Routine Traffic Check Leads To Arrest

NATION IN BRIEF

Moderate Woman Dumped From Civil Rights Panel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, apparently fearful she would buck him on key issues, refused to reappoint former GOP Chairwoman Mary Louise Smith to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, sparking charges from critics that he reneged on a deal reshaping the panel.

Congressional Democrats and civil rights groups charged that Reagan's decision was a breach of a promise made by presidential counselor Edwin Meese that the new commission — forged in an unusual compromise with Congress — would retain Mrs. Smith. Meese has denied such a deal was made.

Asked about Reagan's decision to replace Mrs. Smith, White House aides noted the president was not happy with her support of busting and quotas as last resorts to wipe out discrimination.

'No' To Reconvening

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A call by Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., and Rep. Leon Panetta, D-Calif., for the vacating Congress to reconvene to debate U.S. military involvement in Lebanon is not attracting much support.

Hart, a presidential candidate, said, "American lives are being lost in Lebanon," Hart said, "and there is no more legitimate reason for Congress to go back into session. Congress must require President Reagan to state clearly what our Middle East policy is and what mission our military presence is designed to achieve."

to declare war on Japan the next day, called the attack "a day that will live in infamy."

The tradition of halting all activity for 1 minute started about 10 years ago at the suggestion of a shipyard worker who was a survivor of the attack.

Another ceremony planned today was the dedication of a plaque commemorating the heroism of the crew aboard the battleship USS Nevada. The bronze plaque is inscribed with the names of two Medal of Honor winners, 15 Navy Cross recipients, and the 57 sailors and Marines killed in action aboard the ship.

The Nevada was deliberately run aground so it could not be sunk to block the entrance to Pearl Harbor.

One of the Medal of Honor recipients from the Nevada, retired Capt. Donald Ross, was among the men to be honored.

Ross, 72, Port Orchard, Wash., was acting engineer aboard the battleship when the Japanese unleashed their air raid.

According to the Medal of Honor citation, when smoke, steam and heat made the forward dynamo room unbearable, Ross ordered his men out and single-handedly kept the machinery running until he fell unconscious.

The plaque was proposed by Paul F. Hughey, Walnut Creek, Calif., the Navy League's regional president for Nevada and northern California.

Hughey, who was aboard the carrier USS Lexington during the attack, said the idea came to him about four years ago when he visited Pearl Harbor for the first time since 1945.

"I took the boat tour up the Pearl Harbor channel and, looking at the shoreline, I couldn't place in my mind exactly where (the Nevada) had been, and I thought that wasn't right," he said.

"It was a terrific story of courage and bravery and seamanship and I thought it should be recognized."

A Sanford man was arrested early today after a routine traffic check revealed an outstanding warrant for his arrest for kidnapping, robbery and rape in North Carolina.

Leroy Harrington Jr., 29, of 1604 W. 16th St., was placed under arrest by Sanford police shortly after 1:52 a.m. when a computer check show a three-count indictment against Harrington issued by High Point, N.C. authorities, according to a police report.

Sanford police Sgt. William R. Bernosky Jr. said an officer on routine patrol noticed Harrington's vehicle did not have a tag when it was at 20th Street and French Avenue. Harrington made a short attempt to allude the officer, Bernosky said.

Once in custody, Harrington was transported to the Seminole County jail. North Carolina authorities were en route today to begin extradition proceedings against Harrington, Bernosky said.

CYCLE FOUND

Casselberry police recovered a motorcycle Tuesday that an Altamonte Springs man reported stolen, but the 1965 Harley Davidson had been reduced to a pile of parts.

Kevin Jacobs told Altamonte Springs police Monday that someone cut the chain that held his motorcycle to a post in the parking lot of Creekwood Apartments, Altamonte Springs, and took the bike.

Witnesses reported seeing two men looking at the bike and they gave police a description of the van they drove away in.

Early Tuesday, Jacobs' neighbor, Tom Karper, spotted the van in the parking lot of Pizza Hut in Casselberry.

He called Casselberry police who called an Altamonte Springs officer and Jacobs to the scene.

The owner of the van was questioned after police saw motorcycle parts in the van. The man said he bought the parts earlier in the day at a flea market. Jacobs was permitted to examine the parts and identified them as his, a report said.

Gary Bryant Stuckey, 33, of 107 E. Prima Vista Boulevard, Port St. Lucie, was arrested and charged with grand theft. He posted $5,000 bond and was released from the Seminole County jail.

THIRD ROBBERY ARREST

A Sanford man accused of driving the getaway car in the Nov. 22 hold-up of a Seminole County savings and loan is being held in the county jail without bond.

Sheriff's investigators said the man was linked to the case by two suspects who are also being held without bond.

Kenneth Lee Thomas, 27, of 2000 Summerlin Ave., was arrested at his home at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday. He is charged with armed bank robbery and grand theft.

Facing the same charges in the case are: Will Ernest Steele Jr., 31, of 908 Willow Ave., Sanford, and James Arthur Curry, 25, of the same address.

In the hold-up, two suspects entered First Federal of Seminole County on U.S. Highway 17-92 at Hunt Club

Assaid Baby's Fate May Be Decided Jan. 12

The fate of Susan Assaid's baby boy will probably be determined in a courtroom on Jan. 12.

Mrs. Assaid, who is serving a 15-year prison sentence after being convicted of manslaughter in the death of her 5-year-old daughter, Ursula Sunshine Assaid, gave birth to the boy six months ago.

In a hearing last week, Seminole Circuit Judge Kenneth Lefler ruled that Mrs. Assaid could only visit the baby one hour a week. He previously had allowed her to visit the child three hours a week.

Lefler also set another hearing for Jan. 12 to decide the final disposition of the infant. The state department of Health and Rehabilitative Services has temporary custody of the child which is in a foster home in Seminole County.

At January's hearing, HRS will ask that it be granted permanent custody of the child so that it can be put up for permanent adoption, according to HRS attorney Don Lykkebak.

If the baby is adopted, Mrs. Assaid could have no further contact with it, Lykkebak said.

Mrs. Assaid and her attorney are trying to block such action. Instead they want some arrangement to be worked out whereby Mrs. Assaid would be able to visit her child on a permanent basis when she is eventually released from prison.

Under the present temporary arrangement, an HRS case worker takes the baby to the Seminole County jail where Mrs. Assaid is incarcerated.

Mrs. Assaid "holds the baby and talks to it," Lykkebak said.

The infant's father is Donald Glenn McDougall, 27, who was sentenced Nov. 4 to 34 years in prison for beating and torturing Ursula to death in September, 1982.

The state charged that the couple placed Ursula's body in a bag and threw it into a pond in Altamonte Springs.

Lykkebak says HRS wants the baby to be adopted by a family that does not know the child's identity. "We don't want the child (or its adoptive parents) to ever know what kind of background it came from," he said.

Boulevard, Forest City. One man brandished a gun and threatened two women employees. The manager was injured when she was jerked from her chair and pushed to the floor. The FBI said the men emptied the cash drawer, locked the women in a restroom and fled with an undisclosed amount of cash.

ZOO THEFT

Two chainsaws and two radios valued at $2,158 were reported stolen from a barn at the Central Florida Zoo Monday between 1 and 6 a.m.

Zoo guard James A. Burfield told police that he noticed that a door of the barn on the west side of the zoo property had been pried open.

Seminole County sheriff's investigators said footprints were found leading from the barn to a nearby wooded area, and a fence around the property had been cut.

CAR STOLEN

Mark Collini, manager of R&S Auto Sales, 1800 N. Orlando Avenue, Maitland, reported that a 1973 Ford Thunderbird was stolen from a rear lot of the dealership between 4 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 pm. Monday, Seminole County sheriff's deputies said.

CAR RIFLED

A pair of diamond earrings worth $500, about $200 cash, credit cards and blank checks were taken from a wallet and purse left in a car parked at Red Bug Lake Park, Casselberry, around 9 a.m. Friday.

Robert and Kelly Johnson of 2928 Harrison Ave., reported their loss to Casselberry police.

Motorist Escapes Attempted Kidnapping

A 25-year-old Casselberry woman was stopped several times on her way to work by a man who tried to abduct her, but the would-be kidnapper was foiled by a passing motorist.

Jennie Nix told Seminole County sheriff's deputy that a man in a van began following her as she was driving east on State road 46 Tuesday night and signaled to her that there was something wrong with her car. She drove to a service station on U.S. Highway 17-92 and an attendant said the car was OK.

Ms. Nix said the man resumed following her, flashing his headlights and pointing to her rear tire. The man told her the tire was going to fall off, the report said.

