Sanford Considers Ordinance Permitting Group Homes

Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's city attorney submitted a draft of an ordinance which, if adopted, would permit group homes to exist in certain residential, commercial and agricultural areas of Sanford.

Attorney William Colbert sent the draft of the ordinance to city commissioners for review and discussion by the commission during the Oct. 5 workshop meeting. If the commission approves the draft of the ordinance, it will come up for the first public reading on Oct. 12.

The ordinance was drawn up after Colbert reviewed the report of the Group Homes and Foster Care Facilities Committee, formed April 7 to study the need for group homes in Sanford and come up with guidelines for their establishment. Colbert also considered the recommendations

Ordinance would permit group homes for elderly persons, physically disabled persons, developmentally disabled persons, non-dangerous mentally ill persons and dependent children made during the June 1 commission work session.

The controversy concerning group homes in Sanford began last October when four elderly women living in a single-family home were forced to find somewhere else to live following actions by the city commission and the city's code enforcement board. The home, at 2005 South Oak Ave., was in an area zoned for single-family homes. At that time, a home for the elderly in such an area was illegal.

Charles Cameron, owner of the home, and his tenants, R.J. and Constance Jack, who cared for the elderly women, were assessed a daily fine of $250 by the code enforcement board. The fine was up to $4,000 before the board suspended it, while the group homes committee, appointed by the city's commissioners, studied the problem.

If the ordinance drafted by Colbert is adopted, it would permit group homes for elderly persons, physically disabled persons, developmentally disabled persons, non-dangerous mentally ill persons and dependent children. The ordinance would prohibit those who have committed violent felonies or sex offenses from living in a group home located in a residential area.

Under the provisions of the ordinance, all group homes would be required to have city occupational licenses. The ordinance also requires all group homes in a single-family district to maintain the general character of the neighborhood. This requirement would prohibit the use of an identification sign on a group home in a single-family area. In addition, for group homes in both single- and multi-family districts, the ordinance requires a minimum of 1,500 feet between all residential care facilities.

The group homes would be required to have someone on duty 24 hours a day and provide sufficient off-street parking (one space for every five residents and one space for every two staff members).

Service Tax Politicking Hot, Heavy

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

The service tax battle is more than just how Florida's financial pie should be made and cut but also what ingredients cannot be removed by the governor via veto, according to local legislators.

"The politicking is going hot and heavy... I have never seen it any worse than it has been," said Rep. Art Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs. "The Democrats seem to be doing as much as they can to embarrass the governor," said Grindle. "I'm glad to everybody is going home. The tempers were flaring."

The Legislature is set to return Monday to extract a compromise, if possible. Grindle said the legislators may meet most of next week and also might need yet another crack at the issue on October. The Legislature was called into special session Monday by Gov. Bob Martinez to wrangle with the unpopular service tax issue.

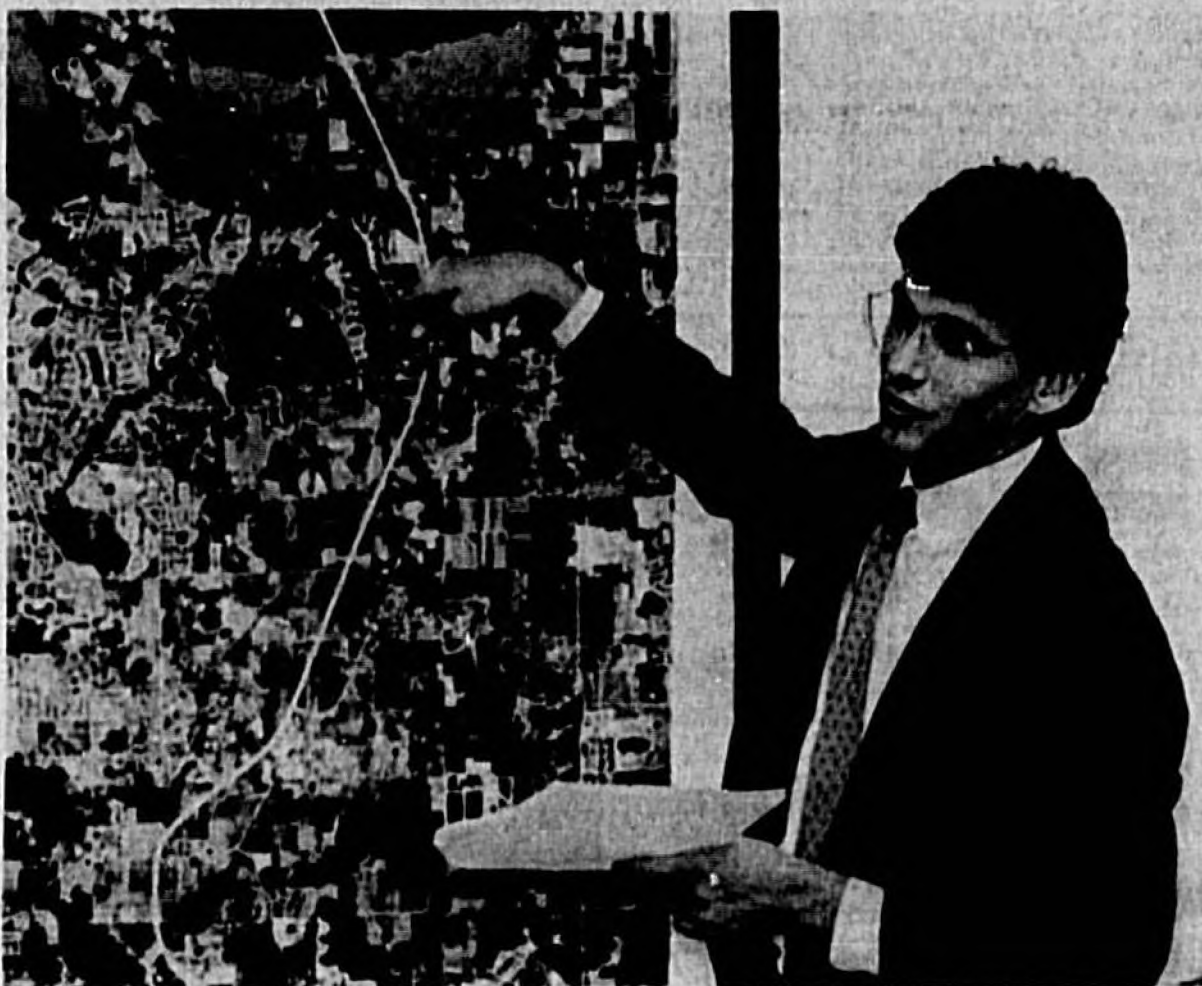

In the waning hours of the two-day session the senate voted to send a possible tax proposal back to its committee for further study.

"There were a lot of different philosophies in the works and that was the only way to slow down the process," said Senate President John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach.

The bill was downed by a coalition of senators who want a sales tax, those who want to revise the consumer tax and those who want it repealed but not replaced by a sales tax, Vogt said.

Martinez called on the Legislature to put the controversial issue to the voters through referendum and let them say yes or no about the tax, which is generating funds from here-before untaxed services such as legal fees and advertising. Cutting the tax, however, would cut the budget by several hundred million dollars and jeopardize needed programs as well as pet projects, according to some Legislative leaders.

Consultant Tim Jackson points out the portion of the proposed Seminole County Expressway he thinks is most financially feasible and should be built first. He told the Expressway Authority Wednesday that it is feasible to raise $89 million as the county's share of the total estimated construction cost of $165.5 million and open it to traffic in 1991.

Expressway Authority Gets Plan

May Open By October '91

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

A plan to pay for construction of the Seminole County Expressway between State Road 434 and Highway 17-92 and open it to traffic in October 1991 was presented to the Expressway Authority Wednesday.

The proposed financial plan presented by consultant Tim Jackson is heavily dependent on Seminole County voters approving the proposed one-cent sales tax which county commissioners have placed on the November ballot. That sales tax would provide $60 million for the expressway.

Jackson recommended construction of the proposed expressway in segments, with the first one from SR 434 to Hwy. 17-92. That segment is estimated to cost $165.5 million, of which $89 million would be paid, not from future toll monies, but out of the county's pockets, he said.

The segment from Hwy. 17-92 to Interstate 4 is projected to cost another $280 million, of which $187 million would have to be paid by the county. Jackson said there is no feasible way to find that much money in the near future.

To raise the $89 million for the county's share of the expressway to Hwy. 17-92, Jackson proposed using the $60 million from a proposed one-cent sales tax, and bonding for the rest. The bonds would be backed by at least half of the money raised by the county's six-cent per gallon gasoline tax, and half

Sanford Doctor Receives Two Achievement Awards

A Sanford physician has been issued two outstanding achievement awards by separate organizations for his long-time dedication to community service.

Dr. Luis M. Perez, a former president of the Florida Medical Association, has been given the awards by the board of directors of the Florida Physicians Insurance Co. Association, and the Florida Medical Association Inc.

Perez was presented two plaques, recognizing his many years of community service and "dedication in service to the medical profession," at the Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford where he is a patient himself, recovering from a stroke suffered in March.

The Physicians Insurance Co. panel also made Perez a "director emeritus" and commended him "for the many hours of selfless devotion given to the physicians of the state of Florida through activities as a founding member of the board of directors of the company and as president of the Florida Medical Association." That was the first time the organization has bestowed a director emeritus status on any of its members. The plaque was signed by Dr.

Two Animal Control Officers Suspended

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Administrator Ken Hooper has placed two employees of the county's animal control department on administrative leave while he investigates rumors of animal cruelty and neglect at the county's animal shelter.

Hooper said today he is continuing to interview employees of the animal shelter department and does not expect to complete his investigation until Monday.

Bob Young, head of the department; and David Murray, chief animal control officer, were placed on administrative leave Tuesday, pending the outcome of the investigation, Hooper said.

Hooper said he is conducting the investigation at the request of the animal control department's advisory board, which he said had reported rumors about animal cruelty at the shelter, especially in connection with the killing of unwanted or sick animals.

Such animals are to be killed with a lethal injection, according county policy, but sometimes

Autopsies Planned For 2 Victims

NTSB Investigates Plane Crash

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A National Transportation Safety Board investigator is in Seminole County today investigating the crash of a light plane in which two Brevard County men were killed here early Wednesday.

Autopsies are planned for the crash victims at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, but a medical examiner's office spokesman said the scheduling will depend on the availability of the FAA investigator who will be present for the autopsies.

FAA investigator Jeffrey Kennedy began his probe Wednesday, but Federal Aviation Administration spokesman Jack Barker, of Atlanta, said it may be a couple of months or more before Kennedy, who is stationed in Miami, reports on his findings as to the cause of the crash.

The Miami NTSB office had not received any type of report from Kennedy since his arrival in Seminole County Wednesday, an office spokesman said today.

Killed in the single-engine Piper Cherokee 6 were the owner: Jay Reynolds, 55 of Merritt Island; and pilot Lloyd Peltier, 64, of Cocoa. Seminole County sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey said today.

Hughey said Seminole County sheriff's deputies guarded the crash site overnight and that the remains of the airplane will stay there until the FAA orders them moved.

Reynolds' wife May Reynolds said that her husband's plane, which he recently purchased from a Georgia sheriff's department, was en route to Alabama from Brevard County when it crashed in woods within 50 feet of a home west of Sanford, about 1/2 mile south of State Road 46.

Both victims were apparently killed on impact. Matt Simons, 21, of 1604 Clekk Road, whose home is adjacent to the wooded crash site, said he and his cousin Marvin Simons were first to approach the fuselage of the broken up plane, within minutes of the crash. The occupants, he said, appeared to already be dead.

A lot of fuel spilled from the plane, but there was no fire. Seminole County firefighters were on the scene to deal with the fuel spill, but said the gas dissipated.

"It sounded like a bomb," Simons said of the plane's impact. He was inside his home with his wife and cousin when he heard the plane rip through treetops and powerlines. Electrical power in the area was knocked out and Simons said he "got my gun and went out there," to the crash site. He did not know that the noise he heard was a plane crash, until he spotted the remains of the fuselage.

POLICE

IN BRIEF

Man Makes Passes At Woman, Shatters Her Passenger Window

A south Seminole County woman reported a man tore her passenger window from her car after she spurned his sexual advances.

The incident occurred around 2:15 a.m. Wednesday at 5700 Dean Road near Oviedo.

The 39-year-old woman said the man followed her and that after she stopped, apparently near or at her house, he approached her Toyota and asked for directions to an Orlando address.

