

County to hire construction consultant

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County Commissioners unanimously approved hiring an Owner's Representative to oversee the construction phase of the New Seminole County Criminal Justice Center and renovation work at the existing Courthouse.

February 13th's 5-0 vote followed lengthy discussion as to how the Request for Qualifications (RFQ) contract should be designed to address issues including defining the scope of services, holding down additional costs and protecting the County's interests.

Owner's rep will oversee all phases of Justice Center, courthouse projects

The Owner's Representative will provide professional construction management services during the design and construction of the Seminole County Courthouse Expansion Project.

During the pre-construction phase of the facility the Owner's Representative could be required to assist in the implementation of design, scheduling, value engineering, and development of the Guaranteed Maximum Price.

During the Construction Phase the Owner's Representative would be responsible for a host of activities including on-site construction oversight, daily quality control, building department inspections, approval of materials and equipment among others.

County Manager Kevin Grace said the $40 million construction project for the new Criminal Justice Center, to be located near Bush Boulevard, and Courthouse renovations are expected to take approximately 18 months to complete once ground is broken. He anticipates ground breaking to take place during the first quarter of 2002.

"The cost of hiring an Owner's Representative normally runs between one-and-a-half to four percent of total construction costs," said Grace. "The county will negotiate the final figure."

Commissioner Carlton Henley did express some concerns about the county having to outsource the Owner's Eight reserve deputies, a forensic artist and a Florida Crossing Guard trainer were honored Friday morning, in a special ceremony during the Sheriff's Forum, held at the Seminole County Sheriff's office.

In the first ceremony, Sheriff Don Eslinger honored Linda Moss, who has been selected as the Florida Crossing Guard Trainer of the Year.

According to the proclamation, every school day, Linda Moss puts in many hours to make sure Seminole County children get to and from school safely. She is in charge of all crossing guards in Seminole County, including hiring, training, and making sure the school crossings are staffed.

Sheriff Eslinger also recognized eight reserve deputies at the Sheriff's Forum for their "outstanding service to law enforcement and the community."

The eight were identified as Raymond Adragna, Richard Laese, Frederick Pearl, David Biggs, Edward Schierholzer, Maurice Segali, William Wrightman and David Showalter.

The forensic artist is Anne Coy of the sheriff's Technical Services Section. She has been trained specifically in human skull reconstruction.

The specific award is connected to a case involving members of a Wisconsin family reported missing on July 4, 1998. A man, his wife and 21-year-old son disappeared without a trace. In late 1999, human remains were found in North Carolina. North Carolina authorities had heard about Anne's talents and sought her to reconstruct a skull. A photo of her work was published and an FBI agent was able to identify a person who has subsequently been arrested in connection with the case.

Rabies outbreak on the rise

County issues 60-day alert after four area animals test positive

By Michelle Jerla
Managing Editor

The Seminole County Health Department has extended a countywide rabies alert for the next 60 days due to the unusually high number of rabid animals found in a short period of time.

Four animals have tested positive for rabies in various areas of Seminole County since Jan. 14, said Elizabeth Rainhart, an epidemiologist for the Seminole County Health Department. Raccoons in Fern Park and Lake Mary, a fox in Sanford and a horse in Winter Park all tested positive for the virus.

"We posted the alert basically to heighten the general public's awareness of the situation," Rainhart said. "We want people to be careful about things they should already be careful about."

Safety measures include vaccinating all dogs, cats and ferrets against rabies by a licensed veterinarian, keeping pets under leash control or in a fenced setting when outdoors, not feeding animals outside and keeping property free from garbage. If trash must be stored outside at night, it should be put in a sturdy, tightly closed container so wildlife is not attracted to it.

People should not keep any wild animals as pets or interact with strange or sick domestic animals — including stray cats and dogs — livestock or wild animals. Individuals should never adopt wild animals or bring them inside their homes.

"Vaccination is the biggest thing," Seminole County Manager of Animal Services Mike Wittmer said. "Animals that have been inoculated have a better chance."

Although animals that have received rabies vaccinations are not 100 percent immune to the virus, regular inoculations increase the animal's immune system, Wittmer said. A 4-year-old dog that has received vaccinations on a regular basis has a better chance against the virus than David Sumner, field supervisor for Seminole County Animal Control, captures a dog that was running loose on Garrison Drive. According to Sumner the dog had bitten a child before it was caged. The dog is quarantined until Animal Control officials can determine if it has rabies. Pet owners are advised not to let their animals run loose because it not only violates local leash laws, but pets run the risk of being attacked by other rabid animals.

a younger dog or a dog who has not received regular vaccinations. "And don't let your animals run at large," Wittmer said. "This is a big problem."

Leaving food outside or making it accessible to wildlife is also a problem among pet owners, Wittmer said. And, doggy doors are not a good idea. "There was a case of an elderly lady

Lessard, Kuhn lead candidates in fund raising for city election

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Sanford mayoral candidate Brady Lessard and District 1 city commission hopeful Linda Kuhn lead four other candidates in building campaign war chests for the municipal election March 6.

Initial Campaign Treasurer's Reports filed with the City Clerk February 16 indicate Lessard has raised a total of $25,625 in money and in-kind donations in the Mayor's race while Kuhn has raised $10,025 to date.

Lessard's support dwarfs the combined fund raising of three other candidates in the Mayor's contest.

Political newcomer Bates Reed filed a report indicating he has $623 in total monetary contributions to date; Dean Ray reports $1,175; while former city commissioner Kerry Lyons reports $1,700 in total monetary contributions to date.

Kuhn's opponent in the District 1 Commission race, Art Woodruff, reports $6,345 in total monetary contributions to date.

The initial treasurer's reports reflect campaign funds raised through Feb. 9. Candidates must submit an updated report on March 2 and a final report following the election. By state

Lake Mary supports $2 rental car tax

By Michelle Jerla
Managing Editor

LAKE MARY — Following a debate of opposing opinions Thursday, three of the four members of City Commission approved a resolution to support a transportation funding initiative proposed by MetroPlan Orlando.

The commissioner's gave their stamp of approval to MetroPlan's proposal calling for a local option surcharge of up to $2 per day on rental cars that would provide funding for the design, acquisition and construction of transportation improvements. The resolution was prepared at the request of the Seminole County Board of County Commissioners.

