Hyderabad Yields To India Following War of 100 Hours

Moslem Nizam Leader Of State Orders Cease Fire Effective At 5:00 P. M.

PARIS, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The cease-fire order will have no immediate effect on the Security Council's interest in the Indian invasion of Hyderabad an authoritative U. N. source said today.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW DELHI, Sept. 17. (AP)—The Hyderabad government radio broadcast today that the princely state has yielded in its 100-hour war with the Dominion of India. The Moslem Nizam, ruler of the state, ordered a cease fire effective at 5 P. M. (6:30 A. M., EST) and accepted the resignation of his government. He informed India he will form a new government tomorrow.

Mir Laik Ali, the Nizam's premier, announced this in the Hyderabad broadcast. The broadcast was in the Urdu language and in English. It was picked up by the Indian government radio at Nagpur. The government awaited a full text before reaching a decision, a spokesman said.

Unofficial reports reaching here from Poona, Madras and Nagpur said Indian troops already had marched into Hyderabad City, the capital, and Secunderabad, a military cantonment six miles north of the capital, without opposition. Official confirmation was awaited here at General headquarters. India declared at the outset she was marching into Hyderabad to put down a state of anarchy. The Indian commander, Lieut. General Maharajah Shri Rajen—(Continued on Page Two)

Daniel P. Louis, Chicago, chairman of the Western Conference Committee and spokesman for the carriers, said:

"The demands of the unions are too extreme. We are unwilling to warrant any prospect of settlement through collective bargaining. We will have to let this matter take its course under the Railway Labor Act."

- A five-day, 40 hour week with 48 hours pay.
- A wage increase of 25 cents an hour.

Bernadotte Ambushed, Killed By 4 Men In City Of Jerusalem

Bernadotte Worked For Peace As Hard As Many Did For Making War

Count Folke Bernadotte worked as hard as making peace just as hard as other men worked at making war. He was a leader in the International Red Cross and the United Nations' official intermediary for peace in Palestine, where he fearfully involved two tenuous truces.

Bernadotte acted as a go-between in Heinrich Himmler's surrender negotiations for Germany in the closing weeks of World War II.

Russians frequently criticized his actions as mediator for Palestine. The count was a nephew of King Gustav of Sweden. He spent all his adult years as one of the most prominent men of good will in the world.

He was profoundly religious, but also gay and charming in manner. As a Swedish Red Cross official he played a most active role in three wartime prisoner-of-war exchanges with Germany.

He made many hazardous trips into Germany, some during the heaviest bombings of Berlin. He was responsible for many moral measures during Swedish mobilization when war threatened.

He headed the Swedish equivalent of the U. S. O. He also was active in Boy Scout work, training them as aircraft spotters and medical assistants.

He was head of the Swedish Y. M. C. A. In private life, he was interested in publishing. He was chairman of the board of directors of Det Bosto, the Swedish edition of Reader's Digest.

During the New York World Fair just before the war, he was commissioner general of the Swedish pavilion. He also represented his country at the Chicago Century of Progress.

Bernadotte was far more human than most men of his stature. He was a man of peace and brotherhood.

His Angelus for the Peace Assembly is sponsored by the Laymen's movement on a Christian World and is endorsed by churches and lay groups in the United States. Observances will be held in 40 European countries, and 22 state governors in the United States, including Governor Millard E. Eisenhower.

USDA Okeys New Rules For State's 1948 Orange Crop

LAKELAND, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The secretary of Agriculture approved today regulations designed to prevent a market glut of Florida's new orange crop.

Frank Seymour, executive secretary of the Federal Marketing Administration, said the USDA had endorsed restrictions adopted here Tuesday by the committee.

The regulations which become effective Monday provide that oranges must not be smaller than those requiring 170 to fill a standard box. This shipping rule is for one week from Sept. 27 to Oct. 4. Size 236 will be permitted.

Shipments were made this week without shipping regulations. The first shipping rules among the stiffest ever stamped on at the beginning of a season will limit the oranges to large-sized fruit.

All oranges must grade No. 2 or better for shipment from the state.

When the rules were adopted by the marketing committee, they were done so with the idea of keeping the same thing from happening to orange prices which already has happened to the grapefruit crop. Low prices have plagued grapefruit from the start of the season.

