SENATE VOTES NEW MILLIONS TO AID RELIEF

Measure Embraces Almost $125,000,000 To Become Available Without Delay

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—New millions for immediate employment and drouth relief were voted by the Senate yesterday in passing the deficiency bill, carrying almost $125,000,000 to become available immediately.

Chairman Jones of the Senate Appropriations Committee estimated the funds would provide employment for more than 30,000 workers as soon as the legislation is enacted. The measure goes back to the House for approval of amendments.

Responding to an urgent plea by Senators Barkley of Kentucky, and Caraway of Arkansas, both Democrats, Senator Jones accepted an addition of $3,000,000 for medical supplies to be sent into the drouth areas.

The bill authorizing the medical aid fund was sponsored by Senator Holloman (D Ark.) and had been approved yesterday by the agriculture committee, but had not been passed. The deficiency bill carries $543,370 for employment of 130 additional prohibition agents. Senator Tydings (D Md.) in a severe attack upon prohibitionists.

Operating Fund For Prohibition Bureau Approved By House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The House today passed a bill to provide for the operating fund for the prohibition bureau for the next fiscal year.

In the Senate, an effort by Senator Tydings, Democrat of Maryland, an anti-prohibitionist, to strike from the deficiency appropriation bill a fund for additional prohibition agents failed without a record vote.

An increase from 1400 to 1900 prohibition agents was allowed by the House. It rejected a proposal to prevent use of funds for prosecution of dispensers of malt and wine-making ingredients.

The wet forces marshalled the most votes against the measure. They have in years past only succeeded in having eliminated a provision for $50,000 for dry propaganda postage. This was done on a point of order raised by Representative LaGuardia, Republican of New York.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Wilebrandt was assailed by Representative Clegg, Republican of Michigan, who asserted that she had used confidential informants and placed spies in Federal prisons.

LaGuardia defended Mrs. Wilebrandt on her price activities, charging she had eliminated spies and had stopped road houses where at which officials had spies. He opposed her when she was active.

Red Cross Official Sees Great Menace

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Edward Baxter, manager of the St. Louis branch of the Red Cross, said today that more than 500,000 people in Arkansas are dependent upon the Red Cross for relief.

Baxter said that the Red Cross had been given prior clothing and clothing needs, but that more clothing will be needed.

He said that the Red Cross has been back throughout the year in growing in popularity. Estimates have been made that in a few days after the first of the year, the Red Cross will have growing in popularity.

Drastic Changes In School System Of State To Be Asked

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Recommendations for drastic changes in the state school system will be made to the next legislature by the educational survey commission. L. E. Phillips, chairman, announced today. Dr. Phillips said the commission would recommend that county school boards be composed of five members instead of three, that special boards be created by the state to administer the primary and elementary school system, that county superintendents be appointed and not elected, that the one-mill tax, levied on real estate by the constitution, be removed by an amendment, that support of the schools be placed on the county and state, and that school tax districts be abolished for taxation purposes.

Winchester Arms Company Goes Into Hands Of Receiver

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Winchester Repeating Arms Company, of this city, finding according to a statement by the directors, that operations have become unmanageable by heavy interest and other charges during the current depression, was yesterday petitioned into receivership.

This company, one of the oldest firearms concerns in the country, has taken a leading part in the manufacture of weapons and munitions since the Civil War.

The company now employs about 2000 workers, operating shifts of three, four and five days per week.

The Winchester Repeating Arms Company, under that name, dates from 1856, when Oliver F. Winchester, former lieutenant governor of the state, invested extensive capital to merge a number of smaller concerns for the production of the repeating rifle, invented by a foreigner in a Connecticut arms factory two years previously. The repeating rifle had been supplied in small numbers to the Union troops in the Civil War.

The petition states that total assets are $4,543,373.33, and that total liabilities are $27,318,039.00.

PLAN OFFERED FOR CHECKING STOCK DEALS

Reserve Bank Head Describes "Boothleg Banking System" As Cause Of Trouble

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Voluntary control of what was termed a "boothleg banking system" was advocated before the Senate Banking Investigating Committee yesterday by George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, as a means of checking the flow of credit for stock speculation.

Harrison described the "boothleg" system as one under which individuals and corporations attracted by high rates on ready money, have banks loan money for them to brokers on stock exchange collateral.

Further Expressions Of Optimism Are Made Over Agreement On Bond Deal

The recent agreement arrived at by the City Commissioners and the members of the Bondholders' Protective Committee continues to draw the favor of local taxpayers, both large and small, another series of short interviews by a Herald reporter this morning reveals. All agree that the members of the Commission met a difficult problem in a firm and dignified way, with full intent to protect all interests, and that the terms of the agreement are, under the general circumstances, fair.