She said he then made sexual advances while she was in the vehicle and in the process grabbed her by the neck. The woman was not injured when grabbed but when the man pulled and broke out her driver window, she received minor cuts from broken glass.

She then ran to her house. The man was gone when the deputy arrived.

Woman Gets Prostitution Charge

A Sanford woman was arrested on a prostitution charge after reportedly telling an undercover agent a "good time" would cost him $20.

According to an arrest report, an agent was purposefully in the area of Sanford Avenue in Sanford and Seventh Street, the general site of previous prostitution arrests.

As he drove eastbound on Seventh Street in an unmarked vehicle, he saw a woman sitting on a porch at the intersection with Cypress Avenue. She gestured at him to pull over. The incident occurred Tuesday around 6:30 p.m.

She approached the passenger side of the vehicle and asked him what he was looking for. He said he was looking for a time and she said a good time would cost him $20 and that the price included all of her.

She asked him if she could get in the car and suggested a nearby motel where she said she could get a room for $3. She said she would pay for the room.

Arrested and charged with assignment to commit prostitution was Revett Bradshaw, 27, of 600 Cypress Ave., Sanford. Her bond was set at $100.

Threat With Gun Brings Arrest

A Pensacola man was arrested in Seminole County after reportedly pointing a handgun at a man and threatening to shoot him.

A man was arrested in the incident around 8:26 a.m. Tuesday.

Earlier that morning, two men at Big B Produce, a warehouse for produce in Longwood, got into a loud argument.

One of the two allegedly went to a tractor-trailer rig, got a .38 Smith and Wesson, aimed it at the other man and threatened to shoot him.

Officers found the gun in the sleeper of a tractor-trailer rig after arresting a man.

Arrested and charged with aggravated assault and improper exhibition of a firearm was Kenneth W. Bailey, 31. Bond was set at $1,000.

Man Who Threatened Massacre Sentenced

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Winter Springs man, whose bond skyrocketed when he threatened a Palm Bay-type massacre in Seminole County, has been sentenced to 90 days in the county jail.

The threat resulted in an increase in bond from $1,000 to $25,000 for Clifton Ian Taylor Jr., 29, of 370 S. Moss Road, who had become enmeshed in a legal wrangle over a theft.

The theft of items from his father's home netted him 90 days in the county jail. Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr., also ordered Taylor to serve two years probation and to complete drug and alcohol abuse treatment while in jail and to continue such treatment after the 90 days.

Taylor blamed his troubles on a cocaine addiction, records show.

Taylor was accused of taking radio equipment and a .38-caliber handgun, totalling a value of $8,500, from his father's home at 370 S. Moss Road, according to court records. That burglary occurred May 11. Later, some of the items were discovered in Taylor's room at the home and subsequently at a friend's home in Kissimmee. A few items were returned May 14.

On May 15, Taylor reportedly returned to the Winter Springs home around 3:55 a.m., prompting his arrest, not on burglary charges, but for grand theft and assault, the latter charge apparently prompted by the threat.

In the threat, Taylor vowed to massacre members of his family and employees of a construction company owned by his father, according to court records.

After Taylor's arrest, records show his bond was set at $1,000 by County Judge Alan Dickey. However, one of Taylor's brothers informed the State Attorney's office about the threat, which Taylor reportedly said he would carry out if released from the county jail.

The State Attorney's office then asked that Taylor's bond be raised to keep him in jail and open ways from him to get addiction treatment. At that point, Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor increased Taylor's bond to $25,000.

Man Reported Dead; Local Charges Dropped

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Cocaine trafficking charges have been dropped against a Haitian native apparently because he had died, although there appears to be no easy way to verify his death.

Reported dead is Orliez Diogene, 39, also known as Orliaz Diogene, 37, of Port-Au-Prince, Haiti. Diogene was arrested Dec. 5 by Sanford Police following a drug bust at a public housing unit in Castle Brewer Court. Between $15,000 and $20,000 worth of crack cocaine was confiscated along with $3,000 in cash.

On Dec. 30, Diogene was released from the Seminole County jail after raising $15,000 bond, according to court records which show he then left the country.

On June 22, a circuit judge ordered the bondsman to deliver Diogene or forfeit the bond. The bondsman or his representative in Haiti found Diogene, but before plans could be made to take him into custody, he was reported dead, according to court records.

"It doesn't sound like the cleanest thing in the world," said Assistant State Attorney Ian Gilden, who explained he had little choice but to drop the multiple charges. Diogene faced a mandatory minimum sentence of 15 years and minimum mandatory $250,000 fine.

Gilden said the death certificate is official and said that although he may not like how things are handled in Haiti, he has to accept that country's report of Diogene's death. It would be nice to have enough money in the budget to send an investigator to Haiti to determine if Diogene is dead, he said, but he simply isn't a big enough criminal to justify the expense.

According to the death certificate, which is stamped but not embossed and which is in French, Arnold Diogene, accompanied by two witnesses, went to a Haitian official and swore that Diogene died June 30. The relationship between Arnold Diogene and Diogene, who apparently lived at the same residence, is not mentioned in the death certificate. The certificate also is silent about any possible relationship between Diogene and the witnesses.

The men reported that Diogene died around 10 p.m. The death certificate does not mention the cause of death or indicate an autopsy or any contact with officials in connection with the incident other than the one that resulted in the death certificate being issued.

Gilden said if the death is bogus, Diogene would face several other charges if he were arrested and identified as Diogene.

Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said he has not heard of such a scam being perpetrated in connection with alien drug traffickers, but he said that anything is possible and that there do appear to be questions regarding Diogene's reported death.

Court Clears City Worker Of Charge

A misdemeanor charge against a Sanford city employee accused of trying to buy sexual favors from a female police officer posing as a prostitute was tossed out of court Wednesday in Sanford.

County Judge Alan Dickey granted a motion of acquittal for Gerald Lamar Taylor, 19, of 907 E. Eighth St., Sanford.

Dickey ruled the conversation between Taylor and the decoy was not one of striking a deal regard price and time but rather one collecting information. Taylor was on lunch break at the time.

Fran Diedrick, personnel officer for the city of Sanford, said most likely the city would not take any employment action against Taylor since the court has determined he has not committed any crime. Shortly after Taylor's arrest, there had been reports that the city might fire him if he were convicted of the charge.

Taylor, who was represented by Sanford attorney Thomas Greene, was arrested during a sting operation that also saw the charging of 11 other men and two women.

Those cases are in various stages of resolution. Some of the men have pleaded guilty.

For Central Florida

Altogether Now: Bye Bye Emily

Staff And Wire Reports

Hurricane Emily blasted through the Dominican Republic until she ran slapdash into a mountain. That seemed to tame her somewhat. When she emerged from her overland trek on the beaches of Haiti Emily's winds were down to about 70 mph and she drifted a bit.

As of 6 o'clock this morning she had lost even more of her strength, down to about 60 mph and seemingly was going off into the Atlantic. The Bahamas, in a real snub, have lowered their hurricane warnings and Emily has been reduced to "tropical" storm status.

Simultaneous with these adventures, a north wind engulfed Seminole County causing temperatures to plummet and breezes to be felt. High Wednesday was 85 degrees, 8 degrees below the record high for the date. Official low was 71, but it was several degrees lower in various areas of the county.

Temperate temperatures again today, with that ever present possibility of afternoon showers. Gonna be nice.

Now more about tropical storm, see hurricane, Emily.

At 6 a.m. EDT, the center of Emily was located near latitude 24.5 north, longitude 72.8 west, or 290 miles east of Nassau and 700 miles southwest of Bermuda.

"The storm is moving toward the north at 15 mph, and is expected to accelerate toward the northeast today," said forecaster Miles Lawrence of the National Hurricane Center. "An Air Force plane reports that the highest winds have decreased to 60 mph. However, there is still a chance that Emily could strengthen some today."

Forecasters had feared that the storm would strengthen, become a hurricane again and roll over the Bahamas. But it weakened as it changed course, skirting the small nation of islands.

Emily had been torn up by a journey across Hispaniola that left three people dead and forced thousands to flee their homes. It was downgraded to a tropical storm Wednesday morning after losing strength over the mountains of Hispaniola, said forecaster Bob Case.

In the Dominican Republic, initial reports said three people died in Emily's fury, and state-run Radio Television Dominicana reported heavy damage to coffee and banana crops. In Santo Domingo, the capital, one man died when he stepped on a fallen power line Tuesday, and the bodies of two children buried in a mudslide were found Wednesday, said Grecia Vaez, a spokeswoman for the Dominican Red Cross.

Another man whose condition was not immediately known was hurt when he was struck by a falling power line.

Hundreds of volunteers organized into "youth brigades" helped with the cleanup and evacuation of people left homeless on the south coast. Vaez said. Officials southwest of the capital were assessing damage, but the Red Cross would only send "many" were left homeless there.

Thousands who fled their shanties to wait out the hurricane in school and church shelters returned Wednesday, Civil Defense Director Eugenio Cabral said.

In neighboring Haiti, officials reported little damage.

Emily was the second hurricane of the season and first to hit land. It slammed into the Dominican Republic at Bahia de Ocoa, a small town in a sparsely populated marshes about 50 miles west of Santo Domingo, with 125 mph winds.

Officer Spots, Recovers Car

Sanford police Wednesday recovered a car stolen in May from Nashville, Tenn.

According to a police report, Officer Gregory Smith was on routine patrol at 12:11 a.m. Wednesday when he noticed a red Pontiac Grand-Am with Tennessee license plates in the parking lot of the Country Club Pub, 2493 S. Airport Blvd.

When Smith checked with the Sanford Police Department, he learned the car had been reported as stolen May 19. Tracy Combs, 23, 107 Ventura Ave., works at the Country Club Pub and told Smith she had bought the car from a man she used to work for in Daytona Beach. Police are investigating the case.

Other actions investigated by the Sanford Police Department include:

• A 1978 Toyota Corolla was stolen between 11 p.m. Monday and 5 a.m. Tuesday. Susan Wade, 27, 1605 W. 25th St. Apt. 3038, told police she left the keys in the ignition. The car was valued at $1,600.

• Mary Rowland, 83, 2005 Oak Ave., was found dead in her bed Tuesday by Constance Jack, 48, who lives at the same address and was taking care of the woman. Jack told police she found the body at 9 a.m., when she went in to serve breakfast to Rowland.

IN BRIEF

Brothers Meet Friendly Classmates, No Persecution

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Three AIDS-infected brothers, their spirits buoyed by the welcome from classmates at school in their new hometown, hoped to get down to the school work at hand today as the family seeks to recede from the public spotlight.

The Ray brothers — Richard, 10, Robert, 9, and Randy, 8 — received a welcome at Coclico Elementary School Wednesday that contrasted sharply with the greeting they encountered a month ago today when they enrolled in Memorial Elementary School in Arcadia, 80 miles to the east.

They arrived after classes had begun and left just before the rest of the students were released, but there were no protestors at the school and school officials said everything went smoothly and the children received warm welcomes to their classes.

Principal Lee Coose said 120 of the school's 615 students, or about 20 percent, were absent Wednesday but School Superintendent Charles Fowler said the increase over the day before was 80-90 students and he predicted most will return once the glare of publicity subsides.

"They had to assign lunchroom seats because everyone wanted to sit by them," their mother Louise Ray said at the end of the day.

FBI Corral Drug Smugglers

MIAMI (UPI) — Authorities were searching for two suspects who remained at large following an FBI roundup of a drug-smuggling and marijuana-growing ring working from a rural south Dade County farm.

The FBI arrested 13 suspects Wednesday and charged them with marijuana conspiracy and conspiracy to import into the United States "large quantities" of marijuana between July 24 and Sept. 18, said William E. Wells, head of the FBI's Miami office.

The 20-acre farm in south Dade County included a 1,400-square-foot house with a pool, a barn and a disco, Wells said.

Island Home Request Denied

County Gives Developer Green Light

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

County approval was given Tuesday to the preliminary plan for River Ridge subdivision south of Red Bug Road and west of State Road 434, being developed by the Keewin Company.

The developer plans 72 zero lot line lots for single family homes. The commissioners approved the preliminary plan subject to staff suggestions that the developer dedicate an additional 35-foot half right-of-way for Red Bug Road, and other requirements.

A change in plans for the River Ridge development south of State Road 436 and west of Weatherfield Avenue was approved by county commissioners. Howard Posp, owner of the property, had previously received approval for a 29-unit condominium, but changed the development to 29 single family lots.