Ms. Nix said she told the man her car had been checked and she drove on to State Road 415-A at State Road 4, where the man stopped her again in a parking lot and jumped in her car.

She said he put his hand over her mouth and told her he had a knife. She blew the car horn and screamed, which attracted a passing motorist. As he approached, the suspect ran, a report said.

A description of the suspect and van were issued and within 15 minutes Longwood police stopped the vehicle on Magnolia Street in Longwood.

Donald Niel Williams, 31, of 390 Wilma St., Longwood, was arrested at 10:15 p.m. and charged with attempted kidnapping. He is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Sanford Couple Lived Through Bombing, Aftermath Of Pearl Harbor Attack

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

It was slightly after 7 a.m. when Charles and Millie Neville got up on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941. He went outside to look for the family dog and pick up the morning paper.

Neville couldn't find the dog and the morning newspaper had not yet been delivered.

It was a clear day. The clouds were high and fleecy over Pearl Harbor, he noticed, and as he returned to his home at 348 Robinson Ave., he heard the newspaper bite the ground.

His and Millie's bedroom faced Ford Island, a small island in the middle of the harbor, and he saw the Japanese aircraft cloud the sky from their bedroom window and almost in the same instant saw the smoke from the American aircraft set afire in the attack.

At first he thought it must be another mock raid by army planes from the Wheeler Field army post. The post regularly held mock raids as training exercises.

And then he saw the machine gun tracers reaching for those foreign planes in the sky.

"I felt kind of numb," said Neville, now retired from the U.S. Navy and living in the rural area outside Sanford. But on that fateful day, he was a U.S. Navy petty officer first class, an aviation machinist's mate.

Still unable to believe that Pearl Harbor was being attacked by the Japanese, Charles, Millie and their six-month old daughter, Mary Alice Pualani, got into the family car and went to the dock in time to see the Utah, the old target battleship, roll over. The remote control target practice ship, tied up along side the Ford Island Navy base, had been sunk.

"I decided this was no place for a man to have his wife and child. I put the wife, daughter and a neighbor into the car and sent them into the cane fields above Pearl City for protection. And I got on a bike and went to the Pearl City dock to try to get back to my duty station on Ford island. During a lull between the first and second raid by the Japanese, I cushioned myself below a stone fence.

Meanwhile, Millie and Mary Alice Pualani with others with six small children who arrived in the cane field about the same time were given food and pots of tea by a Chinese friend, named Ho.

"We could see the harbor burning. And 'till the day I die, I'll remember one woman's concern. She said she hoped it would hurry up and get over so she could go to the show as she had planned that evening. We all found it hard to accept that Pearl Harbor was actually being attacked," she said.

Millie, a Chicago native, was a registered nurse in the civilian Queen's Hospital in nearby Honolulu. She later worked in the obstetrics unit at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

"We were taken to a club house on the plantation where we stayed for four days before being allowed to go home," she said. And during those few days she received no communication from her husband, nor he from her.

When Millie and the baby returned to their home, they found everything intact. Nothing had been bothered at all. And the dog, whose name they can no longer recall, was safe. The only evidence of the attack there was a piece of shrapnel, later dug up from the back yard.

Millie and Charles Neville look over mementos and photographs from the days when they were stationed at Pearl Harbor.

Charles, from his vantage point at the dock, watched a Japanese plane dive into the Curtis, a seaplane tender, anchored beside the supply ship, Medusa.

"I saw a destroyer head out of the harbor after it had run over something and thrown two depth charges off the stern. Destroyed was a Japanese miniature submarine that sank the Utah. Pieces of the submarine surfaced days later," Charles recalled.

He and a number of other sailors were able to commandeer a boat, after the second raid, to return to their base at Ford Island.

"There wasn't much going on at Ford Island. They were setting up machine gun emplacements, thinking there might be an invasion," Neville said.

"A Navy lieutenant, who was duty officer, made me his orderly and I carried messages until mid-afternoon.

"By evening, the battleship, California, was sinking in the harbor. I could see the Okalala, a mine tender, almost completely capsized and its bottom was being cut away in an effort to get the men out. A burning battleship, a mile away, could be seen and the Arizona was at my furthest vantage point.

"On Battleship Row, ships were tied up two abreast to individual piers. Drifting burning oil was menacing those ships. And a floating dry dock was destroyed," Neville said.

"The Pennsylvania, a battleship, was in dry dock, and completely dependent on the Navy yard for power to fire its guns.

"Ford Island was hit by several bombs from Japanese planes that came in from the ocean side. Seaplanes, that had been out and just gassed up were sitting nicely there when the bombs were dropped," he said.

The Japanese were dropping an incendiary type bomb which left a powder resembling sulphur in its wake.

"The powder was everywhere and soon many of the men had patches of sore puffy blisters. Doctors nipped the blisters, but everyone's hands were stiff with the sores. When the powder wasn't cleaned out of the hangars for days and I couldn't stand it anymore, I transferred out of there.

'We all found it hard to accept that Pearl Harbor was actually being attacked.'

"We were trying to get the aircraft ready to fly and by midnight on Pearl Harbor Day returning American planes, flying without lights, were hit. The pilot of one was killed, another landed at Pearl Island and survived even though his plane was so full of holes that it was taken directly to the dump," Neville said.

"Then the mopping up operation began. We did everything we could to get aircraft back in operation. The planes had been sitting in neat rows on the air field when the attack came. The Army got three planes into the air during the attack and they all made a good accounting for themselves, he said.

Rumors circulated continually and suspicion was high that the Japanese residents perhaps weren't loyal.

"We were afraid of another attack, but more afraid of sabotage. There was a large Japanese population on Oahu and we didn't know if they were loyal. We had 'reventments' — three sides concrete structures — for our planes, but we pulled the planes out of them. We were afraid of sabotage.

"Later we found that the Japanese were loyal Americans," Neville said.

At one point on Pearl Harbor when rations became short each military installation chose which meals would be light ones and which heavy. Neville was one of the lucky ones. Those stationed at the navy base had heavy breakfasts and suppers while those at the Marine Corps air station Eva where he was working on aircraft decided to have its biggest meal at noontime. So all of Neville's meals were heavy ones.

Charles vividly remembers gaining weight during that period.

During his naval career, Neville was stationed in Hawaii for eight years and enjoyed the service. He and Millie met in mid-1940 at Queens Hospital where she was a nurse and where he was visiting a friend who was hospitalized. Charles had a sailboat and the couple spent their first date on it. By the end of that year they were married.

In October this year the couple returned to Hawaii for a vacation and saw some of their old friends and the historic Pearl Harbor sites. One of their friends gave a party honoring Millie on her 70th birthday.

The changes in the islands in the intervening years are "heart-breaking," Millie said. The beaches are cluttered with hotels and people.

And as memories go, Hawaii today is not nearly as beautiful as it was nearly 40 years ago when they lived there.

Underwater Survey Takes New Look At Arizona Sinking

By Gordon Sakamoto
PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (UPI) — The first extensive damage survey of the sunken battleship Arizona may lead, finally, to a definitive answer on how the ship was sunk during the Dec. 7, 1941, Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

The Arizona was sunk at her moorings with a loss of 1,177 sailors and Marines. More than 1,100 crewmen remain entombed in the bulk of the sunken battleship.

Official government documents show the Arizona was nearly blasted out of the water by a bomb that pierced the deck near the first gun turret and went down five decks before exploding amidst 1.8 million pounds of ammunition.

Nevertheless, reports persist that the battleship, which became a symbol of World War II, was sent to the bottom by a bomb that went down the smokestack or by torpedo hits. The first phase of an underwater survey conducted in September tends to support the official report, according to John A. Martini, chief park ranger at the Arizona Memorial.

"The original Navy survey in 1941 could not determine whether the smokestack screen was intact," he said. "There is nothing left of the ammunition screen, which means it probably was removed during salvage operations. But if the bomb went down the smokestack, it was the best shot in history."

Even if did, said Martini, the ship would have withstood the damage. As for the torpedo theory, he said, "We couldn't uncover any torpedo damage. That doesn't mean it didn't happen, but we couldn't find it."

IN BRIEF

Orlando May Be Getting A New Arena Downtown

ORLANDO (UPI) — The next step for a proposed 15,000-seat multipurpose arena in downtown Orlando is approval from the city council.

The Orange County Commission on Tuesday approved the proposal for the $20 million facility. The city council is expected to approve the measure next week.

The arena is to be paid for with the county's 2 percent resort tax. Construction probably won't begin until at least 1990 when the money is available, officials said.

