Murray Byrd Hurls Five-Hitter; Redbirds Play In Cocoa Tonight

By KENT CHETLAIN
After last night's refreshing 8-5 triumph over the sluggish Florida Azules, the Sanford Cardinals hit the road again this evening in quest of their second win in four games this year. The fearsome bats of the local Redbirds will measure Provoct Park for size tonight and test the new found strength of the Cocoa Indians.

The clash, which will be the first between the two clubs, will be broadcast by Jim Fields, Chief General Manager, over WTRB beginning at 7:45 p.m.

The Cards will meet an almost brand new team and a ex-Major League second baseman—Manager Carver "Hanna" Rowell. Against the Indiana Sanford might throw David Leonard or Paul Smith, two high salaried pitchers down on option.

Manager J. C. Dunn was still at odds this morning as to which of the two hurlers he should use. With Rowell hitting from the left side, Dunn has even given consideration of trying one of his two southpaws—Paul McMurray or Paul Corbett. Both however are rookies and may sit out a few more games until things are settled.

Smith posted a 3-14 record with Centralia of the Mississippi Ohio Valley League in his first year in organized ball last season. The 6-foot-2 righthander fanned 107 in 165 innings and pitched in 29 games.

Leonard is the largest man on the Sanford Cards weighing 215 and stands a towering 6-foot-5. He is a rookie, however, and Dunn may lean toward Smith who has one year of ball under his belt.

Last night the old pro Murray Byrd finally made his 1955 debut firing a five-hitter, yielding only two earned runs while striking out 10 and passing six.

The youthful Redbirds ripped the cover off the ball spraying hits to all fields to maintain their upturn in skin of outitting the opposition in every game this year.

Their adeptness at "cutting and slashing" reminded this scribe of last year's Jay Beach Sea Birds who were second in the loop in batting with a lofty .274 mark. For the first three games, Sanford is literally clubbing the old pill with a robust .318 average.

The Cards broke the ice taking a lead in the first inning. In the fourth on consecutive hits to center by Bob Folkert, Dims and Lou Calvetti. But Sanford's old hands, Al Pirle, speared a homer with Mike Kasaban on in the top of the fifth to tie things up.

Not to be denied, Sanford rallied again in the last of the fifth when Folkert sent Byrd across on an infield force play. The Redbirds' second baseman, Jim Field, broke the tie in the sixth. Bob Skelton drove both Calvetti and Tom Leonard home in a single, and after Tom Nix singled, Bascom Hamm spelled Kaczmarek.

Bill Batty, who has been hitting like a house after sporting a .402 average, drove Hamm's first pitch into center to score Skelton. Batty later knocked in the last run on another bing in the eighth.

Pirle stirred the fans in the ninth by whacking out his second circuit drive with two men on to bring in all five Azules runs in the game. It was a repeat performance for the power-packed round man who hit two homers in his last appearance at the Memorial Stadium in 1952.

CARD CAPERS: Tom Leonard, much heralded batting leader of the Coastal Florida loop, made his debut in the Sanford lineup after an absence of four days. Leonard fanned his first time up, but beat out a hunt in his next three tries. Leonard supplanted alling Lou Belfrage. The giant, Rotola in firing a swaller 4-0.

Cocoa Nips 'Hats, 14-13, In Bitter 14-Inning Battle

By The Associated Press
Jacksonville Beach held sole occupancy of first place in the Florida State League today after kicking out Orlando, 15-4, and getting some help from Cocoa which disposed of Deland.

It had been a three-way tie at the top with the season four days old.

Deland was reluctant to move down in the standings, fighting Cocoa 14 innings before yielding, 14-13, Thursday night.

In other games Daytona Beach whipped Leesburg, 12-3; and Sanford took Palatka, 8-5.

Ernie Stride, 14-year-old southpaw pitched Daytona Beach's first victory of the season, yielding only six hits and ending the game in the ninth by starting a triple play on Jackie Boyd's infield drive. Craumer relayed to shortstop John Skrupski who doubled Claude Ramsey off second; and Skrupski pegged to first baseman Ed Levy to nab Andy Caldwell.

Jack Hazen's Jacksonville Beach teammates backed him up with 15 hits for the victory over Orlando. Hazen, former University of Florida pitching star, had a shutout until the sixth when the Senators gleaned two runs off a double, two singles and a wild pitch. Clyde Briggs knocked in four Beach runs.

Murray Byrd, Sanford's lone 1955 holdover, gave up five hits, struck out 10 Palatka men and was well supported by a hit Redbird at bat. Al Pirle was the entire Palatka offense, blasting in all five runs—a two-run homer in the fifth and one in the ninth with two aboard.

Seminoles Rap Out 9-2 Victory Over Mainland Bucs

Fleischer Wins 2nd; SHS Plays Monday

By SAM JACOBSON
The lone hit fanned, which of late has severely appressed the Seminole High School diamond, broke with a roar yesterday afternoon in Fleming pasture directly atop French Hill as the hungry Seminole batsmen unleashed the full fury of their pent-up desire to finally trounce the Mainland High School Buccaneers, 9-2.

In netting the win the Feds pounded out nine base raps to almost equal their record of ten hits for the past four games combined; while in one inning, the hectic 8th, they more than surpassed their total run output for the same four encounters.

People 11 successful ending, however, the contest opened on a dismal note for the locals as the coastal city lads rocked Sanford's home run. Mel Hester, the hero of the game, hit a home run, which scouted through third sacker Jackie's legs.

But the Bucs were still potent and in the fifth inning threatened an uprising which did not come. Nevertheless, Fleischer tightened up and retired the visitors without mishap throughout the remainder of the game.

The locals, however, could not be killed. They picked up a single tally in the fifth frame to move the count to 1-0.

Then, as the fateful sixth rolled around with the bats still somewhat in doubt, the home team broke loose and when the dust had cleared, was firmly entrenched on the lone end of a lopsided 9-2 score.

Gene Estridge opened the big inning for the Seminole by flying out to right field. The Miami Sox batter, Frank Stafford, laced a sharp single to center. Mel Fleischer drew a base on balls and all hands were on deck when the field's foul grounder was booted.

Then, with the sacks piled, Humboldt drilled a single through the infield for one run. Melta led off the game, but he was not a fourth with another bingle. Metta, who had moved to third on Kridler's blow, came home on Corbett's home run to give the Feds the fifth run of the frame and the final marker of the contest.

10 Sanford Women Golfers To Enter State Tournament

Sanford and Seminole County will be well represented in next week's annual Women's State Amateur tournament at Hazenota. A delegation of 10 women from the Mayfair Inn Seminole Country Club will leave tomorrow for the week-long tourney.

This year for the first time, the opening preliminary two-ball event will be confined to women only. In the past it has been a mixed affair. The two-ball event will open this year's meet on Sunday to be followed by the qualifying rounds on Monday.

The tournament will last all next week until the finals a week from today. The women are making the trip with Mrs. Hugh Wheeler, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. E. C. Hayman, Mrs. Ross Adams, Mrs. Eliza O'Liney, Mrs. Andrew Carraway, Cecile Heyard, Ellen Letts, Mrs. Price Heard, and Mrs. Earl Higginbotham.

The SPORTS REGISTER

Local fans may have been a bit disappointed over last Monday night's opener when Manager J. C. Dunn and his Cardinal striplings booted five and lost out 7-1 to Orlando. The weather wasn't exactly ideal and the fans had little to get warmed up about.

Taken on face value, this might have been the beginning of the end for baseball in Sanford if it had been the Seminole Blues, because last year's club was composed of a group of "over-the-hill" veterans who had reached their maturation point in playing skill.

But, the more objective fans saw in last Monday night's game a brighter picture than the errors or final score indicated. As Hugh Wheeler pointed out yesterday, "Those kids are young, they will improve and learn as the season goes along. They showed us a taste and if they continue to do it, we will have a pretty fair club by the end of the season."