One of the persons interviewed expressed the opinion that taxpayers should ascertain the exact amount of tax they will have to pay before they spread the information that taxes are too high or exorbitant. "Don't worry about anyone else's taxes but your own," he said. "I was one of those who have been heard lately wailing about high taxes. Yesterday I went to the City Hall fully expecting to have to pay at least $125 on property I own here and found out that my actual taxes were only $76. That taught me a lesson. I think many of us could adopt and that is, be sure your facts and figures are right before you begin complaining. If this 16-point plan is carefully studied by every taxpayer, large or small, its merits and reasonableness will be apparent to all," he added.

George G. Herring, attorney, was one of the first interviewed today. He said: "Our Commissioners have made the best settlement they could under the circumstances, and they deserve great praise for the orderly manner in which they handled all the dealings. The feeling I have now is that we have a friendly workable relation with the Bondholders' Protective Committee, and that we can eventually work out a satisfactory solution. The Commissioners have demonstrated that they were able to handle a difficult situation, and that fact alone should inspire us with confidence in their future ability and dealings. I believe that they have shown more ability than any Commission this City has ever had, and that they are entitled to the wholehearted support of every citizen and taxpayer. We should use every effort to do our part for them."

L. A. Brumley, one of the larger taxpayers, said: "I think that we have secured the best terms that were possible under the circumstances. The 30 mill levy is a reasonable one and under it we should be able to operate the City with efficiency and safety. If that levy can be maintained for a few years, and I understand its future depends upon the action we taxpayers take this year under it, I believe that we will soon work out of our difficulty. It seems to me that we should take the advice of the bond attorneys and economize in every way. A little hard work is all we need to bring about a satisfactory and permanent basis upon which to prosper as we should, and I am in favor of making every effort to live up to our part of the agreement."

B. L. Perkins, local business man, said: "While the terms of this agreement may seem heavy just at this time, they are lighter than I expected we would be left off with. We are very fortunate, it seems to me, if it should help business almost at once, for we have now eliminated a long period of unrest and uncertainty. Our path is now clearly outlined, much to our ultimate advantage, it seems to me. We should stand back of our Commissioners to the limit. To them we owe a great debt for the business-like and efficient manner in which they handled the entire deal."

Henry McLaughlin, pioneer resident and owner of McLaulin's Jewelry, said: "We could hardly have expected a better deal than the one we got, nor a lower rate of millage than 30. If the people will only try to pay their taxes, if they will realize that it is a responsibility which must be met, we will work this matter out in a short time and in good shape. However, I do not think that the charter should be amended to allow a foreclosure on property until at least one year elapses. As for the Commissioners, their actions prove conclusively that they have the interests of the City at heart, and I am pleased with their sincere efforts. They deserve our support."

L. Y. Bryan, taxpayer and owner of Bryan's Sporting Goods Store said: "I am well pleased over the agreement, which has been reached. Both sides met on the spot terms they possibly could. If our people will only make a closer survey of the situation, and consider it from both sides, we can work out this matter quickly. In all our past troubles, even as individuals, we have found that the best policy when we are in a difficult situation, is to compromise instead of railing and bucking over an almost impossibility. I think business will soon be improved and it may be that real estate sales will pick up on the strength of the working basis we have now agreed upon. Our Commissioners certainly demonstrated that they are interested in our cause, and there is no reason to think that they would bind us in an agreement which they felt was a mistake of fulfillment. We should remember that they are taxpayers also and that they are working for their own interests as well as ours. I congratulate them."

Ram D. Hightshymen, of the White Hightshymen Co., says: "As last our long period of uncertainty is over. We should now move forward with a feeling of confidence. If everyone will make a strategic effort to pay taxes, this thing will be smoothed out and get across. The man's thing is that we get on a concrete basis and make a definite promise that for the next year we will be making up for as millage as we have been overpaid. We should be fair to ourselves. After all, it is our duty to pay our taxes."

Harrison described the "boothleg" system as one under which individuals and corporations attracted by high rates on ready money, have banks loan money for them to brokers on stock exchange collateral.

J. Herbert Case, chairman of the board of the New York Reserve Bank, said such loans rose from $1,500,000,000 to $5,500,000,000 in 1928 and since they were not bank funds it was difficult to control the speculation movement at that time.

Harrison said if the federal reserve re-discunt rate is to be an effective means of controlling credit for speculation something must be done to check these "loans for others." He preferred this to be brought about by agreement between New York banks and the stock exchange rather than by law.

Case told of demands on the part of the stock exchange for a 16-point plan is carefully studied by every taxpayer, large or small, its merits and reasonableness will be apparent to all," he added.

Hamper Of Lettuce Is Given To Herald

Through the generosity of T. E. Wilson, 1306 West Third Street, member of the fore of The Sanford Herald were this morning delivered a large hamper of fancy and well-headed iceberg lettuce which was cut from Mr. Wilson's one-acre field of lettuce.