The Crossings, Ltd., developer of the Greenwood Lakes Planned Unit Development in the Lake Mary area, was granted permission to reduce its southern border buffer area from 200 to 150 feet. The development is located south of Lake Mary Road between Lake Emma Road and Longwood Lake Mary Road.

Commissioners were told that lots in the southern part of the development were sold last year and houses in the $180,000 to $180,000 range are being built. Many of the buyers of the homes want swimming pools and the 200-foot buffer does not allow enough room on the southern lots to install pools, the board was told.

Commissioner Bob Sturn moved to allow the reduced buffer width, noting that the developer had voluntarily agreed to a 200-foot buffer when multiple family housing was planned for the area south of Greenwood Lakes, but the area has since developed into a single-family housing area.

Clive Hudson, who wants to build a house on an island in a small lake in the Longwood area was denied permission to do so by county commissioners.

Hudson had applied for a waiver of plating requirements which would allow him to divide the platted lot on the island into two. He said a spit of land connecting the island to the mainland, would serve as a drive for the proposed home. He planned to dredge the lake to obtain fill to raise the level of the drive since the spit is now below the 10-year flood level.

However, County Engineer Jerry Mc-

Collum said most of the island is below the 100-year flood level and is platted as a drainage easement. Also, it is against county policy to allow any development below the 10-year flood level.

Hudson's arguments that his dredge and fill activities would raise the proposed drive and at the same time deepen the lake so the drive would no longer be flood prone, fell on deaf ears and the commission denied his requested waiver.

The commissioners upheld an appeal of the Board of Adjustment ruling which ordered Richard M. Stephenson of Casselberry to remove his fence because it is within 20 feet of the roadway.

Stephenson, 275 Fallen Palm Drive, said he had a fence company install the fence to keep his two large Afghan hounds in the yard, not knowing that he needed a variance to put the fence closer than 20 feet from the street. Moving the fence now would be expensive and would also require the removal of some trees, he told commissioners.

The commissioners voted unanimously to allow Stephenson a variance, noting that six of his neighbors said they had no objection to the fence.

Paulucci Question Delays Alignment OK

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Approval of the alignment of the Seminole County Expressway between the Wekiva River and Interstate 4 was postponed for two months Wednesday after the Seminole County Expressway Authority questioned whether a change from the original proposal was made chiefly in the interests of developer Jeno Paulucci.

The proposed alignment follows the abandoned Seaboard Coast Railway right-of-way from the river to a crossing with Markham Woods Road. It then continues east just south of Markham Road to County Road 431, where it curves north and intersects with I-4, site of the old railroad underpass.

The curve north at CR 431 is sharper than originally recommended, which takes the route farther north more quickly.

The authority was told that the change was made for two reasons: Land south of the revised alignment east of CR 436 is considered a potential development area, and the alignment has a curve which provides better sight for drivers.

The land to the south of the revised alignment is owned by Paulucci.

Sanford Mayor Betty Smith, a member of the expressway authority, asked the staff, "Are you saying the alignment was shifted to protect the interests of a potential developer?" When she was told, yes, that was part of the reason, she asked if that reason has been used before to change alignments. She was told that it has been.

Authority member Bill Kirchhoff said he thought the new alignment might cross the site Paulucci had agreed to donate as a site for a middle school when the area is developed.

"I have to wonder if the developer thinks if that site is taken for right-of-way, that he is no longer obligated to furnish a school site," Kirchhoff said. "The county commissioners had quite a time getting that agreement out of him and the school district needs those school sites in new developments."

Kirchhoff then moved that consideration of the alignment be delayed until the authority's Nov. 16 meeting.

Also continued will be the public hearing on the alignment, which had already started and was not closed before the continuation was approved.

Markham Woods residents always have wanted the route to be north of Markham Road, crossing the road from south to north west of Markham Woods Road.

Hugh Harling, a representative of the owners of the Plantation development, asked that an interchange be provided in the area because a potential 50,000 population would reside there if all available land is developed. No interchange is planned west of I-4 before Mount Plymouth in Lake County.

However, residents of the area said they don't want an interchange because it would bring commercial development. They said they want to make certain that commercial development stays out of the area and that it remains zoned for one-acre lots. Some residents also complained that the overpass of Lake Markham Road was only 1,200 feet from a residential area and that the bridge would make sound pollution worse.

Sanford Plans Wastewater Treatment Plant Consultant

By Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

An engineering professor from the University of Central Florida may be hired to study ways to improve operations at the city's wastewater treatment facility.

City commissioners in a workshop meeting Monday approved the recommendation of Utility Director Paul Moore to hire Dr. John Dietz to conduct the study. The recommendation must still be approved at the Sept. 28 commission meeting before a contract will be signed.

The city's consultants are working on a design for converting the sewage disposal method to produce quality land spraying. To do this, the separation of solids-liquid sewage at the city's wastewater treatment facility must be re-evaluated and possibly modified.

At the present time, the wastewater treatment facility operates in a higher suspended solids discharge mode than allowable for proper sewage filter performance. The city plans to add filters that will allow for quality land spraying within the next two years. In order for the filters to operate at peak efficiency, the sewage treatment process will probably require modification.

Dietz was contacted to meet with city officials, tour the wastewater treatment facility, and make a proposal on the necessary work. Dietz is a highly regarded researcher in the field of wastewater treatment processes.

The work involves investigating the solids-liquid separation at the wastewater treatment facility, the components of the separation, and possible problems areas. In addition, Dietz would analyze and make recommendations on proper plant operations in conjunction with the expanded filter treatment process.

The work will take one year and cost $29,810. The bulk of the analytical work will be done in the first three months, which will aid in the design of the future plant expansion. According to Moore, there is no current line item budgeted for this project, but it is expected that Dietz's recommended changes in operation may reduce the plant's anticipated chemical use and electricity consumption. More efficient plant operations may also reduce future costs.

Moore strongly recommended the project to the commission, pointing out the large investment the city has in its wastewater treatment and disposal program. Moore said the program relies on the quality of sewage from the current treatment facility and the work by Dietz will ensure proper facility operations as additional treatment processes are added and the plant expanded.

Gerald Brinton, expressway authority director, said a route south of Markham Road was chosen because construction costs would be lower than a route on the north side.

Robert "Bud" Feather asked the authority to consider moving the intersection with I-4 away from the railroad underpass of the interstate. "I expect this intersection and the State Road 46 intersection with I-4 will some day be some of the most intensively developed areas in Central Florida," he said. "Some of us are worried that we will have the same problems we now have at the 434 and 436 intersections with I-4."

America Seems Lost On Space

For the first time in 25 years, the United States has ceded the initiative to the Soviet Union in the field of space exploration.

Moscow's distinct operational edge in manned missions, developed during the last decade, may soon be joined by Soviet technological superiority as well. "Almost frightening" is the way the authoritative British journal Jane's Spaceflight Directory describes the emerging Russian lead in space.

The Soviets have logged three times more man-hours in orbit than Americans. This is one reason why Moscow already is preparing for an extraordinary three-year expedition to land cosmonauts on Mars, possibly during the 1990's. By contrast, NASA has barely begun to dream about such an odyssey for U.S. Astronauts.

During the last year, the Soviet manned space station Mir has orbited the earth, gathering invaluable scientific data on the weather, the environment, the planets, the long-term health effects of weightlessness, and the military uses of space. America's proposed space station will not be operational until late in the next decade -- provided Congress does not balk at its $33 billion price tag in this budget-cutting era.

Last spring, the Russians launched the world's most powerful booster, Energia, which can lift a cargo four times heavier than the maximum load of the U.S. shuttle. With the shuttle grounded for another year by the 1986 Challenger disaster and the inventory of expendable rockets dangerously low, the U.S. capacity to put payloads into space is virtually exhausted at present.

What factors contributed to America's surrendering its pre-eminent role on the space frontier?

One was the decision to put all of the U.S. space eggs in the shuttle basket, thus canceling the varied fleet of unmanned boosters that NASA and the Pentagon once boasted. When the shuttle program encountered lengthy schedule delays and then was put out of service altogether, vital experiments in planetary science and military advances withered.

Meantime, while NASA's budget was shrinking in real terms, Moscow forged ahead in the traditional Russian manner of slow-and-steady wins the race. The Soviets developed a stable of unsophisticated but muscular launchers that have greatly bolstered their ability to put crews and payloads into orbit -- the indispensable first step in extra-terrestrial exploration.

But perhaps the biggest American failing was a lack of vision and resolve in pioneering space after the spectacular achievements of the Apollo program, which culminated in the manned lunar landings.

To recover its equilibrium, the United States must have a coherent space policy outlining long-term objectives. Without such a blueprint, NASA's muddle will only worsen and Congress's support for a robust space agenda will continue to wane.

Among the goals that should be considered to revitalize NASA is a human base on Mars, which is scientifically compelling because of the planet's similarities to earth. This, however, is a very long-range proposition that probably will not be feasible until after a string of unmanned probes have explored the solar system.

A permanent manned base on the moon also is a worthy aim, chiefly as a staging area for exploratory missions to Mars and other celestial outposts. In addition, former astronaut Sally Ride has suggested a "mission to planet Earth" in the form of one or more orbiting laboratories to study climate, pollution and geology.

During the 16th century, Portuguese navigators discovered much of the New World only to abandon its colonization to more stouthearted souls. Unless the United States acts now to recapture the initiative in space, Americans one day may be remembered as the Portuguese of the 20th century.

GEORGE MCGOVERN

A Response To Former Speaker Tip O'Neill

Former Speaker of the House Tip O'Neill has compiled his recollections of long years of service in a book entitled "Man of the House." The book is heavy on anecdotes but is generally interesting reading.

Although I served briefly in the House with Tip O'Neill in the 1950s, I have never been close to him. In recent years, however, I have admired his courage and judgment in standing by his convictions and the principles of the Democratic Party even when those views have not been popular.

During President Reagan's first term, Tip O'Neill had a rough time. He did not agree with much of Reagan's program. When he took public positions against the administration, he encountered the enormous popularity and public approval of our movie star president.

O'Neill was assailed as an obstreperous, troublemaking Democratic leader who was out of step with the new mood Reagan brought to the nation. Critics said he was simply using the Democratic Party's narrow majority in the House to make life difficult for Reagan.

But O'Neill stood firm. When he retired from the House at the end of 1986, he took with him the admiration of both Democratic and Republican members of that body.

I am not in a position to evaluate O'Neill's new book. But I did what other politicians did: I turned the pages to find what he had to say about me.

I was somewhat surprised, and a little disappointed, to read that he regarded me as poor candidate for the presidency in 1972. He believed his friend Ed Muskie would have been a stronger nominee. He repeats an earlier observation, which I found somewhat ungenerous at the time, that "George McGovern was nominated by the cast of 'Hair'."

I mention this -- not because I enjoy arguing with Tip O'Neill -- but because I think he is wrong and because he and others who did not understand the mood of the Democrats in 1972 have perpetuated unfortunate myths about the 1972 campaign.

O'Neill invested his political reputation in an early endorsement of and vigorous support for Ed Muskie, especially in Massachusetts. But when the votes were counted in the Massachusetts primary, I won by a landslide -- including in Tip O'Neill's congressional district. And it was not done by the cast of "Hair" -- although I got their votes too, I suspect.

I won the votes of blue collar workers, small merchants, professionals, women, men, young people, minorities, ethnic groups -- in short, people in general. I got more votes in the Massachusetts primary than the combined total of the other eight candidates, including the late Hubert Humphrey and Ed Muskie.

I won popular primary victories in 10 states, including such key states as New Jersey, California, Wisconsin and New York.

True, Richard Nixon defeated me in the general election, but even then I carried O'Neill's state and his district. In 1984, O'Neill's endorsed candidate was Walter Mondale, who, like me, lost 49 of 50 states -- including Massachusetts -- to an incumbent Republican.

It is easy for someone to say that Ed Muskie, or one of the other contenders I defeated in 1972, might have done better in the general election than I did (or than Mondale did in 1984), but that is idle speculation -- not history.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Make That Deal With The Devil

The forthcoming treaty with the Soviet Union on the elimination of intermediate-range missiles from Europe obviously presents special problems for conservatives. Nevertheless, my tentative conclusion is that it warrants ratification.

If the Western world properly understood the moral issues at stake, there would be no treaties with the Soviet Union. The U.S.S.R. is an illegitimate regime that acquired power at bayonet point and has maintained itself ever since by slaughtering its internal opposition.