Sitting near Sanford's baseball "ambassador," C. R. "Charlie" Dawson, heartily agreed. "Why I can remember Sid Hudson when he first pitched for Sanford," Dawson recalled. "Sid did anything but impress, yet he went on to win 24 and lose only four."

One bright spot in Monday night's opener was the hurling job turned in by Clarence Ingram, crafty righthander whose roundhouse curve even fooled the ump in spite of the losing, both the opener and the Deland game in relief. Ingram more than impressed diamond critics. The fastballing Georgian, who hails from Albany, showed unusual effectiveness, marked only by poor fielding support.

Ingram has yielded but three earned runs in 12 and one-third innings. He has fanned 10 in that span while walking only one batter. What more can fans ask? Last year, Ingram could have racked up at least 20 victories if he played for Sanford. The Seminole Blues of 1952 capped 84 batters, breaking the FNL home run record by 16. They were fourth high in batting with a .290 mark and third in RBIs, an effective hurling lost many games and possibly the pennant in 1952.

While Ingram holds an ignominious 0-2 record in the first two games, everyone including the skeptics are predicting good things from him.

BRIEFS: Mr. Dawson recalls that Manager Dunn is wearing the same number immortal Sid Hudson wore the year he played for Sanford before making the rare jump to the majors, No. 17. . . . Big Louis Rotola, Sanford righthander, has been playing with a swollen knee. The lumbering gardener twisted his knee in Albany, Ga., before coming to Sanford and has been having trouble running with it ever since. Some fans probably noticed this in the Monday night opener.

Dr. Leonard Munson has prescribed more work to strengthen it. Rotola was taken from the Deland game in the wild night after he hobbled down to first on a walk. The much heralded outfielder assigned to Sanford, Tom Leonard, finally arrived last night.

Leonard left Albany before the cards departed for Sanford to pick up his wife in New York. He was due in for last Monday night's opener but didn't arrive until last night. . . . Leonard led the Coastal Florida League with a lustrous .318 batting mark last season. He was called up to the class B Redbird farm team at Winston-Salem and played in less than 10 games at the end of the season.

Leonard also has a one-year-old daughter. The stocky flycatcher is 5-foot-11 and weighs 170 pounds. He will be one of the oldest players on the roster at 25. The flyhawk was signed out of Ithaca College. His record last year in 86 games included 17 doubles, 5 triples, one homer and 121 hits. It was his first year in pro ball.

Fort Lauderdale, Miami Set Early Flag Pace In FIL

By The Associated Press
The second set of openers for the Florida International League is scheduled tonight with Tampa at St. Petersburg, Fort Lauderdale and West Palm Beach at Miami.

St. Petersburg and Tampa, which started the season before 3:47 in the Miami Stadium, led the Sun Sox already have whipped West Palm Beach twice and will count on Ma Moseley to pitch their third victory over the Indians.

Pepper Martin and his Ft. Lauderdale Lions, boasting two wins over Havana's Cubans in Key West, look forward to a record 12-0 start over Ft. Lauderdale.

Tampa's Smokers scored in all but two innings to wallop the Saints in their opener Thursday night 7-4. Petersburg got only three hits and scored three runs on a single and three Tampa errors. The Smokers collected 10 hits off George Vidal and Marshall Smith.

Joe Bernier pitched a five-hitter at West Palm Beach and the Sun Sox, elbowed three Indian mounders, scored in four of the five innings for a 12-2 decision. Don Palatka's triple after Fritz Luciano had singled robbed Bernier of a shutout.

Ft. Lauderdale exploded for three runs in the 12th inning to break up an overtime struggle with Havana. John Davis homered with Edwin Charles on base to set off the rally and George Handy doubled, scoring on Mario Iacavello's single.

DON'T FEAR PEACE

Humphrey States U.S. Not Headed For Bust

Treasury Secretary Asks Cut In Taxes

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey said today the United States is "not headed for depression" whether there is a no war Korea or even a real peace.

"There is no reason to fear peace," he said.

In his first address since he took office in the Eisenhower administration, Humphrey outlined a fiscal policy that called for a reduction in taxes when governmental expenses "are under control."

His address was for more than 1,000 editors and publishers attending the annual luncheon of members of the Associated Press, worldwide news gathering conveners, live at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

"Taxes must come down," he said. "It's simply a matter of timing geared to reduction of expenses. Both are too high and both must be reduced."

"The reduction of taxes, moreover, is one of the best guarantees we have against the fear of depression in the event that peace makes possible curtailment of government defense spending."

Humphrey said any fear of a depression if defense spending is reduced is unjustified. He said the nation's industrial plant "is already geared to increased civilian production."

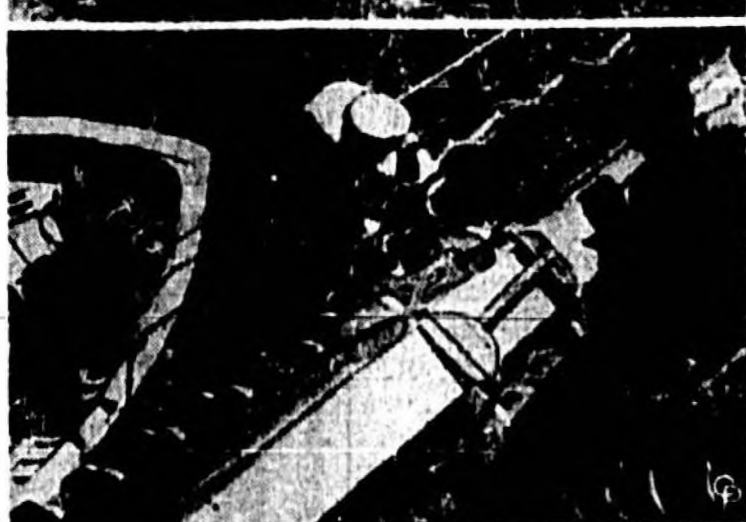

"We are not going to have a depression in America whether we have an armistice, a real peace, or continue to develop a proper and balanced posture of defense."

"There is no reason for a depression unless we fail ourselves to do the things we ought to do and lack the courage and foresight to do them."

"There will be readjustments, of course. There are always readjustments taking place in any active economy, sometimes to the advantage and sometimes to the disadvantage of one group and sometimes to another. But depression, no, we cannot preserve our way of life through another long, deep depression and we must ever try to do better."

"One essential to accomplish this goal is to bring our federal expenditures under control and at the earliest possible time balance them with our income," he said.

"The first step in preserving the nation's economic strength, he said, is to achieve a sound cur-

Survey Planned To Learn Damage Caused By Floods

Questionnaires to determine the amount of flood damage done during the past several years are being mailed to 2,000 area farmers today following Friday afternoon's meeting of the Seminole County Flood Improvement Association in Ocala, Fla.

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the Association and the Corps of Engineers in obtaining reliable information on flood damage experienced in recent years.

Farmers are being requested to cooperate in the important survey by providing information on damage suffered on their farms or in their businesses.

F. E. Breckenridge, secretary of the Improvement Association and also manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, said forms would be sent to those who have sustained damage. But farmers who do not receive questionnaires should request his office to send them.

When the local survey is completed, Herbert C. Gee, a retired Army colonel who represented the consulting engineer firm of Gee and Jenson of West Palm Beach at Friday's meeting, said the improvement project would be submitted to Washington for consideration.

Several farmers appeared at the meeting to give their views on flood control.

P. C. Knox of Deland, retired, pointed out that if a questionnaire (Continued on page six)

Commission To Have Adjourned Meeting

An adjourned session of the regular meeting of Apr. 13 will be held by the City Commission tonight at 8:00 o'clock in City Manager Tom Lemon's office.