Greatest Americans

The greatest people who ever lived on the North American continent were not the Americans of today. They were the ancient Mayas of Mexico and Yucatan, whose ablest historian has just died. This was Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, director of the School of American Research at Santa Fe, N. M. He wrote many books on the Mayas, summing up his knowledge in a large book which appeared two years ago, "The Ancient Maya".

A LETTER OF A FATHER TO HIS SON

BY JOHN D. SWAIN, '32 L., YALE UNIVERSITY

My dear Son: I am writing a few things I meant to say to you when we took our last walk together, the day before you left for Yale. I intended to say them then, and I will even confess that I shamelessly inveigled you into taking a stroll into a quiet street that I might release a carefully prepared letter of Chesterfield's up-to-date; but somehow I could not seem to begin, and, after all, perhaps I can write what was in my mind more freely and plainly than I could have spoken it.

I think I have never realized before that I was getting old. Of course I have known that my hair is causing your mother much solicitude, and that I am hopelessly wedded to my pipe, and at the opera; but in some incomprehensible way I had forgotten to associate these trifles with the encroachments of time. It was the sudden realization that you were about to become a Freshman in the college from which, as it seems to me, I but yesterday graduated, that "froze the genial current of my soul" and spared you my paternal lecture.

Why, I can shut my eyes and still hear the Ivy Song, as we sang it that beautiful June morning; and yet but a few nights more and you will be locked in the deadly flush on the same field where I triumphantly received two blackened eyes, and I trust, gave many more!

Another thing, trifling in itself, opened my eyes to the fact of my advancing years. My son, my loyal and affectionate boy, some day it may be yours to know the pain, the unreasonable pain, that comes over a man to know that between him and his boy, and his boy's friends, an unseen but unassailable barrier has arisen, and to feel that while they may experience a vague respect and even curiosity to know what exists on your side of the barrier, on your part would give all—wealth, position, influence, honor,—to get back to theirs. All the world clumsily or gracefully, is crawling over this barrier; but not one eye crawls back again!

For the tyranny of youth, my son, is not to be feared. Youth has been, never can be overthrown. Nothing can displace it, nothing shake its power. I usually beat you at golf, and occasionally at tennis; I suppose that if we were to spar together I might still make a respectable showing, and at least "save my face." It avails nothing, I am on my side of the barrier, you on yours.

It seems but a year and a day, since I tucked the ball under my arm and sped down the gridiron, sustained by the yells of my partisans; and if our game lacked the machine-like precision of the mass formation you are already somewhat familiar with, it was a good game, and we were good men, and all on the right side of the barrier!

So hear with me if I cause a moment and gaze back across this inevitable gulf into the pleasant land that lies behind me,—a picture evoked by your dawning college career. I would not have you think me regretful or melancholy. Life has been good to me—and every age has its gifts for the man who is willing to work for them and use them temperately.

So hear with me if I cause a moment and gaze back across this inevitable gulf into the pleasant land that lies behind me,—a picture evoked by your dawning college career. I would not have you think me regretful or melancholy. Life has been good to me—and every age has its gifts for the man who is willing to work for them and use them temperately.

Yet, as the years bring weakness, the mind persistently drifts back to the earlier periods of life, until the aged actually enter a phase we not lightly name "second childhood," from which Heaven forbid me!

I can still appreciate a pair of sparkling blue eyes, and I am not oblivious to the turn of a pretty shoulder; although I devoutly trust that my interest is now impersonal and merely artistic. I can still do my eighteen holes of golf and well under eighty five and I think I shot last fall as well as ever in my life; but I must admit, sadly but not rancorously, that I much prefer my comfortable position of halfback, and I should not be willing to run at top speed for a quarter of a mile, except upon a matter of great moment.

And so, comfortably situated upon my side of the barrier, let me spare you an much elderly wisdom (more, I fear, because I have hitherto been blissfully unaware of my own seniority than from any conscious motive) let me, I say, indulge in a few customary paternal warnings to you at this time. I trust that they will be sincere.

Some fathers say to their sons upon the first home leaving,—"Beware of wine and women!" I do not.

If your home life has not taught the virtues of a temperate, clean life, as I hope, then you must learn, as too many others have, from a bitter intimacy with its antithesis.

As to women, I never avoided them; I sought them out from the time when, a red-checked youngster, I trudged to school beside a red-checked lassie—sleep these many years in the little village school where lies so many with whom I fought and played these many years ago by.

