Rec's over Hammers in tourney

SANFORD — Rocky's Rec's won the first City of Sanford Interdepartmental Slowpitch Softball Tournament with a 4-3 triumph over Herman's Hammers at Fort Mellon Park.

The tournament was a single elimination affair that featured four teams made up of men and women employed by different city departments.

St. Stephen's triumphant

SANFORD — St. Stephen's Catholic Church of Winter Springs scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to post a 13-11 triumph over Calvary Christian and claim the championship of the Sanford Church Slowpitch Softball Spring Tournament at Chase Park.

The win gives the travelling trophy to St. Stephen's.

Shooting victim loses fingers

SANFORD — A 31-year-old Sanford man has lost two fingers as the result of being shot with "snake shot" during a fight over a woman Sunday night, Sanford police report today.

Police Lt. Mike Rotundo said Kenny Collins, who was also wounded in the chest by pellets from a .38-caliber bullet used to kill snakes, was in stable condition today in Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford.

David Michael Bechner, 37, 3203 Orlando Drive, Apt. 405, Sanford, who is accused of wounding Collins at about 6:55 p.m. Sunday after Collins came to his house and fought and chased him during a dispute, has been arrested.

Sanford police charged Bechner with aggravated battery and use of a firearm in a felony at the police station at 9:20 p.m. Sunday. Bond is $4,000.

Eight win Lotto jackpot

TALLAHASSEE — Eight tickets matched all six winning numbers in this week's Florida Lotto drawing, just one shy of the record set a year ago this week.

In the June 24, 1989 drawing, a record nine tickets matched the winning Lotto numbers, with the winners collecting $399,600 each.

The winning numbers drawn Saturday night were 15, 19, 30, 31, 34 and 49. The winning tickets were sold in Indian Rocks Beach, North Fort Myers, Pensacola, Tampa, Kissimmee, Panama City Beach, Spring Hill in Alachua County, and South Bay in Palm Beach County, Lottery Secretary Rebecca Paul said.

Each winning ticket is worth $445,965.68. Because the prizes were less than $1 million, the winners will be paid in a cash lump sum instead of annual installments over 20 years.

Lottery officials estimated the jackpot would have been worth $7 million if paid to a single winner in 20 annual installments. In that case, the money would have been invested in annuities.

FHP crackdown targets speeders

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Motorists who believe they can bend the law by traveling at less than 10 mph over the speed limit have been getting a rude shock along Florida's highways.

The Florida Highway Patrol since early this year has cracked down on speeders exceeding the limit by 5 to 9 mph, issuing about 6,000 citations to those drivers in Central Florida including Seminole

Year round school plan draws crowd

By VICKI DeSORMIER

CASSELBERRY — Despite a driving rainstorm, about 30 members of the Seminole League of Homeowners from the Wekiva and Sabal Point areas and other guests gathered to hear school board member Pat Telson speak about year round education Thursday night.

Telson, long a proponent of the year round approach to learning, said she had seen nothing but positive results from districts which had "properly" implemented the concept.

Most were not so concerned with Telson's presentation from a calendar point of view. Instead they wanted to know how the plan would affect their children's education.

In addition, many seemed concerned with the district's slow movement toward the implementation of the plan in district schools.

"We're concerned over why they're just going to do test schools," said Glenda

Tornadoes rip Central Florida

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald staff writer

At least one tornado touched down Sunday afternoon as heavy storms and high winds moved through east central Florida, hurling cars into one another, ripping roofs off buildings, and downing power lines, authorities said.

There were no reports of injuries. June is the peak month for tornadoes in Florida, and this state ranks third in the nation, behind Texas and Oklahoma in the number of tornadoes per year, although weather officials say Florida tornadoes are less severe. Since 1959 only 60 tornado related deaths have been reported in the entire state.

Weather Bureau statistics show a total of 240 Florida tornadoes in the month of June since 1950, 215 in May during that time, and other months totaling under 200.

Joe Holloway, meteorologist at the U. S. Weather Service in Daytona Beach believes Seminole county is more susceptible to tornadoes than Brevard, Volusia or other coastal counties.

"The coast generally has water spouts which make tornadoes appear to be more numerous over there," he said, "but they seldom come ashore. In Seminole County, with the heat going straight up from the land without any of that coastal cooling, we're much more apt to have one."

Len Mazarowski, meteorologist at the Melbourne Weather Service says "Between 1950 and 1988, our records show 21 tornadoes in Seminole County, mostly during the months of June." He added however that "We don't have the numbers yet for the past two years."

Most of Sunday's damage was reported in Cocoa Beach and the town of Cape Canaveral, Brevard County sheriff's officials said.

"We do have a lot of property damage," said Linda Dankowski, shift supervisor with the Brevard County Sheriff's office, which received at least 30 reports of damage. "We have power lines down in several locations in Cape Canaveral."

The twister touched down at Cape Canaveral at about 6 p.m., damaging roofs, signs and fences on at least six businesses and 10 homes, Brevard County emergency management officials said.

One car was hurled into the air and landed on another, and several trees were knocked down high winds, officials said.

Some 80 homes were left without power, a spokesman for Florida Power & Light said.

A small twister touched down near Osteen, in southwest Volusia County at approximately 7 p.m., this past Thursday night uprooting a number of trees and causing disruption to phone and electrical

Lake Mary begins move to new city hall facility

By NICK PFEIFAU

LAKE MARY — Carol Edwards sits at a desk in a building at 120 East Lake Mary Boulevard. But her file cabinets are presently across the street at 100 West Lake Mary Boulevard, so she hopes not too many people ask her questions that would require a trip to her files.

Carol is Lake Mary's city clerk, who, along with other city officials, is caught up in the middle of a move to the new city hall. Moving actually got under way late last week, but only on a small scale — those items that will be repainted or refinished for use in the new facility.

"We have only three desks moved," Edwards said. "And those are to be refinished along with some of the file cabinets." Most of the rest of the office furnishings will be new.

"Just about everything else to be moved will go this Thursday and Friday and we expect to be operating from the new City Hall by Monday, July 2nd," she said. "At least that's what we're working toward."

