

Jobs For Youth Sought For Sanford

THE ANNUAL EGG HUNT sponsored by the Florida Power Club of Enterprise on Easter Sunday afternoon was attended by 41 children who hunted some 32 dozen eggs hidden earlier by a group of fathers. To give the smaller children a better chance, the hunt was staged in two separate areas, one for those under seven years of age, top photo, and one for those more than seven years old, bottom photo. The cheetah has been employed for centuries in India and middle eastern countries in hunting antelope and other animals. It is taken to the field hooded and chained in a low car without sides. When the game is within about 200 yards the cheetah is loosed. Over short distances the cheetah can probably outrun any other animal.

Joe Foy, manager of the local office of the Florida State Employment Service, announced the launching today of the local phase of the nationwide drive to find jobs for young people who are out of school and unemployed. Noting that Governor Farris Bryant and Mayor J. H. Crapps have strongly endorsed the campaign, Foy said his office will step up its regular promotion of jobs for out-of-school youth and also enlist support in the push for jobs. "We are calling for community cooperation to help end the joblessness of this new generation of workers. This is a problem that reaches into every home; it touches on our way of thinking and our way of doing things. We can't waste people," Foy said. "We are now mapping plans which call for the active participation in this drive of high school graduates, business groups, civic groups, the Parent-Teachers Association, educators, veterans' groups, churches, and government agencies. We all have a part to play and, judging by past history, I know that the people of this city will rise to the challenge," Foy stated. Reviewing the problem which confronts the community, Mr. Foy said that here in Sanford there are many young people qualified to step into responsible jobs but unable to find them. Others have potential to qualify quickly for trainee and other beginner jobs but haven't received an offer. He observed that enthusiasm, eagerness to do well, a fresh outlook and new ideas are the special assets young people bring to a job.

'Corruption' Charged In Citrus Industry

Rutledge Criticizes 'Some'

By LARRY VERSHEL
A CONVERSATION WITH EARL HIGGINBOTHAM.
Reporter: How come you voted against emergency salary advances?
Higginbotham: I'm not against these advances I'm just looking for a fair formula to put them in effect.
Reporter: What formula are you talking about?
Higginbotham: You'll see at the next regular meeting.

LAKE LAND (UPI) — Executive Vice President Robert W. Rutledge of Florida Citrus Mutual has denounced some members of the citrus industry for growing "corrupt" from easy marketing years and not having the courage to demand adequate prices for this year's large orange crop.

In a special message to Mutual's nearly 12,000 members Monday, Rutledge said "Too many in this industry are being sadly weakened by their self-induced fear. When trouble comes they're trembling so hard with panic and fright they scurry to the most expedient shelter. Their business judgment has been corrupted by easy money and easy sales that came from short crops and scarcity of products."

Rutledge called on the industry to stop underrating "the value of Florida oranges and orange products." He asked it to "Look at the clear sales facts and the confidence of the American consumer in us and our products to strengthen our own faith in ourselves."

Of those who underrate the value of the product, Rutledge said "They chop out makeshift marketing deals with a hatchet too dull to cut anything but high prices."

He said Mutual was "completely confident" the industry could market in a profitable and orderly fashion the 101 million box orange crop — largest in history — that is forecast by the federal government.

He noted that sales of fresh orange concentrate, which consumes 60 per cent of orange production, were 21 per cent higher than for the comparable period last season.

Rutledge suggested measures to combat such situations—creation of an emergency advertising fund, use of the citrus stabilization amendment to enable growers to pay for their own relief measures, and a comprehensive product research and development program to find new citrus uses.

Develop Bigger Blasts Is Aim Of Coming Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. scientists testing nuclear weapons in the Pacific are expected to devote much of the next two months to getting more punch per pound into missile warheads.

Some of the blasts may run as high as five megatons—a force equal to five million tons of TNT.

Most of the tests are expected to continue in the vicinity of Christmas Island, scene of the first two explosions in the atmospheric series last week.

The development of more destruction per pound in warheads, and also bombs, was one of two major objectives President Kennedy set for the 11,800-man task force conducting the experiments.

The second prime objective determining what nuclear blasts high in the atmosphere and in space would do to attacking missiles and communications circuits—will be delayed until June or July.

This leaves all of May and possibly much of June free for testing new warhead designs which scientists believe will achieve major breakthroughs in the problem of delivering as much destruction as possible in each missile.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced Monday that the United States will fire three high-altitude shots in June or July over Johnson Island, its other Pacific testing site.

Both of the tests already held at Christmas Island produced less than a megaton.

Only one of these, the AEC said, is expected to exceed a megaton.

The AEC said that scientists around the world would be alerted prior to the Johnson Island tests so they can make measurements.

One of the shots, the AEC said, will be touched off more than 100 miles high.

Biggest Primary Says Adams

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Secretary of State Tom Adams forecast today that high interest in congressional and state legislative races will draw a record 1,018,042 voters to the polls next Tuesday.

Adams, the state's chief election official based his prediction on past voting trends and current voter registration figures of 1.9 million, an all-time high for a primary in Florida.

"Chances are quite good the balloting will go over the million mark for the first time in any Florida primary election," he said.

Highest previous primary vote was in 1960 when 937,000 persons cast ballots in a race for governor.

Adams estimated 51 percent of the voters will go to the polls, assuming good weather statewide.

He called the record voter registration for an off-year election a "healthy sign" for Florida politics, and credited the State Junior Chamber of Commerce and supervisors of registration with the impressive increase.

The Jaycees, with the help of registrars, conducted a drive statewide to sign up eligible voters.

As a result, registration figures shot up a quarter of a million from 1960, increasing by five per cent the percentage of eligible citizens who are registered to vote.

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Roger L. Davis, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, wants the State Road Department and the Lee County grand jury to investigate a firm in which he says Sen. George A. Smathers owned stock.

Davis said the firm bought 280 acres of land on the north side of the Caloosahatchee River and six months later realized a big profit because a bridge across the river was relocated.

