County Clears Way For Health Clinic, Stalled Mini-Mall

Seminole County commissioners today gave the go-ahead for two building projects — a health clinic and a new mini-mall for the Port of Sanford.

Commissioners voted this morning to award a contract for construction of a new county health clinic to Girdley Construction Inc. of Orlando. The county will pay the firm $1,495,000 for construction of the facility which will be located on Airport Boulevard in Sanford near the Zayre Plaza.

County Health Director Dr. Jorge Deju said groundbreaking on the project will be held at 10 a.m. Sept. 26. Purchasing Director Joann Blackmon said Grindley will have 330 days to complete the building.

The Orlando firm's low bid for construction of the 30,000-square-foot building is about $450,000 less than originally projected by the county's architect Helman Hurley Charvat Peacock/Architects of Winter Park. Nine other bids were received on the project, ranging from a $1,517,000 bid by Clifton Construction of Cocoa Beach to a $1,810,000 bid from D. Coleman Inc. of Orlando.

The new building will replace the county's existing Sanford health clinic at 900 French Ave. and is intended to meet the county's needs through the year 2000.

The county paid $167,910 to Geraldine C. Kirk for the 8.5 acres where the clinic will be built.

Also today, commissioners approved a conditional building permit for the Seminole County Port Authority to construct for a 16,000-square-foot building at the port's industrial complex west of Sanford.

The conditional permit allows the authority to proceed with construction of the building even though no agreement has been reached with Lake Monroe Utilities over water and sewer service to the building.

By law, the port authority must connect to the utility's lines if service is available. If no service is available, then a well and septic tank could be used to provide service for the building.

Port Authority Executive Director Dennis Dolgner told commissioners that officials from the utility have not responded to queries about service availability. The state Public Service Commission has suggested that the port ask for a hearing to determine whether service is available.

A ruling by the PSC could be several months away. In the meantime, construction would not have been able to proceed without the conditional permit.

Dolgner said a delay in construction could deprive the port of a client who is ready to lease half of the space in the building. That lease would bring the port about $2,000 monthly.

The commission action allows construction to proceed with the stipulation that the port abides by the PSC's eventual decision on available service from LMU.

"I'm ecstatic," said Dolgner. "We stood to lose big if we didn't get the conditional permit." —Michael Beha

Voting Steady At City Polls

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

"Slow but steady," are the words used by Oviedo and Lake Mary city officials to describe the turnout of voters at the polls in the two cities this morning.

However, both stand firm in their predictions of a 42 percent turnout in Oviedo and a 50 percent turnout in Lake Mary.

And Lake Mary City Clerk Connie Major said she doesn't expect thunderstorms forecast for today to stop voters in her city from casting their ballots.

"Thunderstorms won't stop Lake Mary residents from voting," she said. "They are good voters."

In Oviedo, City Clerk Nancy Cox said a couple residents were waiting in line to vote at 7 a.m. when the polls opened at city hall.

Both clerks reminded that city voters must turn in absentee ballots at the respective city halls before today's 7 p.m. deadline.

In Oviedo, more than 20 persons applied for absentee ballots while in Lake Mary some 48 were taken out and most had been returned by early today. Neither city has established a record for the numbers of absentee ballots.

Lake Mary has 1,622 voters eligible to cast ballots in the election while Oviedo has 1,385.

In Lake Mary, the voters will select city commissioners for: Seat 1 — between Martin "Marty" Bacon and Colin Keogh; Seat 3 — between Robert "Bob" Stoddard and Harry Terry; Seat 5 — among Burt Perinchief, the incumbent, and Arthur "Buzz" Peisos and Dennis Smathers.

A referendum question on the Lake Mary ballot asks the voters to approve or reject the levy of a $1.50 property tax per $1,000 assessed valuation for two years beginning in the 1984-85 fiscal year for paving and paving repair.

The city envisions using the $100,000 plus in anticipated revenues annually for intersection paving, project engineering and drainage, city officials say.

The major costs of any street paving project would be borne by adjacent property owners, just as they are now, on a front foot assessment or some other basis. Funds would also be used to repair existing paving, since adjacent property owners, who were assessed originally for the paving are not usually assessed again to repair it.

Oviedo voters meanwhile are choosing a mayor from three candidates including the incumbent, Robert W. Whittier, Judith H. Stout and former councilman, Stephen West; a Group 1 councilman from candidates, E.P. Bruce and David B. Rhodes and a Group 2 councilman from candidates, James H. Browdy, William McCartney and W.A. Ward Jr.

Amendments to the city charter are also on the ballot. Mrs. Cox said the majority of the amendments are housekeeping measures to bring the city charter into compliance with state law.

The major change would permit the city council to hire a city administrator, without prior approval of the voters, when it feels one is needed. The current charter permits the city to hire a city manager but only after prior approval of the voters.

The Seat 1 contest in Lake Mary pits Keogh, 27, a computer consultant, against Bacon, 80, a retired union representative.

In the Seat 3 contest, Stoddard, 54, assistant fire chief, is running against Harry Terry, 76, a former three term city commissioner and a retired employee of the U.S.

Army Corps of Engineers.

For the Seat 5 post, Perinchief, 44, a music instructor at Seminole Community College, and veteran of seven years on the city commission is being challenged by Peisos, 31, a city businessman, and Smathers, 34, an elementary school teacher and volunteer firefighter.

Iron Bridge Contractors Hit With Suit

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Orlando officials have filed suit against contractors who built the Iron Bridge Regional Sewage Treatment Plant near Oviedo. They want the firm to correct problems which have stalled further development of the plant.

The suit was filed Friday in Orange County Circuit Court against Dawkins & Associates, the consulting firm which designed the $67 million treatment plant, and several contractors who worked on the project.

Problems with odor, noise and river pollution have halted plant expansion plans. This spring Orlando officials asked Seminole County commissioners to allow increased capacity at the plant, which must comply with Seminole County zoning requirements. But commissioners refused to allow the increase until the plant is operating correctly.

The plant, which opened in February, 1982, has been plagued by problems since it began operation. Neighbors have protested vigorously about foul odors and loud noises coming from the plant at all hours of the day.

Orlando officials eliminated some of the odors by spending about $200,000 for large caps which were placed over sedimentation ponds at the 24 million-gallon-a-day facility. But another odor, from a faulty sludge dryer has continued to be a problem. The plant has also had a continuing problem with putting too much nitrogen into the Little Econlockhatchee River.

The plant was conceived and funded in 1978 to serve as a regional treatment plant for Orlando and other communities in Seminole and Orange counties. Federal funds were used to build the plant which now serves Orlando, Orange County, Winter Park, Maitland, Seminole County and Casselberry.

Orlando officials have been working with the general contractor, Briscoe/McBride/Conduit of New Jersey, virtually since the plant was completed in September, 1981.

Michael Hanlon of the Orlando

Public Works Department said today they are still working with the contractor and several subcontractors to correct problems at the plant but the city had to file suit or face losing millions of dollars.

"We filed suit to protect our interest. We believe there is a two-year statute of limitations," Hanlon said. "If we didn't file suit we'd lose any interest we have in the case."

'We filed suit to protect our interest.'

Briscoe/McBride/Conduit and subcontractors Autorol Corp. and Ecological Services Products were also named in the suit. Repairs to the nitrogen system and sludge dryer could ultimately cost between $2 million and 3 million, Hanlon said.

Hanlon said progress is being made with the nitrogen problem. Autorol Corp., which designed the system, is conducting tests on the equipment which "look promising."

The faulty sludge dryer has been shut down since late May but Hanlon said that has not really been a problem. Crews have been hauling sludge from the plant and spreading it on pastures in East Orange County. That method is actually cheaper than operating the sludge dryer, Hanlon said.

But he said the state is developing new guidelines for land spreading sludge which could significantly increase the cost.

Meanwhile, an agreement has been worked out between the city and Ecological Services Products, which designed the sludge treatment system, to operate the dryer on a test basis. But Hanlon warned that the law suit could hinder that testing.

Hanlon said he hopes problems with the plant can be worked out by the end of the year.

He also defended the oft-criticized plant. "Really the plant is working well. It does what it is supposed to do and there has been a definite improvement in the water quality in the Little Econlockhatchee River."

Holiday Traffic Toll Less Than Predicted

By United Press International

At least 28 people lost their lives on Florida roadways during the Labor Day weekend, 10 less than predicted by the Florida Highway Patrol.

No traffic fatalities were reported in Seminole County.

The Florida Highway Patrol had predicted 38 people would die in auto accidents during the holiday which began at 6 p.m. EDT Friday and ended at midnight Monday.

"We're very elated that we had 10 fewer fatalities than were predicted," said Sgt. Chuck Williams, FHP public information officer.

Orange, Volusia, Lake, Flagler and Osceola counties joined Seminole in reporting no fatalities.

"It's amazing because there was a lot of traffic on the highways over the weekend. I could understand the lower death toll if there had been a big reduction in the number of cars on the roads, but that wasn't the case," Williams said.

"For the last two years Florida had gone over the predicted death toll on the Labor Day weekend. In 1981 we killed 41 and we had predicted fewer deaths, and in 1982 37 were killed and we had predicted 35 deaths," he said.

Williams attributed the lower death toll during this holiday period to "more public awareness of the drunk driving problem and the fact that we had more troopers out on the road than ever before."

"I think fewer people were driving while they were intoxicated. People are tired of the slaughter on the highways caused by drunk drivers,"

Rezoning Plan Objections Bombard Sanford Officials

Public hearings are scheduled later this month by both the Sanford City Commission and its advisory planning and zoning commission on the proposed rezoning to single family residential of a major portion of the old city area.