The proposal calls for the arena to be constructed on a 50-acre tract of land in the downtown Centroplex area, where the city's Expo Centre and the Bob Carr Performing Arts Centre are located.

Stano Faces Death Again

TITUSVILLE (UPI) — Mass killer Gerald Stano said he was a "victim of circumstances" in the 1973 death of a Port Orange teenager, but a jury disagreed and recommended the death penalty for the former short-order cook.

The seven-woman, five-man jury voted 10-2 in favor of the death sentence Tuesday. Circuit Judge Gil Goshorn, who is not bound by the jury's recommendation, is scheduled to sentence Stano Friday.

If Goshorn sentences Stano, 32, to die in Florida's electric chair, it will be his third death sentence. Stano also is serving six life prison terms and has claimed responsibility for as many as 39 other murders.

All Souls Selling Trees

The All Souls School Booster Club will be selling fresh Christmas trees this weekend from 10 a.m. until dark and from 2:30 p.m. until dark the next week until all trees are sold.

Prices for the Scotch pines range from $20 to $30.

The trees will be sold at the vacant lot across from the All Souls Church, between Park Avenue and Oak Avenue, Sanford.

All proceeds from the sale will go to the school's athletic department.

In Pennsylvania and it continued after I moved here," Harmon said. Of his plans for change when he takes office, Harmon said, "It's a combination of small things including opening up the lines of communication with the county government."

County officials have complained of inability to schedule a meeting with Casselberry officers on proposed road improvements from revenues of the 4-cent county imposed gasoline tax.

Leighly, who served six terms on the council before his defeat by Harmon, said today, "I guess the people put me into political retirement. I think I need some time to spend with my family."

Meanwhile, an exuberant Glascock said, "I guess the people saw that I was trying to be as straight forward and honest as I could be. I said my door would be open and it was and I have been accessible by telephone. The people know I care about the city."

Glascock also pointed with pride to the fact "there hasn't been a single squabble between the mayor and council for the past year."

On the three charter questions, the people turned down the proposal to exchange its full time mayor system for a city manager; chose to retain two year terms for city elected officials and opted to change its election time from December to November to coincide with general elections.

In Longwood, Mrs. Lormann, returned to office for a sixth term, said she really has been a good commissioner.

"I feel I have served the people well and responded to their wishes," she said. "I'm excited. My campaign motto was: the three R's — responsive, responsible and representative — and I feel I have done those things and

School Board, Altamonte Springs Being Sued

A Lake Howell High School student and his father are suing the Seminole County School Board for damages in connection with an attack involving the boy at the school.

The suit, filed in Seminole Circuit Court by Robert Peterson, 18, a senior at Lake Howell High, and his father, Byron Peterson, who live in the Maitland area, seeks an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000.

The suit charges that Robert Peterson was attacked in a hallway at the school on Oct. 22, 1982 by another student who inflicted "severe facial injuries" on Peterson which required medical treatment.

No teachers or other supervisory personnel were present in the hallway at the time of the alleged attack and the school board is therefore negligent because the hallway was not adequately supervised, the suit charges.

An Altamonte Springs woman, who was run down by an automobile in a parking lot, has filed a suit against the city of Altamonte Springs seeking damages in excess of $5,000.

According to the suit, Beverly E. Brower was struck by a car driven by Kevin Allen Hodges on April 11, 1981 after she and her sister had left the Why Not? lounge in the Holiday Inn on Wymore Road in Altamonte Springs.

For several hours prior to the accident, Hodges, who lives in Casselberry, was in the lounge and had consumed large quantities of alcoholic beverages, the suit says.

Altamonte Springs police officers on routine patrol observed Hodges in an intoxicated condition in the lobby of the Holiday Inn and in the parking area outside, the suit says.

lounge and walked to their car which was parked across the street, defense attorney Donald R. Gattis said. At about the same time, Hodges got into his car, which was parked in the lounge's parking lot, and then drove across Wymore Road and struck Miss Brower from behind at about 1:43 a.m., Gattis said.

The suit charges that the city was negligent because the police officers failed to take Hodges into protective custody when they observed him earlier.

The suit seeks compensation for the injuries suffered by Miss Brower.

...Flea World Decision

The residents who oppose the commission's decision say it conflicts with Levy's agreement, reached last year when he expanded the market, not to open the exit gates to CR 427 and County Home Road. As one of the conditions of Levy's special zoning exception, granted by the county's board of adjustment, he agreed only to open the rear gates during non-business hours, a spokesman for the county's land management office said.

"We're not decided yet, but there is a strong possibility we will fight it," Mrs. Wren said.

She and about a dozen of her neighbors were on hand Tuesday to demonstrate their opposition, but were outnumbered by Flea World supporters, many of whom identified themselves as dealers at the market. Both groups packed the commission chambers for the hearing.

Ms. Clayton advised the commission that it could only require Levy to meet county code regulations dealing with the number of parking spaces on the property and could not demand that he change the design of his business area.

"The commissioners felt the internal design was bad but they are not in the position to re-design outside of code regulations," she said.

It is unclear whether the commissioners' decision to allow the rear gates to be opened will stand as it is apparently in conflict with the special exception, she said.

Ms. Clayton said the residents who oppose the move can either request a rehearing from the commission or appeal the decision in court.

Meanwhile, Levy maintains he has complied with the special exception conditions but has occasionally been asked by a county sheriff's deputy, who is stationed weekends on Highway 17-92 to direct traffic at the market, to open the rear gates.

THE 2-WEEK ALTERNATIVE FOR PROBLEM DRINKERS

Alternative Treatment Services introduces... Magnolia Place

Alternative Treatment Services has opened the doors of Magnolia Place in downtown Orlando. This one-of-a-kind, day-treatment facility offers problem drinkers, their employers and families hope for recovery through a professional alternative to high-cost, 4-6 week in-patient alcoholic treatment.

Because patients return home at night and on the weekends, the cost of this program is about 1/6th that of current 28-day residential plans.

Physicians and other specialists in chemical dependency, with records of achievement at both Brookwood Lodge and Lakeland Regional Medical Center, have developed an intensive 14-day treatment program. For patients and their families, Magnolia Place means:

- The first-hand support of family members through the maintained integrity of the family unit;
- A greater degree of confidentiality due to the shorter time away from work;
- A more affordable alternative to the high expense of more traditional 28-day treatment programs.

This innovative program, extending over two 5-day weeks, includes classes, counseling, therapy and group discussions aimed at re-directing the lifestyle away from chemical dependency. Families are involved for two full days. AA and Al-Anon participation is an essential component to the success of the program, as well as one year of after-care.

If you are an employer... Magnolia Place provides a means of helping valuable employees of yours to regain their balance in their struggle against alcohol, with minimum time away from work — and at far less expense to your firm than has heretofore been possible.

Periodontal Disease

95% of all adults are affected. Any disease having this ratio had better be well understood. Hence, the reason for this letter.

Periodontal disease is a chronic inflammatory disease that affects the gum tissue, ligaments and bone around the teeth. It causes weakening and ultimate destruction of these tissues which protect and support the teeth and hold them in place. Pyorrhea is an older, outdated term for this disease.

FAMILY DENTIST

It starts with gum inflammation. If the problem is not corrected the inflammation gradually extends below the gum line. Now the fibers connecting each tooth to its bony socket are affected. As time goes on, the bone will also become involved as the inflammation extends deeper into the fiber area.

What causes it? Bacterial plaque! Plaque, simply defined, is an organized colony of bacteria which causes inflammation and ultimately the breakdown of the gum tissue and bone. Of course, there are also other causative factors which contribute to periodontal breakdown. Examples are missing teeth, food impactions, poor occlusion, etc. Bacterial plaque, however, is the primary cause of periodontal disease.

What are the symptoms?

1. Bleeding gums
2. Excessive formation of calculus deposits
3. Drifting or shifting of any teeth - including fanning of the front teeth.
4. Loosening of any teeth
5. Any swelling in the gingival (gum) area, possibly indicating the presence of an abscess.

Polk Revamps School Guard Program

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County school crossing guard Walter V. Syracuse said that his job has become a little easier and a lot safer since the guards came under control of Sheriff John E. Polk in June, Syracuse, 74, who has served as a crossing guard at Lake Mary Elementary School for 11 years, said the best thing about the revamped crossing guard program is the introduction of uniforms and safety equipment.

The bright orange helmets, flags and vests make the guards more visible in traffic and the new dress code requiring black pants and white shirts give the guards a unified appearance, which Polk says, adds to their authority.

There are 68 crossing guards stationed at 32 school zones throughout Seminole County. Prior to June, the $100,000 budget for the program was administered by the sheriff's department, but the guards were hired and supervised by the principals of the schools they served.