Davis said Monday he was sending full details of the transaction to the Lee County grand jury and the State Road Department.

S. Vietnamese Rescue Two GIs

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — Two U. S. Army sergeants captured by Communist guerrillas three weeks ago were rescued early today by South Vietnamese soldiers.

The South Viet Nam government announced.

Sgt. 1/c Francis Quinn of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Sgt. George E. Groom of St. Joseph, Mo., members of the elite U. S. Special Forces, were rescued near the coastal town of Danang, about 360 miles northeast of Saigon.

They were reported in good condition.

The two men were captured when Communist Viet Cong guerrillas swept out of the jungles and attacked An Chau Village, where they and two other American soldiers were training civilian militia volunteers. The other two enlisted men were killed in the clash.

Loan Co. Robbed

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Two bandits with pistols got away with about $1,500 after holding up the Gulfstream Loan Co. Monday.

More Terror In Algiers

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — A band of Secret Army Organization (OAS) terrorists in Bone today fired three rifle grenades into a group of Moslem dock workers, wounding 21 of them as they stood around a labor center that was closed for May Day.

The 6 a.m. attack followed a bomb blast and an exchange of gunfire between the OAS and police during a two-day period of calm in the port city.

This morning's 21 casualties brought the year's terrorism toll throughout Algeria to 4,075 dead and 8,406 wounded.

As the toll mounted, police struck back at the OAS. Police were reported to have captured the new leader of the outlawed organization in local Delta commandos in Oran. Informed sources identified him only as "Captain Jean."

Jailed In Theft

Walter Eubridge and Robert Brown were sentenced to six months to five years in jail for pulling out a telephone booth in the Forest City area Monday afternoon, by Circuit Judge Volle Williams Jr.

May Day Rallies Held In Berlin Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — A million Berliners massed today in rival May Day rallies on opposite sides of the "Wall of Shame" that divides the city. There were no clashes in this quietest May Day on record here.

An estimated 750,000 West Berliners held the largest anti-Red demonstration in their postwar history in the square in front of the old Reichstag building and only 150 yards from the Communist wall under the slogan that "Freedom Knows No Wall." There was no parade in the West.

But in East Berlin, the Communists paraded their military might in violation of four-power agreements and declared once more that West Berlin "must and will become a demilitarized, free city on the basis of a German peace treaty."

The half-hour Red military parade, followed by hours of march-past by Communist organizations, was climaxed with the appearance of about 20 two-stage Soviet-supplied anti-aircraft rockets, which were described as "the same type that shot down 112 pilot Gary Powers."

In West Berlin three-quarters of a million Germans cheered as Gen. Lucius D. Clay reiterated that the United States would stand by its pledge to defend the city and Mayor Willy Brandt said: "No one will induce us to recognize or guarantee the Berlin wall."

The West Berlin rally was far larger than the one staged in the Communist zone, reportedly attended by 250,000 persons.

First DWI Sentence Imposed

It was the moment of truth. The defendant in the case of driving while intoxicated was standing before the bench, facing Judge Vernon Mize of the Seminole County Court. On the right was County Prosecutor Carlyle Housholder, ready to read the charge against the slight, brown haired woman of middle age, wearing an aqua colored skirt and a white blouse who faced the Judge.

Housholder began to read, fast, as though the last thing he really wanted to do was read this charge. His voice was low and hearing him was difficult, but here and there a phrase came through. "... not having a proper driver's license ... and driving while intoxicated."

Tension surrounded the bar, and the three people, like a cloud. The court had promised a few days ago that, come what may, anyone charged and convicted of driving an automobile while intoxicated would have to serve a mandatory jail sentence.

Everyone in the hot, humid courtroom knew of the promise and they also knew that Mize was stuck with it. The defendant's grey-haired husband, sitting about half down the left center aisle moistened his lips and rubbed his hands together. The defendant nervously clenched and unclenched her fingers.

"Is this your first offense?" Housholder asked. "Yes, sir."

"Do you plead guilty or not guilty?" "Guilty."

The charter boat Miss Katie towed the burning Lady Barbara out of the basin and into the river to avoid possible damage to other vessels. It sank close to the Intracoastal Waterway after burning to the waterline.

The three men had left Miami Sunday on their way back to Brooklyn. Rotondo said they had just finished refueling and were backing the vessel into the basin when the explosion happened.

Businessmen Consider Kennedy 'Unfriendly'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most of the businessmen interviewed in a spot check across the country said today they considered the Kennedy administration to be unfriendly toward them. All who held that view predicted relations between government and business would get worse.

President Kennedy made a speech here Monday to the 50th annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce. It was his first appearance before a business organization since his knockdown fight with the major steel companies. The tone of the speech was conciliatory. He asked for a better understanding between government and business, and business, referring to the steel crisis, said the government did not want to take on the "added burden" of having to set prices on individual products.

Nobody rose up in the audience to grasp the olive branch of peace from the President. The olive tree thrives best in a warm, friendly climate and there was a touch of frost in Constitution Hall, all of which could not be attributed to the air conditioning system. The applause at the end was polite rather than tumultuous, and reporters who have attended these meetings for years contrasted it with the thunderous cheers that always greeted Dwight D. Eisenhower.

After Kennedy departed Richard Wagner of Chicago, president of the chamber, made a speech in which he said a build-up of power in the executive branch of any government ultimately leads to the police state.

One thread that ran through the conversation of delegates after the meeting was recessed was that they were awaiting with interest the administration's attitude toward a big labor union that would insist on a wage increase.

United Press International reporters across the country put two questions to businessmen:

1. Do you consider the Kennedy administration friendly or unfriendly and why?
2. Do you believe the relationship between business and government will "get better" or worse and why?

No businessman or group of men can speak for everybody and in no sense should the answers that follow be considered a scientific opinion poll. Heads of many companies—including some of the country's biggest—for one reason or another asked to be excused from commenting. But the interviews did cover a wide geographical range and a variety of businesses.