Do not insult you, and myself equally, by warning you against unfairness; to suppose you capable of cheating at cards is to suppose an impossibility. You could not do so without forfeiting the right to ever enter your home again. But some careless and invidious practices, not unknown in my day and class, savor to the upright mind of cheating, without always incurring its penalties.

To play with men who you know can not afford to lose, and who must either cheat or suffer privation; to play when you yourself must win your bet to square yourself; that is, when you do not reasonably see how you are going to raise the money to pay providing you lost,—this is a gambler's chance to which no gentleman will ever expose his fellow players.

There is nothing heroic about these desperate casts of the die; one risks only the other fellow's money. These practices I ask and expect you to avoid. I ask nothing of you in the way of a declared position on religion. Your mother may have demanded more of you here—entreated more; I can not. I ask but this; that you will give earnest, serious consideration to the fact that we exist on the planet for a shocking brief fraction of Eternity; that it behooves every man to diligently seek some answer to the great question,—Why am I here? And then, as best he can, to live up to the ideals enjoined by his answer. And if this carries you far, and if it leads you to embrace any of the great creeds of Christendom, this will be to your mother an unspeakable joy, and perhaps not less so to me; but it is a question which can not be settled by the mere filial desire to please.

Last of all, while you are in college, be of it, and support its every helpful activity. I ask no academic honor your natural inclinations may not lead you to strive for; no physical supremacy your animal spirits may not instinctively reach out and grasp.

You will, I presume, make the fraternity I made, and I hope, the societies; you will probably then learn that your father was not always a dignified, bearded man in a pince-nez and frock coat, and that on his side of the barrier he cut not a few capers which, seen in the clear light of his summer, gain little grace. Yet, were he to live his life over again, he would cut the same, or worse.

Finally, if you make any of the teams, never quit. That is all the secret of success. Never quit! Quitting, I like to believe, has not been a striking characteristic of our family, and is not tolerated in our college.

If you can't win the scholarship, fight it out to the end of the examination. If you can't win your race, at least finish—somehow. If your boat can't win, at least keep pulling on your oar, even if your eye glazes and the taste of blood comes into your throat with every heave.

Civil Suit Is Filed On Express Company

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—(AP)—The Justice Department today filed a civil complaint against the Railway Express Agency, Inc., alleging violations of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.
The complaint was filed in federal court at Wilmington, Del. It charges the Railway Express Agency entered into contracts with the railroads under which it became the exclusive agency for handling express business on the railroads.
Attorney General Clark said the main objective of the suit "is the elimination of these restrictive provisions which deny access to the railway express business to anyone other than Railway Express Agency, Inc."

Louisiana State Gridders Take It Easy Before Tiff

Other Southeastern Conference Elevens Hold Heavy Drills

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Louisiana State's footballers were taking it easy today before flying to Austin for Saturday's opener against Texas. It will be the first regular game for any member of the Southeastern Conference.

The Staters wound up their last full-scale practice yesterday, by-passing contact work and with the accent on passing and punting. Bill Schroll, acting varsity full-back, practiced without apparent difficulty. He will accompany the team to Austin, but is a doubtful starter.

Meanwhile, other Southeastern gridders bore down in practice sessions for their openers the weekend of the 26th. Among them was Tulane's Green Wave, which opens against Alabama. Coach Henry Frka reselected the work-outs to dummy drills and chalk talks. He may end the week's practice with a heavy scrimmage tomorrow.

The University of Georgia— which opens against Chattanooga—concentrated on line work and the forward line seems to be shaping up well. It may not be the greatest line of the decade, but it does have size, experience and weight. Co-captain Bernie Reid and Porter Payne, right guard and right tackle, are battling for the No. 1 line-man's spot, if such a question can be settled.

The Tennessee Vols face some bad luck in their opening game with Mississippi State. Vols' first string blocking tackle Ovis Miller is definitely out. A loose cartilage has caused his knee to lock three times since practice began. The leg will be in a cast for the next ten days.

Georgia Tech varsity players engaged in a long scrimmage against both the second and third teams in preparation with the Jackets' first game against Vanderbilt at Nashville. Joe E. Brown's passing and Henry Shoening's work at end highlighted the drill. Coach Bobby Dodd also commented favorably on the work of Tailback Bobby North and Fullback Matt Mulhairin.