The properties currently hold a variety of zoning from multi-family to commercial.

But owners of investment property in the area south of 4th Street, north of 13th Street, east of Laurel Avenue and west of Sanford Avenue continue to bombard the commissioners and planning and zoning members with objections to the proposal.

The latest is L.J. Christensen of Orlando, who says he has owned investment property in the area for many years.

In letters written to City Clerk Henry Tamm and to J.Q. "Slim" Galloway, planning and zoning commission chairman, Christensen says the rezoning if approved, could wind up with the city in court defending its actions. Christensen suggests the rezoning is probably illegal, and that the city might have to prove it hasn't acted in a capricious and unreasonable fashion.

He says rezoning could violate various property owners' civil rights, that it is being promoted by special interests, would adversely effect the values of his

Meeting Set On Lake Mary Blvd. Future

Improvements and expansion of Lake Mary Boulevard through a special grant from the state Department of Commerce will be discussed by the Lake Mary City Commission and Seminole County Senior Planner Storm Richards at a special 3 p.m. meeting Wednesday at Lake Mary City Hall, 158 N. Country Club Road.

County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn said today the county along with other counties in the state are eligible for grant funds from the state department for improving roads related to improving commerce and Lake Mary Boulevard has been selected as the favored project by the county.

She said if state funds were approved the project could include not only widening the highway as it exists today from U.S. 17-92 and Interstate 4, but also to extend the highway from U.S. 17-92 east, a project favored by the Sanford City Commission officially during a special meeting last week.

The work could be done in conjunction with the already approved project of modifying and constructing a cloverleaf for the intersection of Lake Mary Boulevard and I-4, she said.

While the Lake Mary City Commission endorsed the concepts contained in the Lake Mary Boulevard study some months ago, which calls for improvements of the highway that could see it expanded to as much as six lanes in the future, residents especially of the Forest Mobile Home Community, fronting on the highway in Lake Mary, expressed concerns about future expansion. —Donna Estes

TODAY

His words were harsh — calling the Soviets "barbarians," and "inhuman" — but the measures President Reagan laid out in his Monday night address to the nation designed to retaliate for the shooting down of a Soviet airliner last week were anything but that. A fact which irritated many conservatives who are demanding vengeance. The Soviets labelled the speech "aggressive" and "hateful" and claimed Reagan is using the attack as a means of drumming up support for his military buildup plans. See stories, page 2A.

Let's Have A Little Respect

Let's hear it: Two and three-quarters cheers for Nigeria. Despite all the cultural and social hurdles it faces in such a country, democracy seems to be gaining a foothold — the most recent evidence coming in the presidential elections of early August which returned President Shehu Shagari to power.

You probably didn't even hear about it, because we and our brethren throughout the press have been much too busy covering the really important things lately. Like the fact that the Libyan lunatic has sent his armies into Chad again. Or the interesting news that there are still some critics of the regime in El Salvador.

Given the fascination for communist insurgencies and guerrilla war, democracy is fast becoming, as one observer put it, the Rodney Dangerfield of international politics — it don't get no respect. In retrospect, we think maybe Nigeria's story has been underplayed.

After all, if the gathering of a few thousand people to protest Reaganomics is front-page stuff — it invariably is — what about 25 million people marching to the polls in a nation fighting to nurture a fragile and recent democratic tradition? Depending on your population arithmetic, Nigeria's 100 million-plus citizens make it either the third or fourth largest democracy in the world.

It is thus a critical test case for the idea that political freedom can work, and not just in the West, but in Africa, Central America, Asia.

The more recent stages of the election process, which stretches over several weeks in Nigeria, have been marred by reports of between 10 and 100 deaths. That's sad news, and a reminder that it takes more than ballots alone to establish the complex attitudes and institutions that make democracy a cultural fact, and not just a political condition.

But human rights, as Ronald Reagan has recognized, exist on a continuum. It's the direction of movement, not a country's condition today, that serves as the best standard for judgment. And the first human rights question to ask is, Can you throw the rascals out?

From El Salvador to Poland to Nigeria, the freedom fighters are on the march, improving the life of the people almost every time they manage to take control. One hundred years after the death of Karl Marx, can the other side make any similar claims?

Capital Bunny?

"She was dressed like a bunny rabbit at the White House Easter Party," said the White House spokesman, pointing an accusing finger at the woman who resigned from the Justice Department.

"No, I wasn't," retorted the woman. "Well, she was just a low-level munchkin anyway," said a Justice Department official, rushing to the aid of the White House spokesman.

"Munchkin, shmunchkin," replied the woman, disgustedly. "You 'wou'ldn't call a man a munchkin, would you?"

Children! Children! Please! When you grow up, you'll learn that cliché about sticks and stones is a lot of nonsense. Names can hurt you. They can even hurt the president of the United States.

President Reagan is telling women the gender gap is a misunderstanding. He's trying to make the point he's really for women, even if a lot of them are skeptical.

The last thing he needs is for the president's men in Washington to be engaged in name-calling with a woman.

Obviously ex-Justice Department official Barbara Honneger, who resigned recently, raised hackles at the White House when she said Mr. Reagan has reneged on his commitment to women. They probably weren't delighted that Honneger, who worked in a program to identify discriminatory laws, called the effort a sham.

We don't know why she went public. Maybe she was sincere. Maybe she likes publicity. Maybe she had a grudge against her boss.

No matter, it's appearances that count sometimes. And the appearance was of a bunch of men in power ganging up on a woman for speaking her mind.

The Reagan administration shouldn't try so hard to court the ladies. Sometimes, you can come on too strong. And this is one of those times.

BERRY'S WORLD

"When I heard on the radio about the Korean Air Line jet being down, my stomach absolutely turned over," said Anne Petsos, owner of Lake Mary Travel. "I called my daughter to tell her and started to cry. Last year at this time I was flying to Korea on that very same flight."

Not wanting to miss a special news broadcast on the downed air liner, she said, "While I was waiting at Orlando International Airport for my daughter to fly in from Munich, I sat there feeding quarters into the TV."

"There was no reason at all for them to shoot it down. The whole world is involved. This might prove to us how strong a president Reagan is by how he reacts to this," she added. "I think we should stop all travel to and from Russia because of it."

Mrs. Petsos, who makes frequent trips to the Orient, said, to her, booking someone on the KAL is like booking them on Delta or Eastern. "The service is great and the people who own KAL are so beautiful."

She said she books a lot of flights on KAL for local companies such as Stromberg-Carlson, which do business in South Korea. She and her husband are leaving Sept. 25 for Korea to attend a convention of travel agents. They were going to fly KAL, but it was all booked so they plan to fly Pan American via Tokyo instead.

Carole Nelson, Channel 6 TV anchorperson, will be the kick-off speaker for this year's Business-Education Day to be held Oct. 14 beginning at 8:30 a.m. at Lake Mary High School. In addition to her successful career in business, she is a former Seminole County school teacher, giving her an understanding of both perspectives.

The annual event, sponsored by five area chambers of commerce in conjunction with Seminole County Schools, is chaired this year by Linda Sawyer, who is in charge of career education for Seminole schools and chairman of the Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce Education Committee.

Following coffee and doughnuts, there will be a short program at which Ms. Nelson will speak. Afterwards area businesses will host selected educators and students from the county schools at their businesses. A luncheon at Lake Mary High will conclude the day's activities.

This worthwhile day is becoming increasingly popular with students interested in the free enterprise system. Those who attend B-E Day elect to do so in lieu of a day off. Business hosts come from an area extending from North Orange County through Sanford.

The purpose of B-E Day is to give the students and teachers a better insight into the American Free Enterprise System and the simple economic factors that govern profit and loss. In response to requests from participating teachers, this year the chambers plan to encourage more children to attend, particularly from the lower grades.

As a result of a large attendance and encouraging community response last year, the India Association of Greater Orlando has organized "Festival of India" again this year. The festivities will take place at the Orlando Expo-Center, 500 W. Livingston St., from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 17 and Sunday, Sept. 18. Admission is $1 per person with children 11 and under admitted free of charge.

The event will include colorful native dances, delicious ethnic food, Indian artifacts, and books, movies and exhibits on India's culture, heritage and modern developments.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

The WCC Versus Freedom

The silence of the mainline churches on the recent actions of the World Council of Churches is shameful.

At its recent meeting in Vancouver, the WCC, which is supported by leading Protestant, Anglican, Orthodox and independent churches, adopted positions hostile to the free world and supportive of revolutionary regimes, including most definitely the Soviet Union.

One action alone makes plain the character of the WCC: namely its refusal to demand the Soviet Union withdraw its 100,000 troops from Afghanistan. Indeed it rallied to the Soviet Union by calling for a cut-off of arms shipments to rebels who are striving to recover their country from its occupiers.

In the next breath, the WCC called for Israel to withdraw from territories it entered in 1967, though Israel has been repeatedly attacked by Arab forces since its founding. The international church organization also found time to announce its continued support for "liberation movements" in Southern Africa, including the terrorist SWAPO organization in Namibia.

In a hypocritical action, the World Council of Churches said it could not act on a human rights plea on behalf of Soviet Christians unless the Soviet delegates themselves brought the matter up. According to the Associated Press, the petition from the persecuted Christians in the Soviet Union accused the Soviet delegates of being government pawns. The WCC always has treated lame puppet Soviet clergymen as the only acceptable voice of the faithful in the Soviet empire.

Given these shocking actions, it isn't surprising that the WCC hailed the communist government of Nicaragua and condemned American intervention in Central America, alleging U.S. financed military killings in Honduras. The WCC never misses an opportunity to condemn the United States.

