Britain's Post - War Dominion Status Plan For India Is Refused

Burma Battle Hourly Is Growing More Critical For Cause Of United Nations

With the battle of Burma growing more critical, the government has been told by the United Nations that when the British Air Ministry rejected Britain's offer of a post-war dominion status for India.

The British Home Office says, in one of India's minority groups. Other more powerful factions, sharing similar disposition, refused British overtures seeking to end India's long-standing division and unite the country's 300 million population into a fighting force for the Allies.

Undated—Japan's invasion armies pounded steadily forward in Burma today as savage fighting continued at both flanks of the Allies' defense line. British and Indian detachments fighting a withdrawal action dashed through Japanese lines at Shwebooma to rejoin the main British line protecting frontiers to the south.

Undated—The British have suffered a heavy defeat, the Allies have suffered several reverses, the Japanese are on the march again, and the British are under pressure to withdraw from the Burma front.

The position of the British in the front line became rapidly more ominous even as the Chinese at Tengchong on the left wing of the Allied line joined with reinforcements coming from north and east and reestablished their positions after a week of the most bitter combat.

Up to Sunday, a Chinese commando said, the bodies of 8,000 dead Japanese were counted on the battlefield around Tengchong. Field fighting continues, despite General T. E. J. G. Alexander's statement yesterday that the British position in the front line became rapidly more ominous even as the Chinese at Tengchong on the left wing of the Allied line joined with reinforcements coming from north and east and reestablished their positions after a week of the most bitter combat.

Unofficial reports determined mainly by the amount of applause given Boston Braves fans as they step to the plate at Municipal field, have placed Ernie Lombardi, big catcher, and Paul "Big Poison" Waner, hustling right fielder, as the leaders in popularity contests being conducted among local baseball ticket holders.

A percentage of the money taken in by sales of the ticket books which contain voting coupons for the most popular performers will be awarded to the winner. This amount already totals over $500. Charles Morrison, president of the Chamber of Commerce Entertainment Committee, stated today that a box soon will be placed at the ball park in which popularity coupons may be placed.

From an observer's viewpoint, this is one contest in which the players are not going to get away with it. The public has been advised on the schedule cards that Brooklyn was to open here Saturday. On Saturday night, however, the Braves would have been instead. Rather than have a duplicate occurrence of the situation last week when Montreal showed up in place of the "Home" Stamps, cancelled the contest.

"I would have liked to play the game," the Braves' pilot stated.

"But I wouldn't want fans around here to think we were trying to put something over on them."

"I thought the best thing to do was just cancel the whole thing."

President John Quinn of Boston, who has reported to his home, preparing amateur contestants.

General Alexander, however, has indicated that the game will be played.

Save Your Tubes

Save your old tubes if you would keep on brushing your teeth throughout this war. The War Production Board has just ruled that no more toothpaste or shaving cream can be sold by drugstores to any customer who fails to turn in an old tube to take its place. The penalty for violation of this ruling is a $10,000 fine.

The idea seems to be that such tubes are made largely from tin and that tin happens to be one of the most metals we have the most of. Tin is used a great deal in nearly all implements of war and a large part of this country's tin formerly came from the Far East, now in Japanese hands.

There will be no more food products put up in tin cans—which incidentally are mostly iron with only a thin coating of tin. Tin will still be used for toothpaste tubes and for shaving cream tubes but no longer for cosmetics and most other toilet preparations. And you cannot buy a new tube even for toothpaste unless you turn your old

Just what will happen in the case of a new born babe when he begins to cut his teeth but has no old tube to turn in, or in the event you lose your toothpaste or someone steals it from you, is not made clear. Evidently you are not able to buy a new tube. Or perhaps you are expected to swipe one from someone else.

In any event it will be interesting to see how many people are still using toothpaste by the time the war is over.

The American Red Cross

It takes all kinds of Copperheads to lose a war; and there are many kinds in this country. Among the lowest are those who criticize and slander the American Red Cross and the work it is doing for the men in service and their families.

Venomous poison has been spewed at the Red Cross recently, and it has caused considerable grief and uneasiness to mothers of soldiers and sailors serving abroad.
Knowing ones' whisper slyly that the Red Cross makes no accounting of the millions of dollars volunteered to it by the public. This, of course, is not true. A report is published every year, after a careful audit has been made by the War Department. Others insinuate, and even sometimes boldly declare, that soldiers and sailors have to pay from the Red Cross whatever they need—are even charged for medical attention.

The biggest job the Red Cross has is that of working with soldiers and sailors and members of their families, caring for the sick and the wounded, taking care of their helpless dependents, keeping the morale high, both in the camp and at home.

It is important, most important, that morale be maintained. The Copperheads realize this. Hence their vicious and sly attacks on the integrity of the Red Cross. Destroy faith in the one civilian organization that should be, and is, above all suspicion—and you've destroyed morale.—Chicago Sun.

The System Breaks Down

Most of the towns and villages on Long Island are maintaining some sort of monitor system for air raid alerts. In Roslyn, this is the duty of the fire department.
A sleeping bag has been provided for the man who takes the night trick; he just cuddles up beside the telephone and relaxes while awaiting an alarm. Well, the other night the Mitchel Field people, testing out their systems, telephoned all the monitors in the neighborhood. Everyone answered on the dot but the Roslyn man. He called in, forty-five minutes later, and reported that the zipper on his sleeping bag had jammed.—The New Yorker.

Preferred Assets

An ambulance arrived at the scene of an accident to rescue the badly injured driver. Carefully placing the semi-conscious man on the stretcher, the attendants lifted him into the ambulance. Dazed, the patient glanced back at his car. Suddenly his eyes opened wide, and he turned to the stretcher bearers. "Say, fellows," he gasped, "would you have time to take the tires off my car and put them in here with me?"—Quote.

Tips Are Given On Combating Insects

GAINESVILLE, Apr. 1—(Special)—Spring vegetables are coming up in thousands of home gardens. Gardeners should now begin fighting the insects if their efforts are to prove fruitful. J. R. Watson, State Experiment Station entomologist, pointed out today.

To help Florida gardeners get the best of the pests, Mr. Watson made the following observations and suggestions:

If a plant has been cut in two, dig around the roots and find the caterpillars. The best time for doing this is early morning.

If the garden is large, a bait made of one pound of parsnip green and 25 pounds of bran, guinea and moistened, and scattered in very small amounts around the plants in the evening is effective against caterpillars. One pound of this bait is sufficient for 200 feet of bean rows or 50 tomato plants. It's best to make up about 20 pounds of this bait and keep it on hand, moistening it as needed. (Very parsimonious, the bait should be kept dry.)