That would scarcely serve to distinguish it from many others, but in addition, it has sought to justify its rule by claiming that it is based on "scientific" principles. By thus identifying itself with modernity's most sacred icon, Soviet despotism has earned the description President Reagan conferred on it: "the focus of evil in the modern world."

But the West is unable to bring itself to ostracize this monstrous regime, pending the happy day when the Soviet Union's own internal stresses and inadequacies bring it crashing down. It is therefore able to exact various admissions of its legitimacy from even its severest critics. Every year prominent American conservatives accept visas from the regime to tour its Potemkin villages; almost every week Soviet spokesmen are questioned respectfully on U.S. television. In that sort of atmosphere, treaties are inevitable.

We must, therefore, be grateful for the safe assumption that the proposed INF treaty is as foolproof as such things can, in their nature, be. Despite anything you may have heard to the contrary, Ronald Reagan is totally immune to the siren song that he can (as several of his predecessors tried to do) assure his "place in history" by putting his signature to some ill-advised agreement with the Soviet Union. Any treaty Reagan signs will be unmistakably beneficial to the United States.

What Reagan cannot do, unfortunately, is ensure that future presidents and Congresses will insist on the punctilious observation of its terms. What good is effective verification, for example, if -- as has already happened in several cases -- evidence of Soviet violations is pook-pooked into seeming ambiguity by Paul Warnke, Tom Wicker, Gerald Smith and their fellow liberals?

Similarly, Reagan can only hope that the INF treaty will not be taken as evidence that the Cold War is truly over at last.

Medical Experiment May Have Gone Awry

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON -- Vietnam veteran Mike Rego has been trying for five years to learn more about an experimental drug he was treated with at a Veterans Administration hospital. He wonders if it may have been a factor in his contraction of Lou Gehrig's Disease.

But no one will give him much information about the drug, 6-aminocotnamide, or 6-AN. For one reason or another, neither the doctor who treated Rego with 6-AN, the manufacturer, the distributor nor the Food and Drug Administration, which approved the drug for experimental use, will share their knowledge of 6-AN and its possible side effects.

Rego's medical nightmare began in 1967, when he was exposed to a chemical fire in Vietnam. The burning chemicals included the herbicide Agent Orange. Years later, Rego's skin began to peel; by 1982, he had lost the entire top layer of his skin.

BEN WATTENBERG

Suicidally Pro-Stupid

It used to be said that conservatives were the stupid party -- intellectuals need not apply. It was also said that Republicans were the party with a suicide wish, political lemmings marching into the ocean of defeat.

But the Senate confirmation hearings of Judge Robert Bork make one wonder whether today it's the liberal Democrats who are, in effect if not by design, pro-suicide and anti-intellectual.

Suicide first. Suppose the liberal activist Democrats are successful in dumping Bork. Then what? They will thump their chests and say look how strong we are, look at the noble deed we did, look at Ronald Reagan the lame duck, who can't even confirm a Supreme Court justice -- hooray for us!

The next day, Reagan will nominate another conservative for the job. That conservative will not have spoken out as much as Bork has. That conservative will not be as knowledgeable as Bork. That conservative may be a judicial activist, anxious to make new conservative law -- quite unlike Bork who maintains that conservatives should champion judicial restraint. That conservative may be a senator or former senator who will be hard for the liberal Democrats to dump due to senatorial courtesy.

And if the second nominee is busted? There will be a third conservative nominee. Sooner or later one of them will be confirmed.

So the Democrats' real choice is to get a smart Bork while displaying Democratic dignity, or get a not-so-smart Bork after having revealed again that when liberal activists create a political firestorm, Democratic legislators will be forced to bow. What will the Democrats choose to do? (You know what a suicidal party would do.)

Now, about the stupid party, the anti-intellectual party. What is the root of Robert Bork's problem? The New Republic has come out against his confirmation, but gets his problem right: "Bork is a victim of his own intellectual exertions: a lifetime of earnest and honest reflection on basic questions, expressed with admirable provocative awash."

Translation: Many lawyers choose to make lots of money trying to cut the tax liability of their corporate clients. Many judges write their decisions then go home and broil steaks over charcoal.

Bork has not been like that. There has been a revolution in jurisprudence in America; the power of the courts has grown. Some of the fruits of this revolution have been fine; some not. The methodology of the revolution is important because of what it may yield in the future. Bork chose to enter the arena in a time of turmoil. He has been law professor, solicitor general, think-tank fellow, judge. He wrote articles, gave speeches, answered questions. He wasn't always right. He's changed his mind on some issues. He may not be 100 percent right on some issues now. That's what the give-and-take of an intellectual life yields: a mind honed by trial and error. Because he participated, Bork may today be one of the nation's most thoughtful jurists.

The Democratic activists have discovered that it's possible to mug a nominee who has had the courage to speak out, and consequently left a paper trail. There's always a quote around.

What's the moral of the story for a young person in the legal profession? Play it safe.

SCIENCE WORLD

Mutilation Is Age-Old Practice

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) -- People mutilate themselves behind closed doors and usually target parts of their bodies that aren't visible when they are fully clothed.

And because of this, doctors say the phenomenon is much more common than people realize.

"They cut, burn, scratch, break bones, pull their hair out and even in rare cases amputate limbs or castrate themselves," said Dr. Armando Favazza, a psychiatrist who studies self-mutilation at the University of Missouri-Columbia School of Medicine.

"If the damage is too noticeable, they stay locked inside their houses," he said. "I wouldn't say self-mutilation is commonly practiced, but it is more common than you would think."

Favazza, who has studied 300 people who routinely cut themselves, estimates as many as 750 out of every 100,000 people deliberately hurt themselves or have done so in the past.

The problem is not recognized as a definable disorder by the American Psychiatric Association and only recently has it become a focus of attention. The first hospital program designed for self-mutilators opened in Chicago only a few years ago.

"We are going to have our first conference next month," Favazza said. "I believe self-mutilation will emerge like bulimia and eating disorders did a decade ago."

Studies are rare and data are sketchy, but it appears most self-mutilators start hurting themselves as they emerge from adolescence. They cut themselves with razors, scratch their skin until it bleeds and even break the bones in their hands and feet with hammers.

"I've asked all 300 in my study group why they started and 93 percent say they just don't know," Favazza said.

Most self-mutilators are products of troubled childhoods and many have been victims of physical and sexual abuse, psychiatrists say. At some point, usually in their early teen years, they purposely injure themselves and find it calming.

"They say to me, 'I was really anxious and felt I was going to explode, then I cut myself and it was like all the air being let out of the balloon,'" Favazza said.

Some self-mutilators say they feel good because they have punished themselves for imagined wrongs. Others find the sight of their own blood relaxing.

confidential commercial information."

Rego had no more success with the Canadian manufacturer, Pharmaglobe Laboratories. Marketing manager Leslie Abbott wrote: "We are authorized to sell this product as a research chemical only. It is not intended for food and drug use, and we therefore make no claims as to its safety or usefulness in this capacity."

The drug's distributor, Sigma Chemical of St. Louis, also declined to divulge any information.

Dr. Herschel Zackheim, who treated Rego at the VA hospital in 1982, declined to discuss specifics of the case with us. Zackheim told our reporter Gary Clouser that he is among the researchers authorized to use 6-AN as an investigative tool, and he added that a few patients are still being treated with it.

Zackheim, who is on the faculty of the University of California Medical School, has written about 6-AN, which he described in 1985 as effective in the treatment of psoriasis. He wrote that it should be used only in difficult cases that haven't responded to other medications. Nearly 350 patients in the United States had been treated with the drug, he said.

"6-AN causes severe central nervous system damage" to laboratory animals, Zackheim wrote, adding: "This is manifested by motor weakness, hind limb paralysis, blindness, coma and other neurological abnormalities."

A 1958 study at Columbia University reported that 6-AN markedly lowers the levels of two vital muscle enzymes.

Rep. Fortney "Pete" Stark, D-Calif., asked the VA this year for an update on its use of 6-AN. VA Administrator Thomas Turnage said it has been used in an attempt to induce schizophrenia in rats and to determine if it could promote growth of spinal cord cells. It is also a possible anti-cancer compound, Turnage wrote, adding: "However, its severe side effects have thus far prevented treatment applications."

Deficit Answer Painful, Though Reagan May Sign Balancing Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawmakers expect more "anguish and pain" in the deficit reduction effort this fall, even if President Reagan signs new legislation to rebuild the balanced budget law and erase the deficit over the next six years.

The administration has yet to announce Reagan's position on the bill, approved on bipartisan votes of 84-34 in the Senate Wednesday and 230-176 in the House Tuesday night.

Regardless of the degree of Reagan's support, Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., an author of the original 1985 balanced budget law and a supporter of the new revisions, forecast down-to-the-wire negotiations to develop a spending and tax package for fiscal 1988, which begins Oct. 1.

The House, trying to buy more time for development of those proposals, voted 270-138 to provide money to keep government agencies running into the new fiscal year even though annual appropriations bills will not be in place. The measure, which now goes to the Senate, allows spending to continue at current levels until Nov. 10.

Biden Drops Bid, Turns To Bork

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Joseph Biden, abandoning his Democratic presidential bid after years of planning, conceded to a political reality: once "the tide begins to roll" against a candidate, it's often impossible to turn it around.

Plagued by admissions of plagiarism and questions about his character, the Delaware lawmaker decided to cut his losses Wednesday and called it quits in order to devote his energy as Senate Judiciary Committee chairman to defeating the politically charged Supreme Court nomination of Judge Robert Bork.

Biden said he was dropping out only six days after he reaffirmed he was in the race to stay because he had made "some mistakes" and the "exaggerated shadows" of those blunders obscured his record and his goals as a candidate.

Navy Finds Six Iranian Mines; Weinberger In Mid East To Talk

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — The U.S. Navy searched for mines planted by a captured Iranian vessel in a busy Persian Gulf shipping channel as Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger flew to the region today to visit the Middle East Task Force.

The Pentagon chief left Washington for the gulf at 8 p.m. EDT Wednesday, a Defense Department spokesman said. Sources in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, said Weinberger would arrive there today for talks with defense officials.

Three of at least six spiked contact mines laid by the captured Iranian ship Iran Ajr near an anchorage used by U.S. warships have been recovered by American mine hunters, Weinberger said before leaving Washington.

The mines were dumped before and after two U.S. helicopters attacked the Iran Ajr late Monday, killing three Iranian sailors and leaving two missing.

Anti-Rebel Troops Reinforced

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Hundreds of elite Scout Rangers are being airlifted into the troubled Bicol peninsula, where communist rebels have cut off all access by road and rail, a military spokesman said today.

Officials from the area, 100 miles southeast of Manila, say a recent campaign of blowing up bridges and attacking police outposts by the communist New People's Army may signal the leftists' plan to set up a provisional government.

Armed forces chief Gen. Fidel Ramos, after a tour Wednesday of the 150-mile-long peninsula, ordered a battalion of the highly trained Scout Rangers to reinforce troops already in Bicol, which is linked to the main island of Luzon by only a narrow neck of land. A battalion normally contains 500 to 600 men.

CFRH Adds Heart Lab

Central Florida Regional Hospital is planning to add a $2.3 million heart catheterization laboratory to its facilities.

Ray Bartholomew, director of marketing, said construction of the heart lab will begin sometime within the next two weeks.

"We won't be having a groundbreaking ceremony," Bartholomew said, "so the exact starting date for construction is still uncertain."

Hospital administrator James Tesar made the announcement Tuesday at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building during a breakfast honoring the eight new hospital staff members. One of the new staff members, Dr. Lawrence Vallario, will head the new lab. Tesar said the lab will be the first step toward a complete heart surgical program at the hospital.

The construction firm that built the hospital, Centex-Rodgers Construction Company of Nashville, Tenn., also will build the 2,266-square-foot lab at the southeast corner of the hospital for $602,000. Construction will include remodeling 96 square feet of the adjacent X-ray department. Equipment for the lab will cost $1.7 million.

Catheterization allows doctors to diagnose blockages that cause heart attacks by injecting dye into the blood vessels around the heart. The procedure costs $1,000 and Tesar expects the lab to perform around 350 procedures during its first year of operation.

The lab is expected to be open by the first of the year and will contain state-of-the-art equipment. Vallario said, the equipment will use computerized imagery to detect blockages in the body and help prevent heart attacks. Vallario said the ability to better define blockage areas more quickly means that patients can be helped before a heart attack causes irreversible damage.