The new 14,000-square-foot $957,000 Lake Mary City Hall will be a far cry from the present facility in the Shoppes at Lake Mary shopping center, with only 1,350 square feet. It will include an auditorium-style commission chambers with seating for 105 people. The City Commission has been using the old city hall facility at 158 North Country Club Road for its meetings. The old building dates back to 1926 and has served many groups and organizations including the Lake Mary Chamber of

Sanford mall developer optimistic

State appeal over housing not expected to delay start

By J. BRADLEY DILLING
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Representatives for the developer of the proposed $100 million shopping mall in Sanford said today that a state Department of Community Affairs appeal of the project would not present a major problem in its development.

DCA last week released a report saying the development plan for the project did not address the needs of affordable housing that the project would create. The report said the developer would have to construct 900 units of affordable housing.

"We are aware of the DCA appeal, and we hope to meet with DCA officials in the next couple of weeks," said Michael Murphy, public relations manager for Melvin Simon and Associates, the developer of the project. "We don't see this as a major problem. Groundbreaking is not until next year. We think we can resolve this by then."

Tougher the city commission will address a proposed tax increment financing plan that will raise about $1.3 million for the project. The city would have to have county approval to implement the plan.

A previous proposal that went before the county commission earlier this year was turned down. County commissioners said they voted against the proposal because they did not want to commit county tax money to the project.

City officials said they were hopeful the new proposal would be approved because it did not ask for county support.

"The county has to approve the proposal under charter government," said Commissioner Whites Eckstein. "Yes, I hope they approve it. It would ease the employment problem that we

Shark bites man's arm

MIAMI — A 38-year-old Miami man was bitten by a shark while spear-fishing off the coast of Dimini and was recovering Sunday at Mercy Hospital.

A small shark attacked Bruce Cease about 2:30 p.m. Saturday, biting a baseball-size chunk of his left arm between the elbow and wrist, a Coast Guard spokeswoman said.

An unidentified friend spear-fishing with Cease is a paramedic and gave first aid. The Coast Guard then airlifted him to Miami, where he was taken to Mercy Hospital.

"He's quite comfortable and doing pretty good," a nursing supervisor said Sunday.

She said Cease would require additional surgery to repair the wound. It was unclear how long he would remain hospitalized.

HRS sues for hospital records

TAMPA — A state social services agency has filed suit against three Hillsborough County hospitals to force them to hand over patient records for its investigation into possible abuse of mental patients.

The state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services is investigating complaints that patients were strapped to gurneys and left in hallways for several days before getting evaluated or treated, said HRS spokesman Tom Jones.

The suit, filed Friday in Hillsborough County Circuit Court, claims that Tampa General Hospital, University Community Hospital and Centurion Hospital of Carrollwood have refused to turn over copies of patient records, citing state confidentiality laws.

Indictment expected in Midwest case

A federal grand jury this week is expected to indict former top executives of the failed Midwest Federal Savings and Loan on charges stemming from Florida real estate loans.

This second set of charges arising from the failure of Midwest Federal is believed to include former Midwest Chairman Harold Greenwood Jr., senior vice president Robert Mampel, and executive vice president Charlotte Masica.

So far the investigation of Midwest has resulted in only one indictment, Greenwood's daughter, Susan Greenwood Olson, a former vice president, who is scheduled to go on trial next month.

Greenwood Olson has been charged with 10 counts involving $15 million in questionable loans to the Jockey club marina and resort in Miami.

Escaped killer faces new charges

TALLAHASSEE — A convicted killer who escaped from a prison catering job during the weekend was back in jail Monday and faced new charges of killing a woman in the parking lot of a Tallahassee shopping mall.

Donald David Dillbeck, 27, of El Paso, Texas, walked away from guards at the Gretna Elementary School cafeteria, where a 10-inmate work team was catering a Friday night banquet for the Florida Educational Development Corp.

He was captured Sunday in some woods near a shopping mall where Faye Lamb Vann, 44, was found stabbed to death. She was killed while waiting in her car for relatives who were inside the mall.

Dillbeck was charged with first-degree murder, and faced a court appearance Monday on the new charge. He was already serving a life term for a 1979 murder in Lee County, but was permitted to join the minimum-security prison work detail.

Cigarette causes $100,000 in damage

FORT LAUDERDALE — A smoldering cigarette ignited a 16th-floor fire that forced the evacuation of 60 people and caused more than $100,000 worth of damage at the NCNB Plaza building, fire officials said.

No one was hurt in the fire Sunday and police credited the high-rise's smoke alarm and sprinkler system with containing the fire.

"The sprinkler definitely kept the fire from spreading," said acting Battalion Chief Dennis Sheehan of the Fort Lauderdale Fire Department.

The blaze began in the 27-story building at 11:48 a.m. Sunday when the cigarette ignited a fabric couch in the 16th floor lobby and spread smoke on the two floors directly below.

All three floors are occupied by Certified Tours Inc., a wholesale tour operator.

Sea lice threat wanes

FORT LAUDERDALE — Lifeguards said the annual threat of sea lice appears to have eased for the summer along Florida's south Atlantic coast.

"We're not saying they're gone for good, but we are getting fewer and fewer complaints," said Pompano Beach lifeguard Lt. Gerry Falconer.

In the last week, lifeguards have received only three complaints from swimmers who broke out in itchy red blotches, Falconer said.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Martinez approves offshore drilling

United Press International

GAINESVILLE — Two weeks before launching his campaign against offshore oil exploration, Gov. Bob Martinez quietly approved permits to let Mobil Oil Co. search for oil and natural gas 20 miles off Pensacola, it was reported Sunday.

"I don't want any drilling out there," Martinez said during a news conference he called in April to demand the Department of Interior cancel next year's auction of 47.5 million acres in the Gulf of Mexico to oil companies.

The ban sought by Martinez would protect Gulf waters from Naples to Pensacola. Previously, state officials had insisted on protecting only the lower Gulf.

Industry officials suggest the conflict between Martinez' public call to cancel new leases and his earlier approval of the permits is evidence his resistance to oil drilling is mainly for public consumption. The Gainesville Sun reported Sunday.