American church leaders who continue to support the world Council of Churches in the face of these actions certainly have some explaining to do to the man and woman in the pew whose offerings in the collection plate are used to help support the WCC. If the WCC ever had any worthwhile role to play, it is far in the past. For years, the WCC has used money, derived from collections in the churches of the free world, to give aid and comfort to nations and terrorist organizations that are bent on violence and the destruction of freedom.

As the actions at Vancouver make clear, the WCC won't raise a hand to help people who are targets of communist persecution. Indeed the World Council of Churches is an active, open supporter of the Soviet Union's cruel occupation of Afghanistan.

Rebels: Uneasy Force In Nicaragua

WASHINGTON — Polls show the American public is, to put it mildly, confused about the situation in Nicaragua. No wonder. The Reagan administration tells them one thing; the press tells them another. Is Nicaragua a battleground between communism and democracy, or a quagmire the United States should avoid?

To get the situation sorted out, to find out what's really going on in President Reagan's "secret war," I sent my roving reporter Jon Lee Anderson on repeated trips to the area. He is the only American correspondent who has visited all the warring factions. He has interviewed the commanders and marched with the combat troops in the field.

There are four identifiable groups involved: the Sandinista regime in Managua; the CIA-backed counter-revolutionaries of the FDN; the MISURA coalition of Miskito, Sumo and Rama Indians and black Creoles; and the independent rebel force under the charismatic former Sandinista, Eden

WILLIAM RUSHER

Reagan's 'Gender Gap'

NEW YORK (NEA) — The first thing we'd all better remember about President Reagan's alleged problem with women is that his political opponents, male and female alike, aren't going to let it go away: Nothing he can possibly do will satisfy them. That's because what is going on here is a political operation based on the fact, noticed in various polls, that Mr. Reagan is a few percentage points more popular among men than among women. Putting it the other way around, he is a few percentage points less popular among women than among men. The difference has been christened "the gender gap," and an enormous amount of hype and hullabaloo has been squandered on giving the impression that American women are monolithically anti-Reagan.

To read the papers or watch television, you'd think that any woman guilty of being pro-Reagan must somehow be a traitor to her sex. Actually, the polls on which all this hysteria is based show that President Reagan retains, right now, the support of somewhere around 45 percent of American women. The few percentage points by which this differs from his score among men is easily attributable to the somewhat higher proportion of pro-ERA (and therefore anti-Reagan) activists among women.

Certainly it would take more ingratitude than anybody except a dedicated political opponent is likely to be guilty of to ignore altogether the fact that Mr. Reagan is the first president of either party in the whole history of the United States to appoint a woman to the Supreme Court. Or that he is the first president ever to have three women in his cabinet: Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret Heckler, Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole and U.N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick. If these are mere instances of tokenism, they are at the very least a lot more tokenism than any other American president has ever indulged in.

Another point to remember is that, when American women go to the polls next year, they won't be choosing between Ronald Reagan and some vision of masculine perfection. The choice will be between Reagan, John Anderson (probably), Jesse Jackson (maybe) and whichever aspiring Democrat has managed to win his party's nomination. Is it so clear that Ronald Reagan will appeal less to American women than Fritz Mondale or John Glenn? Granted, Mondale has the slightly dreamy eyes of a Minnesota Valentino, and Glenn may have some sort of following among space groupies; but are we doing much credit to American womanhood to assume that these factors will influence them more than the real issues in the campaign?

I would bet that many women remember very well, indeed, what "double-digit inflation" meant in terms of prices at the supermarket and the department store during the late, lamented Carter-Mondale administration. Can Mondale sweet-talk American women into forgetting that inflation hit 12.5 percent, and interest rates 21.5 percent, before he and his fellow liberal Democrats were dragged away from the levers of executive power? Would Glenn like to try explaining why his party wants to increase taxes, and where the boodle will go if it succeeds in doing so? Taken all in all, the Reagan administration has a whale of a case to make to women.

But the president might as well stop trying to argue with the frame of mind represented by Barbara Honneger, the Justice Department employee who parlayed her attack on Mr. Reagan's substitute for ERA into nationwide television publicity for the ERA cause. Any president is vulnerable to anyone with whom he comes in contact, or to whom he does the least kindness, provided that person is willing to respond to kindness with public rudeness and attribute the rudeness to high principles. The media will do the rest.

WASHINGTON WORLD

Will Hatfield Be Next?

By Robert McKay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Howard Baker was first. Then came John Tower. Mark Hatfield may be the next Senate Republican to announce his retirement, further weakening GOP chances of retaining control of the Senate in the 1984 elections.

With only a fragile 54-46 majority, Senate Republicans need to keep as many incumbents in the race as possible to prevent a Democratic takeover that could be disastrous to a second Reagan administration.

As chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Hatfield, 61, of Oregon, is the only leader of a major Senate committee who has not indicated yet whether he will seek re-election in 1984. The 17-year Senate veteran is known to be considering retirement, but undoubtedly will come under pressure to run again by his Republican colleagues who are fearful of losing control of the Senate.

"He is still weighing his options," a Hatfield spokesman said. "He has indicated he will announce one way or another in the fall." Hatfield — a deeply religious man — is growing tired of life in the Senate. In the past two years, he has repeatedly fought attempts by the White House to cut federal benefit programs while increasing the military nuclear arsenal.

He also is the co-sponsor of the nuclear freeze resolution, with none other than the conservative Republican's anathema — Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

As a result, even though he holds a strong position among Senate Republicans and is respected by most of them, he is not warmly embraced by the White House. And the disaffection is well known.

At a recent Senate-House conference committee, Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., joked with Hatfield that the administration wanted money for the International Monetary Fund so bad "they're even being friendly to you."

If Hatfield chooses not to run again, look for Democratic Reps. Les AuCoin, Denny Smith, and Jim Weaver to jump into the race. Another possibility is former Portland Mayor Neil Goldschmidt, secretary of transportation under President Carter.

The House is overwhelmingly Democratic and expected to stay that way past 1984. Only with the aid of his Republican allies controlling the Senate has Reagan been able to push through Congress some of his legislative proposals.

Of the 33 senators whose terms expire in 1984, 19 are Republicans and 14 are Democrats. In addition, the Democratic seat held by Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, who died Thursday, will be up for grabs.

Unwilling to join with the FDN — because of its Somocista taint, he says — Pastora has been forced to operate in the militarily impossible swamps and jungles of the south, where there are few worthwhile military targets.

Although his "pure" anti-Sandinista movement has failed to catch fire, he is still the only foreseeable replacement to the Managua junta who might capture the Nicaraguan people's loyalty.

MISURA: The Indians' leader, 29-year-old Steadman Fagoth, a multilingual German American Miskito Creole, has been forced into a reluctant alliance with the CIA-backed FDN. But he is clearly the junior partner in this marriage of convenience, and complains bitterly that his forces don't get the CIA supplies they're entitled to because they must come through the FDN and the Honduran army. The Misura guerrillas are regarded with suspicion by the FDN and Honduras, which believe that the Indians are really fighting for independence from whoever is in power in Managua and Tegucigalpa.

EDEN PASTORA: Cunning, streetwise, macho and colorful, Pastora is the only individual rebel leader with international stature. Yet despite his denunciation of his former Sandinista buddies for letting the Cubans and Soviets in, he is viewed with uneasy suspicion in Washington. "Pastora wants to be a new Fidel Castro," a high-level State Department source said.

Latimer Shines Like The Silver On Lions' Helmet

How far is it from Seminole County to the National Football League?

Ask Al Latimer, he's made the journey and the former Lyman High standout looks as if he's a good bet to stick in the NFL for quite a while.

Latimer, just 5-11 and 177 pounds, pales in comparison to some of behemoths who now roam the gridiron, but when it comes to style, quickness and intelligence — Latimer shines like the silver on his Detroit Lions' helmet.

The 26-year-old defensive back was at Tampa Stadium Sunday to help with the undoing of the puncheon Bucs. Latimer intercepted a Jack Thompson pass in the fourth quarter which nailed the final spike in the Tampa coffin. The score wouldn't have seriously threatened the Lions' 11-0 lead at the time, but it would have made things more respectable.

"They had tried the play earlier," pointed out Latimer. "I remembered it and kept it in the back of my mind. I got a good read on the quarterback and there was the ball."

Latimer made an excellent lunging grab, then stutter-stepped his feet like a wide receiver to make sure both came down inbounds. "The sideline was my biggest concern," he said. "I looked back at the official after I crossed the line and he ruled it good."

Latimer has always made out pretty good when it comes to football — or just about everything else he's attempted. When he played for Dick Copeland at Lyman, he was an excellent quarterback and defensive back.

The 1975 Lyman graduate gives God and his parents a lot of the credit for his success. "I've got to thank God and my parents for my talent," Latimer said. "We lived a poor section of Altamonte Springs, but I always had parents who cared and discipline." Al's mother, Alice Mitchell, still lives in Altamonte Springs.

While God and his parents helped out with his talent, making the NFL was all Al Latimer. "I've always had the willingness to work," he said. "I remember people always telling me, 'You have the talent, just work at it.'"

They didn't have to tell him too many times before he registered. Latimer went to Ferrum Junior College in Virginia for two years and then on to Clemson for his last two years.

Latimer made the Philadelphia Eagles during this rookie season and played for them for two years before being cut. He then sat out a year and sort of got himself back together.

Last year, he tried out with the Lions and made the team. "I started the second game after the strike against Chicago and I've been starting ever since," Latimer said. Against the Bucs, he showed why he was in the starting lineup. Playing right cornerback, Latimer picked up four tackles along with his interception. He was never seriously tested by the Bucs, something he couldn't figure out. "I don't know why they didn't throw my way more often, but it's okay with me," he laughed.

