

Mrs. Dingfelder Opens Nursing Home

A Sanford resident has announced the opening of a nursing home in Leesburg headed by Dr. David L. Corry.

Mrs. Julia Dingfelder said Open House at the Leesburg Nursing Home will be Sunday, an event to which she has invited her Sanford friends.

The brick building formerly housing the Gill Hospital has been completely remodeled and modernized, said Mrs. Dingfelder, "and in which we have added fireproof walls and ceilings, new kitchen and modern bathroom facilities."

"We are proud of our staff," she said, "for realizing our goal for efficiency and sympathy for our patients we found that it could not be accomplished without the staff."

Mrs. Dingfelder announced that the Supervisor of Nurses in the new Nursing Home is Mrs. Anne S. Tompkins, an Emory University graduate who later became a captain in the U. S. Army Nurse Corps. She is the immediate past president of the Florida Nurses Association.

The dietitian cook, she said, is Mrs. Elinor Van Winkle who has had 3 years experience as Am's Dietician at Good Samaritan Hospital in Cincinnati and was with the Howard Johnson Chain for 11 years.

The present staff will consist of 3 registered nurses, 3 licensed practical nurses, 3 nurses aides; 1 male orderly, and a receptionist-bookkeeper, said Mrs. Dingfelder.

"We have made more than the basic needs required for the standards of a nursing home such as emergency oxygen and intra-venous feeding equipment," she said, and added "we do everything but surgery."

The formal board meeting will open with the first session at 9:30 a. m. Saturday. Sessions are scheduled throughout the day and evening on Saturday. Sunday activities will include a final session lasting until noon.

It is the aim of the Florida BPW to Achieve Through Action—With Perceptive Planning goals which will benefit all women who work.

Those planning to attend from the Sanford Club are: Mrs. Evelyn True, Mrs. Eather Evans, and Mrs. Myrtle Gradick.

Bronchitis May Be Primary Cause Of Lung Cancer

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Bronchitis, and not cigarette smoking, may be the primary cause of lung cancer, according to a British cancer specialist.

Dr. H. P. Passey of the Chester Beatty Research Institute, London, made a special report to the University of Wisconsin Medical School.

"Just because a man dies of lung cancer and also smoked during his lifetime," Passey said, "it is not justifiable to call smoking the primary cause."

Passey said a study of British death certificates at the London Institute disclosed that the incidence of lung cancer was twice as high in England as in the United States.

The lung cancer death rate in Great Britain is 251 per million. The American rate is 112, he said.

Bronchitis is a "likely candidate for the role of primary cause of lung cancer," he said, adding that there is no relation between the quantity of cigarettes smoked and the susceptibility to lung cancer.

Cook the modern way! Remember...

WIRE beats FIRE!

Electric heat goes right into the food, not your kitchen.

Flame heat "rings" up around the pan, makes your kitchen hotter.

Here's why ELECTRIC COOKING beats all other methods:

- CLEANST—No soot to soil curtains, walls, pots and pans... housekeeping is easier.
- COOLEST—Half as many heat units are required to do the job. Your kitchen stays cooler, you save on air conditioning—get greater comfort from smaller units at lower installation and operating costs.
- SAFEST—No open flames, no fumes, no pilot lights... safe as electric lights.
- FASTEST—New super-speed surface units and electronic ovens cook foods in record time.
- CHEAPEST—It's cheaper to go all-electric than to use a combination of fuels in your kitchen-laundry.

Pearson: Turkish-Syria Plight Need Not Go Into Shooting War

OTTAWA (UP)—Nobel Peace Prize winner Lester B. Pearson believes world peace is "precisely" balanced, that Western prestige has suffered from Sputnik, and that Russia would like to split the Western Alliance by a separate diplomatic deal with the United States.

But the former Canadian Minister of External Affairs, who is a candidate for the Liberal Party leadership is also a possible future Canadian Prime Minister, does not believe that the Turkish-Syria situation in the Near East need break out in a shooting war.

He also is convinced that the present tense world situation make it all the more necessary for the nations in the Western Alliance to draw together more closely than ever.

Pearson expressed his views in an exclusive interview with United Press. It was the first such interview given by him since his acclaim a week ago as this year's winner of the Nobel Peace Prize.

Pearson's answers to questions follow: Question—Is the Turkish-Syria situation more dangerous than was the British-French Suez crisis? If so, in what way? Answer—The Turkish-Syria situation—dangerous though it may be—can only be compared to the Suez crisis if fighting actually breaks out. There is not the same kind of bitter hostility that existed between Israel and Egypt.

Q.—Do you believe Russian policy is aiming towards a bilateral pact on security or disarmament with the United States? A.—I think that the Russians now would like to work out a deal of some kind, on a purely division of power basis with the United States. They have always been attracted by that kind of arrangement.

Q.—What is the effect of Sputnik on the validity of the principle of collective security upon which the United Nations is based? A.—It may have shaken it for a moment. It was a very dramatic development, a technical one, even if it indeed, if we draw the right conclusions from Sputnik, the alliance should work more closely together.

Tito's recognition of East Germany may have been influenced to some extent by his feeling that Western prestige has been lowered. Q.—Does Sputnik change any of the considerations governing the desirability of admitting Red China into the United Nations? A.—I don't think so.

Demos Attack President In Rights Declaration

WASHINGTON (UP) The policy-making voice of the Democratic Party issued today a civil rights declaration which attacked President Eisenhower and called for prompt enforcement of the rights bill and the federal Constitution.

The declaration indicated that the national party organization is in no mood to compromise with its southern members.

The statement was adopted Sunday at the close of a two-day meeting of the Democratic advisory council and released today by the national committee.

A lone dissent was registered by a southern member, Mrs. Benjamin B. Everett of North Carolina. Two other southern members, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Camille F. Gravel Jr. of Louisiana, endorsed it.

Little Rock Blame The statement charged, "The failure of President Eisenhower to take an early and firm position for observance of the provisions of the Constitution and laws of the United States has been substantially responsible for the trouble at Little Rock."

Feasibility Report To Be Given Tonight On Project

Today's Vanguard Missile Firing Delayed By Wind

CAPE CANAVERAL (UP)—The set firing of the Vanguard missile, the rocket which will carry an American satellite spacecraft in the spring, was delayed today, apparently because of a brisk northeasterly wind which whipped the guided missile test center here.

One of the foremost and most important projects of the last five decades will come before the Board of Sanford City Commissioners tonight when the engineers firm of Gee and Jensen of West Palm Beach presents a feasibility report on the proposed docks and terminals.

Representatives of the engineering firm will be in Sanford, tonight to explain the report to commissioners and make public its findings over the past 120 days.

It is expected that the firm will give "the green light" to the City of Sanford to go ahead with plans for the waterfront facility that will bring countless millions of dollars to Sanford through industry channels as well as cause an avalanche of warehouse facilities in the area.

Other items to come before the Board of Commissioners tonight is a proposal to place terrace floors in the Sanford Civic Center at additional cost. Architect John Burston IV will be on hand to explain the addition to the specifications.

Milwee To Speak At Food Service Assn. Meeting

The Seminole County School Food Service Association will meet tonight in Lake Monroe School Lunchroom at 7:30.

The theme for this year is School Lunch—Community Relations. Mrs. Lucille Fesler, president, will present the yearbook which includes the plans for this school year.

R. T. Milwee, Superintendent of Public Instruction will talk to the luncheon workers concerning the forthcoming Bond Election on Nov. 19. He will indicate to them the schools at which new lunchroom facilities will be provided with proceeds received from the sale of bonds.

The superintendent will also discuss what effect adequate lunchroom facilities will have on a school program, and improve the health of school children.

Information will be available there, Hay said, to everyone interested in becoming a Cub Scout. Admission is free and refreshments will be available on the grounds, he said.