Firm and rich in appearance the lettuce has a sweet taste which is in marked contrast to the ordinary variety. It was grown from California Special brand seed, Mr. Wilson said. The crop plans to harvest the entire crop within a few days.

Commenting upon the severe weather which has prevailed locally for the past few weeks, Mr. Wilson said in all his 14 years in Sanford he has not known weather conditions which compare with those of this year. "While my crop has not been damaged because of the weather, the severity of the conditions is astonishing to me. It is the worst I have ever known."

FAHO SWINDLE OF HUGE SUM IS UNEARTHED

Collector Of Internal Revenue Of Chicago Is Involved In Phoney Transaction

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A swindle in which Edward R. Litzinger, wealthy member of the board of review, lost $50,000 advanced in cash to Mrs. Myrtle Tanager Blackledge, collector of internal revenue of Chicago, became public yesterday with charges by Litzinger that the woman was to blame for the loss.

Mrs. Blackledge, admitting she had procured the money from Litzinger, related she had been billed of the borrowed cash, and paper winnings of $207,000 by three men in a faro game at a Springfield, Ill., hotel and averred that she was as much a victim of the swindlers as her political friend.

Litzinger declared in a statement that he knew nothing of any faro game, but had advanced the money to help her obtain $200,000 due from associates of her late husband in a confidential business.

Mrs. Blackledge asserted Litzinger knew she had won the large stakes in faro and was lending her the money to make good a cheque used as stakes in the game so she could collect her winnings.

Mrs. Blackledge was free today in Springfield after examination by the state's attorney while Litzinger is held in custody.

PLANE CIRCUS IS HUGE SUCCESS AT AVIATION FIELD

Thousands On Hand At Early Hour To See Educational Exhibit

Fully 2000 persons, many of them from cities within a 50-mile radius of Sanford, were lined along the Sanford aviation field this afternoon when the giant tri-motored Ford plane owned by the Monarch Food Corporation, and used as the advance ship of the second annual all-Florida air tour, made a graceful landing to be followed shortly after by a fleet of seven planes which were put into service at once carrying passengers.

The success of the entire proceedings seems assured in that every committee is functioning smoothly and the huge crowd, added to every minute, was kept busy in a smooth and speedy manner. A fleet of automobiles was on hand, and several of the pilots and passengers were making the air trip to the city for the night.

Planes will be in line waiting in inspection before being started down for the night. Plans flying, under the direction of Freddie Lane, (Continued On Page Six)

Beck Says Hoover's Dry Stand Imperils Election Chances

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Representative Beck of Pennsylvania said last night that President Hoover had imperiled the chances of his re-election by his recommendation on the Wickersham prohibition report.

Beck, a former assistant attorney general, issued a statement saying he had advised President Hoover against a declaration of belief in the Eighteenth Amendment during the 1928 campaign.

"That he should now, quite unnecessarily, reaffirm that declaration is disheartening to me," Beck added, "not only as a citizen who is earnestly striving to end the reign of corruption, hypocrisy and oppression, but as a Republican and as one who did his best to secure nomination and election of President Hoover and would like to see him serve a second term under more favorable conditions."

"By his uncompromising declaration the President may not have injured his prospects for a re-nomination, but in my judgment he has imperiled the chances of his re-election."

Because there are other issues, and because Beck saw a Democratic victory as "probably an irreparable calamity to the nation," the Pennsylvania said the "unfortunate contribution" to Democratic success "seems to me a misfortune to him, the Republican party and the nation."

In an analysis of the report, Beck concluded that it "has substantially advanced the day of our emancipation."

"Possibly the very diffidence of the commission's report, was to conceal the vitriol purpose to destroy the Eighteenth Amendment," Beck remarked, adding it was obvious the majority were of the opinion it was a "supreme infamy."

Bill On Medicinal Liquor Introduced

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A bill to remove restrictions on distribution of medicinal liquor by physicians as recommended by the Wickersham commission, introduced today in the Senate by Senator Copeland of New York, would be able to agree upon it.

The "issue of medicinal liquor is a medical profession," he said in recommending that history first of the commission was presented by physicians and the commission was divided the abolition of the requirement of special license for medicinal liquor, which the House had passed early yesterday of a hour's attack.

HOOVER MAKES RADIO APPEAL FOR RED CROSS

Coolidge And Al Smith Also Broadcast In Nationwide Hookup In Call For Charity

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—An appeal to suffering and want from the country was directed by President Hoover last night to "the heart of the nation."

The Chief Executive made his appeal over a nation-wide hookup of the National Broadcasting Company on a program urging contributions to the American Red Cross $10,000,000 drouth relief fund. Former President Calvin Coolidge, and Alfred E. Smith, joined Mr. Hoover in urging contributions.