Despite his apparent lock on the cornerback position, Latimer said complacency was the last thing from his mind. "There is no such thing as security in this league," he said. "When you start taking something for granted, then you lose your concentration and pretty soon you lose your job."

Where have you gone Doug Williams, Tampa Bay turns its lonely offense to you. That line probably won't bring Simon and Garfunkel back together, but it sums up pretty well the plight of the Tampa quarterbacks.

Sure William Gay is great and Dave Reavis was injured, but did you ever see Doug Williams sacked seven times? Williams had strength and maneuverability. Jerry Golsteyn and Jack Thompson were sitting ducks.

Our quarterbacks didn't look that great but it's a hard life to live when you only get two seconds," said John McKay. There were several times when Thompson got more than two seconds, but he still couldn't locate a receiver.

The Bucs did not use any sideline patterns or throw the ball down the middle. Their main offense is to send James Wilder into the flat and give him the ball. This works the first couple of times, but when the defense catches on Wilder usually ends up with nothing but a headache.

"We didn't change our philosophy concerning Tampa because it was Golsteyn or Thompson instead of Williams," said Latimer. "We knew all three of them could throw."

Or... at least Golsteyn and Thompson could before Sunday.

Fans Judge McKay Unintelligent

McKay was also distraught with the number of penalties acquired by Tampa. "We had many stupid penalties. It was idiotic," he said. "This is not a game to show how tough you are. We just played very unintelligent. And judging from the people (fans) behind me, I was the most unintelligent." No argument here.

Juniors Tony Johnson (no. 10) and Mike Henley were two of the big reason Lyman's junior varsity marched to an undefeated season. Johnson, a junior quarterback, and Henley, a fullback and linebacker, will be trying to work their wishbone magic this year for the varsity.

When you are the defending conference champion, everybody is out to beat you. No one knows this better than Lyman Greyhound head coach Bill Scott. Last year, Scott's Greyhounds were the Five Star Conference champions with a 6-1 record and this year Scott is already feeling the pressure of repeating last year's feat.

According to Scott, this year's conference is tougher than last years and everybody is gunning for Lyman. "It's always tough when you're the defending champion," Scott said. "It puts more pressure on us because we're the team to beat." Scott said that major threats for the conference crown this year would be Lake Howell, Lake Brantley and Apopka.

But Scott is not backing down to the pressure just yet. In fact, he's very optimistic about his team's chances this season. He said he feels his players have 100 percent ability to withstand a tough conference challenge and that their attitudes are right for the coming season.

One of the major reasons for this positive attitude is the number of players on this year's team who played on last season's undefeated junior varsity squad. Scott said about 18 players from that team are now up and they have winning attitudes. While Scott sees this as a big advantage, he quickly added that moving up to varsity is a whole different story.

The Greyhounds were hit hard by graduation last year. They lost 28 seniors including all-conference selections Mike Hill (Air Force Academy), Chris Tschieder (Air Force Academy), Willis Perry (Vanderbilt), Jerry Axley (Valdosta State), Dirk Smith, Gene Allen, Graham Mays, John Poor (UCF) and Robert Quainberry. Scott knows this will hurt. "Experience is our biggest weakness right now," he said. Scott is hoping the team will learn from experience without making that many costly mistakes. "We'll get confidence through experience," Scott said.

While Scott admits that this year's schedule will be a tough one, he is not complaining about it. The only change Scott said he would make on the schedule is to move Lake Brantley further back into the season. The Greyhounds will play the Patriots on Sept. 16, the second week of the season.

Because of the lack of experience on this squad, Scott said it is important to get off to a good start and hopefully the youth will band together to run the wishbone offense which will be installed this season. The Greyhounds didn't play in a fall jamboree because Scott said that he didn't think it was worth it to risk the injuries. He feels that the team can accomplish the same things in regular practice.

The Greyhounds first big test of the season will be this Friday night against Boone. Scott said that he watched Boone against Apopka in a jamboree last week and he was impressed by its offense. According to Scott, the Braves capitalized well on Apopka's mistakes and they ran and threw the ball well. Scott said that his team will have to be ready for the game because Boone is very confident.

OFFENSE

Backfield. Scott says that he will start, 5-11, 170-pound junior quarterback Tony Johnson but 6-1, 180-pound senior Greg Pilot will be around in case of any changes. Sophomore quarterbacks Tom Brooks and Pell Thompson will be around for backup. Scott wants to run this year and the Greyhounds have no shortage on back power. Junior fullbacks Ron Beasley and Mike Henley are familiar with the wishbone attack and good bets to see a lot of action. In addition, 6-foot, 185-pound senior running back Phil Germano and 6-foot, 180 pound junior running back Mike Crespo return from last fall. Senior fullback Karl Simmons will lend experience to the running game and junior Avery Merweather will see lots of action in the halfback spot. Merweather was the top runner on the JV last year.

Receivers. A balanced offensive attack is vital to winning so Scott wants to be able to throw the ball. On the receiving end of these passes the Greyhounds have some experience to look toward. Senior wide receivers Steve Vanderlicke, Derek Hutley and Lonnie Dowling will all catch some passes this year. Junior wide receiver Ben Wood will round out the receiving corps. Tight ends Clint Baker and John Elwood will add to Lyman's aerial attack. Tyler Hughes was a valuable receiver on last year's JV's.

Line. Could be a big plus to the Greyhounds offensive attack to have senior linemen Mark Schofield, 6-2, 230 pounds and Mike McFadden returning. Kevin Keikes will provide experience at tackle and junior Paul Thorn will see some hitting up front also. At center the Greyhounds have junior Lance Wall. Senior Greg Smith and sophomore Byron Overstreet will provide depth at that position.

DEFENSE

Secondary. The Greyhounds defensive secondary looks to be one of their strongest areas. With three returning seniors, Greg Pilot, Mike Battle and Tyler Hughes, the backfield defense looks very strong. Scott said that this may be were their experience will come in very handy. Providing depth as a defensive back will be senior Kent Griffin.

Linebackers. Scott likes the look of his defense thus far and it could have to do with this linebacking corps. Henley, Tackett, Ellis and Crespo look like starters and they have the size to make Lyman's defensive unit a feared one. Senior Greg Smith and juniors Bo Elgin and Avery Merweather provide backup power at linebacker.

Line. Experience runs rampant on the 'Hounds' defensive line. Four of five possible starters are seniors. Keikes, Tyrone Simpson and Bubba Jones are all upperclassmen. Ron Beasley, a junior, looks tough on

Cheeseman, Lyman Boys Aim At State Championships

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Cross Country

The 1983 boys Cross Country season promises to be an exciting one in Seminole County. Team-wise, Lyman has its eyes set on a 4A state title while Lake Mary's Rams will be no slouch in 4A competition either.

Individually, Lake Howell's Ken Cheeseman is ranked number one in the state in the preseason poll and Lake Mary's Derek Tangeman will be pushing to make the top ten. Seminole High is in a transition year with only one returning letterman.

Seminole — Senior Ken Troutman is the only returning letterman to coach Ted Tombros' team while a pair of sophomores are also expected to turn in strong performances. Either Troutman or sophomore Billy Penick will be the number one runner while sophomore Kelly Faint will be number three.

"We're expecting big things out of those three," Tombros said. "They will lead us throughout the year. Our top three will dictate how well we do in '83."

The remainder of the squad is made up entirely of newcomers to Seminole Cross Country. Sophomore Kelvin Abney will be the number four runner while freshman Larry Cosby will be number five. "Both are making a lot of progress," Tombros said. Junior James Hersey is trying out cross country for the first time and Tombros said he could play an important role for the Tribe. "He (Hersey) has the potential to be a good runner." Rounding out the team are freshmen Ray Hardy and Eric Martin. Tombros said Hardy has good potential while Martin has only been out a few days.

"It will be a transition year for us," Tombros said. "We had some success last year (undefeated in dual meets, Lake Mary Invitational champions), but we lost five of our top six and 8 of 10 overall. If we continue to progress, we will surprise some people. A lot will depend on how our number four (Abney) and five (Cosby) runners do."

Like all of the county teams, Seminole will open the season on Saturday, Sept. 10, in the Lyman Invitational at Seminole Community College.

Lake Mary — Although they no longer have a course to run on, the Rams will still be strong in '83 with all of its top runners returning. Lake Mary's course is not entirely on school property so the Rams will have to use alternate courses while they look for another course. In the 1983 4A preseason rankings, Lake Mary was named as a top 10 possibility.

Leading the way for coach Mark McGee's Rams is senior Derek Tangeman who's best three-mile last season was 15:24. Tangeman placed third in the region a year ago and also placed seventh in the 2-mile run at the state track meet. Tangeman was 12th in the Seminole Summertime Jamboree and was ranked 12th in the preseason individual rankings.

Another senior, Mark Blythe, will be an important performer for the Rams this season. Blythe was impressive in the jamboree as he finished 18th. Brian LaVigne is the only other senior on the team so Tangeman, Blythe and LaVigne will be looked to for leadership in '83.

Three juniors will also be among the top seven runners. They include Matt Palumbo, Tim Kornacki and John Amrhein. All three were members of last year's team. Other juniors on the squad include Tony Bumquets, Bob Howard and Chris Datore. Sophomores are Jeff Hale, Todd Hall, Eric Hilsam and Ken Rohr while Dominic Rundle is the lone freshman on the team.

Lyman — With five of its top seven returning, and four of those seniors, Lyman's Greyhounds could make a run at the state title if they can get up a head of steam and carry it into the end of the season. Lyman was ranked third in the 4A preseason poll behind Largo and John I. Leonard.