The hospital already has a cardiac rehabilitation program with an indoor track and exercise area. Tesar said the hospital has plans to add an operating room for open-heart surgery within two to five years.

Study Finds Sickle Cell Trait Fatal

BOSTON (UPI) — A study of military recruits suggests 2 million blacks with a usually harmless condition related to sickle cell anemia may have an increased risk of sudden death during intense physical exertion, researchers say.

The scientists at the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology in Washington found the sudden death rate during the stress of military training was nearly 28 times higher for black recruits with sickle-cell trait than for black recruits without the condition, and about 40 times higher than all recruits.

Gov. Officially Opens Limited Redfish Fishery

It's now official. The governor and cabinet voted unanimously to approve a recommendation made by the Marine Fisheries Commission that will reopen the redfish fishery to limited harvest this fall under very restrictive conditions.

The redfish fishery will reopen Oct. 1 through Dec. 31 this year as a temporary measure intended to provide maximum protection to redfish populations this fall while allowing some limited harvest.

In order to meet the recommendations of the Governor and Cabinet, a full review of redfish biology and management is underway, and will not be completed in time for the fall fishing season. Therefore, the Commission is proposing this very limited opening until a long-term solution can be accomplished.

During this period, recreational fishermen will be allowed to harvest one redfish daily per person with an off-the-water possession limit of two fish. Commercial fishermen may harvest five redfish daily per boat.

The harvest of redfish longer than 27 inches in length will be prohibited. Provisions of the redfish rule previously in effect (prior to the existing closure to all harvest of redfish in state waters) will also apply, including a minimum size limit of 18 inches, a prohibition on the use of treble hooks while fishing with natural bait, a requirement that redfish be landed in whole condition, and a prohibition on snatch hooking.

The Commission is also designating redfish as a "restricted species," which will require fishermen harvesting redfish above the recreational bag limit to have a special endorsement on their saltwater products license.

Fishermen are encouraged by the Commission to use barbless hooks to facilitate the release of redfish live and unharmed. In addition, fishermen are being asked to check each redfish caught to see if they have been tagged for research purposes. The information received by researchers is very important to the protection and replenishment of this overfished species. Instructions on reporting procedures is printed on each.

At the end of this special three-month season, all harvest of redfish will again be prohibited until further action takes place, pending completion and approval of a long-term management plan.

SHUPE'S SCOOP — Fishing is fixing to heat up with cooler weather. Fall is a great time of year to fish as most species of fish become active before the bitter cold of winter. Many sportsmen are hunting and there is a lot less pressure on the waterways. Smart fishermen gear up this time of year for some of the season's best fishing.

WEEKEND CAST — Ron Rawlins from Highland Park said that he is looking forward to cooler weather. Bass are biting, but fishermen have to probe the cover for results. Fish the lily pads in Lake Woodruff or find floating water hyacinths. The plastic worm is hard to beat for this type of fishing because the bass are holding tight in the shade of the cover.

Deil Abernethy from Osteen Bridge reports that bass fishing is fairly good for this time of year. Bass to 10 pounds have been weighed in recently, and fishermen are averaging at least 3-4 bass per boat. Speckled perch continue to bite at the new bridge and in the old river channel. The fish are deep, only a foot or so off the bottom. Bream and catfish are also being caught in good numbers.

Sebastian Inlet has been packed with hopeful fishermen. Most of the snook are averaging from 8-13 pounds, with an occasional 20 pounder. The best fishing is during the week (naturally), as on weekends it is elbow to elbow. Trout and redfish are being caught along with the snook, so almost every angler who casts long enough will wind up with something for the frying pan.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that offshore fishing continues to be better than average with the calm seas. Look for small school kings on IA and Pelican Flats. Some schoolie dolphin have also been caught in this close. Wahoo and billfish are found in 130 feet of water on out. The buoy line is slow due to dirty water, but action is picking up inside the Port. Schools of finger mullet are making their annual appearance, and mangrove snapper, flounder, bluefish, red fish and jack crevilles are forming a welcome committee. Jack had reports of some good catches of trout in the Banana and Indian rivers. Anglers also report spotting a lot of redfish in both these rivers.

The New Smyrna jetties continue to improve with the approach of cooler weather. Some good catches of redfish have been made recently. Flounder, whiting, drum, bluefish and sheepshead are caught daily on live or dead shrimp.

Union, Owners Stalk Free Agency

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The NFL Players Association and management talked for 8 1/2 hours before breaking off early today, with negotiations focusing on free agency as the players' strike moved into its third day.

The marathon session — the longest to date in the current contract dispute — left the union cautiously optimistic of a settlement. The two sides ended their discussions at 2:15 a.m. EDT and were scheduled to resume at 10 a.m. today.

Free agency — a player's ability to sell his services to other teams — was at the top of the agenda as the session entered the early morning hours.

"We're going to play it out," Dallas Cowboys President Tex Schramm said early Thursday. "We're going to continue until the subject (of free agency) is exhausted."

The union is seeking unrestricted free agency for players with at least four years experience, eliminating the league's current system of compensating with draft choices teams that lose players. The union's plan would retain a club's right of first refusal for players with fewer than four years in the league.

Schramm said free agency remains the sticking point in the talks and added that the owners refused to budge from their position that they present system should not be drastically altered.

"We reiterated our position and they reiterated their desire for change,"

Football

Schramm said. Asked about the prospects of quick settlement, union president Marvin Powell of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers said: "If Moses parted the Red Sea, it's always a possibility."

Meanwhile, striking players demonstrated across the country Wednesday and two Kansas City Chiefs players arrived for picket-line duty brandishing shotguns.

The marathon session marked the first full-scale bargaining session since Sept. 13, although the chief negotiators — Gene Upshaw, the union's executive director, and Jack Donlan, Management's Council's executive director — had met privately twice since.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle did not attend the talks at the Four Seasons

Hotel in Philadelphia, a site between the league's New York offices and the union's Washington headquarters.

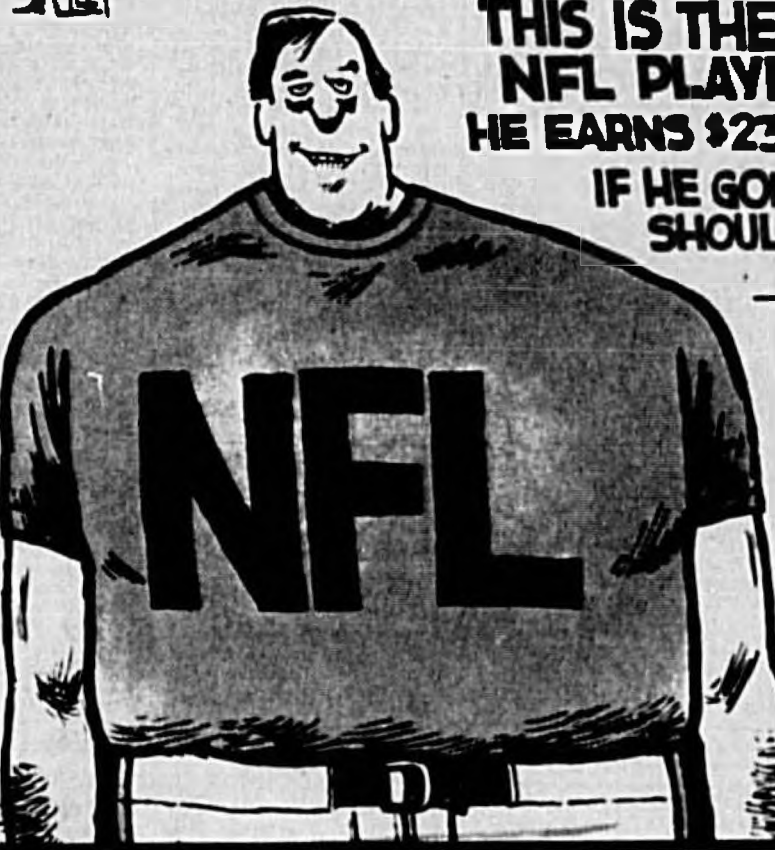

The league is expected to announce today whether this weekend's games will be postponed.

Informal workouts of replacement players began around the country. And, in Kansas City, Mo., two striking players showed up with weapons.

At Herndon, Va., defensive tackle Darryl Grant used his fist to crack a window of a bus filled with non-union players as it rolled into Redskins Park. No injuries were reported.

Grant was among a handful of picketers jeering non-union players with shouts of "scab." Owners plan to use

Seminoles Seek To Keep Blake Clean Vs. Rams

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

One look at Jeff Blake's uniform following the Seminole-Lake Mary slugfest Friday night should be a good indicator of the final score. If the Seminole quarterback comes away without a stain, look for a smiling Tribe. If Blake, however, is in need of a box of Tide, look for the higher digit on the Rams' side.

Blake, as everyone should now know, missed last year while the calcium was hardening in a broken leg. He worked hard on his rehabilitation and his coaches and physicians declared him 100 percent for 1987.

Seminole's offensive line, nevertheless, is not taking any chances with the county's No. 1 offensive force. Taking a page from the U.S. Army, Wilton Hooks, Randy "Pork" Bryant, Kevin Straub and friends have given Blake a military escort in his first two games.

Take about protection, no defender has touched Blake during his 31 attempted passes. Which is one good reason the 6-foot-1/2, 175-pound senior has completed 17 for 54.8 percent. More importantly, five have gone for touchdowns. More remarkably, SEVEN different receivers are involved.

"The offensive line has done a great job," Blake said for the umpteenth time Wednesday while celebrating his second Sanford Optimist Club Player of the Week at Western Sizzlin.

Blake reached the pinnacle for a prep quarterback in Seminole's 29-20 comeback victory over Orlando Edgewater Friday. The rifle-armed 16-year-old fired four TD passes to FOUR different receivers.

"He is a great quarterback," Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson said about the young man who he will have to defend Friday night at 8 at Lake Mary's Don T. Reynolds Stadium. "He's got a great arm, and he's a threat to run, too."

Blake, who said he would like to continue throwing bombs at Miami University next year, has not wandered from protective custody to run too often. When he has, though, he picked up 15 yards on two quarterback sneaks.

Nelson, nevertheless, said containment of Blake has to be accomplished if the veteran coach wants to pick up his fourth victory in five tries against Sanford. "We plan to play a 6-3-3 defense and blitz," Nelson laughed about his numbers game Tuesday. "Heck, we'll play a 6-3-4 if we can get away with it."

"But Blake's blocking is not the only reason no one has touched him," Nelson continued. "The best thing he does is his deep drop. He gets back there so quick and so deep that no one can get to him."

"Now, most high school quarterbacks can't throw the sideline routes from that deep, but Blake just guns it in there."

Blake's No. 1 target this year has been rangy 6-4 Terrance Eady, who is tied for the county lead in reception with Lake Mary's Sheldon Richards. Each has seven. Dwight Brinson and Jerry Governali are the other wideouts in the picture.

Emory Blake, as everyone should now know is Jeff's father, doubles as offensive coordinator. He likens the Rams' secondary to Edgewater's, which he said was easier for Jeff to read because it is a 5-man front.

Expect the Rams' secondary to be tougher, though. Richards, Terry "The Cat" Miller and Carlos Hartfield form a veteran group, considered the strength of the Rams' defense. Lake Mary also received strong efforts from Burger King Defensive Player of the Week Dan Ferris, Brett Grocke, Manny Sapien and David Fenick. Ferris, who had 15 tackles in the victory over Lake Brantley, leads the county with three sacks. Grocke has two sacks. Linebacker Fenick also came up with 15 tackles.

Whereas, QB Blake has put together two solid games, Nelson said he is looking for his signal caller — Hartfield — to revert to first-game form. The talented junior rang up 195 yards in a loss to powerful Winter Park, but accounted for just five yards in a victory over Brantley.

"We cannot go from 200 yards to five," Nelson said. "That just can't happen. We have to be more consistent."

Hartfield, who was force-fed the QB job last year when Shane Letterio was injured, nevertheless, has been very successful. He has engineered six victories in his seven regular-season starts.

Defensive coordinator Bill Zeiss said the key to unsettling Hartfield is pressure. "Our defense will go after him," he said. "But he throws pretty good when he scrambles, too."

Leading Zeiss' attack will be linebackers Steve Warren, Earnie "Sackman" Lewis and Bernard Burke. Warren, who had 13 tackles last week, and Burke are the Tribe's quickest defenders. They thrive on blitzing between guard and center.

