $1,000,000. Take for example 100 retired railway employees man and wife and they will have to spend an average for rent and food and clothing $100 per month or for

Vitamins Once A Day May Be Inadequate

By W.V. Shilling, Tochtien Drug Co.

Too many people believe that a rule which applies to some is sufficient for all. The use of Vitamins is a case in point.

As a matter of fact, Vitamins should be ordered by the doctor, and the quantity and quality specified. Any other procedure is apt to be the "hit or miss" plan and fall in line for results.

There are pharmaceutical firms whose products are of outstanding quality, and who maintain unceasing vigilance over the quality and potency of their products.

The doctor's advice, however, as to the quantity needed by an individual is important. Needs are as various as these points. Consult your doctor about the use of Vitamins. Proper quality products from a reliable source.

I have been informed by the State Chapter of Commerce Mr Harold Cole, Executive Vice President, that the State Chapter was very much interested in such proposition and would back the National Association of Retired Railway Employees whose headquarters are in Louisville, Ky. in cases was possible to indicate retired and other railway employees to make their homes in Florida. In addition to DeLand letters have been received from Daytona Beach, Ormond, S. Augustine and Orlando for personal interest and would invite the writer to come to those place and explain such proposition. As Sanford is a railroad terminal such proposition should be very attractive to your city and I will be pleased to confer with your representatives at make a

N. Y. Hospital Calls Flat-Rate Plan a Success

System, Begun In July, Includes All Extras Benefiting Patients

NEW YORK CITY, Jan. 29. (AP)—An inclusive-rate program, under which hospital patients pay a uniform daily price and receive the use of hospital facilities normally billed as extras, was put into effect last July at New York Hospital, 525 East Sixty-eighth Street, and last week was pronounced a success.

Dr. John B. Pastore, assistant superintendent of New York Hospital, said that a recent survey had disclosed beneficial results of the program, both for the hospital and the patient.

Devised thirteen years ago by the University Hospitals in Cleveland, Ohio, the inclusive-rate program has long been a subject of dispute among hospital administrators. Although the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn, the program several years ago, New York Hospital is the first in Manhattan to adopt the plan for all patients.

City hospitals are offering the inclusive rate for ward or semi-private patients, and others are expected to follow.

Under the system at most hospitals the patient pays a basic rate for room and board, and all hospital facilities, such as X-rays and laboratory tests, are charged as extras. Under an inclusive rate all patients are charged at the same rate, without reference to the nature of their illness, and in return are permitted free use of all hospital facilities, with only minor exceptions.

"Under the old system," Dr. Pastore said, "every time the patient turned around there was a new charge. His doctor might want to order another X-ray, but knowing the condition of the patient's finances, he would hesitate."

"Under inclusive rate a patient does not have to pay X-rays, and it won't cost him any more. He doesn't have to worry about how much his hospitalization is going to cost him, because he knows in advance, and his physician can care for him as a total individual, rather than treating only a broken ankle or a ruptured appendix."

But under the new plan were computed an average of hospital bills over recent years, and range downward to the eighth day of hospitalization. A semi-private patient at New York Hospital, for instance, would pay hospital, $15.50 for the second $16.50 for his first day in the day, and $19.50 on the seventh day. Thereafter the charge is $16.50 a day.

For this charge the patient receives room, board, regular nursing care, X-rays, use of operating and delivery rooms, anesthesia, laboratory tests, basal metabolism, electro-cardiography, drugs, special therapy, surgical dressings, intravenous and parenteral solutions as he may require them. Special nurses, blood for transfusions and ambulance service is not included.

The ward patient, who pays on a scale downward from $13 a day to $5 after the seventh day, receives in addition the services of hospital physicians and surgeons.

"A frequent charge leveled against the plan by hospital administrators," Dr. Pastore said

Restoration Of Deer Is Well Under Way

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 29 (Special)—Restoration of deer in areas where it was necessary to destroy them several years ago while eradicating tick, is well underway, I. S. Kennedy, three-time director of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, explained in announcing the recent release of 15 deer and other animals.

For the last three years, the department has been restocking areas in Orange, Osceola, Highlands and Glades counties. Of the six counties in which tick infestation was fought, these four were the first to be declared ready several years ago for new deer.

Virginia white-tail deer are the type produced at other areas acquired, Kennedy said. Many deer were trapped in other parts of the country under Pittman-Robertson act and some were purchased with all the equipment of the department. It will be possible to rapidly replenish the once-bountiful supply of deer.

Yesterday, was that it was costly to the hospital.

"It's true that we aren't making any money," he said. "But we aren't losing any either, and the plan has saved us a lot of work of keeping track of those extra charges. But the most important point is that we feel sure we're practicing better medicine. Spreading the cost this way, each one of our 940 patients is getting better care, an more of it."

Bahama Labor Group To Arrive Here Soon

Between 200 and 250 Bahaman negro agricultural workers, badly needed to help harvest Seminole County celery and other rapidly maturing vegetables, are scheduled to arrive at the Sanford WFA Labor Camp sometime during the first week in February, it was revealed yesterday by G. Norman Rose, assistant state superintendent of Emergency Farm Labor at Gainesville, according to M. L. Cullum, president of the Seminole County Farm Bureau.

In response to Mr. Cullum's telephoned inquiry as to when this labor would arrive here, Mr. Rose stated that the first contingent of farm labor recruited by the War Relocation Administration through special agreement with the British Bahaman government, had left the Bahamas on Jan. 28, and another shipment on Jan. 28. A third was scheduled to leave yesterday.

Mr. Rose said that he did not think that more than 1,500 negroes would be allowed to leave the Bahamas to supply Florida needs as the government there was not able to release more than that.

Now that the labor arrives here depends on how fast the WFA moves in recruiting the labor, according to Mr. Rose, who added that it was hoped to allot a total of 300 workers to this county. He added that there was a good chance that this county might get prisoners of war as laborers, provided that a camp might be secured to place them in.