According to County Commission Chairman Dick Van Der Weide, the first regional funding initiative to address the region's transportation needs could yield between $40 and $60 million annually. Currently, the Central Florida regions gets only 20 percent of surcharge money generated by local car rentals, while the remaining 80 percent goes into a larger state-wide transportation fund — even though Orlando is the world's largest car rental market. MetroPlan Orlando, a consortium of 19 elected and appointed representatives of Orange, Seminole and Oseola counties established to address the area's transportation needs, is currently lobbying for sup-

Lake Mary voters choose Jernigan

Community activist scores win in first race

LAKE MARY — With a majority of the votes, Janet Jernigan won the city's special election Tuesday for City Commission.

Defeating David Hoppen, Jernigan received 365 votes, well ahead of her opponent's 160 votes.

Even though City Clerk Carol Foster said a steady stream of voters came to City Hall Tuesday, voter turnout was low at 7.83 percent, with only 525 of the 6,707 registered voters heading to the polls or returning absentee ballots.

The special election was announced in December following former Deputy Mayor Al Crump's announcement he was retiring from Commission Seat 4 at the end of the year. Crump moved from Lake Mary after accepting a job in Dallas, Texas.

Jernigan, a 15-year resident of Lake Mary, is a member of the city's Planning and Zoning Board and serves on the Downtown Development Association. She is also the current president of the Lake Mary Historical Society.

Jernigan will be sworn in as city commissioner on Thursday, March 1, before the regular Commission meeting.

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

One more lesson in American history

When I was in elementary school in Michigan, one of our classes was on Michigan history. We not only had to memorize the names of all 83 counties, but study a book about the state's history. In the book, a salesman visited officials in every county seat and took his son along, who learned of each county's history. It was well written for seventh and eighth graders. I still have the book.

Nick Pfeiffauf

But I wonder if any such book is being studied in Florida schools. Is it because so many youngsters have moved here from out of state and couldn't care less about Florida history? At the present time, our population (1999) was listed as 15,111,244, an increase of 16.8 percent in the past 10 years. We are in one of the fastest growing states. Tomorrow, Feb. 22, is the anniversary of when Florida was acquired by the United States. Our nation bought it from Spain. U.S. citizens had filed a total of $5 million in claims against Spain, and the purchase was agreed upon after the United States agreed to pay off the claims. The purchase was arranged by John Quincy Adams, who was, at that time, secretary of state under President James Monroe.

Did you know? "Florida" was named by Ponce de Leon. It was called "Pascua Florida" or Flowery Easter. History says he gave it the name on Easter Sunday in 1513.

Although tomorrow is the anniversary of the Florida purchase, it didn't become a state until March 3, 1845, 26 years later.

Florida contains 53,937 square miles of land and 5,991 square miles of water for a total of 59,928 square miles of territory.

While we in the Sanford area consider ourselves in "Central Florida" the actual geographical center of the state is much further west of us, because of the shape of the state going west on the panhandle and down into the Keys. The actual geographic center is the city of Hernando, 12 miles north north-west of Brooksville. As the crow flies, it's slightly over 80 miles west south-west of Sanford, and not far from the Gulf of Mexico (and over the highways, it's considerably further).

I don't know how long one has to live in Florida to become a true Floridian. I have been here almost 50 years and consider myself a Floridian. I have long since left the snow, cold and smoke (from auto plants) in Michigan. This is my home!

It has been said you can recognize newcomers because all they do is compare Florida to what it was like back home - they compare weather, our lack of mountains, cost of housing, lower wages, lack of seasons when the leaves turn colors, and many other comparisons. But I must admit, just like they do, when I visit relatives in Michigan, I have a tendency to compare the states just like our Florida tourists do. "It's warmer back home, the sky is blue back home," and other comments. But we moved here. We selected Florida - mostly of our own free will, and as such, I believe each of us should at least inform ourselves of the great and glorious history we have.

Let's celebrate the purchase of Florida by the United States, 182 years ago tomorrow (Feb. 22). And if you stop by the library, take the opportunity to examine some books about Florida history. You may be amazed about what can be learned.

Surviving 'Survivor'

Like most people, I've watched a few of those reality shows on television in which they stick people on an island or in a house somewhere and don't give them anything - not even privacy. I wonder how many of us would watch if we thought the people on the show could see us. Not many.

It's way more fun to be lurking unseen in the bushes. But I must admit that the concept of getting to see somebody off the island got me thinking. What if families could do that? As soon as the kids reached voting age, the family would have a meeting and decide who has to go. Whatever the majority says, that's the law.

Wouldn't that kind of threat give us better kids? And better parents? And I think the family should also be able to decide that nobody has to go. As long as the vote is unanimous. Then you'd know you have a solid family.

On the other hand, if somebody does get kicked out of the family, they'd still have a place to go: "The Jerry Springer Show."

A Hard Reign's Gonna Fall
I know complaining about the government is the second-most popular indoor sport, but I have a different perspective. I think the government is us. The people we elect are a reflection of the opinions and attitudes of the majority. Even if somebody completely useless gets elected, that says more about voter apathy than it does about candidate incompetence.

Being a baby boomer, I know I'm in the majority group and have seen the government change and adapt its policies to try to keep us boomers happy. And now that we're sliding down that big hill into old age and senility, I'm getting a little worried about what the government's going to do.

Over the next 20 years, we're going to see the most conservative, crabby government in our history. Ninety percent of the legislation will be to increase old-age security and medical care. There will probably be commissions set up to complain about the weather. This government is not going to be in a good mood. We've got some crotchety, self-righteous times ahead of us. You young people might want to think about that before you go ahead with the nose ring and tattoo.

Good Sports

I like sports, but there's always room for improvement. So here are a few ways to make good sports better:

- Football — The penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct should be that the player has to finish the game without wearing pads.
- Baseball — No more outfielders reaching over the fence and nullifying a home run. There should be an invisible wall of lasers extending straight up from the fence so that any ball that goes over it would be instantly vaporized. This would also curb fan interference.
- Hockey — Rubber sticks.
- Skiing — Reduce injuries by removing lifts. Whatever can't go up, can't go down.
- Bowling — Replace bowling pins with glass figurines of people you don't like. It sounds good and would feel even better.
- Golf — Cancel it as a sport. Make it an exercise in anger management.