"It is kind of inconsistent," said Carl Schmid of the National Ocean Industries Association, which represents offshore contractors. "One thing was for the public and the other was not."

"At the same time he was writing to Interior Secretary (Manuel) Lujan, Florida had just signed off on the Mobil leases," a Bush administration official who works on oil issues told the newspaper, referring to Martinez' communications with the federal government about a lease moratorium.

Advisers to the governor said federal law gave Martinez little choice but to approve drilling requests once companies hold leases.

"We want to prevent the lease sales before they happen," said Brian Ballard, Martinez' chief of operations.

Martinez' top environmental adviser, Estus Whitfield, said the state was able to demand that Mobil keep a boat on hand with equipment to contain any spills from the drilling off Pensacola.

Mobil bought six leases in that area $3.9 million two years ago.

"We firmly believe there are excellent arguments against allowing that rig or another rig to go up," said Ann Whitfield of the Florida Public Interest Research Group, which is helping to lead opposition to offshore drilling.

The state has fought similar drilling in the past. In 1989, for example, Florida denied Mobil and Unocal permission to prospect for oil on tracts leased in the Gulf.

NAACP attacks Miami's cold shoulder for Mandela

United Press International

MIAMI — Miami's NAACP president said Sunday she was "absolutely appalled and embarrassed" that city officials planned to snub black African leader Nelson Mandela, calling the move an insult to the black community.

"We are humiliated and embarrassed and we want America to know that everyone in this community does not feel the way the elected officials feel," said Johnnie McMillian, president of the Miami-Dade branch of the NAACP.

Mandela, the deputy president of the African National Congress, is scheduled to speak Thursday at the annual convention of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees in Miami Beach.

Neither the city of Miami nor the city of Miami Beach has declared Thursday Nelson Mandela Day or molded a key to the city for him.

The Miami City Commission said it is considering withdrawing a proclamation honoring Mandela's arrival because of his public expressions of solidarity with Cuban President Castro, Palestine Liberation Organization chairman Yasser Arafat and Libyan strongman Moammar Gadhafi.

The statements, televised Thursday, have angered many in south Florida's large Cuban and Jewish communities.

Miami's Havana-born Mayor Xavier Suarez said Friday, "It would be difficult to give him any kind of recognition or key to the city" because of the statements.

McMillian said Sunday that

More charges sought in escort service rivalry

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — An escort service owner accused of trying to settle a business rivalry with guns will also face prostitution-related racketeering charges, Statewide Prosecutor Peter Antonacci said.

HEALTH CARE AND RESEARCH

AIDS patients receive state aid

United Press International

MIAMI — The state is paying health insurance premiums for 44 AIDS patients in Broward and Monroe counties in an experimental program designed to reduce the public cost of medical treatment for people with the disease.

It costs the state about $1,696 a month to cover medical costs for a typical AIDS patient who either does not have enough money or enough insurance. But it costs the state only an average of $170.84 a month to keep each of the patients insured, a Miami Herald report said Sunday.

Florida is the third state to pay the premiums of people with AIDS, Washington was first and Michigan was second.

"It kind of shocked me when I heard Florida was adopting this program," said Dave Baird, who runs a similar plan in Washington. "I mean, Florida is in the headlines for a lot of things not to be proud of."

The Florida Legislature decided to devote $360,000 to pay insurance premiums. This year, lawmakers decided to continue the test, promising $348,218.

The program is extended only to AIDS patients who already had insurance coverage before falling ill. It pays the premiums, allowing them to keep the same insurance coverage they had when they were able to work.

Of the 44 participants, 27 are in Broward County and 17 are in the Keys, according to the South Florida AIDS Advisory Committee.

The experiment is restricted to Monroe and Broward counties because money is limited. Dade County's greater numbers and complex social ills could overtax such a fledgling program, said Bob Klein, an AIDS specialist with the Health Council of South Florida.

Chickens stand guard against fatal disease

United Press International

ST. PETERSBURG — Sometimes, it takes more than a doctor to guard against encephalitis. Sometimes, it takes chickens.

From June to November, sentinel chickens are lodged in expensive, handmade coops set high enough off the ground to put them beyond the reach of raccoons and all other poultry predators. Except one.

One predator is supposed to get through the wire mesh and drink their blood. That is the reason the chickens are there: to be bitten, and often.

Once a week, an employee of the county's mosquito control office stops by to draw blood samples from the chickens. The samples go to the state laboratory in Tampa, where tests show whether the chickens have been infected with encephalitis, a disease that inflames the brain in humans but does little harm to chickens.

In 1962, encephalitis-infected mosquitoes killed 48 people in the greater Tampa area. That was the last such outbreak in the area.

"It usually shows up in your bird population first," said Jim Shinholser, director of Pinellas County's mosquito control program. "We get a positive every once in a while."

The chickens are deployed at six Pinellas County locations in St. Petersburg, Largo, at Sawgrass Lake Park in St. Petersburg, in North Clearwater, between Largo and St. Petersburg, and at the Oldsmar sewer plant.

Pinellas is apparently the only county on the Sun Coast that still relies on sentinel chickens.

POLICE BRIEFS

Two charged in domestic fight

SANFORD — A Seminole County Sheriff's report said that a deputy had to break up a domestic fight in which a man used a bag of garbage against his roommate June 22.

The report said when the deputy arrived at 2801 Waupli Trail, Maitland, Queris Norberto, 42, was hitting Martha Carlo on the head with a filled garbage bag, while Carlo was punching Norberto in the stomach with her fists.

The report said there was blood and broken glass in the kitchen of the residence. Both Carlo and Norberto told the deputy that they would kill each other before the end of the night, the report said, both were arrested for battery and both said they would press charges, the report said.

Each was arrested with $500 bond.

Exploding bottles tossed

ALTA MONTE SPRINGS — Seminole County sheriff's deputies report two exploding bottles were thrown from a passing truck on and near LaSalle Drive, Altamonte Springs, at about 11:19 p.m. Saturday.