Meanwhile, Vanderbilt battled through 40 minutes of scrimmage under game conditions, with the varsity on defense throughout. The freshmen, using a "T" formation, used the wide open running and passing attack that Georgia is expected to use next week. Center Charley Hoover's activity was impressive. Hoover saw little action last year because of a leg injury.

Classes opened at Mississippi State, so Coach Allyn McKee reduced practice to one daily afternoon session. Guards Bally Johnson and Hob Patterson stood out on defense.

Kentucky Coach Paul Bryant tipped his hand on his backfield combination. In a scrimmage he called the best to date, Bobby Brooks and Wilbur Jamerson teamed at halfbacks, Billy Boller at fullback and George Blanda at quarterback. They clicked impressively.

University of Mississippi gridders got a breather. Coach John Vaughn worked them lightly.

Daytona, Waycross To Continue Series

WAYCROSS, Ga., Sept. 17, (AP)—The Waycross Bears, champions of the Class D Georgia-Florida League, will seek their third consecutive triumph tonight over Daytona Beach's Islanders, Florida State League Shugheensay play-off winners.

Waycross won the first two contests of the seven-game series at Daytona Beach by the scores of 8 to 1 and 2 to 1.

Tonight's game is billed for 8 o'clock (EST).

Coach Bear Wolf Continues Efforts To Sharpen U Of F Offensive Punch

GAINESVILLE, Sept. 17—(AP)—Coach Bear Wolf continued his efforts today to sharpen the University of Florida offense for the opening tilt against Mississippi here Sept. 25—just one week away.

The mentor turned his aerial artists loose yesterday with pleasing results. Brightest spot in the attack was the fine protection the Gators were giving the passers—Doug Belden, Angus Williams and Laz Lewis.

Using the freshmen as stumbling blocks, the varsity finished up the session with a full-scale air-ground attack which heartened the most caustic Gator critic. Even Wolfe, usually reticent to say much one way or the other, said, "they are showing improvement."

Prior to the scrimmage the Gators were put through rugged contact work. The backs worked on blocking and tackling, using teammates for the practice victims.

Line Coach Ted Twomey ran the forwards through a bruising blocking drill while the ends favored a mixture of offensive

Seminole Gridders Are Given "Study" Period By Coaches

Coach Carl Kettles sent his Seminoles High School Colley red football aggregation into the classroom yesterday afternoon for work on the blackboard in an attempt to clear up some of the confusing plays and formations encountered on the practice field during the past week.

The blackboard session lasted slightly over 30 minutes, the Sanford mentor sent the youths home for a day of rest and relaxation from the rugged grind of heavy grid drills.

Today, however, Kettles was expected to resume heavy work for the Gainesville encounter, which will be played in Gainesville one week from tonight.

Colleges Pry Off Lid Of Football Season Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Sept. 17, (AP)—The lid lifted a crack on the college football season this weekend. Popping out are the first games of three major conferences, a pair of inter-sectional affairs, a good Southern scrap and a whole host of other contests.

Much of the action centers on the West Coast. The Rose Bowl Trojans of the University of Southern California entertain the University of Utah at Los Angeles tonight. Tomorrow the Pacific Coast conference opens with Oregon State at U.C.L.A. and Idaho at Oregon State. Santa Clara will be at California and San Jose State at Stanford in other Saturday games.

The inter-sectional clashes pit Texas A.M. against Villanova at Philadelphia and Texas Christian at Kansas tomorrow afternoon.

The University of Texas' Sugar Bowl champions will open at home tomorrow against Louisiana State.

Four Southern Conference elevens will see action. The Colonials of George Washington University

Stetson Physical Ed Classes Will Give All Phases Of Sports

DELAND, Sept. 17, (Special)—Required physical education activities at Stetson University will include instruction in all phases of the sports chosen this fall, Coach Brady Cowell, head of the men's physical education department, has announced.

Lower classmen and transfer students who have not completed the required two years of physical education will take physical fitness test to determine basic ability to participate in the program. Limited activities such as shuffleboard and ping pong will be afforded men whose physical condition is below par.

Coach Philip G. Glancy, associate professor in charge of the educational program, stated that no men would be excused from the requirement for physical reasons, even if checkers and chess must be added to the curriculum to provide recreation for those men.