"It is unthinkable," the President said, "that any of our people should be allowed to suffer from hunger or want. The heart of the nation will not permit it. It is the heart of the nation that I am appealing tonight. I urge all my fellow countrymen to contribute promptly and in accordance with their means."

The full text of the President's address follows: "The American Red Cross is a great voluntary organization created by the people themselves on whom the nation places reliance in time of need. For several months the Red Cross has been providing for those of our fellow citizens who have suffered from drouth and in accordance with their means."

Will Rogers, Frank Hawks Take Aerial Journey Of Mercy

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Frank Hawks and Will Rogers, who with Hawks were the first to fly over the Southwest "wise-cracking" his public out of money for the "home folks," went immediately to his hotel room here.

Last night he served as master of ceremonies in a nationwide broadcast for Red Cross relief funds.

The unique vaudeville team made the hop from Washington to about nine and a half hours.

Last night's hookup brought the voices of President Hoover, John Barton Payne at Washington, Calvin Coolidge at Northampton, Mass., Alfred E. Smith of New York, Amos 'n' Andy at Chicago, Mrs. Pickford at Los Angeles, and Rogers at Little Rock, in a nation-wide appeal to the country to support the Red Cross drive for $10,000,000 relief funds.

The benefit performance, which the team of Rogers and Hawks are billed to start at Austin, Texas, Monday and will take them through a score of cities in the Southwest, ending at Orleans, La. Feb. 15.

Until Sunday, Rogers will remain here

GATOR STATE IS CALLED MOST ECONOMIC IN U.S.

Alonzo Stagg Shows His Admiration For New "Florida Field"