Arthur Hutchinson, 46, 692 LaSalle Drive, told deputies one of the bottles exploded when it hit his side yard. The second bottle exploded when thrown into a front yard at 324 Northwestern Ave., a sheriff's report said.

Today deputies had no additional information on the incident, although explosives expert Lt. Marty LaBrusciano had been notified of the crime.

Woman pulled from car, robbed

MIDWAY — Linda Bair, 43, of Deltona, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies her car was run off the road by another car on State Road 46 at Beardall Avenue, Midway.

Bair said the incident occurred at about 1 a.m. today, and one of six men who approached her car pointed a shotgun at her. A second broke a window of the car with a baseball bat, then took her purse, a sheriff's report said. The men allegedly walked away with the purse, but came back and asked for more money. They pulled Bair from her car and searched it for more money, the report said.

The six fled in their own car after another car approached the scene. Bair said she lost $50 and her $25 purse to the robbers. She suffered a minor cut to her head when pulled from the car, the report said.

Shooting spurs gun ads

United Press International

JACKSONVILLE — A national gun-control lobbying group ran a full-page advertisement in the Jacksonville newspaper Thursday, calling for passage of tougher gun control laws in the wake of a loan office massacre earlier this week.

The ad in the Florida Times-Union featured James Brady, the former White House press secretary who was shot and severely wounded during an assassination attempt on President Reagan in May 1981. Brady and his wife, Sarah, have been active in major gun-control efforts since the shooting.

Thursday's advertisement called for congressional approval of the so-called "Brady Bill," which would require a seven-day

"cooling-off" period between purchase and delivery of a handgun.

"It seems the only people against the Brady Bill are psychopaths, criminals, drug dealers and the gun lobby," said the advertisement, adding that "too many people are afraid of the gun lobby and too many take the gun lobby's PAC money."

The Monday attack on the General Motors Acceptance Corp. auto finance office was the final act in a two-day shooting spree that ended when James Edward Pough, 42, shot and killed himself in the loan office.

Pough began his rampage by killing a prostitute and her pimp early Sunday and then wounding two teenagers 10 minutes later, Duval County Sheriff James McMillan said.

High-speed rail would cut stops

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Revised plans for Florida's 150-mph bullet train would eliminate key stops in Miami, Fort Lauderdale and West Palm Beach and raise the price by $500 million.

The Florida High Speed Rail Corp., the sole contender to build the 300-mile system from Miami to Orlando, filed revised plans with the state's High Speed Rail Commission last week.

The commission, made up of businessmen appointed by the governor, will consider the new plans in August. If the commission gives approval, the rail corporation would build and begin operating the train system in 1996.

The system would be paid for through massive real estate development fees and fares. It would travel on the old CSX track bed, where Amtrak and the Tri-County Rail now run.

The new plans for the basic system call for 10 stations instead of the original 13. Four would be in south Florida — near Miami International Airport, at the MetroRail station on Northwest 79th Street, near Broward Boulevard in Fort Lauderdale, and at West Palm Beach's Amtrak station.

The biggest change would be dropping downtown Miami from the basic route. The southernmost station would be near Miami International Airport, an area of light industry and rental-car lots.

"That's a mistake," said Metro-Dade Commissioner Charles Dusseau. "People don't come all the way to Miami just to go to the airport."

"We're really just talking about a high-speed train from Orlando to West Palm Beach," said David Rush, a Deerfield Beach businessman and a member of the rail commission. "From there on, you'd be on a Toonerville Trolley."

The High Speed Rail Corp.'s president, Redding Stevenson, said getting the train to downtown Miami would be "an engineering nightmare"

Board expected to renew insurance

Annual premiums to exceed $1 million

SANFORD — During their regular board meeting tomorrow evening, the Seminole County school board is expected to approve a renewal of the district's self insurance contract with administrative consultants Gallagher and Bassett of Orlando for a 120 day period.

Board attorney Ned Julian has recommended that the insurance be rebid in the fall, so the contract will be for only three months. Walter Meriwether, the district's risk management coordinator, said the opinion was received at the district via fax over the weekend.

"We'll have to work with a consultant,"

Meriwether said this morning. "We haven't hired one yet. I just picked this fax up this morning. It came in over the weekend."

According to Meriwether the Seminole County school district, like all other school districts in Florida, is self insured to save money on premiums and administrative costs. This district has used the self insured method for nine years.

"It would probably cost us three times more to go the other way," he said.

Self insurance requires the district to pay up to $100,000 of a loss with the remainder being paid by Lloyds of London.

"We handle all our own claims and collect the money," Meriwether explained.

Under the new contract, the district could pay a maximum of $1,275,000 in losses over the course of a year. The figure in the "loss fund" has increased $175,000 over last year's figure.

Premiums for the proposed contract have increased 10.54 percent over last year. Meriwether said the premiums across the nation have increased this year due to property damage caused by Hurricane Hugo and the earthquake in San Francisco.

"Mostly, that increase is not unexpected," she said.

The district's premiums for the new proposed contract will increase from $259,469 annually to a cost of $1,091,859 per year ($250,465 for the 120 day period).

The cost to the district for the premiums, the administration of the policy through Gallagher and Bassett and maintaining the loss fund was $2,059,469 last year. For the 120 days of the contract, if approved, the district will pay $569,215 (an annual cost of $2,276,859).

"I'll be working with Mr. Julian over the summer to see where we have to go to get the bids for the next contract," Meriwether said.

The board will meet on Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the board room at 1211 Mellonville Ave. in Sanford.

service, but no major damage was reported. The very small twister struck approximately one and a half miles west of Osteen, on Enterprise Road.

In Miami Sunday, the National Weather Service reported that a small tornado touched down briefly about 2 miles southeast of Miami International Airport, but no damage was reported.

It was the second day of a wet weekend for parts of the state.

On Saturday, thunderstorms and high winds flipped an airplane at Fort Lauderdale's Executive Airport, interrupted flight controller operations and caused a power outage at 10,000 homes.