Lt. Beau Taylor, commander of special operations and administrator for the guard program, said the decision for the sheriff's department to take full control over the guards was made earlier this year after a guard needed to be fired and school officials didn't know how to handle the situation.

Polk fired the guard, who was accused of drinking on the job, and has since worked to improve the quality of the program.

In addition to the new dress code, guards are now trained by deputies before they are placed in the field.

The guards earn minimum wage, $3.35 an hour, and work about two hours each school day. Syracuse, Seminole County's senior crossing guard, said, "I've almost been hit several times by drivers who don't stop until the last minute, but I love the job. I love the kids and they love me."

Taylor said that's the attitude that a guard must have, because they need to be motivated by something other than the small amount of pay they receive. They also have to deal with verbal abuse from irate drivers who must slow down and sometimes stop at the crossings.

The guards have no arrest powers and if a serious problem develops, Taylor said a traffic officer must be called on to handle the situation. But the sheriff's traffic division is short four officers, so the Sanford police occasionally step in to assist.

Taylor said the guards have a thankless job and perform tremendously under the pressures. He said he has a hard time filling vacant positions because most people want to work close to home instead of stepping in where a position is open.

"We depend on the mothers who would normally be bringing their own children to school anyway. We've also hired a couple of guards through the school dividends program and from referrals through the Senior Citizens Federation," Taylor said.

School crossing guard Juanita Fudge of Sanford admonishes a driver who ignored the 25 mph speed limit and failed to heed her signal to stop. The car barely missed hitting a student who was pushing his bicycle across U.S. Highway 17-92 in front of Sanford Middle School. Mrs. Fudge said this was her first close call since she became a crossing guard early this year.

Taylor said he receives threatening phone calls from parents who fear for the safety of their children. They say, "You'd better watch out when the first child is hit by a car." But he said, "So far we've had a safe year, and if the drivers would be more cooperative we wouldn't have to worry so much."

Since the guards are part-time employees they receive no fringe benefits, but are covered by county insurance if they are injured on the job.

The Future Of The Land Determined By Its Weeds

By United Press International

Landowners who want to develop their property are at the mercy of their weeds under a Florida environmental law that distinguishes protected wetlands from unprotected dry lands according to the plants that grow in the area.

Wetlands get state protection, but dry land does not. In Florida, the plants that grow in an area can determine how much freedom property owners have to develop their land.

Lucky Florida landowners who have maple trees on their property probably can develop their land without consulting the Department of Environmental Regulation because they own dry land.

The leather fern, on the other hand is a wetlands plant. Property owners who want to dredge and fill the land where those plants grow must make a trip through the bureaucratic maze for a DER permit.

The maple and the fern are among hundreds of "indicator" plants that separate the wetlands from the dry lands under the DER's "vegetation index."

The plants are used to clarify state jurisdiction in river and creek flood plains, swamps, lakes with widely fluctuating water levels and in certain other wetlands.

Other dry land "indicator" plants, the sight of which is sure to make property owners happy, include the seagrape, an undisciplined plant with large oval leaves; dog fennel, which emits a sharp, earthy smell; and wax myrtle, a wild but pretty bush.

A team of DER plant specialists is currently touring the Florida wilds to note which plants grow where.

Since the list was compiled in 1974, much more has been learned about plants in the state, she said. Many species will be dropped, but more will be added. As a result, many environmentally sensitive areas will get better state protection, Tschinkel said.

Diet Aid May Endanger Fetus

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Unborn children could suffer brain damage if their mothers use lecithin as a diet aid during pregnancy, a Duke University Medical Center researcher believes.

Dr. Joanne Bell said two years of research with rats indicates even slightly higher than normal doses of lecithin could result in defects among the newborn.

Lecithin has become popular in recent years as a natural diet aid, Bell said, although she could not estimate its popularity. The agent is sold in tablet, capsule and granular form at health food stores and often is taken in a mix with fruit juice or water.

"It's one of those products, like health foods, that falls outside the domain of the Food and Drug Administration," she said. "This is the only study I know of that has looked at its effects on a succeeding generation."

Eggs, soybeans, livers and nuts all contain lecithin, and the agent is added to chocolates, baked goods and mayonnaise. Ms. Bell said the agent helps push cholesterol out of arteries so the body doesn't retain it.

Ms. Bell tested 1,000 rats over two years by putting five times the normal amount of lecithin in their diets. Offspring of the group that ate a lot of lecithin had abnormally slow reflexes during their early development and adolescence, she said.

"They were slow in learning to turn over and in learning how to walk and were generally slower in their movements," she said.

Seeking the reason why, she found brain cells of the newborn had deviations in the normal levels of enzymes that are important to early development.

Ms. Bell's report about lecithin's affect on the young contrasts with research on the use of lecithin for patients suffering from hardening of the arteries.

She said there are some indications brain transmission can increase among older patients who use lecithin, particularly those with afflictions such as Alzheimer's disease.

Bizarre Merthie Uses Correctable Error To Upset Seminoles

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Tuesday night's first ever meeting between the Seminole and Lake Mary varsity boys will be remembered a long time — but not for the usual basketball drama.

It did not conclude with a last-second shot or a crucial block in the closing seconds. Rather, an 18-minute delay which resulted in a "correctable error" and a free throw which Tracy Holloman tried to miss — but made — will be etched in the minds of the boisterous 1,500 fans in attendance.

"It wasn't a great game, but it was exciting — and most definitely bizarre."

"I don't know. I don't know," Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson kept repeating a long time after his Rams had pulled out a 58-57 Five Star Conference victory over the Fighting Seminoles at Lake Mary. "We must have missed a million free throws. I guess God just loves us. It was a strange game."

Seminole coach Chris Marlette agreed. "The officials wouldn't take control of the game," he said. "It was a weird game, but I knew they (Lake Mary) would be up for us. Their kids did a good job."

As expected both teams came out tight. Lake Mary guard Fred Miller, who played with many of the Seminoles as a freshman at Crooms High, carried the Rams in the early going. He scored eight first-quarter points as the Rams took an early lead, only to see Seminole's James Rouse come off the bench and throw in two jumpers to pull the 'Noles up ahead, 17-11, at the end of one.

"Fred kept us in the game during the early going," pointed out Richardson. "I know he got tired, but I had to leave him in there."

In the second quarter, the teams were nip-and-tuck until midway through when Tribe senior William Wynn tossed in a rebound bucket to put Sanford ahead, 26-23. Lake Mary junior Darryl Merthie, who led all scorers with 20 points, countered with two free throws in the closing minutes, but Seminole's Kenny Gordon powered down baseline for a three-point play and Steve Grey scored on the front end of a steal to put Seminole in charge at halftime, 29-25.

Prep Basketball

The first half was plagued with fouls and turnovers. Sanford turned the ball over 19 times while the Rams were guilty of 11 giveaways. Miller had eight points for the home team while Wynn tossed in eight for the visitors. Infractions also took their toll as the Rams' Jeff Reynolds and Billy Dunn had three fouls while Bruce Franklin, Wynn and Willie Mitchell had two each for Seminole.

Mitchell, who never did get untracked with his shooting (3 of 13 from the floor and just seven points), picked up his third foul midway in the third quarter and it appeared the Rams were ready to take control.

But after Merthie popped a jumper for a 36-35 edge, Seminole broke loose. The Tribe exploded for seven points in less than a minute to take a 45-40 edge into the fourth period.

The outburst started when 6-4 center Jimmy Gilchrist grabbed a missed shot, outletted to Franklin, who returned the pass to Gilchrist for a flying dunk. Franklin then stole the ball and scored. Rouse then picked off a cross-court pass, dribbled to the baseline and dropped in a baseline jumper for a 45-38 lead with just 22 seconds left. A Miller bucket with nine ticks left pulled the Rams within 45-40.

Richardson went with point guard Albert Flores in the final quarter and the speedy transfer turned around the game. "Flores just ate our guards up," said Marlette. "He penetrated and made some key free throws."

Seminole surged to a 50-44 lead with four minutes left, but Flores knocked down two charity tosses to pull Lake Mary within 50-46. Reynolds hit two more with 3:48 left and the Rams were within 50-48.

Darryl Merthie powers up a shot after grabbing a missed free throw to draw a foul from Seminole's Jimmy Gilchrist. Merthie finally got to shoot his two free throws after an 18-minute delay to push Lake Mary to a 58-57 victory.

Bucs Blank Tribe; Hawks Trim 'Cats

Daytona Beach Mainland's Buccaneers scored four goals in the last 20 minutes of the first half en route to a 7-0 blanking of Sanford Seminole in prep soccer action Tuesday at Daytona Beach. Mainland had taken a 1-0 lead earlier in the half, but Seminole's defense held tough for about 15 minutes before the Buccaneers' barrage.