The shift to smaller quarters was necessitated by the use of the Commissioners' chambers by a Chamber of Commerce group this evening.

Mr. Lemon said that "as far as he knew" only minor matters would be discussed at the session. However, it is possible that there may be some discussion of the "Jeffrey Report" following the probe now being undertaken in Ft. Lauderdale of a man who made undercover investigations in several cities including Sanford.

Historical Society Plans Drive For Members; Officers Re-elected

A drive for new members will be launched by the Seminole County Historical Society in the near future, it was decided at a meeting of the group in the City Hall Friday night.

In a meeting presided over by Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, Hannah Chase pointed out that it was only through large membership and broad public support of such a project that the necessary funds could be raised with which to construct the proposed Sanford memorial and historical museum.

Upon motion of Mrs. C. Stuart Brown, it was decided to fix the initial membership fee at $1.00 per year and family membership at $2.50. Mrs. Roumillat appointed Mrs. Brown chairman of a committee to conduct the membership drive. Other members of the committee named were Mrs. Fred T. Williams, Mrs. A. R. Key, Mrs. Roy Tillis, and Mrs. L. P. Hagan.

Officers re-elected for the coming year were Mrs. Roumillat, president; Hannah Chase, vice president; Mrs. C. R. Dawson, secretary; J. B. Root, treasurer; and Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Brown and Roland Dean, directors.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting on the last Monday in April of each year.

Mrs. Roumillat, emphasized the hope that through the increased membership, resulting from the drive, the society will be able to realize its dream to obtain a library memorial in which to house General Sanford's books and art treasures.

"We who will be able to preserve other items of a historical nature that county or city residents would like to have memorialized," she added.

General J. C. Hutchinson inaugurated the drive by being the first subscriber to purchase a family membership, and others attending the meeting followed suit.

House Moves To Aid Cities Thru Tax Law

Cigarette Tax Law Provision Changed

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The House today passed, 77-9, a bill loosening the requirement that cities must reduce property taxes in order to get their shares of the state cigarette taxes.

The measure, a part of the Florida League of Municipalities legislative program, provides that no city may be required to reduce its operating ad valorem tax millage to less than the tax levied by it in any year during the five-year period immediately preceding Jan. 1, 1949.

The cigarette tax law which became effective in November, 1949, gave the cities the tax collected within their boundaries but said they must make proportionate property tax reductions.

The House also voted 83-0 to repeal an old law which prohibits members of the Legislature from receiving printing contracts from the State.

The bill now goes to the Senate. Rep. Shepperd, president of the St. Augustine Herald Printing Co. who said he is the only member restricted by law, asked for its repeal.

He said he just wanted the Legislature "merely to put printers on the same basis as everybody else."

Several members suggested it would be a good idea to prohibit all members of the Legislature no matter what their businesses, from doing business with the state.

Rep. Ballinger, all said the law prohibiting legislators from doing state printing was passed in 1907 when all the state's printing was let under a contract to one firm known as the "state printer."

The state auditor recently cited the old law in commenting that Shepperd's company had received some contracts in violation of the law.

A Freshman House member proposed that all members of the Florida Legislature be requested to wear name tags so employees can distinguish lobbyists from the legislators.

Rep. Alexander, Liberty County, said "It has become the practice of many interested persons to hire ex-legislators and elderly lawyers to represent pressure groups in the House and Senate."

As a result, he said, some "pen pals" have found themselves at longings to an elderly and distinguished looking lobbyist while a young man who is a lobbyist is being looked upon as a "state printer."

He said the name plates also would help keep inexperienced lobbyists "from mistakenly being elected" and aid law enforcement officers in determining "who has and who has not legislative immunity to arrest."

Rep. Campbell, Oklawaha, introduced a bill to abolish all reserved parking privileges on state and local streets.

All three persons in the Varn car were thrown to the road as the result of the impact, Mr. Varn died at the scene, and Mrs. Varn died soon after being admitted to the hospital.

Trooper Vinton Sheffield of the State Highway Patrol said the two cars "collided almost head-on" when the car driven by Mr. Miller went on the wrong side of the road and crashed into the vehicle being operated by Mr. Varn.

Trooper Sheffield said Mr. Miller is being held on a charge of manslaughter.

All three persons in the Varn car were thrown to the road as the result of the impact, Mr. Varn died at the scene, and Mrs. Varn died soon after being admitted to the hospital.

Released American Prisoners Report Fair Treatment By Reds

By ROBERT LUSKON
FREDDOM VILLAGE, Ky. (AP)—American and fellow United Nations prisoners freed today from Communist prison stocks and the Reds treated them fairly well, particularly after the first few days when they were being converted from military to civilian status.

All agreed it was somewhat of a relief.

Ray M. Jones, Monmouth, Ill., said Communist treatment was "unbelievably poor" before the Reds took them, but the quality improved after the first few days when they were being converted from military to civilian status.

He said the Reds suddenly dropped all military discipline and the prisoners were segregated in common camps, and the Reds made a big effort to indoctrinate the released men.

He said Allied prisoners generally received better treatment than captured officers, but it would be hard to say how in a very few minutes.

Jones was captured when his regiment was off the offensive, held by the Communists in a quite quiet area.

"I saw a certain amount of Red propaganda in North Korea, but it was not very much."

He said the Reds were given the medical care and the Communist camp, which was the best he had seen in North Korea. He said he had seen a lot of Red doctors who were trained in Detroit.

Life around the camp was not very good, but he said the first few days were the best he could do, although the first few days were pretty rough.

Some prisoners said they had seen a lot of Red propaganda, but (Continued on page six)

Multiple Collision Causes Big Damage

Three colored drivers in separate cars were involved in a multiple collision at the corner of Ocala Avenue and Thirtieth Street causing an estimated damage of $900 to the three vehicles.

The collision occurred on Sunday morning, and was reported today by Police Chief Roy C. Williams.

Melvin Pompey, 50-year-old colored man of 911 Hickory Avenue, was traveling east on Thirtieth Street when he glanced off the front of one car, going north, and plowed into another north-bound car.

The car driven by Aron Caphart, colored, of 108 West Tenth Street, was first hit and received an estimated $50 in damages from Pompey's car. Henry Lee Baldwin, colored, 37, of 710 Cypress Avenue, who was passing Caphart on the right going north at the intersection, collided with Pompey, who had just glanced off Caphart's car.

Damages to Baldwin's car were not at $50 while Caphart's auto sustained $500 in damages. No one was injured. Patrolman Arnold E. Williams and Ben Butler investigated the accident at 1:20 o'clock Sunday morning and arrested Baldwin and Pompey for careless and negligent driving.

Blues In The News

By BOB ANTHONY

Many men aboard NAAS enjoyed plenty of swimming over the weekend but one of the main topics of conversation this morning included the excellent catches made by various NAAS fishermen. The men in the master-at-large's office are still talking about the fighting seven and one-half pound bass Bob Haves managed to land at Lemon Bay yesterday and, strangely enough, within a half hour after Bob had landed his prize, Don Taylor of the NAAS Personnel Office, hauled in a four and one-eighth pound bass out of the same waters.

Saturday turned out to be a good day for fishing for another NAAS man, Leroy Hiles, Leroy did his fishing in the St. John's near DeLeon with his friend Joseph Johnson and, although Joe didn't do so well, Leroy finished the day with seven bass to his credit, the largest weighing an even two pounds. He went out again yesterday morning with his two brothers, Spike and Leo, but the fish just weren't biting. Leroy is attached to the Communications Department here aboard the station.

A capacity crowd was on hand at the Club's Club aboard the station Friday night to enjoy the NAAS Firemen's Ball. Shrimp, Joe Hill, from the comments I've heard, the shrimp was delicious, the dancing was fun and everyone present had a wonderful time, which, undoubtedly means there will be more benefit shrimp balls in the future to help increase the fund to be used to buy toys for the underprivileged children at Christmas time.