The storms forced air-traffic controllers to evacuate the tower at Executive Airport for four minutes.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said air-traffic controllers left the glassed-in top of the tower and went downstairs, in accordance with FAA regulations requiring tower crews to evacuate when they record sustained winds of 55 knots or more, about 63 mph.

The winds flipped a vintage K3-Cub military spotter plane onto its side, ripping off the wings, and blew out the cockpit window of a Cessna, airport officials said.

The winds also knocked down dozens of trees and several live power lines. No injuries were reported.

Shuler pleads no contest in clerk killing

J. BRADLEY DILLING
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Convicted killer Jonathan Shuler, 21, Sanford, might have had a date with an electric chair if not for his plea of no contest to the charges of first degree murder, armed robbery and armed burglary, said an attorney for the prosecution.

Shuler was arrested last November for stabbing to death Herbert Allen, a clerk at a Sanford Circle-K convenience store at 1806 W. First Street.

Shuler, instead of going to trial, this Thursday was sentenced to life in prison with no possibility for parole in less than 25 years.

Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Hastings said if Shuler and his attorney Gary Andersen had not accepted Hastings' request to plead no contest, Hastings would have pushed for the death penalty and said he felt confident that he could have won it.

No relief in sight for I-4 traffic woes

United Press International

TAMPA — An estimated $717 million is needed to fix Hillsborough County sections of Interstate 4, a highway whose design flaws and congestion are blamed for a mounting toll of accident deaths.

Yet by 1995, the state Department of Transportation will have only about $22 million for preliminary engineering studies to widen I-4 between 15th Street in Tampa to the Polk County line. The Tampa Tribune reported Sunday.

Meanwhile, the number and severity of accidents on the road has increased every year since 1984 and is expected to continue rising, according to a study completed in February by the consulting firm of Beiswenger, Hoch & Associates of the stretch of I-4 between Interstate 75 and the Polk line.

During that period, at least 61 people died in 3,098 accidents between Tampa and Osceola County, the study said. Last year, five people died in 172 accidents on the Polk County stretch, while 387 accidents killed 10 people in I-4 in Hillsborough.

"It's handling more traffic than it was designed to handle," said Jim Kennedy, who retired May 31 as head of DOT's Tampa district office. "We've known for years, and we'd like to do something. But we're still looking for the money."

Money was tight for Florida's first interstate highway from the beginning, according to Ray Speer, executive director of the Tampa-Hillsborough Expressway Authority. Federal authorities told state officials to cut corners.

That they did, building steep grades at overpasses instead of gentler inclines to save money, but causing a dipping effect for traffic that makes it hard for drivers to judge distances between vehicles, Speer said.

Another cut corner involved the interchange with what is now Interstate 275, commonly called "Malfunction Junction" because planners relied on a single lane to feed traffic from I-4 to I-275, he said.

Design standards deemed state-of-the-art in 1964 are insufficient in 1990, the Beiswenger report says. For example, narrow bridges and medians give motorists little room to recover from mistakes.

Too trigger quick

The Pentagon is urging U.S. Energy Secretary James D. Watkins to reopen the Rocky Flats nuclear weapons plant in Colorado immediately so that it can resume production of the plutonium triggers that go into new missile warheads. But Watkins' scientific advisers say that the plant isn't ready and can't yet be run safely. He should listen to the scientists.

Watkins shut down the Rocky Flats plant last November, after he discovered that it had been running for years in violation of a wide range of health and safety and environmental laws. Cleaning up the mess that previous administrations created there will take many years and cost the taxpayers billions. But the plant can't be closed permanently, because what it makes is needed for the national defense. The question is whether that need is currently as urgent as the Pentagon claims.

Some reforms have been instituted. Rockwell International Corp. is no longer in charge of the plant, and a new management team has been brought in. But the panel of advisers that Watkins set up to oversee the work at Rocky Flats reports that the staff hasn't been fully retrained yet, the waste disposal system isn't working as well as it should be and there's a lot of plutonium stuck in the air ducts that ought to be cleaned out. All in all, the advisers say the plant probably won't be ready to go back into production before the end of the year.

That doesn't mean the armed forces will be bereft of nuclear hardware in the interim. The Navy, for example, has plenty of missiles for the Trident submarines already, but wants the plant reopened now so that it can begin outfitting them with bigger warheads. A delay in producing more triggers could also postpone the Pentagon's plans for building new bombs for the cruise missile.

But as the chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Sen. Sam Nunn, points out, there's no risk to national security from stretching out the schedule for upgrading those Trident armaments. And with all of the recent cutbacks in the Pentagon's budget, military planners now concede that the planes and missiles to carry the new warheads for the cruise missiles probably won't be ready anytime soon.

The Pentagon hasn't made its case. Watkins should keep Rocky Flats closed until he's satisfied that it can be operated safely.

Goldwater still up to feisty old tricks

Whatever else one might say about Barry Goldwater, he is an independent cuss. The former U.S. senator and 1964 Republican presidential nominee is the elder statesman of the GOP right wing, but he carries partisanship only so far.

He chastised fellow Republican Richard Nixon for his Watergate misdeeds and, at a televised Republican event in 1988 aptly admonished the party's presidential nominee, George Bush, to "start talking about the issues."

But that is pretty tame stuff by comparison with the recent disclosure that Goldwater had contributed $500 to the re-election campaign of Rep. Morris Udall, a liberal Democrat.

"I've always supported you," Goldwater told his fellow Arizonan in a note accompanying the check. "And I think it's time this old Republican quit hiding behind the bush."

If that is not political ecumenism, what is?

Good marks for choice in education

DENVER — Memo to public-school administrators: Better brace yourselves. As rough as the 1980s were on your reputations and peace of mind, this decade is going to be worse.

No doubt you hoped that the idea of strengthening schools by forcing them to compete was a passing fancy, promoted mostly by former President Reagan and a few right-wing enemies of public schools. No doubt you cheered when your merciless critic Bill Bennett resigned as secretary of education a couple of years ago, to be replaced by the milquetoast Lauro Cavazos, an apparent pushover for the education establishment.

Even the election of George Bush as president must have been mildly soothing for you — for when had this mild aristocrat ever promoted a radical notion in his life?