"We're keying on (tailback) John Curry, but we won't forget about Carlos," Lewis said. "We know they got a bunch of guys that are dangerous."

Still Plenty Of Good Football Abounds On Upset Weekend

While the pros are out picketing and the "scabs" are getting ready to embarrass the "On-With-The-Show" NFL owners, there is still plenty of good football on the horizon this week.

There is one big prep rivalry in Seminole County to highlight Friday night while there are at least three big upsets brewing on the college scene for Saturday.

Seminole High and Lake Mary have had some tumultuous battles since the rivalry began and this year has the potential to be the best ever. Both teams possess excellent athletic talent and both have their eyes set on Seminole Athletic Conference and district championships. This year's game will be played Friday night at 8 at Lake Mary High.

In college ball, second-ranked Nebraska, third-ranked Auburn and over-ranked Florida State will all be victims of upsets this Saturday.

After a 6-4 record last week, the Fearless Fister Forecast stands at a better-than-mediocre 13-7 for the season. Since the Forecast is enjoying mild success, I will now take time out to answer a letter from the mountainous mail bag.

Dear Fearless: How could you pick the Colts to beat the Dolphins? Sometimes you can be a real pain in my rump. B.A., Slavia

Dear B.A.: To answer the question, it seemed like a good upset. In response to sentence number two — that's because it is the shortest route to your brain.

Here's a look at this week's games:

Seminole at Lake Mary

This should be one of the more high-scoring games of what has been a defense-dominated series. If Sheldon Richards is healthy, Lake Mary has a fine passing game to go along with the hard running of John Curry. Seminole High also has the ability to score a lot of points as the Tribe is averaging 28.5 points per game. Seminole has a powerful defense, but Edgewater proved last week, with 20 points, that the 'Noles can be scored on. This one could go down to who has the ball last and, in the end, it will be the Rams... Lake Mary by 1

DeLand at Oviedo

Seminole and Lake Mary aren't the only ones eyeing the Seminole Athletic Conference championship. DeLand and Oviedo are both 2-0 overall and 1-0 in the conference and have been impressive in their first two

Orlando Boone at Lake Brantley

Overconfidence? Gators Issue Quick Denial

By Mike Dame
Herald Sports Writer

GAINESVILLE — Coming off an impressive 23-14 victory at Alabama last weekend, the Gators come home this Saturday to face Mississippi State with a strange feeling inside.

No, it's not indigestion: It's overconfidence.

It is definitely a different experience for a group of guys who began the season with an unsettling 31-4 loss at Miami.

Last weekend, Emmitt ran through, over and around the Bama defense for 224 yards on 39 carries (both school records), thrusting Florida into serious Southeastern Conference title contention. With his performance, Smith secured SEC Offensive Player of the Week honors.

The Gators themselves, however, are trying their best to fight off their overconfidence — a trait which has doomed many a team. The mere mention of overconfidence around a Gator player will be greeted by a quick denial and a predictable response.

"The Alabama game gave us a lift, but we can't get overconfident," said senior outside linebacker Clifford Charlton, a prominent member of a Gator defense which has allowed just 243 net rushing yards in the first three games of the season (an average of 81 yards per game).

Perhaps the most impressive figure on defense so far this season has been junior free safety Louis Oliver. Against the Crimson Tide, Oliver registered eight tackles (six solo) and broke up four passes, earning the SEC Defensive Player of the Week award. Oliver also leads the SEC with three interceptions (sixth in the NCAA).

So while Emmitt has emerged as the heart of the Gators, the defense has become its massive arms and legs.

"We are ahead of where we were last season on defense," said head coach Galen Hall. "If we stay healthy and don't self-destruct, I believe this group is good enough to keep us in the game each week."

Charlton, however, still boldly defended his, "we don't have a big head," stand.

"We have to try to stay balanced and not get overconfident," he said. "We must im-

Edberg Moves To Quarterfinals, Pate's 14 Aces Derail Lundgren

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Top-seeded Stefan Edberg of Sweden advanced to the quarterfinals of a $315,000 Volvo men's tournament Wednesday night with a 6-3, 7-6 (8-6) victory over Jay Berger.

Earlier, third-seeded David Pate served 14 aces in defeating Sweden's Peter Lundgren, 6-4, 6-4, and unseeded Marty Davis surprised sixth-seeded Kevin Curren, 7-6 (7-5), 6-7 (3-7), 7-6 (7-2) to advance.

Edberg, 21, ranked No. 3 in the world, the runner-up in the tournament the last two years, used an effective serve-and-volley attack to counter the 20-year-old Berger's baseline game.

Looking to capture his sixth title of the year, the Swede took the opening set with a service break in the fourth game. The second set went to a tiebreaker when Berger, leading 6-5, failed to capitalize on two break points.

Berger, of Plantation, jumped to a 4-1 lead in the tiebreaker. Edberg rallied to forge ahead, 6-5, but squandered the first of two match points by netting a close-in forehand. Berger, ranked No. 39, evened the score at 6-all, but Edberg took the 1 hour, 57 minute match by capturing the final two points.

Johnson Runs 10.29 At Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) — Canada's Ben Johnson, the world's fastest sprinter, won the 100-meter event in 10.29 seconds Wednesday at the Tokyo International Track and Field Championships.

Japan's Hiroki Fuwa came in second and set a Japanese record of 10.33, shaving 0.01 second off the previous mark.

Soviet Sergei Bubka, the world record holder in the pole vault, cleared 19 feet, 4 1/4 inches to win the event.

Sweden's Patrik Sjöberg won the men's high jump with a 7-7 leap and Tamara Bykova of the Soviet Union won the women's high jump with 6-2 1/4.

American Larry Myricks leaped 28-5, his personal best, to win the men's long jump.

Cyclist Sets 3 Speed Records

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — French cyclist Jeannie Longo, who won more than 40 races this year, has added three more world speed records to her list, officials at the velodrome at the U.S. Olympic Training Center said Wednesday.

Longo, 28, of Grenoble, set a record Tuesday night for the most distance traveled in one hour, as well as speed marks for 10,000 meters and 20,000 meters. Last week she set a record for 5,000 meters at the same velodrome. She holds a total of 11 world speed records.

Hunt Sells Thoroughbred Stock

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Financially troubled multi-millionaire Nelson Bunker Hunt announced Wednesday the sale of his Thoroughbred breeding and racing stock, signaling his departure from the industry.

The manager of Hunt's Bluegrass Farm, Larry Richardson, told a Lexington news conference Hunt will hold the first phase of his dispersal at Keeneland Jan. 9 and Jan. 10, consisting of broodmares, yearlings and 2-year-olds. Hunt's racing stable will be sold at a later date.

FSU: Smith, Carter Both To Start

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida State Seminoles held a closed practice Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's game against the Michigan State Spartans at Spartan Stadium.

"Our running back situation is in the best shape it's been in so far this season," Head Coach Bobby Bowden said, adding that he will start Dexter Carter and Sammie Smith in the backfield.

Lady 'Noles Lasso Kowgirls

Corso Hails 15-8, 15-12 Triumph Season's Best Effort

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

After taking a direct hit from Oviedo's Lady Lions Tuesday night, Seminole High's volleyball team began sinking toward the bottom of the Seminole Athletic Conference.

Wednesday night, coach Beth Corso tossed her sinking Lady Seminoles a rope and they began climbing their way back toward respectability.

Corso said the Lady Tribe played its best match of the season by far in a 15-8, 15-12 victory over Kissimmee Osceola's Kowgirls Wednesday night at Kissimmee.

"We hit rock bottom last night against Oviedo," Corso said. "Tonight, we came out and started digging ourselves out. This is the first time we've played volleyball this season."

The Lady 'Noles, 2-4 overall, return to SAC action (1-4) tonight at Lake Mary. The Lady Rams are tied with Oviedo and Lake Howell for second in the conference at 2-1.

Seminole rode the net play of Liz Long, Adrian Hillsman, Kim Walsh and Cindy Bengé to a commanding 9-0 lead in the opening game. Bengé later served Seminole to a 12-5 lead before Osceola pulled within 12-8. After an entire rotation, Bengé came back to serve the final three points of the game.

"All four girls (Bengé, Hillsman, Long, Walsh) hit, dinked and did everything well in the attacking department," Corso said. "The rest of the team had the passes up well and Bobbie (Osborne) and Heather (Brown) did a nice job setting."

In game two, Osborne's serving and Long's hitting led Seminole to a 7-3 lead but Osceola then got on the offensive and went on to take a 12-10 lead. Osborne served the 11th point for Seminole and Bengé then came on to serve out the match. In the clinching rally, Long had one block and one kill while Hillsman, also had a kill and set Long for her kill.

"I was pleased with the play of the whole team," Corso said. "And Osceola is no slouch at all. We just came out and played smart and aggressive volleyball."

In junior varsity action Wednesday, Osceola survived a first-game scare and held on for a 19-17, 15-11 victory over the JV Lady Tribe. The serving of Tamie Holloway and Amy "Bird" Fossbender enabled Seminole to keep it close.

OVIEDO DUMPS MOORE
Oviedo's Lady Lions had their offense running full throttle in the first game, then rode the strong serving of Kerstin Colon in game two to a 15-4, 15-9 victory over Orlando Bishop Moore Wednesday night at Oviedo High.

Oviedo, 4-1 overall, returns to Seminole Athletic Conference action tonight at 7:30 at Lake Brantley. The Lady Lions stand at 2-1 in the SAC while Brantley is 2-2.

"We played an almost errorless game in the first game," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "I was especially pleased with the serve return. We got a little complacent in the second game but Kerstin (Colon) came in and had her best serving game of the season."

With senior Jodie Switzer's sets right on the money, senior Jill Knutson converted 4 of 5 kill opportunities in game one while juniors Suzanne Hughes and Anna Hollis had one kill apiece. Junior Serena Caldeyro had a big serving string for Oviedo in the first game as she served five points in a row for a commanding 10-1 lead. Caldeyro started the rally with a pair of aces while Knutson finished it off with a booming spike. Caldeyro's off-speed hit on Jodie Switzer's serve accounted for the 15th point.

In the second game, the serving of Hollis and Corrie Lawson enabled Oviedo to take an 8-5 lead, but Bishop Moore came back with four points in a row for a 9-8 lead. A misread serve gave Oviedo a side out and Colon, a junior, came on to serve the last seven points of the match.

In junior varsity action Wednesday, Oviedo outlasted Bishop Moore, 13-15, 15-10, 16-14. The JV Lady Lions improved to 4-1 going into tonight's battle with unbeaten Lake Brantley.

In the other SAC game tonight, Lake Howell travels to Lyman.

Oviedo Runners Roll 7s At Colonial Meet

Oviedo's cross country teams tuned up for their own meet with a pair of seventh place finishes Wednesday at the Colonial Invitational in Orlando.

One of this weekend's meets for Seminole County teams will be the Oviedo Invitational. The meet, which will be held at Oviedo High, begins with girls varsity at 8:30 a.m. followed by boys varsity at 9, girls junior varsity at 9:30 and boys junior varsity at 10.

While Oviedo will host its first meet in quite some time, most Seminole County varsity teams will travel to Tallahassee for the Florida State University Invitational. Seminole High will head for Boca Raton and the Spanish River Invitational.

Oviedo's girls placed seventh out of 17 teams Wednesday with St. Cloud taking top honors with a team score of 45. Junior Ashley Ehrhart led the way for the Lady Lions as she finished 11th with a time of 13:56. Freshman Gwen Long also ran a good race as she came in 22nd at 14:23.

The boys race was dominated by 3A powerhouse Bishop Moore while third-ranked (Class 4A) Orlando Oak Ridge was a close second.

Oviedo's top five included Brad Bolton (32nd at 17:39), Greg Hughes (39th at 17:47), Derek Bates (17:54), Garth Bolton (18:50) and B.J. Mayhood (18:51).

In the girls junior varsity Wednesday, Oviedo's top finishers included Peggy Benoit (ninth at 16:58) and Linda Williams (13th at 17:31). Leading the Oviedo boys JV was Zach Ely (16th at 19:14).

Governor Proclaims Saturday National Hunting, Fishing Day

By Jim Shupe
Herald Outdoors Writer

By proclamation of Gov. Bob Martinez, Florida will join the rest of the country in celebrating National Hunting and Fishing Day Saturday.

Since 1972, Florida has designated one day per year to give recognition to hunters and fishermen for their contributions to conservation. In addition, National Hunting and Fishing Day has received the support of each American president since its inception.