Not everyone was at the shrimp ball Friday though, because there was a large gathering at the Sanford USO here, champagne and ice cream was made with electric and hand ice cream freezers. Miss Mildred Awall was the junior hostess for the evening. After the ice cream was eaten, the crowd enjoyed an evening of dancing to recordings.

That isn't a new car you see Ken Jones rilling around in these days. It's the same car but Ken has had it painted. Ever since Ken bought his green and brown "Chevy" last fall, he's been planning to have it repainted and Thursday he did just that. It's now a beautiful two-tone green and it really looks "sharp!"

A newcomer to NAAS over the weekend is Donald E. Warner, engineer. He reported aboard for duty Sunday from the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. Don has just completed a course of instruction in the Class "A" Engineer School there. His home is in Quincy, Ill. Welcome aboard Don.

Tickets are now on sale for the USO hay ride and wiener roast which will be held this Friday night. The hay ride will start at the Sanford USO and end at Rock Springs where the wiener roast will take place. Tickets are a quarter and may be obtained from any member here at the USO or from Ralph Gassman, Bill Brennan or Al Lozovsky here aboard the station. All tickets must be bought in advance and since the size track is so well known upon the number of tickets sold, this Thursday has been set as a deadline for buying your ticket. Don't be left out. 100 Mile An Hour Chase Ends With Arrest Of Speeder

A wild-and-wooly 100-mile-an-hour automobile race down Route 14-92, led by a souped-up La Salle sedan with a deputy sheriff in hot pursuit, ended in Winter Park early Sunday morning with the arrest of a 35-year-old Orlando mechanic after a 17-mile breath-taking chase.

The mechanic, Harold T. Hanner, was arrested and brought back to Sanford by Deputy Sheriff Bob Hobbs after Mr. Hanner swerved off the highway, stopped and turned off his lights near the corner of Fairbank and Orange Avenues, Sheriff J. L. Hobbs reported today.

He refused to go to Sanford at first, claiming that Mr. Farrall didn't have any jurisdiction in Orange County. However, the Deputy summoned a Winter Park policeman and Mr. Hanner was taken to Sanford for arrest. He was later released upon posting a $100 bond.

According to Sheriff Hobbs, the state law provides law enforcement officers the right to cross county lines while in pursuit.

The racing chase began at the corner of Twenty-fifth Street and Park Avenue at 4:00 o'clock Sunday morning when Mr. Hanner swung his car south on 14-92 with a towed wheel, turning left and whizzed down the highway.

Deputy Farrall took up the pursuit but was unable to overtake the hooded-in sedan until Mr. Hanner pulled off the highway in Winter Park.

Shortage Of Labor Stirs Government

Washington (E-P) - More than 32,000 jobs are going begging, despite a nationwide search for qualified workers to fill them, the Labor Department said today.

Of the total jobs available, the department said in a statement, the toughest to fill are in these categories: mechanical engineers, tool and die makers, elementary school teachers, machine shop workers and unskilled automobile workers.

Some of the jobs can be filled from local labor supplies, the statement said, and the search is now going on "throughout out of area and out of state recruitment" in which federal and state governments are cooperating.

2,000 Columbus, Georgia Homes Are Ripped To Pieces By Twister

COLUMBUS, Ga. (E-P) - The Columbus area began to pick itself up yesterday from the awesome blimpers of more than 2,000 homes ripped to ruin or near ruin by the worst wind-torn disaster in local memory.

As testified by historical experts, the April 24 twister, which the city was captured by the Yankees during the War Between the States.

Churning through Alabama and Georgia yesterday like a mighty scythe, the storm killed four people and injured 20 in Columbus and Phenix City and Smiths, Ala. It demolished 499 homes, caused major damage to 1,648 and partially smashed 252 others.

The lovely, tree-graced city of Auburn, Ala., suffered a grievous blow, counting heavy damage to 68 homes, 10 of them demolished.

Disaster teams continued today to plow into their task. They faced the monumental job of clearing miles of city streets clogged with tree trunks, utility wires and poles and debris from the smashed buildings.

Hundreds of homeless, cheerless citizens had to be fed, clothed and sheltered. There was a job of unending to be done, too, because the danger of looting was ever present.

Columbus and Muscogee County commissioners met in joint session yesterday to study the tragedy. Commissioners could not possibly estimate damage but they knew it would easily run into several million dollars.

Red Cross set up emergency stations at five points throughout the city to aid victims seeking food, clothing and shelter. The Salvation Army distributed relief items from its headquarters.

National Guard units remained on duty today and one guard outfit said many of the men would be forced to remain for the next few days to help clear the damage and debris.

Police, fire, rescue workers and guardsmen, their weapons with fixed bayonets, continued to patrol and work today in the smothered residential areas.

The whopping cleanup job was hampered yesterday when about 150 people and injured 129 in Columbus. As reported a grievous and many of them would be School, Johnson and Edgewood Smith. Also being four dead and 200 persons homeless after destruction to dwellings. An entire community was wiped out along with a Baptist church. The death toll Mrs. Annie Mae Morgan, Negro, "when I was there."

In four hospitals of Columbus and Phenix City today attendants reported 28 persons were still confined with injuries. Two of the victims remained in critical condition. Three Muscogee County schools were closed today and pupils were told to stay home until further notice. They were the 45th Street School, Johnson and Edgewood Schools, the latter totally demolished by the high winds.

Muscogee County School Supt. W. H. Shaw said Johnson was considerably damaged and the 45th Street School was a 50 per cent loss.

More than 100 soldiers from Fort Benning were pressed into service yesterday and 50 Highway Patrolmen from throughout the state also helped.

The twister tore into tiny seven people and injured 129 in Columbus. As reported a grievous and many of them would be School, Johnson and Edgewood Smith. Also being four dead and 200 persons homeless after destruction to dwellings. An entire community was wiped out along with a Baptist church. RIBS OF A SKELETON IN A LUZON FOREST

(From The Virginia Quarterly Review)
What grew about this frame through which wild vines now flow?

Roses? Yes. Yes a dark red, maroon rose.

Unlike the common bright flowers these tropical creepers grow
A rose with crimson streamers twined this trellis—

The central ornament of an elaborate palace.

The palace crumbled. Only the trellis shows.

That here ephemeral life went wandering through.

The dark red rose which is far lovelier than

All others, complex, cultivated flower.

Is gone; the petals fell, the tendrils ran.

Rambling into the earth, their scattered power

Still paints the raw wild weed a richer red.

Overgrown in the jungle now, only the trellis

Is left to speak the mystery of a palace:

DOROTHY LEE RICHARDSON

Did you know that 95 percent of all woods fires in Florida are caused by man, that lightning causes only 5 percent?

Lester Markel, Sunday editor of the New York Times, tells the American Society of Newspaper editors that what this country wants is more foreign news. Evidently he has never run a small town newspaper.

The average passenger car in Florida nowadays travels 10,000 miles a year. Thirty years ago the average was 1,000 miles. People get around much more nowadays than they used to even if they don't always know where they are going.

Did you notice President Eisenhower's proposal for world peace?

- 1. World disarmament, and limitation of military production.
- 2. International control of atomic energy, and prohibition of atomic weapons.
- 3. Limitation or prohibition of other mass destructive weapons.
- 4. Enforcement of all this by "a practical system of inspection under the United Nations." It's that last one the Russians don't like.

British Field Marshal Montgomery is not suffering from any attack of nervous jitters, or at least, so he says. In Ottawa he advises Americans against running around "like a lot of wet hens in fear of an atomic attack. "What you'll get will probably be nothing to what we'll get in Europe", he says, adding that an attack on this country via Alaska or the North Pole is a very poor bet. So quit looking under the bed and go back to sleep.