And yet, surprise of surprises: Educational choice and competition are ideas that just won't die. Bush has embraced them. Even Cavazos, ever the obedient bureaucrat, has climbed on board.

Far more ominous for the educational establishment, a growing number of liberals have stopped defending the present mediocre system and have begun to ally themselves with reformers who would strip districts of their suffocating bureaucracies, force schools to compete (perhaps even against private schools), and empower parents and teachers.

The most potent new advocates for such restructuring are John Chubb and Terry Moe, authors of "Politics, Markets, and America's Schools," a book just published by the liberal Brookings Institution. Chubb and Moe bore right to the heart of why America's schools have become assembly lines of intellectual mediocrity: "We believe existing institutions cannot solve the problem, because they are the problem — and that the key to better schools is institutional reform."

In other words, none of the favored tactics of the past decade — merit pay, revised curricula, higher salaries, greater accountability through regular testing — will give America the schools it needs. Incentives must be changed. The supply and diversity of schools must be increased and control over them radically decentralized. Parents (and teachers, too) must be free to choose the type of school they prefer so that schools will either shape up or fail in the marketplace.

Chubb and Moe outline a series of steps that any state could take to achieve these goals, while taking special care to prevent at-risk children from falling through the cracks.

Not everyone needs the eloquent prompting of Chubb and Moe to get moving, of course. Wisconsin state Rep. Polly Williams, who hails from inner-city Milwaukee and who twice has chaired Jesse Jackson's campaign in Wisconsin, persuaded her legislature to pass the nation's first experiment in school vouchers for low-income children.

Having despaired over Milwaukee's public schools, she designed a bill that will allow 1,000 low-income students to attend private, non-sectarian schools this fall. Those schools will receive $2,500 for each public school student who enrolls, while the same amount will be subtracted from Milwaukee's dismal (but far richer) system.

Naturally, the education establishment is in a frenzy, and a teachers' union is suing to have the law declared unconstitutional.

Panama police still corrupt

WASHINGTON — Since Panama was "liberated" by the United States from the clutches of Manuel Noriega, Panamanians are finding out that freedom isn't what it was cracked up to be.

The new administration of Guillermo Endara has shown little patience for its critics in the press or inside the government. In recent months, the Endara regime has been accused from within and without of corruption. But the government is doing little to investigate the allegations and instead is retaliating against the accusers.

We reported recently that the post-Noriega police force is harboring corrupt former members of Noriega's Panamanian Defense Force. Roberto Eisenmann, editor of the La Prensa newspaper in Panama, has been at the forefront of a crusade to purge the police force of those bad apples. But Eisenmann has paid for exercising freedom of the press. Endara's vice president, Ricardo Arias Calderon, whose Christian Democratic Party collaborated with many of the corrupt PDF members to overthrow Noriega, is none too pleased with Eisenmann's criticism of those troops.

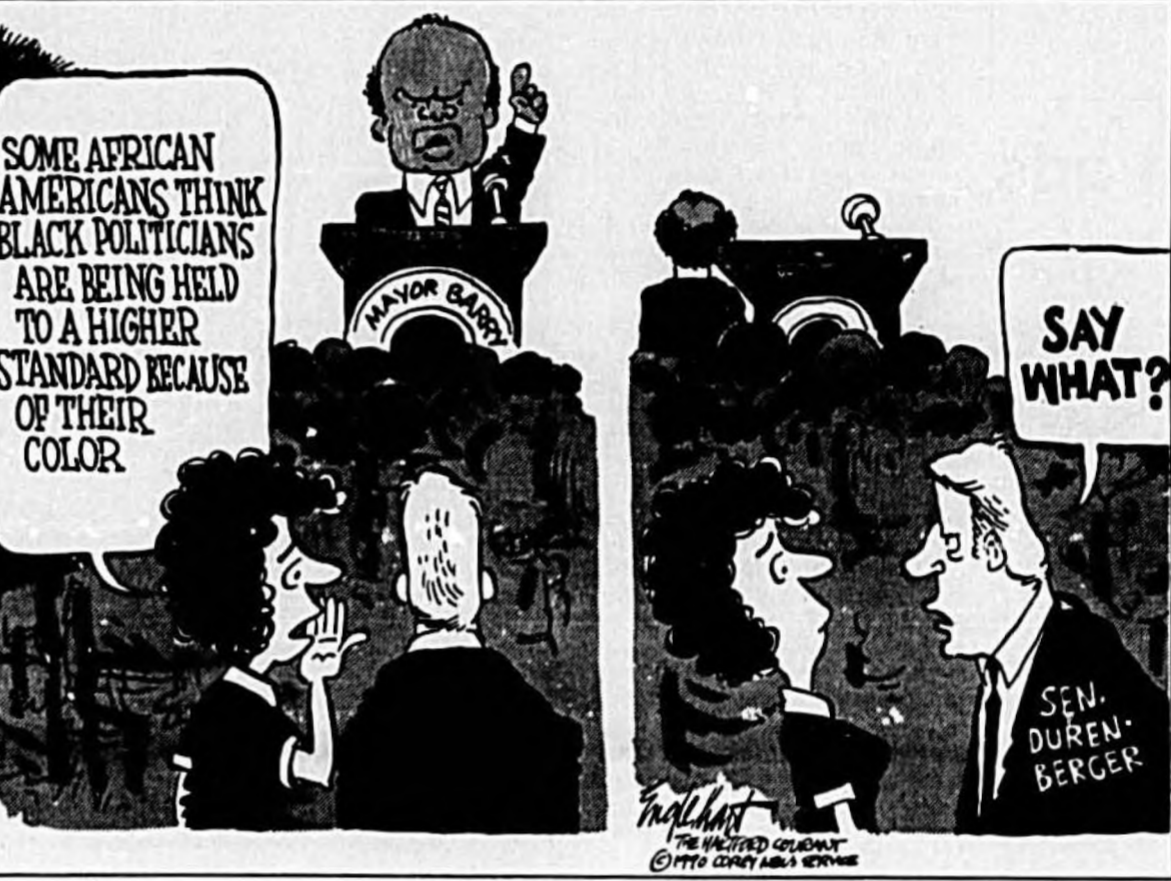

Calderon tried to gain control of the 700 La Prensa shareholders and have Eisenmann fired. Eisenmann won, but the battle left him with a familiar bad taste. Calderon had accused him of "plotting, or having party interests ... in short, of some of the same things that Noriega accused me," Eisenmann said.