"The defense just collapsed after those four quick goals," Seminole coach Howard Hawkins said. "That is the best Mainland team that I've ever seen."

Soccer

Down, 5-0, at halftime, the Tribe could get nothing going offensively in the second half and Mainland added two more goals. Hawkins cited the play of fullback Tim Dycus and halfback Jessie Rutherford as the top performances in Tuesday's game.

Seminole is back in action tonight at Bishop Moore and then will compete in the DeLand Invitational on Saturday with its first game at 4 p.m. against Spruce Creek.

At Lake Howell, the Hawks scored two goals in the first 10 minutes of the game and went on to defeat Winter Park, 3-1. Robert Bliss scored the Silver Hawks' first goal and Jeff Schnicker came back to put Lake Howell ahead, 2-0, early in the opening half.

Winter Park scored its goal in the last 30 seconds of the first half to make it 2-1 at halftime, but Lake Howell's Jim Morrissey added an insurance goal for the Hawks midway through the second half.

"It was an outstanding team effort," Lake Howell coach Norm Wight said. "Our goalie (Jeff Spraker) did a super job. He came back well after giving up six goals against Oak Ridge."

Wight also cited the efforts of James Phillips, Mike Serino and Billy Lowe along with Morrissey, Schnicker and Bliss. Lake Howell, 1-1, is back in action Friday at Lake Mary.

In junior varsity action, Sean Mackey's goal broke a 1-1 tie to lead the Silver Hawks' to a 2-1 victory over Winter Park in the debut for the Lake Howell JV.

At Orlando, Boone, 3-0, kicked in four penalty kicks to Lyman's three in the overtime shootout to take a 1-0 victory over the Greyhounds. Coach Jim Buckman cited the effort of goalie Ben Ritter, who turned in a strong effort with 26 saves.

"Boone has an excellent team and it was one of the best ball games I've ever seen," said Buckman. "They've scored 14 goals in three games and I think they expected to come in and do that against us. I was very pleased with our showing. We did rather well. We had 23 shots on goal."

In JV play, Tom Lawlor booted two goals while Gerard Mitchell, Tom Merwin and Brian Nichols added one each as the 2-0 Greyhounds of coach Logan Fleck blanked Boone, 5-0.

Lyman, 1-1, hosts Spruce Creek Friday. Coach Cathie Weil's Lyman girls, meanwhile, continued to roll as they blanked Trinity Prep, 11-0, at Trinity. Sheila Mandy kicked home five goals to pace the rout as Lyman improved to 2-0.

Alyson Barnes chipped in three goals while Dawn and Diana Boyesen and Karen Abernethy had one apiece.

"(Goalie) Lisa Chatman had just five shots on goal, but she made three nice saves," said Weil. Trinity's program is in just its first year of existence.

Lyman hosts Lake Mary Friday.

SCC Has Fun, Pounds Sumter; Girls Break 3-Game Loss Skid

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

There's no denying the Seminole Community College Raiders have a lot of talent. However, the past few games, the Raiders have played as if there was something wrong. They were getting away from the basic concept of the game — having fun.

That held true for the first half of Tuesday night's game against the Lake Sumter Community College Lakers. But, at halftime, SCC coach Bill Payne talked it over with his team and told them to go out, play the way they are capable of — and have fun. The Raiders, down 41-34 at halftime, came out blazing in the second half and rolled to a 99-73 victory over the Lakers at the SCC Health Center.

"I told the players at halftime, they were putting too much pressure on themselves," Payne said. "They were getting too serious. I told them to go out, loosen up, and have fun."

SCC now stands at 7-4 for the season and will be back in action Friday night at 7 against Indian River in the Brevard Tournament. Host Brevard plays Cincinnati Tech in the second game.

After consecutive losses to Eckert College junior varsity and Florida College, two teams the Raiders had previously beaten, SCC came out thinking of avoiding a third straight loss. The first half was even until the last two minutes when, with the score tied at 32-32, Lake Sumter outscored SCC, 9-2, to take a 41-34 halftime lead.

J.C. Basketball

"We were sleepwalking in the first half," Payne said. "It was a total team effort, everybody was screwing up. The second half was just the opposite."

The Raiders came out and immediately increased the tempo of the game, running at every possible opportunity. Everyone got into the action and contributed to the Raiders' second-half blitz.

SCC regained the lead, 49-48, at 13:25 in the second half, and never lost it after that. Less than three minutes later, Mike Tolbert dropped in a layup to give the Raiders a 10-point lead, 62-52. The Raiders put the game away with 4:38 left as Bernard Merthie banked one home for a 83-62 lead.

Six players scored in double figures for SCC with Phelps' 17 points leading the way including 7 of 11 from the floor. The 6-6 center, who, like the team, had been struggling the last few games, did an outstanding job underneath.

"I hope this game will turn things around from me," Phelps. "I'm going to keep working hard to get back to where I should be."

Lenny Grace and Merthie hit 14 points each for the Raiders while Jimmy Payton, Artis Johnson and Tolbert had 10 points each. Lake Sumter's Griffin Bridges took high scoring honors with 19 points and Greg "Slick" Lane added 13.

SCC's Lady Raiders snapped a three-game losing streak with a narrow 45-44 overtime victory over Indian River CC earlier Tuesday night at the SCC Health Center.

After a 38-38 tie at the end of regulation, the Lady Raiders built a three-point, 45-42, lead late in overtime. Indian River cut it to 45-44 with seven seconds left. Indian River's Yvonne Kelso then stole the inbounds pass and was fouled with three seconds left.

Kelso could have tied the game or given Indian River the victory, but she missed the front end of a one-plus-one and the follow up shot was well off the mark as the Lady Raiders survived the last-second scare.

SCC now stands at 5-8 for the season and will travel to Edison CC Thursday. The Lady Raiders next home game is January 7.

Pam Lee and Kim Ross led SCC with 10 points each and Val Roessler added eight while Veronica Parks had 12 for Indian River and Michelle Burkoski added 10.

SCC's Luis Phelps (no. 55) uses an elbow and a yell to score against Sumter.

Cook Of The Week

Gelatin Dishes Enhance Any Meal

By Lou Childers
Herald Correspondent

For this week's cook, mastering culinary arts started with the early training she received from her mother. Vicky Meadows of Chuluota says, "I have been cooking since I was a little girl, 6 years old." Vicky is thankful that her parents, Bitzy and Jim Langston, both encouraged her when it came to cooking.

"Actually," she says, "I came from a long line of good Southern cooks, including my grandmother, Clara Lee Lyons, of Houston."

Vicky's Dad was in the military which meant the family traveled a lot. "Even my brother, Jim Jr., learned to cook," states Vicky. It was during a three-year stay in Japan that Vicky remembers cooking her first entire meal for the family at the ripe old age of 12 years. It was, however, an all-American cuisine, not Oriental.

While in Japan, Vicky's father learned to cook Skiyaki, a main dish that begins by chopping the meat in thin strips and frying them in a small amount of oil in the middle of a skillet, and then, one by one, adding the vegetables in little "circle piles" around the meat in the order that they will cook to tenderness. Unlike the conventional eastern method of stir frying, the vegetables in Skiyaki are not combined, but rather kept in separate groups and served individually.

When the holidays arrive, Vicky says, "You can't have enough jello recipes — they go with everything." Some of hers are salads, and some desserts. The bright colors of the various flavors such as lemon, lime, orange and strawberry, add a festive flair to any meal.

Of all her gelatin recipes, Vicky says her family's favorite is Molded Ambrosia Salad. The combination of pineapple, chopped pecans, mandarin oranges, grated coconut and sour cream in an orange jello base makes a beautiful as well as delicious molded salad.

"At just this time of year," recalls Vicky, "when I was in the first grade, I was summoned to the principal's office." Was she ever surprised to find a newspaper reporter waiting there to interview her and get a snapshot for the local paper. "What do you want for Christmas, little girl," he asked. Vicky replied she wanted a baking set. On Christmas morning, Vicky's wish came true when she unwrapped the package containing her "very own" tiny cake pans complete with miniature cake and icing mixes. "I've been cooking ever since," she says.

'Holidays Past' Reception

History, tradition and holidays the world over, are irrevocably linked and the Sanford Historical Preservation Society and its parent group, The Henry S. Sanford Memorial Library-Museum Board of Trustees will follow this pattern when they entertain members and supporters on Thursday, Dec. 8, from 7-9 p.m., at the Library-Museum in historic Fort Mellon Park.