The construction of a toll tunnels for the lower east coast beginning about 80 miles north of Miami may be a happy solution for the east coast's unhappy highway problem. No one can deny the traffic congestion which exists from Stuart south, and if this could be relieved without costing the taxpayers anything, we don't see why we should object. Such a solution would leave just that much more money in the State Highway Department budget for use in congested areas in other parts of the state, between Sanford and Orlando, for instance.

We don't know whether we like this proposal or not for letting the Legislature call itself back into special session any time it wants to.
Seems to us the Legislature could pass all the laws that need to be passed in 60 days if it got down to business and stayed at it. We don't know how much work they would get done if any left-over business could be handled in a special session any time members wanted to call it. And it seems to us that what this country needs these days is not more laws, but fewer laws more enforced.

Goodwill Mission

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower will soon embark on a goodwill and fact finding mission to Latin America. He will be the personal representative of his brother, President Eisenhower, and his tour will mark the beginning of renewed efforts to promote friendly relations with the countries of the Western Hemisphere.

In recent years there have been signs of deterioration in our relationships with some countries of Latin America.
In our concentration on making alliances to halt Communism in Europe and Asia we may have lost sight of how important our neighboring countries can be to our well-being.

The fact that he is the brother of the President of the United States will make Dr. Eisenhower's task easier. But he is well qualified in his own right for any such assignment. His record of public service dates back to the administration of President Hoover: He was director of information for the Department of Agriculture from 1928 to 1940, and during the second world war he served in the Office of War Information. He is at present the president of the Pennsylvania State College and from 1948 to 1949 he was our delegate to the general conference of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Dr. Eisenhower's mission should do much to convince Latin Americans that we regard them as neighbors and their friendship as important.

Herd, Flock And Pride

The foreign citizen was trying to learn English. "No," said his teacher, "you mustn't say a herd of sheep. You must say a flock. You can, however, speak of a herd of cattle." If the pupil had gone further, he would have learned the incorrectness of the term, "flock of girls." The accepted word is "levy."

Apparently almost every living object has its own special term to denote a considerable number. J. Donald Adams, writing in the New York Times Book Review, has unearthed some extraordinary ones. A group of lions constitutes a "pride," he says, but of geese it is a "gaggle."

It is correct to say a "charm" of goldfinches, but for nightingales it is a "swath." Two specially striking terms are a "shred" of apples and a "murmuration" of starlings. Anyone who has listened to starlings in quantity on a tall building will approve the fitness of "murmuration."

Just why it should be necessary for each animal to have its own special term for a collective plural is something that only authorities on language can answer. Most of us are likely to go wrong with the foreign citizen trying to learn English.

Function Of News

News has many facets. It can inform, instruct, interpret, or entertain. All of these phases of news are important.
Some are more vital at times than others, but the sum total of news, the "big" and the "little" stories, which make up the gist of the day's newspaper, should reflect accurately the lives and actions of the people in the community, state, nation and world.

News cannot be suppressed because it is "bad" or played up because it is "good." The impact of news upon the public should be to inspire or spur citizens to correct the bad and commend the good. If newspapers do not print news of crime, they lull their readers into a false sense of security.
If they had passed over juvenile delinquency there might be no juvenile courts and probation officers. If traffic fatalities were submerged, would we have public demand for greater safety precautions, stricter enforcement of traffic laws?

The news has great social importance. To change or color it by the suppression of some fact is cheating the reader, playing false with the public and failing in the responsibility of a free press.

The news columns, therefore, must be as accurate, factually and collectively, as it is humanly possible to make them. Stories must not be slanted to conform with policies of owner, publisher, editor, reporter, advertiser, politician or friend. No news story expresses an opinion, unless that opinion be attributed to a source.—Pensacola News Journal.

Congressman Herlong Reports
By SID HERLONG

Reactions to President Eisenhower's speech are flooding Capitol Hill today. Most members thought the speech was excellent.
It was certainly most timely and he said every able man needed to be said.

Of course we all want peace.
But our friends have seized this first blurb of what might result in a peaceful settlement of our difficulties as an opportunity to cut down on their armament programs, lower their taxes and in general "blow off".

If we adopted the "wet blanket" role, obviously we would be hurt in the eyes of the free nations because Russia could then say that we really didn't want peace.
Our problem was—and is—in Russia really sincere? These war-wary friends of ours were warn-

Unique Auction Held For DeBary Homes

A unique method of selling homes has been going on in De-Bary since 9:30 a. m. today in an auction being conducted by the Hansborough National Realty and Auction Company, of Orlando.

The auctions in which 20 beautiful homes containing two, three and four bedrooms; also choice building sites, business and income properties are being sold, started this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B.
Schneider in the heart of DeBary.
DeBary boasts of being the fastest growing community in Florida with 500 charming ranch type homes constructed within the past five years, joined with younger people, all in all creating an atmosphere which invitpeople of the world will now know it and will awaken to the real danger; but if they were good faith as I hope and pray that they were, then they will move from here and we will be, at long last, well on our way to a just and durable peace.

Washington Letter
By Senator George Smathers

Some drastic action apparently will be necessary before the people of Florida and other states can be assured the television service to which they are entitled and which is available.

This industry, which is something of a modern miracle, has been in full swing for the past seven years supplying some areas of the country with unprecedented entertainment and information.

As a member of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, I have probed exhaustively into the failure of TV to reach a majority of our people.
Conferees with TV network officials and technicians, A. T. & T.
officials who are responsible for the network cable facilities, and various others have convinced me that the failure is traceable directly to the government agency which regulates the industry—the Federal Communications Commission.

The Federal Communications Act charges the FCC with determining two questions regarding a radio-TV construction permit application (1) is it in the public interest to authorize telecasting in the subject community and (2) which of the applicants is best able to serve the public need.

While I am not questioning the procedures set up by the FCC however in conducting hearings mean-that Florida may not get adequate television coverage until 1956 or 1958. Florida now has only one TV station—WMBR, Jacksonville and WTVT, Miami, even though our campaign is finally paying off to originate programs in Florida (Arthur Godfrey will be on from Miami all this week).
FCC examiners have finished hearings (which lasts 3 1/2 months) on one Tampa Bay area channel but have gone on to hear the case in another channel without any promise of a decision in the previous case.

It was for these reasons that I introduced a resolution in the Senate asking for authority for my Committee to conduct detailed studies of the FCC procedures.
While I am not questioning the case, I see no reason why Floridians must wait until 1958 (or even 1954) to have the advantages of network telecast programs.

others to live in this beautiful breathtaking view of Florida.

Its ideal location, with the finest in year round climate, pure water, near Lake Monroe and the fishing paradise of St. Johns River; and its proximity to Sanford and other nearby shopping centers and with school transportation and its own post office, have made DeBary a popular place in which to live.

Many of the homes being ofered are free of taxes and many of them will be sold immediately. The public has been extended an invitation to attend the auction this evening which begins at 8:00 p. m.

For two months in 1938, before the death of Coolidge and the assassination of Hoover, the United States had no living ex-President.

Old Vienna With Humorous Touch Portrayed In Glee Club Operetta

The glamour of old Vienna was combined with humorous American dialogue Friday night as the Seminole High School Glee Club presented its eighth annual operetta, a musical comedy entitled "Pickles". The production was directed by Miss Ollie Reese White.

The story in three acts, the operetta told the story of a wealthy English widow, excellently portrayed by Mary Ann Wilke, who came to Vienna each year at carnival time in search of her long lost daughter.

Vocal solos and duets highlighted the musical comedy along with several sparkling dance routines, which received added applause from the large crowd that witnessed the performance.