About two-thirds of those who replied felt the administration was unfriendly to business.

Bear Lake Presbyterians Meet In Area

Mrs. Kilpatrick urged that more adults take advantage of these classes before the summer swimming season begins.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My telephone just rang for the third time in two hours, and that was the straw that broke the camel's back. After dropping my work and nearly breaking my neck over the children's toys, I was asked to buy a certain product. What about starting a campaign to stop this sort of thing? When I want to buy something I'll go to the store, and I'm sure not going to buy the product that is advertised by someone who called me on the phone and disturbed my work. IRENE

DEAR IRENE: Telephone solicitation gives employment to those who cannot leave their homes. But although the callers are guiltless themselves, I think the sponsors of such intrusive advertising make more enemies than friends.

DEAR ABBY: Would it look funny for a bride to wear flat-heeled shoes at her wedding because if she wore high heels, she would be taller than the groom? TALL ONE

DEAR TALL: Unless your future husband is loaded with confidence, better wear the flats and let him be taller. (Anyway, who looks at a bride's feet when her face is glowing with happiness?)

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of six children. They are all under 12, so I give quite a few birthday parties during the year. I also give little Easter parties, Valentine parties and Halloween parties. My problem is this:

When we send the invitations we always state clearly: "The party is from 1:00 p. m. until 5:00 p. m.—Saturday afternoon." Now every time I have a party about half the children just stay around until I take them home. Do you think this is right? Maybe I am being small about it, but I get annoyed when this happens. How can this be prevented without hurt feelings? PARTY-GIVING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You could phone the "guilty" mothers (about 5:30 p. m.) and ask them if they intend to come for their children. Otherwise, prepare to deliver them to their respective homes and forget it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU MUCH TOO SOON: It's never too late to reform. Start giving nothing—and right now.

For a personal (unpublished) reply to your problem, send Abby a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3865, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

West's four spade opening puts North on a spot, but North should bid four no-trump rather than pass or double. This bid is not Blackwood, but rather a demand to partner to choose his best suit and South should jump to six hearts.

West will open the king of spades and South will see that he has plenty of work out for him. He has to trump three spades in dummy and eventually park his third club on dummy's fourth diamond.

As you can see, the ten of diamonds will drop from the West hand, but South can't see that. He should plan his play for a squeeze in case the ten does not drop.

ruff the last spade with dummy's last trump and lead a low diamond. If East rises with the ace it will be all over, but East will surely duck. Now South will be in his hand with the queen and should cash his last two trumps and discard two clubs from dummy.

If East holds the ten of diamonds he will be squeezed since he will have to make two discards, one on the third spade and one on that last trump.

Incidentally, with that ten of diamonds dropping there were several ways to make the hand, but the above is the elegant one.

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

It's not always the lure of an extra pay check that sends housewives job-hunting. Sometimes, the real reason a housewife takes on an outside job is simply because she hates housework and would rather earn enough to pay another woman to do it than to stay at home and do it herself.

Sometimes a woman—especially a woman without children or one whose children are grown—feels that keeping house isn't a full time job, so she goes to work to get the feeling of "doing something worth-while."

Sometimes a woman takes a job to escape the endless demands on her time and energy. A housewife finds it hard to say "no," too—like the reader who writes "I wonder how many women have gone back to work for the same reason I have. As a full time housewife, my time was never my own."

"Somebody was always demanding that I do something; contribute to a bake sale, ring door bells asking for money for this or that fund raising drive, serve on a telephone committee, campaign for a politician, join this, join that, attend meetings."

"Try to say no, and the woman who was high-priestess to me to take on still another job made me feel like a slacker. After all, nobody seems to think a full time housewife

Highlights TV Time Previews

8:30-9:30 p. m. ABC. The New Breed "My Brother's Keeper." Famed actress Margo adds greatly to this episode as the overly protective mother of an 18-year-old boy whose feckish "acts of courage" lead to his brother's death and the wounding of innocent bystanders. Detective Cavelli, who arrested the juvenile, has his reputation for being an honest cop attacked during the trial. Leslie Nielsen, John Beradino and Greg Roman are starred with guest Robert Blake.

8:30-9 p. m. CBS. Dobie Gillis. Another sassy plot in which Maynard (Bob Denver) almost steals the play from Dobie (Dwayne Hickman). Dobie figures Maynard is too dependent on him and decides he'll stop being the beatnik's buddy so he can learn to stand on his own feet. Maynard's wounded reaction is delightfully funny.

9-10 p. m. NBC. Dick Powell Show. "Savage Sunday." This is the pilot of the "Saints and Sinners" series, starring Nick Adams as a paws reporter, Ann Blyth as his reporter-girl friend, and John Larkin as editor. This sample is quite exciting and concerns a young girl's (Carolyn Kearney) problem with her fiancé (Burt Brinckerhoff, a Bible school student. Though she claims she successfully fought off an attack by three young hoodlums, he gets a different idea from the newspaper story.

There's good suspense and provocative drama as Adams goes for the truth. Good as one of the hoodlums is Ben Piazza.

Graduates Honored At Luncheon

Misses Carol Sue Higginbotham and Debbie Scott were guests of honor at a graduation luncheon at the home of Mrs. Arthur S. McCallum this weekend.

Mrs. McCallum was assisted with the entertaining by her sister, Mrs. Roy Holler.

The red and white color theme of the senior class was carried out in decorations. The center arrangement on the luncheon table was flanked by tall red candles in silver holders.

White linen cut-work mats were at each place setting and the menu included congealed fruit salad, chicken in patty shells, radish roses, celery, cranberry sauce, crisp potato chips, hot rolls and iced tea.

A delicious dessert of chocolate ice cream parfait and crisp sand tarts completed the delightful luncheon.

Guests were the two honorees, Miss Higginbotham's mother and grandmother, Mrs. Earl Higginbotham and Mrs. Bertie Roberts, and Miss Scott's mother, Mrs. F. D. Scott.