"I think third may be a little high for us at this point," Lyman coach David Huggins said. "But I hope we can keep getting better as the season goes on. If we do, we will be in shape to be in the top five."

Scanlon Fulfills Potential With Upset Of McEnroe

NEW YORK (UPI)—As if a victory over the world's top ranking player wasn't reward enough for a good day's work, Bill Scanlon had even more reason to celebrate.

Of far more importance to Scanlon is the victory he scored over himself. The words revenge, self-satisfaction, vindication are all a part of it. So is the fact that another expression often used in referring to Scanlon is unfulfilled potential.

All it took was one victory to possibly change the course of Scanlon's destiny. Especially when that victory came over top-seeded John McEnroe Monday in the fourth round of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

"It's a funny thing but sometimes I'd like to take all the media guides and rip out the pages where I'm listed," Scanlon said following his brilliant 7-6, 7-6, 4-6, 6-3 triumph on a steaming afternoon. "You get tired of reading about unfulfilled potential and lack of motivation. You'd think that all I did was stay on the beach all day and play the guitar."

"I used to have trouble getting motivated in 1978, but things have changed since then. I've changed since then. I've spent the last three years doing what I'm supposed to be doing. I made a promise to myself three years ago never ever to give up in any match. I promised myself to play all my matches like I did today."

To Scanlon, not only does McEnroe

represent the best in tennis, but the two of them are not particularly friendly. And for further ammunition, in their previous two meetings, McEnroe won a five-set squeaker at Dallas and then bested Scanlon in two tie-breaker sets in the fourth round at Wimbledon.

"This is a very, very satisfying victory," said Scanlon, whose career was endangered a few years ago by personal problems. "What more can you ask for than to beat the No. 1 player at the U.S. Open in New York City before a crowd that was fantastic?"

Another man who to take satisfaction from Scanlon's victory was Jimmy Connors, who now has a clearer path to Sunday's final and another possible showdown with Ivan Lendl, the man he beat in last year's final.

Connors, seeded third, beat Heinz Gunthardt of Switzerland, 7-5, 6-4, 6-1, Monday night and in the quarterfinals will meet No. 14 Elliot Teltscher, a 3-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1 victor over Greg Holmes.

Connors no longer has to worry about meeting McEnroe in the semifinals, and he has enjoyed excellent success against Lendl. Scanlon's foe in the quarterfinals will be Mark Dickson, who advanced with a 6-7, 7-6, 6-0, 7-6 victory over John Lloyd.

The other quarterfinal spots will be decided today when Lendl plays Johan Kriek, Yannick Noah meets Aaron Krickstein, Jimmy Arias plays Joakim Nyström and Mats Wilander faces Andres Gomez.

Martina Navratilova and Chris Evert Lloyd led all the seeded women in action safely through the round of 16 Monday, with No. 1 seed Martina Navratilova routing Pilar Vasquez of Peru, 6-0, 6-1, and Evert gaining revenge for her Wimbledon defeat by beating Kathy Jordan, 6-3, 7-6.

Also winning were No. 3 Andrea Jaeger, No. 5 Pam Shriver, No. 7 Sylvia Hanika, No. 8 Hana Mandlikova, No. 14 Jo Durie and unseeded Ivanna Madruga-Oses of Argentina.

the line as well. Juniors Jim Odom and Paul Thomann will provide strength in backup at end. Senior Mike McFadden will also see some playing time at tackle.

Kicking. The Greyhounds have a strong kicking game according to Scott. Senior Jody Foster will handle the punting duties for Lyman and junior Steve Abernethy will place kick. Scott said that Abernethy has "been looking real good so far. He's been consistent from 40 yards out in practice."

OUTLOOK

The Greyhounds' forte is their experienced defense. The offense is young and thus far unproven. Scott wants a balanced offensive attack but the aerial game might be questionable. If Johnson can handle the quarterbacking duties, it will free Pilot to stay on defense where he is one of the top defensive backs in Central Florida. Lyman looks strong on the ground with strong backs with good speed. The defense may keep the Greyhounds in a few games this year until the offense starts to jell.

Scott is taking the season one step at a time because of the inexperience of his squad. "We're just going to try to play them one at a time and we'll try to eliminate mistakes as we go," he said.

As for season goals Scott said that not ruling out chances of repeating as conference champion. "We always like to do better than we did last year. We'd like to go back to the playoffs and get further down the road than we did last year."

Barker Pays 1st Dividend — Braves Pull Closer

United Press International

A month from now the Atlanta Braves may look back at Aug. 28 as the day they won the National League West — even though today they are 1 1/2 games behind the Dodgers.

But that was the date the Braves acquired right-hander Len Barker from Cleveland. If his performance Monday night is any indication of things to come, the Braves better start stocking up on aspirin — because champagne leaves a wicked hangover.

Barker collected his first NL victory, leading the Braves to a 7-5 decision over the Houston Astros in game delayed 93 minutes by rain. The victory, coupled with the Dodgers loss to San Diego, reduced Los Angeles' lead by a game.

Barker, who was 8-13 with Cleveland and had some shoulder problems, was making his second start for Atlanta since being acquired for three players to be named later.

He was removed after seven innings with an injured groin muscle but is not expected to miss a turn.

"I could have thrown but we had a long rain delay and there's no sense in me going out there with a 6-1 lead anyway," said Barker, 1-1, who yielded just two hits and struck out five.

"There's no sense in taking any chances. I felt like I was getting stronger. I was throwing the ball over the plate and getting ahead of the hitters. When I can do that I can pitch games like this. But if I don't get ahead of the hitters like I did the last game I'm going to struggle. I might get through and win the game but nobody can pitch behind the hitters consistently and win. I haven't seen anybody do it and I don't think there's going to be anybody to do it."

Donnie Moore, who bailed Steve Bedrosian out of a jam in the ninth, got the last two outs for his sixth save.

A.L./N.L. Baseball

Rafael Ramirez drove in three runs to back his new teammate.

Atlanta took a 1-0 lead in the first off Joe Niekro, 12-12, on Dale Murphy's RBI single but Houston tied it in the fourth on an RBI double by Dickie Thon.

The Braves went ahead 3-1 in the sixth on run-scoring singles by Ramirez and Bruce Benedict and added three more in the sixth on a run-scoring grounder by Murphy and Ramirez' two-run double for the 6-1 lead.

The Braves added a run in the eighth on Brett Butler's fourth homer of the year.

Padres 5, Dodgers 2

At Los Angeles, Mark Thurmond pitched an eight-hitter over eight innings and San Diego touched Fernando Valenzuela for three runs in the third en route to victory. Thurmond, 7-2, walked two and struck out three. Gary Lucas finished for his 14th save. Pedro Guerrero hit his 27th homer of the season for the Dodgers.

Expos 7, Cubs 3

At Montreal, Al Oliver clubbed his second grand slam in eight days and Bill Gullettson notched his 14th victory to lead the Expos. Gullettson gave up eight hits, walked two and struck out one before yielding to Bob James, who finished for his third save. Tim Raines had a single in three at bats and scored on Oliver's slam.

Giants 3, Reds 2

At San Francisco, pinch hitter Dave Bergman's two-run homer in the eighth lifted the Giants. Rookie Jeff Russell, who took a no-hitter into the eighth inning, gave up a leadoff double to Joel Youngblood and Bergman followed with a line drive into the right-field stands for his fifth homer.

Cardinals 7-7, Pirates 4-8
At St. Louis, Dane Iorg's sacrifice fly with one out in the bottom of the 11th inning delivered Ozzie Smith and gave the Cardinals the sweep. In the opener, Dave LaPoint singled in two runs to cap a three-run eighth and pitched 5 2/3 innings of scoreless relief to pace St. Louis.

Mets 6, Phillies 5

At New York, George Foster hit a three-run homer in the ninth to rally the Mets. Jesse Orosco, 13-5, picked up his ninth straight victory, one short of Tom Seaver's club record. Orosco has not lost since July 19. Al Holland, 8-3, took the loss.

Brewers 3, Yankees 1

At this stage of the pennant race, one mistake can be one too many. "This was about the best all-around game I've pitched all year," Shane Rawley said Monday after serving a three-run homer to Mark Brouhard that gave the Milwaukee Brewers a 3-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

"But one bad pitch cost me the ballgame," continued Rawley, 14-11. "It was a fastball I was trying to get in but it was out over the plate and he got a hold off it."

Tom Candiotti and Pete Ladd combined on a six-hitter, helping the Brewers get the jump in an important four-game series. Candiotti, 4-0, allowed one run and six hits in 6 2/3 innings, leaving him with an 0.76 ERA. He struck out four and walked two. Ladd struck out three to earn his 18th save.

White Sox 11, A's 1

At Chicago, Carlton Fisk and Ron Kittle slammed homers to pace a 16-hit attack that led Floyd Bannister, 14-10, and the torrid White Sox. Oakland made five errors. Chicago knocked out Tim Conroy, 6-8, during a three-run sixth.

Fisk's 23rd homer marked the most ever by a White Sox catcher.

Red Sox 2, Orioles 0

At Baltimore, Rich Gedman's triple highlighted a two-run fifth and Bob Ojeda, 8-7, and Bob Stanley, aided by four double-plays, combined on a five-hitter to lead the Red Sox. Stanley pitched the last three innings to pick up his 27th save. Mike Boddicker, 12-7, took the loss.

Blue Jays 7, Angels 0

At Toronto, Jim Gott fired a five-hitter and Damaso Garcia drove in four runs with a two-run homer and a bases-loaded single for the Blue Jays. Gott, 8-13, notched his first shutout and sixth complete game of the season. He allowed just one hit over the last 6 1/3 innings. Geoff Zahn, 8-11, took the loss.