One special prosecutor, Rodrigo Miranda, was suspended after he pointed the finger at what he said were corrupt members of the Panamanian police force. After the suspension, Miranda said the only ones being scrutinized were the ones who speak up. Miranda had accused the judicial police chief and other officers of being part of an $80 million kidnap-for-ransom in which a 3-year-old boy was murdered. Miranda claims his evidence came from U.S. officials, but Panamanian authorities have yet to investigate the police chief. Miranda has hinted that his suspension was part of a bigger cover-up. His job was to investigate crimes committed by the Noriega regime, including the murder of Dr. Hugo Spadafora. Spadafora was a dissident beheaded allegedly by Noriega's henchmen in 1985 after publicly labeling Noriega as a drug trafficker.

Miranda says the government doesn't want the Spadafora case investigated because some of the guilty are now working for Endara. The official who suspended Miranda, Attorney General Rogelio Cruz Rios, recently released two prime suspects in the Spadafora case. Cruz can't afford such generosity when his own resume includes a stint as director of Panama's now-defunct First Inter-Americas Bank, which was controlled by the Cali drug cartel of Colombia. Who will be the next to suffer for exercising freedom of expression? Probably Eusebio Marchosky, a magistrate appointed to trace the misuse of funds under Noriega. Marchosky recently accused Vice President Calderon of obstructing justice, and he says Panamanian officials are hiding from him some sensitive documents that were seized in the U.S. invasion. Calderon says the U.S. Army has the documents and won't turn them over. But Marchosky told our associate Dean Boyd that he suspects local police officers are being allowed to pick through the documents to take out anything that implicates them. Other sources told us they have seen Panamanian officers in the compound where the documents are stored.

The government is doing little to investigate allegations.

Slavery still a booming business

LONDON — South of the river, in a slightly seedy section of the city, in a down-at-the-heels building that has seen better days but not better uses, the Anti-Slavery Society is still in business, because slavery is, too. Founded in 1839, it is the world's oldest human-rights organization.

As it raises its small voice amid the incessant clamor for public attention, it faces the problem of stark incredulity concerning its threshold assertion: Slavery exists.

Today there may be as many, perhaps many more, people in conditions properly denoted as slavery as there were when the Society was founded. So says the Society's director, Lesley Roberts.

She is not one of those flurried people one so often sees in the world of altruism, the kind who perpetually look as though they had risen late and dressed in haste. She has the brisk manner of one who has worked in banks, which she has done, and she has the restlessness to have been bored by that, which she was. In an office lit only, and dimly, by watery sunlight that struggles through unwashed windows, she enumerates the Society's concerns, beginning with chattel slavery — the total ownership of one person by another. It was officially outlawed in the Arabian Peninsula less than 20 years ago, and may even be expanding in parts of northern Africa, particularly Sudan.

Far more prevalent, and properly called slavery, is debt bondage, especially of children. Such laborers are bound for payment of debts and are entirely subservient to a power from which there is no appeal.

There are workers in servitude in both hemispheres. Roberts says that many Haitians living illegally in the Dominican Republic have been, in effect, sold to state-owned sugar plantations. But the biggest problems are in Asia, where slavery often is a particularly odious, because routinized, form of child abuse.

Children are, in a sense, "natural" slaves — a renewable source of slaves — because they are born into total dependence on adults. Children are sometimes sold outright, with common prices ranging from $20 in the Sudan to $200 in Bangkok.

Social traditions no longer sanctioned by laws — traditions of caste and class — can still be as strong as iron fetters. There is the tradition of giving a child for, say, a year in payment of debt — sometimes a debt incurred by parents who borrow from loan sharks, using children as collateral. At the end of the year, the person holding the child in bond, may say the child "isn't worth so much that the bondage must."

No one knows how many millions of children are enslaved in domestic service, in sweatshops or in Asia's huge sex trade. When computing the probable numbers, says Roberts, "it is not hard to get up to 200 million."

In India, for example, the government says there are fewer than 200,000 bonded laborers. The Society's sources say 5 million. Look down, dear reader, you may be walking on them.

Demand for Indian carpets soared when the price of Iranian carpets rose after the shah outlawed child labor in the early 1970s. Today, in India's main carpet-weaving region (small hands, such as those of seven-year-olds, tie especially tight knots), there are 100,000 malnourished children employed. Some 15 per cent of them, according to the Society, were sold into bondage in spite of the fact that India outlawed debt bondage 14 years ago.

They often work 12-hour days (poorly fed, subjected to corporal punishment; often sleeping at their looms six, sometimes seven, days a week, for a weekly wage sometimes as low as $1). Today, as two centuries ago, slavery pays. The labor costs of a carpet that may sell in London for $6,000 can be as little as $20.

While sifting abundant evidence of such slavery (and worse: Millions of children, male and female, are devoured by Asia's prostitution industry), the Society maintains a remarkable emotional equipoise, advocating piecemeal remedies for absolute evils. For example, it does not favor banning imports of carpets made with coerced labor. It knows that destroying the carpet industry would destroy many lives. An existing industry can be improved.

Publicity, embarrassment, persuasion, organized labor — these are among the remedies required. But the first requirement is the patience of politics, which acquires special dignity in the face of such shattering facts.

Roberts and the Society (180 Brixton Rd., SW9 6AT) are echoes of the "distinctive moral earnestness that reformed the 19th century and leavened this one. 'I get bored easily,' she says. "This is not boring."

Far more prevalent, and properly called slavery, is debt bondage, especially of children.

Walesa advisers resign

WARSAW, Poland — Several senior advisers of Solidarity leader Lech Walesa, citing a "breach of confidence" with their longtime leader, resigned from the Civic Committee he founded to direct Poland toward democracy.