Also the Misses Anne Crapps, Jean Robson, Loreita For., Vida Sue Smith, Alison Blake, Merritt Phillips, Pat Wight, Rose Kratsert and Bonnie Gielow.

Osteen Relatives Meet For Family Reunion

By Mrs. Clarence Snyder
Mrs. Lois Brooke, local postmaster, is entertaining her daughter, Mrs. Dennis Young, and grandson Jerry of Wichita, Kansas.

In their honor a family reunion, picnic style, was held recently at the old Brooke homestead on Enterprise Road.

Those attending were two other daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Don Stowell and children, Maxine, Corky and Vince of Sanford and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Braddock and children, Jimmy, Alan and Crystal of Enterprise.

Other relatives were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tyson, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, sons, David and Peter; Mrs. Ty Owens, Mrs. Danny Neal and son Danny Jr., and Mrs. C. U. Brown.

Two birthdays were celebrated, those of Mrs. Mildred Tyson and Don Stowell and the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Don Stowell.

Farewell Tea Honors Mrs. C. A. Dunn

The lovely Brittany farm home of Mrs. Edgar J. Boudinot formed the setting for an elegant farewell tea given recently by Mrs. Boudinot in honor of Mrs. Charles N. Dunn Jr. who will leave soon for France.

An ornate silver punch bowl was a highlight of the serving table which was laid with a rich gold and beige brocade cloth and graced with an arrangement of red and white carnations in a silver container. A silver tea service and other appointments completed the decor.

In the Florida room, a matching cloth was featured on the tea table where an antique gold service echoed the golden colors. Here the centerpiece of brilliant yellow carnations cleverly duplicated the arrangement painted on the invitations which had been sent to the wide circle of friends of both the honoree and hostess, and members of the officers wives of Heavy Attack Squadron One.

Mrs. Dunn greeted guests wearing a femininely styled shirt-waist dress of softly toned vanilla eyelet, complemented by green accessories and a corsage of minute spring violets. A silk sheath of striking crease was worn by the hostess.

Throughout the spacious home, bouquets of spring flowers in a wide range of colors were placed at vantage points, while in the garden bowls of gardenias provided fragrance to the conversational circle of lawn furniture and a pale pink linen cloth on a round serving table lent color to the outdoor setting.

Pouring for the early afternoon event were Mrs. Ted Wagner, Mrs. L. J. Reinhart, Mrs. Barton Bartholomew and Mrs. Robert Provencher. A silver tray, engraved with "To Naomi from the Wives of V-11, 1962," was presented to Mrs. Dunn, who is the wife of the former commanding officer of the squadron. Mrs. Boudinot's husband, Cmdr. Boudinot, is the present skipper of the famous Tigers.

Following the closing of Sanford schools, Mrs. Dunn will join her husband in Ville Franche, on the French Riviera. Cmdr. Dunn recently sailed on the SS Independence for his new tour of duty on the staff of the Sixth Fleet.

Let's Reconsider

We think the City Commission erred in not allowing emergency salary advances for its employees and agree with Mayor J. H. (Jimmy) Crapps and Al Wilson that the board is just not big enough to stop these advances altogether.

The average salary of most of the employees is $50 per week. If there should be a death in the family or, sickness, who can they turn to for additional financial help?

A survey by the Herald revealed that most of the larger companies in the city grant emergency salary advances and take it out of the employees weekly check.

We admit this practice can be abused but we can't see closing the door on them "outright."

We suggest closer security before giving the advances and perhaps limiting but not doing away with them, and telling a trusted employe "sorry."

It could create a serious morale problem at city hall and we firmly believe and hope the city will reconsider again its motion to eliminate the advances.

Jam - UP In Court

The chaotic misapplication of justice in the nation's traffic courts is surely no small factor in the mounting disregard for law and order which marks this age.

In the view of the American Bar Association, which has a permanent program for the improvement of traffic courts, they produce an avalanche of hastily reached decisions leading to penalties that in some cases are far too severe and in others too lenient.

A driver who ran a stoplight at a fantastic 100 miles an hour, struck another car and killed two persons while injuring five others, wound up with a $22 fine.

Unnumbered individuals arrested for traffic violations never actually get into the court system at all. Cities and towns all over the country have their "scowflaws" who flout the traffic summons. Chicago has a pile of four million forgotten summonses in a court building basement. Now and then a scowflaw is caught. One city recently crowned a new king who had ignored more than 200 tickets.

Meantime, the grubby mills of many traffic courts are raking in money from thousands of "guilty pleaders" and an only slightly smaller number of protesting defendants who may get no more than two minutes to make their case.

A city traffic court which heard 66,000 speeding and traffic light cases in 1960 acquitted only five defendants. . . of cities frankly depend on traffic fines to help balance their budgets, and flatly order judges to "bring in more money" when the take is lagging.

The American Bar Association now offers a consultant field service to help interested traffic court officials at all levels. The aim, of course, is to apply decent standards which will assure justice and efficient court operation.

Above all, this means allowing defendants time to present their cases and a chance to question their accusers. Uniform procedures, adequate clerical personnel, techniques for educating offending motorists are also advised by ABA.

Most experts say the courts have no business serving as revenue producers. Some would abolish totally the system of fines, and direct all minor penalties toward restricting or revoking driving privileges.

Professional legal judgment is clearly that traffic court justice in this country has largely broken down. With 75 million motor vehicles on the roads and millions more coming, complete collapse is the harsh prospect unless modernization programs like the ABA's are given wide and continuing public support.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE M-408: Jerry J., aged 11, was catcher on his Little League baseball club.

"Oh, Dr. Crane," Jerry's mother tearfully began, "I can't go on!"

"For Jerry was hit on the head and died within a few hours."

"I feel that it was all my fault. For if I hadn't consented to his playing ball, then this never would have happened."

"Now I cry all the time. I can't sleep or eat and I feel as if I shall lose my mind. Can you help me at all?"

Lynn Waldorf, former big time football coach, used to say that even the sport of football was a saver of lives, despite the few fatalities each season.