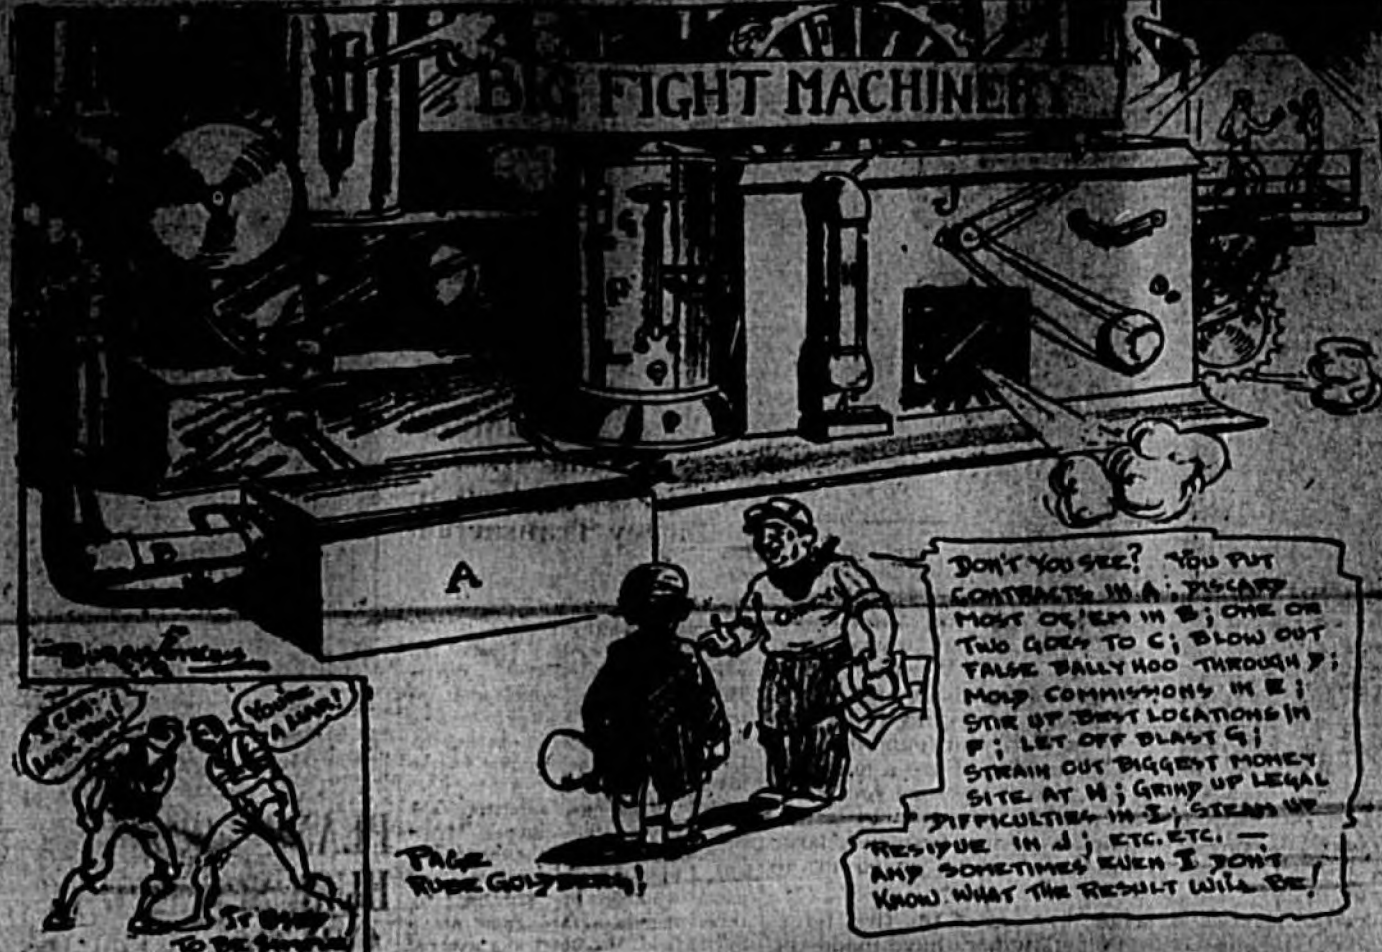

By FRANK B. WRIGHT
GAINESVILLE, Jan. 22.—Next Fall Yale will send its football team into the West for the first time in history. Not merely for "just another game" are the 300 to play the University of Chicago but to go west in a gesture of respect and commemoration of Alonzo A. Stagg for his four decades of able sportsmanship in the field of collegiate sport.

Last week "the grand old man of the mid-way" and his 21-year-old son Paul, a junior at Chicago and whose passing in the California-Florida game last October was above the average, made a brief visit to the University of Florida. Coach Charles Backman, who grew up within a few blocks of the University of Chicago, and who has known Stagg for many years, "wounded yards with the team of football" and then escorted the venerable John J. Tigert, whose gridiron days at Vanderbilt the first few years of the current century were played under Coach Kennedy, earlier a star pupil of Stagg's.

When Mr. Stagg expressed admiration of "Florida Field" and President Tigert countered with information that the new stadium had been built for $112,000, the 26-year-old Chicagoan was astounded. "Why that is the greatest bargain in a football stadium we have ever had in this country!" Commenting recently in a signed article in the Florida Alumni, Dr. Tigert pointed out that the Florida Stadium cost approximately $5 a seat, whereas the Notre Dame Stadium cost $12 a seat, Pittsburgh $30 a seat and Illinois $30.80 a seat. Florida rock, cement, cypress and other home materials were used in the construction of the stadium, and the fact, together with the knowledge that it is the Nation's "biggest bargain in a stadium" should cause all Floridians to feel a sterner pride than ever in the achievement at the university.

It has always been known that Jimmy Steele, who wound up the Gators last December, was an outstanding linebacker, but few any more in the country, if not the best. Jimmy Phelan, former Purdue member, now coaching at the University of Washington, wrote in most complimentary style of Steele in a letter yesterday to Coach Backman. Phelan coached the all-star team that played during the holidays on the Pacific Coast, and here is what he wrote to Back—"your boy Steele was the best lineman I had in Los Angeles, and the only one who knew how to pull out of a line." Coming from Phelan that tribute to Steele is a weighty and significant one and reveals clearly the football Jimmy played and the coaching that made such notable play possible.

NEW GOLF BALL GIVEN BOOST BY HEAD OF U. S. G. A.

Herbert Ramsay Says Larger Sphere Will Soon Be Acceptable

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—From the window on the twenty-third floor, we could see the sheet beating down on the empty park on the chimneys of mid-town Manhattan. Cold, miserable weather without but within the discussion turned to golf, the warmth of talk about playing under the palms and the new ball.

"What's all the shooting for about this new ball?" inquired stony, general and practical-minded Herbert Hartley Ramsay, one-time captain of the Andover golf team, one-time manager of the Yale football team, now president of the United States Golf Association.

He referred to the new, lighter and larger golf ball, standardized this year by the U. S. G. A.—the sphere that is 1.58 ounces in weight, 1.68 inches in diameter as contrasted with the old regulation ball measuring 1.62 inches and weighing 1.62 ounces. It is now in general tournament use but old John Duffer suddenly has discovered it is a nuisance and squawked—just as though a surprise package of explosions had been delivered to him.

"Somehow or other," continued Ramsay, "many golfers have the idea this new ball has just been brought out as a trick to make things harder for them. I hear complaints that it cuts off too much distance. I hear it won't putt and does tricks."

"The fact is that the new golf ball adopted by the U. S. G. A. is the result of nearly seven years of exhaustive disinterested study and development. It has been proved under any and all conditions to be practical, and especially beneficial to the ordinary golfer."