Indians 3, Tigers 2

At Cleveland, Mike Hargrove singled home George Vukovich with the go-ahead run in a two-run eighth to snap Tigers' starter Jack Morris' winning streak at 10. Morris fell to 18-9 in his first loss since July 9. Bud Anderson, 1-4, allowed two hits over the final three innings for the victory.

Rangers 7, Twins 3

At Arlington, Texas, Larry Parrish drove in six runs with a three-run homer and a bases-loaded double, helping the Rangers to their fourth victory in five games. The victory gave Texas a total of 65 victories, one more than the team had in 1982.

Mariners 13, Royals 6

At Kansas City, Mo., Steve Henderson, Dave Henderson and Darnell Colea homered to give Jim Beattie his first victory since July 13 and lead the Mariners. Beattie, 9-12, snapped a personal seven-game losing streak and a three-game Seattle skip. Larry Gura, 10-17, took the loss.

Porter, Lawrence Win Big At Speedway

Auto Racing

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — LeRoy Porter led every tour to win the 50-Lap Labor Day Weekend Late Model Championship on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

The extra-distance/extra-cash thunder car finale went to Bruce Lawrence. Rick Lokey took the street stock main and will be a strong favorite to win the 100-Lap Street Stock Championship of Florida scheduled for Saturday night, Sept. 17, here at New Smyrna Speedway. The four cylinder feature went to Stan Eads, with Mike Fritts and Yogi Martin scoring victories in spectator racing events.

With Porter's arch rival David Rogers in the Wayne Denach Budweiser Firebird, dropping out because of ignition problems, the battle was for second spot between "Professor" Duke Southard who conducts drivers' schools at the speedway and division's points leader Joe Middleton.

Inheriting the runner-up spot when Rogers pulled in, Southard, precisely following the same line lap after lap and making it look so easy with his extra-smooth driving style, worked the lapped car traffic to his advantage and held off Middleton till the checker was waived.

Finishing third to fifth were Chuckie Lee, Jerry Fitch and Joe Coupas.

Street stocker Lokey, in the potent Lokey Automotive Camaro, bested talented youngster Casey Hawthorne, previous week's winner Ben Booth, Sanford veteran Homer Franklin and newcomer Gaby Vaillencourt.

Top four cylinder finishers were Eads, Mike Shuman, Milo Vidic.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

White Has Last Laugh, Cowboys Trim Redskins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Danny White had the last laugh Monday night, leaving the Washington Redskins to gnash their teeth and snarl.

White passed for three touchdowns and ran for another, all in the second half, as the Dallas Cowboys erased Washington's 20-point halftime lead to down the Redskins, 31-30.

Practically left for dead by the 55,045 RFK Stadium hopefuls, the Cowboys arose, hoisted by White's arm. After hitting just one of 10 first-half passes for 10 yards, the often-criticized Cowboys' quarterback completed 8-of-10 in the second half for 183 yards.

"There were no speeches at halftime," said White. "[Coach Tom] Landry just told us to be cool and keep our heads. That's just what we needed at the time because we were so upset at being down by so much."

Two of White's TD passes went 75 and 51 yards to Tony Hill early in the third quarter and were just what the Cowboys needed. Later, White ran 1 yard for the touchdown that, coupled with Rafael Septien's extra point, put Dallas in front 24-23.

"It was like playing in two different games," White said. "Washington did everything right in the first half and we controlled the second half."

"After the second touchdown our guys knew we were back in the game. We never felt we couldn't win, but that picked us up a lot. The defense gave us great field position the second half."

White's third touchdown pass went 1 yard to tight end Doug Cosbie. Septien added a 26-yard field goal, the Cowboys' only first-half points.

Fracture Sidelines Cotney

TAMPA (UPI) — Tampa Bay Buccaneers strong safety Mark Cotney underwent surgery on his fractured thumb Monday and will be lost for 4-to-6 weeks.

Surgeons inserted two pins at the base of his thumb and Cotney will be in a cast for at least a month. He broke the thumb in Sunday's 11-0 loss to the Detroit Lions.

Dolphins Sign Strock

MIAMI (UPI) — Reserve quarterback Don Strock has ended a months-long holdout and signed a series of one-year contracts with the Miami Dolphins, whose struggling offense was dealt a double blow during the season opener with the Buffalo Bills.

The Dolphins also confirmed Monday that wide receivers Jimmy Cefalo and Tommy Vigorito were lost — probably for the entire season — with knee injuries suffered during Sunday's 12-0 victory over Buffalo.

...Cheeseman, Lyman Aim For Championships

Cross Country

usually overshadowed by Ken Cheeseman, the Lyman senior is still one of the best around. After a 13th place finish at the state cross country meet a year ago, McBroom is ranked fifth in the preseason poll.

Behind McBroom, there are seniors Marc Overbay and Brian Hunter.

Hunter was 24th in the state a year ago but a bad leg has him questionable for the season opener, but Huggins said he should be ready to go.

The number four runner is junior Carl Schmalmaack who played an important role for the 'Hounds last year and will do so again in '83.

Two more juniors make up the number five and six spots while another senior is the number seven runner. The two juniors are Wayne Sprawl and Steve Grundorf while the senior is James Felcetti.

Lyman, the host team, is favored to win the season opener which will have from 12 to 14 teams including all those in the Five Star and Metro Conferences. "We will have some tough competition Saturday," Huggins said. "Oak Ridge is ranked 8th in the state and Bishop Moore always has a good team."

Cross Country

Lake Howell

— Cheeseman is the main attraction and he is ranked number one in the state preseason poll after winning the mile at the state track meet and finishing second at the cross country meet.

According to the poll, Cheeseman, a senior, will not only be one of the best in the state, but one of the best in the country.

Lake Brantley

— The Patriots always get a bunch of dedicated athletes. The best example is Mike Garriques who emerged as one of the county's best distance runners during this past track season. Garriques is returning for his senior year and should be among the top three-milers in Seminole County.

After winning state mile last spring, Lake Howell's Ken Cheeseman has his sights set on the state cross country championship this fall.

Sweetwater Club Heralds Fall With Fashion Show

The Sweetwater Woman's Club will hold its first meeting of the new fall year on Sept. 14. A gala luncheon/fashion show will be held at the Maison et Jardin Restaurant on Wymore Road, starting at 11:15 a.m. For the fashion show, shop owner Barbara Zanders, owner of a dress shop in the Longwood Village Shopping Center, will furnish club members with beautiful fashions to model. Make-up artist Peggy Jackson will be on hand to make up the members with Rachael Natural cosmetics prior to the show.

Karen Warner

barbecues, ski shows, informative speeches and views on the many special projects carried on by the Rotary International.

Cocktails will be served at 11:30 and the fashion show will follow the luncheon. The event must have reservations in advance. R.S.V.P. by noon Sunday, Sept. 11, by calling Paula Castaldo at 869-8842, or Bonnie Petteerew at 788-1205. All Sweetwater area ladies are invited.

The Rotary Club of Longwood is making preparations to send club delegates to the Rotary District Conference to be held this year at the Sheraton Inn, Sea World, on Sept. 29, 30, and Oct. 1. Rotary members and their wives are being invited to spend the three days with a wide variety of activities offered. Those attending will be taking part in awards presentations, golf and tennis tournaments, gala dinners, breakfasts, country western

The Rotary Club of Longwood has as special guest speaker for its Aug. 16 meeting, Casselberry attorney John Edward Jones, a member of the Casselberry Rotary Club who spoke about "the challenge of accountability" and asked the members whether "in the haste to succeed, do we make the best decisions?" Jones, recent author of Reconciliation, published by Promise Publishers Inc., challenged the members with his personal stories of accountability for professional behavior.

The club meets every Tuesday, at 7:30 a.m., at Cassidy's Restaurant.

The First Pentecostal Church of Longwood has branched out with a new ministry for low income families. The church has recently opened a "Thrift Center," located on the church property at 561 East Orange. The thrift center offers good usable items such as housewares, knick-knacks, and a wide range of clothing for baby, children and adults, as well as shoes.

The thrift center came from an idea from church members Shirley Dorsey and Lee Frost, who thought it would be helpful to organize all the clothing and things that people would donate throughout the year and really make it available to area residents.

All the merchandise sold at the center, is non-profit, but a very small price is charged for the saleable items, like some dresses costing only 25 cents. All monies raised are channeled through the church, and are incorporated back into the community through various organizations. Two avenues of channeling will be by giving to foreign missions and to the Tupelo Children's Home.

The center, has been donated by church members, but the center will accept donations from non-members as well.

The thrift center is open to the public for browsing on Fridays and Saturdays only, from 9 a.m. till 4 p.m. Overseeing the ministry are church pastor James Coombs and his wife.

Happy, Fat Woman Learns To Accept 'Just As I Am'

DEAR ABBY: Please, please print this again: "DEAR ABBY: Do you know what it's like to: "Walk down the street and have a total stranger say, "You have such a pretty face, it's a shame you're so fat?"

Dear Abby

"Shop in a grocery store and have people watch to see what you put in your cart?"

"Walk into a restaurant and wonder if you'll fit into the booths or chairs? (Or worse yet, go to someone's home and pray there will be a chair that's sturdy enough to hold you?)"

"Squeeze into a theater seat and sit in agony during the entire performance while the sides of the seat dig into your thighs?"

"Lose out on a job for which you are highly qualified because of the way you look? (They never tell you that's the reason, but somehow you know it is.)"

"Be told that someone would like to date you if you would lose some weight?"

"Wonder if maybe you wouldn't be better off dead?"