He pointed out that if 250,000 teenagers are spending 3 hours per day in rugged football practice, plus the final games on Saturday, a few will inevitably be hurt.

"But," said Coach Waldorf, "if those same boys were NOT on the gridiron in daily practice, they'd be joy riding around in automobiles where far more of them would be killed."

So baseball, football, track, basketball, and all our other popular sports are actually life savers of American youth!

But that statistical fact doesn't banish the grief of the parents of the occasional boy who is killed, or what would you say to Jerry's mother?

"Your son was happy playing Little League ball, wasn't he?" I asked and she mutely nodded her head, amidst her tears.

"Well, if you had refused him the right to play ball, he would have been very unhappy, wouldn't he?" and again she nodded.

Then I told her that we medicals have a general code that it is better to die happy than live sad!

That is especially true when the death occurs in a constructive activity.

And American sports teach fair play, cooperation, muscular coordination, plus many other valuable lessons.

Right now at least 1,000,000 boys are playing baseball or engaging in other school sports.

One such youth recently started home in his car when practice was called off because of rain. Four other classmates were in the machine with him. They were hit at a railroad crossing and all 5 were killed instantly.

If this boy had been out on the playing field, he would probably be alive today.

So Coach Waldorf's advice should help buoy up all you grieving parents of the occasional youths who are killed in sports.

If you believe in a future life, you should also cheer up. Heaven is not an Old Peoples' Home, populated solely by Methuselah and other hoary headed oldsters.

It must have babies and toddlers and teenagers and young adults, plus the middle aged and elderly, if it is to offer the proper mental and emotional stimulation.

Furthermore, God doesn't measure our worth just by the calendar or the number of birthdays we have celebrated. Jesus died at 33, yet accomplished more than anybody else. Our oldest son crashed in his Cougar jet plane at 20, but he relished flying and died doing what he preferred to do. So did 11-year-old Jerry!

It's All In The Bounce

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Friends, that tomato you picked up, so fair, unblemished and seemingly in the pink of condition, could be a case of beauty being only skin deep.

The poor thing may be suffering from internal injuries. The theory that tomatoes are highly susceptible to internal bruising has just been resoundingly confirmed in the research laboratories of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A report on the study brings to light some of the most fascinating discoveries that I have seen in many a day.

First of all, the researchers established various ways that tomatoes can be bruised. They found that bruising can occur when tomatoes "are squeezed tightly together in a box," when there is "rough handling of the boxes," and "from dropping individual tomatoes on hard surfaces."

As far as I know, nobody had previously suspected that dropping a tomato on a hard surface might cause it harm.

The researchers then made some laboratory tests "to measure the amount of damage at various stages of ripeness when they were dropped distances ranging from 6 to 18 inches on a hard surface, and when dropped on a surface covered with a layer of foam rubber."

This led to the startling revelation that "injury to those dropped on hard surfaces was much the more serious."

If I interpret that correctly, it means that tomatoes are more badly bruised when dropped on a hard surface than when dropped on a soft surface. Eureka!

And that isn't all. The researchers also found that "the ripest tomatoes were injured most" by the dropping.

That may be hard to believe, but the report states it as a fact.

Furthermore, it says that injury from the dropping "was found to be cumulative; that is, when tomatoes were dropped two or more times, the damage was found to extend to more and more internal parts."

That conclusion especially came as a shock to me. I had always believed that the more you dropped a tomato, the better.

South Set For Rights Fight

By Steven Gerstel
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — For many years now, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., has marshaled his small band of southern senators for the annual battle against civil rights.

If for some reason — and none is imminently apparent — the post of commander-in-chief of the Senate's Southern bloc was vacated, who would take over?

When questioned, the people closest to the Southerners are virtually unanimous in their belief that only two men would be considered — Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama and Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi.

Only one other senator — Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina — was mentioned by sources close to the senators. But his lack of seniority would hinder him, according to these sources.

The consensus of feelings was that the Southern bloc would be badly hurt without Russell at its head.

"My God, I hope that never happens," one person said. "Russell is the most qualified person in government today."

Russell has led the Southerners through the major civil rights battles of 1957 and 1960 and the current one. He has also been at the helm during the off-year skirmishes.

Most of the sources feel that no other southern senator can match Russell in his knowledge of parliament maneuvering, prestige, and liaison with non-Southerners.

They feel that Hill and Stennis approached Russell most closely in these attributes with Stennis getting the nod as a parliamentarian and Hill the edge in dealings with other senators. Both are very highly regarded by all their colleagues.

Stennis is closer to Russell than Hill and would probably be Russell's choice, according to the sources. He has been groomed to take over as chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee by Russell whenever the Georgian becomes chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Hill, on the other hand, has seniority over Stennis and most Senate matters are decided on seniority. Russell himself, however, was the junior senator from Georgia when he became head of the Dixie bloc.

Sens. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., once considered the two men, Russell Long, D-La., and B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., were eliminated because they failed to join the Dixie bloc in the anti poll tax battle.

Sens. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., and Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., were considered too old for the grueling floor fights although it was acknowledged that Byrd still is a major voice in the bloc's inner sanctums.

Most of those questioned felt that Sens. J. William Fulbright D-Ark., and John J.

Sparkman, D-Ala., would not want the post.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S. C., was termed "too unpredictable" and there was no enthusiasm for Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

That leaves Sen. Olin D. Johnson, D-S. C., John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.

No specific reasons were given why these three would not be given top consideration but no one felt they would be chosen. Same predicted, however, that Talmadge was a good bet as heir apparent in the more distant future.

Peter Edson Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Drastic changes in the character of American political campaigning could be effected by three things which have happened here in quick succession.

1. Because of the high costs of air travel and nationwide broadcasts by presidential and vice presidential candidates, the Commission on Campaign Costs has just recommended that the present $3 million limit on political gifts by one person to any one candidate or organization be repealed.