2 Wrecks Told Over Weekend

Two accidents occurred over the week-end involving three automobiles. However, no details were available on either of the two accidents.

Florida Highway Patrol representatives covered and investigated the accidents; one in the vicinity of Wagner where an automobile went out of control, the other near Lake Monroe Bridge when two cars went off the road into the water and were abandoned.

Orville Barke Jr. is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Orville Barke and Ronnie Whitten is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Whitten.

Whitten, it was reported, apparently saw the vehicle coming toward him and had leaped into the air to land on the hood and fender of the automobile. He was thrown off the car 35 feet from the scene of the impact.

Barke was thrown to the pavement at the point of impact. Both of the boys were 15-year-olds.

Flu Death Toll Over 200 Mark

The death toll from flu and its complications climbed beyond the 200 mark and health officials stepped up their campaign to inoculate the public against the disease.

A United Press tally showed 205 deaths directly or indirectly caused by the flu since last summer when the Asian virus first broke out in the United States.

The ailment hit hardest in New York with 54 deaths, followed by Pennsylvania with 37, Louisiana 21 and California 20.

In all, 16 states have reported flu fatalities, many of them occurring in the past week. The National Health Service in Washington reported more than 1,500,000 persons have been stricken with the flu so far, and that the Asian virus has appeared in all sections of the nation.

Other states reporting flu deaths were Michigan 17, Illinois 10, Ohio, Utah and Wisconsin 7 each, Iowa 3 each, and Oklahoma, Oregon and Indiana 1 each. The Territory of Hawaii recorded 9 deaths and the District of Columbia 1.

Local Residents Invited To Attend First 'Cub-O-Ree'

An invitation has been extended to everyone to attend the first "Cub-O-Ree" to be presented by the Cub Scouts of the St. Johns River District in Central Florida.

Jim Hay, Cubmaster of Pack 343, said that the "Cub-O-Ree" will be held at the Sanford Farmers Auction Market on 17-19 Nov. 2 at 2 p. m.

He said "Bring all the kids in the neighborhood to see the show and cheer your favorite Cub in all kinds of games and contests for Cub Pack honors."

When the firemen have to stop and inquire along the way, for the location of the fire, it makes a delay that could be costly.

DeBary also has a resident ambulance service and in emergencies a person's life might depend on the prompt arrival of the ambulance and its oxygen. This is another reason for all houses to be numbered, said Clark.

DeBary Residents Urged To Put Up House Numbers

A member of the DeBary Planning Board has called attention to a situation that should be a matter of concern for all DeBary residents, said W. B. Clark, chairman of the Publicity Committee of the board.

A house numbering system was devised and put into use some time ago and numbers were allotted for all structures in DeBary. While some residents were slow to put up their house numbers, most of them did, but there are still quite a few unnumbered houses, he said.

The DeBary Volunteer Fire Department has done a fine and efficient job of fire fighting whenever called upon. Several times, however, they have been handicapped by delay in locating a fire due to insufficient or inaccurate description of the location. In some cases this has been caused by having no house number to designate the house and the person sending in the alarm has had to describe the location as "on X Street about a quarter mile from John Smith's and you know where he lives."

When the firemen have to stop and inquire along the way, for the location of the fire, it makes a delay that could be costly.

DeBary also has a resident ambulance service and in emergencies a person's life might depend on the prompt arrival of the ambulance and its oxygen. This is another reason for all houses to be numbered, said Clark.

JACKY FENWICK

What's that old expression? "Another day, another dollar!" Well, here it is, another day, but I can guarantee that I haven't come across that "other dollar" yet!

I suppose there are some people who had a nice restful weekend, and feel much better for the relaxation and rest. As for me, I'm writing this with my eyes half open, early Saturday morning, after having driven Elliott to the other side of town to meet some equally "unbalanced" friends, so that they can get an early start on the golf-links! (And for me this is no easy feat after having sat up rather late playing pin-ple at Rosemary Finnegan's!)

Looking back on Friday evening, things were quite upset and confused for a while! There were six of us at Rosemary's to play cards. Joyce Williams, Jimi Gold, Doris Shortland, Marge Elliott, and yours truly, and, of course, Rosemary! We had just started to play, when Joyce's three-year old, Kathy, slipped and fell on the front porch and cut the back of her head! So Joyce and Kathy jumped into the car, and out we went to the base hospital to have it taken care of! After a delay caused by fire alarm, we managed to get back to the card game. Then I had to take off again to pick up Elliott who had been flying all evening. I'm still trying to figure out how I managed to play cards with all this going on! Maybe when I actually wake up I'll be able to figure it out!

Received another birth announcement, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lancaster, of Charleston, South Carolina, (another former third-crewman of Elliott's), had a baby girl on October 11th. They've named her Sherry Gail, and she weighed in at seven pounds, twelve and a half ounces! (Slightly smaller than they've been running lately!) "Lanky" was discharged a little over a month ago, and I believe they plan to settle in Norfolk, Virginia, but are staying in Charleston for a while, as it is his wife's home town.

I understand that our new senior medical officer is aboard, though he hasn't officially reported in. I know I am not alone in saying "welcome" to Captain Sutsman, and wishing him a good tour in Sanford.

There was a meeting at the E. M. Club last Wednesday afternoon, to make final plans for the Halloween Dance to be held at the club on November 1st. It will get underway at 9:30 P. M., and the music will be provided by Sid. When and where the dances are optional, though there will be three prizes awarded to the best male, the best female, and the best couple. Free cider and doughnuts will be served to all. Diane Lanier, back from her visit home, will be in charge of the decorations. Sure to be lots of fun, so why not make your plans now to attend.

The Chief's Club will be having their dance that same night, and incidentally, this one will be free. This one is for chief's and their guests, and once again, costumes will be optional, though there will be two prizes given for the best male, and the best female. Potato chips and pretzels will be served, and it will last from 8:30 P. M. until 1:00 A. M.

Also a quick last minute reminder about tonight's meeting of the Enlisted Men's Wives Club, 8:00 P. M., at the U. S. O. Father Nihilus Hubble will be the speaker, so try and make it.

Wish I had been able to get to Pinecrest School Friday night to see the P. T. A. parents put on their Talent Show. Understand it was a complete success, very funny, and lots of fun for all. . . the viewers and the participants. They played to "S. R. O.", and it couldn't happen to a better bunch of people. I'm always so glad when such things are successful.

I wish I could go on and on, but to be perfectly truthful, since the "kids are still asleep, I am about to try and catch an extra "forty winks"!

Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. —(Romans 5, 1.)

How can a man ever be at peace with himself until he first has peace with God, and loves Him and trusts in Him? The Way is through faith—through Our Lord Jesus Christ, Blessed Savior who died for us. Faith is the answer; it is forever the answer.

Understand it was a complete success, very funny, and lots of fun for all. . . the viewers and the participants. They played to "S. R. O.", and it couldn't happen to a better bunch of people. I'm always so glad when such things are successful.

I wish I could go on and on, but to be perfectly truthful, since the "kids are still asleep, I am about to try and catch an extra "forty winks"!

Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. —(Romans 5, 1.)

How can a man ever be at peace with himself until he first has peace with God, and loves Him and trusts in Him? The Way is through faith—through Our Lord Jesus Christ, Blessed Savior who died for us. Faith is the answer; it is forever the answer.

Preparing To Cover Queen's Visit

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Behind the scenes, preparing to cover the Queen's visit:

On most assignments, a reporter's standard equipment is notebook, sharp pencil, sharp eyes and ears, and coins for the nearest telephone. Covering the visit of Queen Elizabeth II to Canada and the United States promises to call for all these, plus formal clothes, plus dealing with protocol, plus the stamina to trail her majesty by plane, train, car and ship.