"National Hunting and Fishing Day focuses on the importance of conserving our natural and wildlife resources and the vital role hunters and fishermen play in conservation," said Col. Robert M. Brantly, executive director of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Through license fees and taxes on equipment, sportsmen contribute millions of dollars each year to pay for land acquisitions, research and management of habitat for fish and wildlife.

Brantly said that without the funding provided by hunters and fishermen, Florida's natural and wildlife resources might be depleted by now.

"Hunters and fishermen helped start the conservation movement," Brantly said. "They supported laws to stop exploitation of wildlife and helped establish state fish and wildlife agencies that could implement much-needed conservation programs. They also proposed and supported laws to establish special hunting and fishing fees and special taxes on their equipment to pay for conservation programs."

Since 1937, the Pittman-Robertson Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration Act has provided for an excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition (and later on archery hunting equipment). Funds collected under this law are distributed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to state wildlife agencies for wildlife management.

According to national organizers, hunters and fishermen have contributed more than $6 billion for conservation. Also, the programs supported and financed by sportsmen have benefited hundreds of wildlife species across the United States.

The governor said he urges all Floridians to join in a renewed dedication to the wise use of our natural resources so they can be perpetuated for future generations.

EARLY DUCK SEASON

In hunting news, waterfowl hunting for the 1987-88 season will also begin Friday. This early duck season will last until Wednesday, Sept. 30. Additional duck hunting is scheduled for Nov. 25-20 and Dec. 15-Jan. 18.

During the early duck season, the daily bag limit is four ducks, no more than one of which may be of a species other than wood duck or teal. Possession limit is eight ducks, no more than two of which may be of a species other than wood duck or teal.

Legal shooting hours for duck hunters are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, and duck hunters are required to use nontoxic shot in all gauges of shotguns in some areas.

Sportsmen must carry valid hunting licenses, federal duck stamps and state waterfowl stamps while duck hunting. Hunters who plan to hunt on state wildlife management areas or federal wildlife refuges may need additional permits or stamps.

For details concerning hunting regulations or facilities, sportsmen can contact the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission. Licenses and state stamps are available from county tax collectors and their subagents. Federal duck stamps are available at post offices.

Angels Waive Vet DeCinces

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — The California Angels Wednesday waived veteran third baseman Doug DeCinces, who was hitting only .234 this season.

The 37-year-old, who began his career in the Baltimore Orioles organization in 1973 as replacement for legendary third baseman Brooks Robinson, hit 16 home runs and 63 RBI in 133 games for the Angels this year.

"Doug played here for six seasons and, for most of that time, was an outstanding third baseman," Angels General Manager Mike Port said.

DeCinces, who reportedly earned $800,000 this season, joined the Orioles organization in 1973 and played for the club more than seven seasons, including the 1979 World Series.

DeCinces said he was not surprised when he learned about the move. "I had some idea last night when a reporter asked me a question about that (finishing out the season with the Angels)," DeCinces said.

New Bucs Crew Meets Coaches

United Press International
TAMPA — The newest members of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers met with coaches and practiced Wednesday afternoon while the striking players they've been hired to replace held an informal 90-minute workout at a nearby university field.

The Buccaneers, who released the names of 24 new players on Tuesday, announced they have signed an additional 29 players to substitute for striking NFL players. No members of Tampa Bay's regular 45-man roster appeared at club headquarters Wednesday as Coach Ray Perkins and his assistants continued to study film of the Green Bay Packers.

Tampa Bay is scheduled to play Green Bay at home Sunday, but this weekend's games will be canceled unless an agreement is reached by Friday.

Starting guard and team representative George Yarno said the striking players have decided not to picket club headquarters, where the newly signed Buccaneers met with Tampa Bay's coaching staff for the first time. Striking players staged light workouts at the University of Tampa, the same facility the club used during training camp.

"I feel like I was robbed of two years of my playing career and this is a chance to show what I've got," said 30-year-old defensive end James Ramey, who hasn't played pro football since the USFL's last season ended in the summer of 1985.

"You're gonna be on film and if you do the job, the coaches will notice you. I was selling insurance here in town and I was scratching and digging to make $500 a week. Anybody's that been deprived of the opportunity to play can understand the feelings of the guys here today. This is a bittersweet time for me because I had finally gotten football out of my system."

Defensive back Carey Reid doesn't want striking players to misunderstand his position.

"We're here to help, not to hurt," said Reid, who attended Morehead State. "We're trying to put a win up on the scoreboard and we've got some exciting people. This is another chance for us to show the coaches what we can do. Maybe later on down the line, we'll get a call."

At the age of 37, former Tampa Bay Bandit quarterback John Reeves is giving it one final shot.

"I had mixed feelings about this," said Reeves, who played nine seasons in the NFL after being drafted in the first round by Philadelphia in 1972. "I was a member of the NFL union, but this was the best opportunity I had to play again and that was more important than my strong feelings about the union. I know all of this could end tomorrow, but nothing ventured, nothing gained. If the Buc players come back and we're sitting there at 5-1 or 6-1, I don't think they should be too unhappy."

SEULA STARTS OVER
MIAMI — Coach Don Shula today begins his second training camp of 1987.

The Dolphins have signed at least 33 non-union players, with more expected to be added today. Shula said the players would go through two-a-day practices and night meetings, similar to the routine followed in training camp.

"We're going to just continue to talk to a lot of players and get them in here," Shula said. "You can have any number of players right up until game time."

Rain washed out Shula's plans to put the non-union players through a walk-through practice late Wednesday, but earlier in the day, the striking Dolphins worked out at Miami-Dade North Community College after walking a picket line for more than an hour.

Player representative William Judson said the players planned to picket and practice today.

There were no incidents during the picketing, in which 33 Dolphins were joined by about 25 members of the American Federation of Musicians, Local 655.

Five non-union players signed by the Dolphins have NFL experience: cornerback Robert Sowell, a former Dolphin; quarterbacks Kyle Mackey and Scott Stankavage; safety Tate Randle, and linebacker Dennis Fowlkes.

Sowell's appearance in a van filled with six non-union players at the picket line incited no verbal threats from his former teammates, and he said he understood their position, and hoped they understood his.

"There ain't no one (on the picket line) that's going to pay my bills and take care of me and my family," said Sowell, who played three years in Miami. "I've got to do what I've got to do; they've got to do what they've got to do. It might be my only way back in the NFL."

"If they want to call me a scab, I'm a scab. I was a union guy, they took money out of my paycheck, but when I was waived, they didn't help me."

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which climbed 17.82 Wednesday, was down 6.20 to 2579.47 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 492-388 among the 1,325 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 12,429,000 shares.

Stock prices climbed in heavy trading Wednesday as buyers, lured by a spectacular advance in the previous session, returned to market.

"It's remarkable how well the market held up," said Larry Wachtel, analyst at Prudential-Bache Securities. "When you have a 75-point advance like we had Tuesday, what do you do for an encore? Is this a brave new world? Do you advance another 75 points?"

"Wednesday's action, though not quite as exuberant, was a continuation of Tuesday's trend," said Larry Greenwald, co-manager of equity trading at Sanford C. Bernstein & Co. "The market is choppy but people feel there are still bargains to be had. They took advantage of the correction to take a shot and jump in."

Dollar Opens Lower; Gold Pushes Higher

By United Press International

The dollar opened lower in light trading on key foreign currency markets today. Gold edged higher.

Dealers said the dollar's decline was in line with late market movement in New York on Wednesday where the dollar lost ground on disappointing economic indicators.

In early trading the dollar closed at 143.75 Japanese yen, up 0.22 from Tuesday's close of 143.53.

There was no trading Wednesday in Japan because of a national holiday.

In European trading, the dollar opened in Frankfurt at 1.819 German marks, down from Wednesday's close of 1.8291.

In Zurich, the dollar began the day at 1.508 Swiss francs, down from 1.5105, in Paris at 6.0605 French francs, down from 6.098, and in Brussels at 37.87 Belgian francs, down from 37.935.

The dollar began trading in Amsterdam at 2.044 Dutch guilders, down from 2.0515, and in Milan at 1,312.80 lire, down from 1,319.80.

In London the pound opened at $1.6450, up from $1.6415 on Wednesday.

In early New York trading, the dollar was mixed against key foreign currencies in light trading.

Traders in New York noted the dollar drifted slightly higher against the pound following the release of wider-than-expected August trade deficit figures for the United Kingdom.

Gold opened 50 cents an ounce higher in Zurich at $463 an ounce and gained $1 in London to $463.25 an ounce.

The London morning gold fixing was $463.85, up $1.60 from Wednesday's close.

In earlier trading in the Far East, gold closed at $464.25 on the Hong Kong Bullion Exchange, up $3.75 from Wednesday's close.

Security Growth Limited

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee agreed to put limits on growth of farm mortgage securities to keep that new credit source from luring too many farmer-borrowers from the beleaguered Farm Credit System.

The Senate Agriculture subcommittee Wednesday voted 7-1 to put ceilings on the amount of farm mortgages that can be pooled and sold as farm securities in the first three years after the securities would be created under a secondary market.

But the lawmakers, in their second day of deliberations on farm credit legislation, postponed a decision as to the ceiling amounts.

They discussed but did not act on recommendations that no more than $2 billion in farm mortgages could be sold as securities in the first year, no more than $5 billion in the second year and no more than $10 billion in the third year. There would be no limits after the fourth year.

The secondary market, pushed by banks and insurance companies, would be attached to legislation to rescue the FCS, the farmer-owned lender that has lost $4.8 billion since 1985.

...Plan

of the amount raised by the four-cent per gallon constitutional gasoline tax.

Jackson said state law requires that the backing for bonds equal 133 percent of the amount of the bonds. By pledging five cents of the county's 10-cent gasoline tax to bond payments, it would not be available for other road projects or as backing for other bonds until the expressway bonds were paid off.

Also included in the financing plan would be a request to the Florida Department of Transportation to pay for the operation and maintenance of the expressway until traffic on it was heavy enough for toll revenue to cover those costs.

"If the DOT refused that request, you would have to add another $24 million up front to the cost of building this segment of the expressway," Jackson said.

Another option to using the gasoline tax income to back bonding would be to apply for a $29 million grant from the state Toll Facility Revolving Trust Fund. "This is the first time a local government has put such a substantial amount of money into a regional expressway and I don't think it is unreasonable for the state to approve a grant from its trust fund," Jackson said.

The estimated cost of the segment from SR 434 to Hwy. 17-92 does not include the purchase of expensive property at the junction of the expressway and Hwy. 17-92 in the Airport Boulevard area, for right-of-way and the costs of building the extensive interchange there. Those costs are included in the costs of the segment from Hwy. 17-92 to I-4, which is why costs for that segment are projected to be so much higher.

Jackson said the segment from SR 434 to Hwy. 17-92 is the most financially feasible, which is why he recommends its construction first.

Authority Member Barbara Christensen said she thinks the plan is too dependent on voter approval of the one-cent sales tax. "I think it will be extremely hard to sell the sales tax to the voters," she said. "From what I am hearing from people, they don't want the expressway in the first place, and in the second place, they don't understand why we need a sales tax to pay for it if it will be a toll road."

Chairman Fred Streetman disagreed. "You must be listening to different people than I am, because that's not what I have been hearing," he said. "I think the citizens of Seminole County are concerned about the traffic problems and want the expressway. I also think they will support the sales tax because 40 percent of sales tax is paid by people who don't live in Seminole County and I'm sure a significant portion of the tolls paid on the expressway will be paid by non-county residents also."

If the sales tax is not approved, Jackson said, the county could make up that loss of funds by using income from its entire 10-cents-per-gallon gasoline tax to back bonds, or it could ask the state legislature to authorize the county to levy an additional five-cents-per-gallon tax on gasoline.

Construction costs also could be reduced by making interchanges at Lake Mary Road and Red Bug Road grade intersections with traffic lights instead of overpasses, he said.

Suspect Released As Informant Flees

For the first time in Seminole County history, a suspect who checked out of the county jail to work as an informant in helping police to nab suspected drug dealers, has fled.

A warrant on an escape charge was issued Friday by Seminole County Court Judge Fred Hitt for Jeffrey Shields, 29, who moved to an Altamonte Springs hotel from Pensacola a couple of months ago, Seminole County Sheriff John Polk said Wednesday.

Altamonte Springs police arrested Shields at the motel where he was living Sept. 10, on a charge of defrauding an innkeeper. He was accused of not paying his bill at the Hilton Inn, North Lake Boulevard. He pled guilty to that charge Sept. 11 and was sentenced to time served.