To encourage more small political contributions, a $10 tax credit or a $1,000 tax deduction is recommended.

President Kennedy will propose legislation on these and other reforms.

2. Senate and House have passed and sent to the President for approval a bill authorizing $32 million government grants to promote educational television.

As public service enterprises, such stations would be required to carry programs giving both sides of political or other controversial issues.

3. A Senate Freedom of Communications Committee filed report after full investigation of the 1960 presidential campaign, recommending that the Federal Communications Commission issue new ground rules for all broadcasting stations that editorialize in favor of one candidate or party so that equal time will be given to the opposition.

To back up the FCC in this action, Subcommittee Chairman Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., intends to introduce a bill in the near future which would give the commission power to compel broadcasting stations to carry opposition programs in fairness cases where there has been editorializing.

Since the proposed campaign costs and contributions legislation would apply only to presidential elections, Congress will not have to act before next year to have the new financing provisions apply in 1964.

While it is doubtful that many new educational television stations could be put in operation under the new legislation this year, the mere licensing of more such stations would influence the programming of commercial radio and television broadcasters. The effect of a network of educational stations carrying political debate programs could be great.

The Yarborough Committee, whose other members are Senators Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., recommends that all broadcasting stations "licensees should editorialize."

The committee also recommends that "Equal opportunity to use the station's facilities to answer such editorials about accure the candidate or party against whom the editorial is directed." If such a policy were included in FCC law or regulations, it would affect several classes of stations.

and recorded music with commercials. No time is given to public service programs and not even paid political programs are accepted.

It would also hit at stations which give coverage to the candidates of only one party and partisan coverage of the issues, ignoring opposition candidates and their views.

Federal Communications Commission can change its regulations in accord with recommendations of the Yarborough Committee after hearings and due notice to the broadcasting industry. If this action could be completed by the end of this summer, any changes would apply in the final weeks of the 1962 campaign.

Some delay in the hearings may be necessary for a change in the FCC itself. The term of Commissioner John S. Cross expires June 30, and he intends to retire. This would give President Kennedy opportunity to appoint a new commissioner who would change the balance of power and give the FCC a majority favoring the reform policies of Chairman Newton N. Minow.

Phil Newsom Says:

Presidential Dilemma On SE Asia Reviewed

President Kennedy has thrown his personal influence into the effort to establish a neutral government in Laos. It is a situation certainly not to the President's liking.

It is done only on the basis that a neutral Laos provides an escape from an intolerable situation.

The President's action came in a letter delivered to Laotian King Savang Vatthana, reiterating United States insistence that the right-wing government of Laos join neutralist and pro-Communist rebels in a coalition government.

The U. S. decided more than a year ago that its policy of support for a strongly pro-Western government in Laos simply was not paying off.

The American-trained Laotian Army had a far greater record of retreat than of aggressive action.

The Communist-trained and supplied Pathet Lao rebels already were occupying nearly half the country and threatened to take more.

If the pro-Western forces were to win, it became apparent that American money alone would not be sufficient. American troops on a scale at least comparable to U. S. action in South Vietnam would be necessary.

This not only was opposed by Britain and France, two of the United States' chief allies, but also involved the likelihood of Red Chinese intervention in the manner of Korea.

Thus the United States' dilemma.

Having passively supported the overthrow of neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma and actively supported his successor, Prince Boun Oum, the U. S. made a complete turnaround and declared for the return of Souvanna Phouma to head a neutral government committed neither to East nor West.

In this it had the support of Britain and France and the promise of the Soviet Union that it would assist in maintaining a truly neutral Laos.

But the U. S. action was taken without reckoning on Defense Minister Phoumi Nosavan who stubbornly has refused to cooperate.

Since February, the United States has been withholding monthly payment of $3 million to pay Army and police costs, although continuing other economic and military aid shipments.

The feeling that a neutral Laos must eventually drift into the Communist camp springs from the belief that Souvanna Phouma would have neither the inclination nor the strength to overcome them.

The situation has not bolstered the confidence of either neighboring Thailand nor other Southeast Asia nations such as the Philippines. Both Thailand and South Vietnam now expect stepped up Communist infiltration.

I know that you'll be expecting to read all about the women's tournament in today's column, but my deadline being such as it is on a Sunday night, I'm half-way supplied with the facts. So rather than skip over some of the mid-way point "leaders," I'll give you a capsule review of the goings-on and be more specific in next week's column.

I was very much impressed with the Girl Scouts being on hand for the grand opening and in leading us with the pledge to the flag. And whenever I hear the National Anthem, it sends a chill up and down my spine.

On the first day, for the team events, the girls were introduced as they stood at attention on the approach, facing towards the flag. They were all very much thrilled with the big time tournament atmosphere.

There's an awful lot more to be said, but what pleased me most is the fact that in almost all of the categories, the current leaders are girls who only recently started bowling.

Missile Club Holds Annual Banquet

By Jane Casselberry
Conditions were A-OK last Wednesday night at Lyman School when the Missile Club held its second annual banquet for parents, members and guests in the school cafeteria.

More than 300 persons were present to enjoy a dinner which included such "far out" items as Dyna Soar ham with LaCrosse sauce, buttered Bull Pup potatoes, Minuteman rolls with solid fuel, liquid nitrogen ice cream and Corporal cake served with Titan tea and Lox coffee.

Members of the club served as waiters and waitresses and favors were program notebooks in the shape of the Mercury capsule containing the menu, program, listing of officers and an autograph page.

In addition, the ladies received a set of miniature china decorated with pictures of missiles complete with its own display rack.

The invocation was given by Willis Benson Jr., the Club's Chapter Two reporter and the welcome was given by Tony McClellan, Missile Club president. Mrs. Willis Benson, Lyman music teacher, led the group in singing "God Bless America" to open the program.

Dennis Hearn, Chapter Four reporter, gave an interesting talk on the satellite program citing many practical uses for information obtained through satellites in field of physics, geophysics, meteorology, experimental communication, space physiology and medicine.