Right or wrong Misteaching the rule of law

A full-page ad in the New York Times — signed by 585 law professors at 115 American law schools — joined Jesse Jackson in declaring that George W. Bush is an illegitimate president because the U.S. Supreme Court was guilty, the ad read, of "Stopping the Vote Count in Florida."

This horde of independent academic minds makes me wonder about the quality of teaching in many of our law schools. The incensed law professors accuse the Supreme Court, for instance, of "suppressing the facts to make the Bush government seem more legitimate."

And on Feb. 4, Jeffrey Rosen — a professor at the George Washington University law school, legal affairs editor of The New Republic, and a frequent television commentator — chimed in, accusing the majority of the court in Bush v. Gore of "greatly damaging the Court's reputation" in the 5-4 vote. What, then, are the actual facts — and Supreme Court precedents — that the 585 law professors themselves suppressed in their ad, and that professor Rosen chooses to overlook?

First, there were two parts to Bush v. Gore. In the first part, seven — not five — justices found a constitutional violation of "equal protection of the laws" in the chaos of Florida's presidential election.

One of those seven justices was David Souter. He joined the four-justice minority in saying that the recount should continue. Nonetheless, he wrote the following about the remarkably different standards used for counting votes in Florida: "I can conceive of no legitimate state interest served by these differing treatments of the expressions of voters' fundamental rights. The differences appear wholly arbitrary."

The Supreme Court's Bush v. Gore decision came down on Dec. 12. Even if the Court had allowed further ballot counting under uniform standards, the absolute deadline would have been Dec. 18, as set by Congress — the date when the presidential elections were to give their votes on "the same day throughout the United States."

Stuart Taylor, a former Supreme Court reporter for The New York Times, pointed out in the National Journal that this is what would have had to take place between Dec. 12 and Dec. 18: The Florida courts would have had "to hear testimony and opposing arguments before setting a uniform statewide Chad-counting standard. Then the vote counters would have had to inspect the condition of the more than 60,000 undervote ballots while allowing time for attorneys for Bush and Gore to record objections."

Then there would have had to have been time for "ballot-by-ballot judicial review and the inevitable appeals up to the Supreme Court. It would have left no time to inspect the more than 100,000 so-called overvotes (let alone the rest of the state's 6 million ballots)."

Furthermore, considering how many of the disputed ballots had already been handled and rehandled, how many of them would have been degraded by then?

In addition, the 585 law professors and professor Rosen neglected to mention that in the historic one-man one-vote decision (Reynolds v. Sims), the Supreme Court of the United States underlined the 14th Amendment's guarantee of "equal protection of the laws" as being basic to our fundamental right to vote.

And in Anderson v. Celebrezze (1983), the Supreme Court ruled that a state's election law must be nondiscriminatory with regard to both state and federal offices. That means equal protection of the laws. Writing for the court, John Paul Stevens — a bitter dissenter in Bush v. Gore — stated: "The State has a less important interest in regulating statewide or local elections than in presidential elections" because "the president and vice-president are the only elected officials who represent all the voters in the nation."

In his accusatory New York Times article, professor Jeffrey Rosen — who was almost hysterically indignant on National Public Radio the day the decision in Bush v. Gore was handed down — charged that "the one branch of national government that still commanded respect in a fractious society is now as weakened and discredited as the others."

He also wrote, unwittingly describing himself and the 585 law professors, that "once you take a side in a polarized situation, you are likely to feel increasingly committed to it, even if the legal arguments on behalf of your opinion turn out not to be very convincing."

And the professor quoted William Jefferson Clinton as an authority on Bush v. Gore: "That was one of the worst Supreme Court decisions in my lifetime," Clinton told him, "and one of the five worst decisions of all time."

Now that is a most impressive, dispassionate, scholarly analysis to be cited by law professor Rosen. How come the 585 other law professors left the famously credible Mr. Clinton out of their advertisement?

Your View

Hossfield responds to mayor's letter

Editor's Note: The following is a letter sent to Sanford Mayor Larry Dale on Feb. 13. A copy was also sent to the Herald as a Letter to the Editor.

Dear Mayor Dale:

Thank you for your letter of Jan. 2, 2001 responding to the Central Florida Sierra Club's concerns about the City of Sanford's proposal to turn over Fort Mellon Park for commercial development. Your letter includes several interesting comments that merit our response.

The Sierra Club of course commends the City for maintaining and improving its open spaces, as well as for its efforts to improve its stormwater and sanitary sewer systems. However, we feel compelled to point out these are citywide projects that are unrelated to Fort Mellon Park. The Fort Mellon project must be considered on its own merits, and the Sierra Club reserves the right to oppose this project while favoring other city initiatives. In view of your comment that I have not attended public meetings on the Fort Mellon project, let me point out that other members of the Sierra Club and allied organizations have attended meetings and researched the Fort Mellon redevelopment plan, Fishkind Report, Seminole County Convention Center Feasibility Study and other documents before the Central Florida Group took action to oppose this project.

I note your statement that "if a hotel is not for people, who is it for?" I can only respond by saying that a hotel is "for people" in the same sense that a Super Wal-mart is "for people" — both are commercial businesses intended to attract customers. By this logic, the Super Wal-mart would probably attract more people and thus be "more public" than the hotel.

Finally, I find your comparison of the Fort Mellon project to the Scenic Hudson waterfront development project to be particularly interesting. The Scenic Hudson project is a fine example of an environmental organization which took ownership of waterfront property in order to insure that the site would be developed at the cutting edge of environmental protection and sustainable design. I can assure you that if the city of Sanford wishes to turn the Fort Mellon property over to local environmental organizations, the Sierra Club will work with other like-minded groups to ensure that all future development at Fort Mellon Park will be a model of sustainability and environmental responsibility.

Growth Management Chair

Is there really a global warming crisis?