This annual reception and mid-season exhibit has become a traditional event for local and area history buffs who look forward to joining friends for a preview of the holiday exhibit prior to the official opening to the general public on Sunday, Dec. 10.

This season's presentation, "Holidays Past," will depict a quaint turn-of-the-century General Store during the holidays, featuring a pair of handsome pine handmade counters once used in Yowel's Dry Goods Store, one of Sanford's most popular "emporiums," and patronized by the elite of the area.

Guests will be carried back in time to the sights and sounds, the foods and fashions of an earlier period when the Town of Sanford was beginning to make history as a thriving, bustling river-front community.

Various committees have been busy preparing refreshments typical of the period and guests will find the Little Country Store offering numerous "from scratch" cakes, cookies, candy and other holiday treats for sale together with handmade Christmas tree decorations, toys and beadwork miniatures, so popular in the late 1800s.

Make Ahead Buffet Lets Hostess Enjoy Party

Fun for the whole family in having a party during the holidays. And it should be fun and enjoyable for you, the hostess, as well.

With the help of these easy and delicious make ahead recipes, you'll be out of the kitchen and enjoying your party in no time.

This easy to create Vegetable Christmas Tree is an alternative to the relish tray and serves as a festive centerpiece, too. Start with a styrofoam cone and secure a layer of leaf lettuce or spinach to the cone with toothpicks. Now simply decorate the tree by attaching your favorite raw vegetables with toothpicks.

Guests will enjoy selecting vegetables from the tree and dipping them in Get-Togethers Cheese spreads. A cream cheese base is used for two spreads — one is spicy and the other is onion and garlic flavored. Prepare them the day before the party. Then refrigerate them in ready-to-serve air-tight containers until party time. These two spreads are great on crackers, too.

Who could resist hors d'oeuvres of Fried Won Tons or Chick'N Wrap-Ups? All but the cooking of these two snacks can be done prior to the party. Marinate the chicken strips the day before in soy sauce or Italian salad dressing. Then just roll them up, wrap in bacon, place in a covered baking dish and refrigerate. Thirty minutes before the guests arrive, bake the Chick'N Wrap-Ups and fry the prepared ahead Won Tons. Serve them hot with tangy Savory Sweet and Sour Dressing.

A taco flavored Mexican Munch recipe featuring a variety of crunchy items like potato sticks, shredded corn squares, French-fried onions and peanuts is a zesty change from chips. The recipe can be made a few weeks before the party, suggests Tupperware Educational Services, and it will stay fresh and crisp if stored in an air-tight sealed container. You may want to make a double batch and have on hand for impromptu gatherings at your home during the holidays or to package in individual containers as gifts.

To complete your buffet table, try this holiday Topaz Punch. The sherbet ring mold can be made a few days before the party. Come party time, unmold the frozen sherbet ring, add premixed punch base and white grape juice.

FRIED WON TONS

- 1 cup cooked diced pork
 - 1/2 cup bean sprouts, coarsely chopped
 - 1/2 cup minced water chestnuts
 - 1/4 cup chopped green onions
 - 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 - 2 drops sesame oil
 - ground red pepper to taste
 - 1 16-oz. package won ton skins
- Mix all ingredients except the won ton skins. In center of each won ton skin place on teaspoon filling. Moisten edges of the skin with water, fold opposite corners together, forming a triangle, then seal edges. Bring the two points together, moisten and seal. Deep fry won tons, a few at a time, until golden brown. Makes 48 won tons. Serve with Savory Sweet and Sour Dressing.

CHICK'N WRAP-UPS

- 1 cup soy sauce (may substitute Italian salad dressing)
 - 4 green onions, minced
 - 1 teaspoon pepper
 - 6 boned and skinned chicken breasts
 - 12 bacon strips
 - 24 toothpicks
- In a small mixing bowl, combine soy sauce, green onions and pepper. Slice each chicken breast into 4 strips. Place chicken strips in a Season Serve marinating container and pour soy sauce mixture over the strips, seal; refrigerate overnight. Invert container occasionally. Slice bacon strips in half. Remove chicken strips from marinating container. Roll up each chicken strip and wrap with half slice of bacon. Secure with toothpick. Place Chick'N Wrap-Ups in baking dish. Bake at 350° for 30 minutes or until done. Makes 24 Chick'N Wrap-Ups. Serve hot with Savory Sweet and Sour Dressing.

SAVORY SWEET AND SOUR DRESSING

- 1 can condensed tomato soup
 - 1 cup salad oil
 - 1/4 cup vinegar
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1 medium onion, coarsely chopped
 - 1 clove garlic, minced
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 1/2 teaspoon each salt and pepper
- Place all ingredients in blender container, cover and process until smooth. Chill thoroughly before serving, preferably 24 hours. Makes about 4 cups dressing. Use as a dip for Fried Won Tons and Chick'N Wrap-ups.

GET-TOGETHERS CHEESE SPREADS

- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
 - 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 - 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
 - 2 tablespoons pimiento, diced
 - 1 tablespoon chili sauce
 - 1/2 cup cream style cottage cheese, drained
 - 1/2 teaspoon onion salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
 - 1/4 cup snipped parsley
- In a 1-quart mixing bowl, beat cream cheese and lemon juice until fluffy. Divide into two portions; into one portion, stir Parmesan cheese, pimiento and chili sauce. To second portion add cottage cheese, onion salt and garlic powder; beat until nearly smooth. Stir in parsley. Makes 2 spreads; 1/4 cup each. Store in sealed containers in refrigerator until serving time. Serve along with raw vegetables and crackers.

MEXICAN MUNCH

- 1 3-ounce can French-fried onions
 - 2 cups bite-size shredded corn squares
 - 1/4 cup spanish peanuts
 - 1 4-oz. can potato sticks
 - 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 - 1/2 of a 1 1/2-oz. package taco seasoning mix
- In a 13x9x2-inch baking pan, combine onions, cereal, peanuts and potato sticks. Melt butter or margarine over low heat; drizzle over mixture in baking pan and stir well. Sprinkle seasoning mix evenly over mixture, mixing well. Bake in 300° oven for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Allow to cool and store in air-tight sealed container. Makes about 7 cups.

TOPAZ PUNCH

- 1/2 cup red maraschino cherries
 - 1/2 cup green maraschino cherries
 - 5 cups softened lemon sherbet
 - 1 6-ounce can frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
 - 1 6-ounce can frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed
 - 1 quart water
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 2 bottles (24-ounces each) white grape juice
- Arrange red and green maraschino cherries in the bottom of a jello ring mold. Spoon softened lemon sherbet over cherries, pressing to make a firm ring. Cover mold ring with an air-tight seal; place in coldest part of freezer until very firm.

To make punch base, combine orange juice concentrate, lemonade concentrate, water and sugar in a 48-ounce container with liquid-tight seal. Apply seal; shake gently until sugar is dissolved. Store in refrigerator.

Shortly before serving time, remove jello ring mold from freezer. While still sealed, immerse in warm water for 20 to 30 seconds. Inside a large punch bowl, remove the seal from mold. Invert and release frozen sherbet ring. Pour chilled punch base from 48-ounce container into punch bowl. Slowly add grape juice and stir very gently until blended. Makes about 20, 5-ounce servings.

Festive French Fare Calls For Reveillon

Holiday festivities abound and many are searching for traditional types of food to serve at their family gatherings.

The French, best known for their creations of gastronomic delight, celebrate the Holiday Season with a magnificent feast called Reveillon or midnight meal.

Each region in France serves their special wines and goods. In Alsace, roast goose is the specialty, while in Burgundy it is chestnut stuffed turkey. The Bretons enjoy buckwheat cakes with sour cream. The Parisians mark the occasion with oysters and foie gras.

Families linger for hours sharing the dishes of everlasting tradition and the merriment of Reveillon. To help everyone restore a light feeling after the bounteous repast and before dessert, fresh fruits, cheese and a sparkling mineral water like Perrier are thoughtfully served.

The traditional dessert of Reveillon is bûche de Noël, a handsome and delicious yule log. Bûche de Noël can become a French inspired dessert in your home as it is actually quite easy to do. A spongecake filled with French Bonne Maman preserves is rolled then decorated with woody trimmings.

BUCHE DE NOEL Spongecake (Genoise)

- 3 tablespoons unsalted butter, melted
- 1 cup sifted all purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- 4 eggs
- 2 egg yolks
- ¼ cup sugar

- ½ teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 jar raspberry preserves

1. Line greased jelly roll pan (15½x10½ inch) with wax paper. Grease and dust with flour lightly. Set aside.

2. In large bowl put eggs, yolks, sugar and vanilla. Beat at high speed for 8 minutes. The mixture will triple in volume and be creamy. Fold in sifted flour and baking powder gently with slotted spoon lifting to aerate. Fold in melted butter. Do not overfold.

3. Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake at 350°F for 20 to 25 minutes.

4. Remove from oven. While cake is still in pan, cut off crisp edges. Invert pan on towel dusted with confectioners sugar. Remove wax paper at once. Roll both the cake and towel together. Cool on rack seam down.

5. Unroll carefully and fill with raspberry preserves. Roll again.

MOCHA BUTTER CREAM FROSTING

- ½ stick unsalted butter, softened
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 2 oz. bittersweet chocolate, melted
 - 2 cups confectioners sugar
 - 1½ teaspoons instant coffee
 - 2-4 tablespoons heavy cream
- Blend butter, one cup confectioners sugar. Add coffee that was dissolved in vanilla.
 - Add chocolate and heavy cream.
 - Add the remaining sugar until desired consistency. Serves Eight.

Create Popular Corner Deli

If you love cheese and sausage, you're not alone. Statistics show that America is a nation of cheese and sausage lovers. Every year, more than 400 varieties of cheese and 200 kinds of sausage are produced in the U.S. alone.

The popularity of cheese and sausage and the ease with which they can be turned into party fare, make them naturals for entertaining. Served with other sliced meats, such as ham and beef, they're perfect for entertaining deli-style.

Having the right foods for a homestyle deli tray, like cheese and sausage, is important. But what can make the difference between a hohum party tray and a professional-looking deli party tray with pizzazz is the way foods are presented.

Turn your next deli tray into a party-pleaser by using a food slicer to cut and shape meats and cheeses. National Presto Industries has introduced a unit called "The CutUp" that makes it easy to achieve professional results. Slicing thickness can be adjusted from "super-thin" for deli-style meats to "extra-thick" for hearty sandwiches. The slicer can be used to prepare fancy-cut vegetable platters as well as deli meat and cheese platters. It even has an electric knife for carving turkey and rib roasts.

Another plus to using a food slicer is that shoppers can buy foods in larger, less expensive sizes, and do all of the slicing themselves.

Test your cutting and carving skills with a food slicer on these deli-delights:

- Adjust slicing thickness to "super-thin." Slice soft-style sausage, such as summer sausage, and cheese. Roll slices and place on top of bread spread with mustard and butter.

- Slice cheese, ham, bologna, and other desired meats in a variety of thicknesses and stack. Use electric knife to cut stacks into quarters. Top each stack with an olive half or pickle. Use a toothpick to hold the stacks together.

- Adjust food slicer to "super thin" and slice lettuce and roast beef. Place in pita bread and top with a dollop of prepared onion-sour cream dip.

- Slice cucumbers, zucchini, mushrooms, and tomatoes. Marinate together in a vinaigrette or bottled Italian dressing.

- Get creative by using the electric knife to cut a variety of different breads, such as sourdough, light and dark rye, whole wheat, French, and Italian breads, in different shapes and sizes.

Invite Christmas Carolers In For Refreshments

Capture the holiday spirit this year by celebrating with one of the more traditional events...Christmas caroling. It's a fun way to spread good cheer with friends and neighbors.

Enhance the festivities by setting up an informal buffet in your kitchen. Cold-weather carolers will enjoy a hot mug of Holiday Cranberry Punch served from a simmering pot on the stove. Then have them proceed to the kitchen table or counter top to sample Double Bean Dip that's kept warm in a chafing dish, an attractive "wreath" of vegetables enjoyed with Della Robbia Vegetable Dip, and a handful of Granola Snack Mix. The Super Submarine Sandwich, assembled on an entire French bread loaf, is easy to serve. Just cut individual sandwiches from it as large as you like.

Control Holiday Drinking

The Holiday — a time for celebration, fellowship, cheer — and the annual holiday parties at home and at work. And, as police will tell you, the results are usually partygoers who overstepped their limits of alcohol...overstepping their lanes of traffic.

In an effort to help reduce the number of these drivers on the nation's highways (drivers who endanger others as well as themselves) the American Society of Safety Engineers offers the following suggestions for an enjoyable, sensible holiday party:

1. Have an ample variety and supply of food available for partygoers and encourage its consumption. Food, such as sandwiches and hot snacks may not only aid in the absorption of some liquors but, more importantly, will help to space the number of drinks being consumed. (It usually takes the body one hour to rid itself of the alcohol from one drink.)

2. Provide a professional server or responsible person to serve measured drinks. This avoids the heavy-handed bartender. A partygoer can more easily judge his/her own consumption if each drink is of a standard size.

3. Offer drinks — don't force them. Don't pressure your guests into exceeding what they know to be their own limits for alcohol. Have plenty of non-alcoholic beverages on hand for the non-drinker.

4. Provide activities, such as dancing and/or games throughout the party. If people are busy with some activity, they usually drink much less.

5. Confine the party to a certain time frame. Always remember that it takes the body one hour to rid itself of one ounce of alcohol. If the party is a "late one," remember to close the bar at least an hour prior to the time you feel the party will end.

6. The last drink offered should be coffee. Not because coffee sobers people up, but because time spent drinking coffee is time NOT spent drinking alcohol.

7. Keep intoxicated people from leaving the party; arrange for a ride home for them. One of the biggest favors you can do for your employees and/or friends is not to let them drive when drunk. Call a taxi for them or arrange for a ride for them in some other way. (In some areas, taxi companies or police departments will provide rides during the holidays for those who are intoxicated.)

8. Encourage people not to drink beyond their limits. Cards are available through some local community groups for computing the blood alcohol content by body weight and number of drinks consumed.

Microwave Magic

Carrots, Cauliflower Great Team

Carrots and cauliflower, those two vegetables are plentiful and of high quality this time of year. By using the microwave oven to cook these vegetables, you will find the color, flavor and the texture to be so superior to other ways of cooking that you will never revert to "old fashioned methods."

Small, fresh carrots can be scrubbed and cooked whole. The less tender, larger carrots should be scraped or peeled, then sliced into "nicksles" or lengthwise strips.

Whole baby carrots, 12-16 oz., need 6-8 minutes microwave timed at 100% power. Place the carrots in a 1-quart container with 2 tablespoons water. Stir once during cooking and allow 3-5 minutes standing time. Carrot slices or strips, approximately 2 cups, should be placed in a 1-quart casserole with 2 tablespoons water. Cover and microwave at 100% power for 4-7 minutes. Stir once and allow 3-5 minutes standing time.

Little seasoning is needed when preparing fresh vegetables in the microwave oven as the flavor is enhanced and not leaked into cooking water; however, you may wish to try a glaze or other flavor combination.

My favorite way to serve carrots is in combination with cauliflower and small early peas. The combination is colorful and the flavors complement each other.

Microwave the carrots (strips or nicksles) for five minutes, covered, at 100% power. Then add flowerets of cauliflower and 1 cup of frozen peas, continue to microwave at 100% power for 6-8 minutes or until cauliflower is fork tender. Mix with 1 tablespoon butter and sprinkle with black pepper.

CARROTS, CELERY AND TOMATOES
6 medium carrots, sliced 1/4 inch thick
2 ribs of celery, sliced thin
2 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 can (16 oz.) stewed tomatoes
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
4 sliced bacon, microwaved, crumbled
1/2 teaspoon sugar
Pepper
Combine carrots, celery, water and salt in 1-2 quart casserole. Cover. Microwave on 100% power for 7-9 minutes or until fork tender.

In small dish blend 1/4 cup of the juice from the stewed tomatoes and flour until smooth. Add to casserole. Stir in remaining ingredients. Cover. Microwave at 100% power for 3-4 minutes or until thickened. Stir once during cooking.

A whole 1 pound of cauliflower can be trimmed of the outer leaves, washed, wrapped in plastic wrap, placed on a paper plate and microwave at 100% power for 5-8 minutes or until fork tender. The head should be flexible and floweret stems almost tender.

CAULIFLOWER AND PEAS IN CREAM SAUCE

2 cups fresh cauliflower flowerets
1 cup frozen peas
2 tablespoons water
Sauce:
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
1/4 cup half & half cream
1/4 cup water
1 tablespoon chopped pimento
1/2 teaspoon parsley flakes
1/2 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon
Dash of salt and pepper

In a 2-quart casserole combine cauliflower flowerets, peas, and water. Cover. Microwave at 100% power for 6-8 minutes or until fork tender. Let stand, covered. Place onion and butter in a 2-cup measure. Microwave at 100% power for 1-2 minutes or until onion is transparent. Stir in flour. Add remaining ingredients. Microwave at 100% power for 1-2 minutes or until thickened, stirring every minute. Drain vegetables. Pour sauce over and stir to coat.