The physical education staff, assisted by student Sam Prather and graduate student Paul Myers, will supervise all games played by students to see that technique and the rules is improved.

Coach Wes Herner, former Oregon State golf star, will teach six classes of ten students each at the gymnasium. These lessons will be supplemented by play at the College Arms golf course.

When Gene Sarazen won the golfing "Double Crown"—the P.G.A. and U.S. Open titles—in 1922, he was only 19 years old.

Our Policy on PONTIAC Deliveries and Prices

Despite the fact that Pontiac has built over a half-million cars since the resumption of production after the war, demand still exceeds supply. In the face of this production record, those who place orders now will still experience some delay in delivery. If you are among the many people who feel that Pontiac represents an outstanding value—and wish to order a Pontiac for future delivery—you will be interested in the following policy on retail distribution which we, as Pontiac dealers, will observe:

- ORDERS FILLED BY PRIORITY
A definite proportion of the cars we receive from the factory is set aside for preferential delivery to users whose work is in the public welfare and to others with certain occupational requirements. Otherwise, all orders will be filled on the basis of the time when they are received.
- YOU SPECIFY ACCESSORIES
While most of our customers order their cars equipped with accessories, we do not force accessories as a condition of sale. You specify what accessories you want when ordering your car, and these are the ones (and the only ones) it will carry when delivered. Some items may be lacking due to current shortages; but none will be added.
- REGARDING TRADE-INS
Naturally, if you have a car to trade, we would like to have it in order to take care of our regular used car customers. Our appraisals are fair, based on current conditions. But if you do not have a car to turn in, we still want your order and will accept it for delivery based on the conditions outlined above.
- WE WANT YOUR ORDER
And the sooner you place it, the sooner you will get delivery. So if you want a Pontiac, order it now.
- WE WILL ESTIMATE DELIVERY DATE
Due to conditions beyond our control, we cannot give you an exact date of delivery. But based on anticipated future shipments from the factory, we will, when you place your order, give you an honest estimate of when you may expect your car. Such estimates will be reviewed any time on request.
- YOU PAY FACTORY-SUGGESTED PRICE
Due to changing economic conditions, we cannot, when you place your order, tell you exactly how much the car will cost when delivered in the future. But, at the time of delivery you will be charged only the factory suggested price on your model—which will be shown in a published list of local prices.
- Nothing pleases us more than to turn over the keys of a new Pontiac to one of the many people whose orders we have, because we know they have chosen well—for Pontiac is always a thoroughly good car, and a thoroughly good value, this year, next year, any year.

Stetson Will Offer Wide Course Range On Evenings, Saturday
DELAND, Sept. 17. —(Special) —Students attending Saturday and evening classes at Stetson University this fall will have a wider range of choice in courses than ever before, according to plans announced today by Dean Harry C. Garwood.
A strong faculty has been assembled and courses will be offered in the following subjects: education psychology, history, education, guidance, high school curriculum, sociology, audio-visual education, health and physical education, english, philosophy of education, educational supervision, geography, elementary school methods and history.
In addition to the above list, Dean Garwood stated that the University would undertake to organize a class in any subject for which ten or more students register. The University also reserves the right to cancel any scheduled class if fewer than ten sign up for it.
Dr. R. L. Carter, head of the department of education, stated that these classes were offered for the accommodation of teachers and other who cannot attend the regular day classes. More than 100 took advantage of these classes last fall, and a larger enrollment is anticipated this year.
Date set for registration for Saturday and evening classes is Saturday, October 2. All interested are asked to register on that date between the hours of 9 and 12 or 1:30 and 4.

Bernadotte Killed

ported to Washington Bernadotte's party was ambushed by four men, "presumably the Steen gang," Jewish extremists. U.S. Col. Frank Begley, U.N. security officer, was reported slightly wounded in the face when he grappled with one of the men.)

Bernadotte had arrived in Jerusalem by air from Damascus, Syria, at 11 A.M. Jerusalem time. He flew in despite anonymous threats upon his life, declaring that he refused to be frightened.

He was killed at about 5 P.M., a victim of the war he tried for four months to end.

This reporter flew with him from Damascus to Kollandia Airport, just outside Jerusalem. Aboard the special plane he passed me a radioed note which read:

"Urgent—Inform all aircraft against landing Kollandia airport. They will be fired upon."