I don't get it. I've been informed, repeatedly, that the scientific evidence of global warming is indisputable. And that no less indisputable is the evidence that this calamitous climate trend has been precipitated by human consumption of fossil fuels, which has increased atmospheric levels of carbon dioxide.

Yet, hardly a fortnight passes, it seems, without some revelation that appears to this non-scientist to contradict the prevailing wisdom on global warming, that suggests to this skeptic that proposals to tax or regulate American families and business into lower energy use — as some government scientists advocated back in November — are unjustified.

Consider the recent report by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's National Climate Data Center. It notes that in 2000 the United States experienced its coldest November and December on record, with an average national temperature of 33.8 degrees Fahrenheit.

If, as we've been warned, we are in the midst of a man-made planetary warming trend, and if, as certain scientists have claimed, the past 10 years have been the hottest on record, we certainly wouldn't expect to see record cold temperatures in this country for the last two months of last year.

And this is not the only recent report that casts serious doubt upon the global warming orthodoxy.

In November, scientists at Armagh Observatory in Ireland said that an analysis of climate records, culled from weather observations made almost daily since 1795, indicates that the sun has been the main contributor to global warming over the past two centuries (NOT human consumption of fossil fuels).

In December, a top Canadian scientist who has tracked global temperatures and greenhouse gases as far back as 500 million years, arrived at the same conclusion as the scientists at Armagh.

Carbon dioxide has been oversold as the chief cause of climate change, said Jan Veizer, selected by Canadian government science officials to study global warming. He attributes warming to fluctuations in the sun's intensity and other natural, rather than man-made, factors.

"I don't want to jeopardize the environmental agenda," he said last month. "But it's better to be honest."

Nevertheless, the global warming faithful will find a way to discount the contradictory research of Veizer and the Armagh scientists. They will gin up some explanation for the record cold temperatures recorded here in this country in November and December. For that is their standard defense when confronted with evidence, with research, that is inconsistent with the global warming gospel.

That's what happened in 1999 when the Climate Prediction Center, another division of the NOAA, reported that the continental United States actually got cooler, rather than warmer, over the past third of a century.

That's what happened when

Scripps Institution of Oceanography examined Antarctic ice core samples from the last three glacial cycles (the transitional periods between ice age and planetary warming) and discovered increases in atmospheric levels of carbon dioxide were actually preceded by rises in planetary temperature. According to global warming theory, the opposite should have occurred. There should have been a rise in carbon dioxide levels followed by a rise in global temperatures.

It is increasingly clear that there is no global warming "crisis." That, to the extent that planetary temperatures have increased, human activity has had little to do with it.

Those who continue to ominously warn us of looming calamity, who continue to offer prescriptions for averting this putative environmental disaster (like higher energy taxes and more research dollars), are doing so not on the basis of sound science, but because they have a vested interest in global warming — politically, professionally or otherwise.

From A to Z

Art Zielinski asks people what they think ...

It's always been a dangerous sport. Probably the most dangerous sport there is. At speeds of 190 mph it's all physics. The speed is there, it's just the nature of the beast.

Michael Williams,
Sanford

More rules won't prevent stuff like that (crashes) from happening. It's a sport people choose to do. They're already slowing the cars down to make it more competitive.

Kevin Fraser,
Lake Mary

I think the cars are safe, but they should change the helmets from open face to close face. Everyone that's died, died from a head injury. That's the main part of the body that needs better protection.

Bill Yates,
Sanford

NASCAR racing is no more dangerous than any other gladiatorial sport. It's an excellent third person outlet for people who want to race. Dale Earnhardt died doing what he wanted to do.

Richard B. Vining,
Sanford

I think it's one of the safest sports there is. NASCAR doesn't skimp on safety. With 33 races a year and 40 drivers in each race, there were only about four deaths in some five years.

Patrick Crocker,
Sanford

Race fans were shocked last May when Adam Petty died in a crash at Busch Grand National. Tragedy struck again on Sunday at the Daytona 500 when veteran NASCAR driver Dale Earnhardt lost his life during the final lap of the race. Our question today is: "Are higher speeds and the pressure to win making NASCAR too dangerous a sport?"

Rabies

 who had a doggy door for her pet," Wittmer said. "One evening, she heard something in her house, and when she went to investigate, she found a big raccoon that was coming in and eating the animal's food."

Raccoons are the most common carriers of rabies. Skunks, foxes, coyotes and bats are also major reservoirs of the virus. Domestic animals account for less than 10 percent of reported rabies cases. Of that number, cats, cattle and dogs most often are reported rabid.

The Winter Park horse is an unusual case, Wittmer said. According to state statistics, the annual average of horses reported with rabies in Florida is one.

Rabies is a preventable viral disease most often transmitted through the bite of a rabid animal. Transmission of the virus usually begins when the infected saliva of a host is passed to an uninfected animal.

The rabies virus infects the central nervous system, causing encephalopathy and ultimately death. Early symptoms of rabies in humans are nonspecific, consisting of fever, headache and general sickness.

There is no treatment for rabies after symptoms of the disease appear, Rainhart said. However, if people are treated before they become symptomatic, the disease is not life threatening. Rabies treatment includes a regimen of one dose of immune globulin and five doses of the rabies vaccine during a one-month period.

According to Rainhart, current vaccines are relatively painless and are given in the arm.

Wittmer said people can identify a suspect animal by the way it acts. For example, when a raccoon has rabies, it usually acts lethargic and sick. And, in most cases, wildlife will not approach you unless infected with the disease.

However, animals, such as foxes, that are routinely fed by people may not be hesitant in approaching individuals.

"If people are feeding wild animals in their backyard and they come close to you, that doesn't mean they are rabid," Wittmer said. "But, if one of these animals bites you, they are highly suspect of rabies."

"Certainly, if there is a raccoon outside and it doesn't run away and it is acting unusual, like falling down, a person should stay away from it and call animal services."

If a person is bitten by a wild animal or stray, he or she should report it to animal services, where a bite report can be conducted. If the stray animal is found, it will be quarantined to determine if it has rabies. If wild, it will be euthanized and tested.

"If you get bitten by an animal, you are not going to fall down dead," he said. "There is plenty of time to get treated, but a person should seek treatment as soon as possible."

Wittmer said as long as people adhere to the alert and take precautions, the threat of rabies is minimal.