On Oct. 12 to her departure from New York in the wee small hours of Oct. 22.

Plus, I might add, a healthy expense account.

The Queen's 10-day schedule, which includes visits to Jamestown, Williamsburg and Washington, is so crowded I'm wondering how she will find time to powder her nose.

She wears few rings, other than her wedding and engagement bands, for good reason. Hand-shaking is easier without them and Elizabeth probably shakes more hands than President Eisenhower.

U.S. Ladies: Skip Curtles, Lady Stephenson, wife of Sir Hugh Stephenson, British consul-general in New York, suggested that Americans who meet the Queen skip the curtsy. Don't remove gloves. "In England, ladies keep their gloves on," one British source told us. But Lady Stephenson said Elizabeth has no special preference in this matter.

Any girl who meets the Queen is supposed to address her first as "Your Majesty," and if she continues to talk to you, call her "Ma'am."

The U. S. and Canadian governments also outlined some "ground rules." Reporters are advised to avoid "undignified" questions. We are to "maintain respectful distance" from the royal couple, although that distance isn't spelled out in feet or yards.

And we are instructed, "according to protocol, no one addresses Her Majesty or the Prince Philip without having been addressed by them first."

Sounds as if reporters, like children, should be seen and not heard.

TRUCK KILLS NINE
Palermo, Sicily (AP) — Faulty brakes were blamed today for a truck accident which killed nine persons and injured at least 20 in the crowded town square of nearby Termini. Police said the tragedy occurred Monday when the brakes of a truck driven by Sebastiano Giuffrida failed and sent the vehicle plowing into a crowd watching a publicity film for a forthcoming movie.

Virginia Dare, first child of English parents in the New World, was born at Roanoke, Va., Oct. 18, 1587.

HOLDING A TOY PLANE MODEL, John Kirby, 8, looks with wonder at the intricately designed X-408 rocket engine on display in Washington. Developed at General Electric's Project Vanguard plant in Cincinnati, Ohio, the engine will provide about a 27,000-pound thrust for the first stage of a new earth satellite vehicle.

Has 1,000 "Companions"
More than 1,000 reporters and photographers are set to trail the Queen and her husband, Prince Philip, from the weary end Canadian and U. S. officials call this a record turnout for such an event.

Women reporters are claiming special problems—one of them, the eternal question of what to wear. And, how to get it packed, once we've decided. Do we remove gloves to shake hands, if any of us get that close to the Queen? Do we curtsy? And what do we call her?

On plane flights, we have the 40-pound weight limit on luggage, which gives me room for one suitcase and a typewriter. In the suitcase, I somehow hope to crowd two formal one of them left over from her coronation in 1953, a couple of suits, makeup, lingerie, and extra shoes.

Queen's Luggage Abundant
The Queen's traveling with 20 suitcases and trunks, plus entourage of personal maids and ladies-in-waiting to help her with quick changes. Which should take care of a different costume for each event, including about a dozen formal occasions.

We won't be able to tell you what the Queen is wearing each day until she is dressed. Then we get the word.

Her staff has drawn up a code book for this tour. So if reporters are told Elizabeth is wearing hat "X", shoes No. 32, and coat No. 12, we will be able to check exact description of the costumes by her favorite designers, Hardy Amies and Norman Hartnell.

Just what jewels she will wear also are secret, although it is known the Queen owns a fabulous collection. She has at least seven diamond tiaras, assorted diamond brooches, pins, and necklaces, plus bracelets, earrings, watches and jeweled orders. She reportedly owns at least 20 pearl neck-

'Standard' Human Being

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP) — Scientists are twitted by a distinguished colleague because they're always demonstrating statistically that there is such a creature as a "normal" or "standard" human being.

The twitter was Dr. Roger J. Williams, professor of chemistry, University of Texas, and former president of the American Chemical Society. He demonstrated statistically that if there is such a creature he is exceedingly rare.

By one statistical calculation, he showed there was one "standard" person in every 1,024. With another calculation, he showed that if you assumed almost all (99.8 per cent) Americans to be "normal," only one individual in five would actually measure up to that broad standard.

Bodies Are Varied
Williams was having scientific fun with statistics and statistical assumptions and also advancing his own pet theory which is that body chemistry is as varied as there are bodies and this variety makes it impossible for one individual to be the same as any other individual.

What happens if you measure human beings for more than one thing? Now, said Williams, suppose you take only one measurement and apply it to a group of human beings and assume that the 50 per cent who come closest to measuring the same are "normal" or "standard."

Having done that, apply measurements of five different things to these "normals" and you find that, statistically, only 0.03 per cent remain so. Apply measurements of 100 different things to them and the percentage of "normals" diminishes to a barely detectable 0.0056 per cent.

Studies Blood Plasma
Williams based himself statistically on precise measurements of fats found in the blood plasma of 65 men at different ages. Seven Chemical measurements of these men's blood chemistry were made. Any one measurement placed 33 in the middle or median group usually considered normal of standard.

But any two measurements taken together reduced the normals to 21 out of 65. Three brought it down to 14, four to 10, five to eight, six to three—and seven measurements reduced the normals among 65 to only two.

Sanford, Seminole County Growth Is Accelerating Toward 65,000

A prediction made in 1950 that Sanford would grow to such an extent that the population would be 65,000 by 1965 is quickly coming to be a reality.

As a matter of fact the prediction might come even sooner than expected.

John Krider, Manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce gave members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce last Thursday, figures and data that seem to bear out the statement that Sanford and Seminole County is growing at an accelerated pace.

Industry is coming to Sanford now and if the present industrial development continues, there will be more and more plants and factories moving in to the "choice location in Florida."

The Navy, naturally, has played a big part in inducing others to come to Sanford and Seminole County. The community realized that because of the tremendous growth resulting from Navy families moving to this area many needed facilities had to be added. These have become an attraction to industrial leaders seeking new and better locations.

Churches have expanded, schools have been built and are being planned, the water and sewer systems have been rehabilitated and streets have been paved and repaired. Adding to the attractions have been new roads leading into the community.

Our water resources have certainly been an attraction since the lakes and river provide recreational facilities for thousands who seek the wide open spaces for diver-

State Dinner For A Queen

When President Eisenhower gave a state dinner for Queen Elizabeth, that was an affair of some moment. It was more than merely a pleasant social occasion. In a sense, it was the United States playing host to those staunch allies, the British.

As was fitting, eminent figures in the government — the vice president, the chief justice, cabinet members and others — were among those who ate filet of sole and roast duckling at the President's table. Numerous relatives and friends of the Eisenhowers naturally were invited. There were men present who are prominent in the business world — top men from Tiffany's, Coca Cola, Frankfort Distilleries, the Columbia Broadcasting System, Young & Rubicam Adver-

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of current interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I was told that the War Orphan Education program allows up to $110 a month for handicapped young people who need special restoration training. Sometimes this training is expensive. Is there any way the allowance could be increased?

A. Yes. If special restoration training costs more than $36 a month, VA may step up its monthly allowance accordingly. However, these excess payments would cause a reduction in the length of time a War Orphan student could train.

Q. I have to sell my house and move to another climate that will be more beneficial to my health. I understand that under these conditions I may get my GI home loan rights restored. What kind of evidence does VA require to approve restoration?

A. VA will want a statement from a reputable physician confirming that the change in climate is essential to your health.

Q. I think I am taking the wrong course of training under the Korean GI Bill. Before making my one and only change of course, could I receive VA's vocational counseling to help me get on the right track?

A. Yes. In filling out the application for a change of course, indicate on the form that you want vocational counseling. An appointment will be scheduled for you.

I must be getting old or something, anyhow all this space satellite, intercontinental missile, trip to the moon business is way over my head and common sense tells me that's where it ought to be.