Play Clay For Making Ornaments

Many products that are basic supplies in a regularly used kitchen may be used to contribute to the coming holiday season.

For example, such standbys as cornstarch and baking soda are combined for a play clay. The play clay may be used to make all sorts of Christmas ornaments and very special gifts turned out by the small hands of children.

Glaze and decorate your play clay objects once you have allowed them to harden and dry thoroughly. Two to six hours should be enough, depending upon the humidity in your area.

PLAY CLAY

1 cup cornstarch
2 cups (1-pound) baking soda
1 1/2 cups cold water

In medium saucepan, stir together 1 cup cornstarch and 2 cups baking soda. Add 1 1/2 cup cold water all at once and stir until smooth. Stirring constantly, cook over medium heat, until mixture reaches the consistency of slightly dry mashed potatoes. (Mixture will come to a boil; then start to thicken first in lumps and then in a thick mass. It should hold its shape.) Turn out onto plate and cover with a damp cloth; cool.

When cool enough to handle, knead thoroughly on cornstarch dusted surface until smooth and pliable. Roll out to 1/4-inch thickness and cut or shape as desired.

Allow to harden and dry thoroughly at room temperature on protected surface or wire rack. If not to be used immediately, store completely cooled clay in tightly closed plastic bag or container with tight fitting cover. Clay may be kept in a cool place up to two weeks. Knead stored clay thoroughly before using. Makes about 2 pounds clay.

For large quantities: Follow recipe for Play Clay. Using 3 1/2 cups cornstarch (1-pound package), 6 cups baking soda (3-pound box) and 1 quart water. Makes about 6 pounds clay.

Microwave Method: For 2-pound recipe: In 2 1/2-quart glass bowl, stir together cornstarch and baking soda. Add water all at once and stir until smooth. Microwave uncovered, 2 minutes; stir. Microwave 3 to 4 minutes longer, stirring after each minute, or until mixture reaches the consistency of slightly dry mashed potatoes. Continue as in basic recipe for Play Clay.

Brownie Recipe A Real Winner

This brownie recipe is a real winner for a fabulous chocolate flavor and a delightful cake-like texture enhanced with crunchy walnuts. Topping it all off is a luscious Cheesecake layer that dresses up these brownies for party fare. Because these brownies are rich, you can cut them into even smaller portions than indicated in the recipe. For this good recipe, your other desserts and your salads, entrees and breads, you'll want the convenient already-shelled walnuts and the in-the-shell walnuts for your nutbolls and decorations.

CHEESECAKE TOPPED WALNUT BROWNIES

Cheesecake Topping
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
3/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup chopped walnuts

Prepare Cheesecake layer; set aside. In 2-quart saucepan, melt butter and blend in cocoa until smooth. Stir in sugars and vanilla, then beat in eggs, one at a time. Stir together flour and baking powder; blend into cocoa mixture. Stir in walnuts. Turn into well-greased 8-inch square pan. Spoon Cheesecake topping over and marble slightly by cutting through surface with a spatula. Bake at 325 degrees F. for about 40 to 45 minutes or until pick inserted in chocolate section comes out clean. Remove from oven and cool in pan or wire rack. When cold, cut into bars or squares.

Cheesecake Topping: Soften one 3-ounce package cream cheese; blend in 1/2 cup granulated sugar and 1 1/2 tablespoons all-purpose flour. Beat in 1 egg and 1/2 teaspoon grated orange peel until smooth.

Not All Smoking Damage Reversible

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 36-year-old pilot and have been smoking more than two packs of cigarettes for the last 20 years. Six months ago I successfully quit the habit, spurred on by the fear of falling my flight physical. Since I quit the chronic cough has disappeared, my pulse at rest has dropped from 90 to 70 and my endurance at racquetball and other sports has increased. My question is: How long does it take for lung function and capacity to return to normal after 20 years of cigarette smoking? I live at 7,000 feet and regularly fly or climb to 14,000 feet without supplemental oxygen.

DEAR READER — Congratulations on kicking a dangerous drug addiction. Those fortunate enough to stop the addiction often have the improvements you mention. Nicotine stimulates the release of adrenaline, which in turn affects the heart rate. That is one reason cigarette smokers usually do not have as good endurance capacity as non-smokers. Carbon monoxide from smoking combines with the hemoglobin in your red blood cells and diminishes the oxygen carrying capacity of your blood. This also decreases endurance and may be a significant factor in the increase in heart attacks and strokes. Filtered, low-tar, low-nicotine cigarettes still produce lots of carbon monoxide. The increased risk of heart attacks and strokes diminish soon after quitting cigarettes. That may be because the carbon monoxide is quickly released from the blood. But it could take 10 to 15 years to reach the maximum benefits for the lungs. And some changes are irreversible.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Our family enjoys eating red beets. Yesterday I read an article that said a lot of natural nitrates are found in celery, radishes, beets, lettuce, broccoli, cabbage and spinach. I like all of these vegetables and am wondering if, because of the nitrates, it is safe to eat any or all of these vegetables in large quantities.

DEAR READER — The danger is that nitrates may be converted to nitrites and the nitrites may be converted to nitrosamines, which in turn may increase the risk of cancer. But your own body produces lots of nitrates and nitrites. The bacteria in your colon produces them. They pass into your bloodstream and into your saliva. You probably get more nitrates from your saliva than you would from any food. In fact, the amount from your food in comparison to that produced by your body is like "spitting in the ocean." In other words, it is a lot of concern about almost nothing.

The nitrate in food is usually not converted to nitrites. But if foods such as spinach are stored under conditions that permit bacterial growth, the bacteria may produce nitrites. This can cause "spinach sickness," particularly in young infants. Leftover foods containing nitrates should not be used.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY DECEMBER 8, 1983
Conditions look promising for you over the coming months. However, you must guard against letting your impulsiveness take you off in the wrong direction. All will go well if you plan wisely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) One of your greatest assets is your ability to view situations optimistically. However, today you may see more dark clouds than silver linings. Order now: The New Matchmaker wheel and booklet, which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try to make do with what you have today, rather than borrow anything from friends. Also, think carefully before making loans yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Success could be denied you today if you persist in doing everything the hard way. Look for easy routes, not bumpy roads.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) That which you wish to do today can be accomplished, provided you are not defeated by your own self-doubts. See yourself as a winner, not a loser.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be extra careful in any dealings today with friends where money is involved. If things are managed poorly, misunderstandings could result.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Associates not in accord with your career objectives today could do you more harm than good. Don't proceed if you're unsure of your allies.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Good helpers may be difficult to find today, so select co-workers with care. Be certain they're willing to follow your instructions to the letter.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Do not take financial gambles on things today where the control is in the hands of others. They could fall flat.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Try to skirt issues today where you and your mate take opposing positions. Small disagreements could easily be blown out of proportion.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your mental faculties are extremely sharp today. Unfortunately, you might focus on the faults of others rather than on their virtues. Be tolerant.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Do not permit your wasteful or extravagant tendencies to gain the upper hand today. If you do, they'll cause you regrets that could be avoided.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not come on too strong today when dealing with others, especially if you are in a position of authority. Harsh words produce negative results.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Bridge hand analysis. North: ♠K3, ♥104, ♦AQJ64, ♣K4. East: ♠A1095, ♥753, ♦87, ♣J1097. South: ♠J82, ♥AQ82, ♦102, ♣A83. Vulnerable: Both. Dealer: North. West: 1♣, 2♥, 3♠, 4♥, 5♠, 6♠, 7♠, 8♠, 9♠, 10♠, 11♠, 12♠. North: Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass. East: Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass. Opening lead: ♣J.

almost surely an expert or near-expert. Dummy's king of clubs wins the first trick, and the jack of hearts is led and allowed to ride to West's king. Most West players will simply lead the club 10, whereupon declarer will win, ruff his last club, draw trumps and make his contract with no trouble at all. Now let's watch a West player with a thinking cap on his head. He will see if there is any way to beat that heart game. A little hand reconstruction will show him that there is a distinct possibility that East holds the king of diamonds. After all, if South held that card along with the club ace and that good trump suit, he might well have made some mild slam try. Then West will see that if South also holds three spades, there is a chance to salvage a plus. How does he go about this? He simply leads his queen of spades and poor South is going to lose his nice game. Dummy's king of spades will win that trick but when East gets in with the diamond king, he will give his partner two beautiful spade tricks.