Two years ago, Volusia County had a lot of cases of rabies, and they went under alert, Wittmer said. The alert is posted when there is an unusually high number of cases. Last year, there were only two reports of rabies in Seminole County, as opposed to the four cases already reported this year.

"People shouldn't think that if they walk out their door, an animal is going to jump on them," Wittmer said. "We don't want people to be aware."

"If nothing else, this might encourage people to get their pets inoculated."

Anyone who is bitten or wounded by a suspect animal should immediately and thoroughly wash all wounds with soap and water. The incident should also be reported to Seminole County Animal Services at 407-665-5201 or Casselberry Animal Services at 407-696-5195.

Call the Seminole County Health Department at 407-665-3291 if there are any questions concerning the 60-day alert.

Residents concerned about future of greyhound park

By Nick Pfeiffauf
 Staff Writer

Several Winter Springs residents have expressed concern over the future of the Seminole Greyhound Park property, located at 2000 Seminole Boulevard in Casselberry.

Although no specific changes are being proposed, a study of future uses is underway. One Winter Springs resident, who requested anonymity, told the Seminole Herald, "All of us who live near the park are concerned. We heard it was going to be developed, and we are wondering if it will be low income housing, a shopping center, or what."

Several Winter Springs residents also contacted the Winter Springs City Commission, which, in response, held an informational discussion of the proposal at their Feb. 12 commission meeting.

According to the information supplied to the commissioners by the city's Community Development Department (CDD), the City of Casselberry is conducting a small area study meeting at the Casselberry Senior Center on March 7, at 7 p.m., to hear from consultants who will present their ideas and standards for the possible future development of the park property. The information was supplied in anticipation of the meeting.

Casselberry has hired Glattig Jackson, Inc. and Real Estate Research, Inc. to conduct the small area study. The area consists of 200 acres, more or less, and involves four property owners. The greyhound park consists of approximately 150 acres of the total.

Current zoning is general commercial (C-G) which allows such uses as hotels, large box construction and apartments. The comprehensive plan designation is low density non-residential, commercial, or medium density residential. The surrounding land is residential single family zoned.

CDD says the study being undertaken by Casselberry is not intended to require redevelopment of the property, but to provide guidance regarding possible uses and standards in the event the property owners decide in the future to redevelop the 200 acres.

Casselberry reportedly held a meeting on the matter Wednesday, Nov. 29, 2000 at the Casselberry Senior Center. At that meeting, nearly 50 percent of the people attending were reportedly residents of Winter Springs. The park property is contiguous to a number of ranches and residences within the city limits of Winter Springs.

In addition to the meeting on March 7, a third meeting is being considered for April or May.

employees of Jeno Paulucci Enterprises. Among Woodruff's $500 maximum individual contributors are: Jeno Paulucci, Sanford; Lois Paulucci, Sanford; Elizabeth Paulucci, Sanford; and Paulucci Enterprises secretary Cha-Leen Daughtry, Sanford.

Former City commissioner Kerry Lyons, seeking the Mayor's post, has contributed $1,000 of his own money to his initial report total of $1,700.

Mayoral candidate Dean Ray has contributed $925 of his own money to his initial report total of $1,175. His only contributor as of Feb. 9 is listed as Harry Jacobs, the Altamonte Springs Attorney who filed suit against Seminole County's Canvassing Board and Supervisor of Elections Sandra Goad challenging the validity of some 15,000 Seminole County absentee ballots. The suit failed before Leon County Circuit Court and failed again on appeal before the Florida Supreme Court.

Mayoral candidate Bates Reed has contributed $323 of his own money in his initial report total of $623. His only contributors as of Feb. 9 are listed as Home Management of Orlando, $100; and Barbara Farrell, Sanford, $100.

St. Johns working to cap wells

By Nick Platner
Staff Writer

The Seminole County Environmental Services Department and the St. John's River Water Management District (SJRWMD) are now in the ninth year of a cooperative artesian well plugging/repair program.

A Seminole County grant matches $35,000 a year with the Water Management District to conserve millions of gallons per day of aquifer water that otherwise would be wasted from free flowing wells.

In 1992, SJRWMD identified an initial 182 artesian wells that needed plugging or repairing. As more people became aware of the program, more artesian well sites were reported. Since then, a total of 229 wells have been plugged.

By the end of 2000, the SJRWMD estimated that nearly 22 million gallons per day have been saved through these efforts.

In Seminole County this year alone, (Fiscal Year beginning Oct. 1, 2000), 12 wells have been plugged with two more still to be completed.

Program Coordinator John Cassaro opined there are probably a number of other artesian wells that are in need of plugging and/or repairing in Seminole County, and he urges anyone with knowledge of such wells to contact him at his office, 407-665-2318, or notify the SJRWMD at 1-800-741-WELL. The information would also involve any new free-flowing wells which may have been noted.

Bedding plants offer wide range of colors to often lacking landscapes

Bedding plants can provide the necessary touch of color that often lacks in the landscape.

Bedding plants can be grown in containers to add a splash of color to a porch, deck or patio area. They are also enjoyed as fresh and dry cut flowers.

In Florida, many of them bloom during the winter months, bringing color to the landscape and producing flowers for home decorations.

Others grow and flower during the warmer months blooming through the heat and heavy summer rains.

Climate conditions are important for growing annuals in Florida. Petunias, pansies and snapdragons that grow well and flower under cool night temperatures should be planted in the fall, winter and early spring.

Bedding plants such as marigold, gazania, amaranthus, celosia, crossandra, impatiens, vinca, and coleus that can tolerate high temperatures and humidity should be planted in late spring or early summer. Some plants such as wax begonias and salvias grow relatively well during both hot and cool seasons and can be planted year round in central Florida.

Selection

Buy plants according to their season. Bedding plants are best used as an accent to the landscape. Fewer species of plants may produce better results than too many different plants, attractive flower beds can be created by using one plant species.

Combinations of too many flower colors and plant forms can distract from the overall appearance of the display. Buy young, healthy, disease- and insect-free plants with dark green foliage.