"It does not handicap the long or the medium or the short hitter. It gives better flex through the fairway. It is, on the whole, easier to handle around the greens."

"Over a year ago, we decided to adopt the new ball, anyway, but serve a year's notice so as to allow sufficient time for the manufacturers to make the switch."

"I feel sure that complaints will vanish as soon as the great army of the golfing club gets to know and appreciate the new ball. It won't cure a hook or slice or do anything miraculous. It still will be necessary to hit the ball properly to get results but the new also will be found to have many advantages over the old."

"The problem remains of adjusting the existing differences with the Royal and Ancient Club, the governing body of British golf, which has not accepted the new specifications. It will be solved, but for the time being it will be a case of doing as the Romans do, when in Rome or England or America."

Life Of Dry Law Now In Hands Of Supreme Court

Bacon, New York attorneys, maintained it was mandatory that a proposed constitutional amendment subjecting individual rights to federal control be ratified by state conventions.

The small court room was crowded with spectators. Many members of Congress were present. A long line waited outside the court to see the proceedings.

Only once throughout the entire argument did a member of the court interrupt to ask a question. It is customary for the judges to question counsel freely.

At the outset of the session, Chief Justice Hughes withdrew from the case. He said he had submitted a brief when prohibition was before the court a decade ago and felt this "disqualified him."

Thacher's argument was based upon a contention that article V of the constitution clearly had given Congress authority to determine the manner in which amendments should be ratified, whether by legislature or convention.

He insisted the court by repeated decision, especially in the national prohibition cases of 1920, had already decided the discretion of Congress in this particular could not be limited or abridged by interpretations of the intentions of the authors of the Constitution.

Cohen and Bacon argued the liberties of the people were at stake and that if legislatures could legally abrogate their constitutional rights, then the government would degenerate into a despotic oligarchy.

They made frequent reference to the opinions of John Marshall, famed chief justice of the early days of the republic, and to the writings of James Madison who had an important share in framing the constitution.

The court came from Associate Justice Sutherland. He inquired of Bacon whether it was contended the Eighteenth Amendment to be valid must be submitted direct to the people.

Bacon's reply was it should have gone to state conventions. When the Constitution was written, he said, the people were not "thinkers of referendum."

Solicitor General Thacher used but half an hour of the two-hour period assigned to him, and declined to present additional argument after Cohen and Bacon had finished. Their arguments consumed their entire two hours.

Seminole High Five Beats Landon Team By 24 to 16 Score

Coach Leonard McLucas' Seminole High basketball outfit took advantage of the inability of Captain Ross and his Julia Landon High school quintet of Jacksonville, to agree with Referee Eddie Lawson, and while the visitors argued, racked up a total of 24 points to win their third game of the season by a score of 24 to 16.

The game was well attended, but was slow from start to finish. Continued wrangling, and heavy fouls by the Landon men made it the dullest game of the season. For Sanford, Britt and Jackson were outstanding, while Alvarez and Johnson were the most consistent players.

The line-up:
Sanford Pua Landon Johnson
Kilaw rf Johnson
Britt c Alvarez
Lindsay lf Ross
Jackson rg Barker
Moore lg Moore

Labor Government In Britain Is Defeated

LONDON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald's labor government was defeated by 23 votes in a division on the controversial Education bill in the House of Commons last night, but some hours later carried the bill victoriously through its third reading by 236 votes against 23—a governmental majority of 12.

Now the measure goes to the House of Lords.

The defeat had no immediate effect on the government's policy in the House of Commons, but it was a bitter blow to the government's popularity.

The government's majority was reduced to a mere 12 votes, a situation that is highly precarious.

The government's position is now very uncertain.

STAGUE, Jan. 22. (AP)—Anna Pavlova, considered the greatest ballerina, died this morning after a three-day illness with influenza and pneumonia.

She died only eight days of illness. The dancer fell ill after she arrived here from Paris, suffering from influenza and pneumonia.

The death of the dancer was announced by her manager, Vladimir Nemkine, whom she married in 1908.

Pavlova visited the United States several times and made a tour in 1924. Last year, however, she announced she was returning this year to New York and 75 other cities.

At the age of 10, Mme. Pavlova was developed to the profession of ballet.

She prepared the ballet school at St. Petersburg, and in time became the prima ballerina of the Mariinski theater, to which school was attached.

Presided by a glamorous reputation, she had gone from the Imperial theater to the Imperial opera house in St. Petersburg — where she came out of Russia in 1904.

It was that year she made her triumphant London debut, in the opera "Les Pêcheurs" and "Les Caprices" which forecast long and brilliant career.

EDISON REFUSES TO MEET FRIENDS UNTIL HE RESTS

Aged Inventor Is Too Tired To Make Usual Tour Of Estate

The 83-year-old inventor's work went on just the same, however, although he was not at his laboratory to see the assembly and test the operation of a miniature distilling machine he created for an attempt to produce rubber from goldenrod stalks and flowers.