Ann Raborn and Ray Davis executed their leading roles in a professional manner and Jimmy Wade and Ross Hamann drew continued laughter from the crowd with their hilarious antics as Bunsel and Bunsel, Viennese policemen.

Special lighting created an enchanting setting for a gypsy camp scene and an unusual gypsy dance was ably performed by Doris Jones and an ensemble of gypsy dancers including Mary Lou Burt, Charlotte Gason, Beverly Cooper, Ann Raborn, Joyce Jones, Lennie Rotundo and Ellen Lyon. Jim Saunders, portraying the

Interesting Books Reviewed At Tea Given By League

Two interesting book reviews were heard on Friday afternoon at a tea sponsored by the Sanford Store League of W. K. K. Hall of the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Russell Tench is the president of the League and Mrs. W. L. Roche served as program chairman for the afternoon.

Elizabeth Grey Vinson's interesting review of her experiences while working as a tutor to the former emperor of Japan was told by Mrs. C. C. Welsh. Mrs. Welsh also described the author's life in the imperial household combined with the change in superstition, customs, economics and politics which are gradually taking place.

The second book review was given by Mrs. Fred Robb and was of "The Doctor on Brown Street" a warm and sympathetic story of a doctor's experiences in the slums of London. In introducing Mrs. Robb, Mrs. Roche stated that she had recently received an invitation from the president of the Eastern District of National Story League to give a story to tell at the Eastern District convention which included members from the beautiful operetta "Mistime". She was accompanied by Mrs. Clifford Proctor Jr. Soft piano music was played during the afternoon by Miss Ellen Lyons and at the close of the review guests were invited to enjoy a tea hour. The tea table was covered with a cream colored lace cloth and an attractive floral arrangement of spring flowers, balanced at the other end with a crystal punch bowl. Mrs. Pearl Bassett presided during the afternoon and was assisted by Mrs. Gaudin, Mrs. W. C. Howard, Mrs. J. P. Thurmond and Mrs. Robert Gable. About 40 women and their guests were present.

Mrs. Dan McCarty, wife of Governor McCarty, is inspecting an advance copy of the Inaugural Prayer which the Treasurer's Savings Bonds Division has adopted as an Inaugural Prayer for patriotic service on the Savings Bond program. Mrs. McCarty is Florida's National Chairman of the Women's Crusade for Security, a National Bond-a-Month campaign, in which twenty-one women's organizations are participating.

Hints To Housewives

Broiling is ideal for cooking meats, poultry, and fish. It is a dry-heat method, and it is the best way to apply direct heat to the meat and it gives an excellent crust. To broil meat, cut it to the thickness you desire, and broil it on a broiler. Suit to broiling on the good and choice grades of tenderloin, sirloin, T-bone, rib eye, and brisket. It is the best way to cook the ribs of a pig. Good broilers will cook a somewhat more fat and to the tender and juicy. A broiler can be used for broiling. When buying broilers for tenderness, look for muscles that are tender and contain red porous lines, indicating that the meat has come from young, well fed animals.

For home broiling a steak 1 to 2 inches thick is suggested. Slash fat at edges to meat to prevent curling as it cooks. Preheat broiler and grease broiler rack lightly to keep meat from sticking.

It is important to place the steak at the right distance from the heat. Have the top of the meat about 2 inches from the heat for rare steak, 3 inches for well done.

Broil for 5 to 10 minutes in trade at Touche's Drug Store.

Canal Survey

could be had that floods would not rise above a given point, additional development would take place in areas now subject to floods.

Leo Butler of Sanford, a truck farmer, after declaring that he had suffered damage yearly amounting to from $1,000 to $6,000, stated he would like to see the canal go through.

C. S. Lee of Oviedo, cattle rancher, noted that although floods tie up pasture land during the fall of each year, a limited flooding is desirable, stated the early planting in those areas.

John L. Brumley of Sanford, a farmer and boat repairman, said that every fall water covers from five to six acres of his best land, which discourages or prevents early planting in those areas.

Noah Tillman, a Palatka pleasure boat operator with much experience on the St. Johns River, asserted some light fluctuation of the river is desirable, but that extensive changes in the height of the river are not wanted.

Home L. Osborne, a Sanford retail seed store owner, stated the proposed canal would not normally drain the land, but would act as a control level from here to Jacksonville. Storage reservoirs would be maintained to level the water and remove the crest of any flood.

Kenneth A. Merrill of the Duval County Ship Repair Co. said that the general idea of the proposed Sanford-Titusville Canal is to tie in with a system to control the water level and not to drain the area.

Col. Gee pointed out that the canal will permit a light flooding, but will limit high water to a satisfactory level.

The Gee and Jensen representative in outlining out the financial benefits of the project said that a total of $661,400 could be realized annually by construction of a 15 mile link to fill the gap in the inland waterway system.

He presented the following synopsis of the preliminary report of the project:

Petroleum products—Tonnage moved from Jacksonville to Sanford in 1951 amounted to 1,200,000 barrels or 186,500 tons of heavy bunker oil, and 625,000 barrels or 86,400 tons of gasoline. Transportation charges were listed as $150,000 for heavy bunker oil and $78,100 for gasoline making a total outlay of $228,100.

The potential saving by hauling from Canaveral via the Sanford-Titusville Canal is $79,500, according to Col. Gee.

Recreational Boating—North-bound craft numbered 2,301 and southbound 2,722 during 1951-52 over the intercanal waterway. The St. Johns total registry during 1952 was 820.

The consulting engineer estimated benefits by use of the Sanford-Titusville Canal would amount to $261,000.

Small craft—The estimated annual benefits to small inboards and outboards by use of the proposed canal would amount to $22,900.

Flood Control—Estimated annual benefits by diverting 1,000 to 7,000 CFS from the St. Johns through the canal would total $208,000.

Col. Gee gave the following summary of benefits:

Commercial navigation (petroleum) $79,500; Recreational boating and small craft, $283,000; Flood Control $208,000.

The visiting consultant said Sanford would be the ideal embarkation point for airplane fuel consumed at Pinecastle Air Force Base and the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station. Private construction of a terminal large enough to handle the demands of

CROWN NAVALCADE The PREDECESSORS of ELIZABETH II

[[1]] Roman coin minted in Britain shows ship of type used in their invasion.

King Alfred the Great.

THE kingdom of which Elizabeth II became the anointed and crowned queen regnant on June 2, is so old that the date of its beginning cannot be stated exactly. She is connected by blood in some degree with English sovereigns all the way back to the 11th century. When William I made himself the first ruler of all England, before William's era, it was split into small realms—Northumbria, Mercia, Cornwall, Kent, Essex, Sussex and Wessex were some of them. Individual rulers periodically succeeded in making themselves overlords of several of these, but England did not begin to be one unified country until Alfred I became ruler of Wessex in 871 A.D. Alfred is not to be confused with Arthur, the hero king in the popular tales of the Knights of the Round Table. Factually, Arthur is as shadowy a figure in history as Beowulf, an Amazonian queen credited with leading a revolt of Britons against Roman rule in the time of Nero. If Arthur existed, he probably was a chieftain in Cornwall. On the other hand, Alfred was overlord or king of all of England except the portions held by Danes, who subdued England to invasions throughout the 9th century. Weaker men followed him and in the 10th century, the Danes threatened to complete the conquest of all the English kingdoms. Barons of the principal realms acted in the common interest and voluntarily chose a Wessex prince, Edward the Confessor, as their sovereign overlord. Edward laid foundations of the present structure of English government. He gave Parliament a permanent form. His brother-in-law, Harold II, put himself in the position of Edward's heir and took the throne upon Edward's death. This brought him into conflict with Duke William of Normandy, who had a doubtful claim to the English crown. William invaded England in 1066 with an army of Normans and soldiers-of-fortune and defeated and killed Harold II—last Anglo-Saxon king—in the Battle of Hastings. It was one of the great turning points of history.