However, I recognize the fact that they are mighty dangerous playthings and if we don't watch our step somebody is liable to get hurt. For a long time we have held to the belief that America had a corner on brains, know-how and production ability and we have tried to laugh off the Russian effort.

Now maybe we will quit quarreling among ourselves as to who should head up our missile program, coordinate our efforts and stop kidding ourselves. American prestige has taken it on the chin several times lately and Mr. Khrushchev's "neat trick" as Charlie Wilson terms it should have a sobering effect on our thinking and our actions.

This is no time for calling each other names or trying to start something either at home or abroad. Science has let loose in the world a destructive power so great that it can utterly destroy us all unless we are smart enough to keep a cool head and avoid setting off the fuse.

I heard a story the other day that illustrates what could happen if we aren't careful.

It is based on the supposition that World War III developed with the struggle of an all-out total effort, with nations using everything at their command. In a matter of hours the whole world was reduced to rubble.

From out of the rubble crawled a little monkey, apparently the only living thing on earth. Everywhere about him was death and destruction. Not another living thing was to be seen.

Terrified, the little fellow began to run. Leaping from debris pile to rubble heap he ran until he was utterly exhausted. Why he was running or where he was going he didn't seem to know. His one ambition was to get away from it all.

Finally he stopped to rest and to his amazement another little monkey, a female, crawled out from under a pile of bricks. The two frightened creatures looked at each other and she said, "Are you real, are you alive? I thought I was the only living thing on earth." The other monkey admitted he was both real and alive and that he had held the same thought about himself.

"I've been running for hours," he said, "and I am dead tired and have never been so hungry in my life."

The new found companion dived back into her rubble heap and shortly reappeared, cuddled up to him, and offered to share a nice, bright, shiny apple.

Looking at her in horror the little monkey backed away. "No thanks," he said, "I don't want to be responsible for starting this thing all over again."

The fact that Russia has developed a long range missile and launched a satellite before we have done not necessarily mean that the world will be destroyed but it should cause mankind to realize that arms, no matter how powerful, cannot insure our safety and continued existence.

We need Divine guidance and love in our hearts for our fellow man if we are to live together in peace.

Foreign News Commentary

Foreign News Commentary By CHARLES M. McCANN

United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

Soviet Russia built up a violent and dangerous propaganda offensive this week against the United States and its ally Turkey. The campaign was based on the allegation that the United States and Turkey were plotting an attack on Syria, Syria, now being armed by Russia and controlled by pro-Russian elements, lent its support.

Russia invoked every medium of publicity to air its charges. Nikita S. Khrushchev, acting in his capacity of first secretary of the Central Committee of the Russian Communist Party, addressed a letter to the socialist parties of seven West European countries asking them to help "prevent aggression and preserve peace in the Near and Middle East."

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned in turn that if Russia attacked Turkey, the United States would retaliate against Russian territory.

The generally grim international picture was lightened by the arrival of Queen Elizabeth II of Great Britain and her husband Prince Philip on a visit to Canada and the United States. From Canada, the Queen and the prince flew to Virginia to attend a festival commemorating the 350th anniversary of the founding at Jamestown in 1607 of the first permanent English settlement in America.

They then flew to Washington, and a triumphant reception, to be guests of President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

France's cabinet crisis, still unsoiled after nearly three weeks, was complicated by a surge of labor unrest. Electricity and gas workers struck for 12 hours throughout the country and nearly paralyzed it. Workers in the Paris subway system were without light, heat or machine power. All electrically-driven transport was idle, including the Paris subway.

President Tito of Yugoslavia shocked and angered the West German government by recognizing the East German Communist puppet regime.

West Germany had threatened to break relations with any country which recognized East Germany. It now was considering whether to make good the threat by breaking relations with Yugoslavia.

Conning The News

left Sanford on a well-scheduled trip north. The first week was spent in Washington, D. C. with son, Bobby. While there they studied on Chincoteague oysters and Maine lobster. Also saw many old friends and young relatives. Then Mary Paris, Bob's office assistant became ill, and Bob had to drive back to Sanford. That left Ruth holding the social bag. After staying with Bob's relatives for another day, she went to Monticello, N. J., where the Carl Kastners had planned a dinner party for the couple. Bob's absence brought the dinner guests to thirteen, but since Ruth does not report any ominous activities, it seems to have done no harm. Ruth did get to New York, where she shopped, saw several shows and went to the United Nations. Also lunched at the Waldorf with a friend, Helen King, who has just had her third boob published "Doodles and What they Mean to You." I don't know whether it is humorous or one of those deep psychological studies. Ruth returned to Sanford by plane—her first trip in the air, and she loved it.

Today's Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—George Bayer, a six foot, five inch 240-pound former professional football player, figures today that mechanically at least he's the luckiest man in golf.

The main reason is that anybody who were played the game wanted to know the cover off the ball. Big George does.

The pros will tell you that Bayer, the powerful blond who graduated from the University of Washington and played three games with the Washington Redskins, hits the ball farther than any man who ever lived. This is quite a feat when you consider hitters of the past and present such as Ted Ray, Clarence Gamber, Charley Hall, Jimmy Thomson, Lawson Childs, Sam Sneed and Mike Souchak.

But there are statistics to back this up.

On a 300-yard hole at Sydney, big George had a tee shot which left him only a flop wedge from the green. It was a poke of over 200 yards which, even downhill, is hitting it a long ion.

He drove the green on a 436-yard hole at the Del Rio Country Club in Tucson, hit the green of a 400-yard hole at Hartford, Conn., on the fly and performed the same feat on the 385-yard 18th at Cypress Point.

Don't Slug Ball

Yet, Bayer advises the average golfer not to try to slug the ball.

"It's the main reason most golfers lose the fairway," he said.

"Driving for the extra five or 10 yards they lose control. Consistency takes timing and control, with the length off the tee coming from clubhead speed."

Bayer points out that little Jerry Barber, only five feet, six inches tall, can outdrive George Miklan, who stands six feet, 11 inches. As for his own tremendous distance, big George explains that the arc of the average man's swing is 18 feet, while his arc measures 27 feet.

"I was blessed with coordination," he analyzes. "I never have to consciously try to cut down on my distance because at last I have my driving under full control."

Suggests Braccio Off Tee

Bayer uses his driver, a three wood with which he gets 275 yards and a one iron which he hits 230 yards. But he suggests that the average player use a brace off the tee for greater control and a three wood from the fairway.

George gave up golf from the time he was 16 until he was 25. At that point he began to play again while selling automobiles for a living "and finally realized my potential." It began to pay off this year, his fourth as a pro, when he won the Canadian Open with a 70-68-64-66—271.

"I hope I'm on my way now," he says.

And the golf world will tell you that, off the tee, at least, he's way out in front.

Mrs. John Crawford Makes Hole-In-One

A hole-in-one was registered Friday afternoon, October 18 by the first local woman to ever achieve that distinction. Mrs. John Crawford of Sanford used her three iron to fire the ace on No. 7 of the Mayfair Country Club.

Mrs. Crawford used a Spalding ball. She had purposely picked an old one, because of the water hazard. Her partner, Mrs. Price Heard promptly lost her new ball, so unnerved was she by the exciting event, although they were not positive until the two women reached the green.

Pro Mario Carignano has attested the card and sent it to the Spaulding Co. Mrs. Crawford is indeed the "woman of the moment" at the Mayfair Country Club.

Basketball Assn. To Open Tomorrow Night

NEW YORK (UP)—The Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks will pick up where they left off last spring when they meet at St. Louis tomorrow night in the opening game of the 1937-38 National Basketball Association season.

The Celtics captured the Eastern division pennant last season and then won their first world championship by defeating the Hawks, 125-123, in double overtime in the seventh game of the final playoffs.