Bedding plants grown in 4-inch pots are usually more expensive, but they are larger and therefore will produce more flowers sooner than plants grown in smaller pots. As a result, beds established with plants grown in 4-inch pots are attractive sooner and for a longer period of the growing season than beds planted with plants grown in smaller containers.

Another advantage of planting plants grown in 4-inch pots is that because they are larger, they will cover the bed sooner and help to control weeds.

Site Preparation

Bedding plant sites should be spaded or tilled at least six inches deep several weeks before planting. Florida's sandy soils have very low nutrient and water holding capacities.

Incorporation of 2 to 3 inches of organic matter into planting beds will increase nutrient and water holding capacities of these soils. Organic materials such as compost or peat should be thoroughly mixed into the soil.

Flowerbeds should be fertilized prior to planting or at planting time. Apply 6-6-6 or a similar complete fertilizer at the rate of 2 pounds per 100 square feet of bed area. Controlled release fertilizers are ideal for Florida's sandy soils.

Plants usually grow much better with a continuous nutrient supply, and labor is reduced since controlled release fertilizer application frequency is less than for rapid release fertilizers.

Plant Care

Loosen and untangle the root system without breaking the soil ball completely. Plants will usually recover rapidly and become established quickly.

Bedding plants should be watered immediately after planting and daily until they have become established, then water on an "as needed" basis. Wilting will reduce flowering on many bedding plants and should not be allowed to happen. Some bedding plants growing in full sun during the summer may require daily watering. Overhead irrigation can affect flowering plants.

Ceraniums, celosias, marigolds, gerberas, verbenas, petunias, phlox, portulacas, canna, snapdragons, strawflowers and pentas are very sensitive to damage by overhead irrigation, while begonias, pansies, coleus, caladiums, impatiens and New Guinea impatiens are tolerant to damage by overhead irrigation.

Bedding plants should be watered by hand using a hose with a breaker attached or with a micro-irrigation system where only the soil and the root systems of the plants are wetted and flowers are not disturbed by splashing water. Irrigation should be done early in the morning.

Weed Control

Weeds can be controlled either by mulching, applying pre-emergence herbicides and/or hand weeding. Finer mulch should not be applied any deeper than 2-3 inches.

Pots

Another approach to the culture of annuals in Florida is to grow them in pots. In areas where the soil is very poor or where tree roots limit growth, it is easier to plant small plants into inexpensive plastic pots filled with good soil and place the pots into flower beds.

Sink pots into the soil until the top surface of the pots is at soil level. In addition to growing annuals where normally they will not grow, growing annuals in pots eliminates nematode problems, reduces water and fertilizer usage, and allows for easy replacement of plants in the flowerbed.

representative position.

"Somewhere down the road we are going to have to have in-house expertise to handle these types of projects so we can't have to continue to drive up the costs of projects," Henley said.

Henley also sought assurances that the contract should be structured with future projects in mind so the county could have the latitude to adjust the scope of services.

"This is a tough situation," said Commissioner Randy Orris. "We have to control our vendors and at this time the county does not have someone with the varied background necessary in our available workforce."

"I share Commissioner Henley's concerns," he added. "The firms that do this type of work as their bread-and-butter tell us this is the way to go. We have to protect our interests and without an Owner's Representative, we are at risk."

Commissioner Daryl McLain said one of the benefits of developing a long term relationship with an Owner's Representative would be the county would be in a favorable position down the road to negotiate for future projects at lower costs.

Grace said now that the RFQ has been approved, the county expects to have an Owner's port for its initiative from various local municipalities and boards in order to attract a legislative sponsor. The initiative just got through the political process and eventually be presented and approved by the state Legislature before it can be enacted.

During Thursday's Lake Mary meeting, Commissioner George Duryea spoke out against the proposal, questioning why more taxes need to be imposed on tourists to the region.

"I'd be supportive if it were more specific," Duryea said. "We are already overloaded with tourist and hotel taxes. I'm not sure this is the way to do it."

"The hardest thing on our roadways is trucks," he said. "Should there be a surcharge on trucks?"

In response, Commissioner Gary Brender said MetroPlan's initiative would allow local governments to have more control on revenue raised through the surcharge on local car rentals.

"These rental cars used on our roadways 365 days a year," Brender said. "The difference between the people driving rental cars and you is that you pay property tax and they don't."

Watchers needed for new project

If you have a bird feeder, the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) is encouraging you to sign up for Project FeederWatch.

The Cornell Lab of Ornithology and National Audubon Society conduct Project FeederWatch November through early April each year to gather information about winter bird populations across North America.

Jim Shupe

Of the 15,000 participants, only 300 live in Florida.

Joni Ellis, the FWC's conservation education specialist in the agency's Northeast Region, said Florida feeder watchers are particularly important to the project because of the variety of bird species that live in — or migrate through — Florida during those months.

"Participants agree to watch their feeders at convenient times and send in their counts every couple of weeks," Ms. Ellis said. "Parents can do it with children and make an educational experience out of it."

For a $15 participant's fee, birdwatchers receive instructions, submission forms, a bird identification poster, a wall calendar and a one-year subscription to the Birdscope newsletter.

For more information, interested persons can contact the Cornell Lab at 159 Sapsucker Woods Rd., Ithaca, N.Y. 14850 or call (800) 843-BIRD. The lab's Web site is at www.birds.cornell.edu.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

Birdfeeders are a lot of fun, but making them "squirrel proof" can be a job. Squirrels seem to enjoy the challenge of getting to the bird feed. Pet stores and some hardware stores sell squirrel-proof devices which resemble saucers. These really do work.

FISHING FORECAST

Bass action is still great, particularly from Puzzle Lake south to Lake Winder. The action is red hot from Puzzle Lake to Hatbill Park. Think tiny, and use spinning gear with six-pound line and the smallest Rapala you can throw. River bass will jump all over this offering. It is not uncommon to catch and release 20-40 bass a day. Wading and walking the bank is good in many areas.

Sebastian Inlet has mixed action with snook, trout, redfish, flounder, and small snapper. Large live shrimp or finger mullet is the top bait.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports spotty offshore action. A few king mackerel and small dolphin are the most common catches. Inside the Port, look for flounder and sheephead, while trout and redfish are scattered in the Banana and Indian rivers.