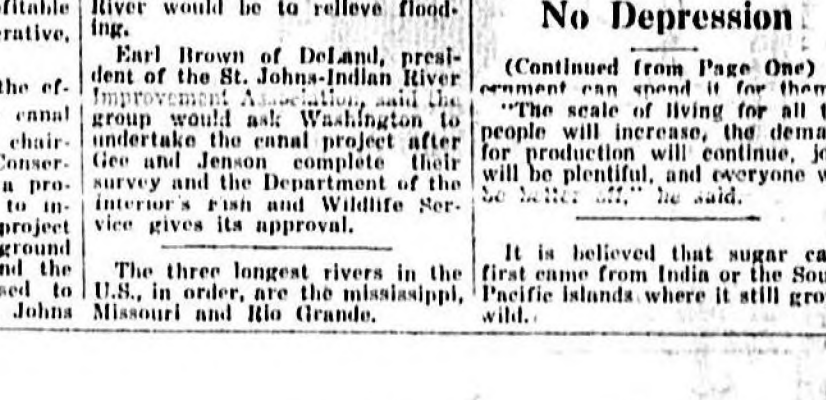

The story of the England which one-third of the world is tied by language, common law & culture, really begins with William. Therefore, this pictorial series in which Elizabeth II's predecessors pass in review starts with him tomorrow.

These bases would be a profitable venture, but even more lucrative, if the canal was built.

In an effort to explain the effects on the river if the canal was built, Homer Osborne, chairman of the Seminole Soil Conservation District, asked for a program of public education to inform area people that the project would not lower the underground water table in any way, and the only time it would be used to drain water from the St. Johns river would be to relieve flooding.

Earl Brown of DeLand, president of the St. Johns Indian River Improvement Association, said the group would ask Washington to undertake the canal project after Gee and Jensen complete their survey and the Department of the Interior's own and Wildlife Service gives its approval.

The three longest rivers in the U.S., in order, are the Mississippi, Missouri and Rio Grande.

Voice Of America Broadcasts Said To Be Ineffective

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Voice of America short-wave broadcasts to the free world appear to be ineffective, a Senate foreign relations subcommittee said today in a report based on data from American foreign correspondents.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), said its report is the result of efforts to get the reaction of nonofficial Americans abroad to the government's overseas information program.

The group came up with conclusions drawn from observations submitted during the last six months by 35 U. S. foreign correspondents in 41 countries, none of them behind the Iron Curtain.

Hickenlooper said a similar analysis of reports from American business and religious organizations abroad will be made public shortly. These, he said, are much like the comments of the newsmen.

The subcommittee, looking into all aspects of the overseas information program for almost a year, scheduled another public hearing today with former Sen. William Benton (D-Conn) as a witness. Benton had charge of the program as a assistant secretary of state for two years until September, 1947.

The State Department's new international information chief, Robert L. Johnson, announced Saturday he is launching a full dress survey to seek ways of improving it. Cecil B. DeMille of movie fame, among others, will help.

Hickenlooper's report said one conclusion reached from comments of the correspondents, who were not named, was that information agencies abroad should be better co-ordinated with their main given field officers. There was no consensus, it said, on whether or not information activities should be separated from the Department of State.

But Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), a member of the foreign relations committee although not on Hickenlooper's subcommittee, said he would fight any attempt to pull the information agency out of the State Department.

Mansfield said he would also oppose any move to shift Point Four, the program of technical aid for underdeveloped areas, from the State Department to the Mutual Security Administration.

"I shall be forced to protest against any mushrooming bureaucracy and waste of the taxpayers' money," Mansfield said in an interview.

Mansfield pressed his suggestion that the Mutual Security Administration, now headed by Harold E. Stassen, be abolished and its operations placed directly under the State Department.

"I want to see both Secretary of State Dulles and Harold Stassen succeed," Mansfield said. "But foreign policy must be concentrated in the hands of the President and the secretary of state."

The Hickenlooper report paid particular praise to two programs—the exchange of persons and the information libraries established abroad. It said the general feeling among the reporters was that these were successful and should be expanded.

As to Voice short-wave broadcasts, the report said: "Reception is, on the whole, bad. Locally produced radio programs and transcripts from New York often have greater audiences."

General effectiveness, the report found, was "very difficult to evaluate." But on other points it commented that:

1. U. S. foreign policy and action should be closely co-ordinated with the information program.

2. Greater emphasis should be placed on positive pro-democratic information themes and less on negative anti-Communist material.

3. The U. S. speaks best when it speaks softly and when it avoids high-powered publicity methods.

4. "The quality of personnel could be improved and the quantity reduced."

5. Motion picture films are very popular, but their effectiveness depends on content and the subtlety of their propaganda."

"I've never been so happy to see a bunch of Americans in my life," he declared.

Pinkston said his camp was bombed by Allied planes once but no one was hurt.

Pvt. Carl W. Kirchenhausen of New York said a minority of prisoners had been influenced by Red propaganda. He said the camp library was full of Communist literature with "very few novels."

Pfc. Donald LeGay of Leominster, Mass., reported there were many sick and wounded still in Red camps.

LeGay said the night before they left they held "a pretty good party with wine and beer."

He said prisoners were furnished with another drink which he compared to "moonshine."

One of the first patients brought in the tent for an interview was Pfc. Robert Stell of Baltimore, one of the first four patients flown into Freedom Village by helicopter.

He said simply: "I want to express my sincere gratitude for all that was done to return the prisoners of war."

As Stell, a Negro, was being taken out he looked up and said: "I've lost my hat."

Stell said he had seen none of the other prisoners of war.

From Panmunjon, the prisoners were rushed by helicopter and ambulance to Munsan's "Freedom Village" for medical care and interviews. Then on to a hospital at Seoul.

Some were expected to leave Tuesday for Japan on the next leg of a trip back to the United States.

Monday's exchange started just before 9 a.m. and the 100 Allied soldiers were across the line by 11 a.m.

The Allied men came down from their North Korean prison camps in trucks, Russian Jeeps and ambulances. The Reds were moved up from South Korea by train to Munsan and then here in ambulances.

First American across the line was Pvt. Carl W. Kirchenhausen of New York City.

He was followed by Pfc. Daniel, a U.N. truce delegate, met the returnees.

As the men checked out of the reception tent, they boarded helicopters and ambulances for Freedom Village.

Each was given a package of cigarettes and a letter from Gen. Mark Clark, U.N. commander, as they stepped over the line.

Some were bearded; some were clean-shaven. All looked older than their years.

One had a bottle of Chinese beer in his hip pocket. Another had a bottle of wine.

All wore new, blue Chinese uniforms, peaked caps and black tennis shoes the Communists gave them at Kaesong, six miles up the road.

In contrast, some Chinese who went back had soiled and torn their new uniforms given them by the U.N.

A large number of the Reds refused breakfast in a haughty manner before they started for the Communist side.

There was laughter from several of the returning Americans.

Others stumbled from the ambulances a bit bewildered, as they could not believe they were at last out of the hands of the Reds.

As quickly as the Allied prisoners could be sent south, they started moving.

Clark met them at Freedom Village and shook hands with nearly all.

He saluted Pfc. Robert C. Stell of Baltimore, Md., a stretcher case, and introduced himself to the Negro soldier.

To Pfc. Donald K. LeGay of Leominster, Mass., a prisoner of the Reds for 29 months, Clark said: "Do you feel good?"

LeGay answered: "Damn right." Clark said nothing.

The 100 Allied soldiers came back in two groups. Most waved through windows of the ambulances as they drove up to the Allied receiving tents.

Japanese, Liberal Party Captures 42 Percent Of Seats

By JIM BECKER

TOKYO (AP)—Pro-American Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's Liberal party won 42 per cent of the seats in the powerful House of Representatives yesterday but Japan's political picture was a cloudy as ever.