A total of 236 games will be played in the pro circuit this season, with each of the eight member teams engaging in 72 contests.

The Boston-St. Louis game is the only contest scheduled next Tuesday night. The following night the Hawks play the New York Knickerbockers and the Celtics meet the Detroit Pistons in a doubleheader at Detroit.

The Philadelphia Warriors, with Tom Gola back from Army service, open their season against the Nationals at Syracuse on Oct. 25. All eight teams will be in action Oct. 26, with Boston at New York, Philadelphia at Detroit, Minneapolis at St. Louis, and Syracuse at Cincinnati.

The franchises were shifted following the 1936-37 season. The Pistons were moved from Fort Wayne to Detroit and the Rochester Royals transferred to Cincinnati.

Pro Hockey About To Go Through Legal Wringer

NEW YORK (UP)—Professional hockey is about to be put through the legal wringer and the paying public will get quite an eye-full when all the lines are aired.

The National Hockey League Players' Association, headed by Ted Lindsay of the Chicago Black Hawks, already has filed a three million dollar damage suit against the six NHL clubs.

The association is asking the court to void the standard players' contract. A copy of that contract was obtained during an interview with Hilton N. Mount, counsel for the players, and some of the clauses in it may come as quite a shock to the majority of hockey fans.

Take paragraph 17, for example, which practically sets up the president of the NHL, Clarence Campbell, as the last word in all player-club salary negotiations. Part of that paragraph reads:

"In the event that the player and the club do not agree on salary to be paid the matter shall be referred to the president of the league, and the parties agree to accept his decision as final."

The hockey players also are contesting paragraph 8 of their contract, which is a so-called "television and right of privacy clause."

That clause prohibits the player from obtaining any revenue from "television and radio rights to direct or indirect rights in all games, while at the same time granting the owners the right to televise and broadcast games without the players' consent and without payment of compensation for such appearances.

Although the U. S. Supreme court has exempted baseball from the anti-trust laws, it has not done so for hockey.

The hockey players association charges that NHL owners use the mails, telephone, telegraph and other interstate and international communications extensively in the conduct of their business.

Rigney Hopes To Get Giants On Top

by MAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—He may be whistling in the dark, but Bill Rigney, right on the heels of signing a new 175-000 contract as manager of the San Francisco Giants, said that he hoped to get the club into the first division in their initial venture on the Pacific Coast.

"I'm counting on two things," said Rigney, a local boy who will be starting his third season at the helm of the club. "One is that the fan enthusiasm we expect from San Francisco people will be contagious and instill new spirit into our club, such as happened at Milwaukee; and the other is our hope to land at least one more good, solid ball player."

Willie Mays says Rigney, 36, said he will swap any man on the club with the exception of Willie Mays and Johnny Antonelli.

"And I might even consider trading Johnny away if we could get enough help for him. I consider Johnny the best left-handed batter in the National League," said Bill.

He also predicted a great year for Mays.

"Willie, who has been around New York all these years, is tickled pink with the idea of playing out payment of compensation for such appearances.

Although the U. S. Supreme court has exempted baseball from the anti-trust laws, it has not done so for hockey.

The hockey players association charges that NHL owners use the mails, telephone, telegraph and other interstate and international communications extensively in the conduct of their business.

ing in San Francisco," said Rigney. "I think he'll move out here. And I'm sure he'll hit better in this ball park. The Polo Grounds was not made for Willie's type of hitting."

"In fact, I think our whole club will be stronger late in the season here than it was in New York. The humidity back there saps the strength of the players. It will be cool at all times here."

Rigney should know. He was born in nearby Alameda, played baseball in the Pacific Coast League for several years and currently lives across the bay in Walnut Creek—about 15 miles from Seals Stadium.

The manager revealed that coach Tommy Heinrich had resigned, but he said he did not know yet what coaches would be retained or hired for the next season.

Farm Players Promise

He was optimistic about some of the young players in the Giants' farm system and some in the service of Uncle Sam.

"We have nine farm clubs and 230 players in the farm system," he said. "And I'm sure we have some good talent on the way up."

He appeared most optimistic about an outfielder Felipe Alou, who played for Springfield, Mass., in the Class A Eastern League last year.

He said that Orlando Cepeta of Minneapolis also looked like a comer. Cepeta, a first baseman, hit about .310 last year, driving in 112 runs in the American Association race.

Rigney's salary was not disclosed by President Horace Stoneham, who said "we both are satisfied."

Moore, Spieser To Sign Wednesday For January Bout

DETROIT (UP)—Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore and Chuck Spieser are scheduled to sign Oct. 23 for their January title fight in Detroit.

Negotiations got beyond the talking stage when Spieser's backers posted $10,000 with the Michigan Boxing Commission as the down payment of their $100,000 guarantee to Moore.

Charley Johnston, Moore's manager of record, telephoned the commission Tuesday to say the terms were agreeable to Moore and him and followed up with a telegram to the same effect.

ERNIE LEARNS "PETE" BRATTLEBORO, Vt. (UP)—Ernie Johnson, who allowed only one earned run in seven relief innings for the Milwaukee Braves in the World Series, was feted by home town fans Thursday night. Among those honoring the pitcher was National League Umpire Bill Jochims.

WALK TO BAKER WOODRUFF, S. C. (UP)—Bob Bantz, late-season hitting sensation for the world champion Milwaukee Braves, will be honored today when he returns to the city in which he grew up. Bantz, who hit .400 in 41 games for the Braves after being brought up from Wichita, has just recovered from a cold.

PIRATES "RING" BELL PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates have purchased pitcher Bill Bell from their Lincoln, Neb., farm club and sold pitcher Jackie Brown to their Columbus, Ohio farm club. Bell had an 11-4 record with Lincoln this year.

TO MEET WINNER LOS ANGELES (UP)—Vince Martinez, second-ranked welterweight from Paterson, N.J., is scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles Friday to complete arrangements to meet the winner of next Tuesday night's bout between flangar Ortega and Kid Gavilan at Wrigley Field.

FIGHT NEXT MONTH NEW YORK (UP)—Philip Filippi, manager of Alphonse Hallimi of France, is scheduled to leave today for Los Angeles where Hallimi will meet Emil Macias on Nov. 6 in a bantamweight title fight.

Wilson Leading Ground Gainer In Grid League

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Tommy Wilson of the Los Angeles Rams, unfettered by a college diploma, was a magna cum laude performer among the university alumni in the National Football League today.

Wilson, who bypassed college and won his football experience during a service hitch, was the leading ground gainer in the league after three weeks of play with a net of 330 yards in 53 carries for a 6.6 yard average.

Eddie Le Baron of Washington, the wee one among the NFL huskies, held the No. 1 spot among the league passers.

JAS, Subdivision On Mars

TOKYO (U)—Buy a plot of land on Mars? Choice residential tracts, shopping areas and resort districts are going for $3.30 per 90-acre subdivision.

If this seemed an opium eater's dream at one time, the Soviet earth satellite has made things different.

The Japan Astronautical Society is enjoying boom times since Moscow issued its dramatic announcement this month.

One block from the Ginza, Tokyo's great white way where 1 million dollars would scarcely buy enough dirt to fill a child's sand box, is where to file your applications.

Take a rickety elevator to the sixth floor of a tiny office building surrounded by department stores, clothing shops, tea rooms and cabarets. Climb another floor to the roof and you're looking at JAS, the Mars subdivision real estate office.

It may look like a wart on the roof, but it is a penthouse for those who have their eyes on the stars.

Tiny Office

Enter a tiny office where two girls and a few men sit around some tightly cramped desks, plunk down 1,200 yen and you're a landowner.