Ponce Inlet has steady action with sheephead, drum, redfish, bluefish, and jack crevalle. Live or dead shrimp is the top bait. Trout and redfish are rated as fair in Mosquito Lagoon.

Lake Howell girls avenge lone loss, get third straight Final Four trip

SATELLITE BEACH — The ending of the Girls 3A Region 2 final game, last Friday night, was best summed by Lake

Howell's head coach, Didier Menard chant, "Going Back to Tally," which was a reference to a 1990s hit by LL Cool J "Going Back to Cali."

To understand the scale of the time, it took two 40 minute regulation halves, two five-minute regulation overtimes, two five-minute sudden-death overtimes and two sets of penalty kicks to get Lake Howell (27-1-2) to defeat region 2 rival Satellite (27-1). The Lady Silver Hawk win gave the Lady Scorpions their only loss for the season.

The Lady Silver Hawks, avenging their only loss of the season in the Christmas tournament at Lake Mary that also went to penalty kicks, once again earned a chance to defend last year's state title later this week in FSU's soccer field in Tallahassee. This will be Lake Howell's third consecutive trip to the Final Four.

Lake Howell's Lindsay Rice scored the first goal of the game with 7:44 left in the first half. Rice's shot got passed a Scorpion defender and goalkeeper, Ashlyn Harris.

It would stay this way for the rest of the game as Satellite outshot Lake Howell 9-3.

In the opening minutes of the second half Lake Howell's Lydia Stephenson got a goal making it 2-0.

Five minutes later, Satellite finally got DeLAND — It is going to take a super effort if Seminole County is to going have a boys state champion in basketball this year as Crooms Academy, Oviedo, and Seminole all lost in their respective District Championship Games on Saturday and will begin the regionals on the road this Thursday.

The No. 1 state-ranked and top-seeded Lions tasted defeat for the first time this season as DeLand hit eight-of-10 free throws in the final quarter to pull off the upset, 54-50, in the Class 6A-District 3 finale at The Dog House.

Seminole, seeded No. 2, fell in the Class 5A-District 6 Tournament to Palm Bay, and No. 1 seeded Crooms Academy got off to a slow start and never recovered as it fell 74-41 to Warner Christian School in the Class A-District 5 Tournament at Altamonte Christian School.

Lake Mary claims Big Blue Bonanza

By Henry Uhlenbrauck, Jr.
Herald Correspondent

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Lake Mary baseball squad won this year's Big Blue Bonanza held at Lake Brantley's ball field this past week.

The Rams (4-0) squeaked out a win over the host Lake Brantley Patriots, 3-2, in the Championship Game on Saturday.

On a chilly overcast night, Lake Mary did the first damage. Rams' Chad LeGate got on base on an error by Lake Brantley's short stop Brandon King. The next batter, catcher Ryan Bono, hit a 2-0 single to center field advancing LeGate to third, who was injured on a slide.

He was sent to get x-rays. Rams coach, Allen Tuttle said that he is fine and will return for their next game.

With a 1-1 count Matt Mergo hit a ground single down to center scoring LeGate and Bono.

After that it was a pitching duel until Lake Brantley tied it up 2-2 in the fourth. Lead-off batter, George Brandner hit a double to left field. Next up, Scott Swanson sacrificed to advance Brandner. With one out Geoffrey Strickland hit a single to right field scoring Brandner. The tying run came from the first pitch by Rams Adam Sanabria, to Chris Evenson who hit a double to left scoring Strickland.

The Rams' winning run came in the sixth when Bono hit a 1-2 blast right on the right field line getting to second. Later with two outs Tim Brown hit aright field single scoring in Bono.

Rams pitcher, Adam Sanabria (2-0), who got the win, pitched six innings and got 10 strikeouts, two walks. Sanabria got the game started right, striking out all three batters in the first inning.

Reliever Steve Apfel got one strikeout and one walk to earn the save.

Lake Brantley's Greg Moreira took the loss, with eight strikeouts and no walks.

Lake Mary had defeated Dr. Phillips and Eustis to earn a spot in the Championship Game.

Oviedo (29-1) will travel to Orlando to take on 6A-4 champion Edgewater (20-9), Seminole (24-8) will be in Deltona to face former district rival Pine Ridge (20-10), and Crooms (12-4) will travel to West Melbourne to tackle Brevard Christian (20-4).

All of the games will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Lions got off to an uncharacteristic slow start against DeLand, falling behind 11-2 with 3:42 remaining in the first quarter.

Oviedo would then show why they have been the best team in the area as they went on a 10-0 run with senior guard Marcus Hayes scoring seven of those, including hitting a three-point field goal with 1.5-seconds left to give the Lions a 12-11 lead at the end of the first period.

But the Bulldogs (20-7), which had lost twice to Oviedo by a combined total of 42 points in the regular season, had the answer to everything the Lions threw at them in this game.

DeLand scored the first points in every quarter and Oviedo never had the lead and the ball the entire game.

Every loose ball also seemed to go the Bulldogs way as the Lions were constantly trying to come from behind.

Behind junior E.J. Gordon (seven points) and senior Cory McKinney (eight points), DeLand built a 48-41 lead with 3:42 left in the game.

But Hayes scored six of the next eight points and Erik Dupre hit a three-pointer, his only points of the game, to tie the game at 50-50 with 1:32 left.

Gordon then buried a long jumper just inside the three-point arc to put DeLand ahead to stay, 52-50, with 1-minute left on the clock.

Oviedo had a chance to tie the game with 40-seconds left, but missed the front end of a one-and-one at the free throw line.

The Lions then got a steal with 23-seconds on the clock and finally got a time out called with 12.1 showing on the clock.

After the time out, Oviedo tried to get the ball to Hayes, but he was covered and a pass into the post was intercepted by Gordon, who made both free throws with 2.7 left to seal the upset.

McKinney led the Bulldogs with 22 points, while Gordon was also in double figures with 16. For the Lions, Hayes was a one-man show, pouring in 39 points from every angle imaginable, but Oviedo was hurt, literally, because high-scoring junior forward Shawn Witherspoon, who was playing with an injured tendon in his right foot, was held to six points.