Mr. Edison consented to see no one and even some of his employees on his flower and palm dotted estate, Seminole Lodge, were still waiting today for a chance to greet him. Mr. Edison likewise was in no mood to see his wife, who is in the hospital, or his daughter, who is in the hospital.

This year, his laboratory and a half acre of goldenrod are being guarded more carefully against visits of the curious than in previous years.

With a new crop of the weed, known scientifically as solidago leavenworthii, being raised for further rubber experiments, the rubber machine of the creative genius was set up for trial yesterday. It is an improvement over the one he used last year. It is a miniature distilling plant brought here recently from his Llewellyn Park, N. J., laboratory and is an intricate combination of boilers, compression pumps, test tubes and retorts.

Fred Ott, mechanical superintendent, and J. F. Prince, chemist, supervised assembly of the machinery. Long stalks of goldenrod are fed into a maw, where they are stripped and chopped by knives before being forced by compression into the first of the tanks. The pulp then is submitted to a chemical process in each of seven succeeding tanks. Laboratory attendants said the mass of semi-liquid that results is expected to contain a large percentage of crude rubber.

Chemists, a glass blower and a field crew to cultivate and harvest the goldenrod crop were on the job yesterday activities carried on in the North last summer and fall. They expect to continue working at the high rate of speed Mr. Edison has insisted on during the last year of his rubber research, in order to conclude the experiments at the earliest possible date.

The area affected is roughly limited to the states bordering upon the Potomac, Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, with limited acute areas in some southwestern and northwestern States. The people in this area lost a large part of their crops; and many thousands are even short of food supplies.

"The Red Cross now appeals for $10,000,000 of additional funds in order that that essential task may be adequately performed. There is no question but that there are needs in this country that any of our people should be allowed to suffer from hunger or want. The heart of the Nation will not permit it to be the heart of the nation that I am appealing tonight.

"I urge all of my fellow countrymen to contribute promptly and in accordance with their means. It is a call to citizenship and to generosity in time of trial but it is a call for protection to our greatest American institution of charity and above all a call on behalf of those in need.

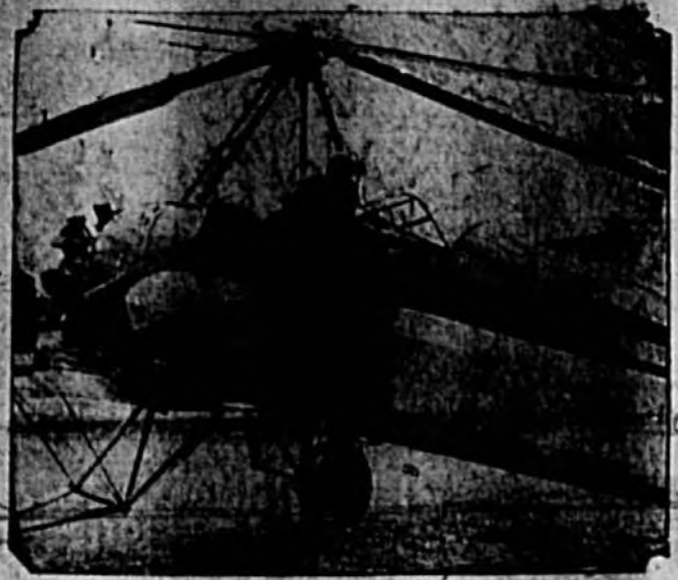

"I want to take this occasion to thank the thousands of devoted members of the Red Cross throughout the land who in the drought stricken areas are devoting their time and effort to the relief of suffering and in the other parts of the country to providing the means of doing so. In the face of calamity let us unite in a common effort to drive suffering and want from our country. There can be no higher duty, to the call of that duty the nation will respond."

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge told the American people to remember that charity begins at home in a radio speech last night. He spoke from his Northampton home over a national hook-up in the interests of the $10,000,000 Red Cross drive to lend a hand to the victims of economic depression.

"The generosity of the American people in the past has sent charitable relief into every quarter of the globe," former President Coolidge said. "There is scarcely a nation that has not benefited from it. With such a record it cannot be that the appeal of the American Red Cross for money to relieve the misery of our own people will fail to meet the necessary response."

"A slow moving catastrophe has overtaken the American people, he said, a catastrophe that lacks the dramatic elements of a tornado or an earthquake, but leaves human misery in its trail which is just as great.

well known agency for distributing charitable relief in such emergencies. It is the American Red Cross. With long experience, a highly trained organization and a record for achievement it decidedly holds a high place in the public confidence. The one thing it now requires is money. The call is for $10,000,000. That is a large sum but this is a rich country and the human suffering to be relieved is great. If each motor vehicle in the country should contribute about 40 cents the entire amount would be subscribed.