For your money, you get a JAS membership pin—a space ship, four stars and a moon—a printed "Guide to Mars," and a blue and yellow certificate of reservation for the "Mars land subdivision."

If you are a careful shopper, you will read the certificate which gives your name, and reservation number, and add:

"You possess 100,000 subo 80 acres of land on Mars.

"In the future when this society succeeds in its plan of developing the soils located on Mars, it will give priority to your reservation and presents this certificate as a guarantee that it will subdivide 100,000 subo of land within the planned area."

The fine print contains some sage words of advice:

"In preparation for becoming Martians, you must respect science, love the arts, be generous, unselfish, and friendly, rise above sex and defend peace."

Price Goes Up

JAS started parceling out tracts on Mars in September last year, at the price of 200 yen, plus a similar amount in initiation and membership fees. Today, the price has skyrocketed to 1,000 yen, plus the 200 yen JAS fees.

Today, almost 6,000 persons are the starry-eyed holders of JAS certificates making them landowners on Mars, 35 to 63 million miles away.

Holder of certificate No. 11s Prince Yoshi, 21-year-old second son of Emperor Hirohito.

"This doesn't give him royal privileges on Mars, however," said Zentaro Hozumi, JAS director. "We aren't planning yet on having royalty there."

Other landowners include students, scientists, detective story writer Ranpo Edogawa, law professor Kisaburo Yokota, office workers, laborers, executives and old women.

Applicants include 20 from the United States and two from New Zealand. Among clients are innkeepers who want choice resort lands for hotels, and land brokers looking for an interstellar land boom in coming generations.

County TB, Health Assn. Is Thanked For Contribution

The Seminole County Tuberculosis and Health Association has received a letter of thanks for its recent $25,000 contribution toward grants to Florida's medical schools.

Grants of $3,000 each have been made to the University of Florida and the University of Miami medical schools by the Florida Tuberculosis and Health Association. It was announced today by Dr. DeWitt C. Daughtry, Miami, president of FTHA.

Dr. Samuel P. Martin, professor of medicine at the University of Florida, said their grant will be used to supplement the salary of Dr. William Stead, who will teach in the program on chronic chest diseases and tuberculosis. With this assistance, Dr. Stead will be able to devote his full time to the University of Florida's School of Medicine.

"The big problem in teaching in medical schools is getting good teachers," Dr. Martin said, "and money spent on people is money well spent."

Dr. M. Eugene Flipse, director of student health at the University of Miami, said his University's School of Medicine will spend the $3,000 appropriation from FTHA to advance the teaching program. The plan is to establish an audiovisual library of films, lantern slides, and recordings on tuberculosis and chronic pulmonary diseases for both local and state-wide lending purposes. The material will include reproductions of certain valuable teaching materials of the Dade County Tuberculosis Clinics and medical service of Jackson Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Flipse said that this audiovisual material will be of great value to the medical school teaching program, as well to other medical speakers throughout the state who could use the material to supplement lectures given before lay or medical groups.

"MUTTIK" This is a photograph of a dog travelling through space in a rocket 130 miles above the earth, published Oct. 16 in a Soviet Navy newspaper. The huskie-type dog is shown in a Russian rocket some miles above the previous height ascended by a living being. The check-like instrument above the dog records the animal's reactions. The newspaper, Soviet Fleet, said that more than one dog has been sent up and that all had been parachuted back to earth. (UP Telephoto)

Doctors Discover New Drug For High Blood Pressure

BOSTON (UP)—Two doctors, one of them the incoming president of the American Heart Assn., have announced discovery of a drug they said promised new hope for 15 to 20 million Americans suffering from high blood pressure.

The drug, named chlorothalidate, is expected to be ready by next January. It was reported in production now and available as samples to doctors.

Dr. Robert W. Wilkins, 50, a native of Chattanooga, Tenn., and president-elect of the American Heart Assn., and Dr. William Hollander, 32, of Waltham, Mass., made the announcement at Massachusetts Memorial Hospital, where they are on the staff.

May Extend Life

They said the discovery, producing a "stunning new cure," against America's most common form of cardiovascular disease, high blood pressure, or hypertension, reduces life expectancy of most sufferers by as much as 20 years and strikes at the average age of 32.

Wilkins and Hollander based their opinion of chlorothalidate's effectiveness on tests made of 81 hypertension patients in Boston during the past eight months.

Among their findings was that chlorothalidate tablets were not only a potent diuretic but appeared directly responsible for a lowering of blood pressure, when used in combination with current treatment.

They also found the drug was effective in controlling the blood pressure of highly resistant cases, and was useful in management of failure.

Stunning Change

Hollander and Wilkins said a diuretic is an agent used to promote elimination of body fluids and salts that cause swelling in heart failure cases.

But Hollander discovered that the new drug also brought about startling drops in blood pressure in even the most severe cases. Patients who had shown resistance to every type of treatment for as long as 10 years showed improvements.

Wilkins said tests of the drug on persons not suffering from high blood pressure showed that there was no drop in pressure. He said there was no evidence that it could be used to prevent high blood pressure.

TECHNICAL PLANT OPENED ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The Mississippi-Honeywell Regulator Co., whose device will guide Spain's American counterpart into outer space, formally opened a $4½ million dollar plant here. The facility, which employs 400 persons and is engaged in orders totaling $3 million dollars, is believed to be the first in this country specifically designed to produce inertial guidance systems for unmanned missile and aircraft.

FLA. KILLS 150

FRANKFURT, Germany (U)—The Asian flu epidemic sweeping Europe has caused at least 150 deaths and hospitalized thousands of Germans in West Germany, health officials have reported. The U.S. Air Force in Europe reported 8,000 cases of the illness, and the U.S. Army said 9,300 soldiers have been hospitalized with the flu. There have been 10 deaths among American force personnel in Europe as a result of the illness.

WACS 'SHAPE UP' TO EXCELLENCE! Lt. Jeanne Wolcott (left) inspects her contingent of WACS in Yokohama, Japan, after they were given a "high excellent" rating by Lt. Col. Frederick G. Ward. Lt. Wolcott had decreed "Operation Shape Up" when she noticed a certain sagging in military appearance. She recommended girdles and other figure aids to improve her outfit's looks, and Lt. Col. Ward heartily approved the change with his rating.

ASTOR GETS DIVORCE—WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Millionaire John Jacob Astor was granted a divorce Thursday by his second wife, Gertrude Gretsch Astor. The decree, awarded by a circuit court judge ended three years of litigation. The portly real estate heir originally got a divorce from Mrs. Astor in Juarez, Mexico, in 1954. But two years later, the divorce was nullified by the New York Supreme Court which ruled the Mexican court did not have jurisdiction in the case.

INVENTOR CHARGED—MINDEN, Germany (UP)—The inventor of a so-called "people's helicopter" faced 10 counts of fraud today for taking orders for and having pictures of his invention printed in West German magazines. The court prosecution contends that the craft devised by Walter Schlieske, 34, has never been flown and could not even get off the ground. The prosecution further alleges that Schlieske told people he was a former German Air Force fighter pilot and airplane constructor when actually he had been a corporal.

ARMAS' AIDES ARRESTED—GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (UP)—The Attorney general's Office has asked the army to arrest Col. Jose Magdalena Ortega and Col. Manuel Castellanos on charges of complicity in the assassination of President Carlos Castillo Armas last July 26. At the time of the murder, the colonels were first and second chiefs, respectively, of the Presidential General Staff. The request for their arrest was based on testimony by other general staff officers.

THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent flowers, tributes but also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIUM" NOTICE

It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memoriam" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preparation or selection of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start
What memory plays an old tune on the heart."

Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of The Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart-strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

Front And Side Vision Supplement Each Other

ALTHOUGH you may not realize it, you actually have two types of vision. One is front vision, the other is side vision. Both are important. Hold it with the face toward you. In just about everything you do, "straight ahead" vision permits you to read this column easily while looking directly at it. "Side vision" allows you to see the other page of this newspaper at the same time.

Seldom do we think about this side vision. Yet, without it, we would find it very difficult to get about.

Our vision was confined to what we could see directly in front of us, we'd be bumping into things continually. Also, we'd be unable to get out of the way of anything approaching from the side.

Side vision either is present at birth or develops within a short time thereafter.

However, important as this type of vision is, you can't read with it. Let me illustrate what I mean. Hold your right index finger about 18 inches in front of your face. That's normal reading distance. Keep your vision centered on your extended finger.

Now, take a wrist watch or pocket watch in your left hand. Hold it with the face toward you. Then, slowly, bring the watch toward your finger.

I think you'll find that while you can see the watch and easily identify it as such, long before it reaches your finger, you'll have a hard time reading the numerals on the dial until it is directly in line with the finger.

As you can readily see, each of your two types of vision has distinct advantages. Without straight-ahead vision you wouldn't be able to read, do any kind of fine or close-up work and you wouldn't be able to see clearly at a distance.

So protect both types by having frequent eye examinations. See your eye doctor at least every two years.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

M. J. R.: I am a woman 50 years old and have had one kidney removed. The doctors tell me my other kidney is perfect. Is there any reason why I cannot work?

Answer: If your other kidney is functioning normally, there is no reason why you cannot work.

Medical, Dental Service Bureau Established Here

D. K. McNab, owner and operator of the Credit Bureau of Sanford, announced today the establishment of the Medical and Dental Service Bureau, a Division of the Credit Bureau of Sanford. The services offered members of the Bureau will be similar to those now extended to the retail and wholesale merchants of Sanford and Seminole County, but will be adapted to serve the special needs of the hospitals and professional men of the area.

McNab further stated that the Credit Bureau has been appointed as an information clearing house for the use of the Home Heating Oil distributors. In this capacity the Credit Bureau will be used as a credit information center for the ten local Home Heating Oil suppliers.

The Credit Bureau of Sanford has been in continuous service to the community for more than thirty years. Reports issued by the Bureau are based on file information contained in over 100,000 file cards, kept up to date by information furnished by merchants, financial institutions, professional men, public records and newspaper clippings. Membership in the bureau is held by 125 credit grantors and local concerns. A member of the Associated Credit Bureaus of America and the associated Credit Bureaus of Florida, the local Bureau supplies and obtains credit information with more than 2000 affiliated bureaus in the United States, Canada and other foreign countries.

The Collection Division of the Credit Bureau of Sanford is operated in conjunction with the above divisions and is under the management of R. G. Thompson of this city. Since its establishment in August of 1956, the Collection Division has serviced in excess of 5,000 accounts. A member of the American Collectors Association, the division operates throughout the United States and Canada in cooperation with the 2,000 members of the organization.

The national association has established a set code of ethics to which member agencies must adhere. Mimeograph printing and photo-copying are available at the Credit Bureau, as well as complete stenographic and typing service.

Baking Contest Winner Is Told

The $25,000 grand prize in the Pillsbury's 9th grand national recipe and baking contest was awarded to Gerda Roderer Berkeley, Calif. and the recipe adopted by Ann Pillsbury.

The recipe for Accorition Treats is as follows: 3/4 cup butter, 3/4 cup of sugar, 2 unbeaten eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 1/4 cups sifted Pillsbury's best all purpose flour, and heavy duty aluminum foil.

Cream butter. Gradually add sugar, creaming well. Blend in eggs, vanilla and salt, eat well. Gradually add flour, mix thoroughly.

Fold lengthwise one yard of foil to give double thickness, then fold into 1-inch accordion pleats. Place on baking sheet.

Drop dough by rounded teaspoonful into folds (dough spreads during baking.) Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) 2 to 30 minutes until golden brown. Cool 10 minutes, remove cookies and reuse foil. If desired, sprinkle cookies with confectioners' sugar or frost with an icing. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

Pillsbury Mills, Inc., through its Jacksonville office, made the announcement of the winner through Joe Grant of Tip Top Market and other local stores.

40 Years Ago Today Americans Entered World War I Fighting

WASHINGTON — Today is the 40th anniversary of the date on which America crossed the threshold from preparation to participation in the bloody ground fighting of World War I. On Oct. 22, 1917, the first unit of American Doughboys moved into the trenches of the Western front in France.

They were infantrymen of the 1st Division. For the past four months, they had been training in French camps far behind the lines. Now, at last, they were moving up to the front for their long-awaited crack at the Hun.

Rain was pouring in torrents as they marched through deserted, shell-pocked villages to their assigned sector east of Verdun. It was a dark, cold night and it was rough going through the deep mud of the French roads. In the distance, and getting ever nearer, they could hear the thumping of artillery.

This was the great adventure for which they had crossed the Atlantic, and the Doughboys approached it with a light-hearted eagerness. Twice an officer had to about for silence to stop them from singing "Tipperary."

Somehow they got into the trenches without being detected by the German artillery. The French troops, whom they relieved, gave them a classic gallie welcome, with much hugging, kissing of both cheeks and handshaking.

Gen. John J. Pershing had deliberately chosen a unit of men from the front to give his men their introduction to war. Across the dark waste of no-man's land, the Doughboys took turns inspecting through trench periscopes, there was no sign of activity in the German lines.

Behind the infantrymen came Battery C of the Sixth U. S. Field Artillery. Struggling and falling in the deep mud, the artillerymen hauled a French 75 up the side of a small hill, and pointed it in the general direction of Germany.

At 8:15 a. m. on Oct. 26, just as dawn broke over the front, a 75-haired sergeant from South end, Ind., pulled the lanyard. First America's Shell. A loud cheer went up from the sergeant's comrades as the first American shell of World War I whistled into the enemy lines.

The shell case was carefully preserved, and sent home to President Woodrow Wilson as a souvenir. The gun that fired it was quickly removed from action and shipped back to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., where it is still displayed as a historical relic.

Docks, Terminals Project Feasible

The docks and terminals project is feasible, said Col. H. C. Gee of the engineering firm of Gee and Jensen of West Palm Beach. Col. Gee presented printed feasibility reports to the members of the Board of Commissioners as he said "this report is a means of conveying to the commission and the public a method of constructing and our study of the project."

The report, at least 50 pages in length, outlined the entire study of the project feasibility from the study of commodities moving north and the commodities that would move south into the Sanford docks and terminals.

He also gave strong support of the Sanford-Titusville Canal's additional tonnage that would move into the local docks and terminals from Canaveral Harbor. Col. Gee named commodities and estimated tonnage that would be unloaded or loaded at the local docks and terminals project.

The feasibility report recommended that the docks and terminals be constructed with hydraulic fill in the lake, 200 feet wide and 600 feet long, with two warehouses and with a paved area. Col. Gee surprised commissioners and the audience listening to the report with the estimate of $270,000 construction costs.

He also recommended that local officials interest the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund in the project. Giving examples of other communities taking advantage of the fund, he said monies borrowed from the source would earn a low rate of interest compared with other sources of funds.

"A project of this nature does not start automatically and does not continue automatically," Col. Gee pointed out. However, he said benefits will not be limited to Sanford but will reach out into other counties.

Pointing out that it would take approximately four years for the project to reach its peak usage, Col. Gee said that the docks and terminals would net the city approximately $50,000 a year above operation costs and reserve accounts. "It will take considerable time to generate business," he said.

The feasibility report recommended the location of the docks and terminals near the west city limits at Mills Creek. It was recommended that the city not undertake a project of this kind until it studies and analyzes a rate structure. "This will be ready in about 10 days and will be a supplement to this report," Col. Gee said.