Witherspoon was coming off a 24-point, 16-rebound performance in the Lions' 65-51 semi-final victory over Lake Brantley on Friday.

Hayes chipped in with 15 points, while Darrell Freeman added 11. Jammur Guy led the Patriots with 19 points, while Brandon Grubbs added 16.

DeLand had advanced in a strange game on Friday, giving up a 14-point lead to Winter Springs and then rallying back from a seven-point deficit to oust the Bears, 59-51.

Oviedo did not go home empty-handed, however, as Lions won the Junior Varsity Championship with an entertaining 66-55 victory over Winter Springs.

Dillard Gould led Oviedo with 17 points, while Ryan Brimmer added 15 and Ricky Lawton nine.

Also playing for coach John

Howell's Lions were A.J. Hargrove, Jay Thompson, Tristan Chatte, Chris Youngers, Kyle Little, Tyler Little, Joey Cameron, Charles Attaway and Steve Livingston.

Pacing the Bears' attack were Ryan Exter and Willie Anderson with 12 points each.

Other members of coach Kerry Wiggins' squad were Shane Grundhofer, Chris Pierson, Aaron Benfield, Toby Smith, Ryan Fischer, Kyle Hill and Nakoma Simpson.

Seminole had used a balanced attack to advance to the 5A-6 finals, with 11 players finding the scoring column in a 64-41 victory over host Satellite.

Marcus Robinson led the way with 12 points, while Robby Dupre dropped in 11.

Crooms fell behind 16-9 after one period and 32-16 at halftime and could never recover as Warner Christian (14-14) won its third straight district title.

Lazarus Mitchell scored 16 points, while Terry Burch added 10 for the Panthers.

Ultimately Satellite got a total of 15 shots to Lake Howell's nine during regulation time. Menard said he saw that as the team's efficiency.

Both teams went scoreless for the in the four overtime periods, but they were not without their chances.

Lake Howell's best chance came in the final 40 seconds of the last sudden-death period when Randi Hokomb got a shot to the goal that was saved by Harris.

Lake Howell got their first two shots in by kickers Jenny Mulvihill and Hillary Gonzalez.

Chamber Chairman Jeff Triplett joins Community National Bank

Community National Bank of Mid-Florida is pleased to announce that Jeff Triplett, Chairman of the Board of the Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, has joined the bank as Vice President of commercial lending and business development.

Community National Bank of Mid-Florida (CNB) was organized by Seminole County business people and opened in August 1999 in Lake Mary. The organizers felt that there were many individuals and business owners that still appreciate the advantages of a locally owned, locally managed and locally focused bank. Several of the directors have lifelong ties to Sanford: Tom Moore, Tom Ball and Rob Bruce. As such, the bank made a commitment to Sanford by opening a downtown Sanford temporary location at 500 W. First Street last October until the bank's permanent building is completed across the street. In the meantime, the bank has opened a third location in Winter Park at 1211 Orange Avenue in the yellow office building previously occupied by Federal Trust.

President and CEO Michael R. Scures stated "We are extremely pleased to have Jeff Triplett join our management team at Community National Bank. Jeff's knowledge of the Sanford market, and expertise as a community banker, only enhances our commitment to take the lead in providing quality banking service to Sanford."

At Community National Bank, you'll find competitive products as well as sophisticated and professional service that may have been lost in this era of big bank mergers and acquisitions. Whether your requirements are business or personal, CNB has a genuine interest in you as a customer. CNB is one of the rising stars of the Central Florida financial community and look forward to discussing a banking relationship with you as our partner in our continuing success. Give Jeff Triplett a call at 407-323-8485.

A new father of a son, Riley, and Sanford/Seminole County Chamber Chairman of the Board, Jeff Triplett joins Community National Bank

Willow Tree Café celebrates 7 years

Business of the Month

The Willow Tree Café has been serving up delectable quiches, salads, sandwiches and soups at its 205 E. First Street location for nearly seven years.

Loyal customers often remark about how fresh everything is, and that's no accident.

Of German descent, owner Ellen Schirmer learned the fine art of preparing only the freshest foods from a French chef.

"I spend a lot of time cutting fresh fruits and vegetables for salads and garnishes — and tearing fresh lettuces for salads," she said.

Try Ellen's luscious chicken salad made with apples and pecans, or her pecan quiche as a refreshing change from the usual fast-food lunch fare. Both are particular favorites of her patrons, as are her fruit plates.

The café's freshly brewed gourmet coffee as well as delicious soups and sandwiches attract an understandably loyal following. The Willow Tree also serves the finest imported German lunchmeats and cheeses. Daily specials are in the $6 to $7 range and soup is $3.10. All of the Willow Tree's dishes are served with fresh garnishes.

The café is open from 11 a.

m. until 3 p.m. Monday through Saturday. You can enjoy your lunch inside the cozy café or watch the world go by outdoors on the patio.

In the time it takes to grab a drive-through fast-food burger, you can enjoy a delicious and relaxing lunch at the Willow Tree — without the exhaust fumes or frustration.

With a minimum of a day's notice, The Willow Tree Café can accommodate small groups, meetings and special events for up to 20 people. Call Ellen at (407) 321-2204 to arrange your event.

For a delectable lunch, try Ellen's Chicken Salad or Pecan Quiche at downtown Sanford's landmark Willow Tree Cafe. They can also accommodate groups of up to 20 with a day's notice.

There is great potential in this organization worthy of business support and I am proud to be part of this historic chamber and its efforts to enhance the image of Sanford" For information on joining the Chamber, call Joan at 407-322-2212.

New Chamber Economic Advisory Committee to meet

Rob Nixon, Economic Development Manager for Seminole County, and member of the Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce will chair the chamber's new economic development advisory committee. The first meeting of this committee will be Tuesday, March 20 at 8:00 AM at the chamber.

"This is an exciting time for the City of Sanford. It is quickly becoming one of the most energetic markets in Central Florida region," stated Nixon. "Like the rest of Seminole County, Sanford has to examine redevelopment opportunities in order to reduce the tendency to expand in to undeveloped land."

The new chamber advisory committee plays a key role in maximizing the use of local resources, establish economic development support for existing businesses, particularly small and minority-owned businesses.