The Lyman Missile Club Chorus, organized only a few days in advance of the banquet, sang the appropriately entitled number, "Where, Oh Where Do the Missiles Go?" Linda Cote, Chapter Six vice president, gave a very convincing argument in her talk on the subject "There is Life On Mars," illustrating with diagrams showing changes that occur on the planet at different times of the year which indicate vegetation. She also pointed out lines which many scientists believe to be canals as an argument that intelligent life exists on Mars.

Peter E. Wright, guest speaker and electronics technician for McDonnell Aircraft

Corp. which manufactures the Mercury Space capsule, was introduced by Lyman Principal Ralph Diggs.

This was Wright's third appearance before the club and he brought with him the only existing scale model of the capsule with escape tower attached which he borrowed from NASA.

He gave statistics relating to the orbital flight and its world wide system of monitoring which involves 18 separate tracking stations manned by 500 technicians. In all, 30,000 people are directly involved in the orbital mission. There are 140,000 circuit miles, 100,000 teletype miles and 20,000 miles of telephone wire for use in relaying information with more than 1,000 messages sent back to earth per second by telemetry for monitoring.

Wright answered questions asked by the space conscious youngsters and told them that preparations for Astronaut Scott Carpenter's orbital mission are well underway and that the space craft (now the preferred term rather than capsule) was soon to be placed atop the booster rocket.

Lyman's Missile Club is made up of seventh and eighth graders. Faculty advisor is Mrs. Catherine Martin who received a standing ovation for her work with the group.

On display by each chapter was a scrapbook and rockets recovered from the recent launchings and each student had files on show containing information gathered on space and missiles as well as various models made by the group.

Business Briefs

There could be 30 trillion red spider mites in your backyard and you'd never see one.

But you would see their damage. Your evergreens turn a sickly yellow and foliage begins to drop. The trouble spreads like wildfire.

Red spider and kindred mites are pretty much everywhere. They know no geographical limits. Their appetite, as far as plant materials, is unbounded. Evergreens are their special meat but they go for annuals, bulbous plants and literally everything else that's green and juicy.

Mites like it hot and the critical time is when the thermometer registers over 85 degrees. You may think that evergreen of yours is thirsty because the stippled leaves begin to turn brown and yellow, then drop off. You water but the plant is still sick.

It's a tough battle, because you need a magnifying glass to actually see the tiny, sometimes almost transparent, mites work on the underside of the leaves. They're "wee" but "woe" as they suck out vital plant juices.

An effective 1-3 punch in this fight is the well-known ISOTOX Garden Spray, developed by the ORTHO Division of California Chemical Company. When used in an ORTHO Spray, which is designed with a swivel nozzle for a thorough over-under-and-around spray program, this chemical ally can give you a welcome solution to your mite problem. For best results, repeat sprays every 7 to 14 days during the growing season.

Mrs. Carrie H. Hooley, 68, widow of Harry J. Hooley, died early Friday evening at Seminole Memorial Hospital following a brief illness.

Born March 10, 1894 in Fayetteville, Tenn., she came to Sanford five years ago from Washington, D. C., where she had lived for many years.

Is State Becoming More Liberal?

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The primaries for six congressional seats May 8 may show whether the state is becoming more liberal in its politics.

In four of the races, the conservative-liberal issue has been of primary importance and it is skirting the edges in a fifth.

First Graders To Register At Pinecrest Friday

Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, principal of Pinecrest School advised today that registration for next year's Pinecrest first-graders will be held at the school Friday at 1 p. m. in the school auditorium.

"The program of registration as planned for the children and parents will last about one hour," Mrs. Reynolds said.

Children who will be six years old on or before January 1, 1963 will be eligible for enrollment. Parents may bring birth certificates at this time if they are available.

The primaries could also show if—as Gov. Farris Bryant claims—President Kennedy's popularity has increased in the state.

Kennedy has personally endorsed Congressman Dante Fascell in the Dade-Monroe County 4th District. His opponent, State Rep. David Eldredge, is basing his campaign on the "ultra-liberal voting record" of Fascell. Eldredge is an announced conservative.

In the new 11th District, composed of Orange, Indian River, Brevard and St. Lucie counties, State Rep. L. B. Vocelle of Vero Beach is making his support of Kennedy policies a main issue in his race. He is opposed by six Democrats, including State Sen. John Sutton of Orlando and W. H. Roundtree of Cocoa who, with Vocelle, are considered the front-runners at this time.

Ex-Sen. Claude Pepper has publicly endorsed the Kennedy administration in the new 3rd District of North Dade County. He is opposed by State Sen. W. C. Herrell, Metro Commissioner Chuck Hall and Ernest Busker, who are considered staunch conservatives compared to Pepper.

Fireman Ken Ayres is the only candidate for Tampa's 10th District seat who has pledged to support the Kennedy program down the line, but State Rep. Robert T. ... and the liberal candidate among front-runners for the seat.

25th St. Project Okayed

It was like an old fashioned political rally at the County Commission Tuesday afternoon as the commission by a 3-1 vote approved four-laning 25th St. from French Ave. to the Old Lake Mary road in co-operation with the city of Sanford.

later and soon afterwards apologized for his behavior. The commission by a split vote overruled Chairman J. C. Hutchison in approving the project after the usually mild chairman said the move was "untimely" and said he agreed with reports circulated that it was a political proposition to "further the ambitions of one of the candidates in the race."

(Jimmy) Crappa, Hutchison declined to receive a motion by Commissioner Ted Williams that the resolution be approved. Williams vehemently denied any politics saying it was a request the city had brought up in 1961 but no money was available at that time.

Hutchison said he was not debating the merits of the road and agreed with Commissioner James P. Avery that the job was needed as an access road to Seminole High School but he didn't like to see "this meeting become a political forum."

Crappa also chimed in that he felt there was no political move on anyone's part and repeated that at present the road was in a "hazardous" and "dangerous" condition. The county will furnish two-thirds of the material plus the labor. The city will pay for moving of utilities and about $16,000 for one third of the materials. The total cost is estimated at $53,000.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A House Divided....