"Well, I do. I know there is nothing you or anybody else can do about my problem, Abby, but it felt good to get it off my chest. Thanks for listening."

FAT, FEMALE AND MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: I know of two solutions to your problem. One is Overeaters Anonymous, P.O. Box 6190, Torrance, Calif. 90504. It has chapters in nearly every city in the nation, and a more loving, caring, understanding and supportive group of people you could never hope to meet.

"The other is The National Association to Aid Fat Americans, Inc., P.O. Box 43, Belterose, N.Y. 11420. This is a group of frankly fat people who have banded together for the purpose of helping the obese to accept themselves as they are. There is much to be said for both organizations.

"When writing, please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope."

Abby, the above letter changed my life. I was also "Fat, Female and Miserable," so I decided to do something about it. I made a choice. I decided to quit trying to be something I was never meant to be: thin!

For 20 years I had tried every diet that came along. I lost and gained and lost and gained. Finally I could no longer handle the feeling of failure, so I went the other route and joined The National Association to Aid Fat Americans.

I have finally learned to accept myself as I am, and I've never been happier. Sign me...

FAT, FEMALE AND FEELING FANTASTIC

DEAR FEELING FANTASTIC: One of our most cherished rights is the right to be ourselves, so congratulations. There's nothing wrong with being heavy — as long as you're healthy!

DEAR ABBY: My wife of one year has always been in the habit of eating dinner late, so she serves dinner anywhere between 8:30 and 11 p.m.

I have heard that eating late and going to bed on a full stomach causes a person to become fat. We have both gained weight since we got married and I think that's the reason.

I have not changed the amount of food I eat, only the time I eat. My wife says it makes no difference when you eat, that weight gain is a matter of metabolism and how much you eat and exercise.

I say she should serve dinner earlier. She says I should get more exercise and eat less. Please settle this.

CHUBBY HUBBY IN L.A.

DEAR CHUBBY: It doesn't matter when you eat. Weight gain is caused by consuming more calories than you burn. But what does matter is that your wife serves dinner too late for your taste, so while you're still newlyweds, agree to a compromise that's palatable for both of you.

Computer Raid Caper Leaves Lesson In Wake

By Jeannine E. Klein
MILWAUKEE (UPI) — A group of young Milwaukee computer hobbyists who created an international furor after gaining access to computers across the nation say they are sorry about the hullabaloo they created.

At the same time they point out they made a public issue out of something that for years has been complacently ignored.

"The people who designed these systems are the ones that really ought to be looked at," said one of the youths involved. "They just didn't do the job (of preventing computer taps)."

The Milwaukee raiders' activities made national and international headlines, in part because of their resemblance to the recent Hollywood film "WarGames."

In the movie, a teenager uses his home computer to gain access to a Defense Department computer controlling nuclear weapons. The result is nearly World War III.

The real-life raiders call themselves the "414s" after Milwaukee's telephone area code. For more than a year their project was to try to slip into various computer systems without being detected.

"It's really easy to do," said a 21-year-old involved. "It didn't take too much intelligence to get into the things."

At least six Milwaukee youths between the ages of 15 and 22 took part in the raiding. Only one has been publicly identified.

They used their home computers to dial into the memory banks of the Los Alamos, N.M., nuclear weapons research laboratory, a Los Angeles area bank and several other businesses.

"I got out of hand, but it's not our fault either," said the 21-year-old. "There's no security or nothing."

The FBI has not released information on how it tripped up the computer raiders. But the suspects and other area computer users have their own theories.

The Los Alamos facility reported an excess number of calls and access attempts into its system in June and they may have been traced back to the Milwaukee group.

Another theory is that the group planted the name of a widely known computer "doctor" in the Los Alamos lab system as a form of revenge for his not paying them for services they provided in helping him set up his system.

The suspects themselves believe agents were tipped off by harmless changes they made in a raided system and thus put a tracer on all incoming computer lines to Milwaukee.

Milwaukee attorney Paul A. Plaskowski, who is representing Neal Patrick, a 17-year-old member of the raiders, said he did not think the group was guilty of any real crime. "It's analogous to innocent trespassing," Plaskowski said. "With the kids involved, you don't have physical entry. It just happened that they had a password, the computers answered and they talked to one another, micro systems to macro ones."

He said the youths had gotten into at least 50 to 60 computer systems, some as often as 10 times.

Plaskowski objected to calling the raiding "break-ins."

"With these people, it's more proper to say these systems have been accessed instead of broken into. Broken into implies these people walked away with something and they haven't done that," he said.

Plaskowski said the group was trying to sell television and book rights to its story for $20,000 to fund any possible legal fight.

Plaskowski termed the impact of the case "one of education for everybody. We've taken the rudimentary steps to keep kids out of the systems. Now we have to establish a code of ethics for technology."

Patrick said it was above all a game to the raiders.

"At the time I felt — in fact the whole group felt — that merely accessing a computer was not the same as breaking and entering. The main goal was just merely to access and maintain access, undetected, for as long as possible."

Federal officials do not see the issue so simply. The FBI investigation continues, and the possibility of charges being filed remains.

Plaskowski said a federal charge of wire fraud was possible. But if federal authorities opt not to file charges, he said the youths could still be prosecuted under Wisconsin's computer access laws.

"They've given every indication that they will charge," he said. "I think that's unfortunate since there really was not criminal intent here, no damage caused, no memories erased, nothing stolen."

As the revelations continue, the concern also grows.

Investigators have uncovered a loosely organized national network of computer snappers, who call themselves "hackers." They exchange information such as passwords and technical data for various computer systems through computerized "bulletin boards" in California, New York and Florida.

They have broken into national long-distance phone lines, such as MCI and Sprint, so they could make free calls.

In one case, the Milwaukee group's tapping caused the failure of a computer monitoring the condition of cancer patients at the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City.

Furniture Consignment Has New, Used Furniture

In its second year of business, Furniture Consignment, located at 1320 E. State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, has tripled in size. It consigns, buys and sells new and used and quality furniture and antiques.

The store is located 3/10 mile west of Highway 17-92 on the south side of State Road 436 in front of the Able Rent-All building and west of Uncle Jones' Barbecue.

With low prices and a lay-away plan Furniture Consignment makes it easy to buy to furniture you need. They also accept Visa and Mastercharge cards.

Owner Linda Sanders was vice president of an insurance agency when she decided "to come out from behind a desk" and open her own furniture business.

"We offer a service to the public," she explained. "When they sell their furniture on consignment through us, they don't have the hassle of a garage sale or have strangers calling to answer classified ads."

"We come out and take a look at the furniture they want to sell and agree on a selling price and bring it into the store to sell on consignment. We always need dressers, chests of drawers and desks," she said.

Linda Sanders, owner of Furniture Consignment, 'reflects' on antiques in stock.

She also orders new furniture direct from wholesalers at a savings to individuals.

The merchandise is constantly changing at Furniture Consignment. If you are looking for something in particular Linda will be glad to put you on her "want list" and try to accommodate your needs.

Furniture pick-up and delivery are available.

Furniture Consignment is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Come in and let Linda and her assistant Ginger Jackson show you around or call 339-6754.

Driftwood Village of Lake Mary has country charm.

Driftwood Village Plans December Art-Craft Show

Driftwood Village, at 549 W. Lake Mary Boulevard, Lake Mary, is inviting area artists and craftsmen to enter their work in the Village's next Arts and Crafts Show scheduled for Dec. 3 and 4.

The show will be sponsored by the Driftwood Village Merchants Association and will benefit the CIA - the Community Improvement Association of Lake Mary, that is. The hours will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

Limit spaces are available and entries are already coming in. Entry forms are available at any Driftwood Village Shop, Lake Mary City Hall, or the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. Deadline for entries is Nov. 23.

There will be cash prizes and the entry fee is $15.

Four years old, Driftwood Village is the only shopping center within the city of Lake Mary. It has a country character that sets it apart from the many look-alike shopping centers one sees today.

A fourth building is planned for the complex, which will make room for even more offices and shops. Anyone interested in information about the retail and office space available at this prestigious address, may contact the Harkins Corp. at 323-9310.

Some of the businesses and professional offices already located there are Christo's Restaurant, The Village Shop, Rocking Chair Needlecrafts, The Permanent Solution, Petsos Lake Mary Travel Agency, and The General Store.

Owned by Chris Cranias, Christo's, with three generations in food service experience, specializes in Greek-American cuisine. It serves breakfast, lunch and dinner. Hours are 6 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 7 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m.-3 p.m. on Sunday.

Adelaide Moses, owner of The Village Shop, has been in the retail clothing business in Sanford since 1965 and at Driftwood Village for 2 1/2 years. She carries a line of better women's dresses, sportswear and accessories in the latest fashions.

Rocking Chair Needlecrafts, owned and operated by Barbara E. Bartelt and her daughter, Barbara I. Bartelt, opened in March. It is well-stocked with kits supplies for knitting, crocheting, needlepoint, candlewicking, latch-hook and needlearts. Classes are available.

The Permanent Solution, owned by Diane Burton, is a family hair care center, which offers Redken Design Prescription, a totally new concept in beauty makeup. They are open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and until 8 p.m. on Monday, Thursday, and Friday.

Anne Petsos owns and operates Petsos Lake Mary Travel Agency, which specializes in handling travel arrangements for business accounts. Petsos will give you air line tickets at airport prices. There is no additional cost to the customer for trip, tour, or cruise arrangements. The agency is open 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Buzz Petsos is the owner of The General Store, which carries milk, bread, cold drinks, cigarettes, school supplies, film, hardware, gifts, gift wrap, and greeting cards for all occasions.

These sunny smiles at Sunway Auto Parts are on the faces of owner Sherry Arms and her daughter, Cynthia.