"This is not a time when excuses can take the place of money. Everyone knows trade is depressed, losses have been met, and some incomes reduced. We all have demands of local charity. But the suffering for which this appeal is made is such that it comes down to a bare proposal in the name of humanity that those who have something shall share it with those who have nothing. Those who have must give and give without delay."

Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, President Hoover, Will Rogers and others also spoke for the Red Cross drive.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—With the resumption of trading between the majors and the International League, the New York Yankees sent one pitcher to Jersey City and received another from there. Bob Walsh, son of the famous Ed Walsh, was sent to the Skeeters on option in order to give him more seasoning. John Allen, speed ball artist, was bought from Jersey City Wednesday. The Yanks also signed Hayden Fouts, semi-pro catcher from Ashland, Ohio, who was recommended by pitcher Ed Wells.

Series Of Crimes Is Visited On Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A 19-year-old girl was chloroformed and robbed, two stores were entered and a man held up in a series of crimes here Wednesday night.

Miss Frances Guillot, student, returning from a dance, was seized as she started to enter her home, a sack was thrown over her head and chloroform poured into the cloth. She was other wise unharmed, but her pocketbook was stolen. Her brother found her when he came home.

A cafe was entered by robbers who wrecked the cash register, damaged a safe and took a small amount of merchandise.

Fifty dollars was stolen from the cash drawer of an automobile rental agency and Sam Magraw reported a man slugged and robbed him of $24.

What The Press Thinks

A study of Florida newspaper comments on the report of the Wickersham Crime Commission reveals almost as many divergent opinions as the report itself contained.

A majority of the papers seem to feel that the report was a complete straddle. The DeLand Sun News, for instance, declares: "It will please those who are called 'wets' and those who are called 'drys' because it is 'elastic'."

The Tampa Tribune condemns the report even more thoroughly. It is worse than nothing in the mind of the Tribune editor who begins a lengthy lashing of the Wickersham commission in the following manner: "The Wickersham Commission spent 18 months and a half-million dollars—and gives us 286 pages of an indeterminate recital of the views of its individual members."

Others take a decidedly different view, and see in the report the beginning of a final solution. The Bradenton Herald is very lenient in its criticisms and merely expresses when it says: "The Herald was deeply impressed with two features of the report, the fact that its members took definite positions and the absence of radicalism in the views expressed."

The Pensacola Journal goes even further and seems to feel that the report was a decided victory for the wets. "The Wickersham report, submitted to President Hoover after 18 months supposedly given to studying prohibition conditions, will be interpreted by most observers as a blow to the dry law," the Journal declares.

The Miami News believes that the deliberations of the Commission have been worthwhile and that perhaps out of the perplexing report may come some final solution of the prohibition problem. "The confusing general report, we presume, allows this although the individual expressions of his commissioners do not," says the News.

Public Opinion Vs. Billboards

The campaign which the various women's organizations throughout the country, particularly the Garden Clubs, have been waging against billboards and billboard advertising is rapidly producing excellent results.

"Public opinion, false tallman of so many misguided movements for reform," writes William Ullman in the Times-Union, "seems destined finally to live up to its promise in connection with the endless drive against billboards along the Nation's highways."

WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

In the crypt of St. Peter's Basilica in Rome, which is really the old church built by Constantine the Great, we stopped suddenly a moment to see the grave of Cardinal Merry del Val and his friend Pope Pius X. They lay side by side within a few feet of the grave of Charles III and Henry IX, kings of England, who never saw each other.

It is safe to assume that the visitor in this crypt is very close to the place of St. Peter's execution and the graves of the early popes cluster around that of their great predecessor—the high priest existing at a symbol.

Here also is the sealed-up cave which was last opened in 1894 when the floor of the crypt was being leveled. The workmen engaged at the time suddenly felt the floor give way and beheld what nobody had beheld for centuries—the grave of St. Peter, and upon it the golden cross given by Constantine the Great.

Alice White Portrays New Role At Milane

Alice White deserts the ranks of the cinema Woolworth heroines and switchboard operators long enough to prove that she can be equally convincing as one of those spoiled and headstrong daughters of wealth whose antics always make amusing pictures. The sight of pretty young women being unconventional for the sake of a thrill seems always to have audience appeal.

Alice has just that in "Naughty Girl," now new First National picture which opens at the Milane Theatre tonight.

Her role is that of Kay Elliott, a wealthy debutante who has both the money and leisure to indulge her every whim. Men in general see her particular hobby until she meets a young attorney who doesn't reciprocate her interest. She then embarks upon a series of escapades with the avowed purpose of steering her attorney to the altar. Of course she succeeds and her method of doing it makes one of the most entertaining White films in months.