Complete returns showed today that the second national election in seven months gave the L.L.C. 31,120 seats in the 465-member House—enough to form a single-party government. It was a loss of five seats.

Yoshida had staked his political future on the balloting, hoping for a majority. However, his foremost rivals lost strength and it was possible Yoshida would pick up enough outside strength to form his fifth cabinet.

The Communists placed one man in the House. They had none last time.

With only three seats in doubt, this was the lineup: Liberals, 190; Progressives, 76; Left Socialists, 72; Right Socialists, 62; dissident Liberals, 35; Communist 1; others, 17.

Slightly more than 35 million, or 73 per cent, of the electorate turned out.

Accounts Of Death Marches In Korea Are Told By POW's

Many Sick, Wounded GIs Still Held

By ROBERT BUNSON
FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Accounts of Bataan-style death marches, semi-starvation and calculated brutality came today from the second handful of Allied prisoners returned from Communist prison camps.

And stories of many more than 100,000 ill Allied soldiers still in Red captivity indicated the Communists do not plan to free all sick and wounded as they had agreed to do.

Today's reports recalled the shocked words "Incredibly small" uttered two weeks ago by Rear Adm. John C. Daniel, the U. S. truce delegate, when the Reds told him 600 sick and wounded would be repatriated.

The new development suggested that the Communists were fulfilling once again on a solemn agreement. Sgt. Walter H. Mitchell of Greenville, Tenn., said, "There were quite a few left in the hospital at the Pyongyang camp. I would rather die than be there. They needed medical attention more."

The returned prisoners said treatment improved after the truce talks started in July, 1951, but varied since with the ups and downs of the negotiations.

Death marches over frozen high ways in bitter winter weather were reported by two American soldiers, Pfc. Roger Herndon of Jacksonville, Fla., and Cpl. Deville H. Mullins of Covington, Ky., told of separate agonies in 1950 and 1951.

Allied reconnaissance planes today spotted a convoy of Communist trucks and ambulances carrying more sick and wounded prisoners toward Panmunjom. Shortly after noon it was moving between Harrison and Johnson, 50 to 75 miles north of Kaesong.

Herndon was captured in the frigid winter of 1950. He said some 40 American and British soldiers perished in the county schools last month north from Kunu, where the U. S. 2nd Division met disaster in November, 1950.

At 1200 miles, he said, only 50 arrived at the prison, he said and related:

"We were not allowed to stop for any cause—no given to get the latrine. If you did, you would have to look out for yourself."

He said the march was "mild and cracked corn... one bowl a day."

Herndon just laughed when asked if he attempted to indoctrinate him in communism he worked.

"I've never been as happy or to reach freedom today," he said. Mullins told of a march north from Pyongyang in August, 1951, just as the truce talks were beginning.

"We passed two Jeopulds of Russian soldiers," he said. "They stopped us on the road and tried to get our guns and so they would shoot us."

Mullins said the Russians were (Continued on Page Six)

A COMMUNIST TRUCK CONVOY (top), loaded with sick and wounded prisoners for repatriation to the United States, is spotted six miles northwest of Pyongyang, Korea, by an Allied plane at an altitude of 10,000 feet. The Reds buzzed spotter planes with fuel tanks and incendiary bombs as information reported out at the freedom route is being used to bring tons of military supplies to Communist troops at the front. At bottom, Red prisoners of the U.S. disembark from an LST at Pusan on their way to Panmunjom. (Continued on Page Six)

Cooper Explains How Plight Of Farmers Has Effect On Everyone

Business Urged To Take Interest In Government

Due to mild growing conditions in all vegetable producing sections this season, the farmers of Seminole County have been able to realize only a small portion of their growing costs. At the present time I do not know of a farmer in this county who will get back to the farm enough to pay all costs of production, and this general condition in the county will most certainly affect all of us directly or indirectly.

When things are so bad that high prices are being paid for what we need each other's help and interest. It is too easy to blame the government for this.

As chairman of the Board of Directors of the Sanford State Farmers Market, I am calling a meeting of the Board of Directors on Thursday, April 21, at 10:00 a.m. to discuss ways and means of improving facilities on the market. If anyone has any constructive criticism or suggestions, please bring them to the meeting. We will be glad to consider these suggestions.

Jim Morton Urges 5-1 Concentrate In Citrus Code

Business Urged To Take Interest In Government

LAKELAND, Fla.—A Florida citrus grower is urging the Florida citrus code to be changed to allow a 5-1 concentrate in citrus juice.

James Morton, Abundant, told the Legislative committee of the Florida Citrus Association that a 5-1 concentrate is needed because it can furnish a 5-1 blend that is a better product than the 1-1 blend.

The location proposed for the 5-1 concentrate is currently located in Lakeland.

Miss Joyce Hetzel Speaks At Meeting On Children's Aid

Miss Joyce Hetzel, executive director of the State Welfare Department, spoke before the Seminole County Children's Aid Committee at their regular monthly meeting at the Court House yesterday.

She told of her activities in a four-county case-work program which has continued over a 12-month period. Through the plan, every sixth case that is brought to the department's attention is referred to the program.

Though the program, it has been found that even though a case analysis of each case would cost more and take additional workers, in the long run taxpayors would save money.

Miss Hetzel pointed out that the Aid to Dependent Children program is largely self-help, but that a great deal of time should be given to a better understanding of the client.

Mrs. C. J. Mariwether, chairman, reported that after a close appraisal of a certain building in Sanford which was being considered as a recreation center, the committee had decided it would not be suitable.

She added that the Kiwanis Club is vitally interested in the establishment of a youth center and is assisting in the survey.

PHILADELPHIA—A 13-car train carrying survivors of the train wreck at Dillon, S. C., will reach Washington, D. C., about 6:00 p. m. today. The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad office here was advised this morning. At Washington, the rebel train will be taken over by the Pennsylvania Railroad and is due in Philadelphia about 10:00 p. m., and at New York about 11:00 p. m.

Officials here said at least five dead bodies were removed from the train cars. Only one, the train was identified. The newspaper reporter who made an early estimate of 10 or 12 dead said he had seen six bodies. More than 125 injured were rushed to seven hospitals in nearby towns. Rescue squads stood by today as huge trains chugged at the cars through about the market.

Some of the injured lay for hours in the battered cars of the Atlantic Coast Line's fast passenger train, the East Coast Champion. Skilled rescue workers, called from their beds, used axylene gas to reach the victims. Doctors worked after them, giving (Continued on page six)

Florida Negro Is Among Exchanged Korea Prisoners

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—"We were kinda nervous, we had written her and told him his hand," a father of 12 said here Monday night after learning one of his boys, Pvt. Roger Herndon, was one of the 100 American prisoners exchanged in Korea.

Cohen Herndon, 50, a Negro laborer, said his whole family "in-cludine the youngest five-month-old" had stayed with the radio Sunday and Monday night waiting for the news.

"We were very happy when we heard," Herndon said, "It means Roger will be with his own people again."

Rising Costs, Not TV, Seen As Real Problem Of U. S. Newspapers

portant—just what it is about the newspaper that does not appeal to them.

"A more serious problem than television as I see it confronts us today in the actual cost of producing our newspapers. Labor costs have risen and continue to rise. The cost of materials continues to spiral upwards.

"There seems to be no end and in the face of this newspapers find themselves with a product the price of which cannot be increased to meet those constant increases in costs because they are faced, as a majority of manufacturers and sellers of other products are not, with the law of diminishing returns."

Albert Spendlove of the Nashua, N. H. Telegraph, chairman of a conference for publishers of papers with a circulation between 10,000 and 20,000, also touched on what he called the major problem confronting the industry. "The (Continued on Page Six)