Whether or not 25th St. road project is "politics" is not as important as the apparent split between members of the County Commission when this county stands on the threshold of the greatest growth we have ever seen. We severely condemn the accusations thrown at the commission meeting Tuesday afternoon. Charges of "politics, scheming, political maneuvering" should not be allowed during a business meeting of the board. It belongs at a political rally. We look with dismay and disappointment when abuse after abuse is hurled throughout the chambers. We should be concentrating on better roads, drainages—not "what do I stand to gain from all this at the next election."

Commission must stand together—not let this county fall into the backwash of the 19th century. This can not be accomplished with all this bickering going on between members of the board. Whether or not 25th St. is paved is secondary to the fact that our governing body of more than 60,000 people is split wide apart. This really frightens us... It makes us scared and we wonder what will happen to us. How will we attract new industry? How can we cope with the growth of central Florida? How can we survive? We urge Chairman J. C. Hutchison to get the board together. We propose a meeting of the minds... to eliminate petty squabbles and concentrate on SEMINOLE COUNTY. Without it we fail.

Gary Rips Mize's Decision

Two of the mayors of Seminole's three incorporated towns had very decided opinions on the ruling of County Judge Vernon Mize's new mandatory jail sentence ruling, when queried by the Herald today. Oviedo's Mayor Lee Gary took vehement exception to the new ruling of County Judge Vernon Mize, making a jail sentence mandatory for all violators of the driving-while-intoxicated statute, today when queried on his reaction to the judge's dictum. Gary said, "Here in Oviedo we will continue to operate on the principle that a revocation of the driver's license and a good fine are enough punishment for a first offense on a drunken driving charge. After that, on repeated offenses, we will make the punitive measures increasingly severe."

as much, maybe more, would be accomplished by a more strict enforcement of all the laws governing the operation of a motor vehicle, and pointed out that speed limits are the most consistently broken and speed is the top offender in accident causes. Longwood's Mayor Allan R. Lormann, feels if the offender has been proved to be intoxicated "within the proper medical definition of the term" then "perhaps a short jail term is in order." But, Lormann went on to say, "who but a qualified medical doctor can make such a diagnosis?" He doesn't feel it is within the competence of the average patrolman making an arrest for presumably drunken driving to adequately judge the condition of a driver that has had an after dinner drink and starts out to an evening appointment.

TWO SEMINOLE COUNTY SCHOOL BANDS boarded buses at 7:30 a. m. today bound for Leesburg's Fun Festival (formerly the Watermelon Festival) where they will march in the big parade staged annually to open the event. Both bands and their majorettes will be dressed in keeping with the Festival's Oriental Theme.

Stahr Quits As Army Secretary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Army Secretary Elvis J. Stahr Jr. resigned today to accept the presidency of Indiana University. He will leave his Pentagon post June 30. At Indiana, Stahr will succeed Dr. Herman B. Wells who is retiring after a 25-year career as head of the midwestern school.

confirmed he was leaving the administration. On two recent occasions, Stahr and the Army denied that he was planning to resign. On March 5, the 46-year-old secretary personally denied a report he was considering the Indiana job.

ing the Indiana job. "I am not considering leaving the government to accept that or any other position," he said. On April 17, the Army officially denied a published report by the Washington Daily News that Stahr was on his way out because of his dissatisfaction over a plan to re-vamp the National Guard and reserves.

A department spokesman also denied at that time that Stahr had had a "shouting conversation" with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Hold Meets On New Game Laws

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission today announced a series of 19 public meetings to get public reaction to proposed hunting and fishing regulations for the coming season. ## GOP 'Mum' On Medical Care

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican senators discussed various proposals for providing medical care to senior citizens today but withheld any formal expression of support for any of them. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, Mass., who heads the conference of Republican senators, said the 90-minute meeting was a "purely expository session" at which no expression of sentiment was requested or given. Saltonstall said Sen. Jacob K. Javits, (N.Y.), outlined the provisions of current law, the administration's medical care program financed by Social Security taxes, and several proposed alternatives.

Plan First, Franchise Opponents Tell Board

Opponents of the proposed franchise directive Tuesday afternoon recommended an overall sewage disposal plan to the County Commission. Serving on the six man committee named to come up with a series of recommendations, additions, and deletions to the controversial directive were Clarence Atchley, Paul Bissell, George Bobrow, Archie Bunnell, Edward Flower and Jack Syme.

The committee, working over a month on the report, submitted their recommendations and were told by Chairman J. C. Hutchison that they will be carefully considered. In their comprehensive report, the committee said that the most urgent need in this county is not for "franchises" to induce capital investment, but for an "overall disposal plan to guide in the location of central sewage disposal plants, so that orderly development may be accomplished and the county will not find disposal plants scattered throughout the area.

"package plants" for sewage disposal and these plants, widely scattered in location, and not always with positive outlet for the effluent, were a great threat to the orderly development of the county. The committee recommended that both the public and the utilities be protected on rates, rate changes, sewer connection, charges and service by placing all water of sewer utilities under the jurisdiction of Public Utility Commission, and if new legislation is required for this, the board is urged to immediately institute efforts toward this objective. The committee urged curtailing the speculation in franchises by granting them only for areas where complete servicing will be accomplished within two years, with one extra year, at the discretion of the board, after reviewing the necessity for such extension as presented by the utility. They also said no franchise

County Commission chairman J. C. Hutchison made public a two page list of Bliss' recommendations Tuesday afternoon. The engineer had resigned recently to accept another post. Among the recommendations submitted by Bliss are: Appoint Guy Stenstrom Jr. as county right-of-way agent with a salary range of $4,800 to $7,800; An additional engineering assistant be hired; Creation of another full-time survey party and the promotion of John Garrow to party chief. This, according to Bliss, would require the employment of two additional men and will permit the department to begin a program of drainage surveys on all major streams.