"Do you want to jump now or be fired upon with us?" He asked me with a wry smile. I said I'd take a chance.

"This is an obvious attempt to frighten me," he said. "If someone is mistaken, I will not be frightened."

An hour later, after he climbed from the plane into his automobile at the airport, a sniper's bullet thudded into the left rear wheel of his automobile. He got out to examine it and found a small-caliber bullet hole.

"I don't mind being shot at by regulars," he said. "But not by irregulars."

When the Count, Col. Serot, General Aage Lundstroem and their aides climbed back into the car, I wished Bernadotte luck.

"I'll need it," he replied.

General Lundstroem, who was with him, said:

"I'm no coward, but I don't want to be killed by snipers. I have a family in Sweden, you know."

Bernadotte twice succeeded in bringing about a truce in the war for Palestine between Jews and Arabs. The truces have been fruitful, punctuated by scolding and fighting. Both sides appeared to expect the present truce, now two planned programs. The revels are made from wood grown at Monticello and Mount Vernon, the homes of Thomas Jefferson and George Washington. The wood is banded with steel from the Battleship Missouri.

Kolb said he plans to ask Congress next year for a law to honor the occasion.

Constitution day was practically ignored nationally for the first 100 years or so.

Interest in it revived in the early 1900s, when the American form of government was under attack by radical groups, and again in the early part of the late President Roosevelt's term, when many critics believed his recovery legislation was undermining the Constitution.

Kolb said "subversive activities" have increased concern over the Constitution in the last two or three years.

Although warmly defended today, the document had few friends when it was signed on Sept. 17, 1787, after four months of secret debate.

Of the 55 state delegates who met in Philadelphia, only 39 signed the finished document. They all went home to strong and widespread criticism.

Rhode Island had refused point blank to send any delegates to the meeting, and did not ratify the Constitution until three years later—and then by a majority of only two votes.

As the years went by, historians and statesmen gave high praise to the drafters of the Constitution and today it is regarded widely as a great and monumental plan. The fundamental framework is unchanged despite 21 amendments, scholars point out, and is expected to remain so for many years.

Bernadotte was head of the Swedish Red Cross and the husband of the former Estelle Manville of New York. He was 51.

Bernadotte had been shuttling for months between the Arab and Israeli capitals in his efforts to bring peace and enforce the truces. He was scheduled to reported to the United Nations in Paris next week.

Impeccably outfitted, he frequently was seen riding his bicycle to work in Stockholm. Swedish friends said he just didn't care for luxuries like limousines and chauffeurs.

Bernadotte was named to mediate the Palestine war last May. He was chosen for the job by the five big powers in the U. N. Security Council.

He soon flew to the Middle East and conferred with top leaders of both sides. His first cease-fire order took effect on June 8. Thereafter he made to end the fighting, but his efforts were futile. The war was resumed at the expiration of the four weeks truce, even while he tried to arrange terms for a permanent peace.

His second truce order, backed by the authority of the 58 member United Nations, took effect July 18.

County Growers

the Advisory Committee of the Sanford State Farmers Market decided to recommend to the State Market Bureau that an auction market for vegetable growers be established here, it was reported by W. A. Laffer, member of the Committee.

As a result, the State Bureau sent an agent here to look over the market layout to determine the site of a possible auction block could be located. The agent expressed the opinion that the auctions ought to be confined to spring crops such as beans and peppers, said Mr. Laffer.

Auction centers are on the increase, he pointed out. Much produce sale activity has been taking place at Ft. Pierce, Plant City, Wauchula, Webster, Gainesville and other vegetable producing centers in the state.

Mr. Dawson today indicated that in his opinion Agricultural Commissioner Nathan Mayo would favor the establishment of an auction market here, if growers indicate that they want this service. He also pointed out that a sufficient quantity of well packed vegetables of excellent quality and sufficient variety would be needed to make an auction market function successfully.

The following board members of the Seminole County Farm Bureau met last evening with Mr. Lehman: F. T. Meriwether, Bureau president, V. M. Greene, R. A. King, Philip Bach, Henry Thurston and C. R. Dawson.

Others who met with the Board included Mr. Laffer of Chase and Co., Joe L. Carley, A. R. Alford, agricultural agent of the Atlantic Coast Line, O. B. Griggs, representative of the Veterans Agricultural Training Group, Gus Schmah, grower and William Williams, market produce dealer.