"This state is having to follow the lead of other states who are making use of their waterways," Col. Gee told the Board of Commissioners. "It is a perfectly feasible project for you to assume."

"The existence of this large terminal," Col. Gee explained, "will bring industry to the city and we've just begun to scratch the surface in water transportation."

Asked what the impact on the City of Sanford would be with the docks and terminal project, Col. Gee answered "I would expect to see a sharp increase in industry; an increase in the boat business; I would expect to see one ship or boat repair facility; at least one major truck line of some size; an increase in petroleum tonnage; stabilized year round employment; and a greater individual income."

A. L. Wilson, commissioner, commented "I'm enthused about this large terminal myself and I hope these figures will give us something to work on."

Influenza Outbreak Kills 9 In School

Deaths blamed on flu climbed toward the 250 mark today, boosted by an influenza epidemic at a California school for retarded children that killed nine persons.

The epidemic at the Parterville, Calif., State Hospital for the Mentally Retarded was the third fatal outbreak to hit such state institutions.

A United Press survey showed a total of 249 persons have died of flu or complications since last summer when the first cases of Asian flu were diagnosed in the nation and its territories.

The highest death toll was in New York with 55 victims. Pennsylvania was a close second with 50 deaths, 24 of them in the Lehigh Valley area. California's toll climbed to 29.

Elsewhere, Michigan reported 26 flu-caused deaths, Louisiana 21, Illinois 13, Hawaii 9, Ohio, Utah and Wisconsin 7 each, Iowa and Kentucky 6 each, Colorado 5, New Jersey 3, and one each in Indiana, Oklahoma, Oregon, Washington and the District of Columbia.

The California State Hospital outbreak claimed five lives last week and four more over the weekend. The latest victims were two boys and a girl and a 47-year-old woman.

A flu epidemic at the Penhurst School for the Mentally Retarded near Philadelphia killed 11 patients, and another outbreak in a state school at Dixon, Ill., resulted in seven deaths.

The recipient of the award presented by the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, Raborn said that this "Good Government Award" will be presented to the man or woman whose outstanding service and devotion in government place him or her in a special category among public officials.

The local Jaycee president explained that "Any resident of Seminole County may be nominated for this award, whether he is an elected official, an appointed officer, an employee or a community-minded citizen."

Raborn commented, however, that the provision in the nomination is "that he or she has made some outstanding contribution in the field of Good Government."

No person shall be considered for nomination if he is a holder of a public office and who was elected in a state-wide election, or whose appointment is such that he serves the state as a whole, the letter explained.

The recipient of the award presented by the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, Raborn said this morning, will be nominated by the Seminole County Jaycees to receive one of the five state "Good Government Awards" to be presented at the Jaycee Fall Conference in Naples on Nov. 16.

The deadline for receiving the nominations from local citizens is Oct. 28, Raborn explained.

The Jaycee president stated that the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce "urges everyone to consider those persons who serve in government and nominate their choice for this Good Government Award."

Faulty Socket Blamed For $5,000 NAS Fire

A faulty overhead light socket was blamed as the cause of an estimated $5,000 fire which occurred aboard Sanford Naval Air Station last Friday night damaging Building No. 2, two which houses the Public Works Department, Disbursing, Special Services and Engineer's Office, also classroom spaces and Lan-C-Air Club.

The fire was first discovered at approximately 9 p. m. by J. P. McGee, HATRON Nine airman, who when leaving the Lan-C-Air Club spotted the fire in the ceiling of the club entrance. Acting quickly and calmly McGee reported the fire to club occupants and helped organize an on-the-spot fire fighting party composed of D. G. Daub, R. E. Coady, B. M. Gorman and F. Huber, all who attacked the blaze with available extinguishers and fire hose.

Concurrently J. Jowers, Ship Serviceman Second Class, notified the Sanford Naval Air Station structural fire department which answered the call immediately.

The Naval Air Station structural fire department supported by the Naval Air Station crash crew had the fire under complete control before 9:30 p. m.

Commander Lewis D. Tamny, Station Executive Officer, answering the fire alarm supervised the overall utilization of fire fighting equipment and commended McGee who reported the fire and all hands who so ably contributed to controlling the fire. The cause and extent of damage is presently being investigated.

Asked what the impact on the City of Sanford would be with the docks and terminal project, Col. Gee answered "I would expect to see a sharp increase in industry; an increase in the boat business; I would expect to see one ship or boat repair facility; at least one major truck line of some size; an increase in petroleum tonnage; stabilized year round employment; and a greater individual income."

A. L. Wilson, commissioner, commented "I'm enthused about this large terminal myself and I hope these figures will give us something to work on."

Segregation Leaders Angry At Bill Enforcement Plea

By LEON BURNETT
United Press Staff Correspondent

Southern segregation leaders bristled today at the Democratic Advisory Council's plea for prompt enforcement of the civil rights bill.

There also were expressions of dismay that the U. S. Supreme Court brushed aside Virginia's school assignment law, and a Louisiana official proposed that a "freedom of choice" amendment to the U. S. Constitution be placed in effect.

The old split in the Democratic Party, never firmly healed since southerners stalked out of the 1948 national convention, appeared even more likely to rip open again following the policy group's statement Monday.

The advisory council attacked President Eisenhower and called for quick action on the civil rights law. But it also indicated it has little interest in a compromise with the party's southern wing, which has been bubbling with discontent since passage of the civil rights bill and since Eisenhower sent federal troops to enforce integration at Little Rock.

Gravel Favors Stand
"It appears the radical left wing of the party has gained control of Chairman Paul Butler and is engaged in a battle with the Republican left wing for the Negro bloc vote," commented Georgia Democratic Chairman John Sammons Bell.

Bell said there is "no basic difference on issues" now between the two major parties, and that the ultimate result will be "either a third party or a realignment within both parties."

One southern member of the advisory council, Camille F. Gravel Jr. of Louisiana, favored the group's stand, however, and the only dissenter was Mrs. Benjamin B. Everett of North Carolina. Gravel has been under fire in his state for supporting the civil rights measure.

Mrs. Everett said North Carolina congressmen opposed the civil rights bill and "I was not going to sit there and vote for any resolution that had not been approved by them."

Special Session Proposed
Virginia Democratic Chairman Thomas B. Stanton also criticized the resolution and said in his opinion "the southerners are in no mood to compromise with the rest of the party." He added, however, that it is "too early to tell" what southern Democrats will do in 1960.

In Virginia, meanwhile, officials studied the Supreme Court's refusal Monday to hear an appeal of a ruling against the state's central control of pupil placement, and expressed the intent of finding other ways to sidestep integration.

The state will "continue to use legal and proper means" to keep classrooms segregated, according to a statement from Gov. Thomas B. Stanley, Republican State Sen. Ted Dalton, a candidate for governor, proposed that a special legislative session be called immediately to rewrite laws relating to segregation.

The consensus in other quarters was that the ruling was not unexpected, but was disappointing. No specific plan of action was under study.

Louisiana's attorney general Jack Gremillion, proposed an amendment to the Constitution that would outlaw all civil rights codes and fair employment practices codes and "permit neighborhoods to choose their own neighbors. In a speech to a civic club he outlined provisions for "freedom of choice" in employment and social pursuits.

Florida Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin said his state's school assignment law is not threatened under the ruling in the Virginia case because Florida's law does not mention race.

In South Carolina, State Sen. Marjorie Gressette said the state "will close the public schools and seek some other method" for educating children if integration is ordered. Gressette is head of the state's segregation study committee.

Alabama Gov. James E. Folsom, appearing unshaven and inference dressed at his press conference, touched again on the Little Rock crisis and said he would discharge the state's National Guard units by proclamation if there was an effort to revert them to federal status.