Sunway Auto Parts Has Two Locations To Serve

When you are looking for a particular part to repair your car you can depend on the friendly, experienced personnel at Sunway Auto Parts to "steer" you right. They have accumulated a total of more than a century and a half experience and will be happy to advise you on what part you really need to do the job.

Sunway Auto Parts is locally owned by Les and Sherry Arms, who operate stores at two locations for your convenience. Les manages the 434 Center store at 973 State Road 434, Longwood, assisted by countermen Ed Hinds and Tom Fairfield. Sherry is manager of the Lake Mary store located at 239 N. Country Club Road (three blocks north of the city hall assisted by her daughter, Cynthia, a student at Seminole Community College, and Ed Grist.

Be sure to take advantage of the special summer prices on starters and alternators which runs through the month of September.

Don't let the size of the stores fool you! They carry a large inventory of quality parts and car care supplies in stock and should you want a specialized part that they don't have they can definitely get it for you in half a day.

You will find their prices are competitive. There is an especially large stock of nuts and bolts.

Sunway Auto Parts has complete coverage for all cars, vans and trucks— both foreign and domestic. They also have bearings and spark plugs for boats with many satisfied boat customers.

They stock high performance parts and can get others on half a day's notice. They carry all types of oil in several brands.

Machine shop service is available such as turning rotors and drums and pressing bearing. If you are a do-it-yourselfer doing your own body work on your car, you'll find the body work supplies you will need at Sunway. Do-it-yourself mechanics will also appreciate the large variety of specialized tools for sale and rent at Sunway.

The Lake Mary store has been open for two years in November and Sherry wants to thank all area customers for their response. "We look forward to meeting and serving even more in the future."

The Lake Mary store is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and the Longwood store is open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Saturday and on Sunday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Call 322-5831 for the Lake Mary store and 830-0105 for the Longwood Sunway.

Look Out 'Apple' Here Comes 'Adam'

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — "Adam," touted as the first single-package home computer — offering a letter-quality printer and high-speed tape memory for $600 — meets its public today.

Production models are being shown to reporters and industry analysts at Coleco Industries headquarters here.

Some wonder if the company that made it big last year in video games with ColecoVision is ready for the transition into home computers.

Since Coleco announced it at the Consumer Electronics Show in Chicago in June, Adam has kept the company on a rollercoaster. Its stock soared to $65 immediately following the announcement and recently skidded to below $30 after weeks of publicity about doubters who don't think Coleco can deliver what it promises.

The stock has rebounded recently, climbing back to the $40 range.

Arnold C. Greenberg, Coleco's unfailingly optimistic president, still insists the company can crank out 500,000 units this year and start shipping them by mid September — early enough to cash in on the full Christmas season. He hopes the demonstration will quash much of the criticism.

"There have been skeptics out there who have their own selfish reasons," Greenberg said in an interview. "Parts of the trade and financial press got suckered into funneling these rumors unwittingly."

Critics wonder how quickly Adam can get into the market. Coleco already has pushed back its initial shipments from Aug. 31. They also wonder how quickly the computer will receive required approval from the Federal Communications Commission.

Greenberg maintains FCC approval will not be a problem and the commission will expedite testing of products that depend on the Christmas rush.

Others also wonder if Coleco is ready to dive into the dangerous home computer market. Greenberg points to the success the company enjoyed with its entry into the video games market last year, but others also look back a few more years.

In 1978 Coleco lost $22.3 million and faced the possibility of bankruptcy. Botched production and delivery of the company's hand-held sports games and Telstar put Coleco in the hole.

"We somewhat legitimately bit off more than we could chew," Greenberg concedes.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY SEPTEMBER 7, 1983
Success will be assured this coming year if you stay in areas where you already have experience and expertise. Your rewards will be in proportion to your skills.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't let the fear of failure stop you from attempting things you'd like to do today. You'll think less of yourself if you don't try. Order now: The NEW Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Send $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Mail an additional $1 for your Virgo Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead. Be sure to give your zodiac sign.

LIDRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It may be difficult for you to keep secrets today. There's a possibility you might take someone into your confidence that you shouldn't.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Strive to be prudent in money matters today. Be sure you get real value for every dollar you spend. Small extravagances will add up to a sorry sum.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be sure to clarify your goals and objectives today so that you don't drift off course. Fuzzy targets will be your downfall.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Do not give unsolicited advice or suggestions to friends today. If your ideas don't work for them, you'll be held accountable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Instead of merely wishing that something you are involved in will change for the better, take positive measures today to improve conditions.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The results will reflect your efforts today if you do things halfheartedly. Once you make a commitment, go all-out.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today, don't pretend to be knowledgeable about things. You could be embarrassed if your assumed know-how is challenged and found lacking.

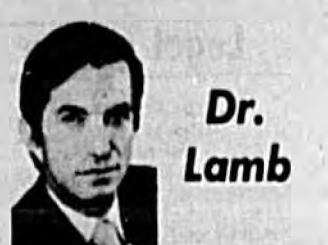

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Surface appearances could be deceptive today, so be careful about taking individuals or situations at face value. Look beyond the facade.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your judgment in family matters today may be more accurate than that of your mate's. Reason things out amicably if you think he or she is wrong.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Unless you are very explicit in your instructions today, persons performing work or service for you may not do things as you request.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is not a good day to go on a shopping spree. There's a chance you'll pay more for merchandise than it's worth, or buy what you don't need.

An 'A' Man Seeking Good Way To Relax

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I believe I am one of those "type A" personalities, highly motivated, almost to the point of being driven.

I can't seem to get myself to relax. I work so hard I am harming myself physically. I am subject to muscle tension headaches. There are a lot of hostile feelings within me which I don't understand and which I don't control very well. Sometimes I snap people's heads off for no reason.

Is this simply a case of lack of self-control or do I need to see a psychiatrist or a medical doctor? I've heard something about beta blockers. Would they help me and how can I get some? Are there any exercises or vitamins that might help to make life easier?

DEAR READER — Some professional counseling might help. I am not fond of the so-called type A or type B classification. Certainly it has been shown to have little or no relation to heart disease. The things you do in relation to stress, though, can, by that I mean smoking, eating too much, failing to exercise because of excessive emotional and mental tasks.

It is interesting that you asked about beta blockers. The best known of these is Inderal and they neutralize the effects of adrenaline, a stress hormone. And there are studies that claim that taking Inderal will convert a person from a type A "driven personality" to a more relaxed type B personality. You might well feel more comfortable if your doctor prescribed Inderal or another beta blocker. They are not sedatives or tranquilizers.

Lifestyle does make a tremendous difference. You should avoid coffee, tea and colas. The caffeine has the opposite effect of the beta blockers. So does nicotine in cigarettes. You won't get any benefit from vitamins but a regular exercise program could be a means of helping you to relax.

Read the measures I have suggested in Living With Stress. The Health Letter 20-12, which I am sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 44-year-old woman who has lost a lot of weight. I am 5-foot-7 and weighed 165 pounds. I'm healthy. I started losing weight two months ago and am down to 140 pounds. I do eat. I would like to get to the bottom of why I have lost so much weight. I have been taking One-A-Day vitamins and drink lots of milk and lots of water. Also I drink juices.

I am very concerned about this problem.

DEAR READER — You should be. Unexplained weight loss usually means a medical problem.

There are two ways a person can lose weight. One is to not get or retain enough calories. That could be from not eating enough calories, from a digestive problem that prevents absorption of calories, or because of a loss of calories from your body such as sugar in your urine if you are a diabetic.

The other way is to have an increased use of calories as from exercise, or from your body requiring more calories because of an overactive thyroid or some other medical problem.

Your comment about drinking lots of milk, water and fruit juices suggests an increased fluid intake. That along with the weight loss makes me wonder about diabetes.

See your doctor and have a medical checkup in the near future.

We strongly recommend the use of minor suit splinters in response to a major suit opening. This splinter is, of course, a game force that shows a singleton in the bid suit and support for partner's suit. Expert partnerships extend this to major suit responses in a manner that is too complicated for ordinary mortals.

North has decided slam interest with his 11 high-card points and singleton diamond, but only if South has the right hand. South doesn't have the right hand and signs off at four spades.

West opens the queen of clubs and careful play is needed to bring the game home. South wins in dummy and should lead a diamond immediately. West wins appropriately and continues clubs. South takes his king and ruffs a diamond. Back to his hand with a club ruff to ruff a second diamond.

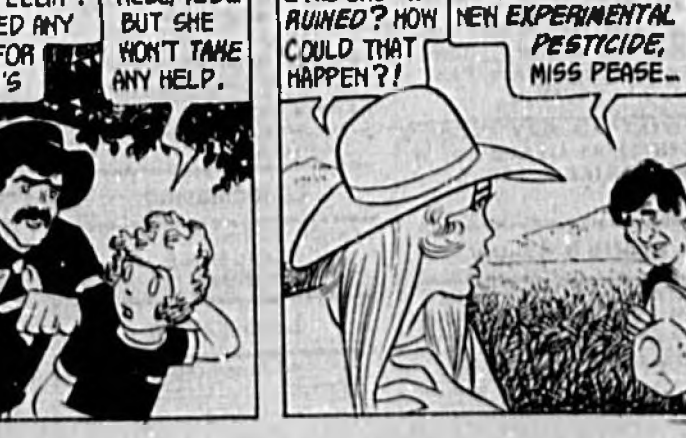

At this stage South abandons any idea of a third diamond ruff. Somehow or other, these hands tend to collapse when greed takes over. South simply pulls trumps since he has one heart, two clubs, his own five trumps and two diamond ruffs in the bag for his 10 tricks.