Shields, who drug agents say has links to drug dealers, had agreed to work undercover for Altamonte Springs police, but he disappeared after his release from jail. Hitt declared Friday that Shields should be classified as an escapee and will face that charge, when and if he is recaptured.

Shields also is wanted in Marion County for failure to appear on a grand theft auto charge in a case that developed early this year. Marion County officials said they were not told of Shields' Seminole County arrest until after he had been released from jail, although Shields was being held without bond in the Seminole County jail based on the Marion County charge, following his arrest on the defrauding and innkeeper charge. He is still wanted by Marion County.

Hitt said that although Shields was free on the lesser charge, he was still to be held for Marion County, without the agreement to work with police.

...Tax

The Legislature approved the tax in April at the insistence of Martinez. The 5 percent sales tax on goods was extended to an array of consumer services to raise $1 billion each full year—money state leaders say is critical to Florida's future.

Now that public opinion is running heavily against the tax, Martinez, saying he made a mistake, wants it repealed. He refuses to consider any replacement levy unless the Legislature first grants him expansive controls over the drafting of state budgets.

Grindle said Martinez is firm in his stand of wanting the service tax repealed and the budget reformed. Grindle said repealing the tax but not reforming the budget could lead a similar type of budgetary abuse the governor is trying to eliminate now.

Grindle said House Republicans are generally behind a move to repeal the tax, use rainy-day funds and funds used to collect the tax as operating money and then reform the tax in the April when the Legislature sits in regular session. He said the other sources of funds could make up the $200 to $250 million short fall until April. He said that approach to the issue would give it a thorough examination and not see any programs cut.

Grindle said Democrats, particularly in the senate, do not want to heed Martinez' call to overhaul how the budget is reviewed.

He said many projects can be lumped in the budget now and escape the governor's veto. Martinez wants to have the option of eliminating line items instead of having to accept a program he does not want along with several he approves.

Digging into the budget's structure is the right tact for Martinez to take, said Grindle.

"This is one of those areas we should have looked at six months ago. We have got to economize and get the fat out of the budget."

Grindle said if just 5 percent of Florida's $18.5 billion budget was cut about a billion dollars could be saved. He said he believes there is 5 percent of fat or more in the budget.

"We'll have to have some compromise to get anything done," Grindle said referring to next week's session.

"Everything is at a stalemate right now," Grindle said.

Vogt predicted legislators would settle the tax problem one way or another by the end of next week.

He said there are three possible solutions on the drafting board. One would be to revise the service tax to end major public criticism and replace it with a 5 1/2 percent sales tax with the option that local governments can tack on a one-half percent sales tax for local use.

A second solution, he said, is to repeal the tax and up the sales tax to make up the difference. The other solution is to ax the tax and make it up in ways other than a sales tax, that is, use other taxes such as on motels, hotels, corporate profit tax, soft drinks sales and the like.

Vogt said the Legislature may simply ax the service tax and raise the sales tax and take the political heat from the voters.

...Homes

The ordinance also would require site development plans all group homes. Facilities which care for up to six residents could be approved by the city staff, but group homes with more than six residents or which require a conditional use permit would have to obtain approval from the city's planning and zoning commission.

Any group homes not inspected by another governmental agency would be inspected by the city twice a year. Any group home regularly inspected by another governmental agency also could be inspected by the city at its discretion.

The ordinance allows group homes in single-family districts to have as many as four persons under care. Two more residents could be added to the home after a public hearing.

...Crash

There was no record of a flight plan filed for the plane either in Orlando or Melbourne on Wednesday. The plane took off from Merritt Island Air Service, Merritt Island, before dawn.

Beverly Morton an FAA safety inspector in Orlando said that a filing of a flight plan is not a requirement in "visual weather, day or night. It's a pilot's option, as long as there is visibility for three miles" she said.

This does not apply to flights at altitudes of 18,000 feet or above. Flight plans must be filed by the pilots of aircraft for flights at high altitudes, Morton said.

An official at the Sanford Airport said the crash site is exactly 2 1/2 miles due east of one of that airport's runways. The Sanford Airport control tower was not open at the time of the crash, so no radio contact from the Piper was made with the tower.

The Piper crashed before sunrise, but the skies were clear, so no flight plan was required, according to Morton.

The plane was registered to Reynolds' business, J. Reynolds Quality Cars, Cocoa. Peltier was an employee of Reynolds' business in addition to his pilot duties. Mrs. Reynolds said the plane was a recent purchase and she was afraid for her husband to fly in it, although he felt the plane was safe. He was traveling to Alabama on business when the crash occurred, she said.

The injection does not kill the animal. County policy calls for an injection directly into the heart in those cases.

Some complaints have concerned treatment of animals that did not die after the first injection, including an allegation that an animal was thrown against a wall when it did not die after the first injection.

Hooper said, "Killing animals, especially when they are struggling, is not pleasant duty and people can get emotionally upset about it."

Hooper said he is interviewing present and former employees of the department, some of whom have made allegations of cruelty to animals. He said he is also investigating complaints about the training of employees, and the provision of food for the animals.

Choreographer Bob Fosse Dead At 60

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bob Fosse, the Broadway choreographer and director who won all three of the major awards in show business, died of a heart attack Wednesday night just before the opening of a revival of his play "Sweet Charity." He was 60.

Fosse apparently collapsed at the Willard Intercontinental Hotel after a day of rehearsals and was taken by ambulance to George Washington University Hospital, where he died of cardiac arrest at 7:23 p.m., hospital spokeswoman Yvonne Hlott said.

Friends and business associates said his ex-wife, actress Gwen Verdon, was at his side at the time of death.

Fosse was in Washington for the opening Wednesday night at the National Theater of a revival of one of his hits, the musical comedy "Sweet Charity."

"He had been rehearsing the company all day," Fosse's press agent, Jeffrey Richards, said in New York. "He had gone back to his hotel room. He left the theater at 6:30 and was found in his hotel at 7."

"I believe he was found by Gwen Verdon, who was working with him."

Cy Coleman, musical director for "Sweet Charity," said the cast was not told of the death until after the opening night performance.

"Everyone took it very hard," Coleman said. "As for tomorrow, the show's going to go on. They'll go up there and do their darndest because that's the way Bobby trained them."

The teary-eyed cast and crew gathered for a scheduled opening night party after hearing of the death.

"He was just a remarkable human being," Coleman said. "Fosse will be remembered for everything, as a human being, as a sensational choreographer."

We lost somebody who's unique."

"Cabaret," starring Joel Grey, perhaps Fosse's biggest hit, was also in revival at the Kennedy Center Opera House through Oct. 3, when it was scheduled to head for Broadway.

Fosse was one of the most important behind-the-scenes men on Broadway as a choreographer and director.

He was one of the few individuals to win all three of the big awards in show business — an Oscar (movies), an Emmy (television) and a Tony (stage).

Fosse won an Oscar for his work on "Cabaret," starring Liza Minnelli and Grey, a Tony for "Pajama Game" and an Emmy for "Liza With a Z."

Fosse was married three times, each time to a dancer.

Private Ordeal Becomes Public Nightmare.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, my husband and I heard Norman Early, the district attorney from Denver, speak on the criminal justice system — from the victim's point of view.

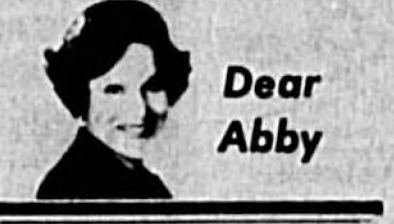

He read the enclosed account of a victim of incest. Her name is "Cindy" and she is 12. I thought it worthy of inclusion in your column. I hope you agree.

MARY DEAN ARMSTRONG

DEAR MARY: I do. And here it is:

Promises, Promises — A Child's View of Incest

I asked you for help and you told me you would if I told you the things my dad did to me. It was really hard for me to say all those things, but you told me to trust you — then you made me repeat them to 14 different strangers.

I asked you for privacy and you sent two policemen to my school in front of everyone, to "go downtown" for a talk in their black and white car — like I was the one being busted.

I asked you to believe me, and you said that you did, then you connected me to a lie detector, and took me to court where lawyers put me on trial like I was a liar. I can't help it if I can't remember times or dates or explain why I couldn't tell my mom. Your questions got me confused.

I asked you for help and you gave me a doctor with cold metal gadgets and cold hands ... just like my father, who said it wouldn't hurt, just like my father, who said not to cry. He said I look fine — good news for you. You said, bad news for my "case."

I asked you for confidentiality and you let the newspaper get my story. What does it matter that they left out my name when they put in my father's and our home address? Even my best friend's mother won't let her talk to me anymore.

I asked for protection and you gave me a social worker who patted my head and called me "Honey" (mostly because she could never remember my name). She sent me to live with strangers in another place, with a different school.

Do you know what's like to live where there's a lock on the refrigerator, where you have to ask permission to use the shampoo, and where you can't use the phone to call your friends? You get used to hearing, "Hi, I'm your new social worker, this is your new foster sister, dorm mother, group home. You tiptoe around like a perpetual guest and don't even get to see your own puppy grow up.

Do you know what it feels like to be the one who everyone blames for all the trouble? Even when they were speaking to me, all they talked about was lawyers, shrinks, fees and whether or not they'll lose the mortgage. Do you know what it's like when your sisters hate you, and your brother calls you a liar? It's my word against my own father's. I'm 12 years old and he's the manager of a bank.

I asked you for help and you forced my mom to choose between us — she chose him, of course. She was scared and had a lot to lose. I had a lot to lose too.

I asked you to put an end to the abuse — you put an end to my whole family. You took away my nights of hell and gave me days of hell instead. You've exchanged my private nightmare for a very public one.

FEELINGS BY CINDY, AGE 12:

Now I know why they call this Indian Summer. Even if you're stuck in the office all afternoon — be cool and comfortable in exciting fashions from ...

that's me!

Blood Pressure Should Be Same Throughout

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT - Why would I have a different blood pressure in my arms? The right arm is 50 to 100 points higher than my left arm.

DEAR READER - The blood pressure is normally the same throughout the body. Because the circulatory system is a free-flowing hydraulic system, the pressure within it does not vary from arm to arm, arm to leg, or leg to leg.

Small differences between blood-pressure recordings in the extremities are usually due to fluctuating pressure or to technical differences in how the blood pressure is recorded. For example, a person with a thin arm will seem to have lower blood pressure than a thick-armed individual. This is because the large arm requires a pressure cuff that is wider than normal in order to record an accurate figure.

In your case, the difference between the arms is significant and suggests a medical condition called subclavian stenosis. Occasionally, patients will show a higher right arm pressure because of a narrowing of a portion of the subclavian artery that feeds the left arm. This narrowing causes an elevated blood pressure in the right arm but not in the left. It is a dangerous condition and can lead to stroke unless the constriction is surgically corrected. Most doctors are alert to the possibility of stenosis; this is why we take blood-pressure recordings in each arm during the initial examination of hypertensive patients.

Subclavian stenosis is unusual. I have seen only one case in 20 years of practice. However, once it is discovered, treatment is direct and permanent. The diagnosis is established with an aortogram, a type of X-ray study during which material is injected into the aorta and films taken. The pinched area shows up readily.

I suggest that you discuss your blood-pressure readings with your doctor. If he or she verifies your figures, you will need to have further examination. (C)1987, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
The Jacoby transfer bid informed South that North held five hearts and sufficient strength to bid three no-trump. Perhaps South should simply have passed three no-trump (nine tricks could be easier to make than 10 since South had no ruffing values), but he had good heart support and there was a possible weakness in diamonds.

of trumps, played the third spade to discard a club from dummy, and then A-K and a club ruff made the last club a winner. (South had been careful to preserve the heart queen as an entry back to his hand.)
None of this excuses West from blame. When East signaled for a switch, West should have worked out that his best chance to set the contract was to find East with strength in diamonds.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...
By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY SEPTEMBER 25, 1987
You will establish several enviable commercial relationships in the year ahead. They will be with people who will be as concerned about advancing your hopes as you are with advancing theirs.

being yourself.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Others will be more receptive to your demands today if you appeal to their emotions. This will be especially true when dealing with people you've recently helped.

An arrangement that you deemed undesirable can be transformed into something far better today with mutual advantages for all concerned.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The time is now ripe to do a little negotiating with authority figures. This can improve an unsatisfactory condition at work that has had everyone in a dither.