The resignations Sunday of such veteran Solidarity activists as Adam Michnik, Zbigniew Bujak and Henryk Wujec came during a stormy meeting of the 200-member committee.

The session ended in disarray, with Walesa asking those who resigned to reconsider. Another meeting is expected to be held in a month.

Montrealers celebrate national holiday

MONTREAL — Thousands of separatist-minded French Canadians, waving blue fleur-de-lis flags and euphorically proclaiming Quebec's independence, filled downtown streets to celebrate the province's national holiday.

The St. Jean Baptiste Day celebrations, in honor of the patron saint of French Canadians, was to include a 3-mile parade Sunday reflecting Quebec's economic and cultural strength, but organizers canceled the event because of the threat of storms.

Undaunted, Quebecers created their own parade. Thousands of young French Canadians waving the Quebec flag and banners proclaiming sovereignty moved into Sherbrooke Street, a major thoroughfare in downtown Montreal.

Eversole, of Longwood, who is acting president of the association. "Why don't they do all the schools...at least all the elementary schools...all at once instead of one here and one there."

The district will implement the year round calendar at three pilot schools during the 1991-92 academic year. Those schools have yet to be chosen.

Eversole praised Telson for "seeing the children as human beings rather than dollar signs and decimal points" and said she hoped others would look favorably on Telson's push for a modified school calendar.

Telson, while she would like to see the Seminole district schools convert to the modified calendar, cautioned against moving too quickly. If the program is put in place without proper development, she warned, it could fail, looming any future plans for year round school in the district.

"To quote Will Rogers," she said, "No district ever planned to fail, they just failed to plan."

Telson added that the year round calendar was not the only answer to "the problem of overcrowding and educational inadequacies."

"It's only one part of the answer," she said. "We need to look at better use of our facilities, we need to look at options like night school in the high schools. To those who said they don't want year round schools, why

Speeders

County alone, FHP Lt. Randy Harper said today.

Troopers have written about twice as many tickets for people in that category over the past six months, the St. Petersburg Times reported Sunday.

But troopers are writing 41 percent fewer tickets for drivers who exceed 75 mph, according to Maj. Ernie Leggett, spokesman for the FHP. Harper said that is because the high-speed driver is much more rare than the low-end speeder, who is the new target of enforcement resources.

The crackdown is aimed at the occasional speeder who doesn't break the limit every time he or she gets behind the wheel, Leggett said. Studies suggest such "low-end" speeders are to blame for the majority of accidents involving death and injuries.

Harper said a survey showed that the main concern of such speeders is not the accidents they may be involved in, but the cost of a ticket. The cost can add up, with the base fine of $52, with $2 more added for each mph over the speed limit added, he said. A 10 mph excess in speed could cost $92 in fines. Insurance rates can also sky-rocket by hundreds or even thousands of dollars for drivers who are cited more than once a year for speeding.

Some motorists have been under the impression they can drive up to 65 mph in a 55 mph zone without fear of tickets. But no more, officials say. Harper said, "Motorist believe the other guy is going faster than they are, but most know they are speeding."

"If fear of getting a ticket slows them down, we've done our job," Harper said. "We want to save lives."

"It doesn't mean, that the trooper has ignored the high end," Leggett said. "But he is just not ignoring the low end any more. If we don't do this, we are didn't you pass the bond issue?" Eversole was pleased by the turnout at the Fair Lanes Bowling Center in Longwood and said she believed the people of Seminole County were ready for a modified school calendar.

"I've heard nothing but positive things about this," she said. "People are ready for year round schools."

The modified calendar would spread the traditional 180-day school year over a 12-month rather than the current 9-month span. Students would have 15 vacation days for every 60 days they attend classes. The 12 weeks on, three weeks off schedule would also be dotted with holidays and teacher work days throughout.

Eversole, who said she speaks to hundreds of people a week in various capacities, said she believes it may even be the right time to attempt to introduce a 220-day school year into Florida schools.

"It has worked everywhere it has been implemented properly," Eversole said of the longer calendar year.

"People are gung-ho about this," Eversole said. "We need to get moving now."

Telson stressed the urgency of the need to find a solution to the problems in Seminole County schools.

"We are not just in a facilities crisis," she said. "We are in an educational crisis, as well."

saying it is all right to drive 65." FHP commander Bobby Burkett said he asked for the crackdown because "our enforcement did not match our problem."

"This is not a PR (public relations) gimmick; this is a permanent change in our enforcement tactics," Burkett said.

Part of the state's concern is that Florida can lose federal highway dollars if too many drivers flout the speed limits, Leggett said.

Interstate highways with speed limits of 65 mph aren't the main focus of this enforcement, Harper said. The Department of Transportation identifies other roadways in the state where the low-range speeders exceed the 55 mph limit, and that brings enforcement to specific roadways, Harper said. The targets are traveling 7 to 9 mph over the limit of 55, or less depending on the roadway.

Harper said drivers can't trust the accuracy of their speedometers, with may be several mph off. That means that a driver who thinks he's exceeding the limit by 10 mph is actually exceeding the limit by several more mph, he said.

"The patrol has launched a 'Speeding can wreck your day' public relations campaign warning of the dangers of speeding, both from accidents and from stiff fines."

Still, motorists who fell afoot of the new policy say they weren't given sufficient warning.

"They change the rules arbitrarily," said Walter Wisniewski of Valrico, hit with a $90 ticket for going 64 mph on Hillsborough County's Crosstown Expressway recently. "When you make a change for the people of a society, you have to let them know."

Still, troopers rarely write tickets for people going less than 5 mph above the posted limit. They are so rare that no records are kept of tickets for speeding in that range, officials said.

Information from United Press International is contained in the report.

today, while their their predecessors, Sam and Pam Flanagan, begin work commanding a larger base in Tallahassee.

The husband and wife team said they have a tough act to follow, but are looking forward to seeing everything that they have heard about from the Flanigans.

Asked if there was any one particular aspect of the city Flanagan had emphasized to him above others, Bergen was at a loss.

"Oh gosh," huffed Bergen. "He mentioned so many things. I guess the one that he kept repeating was that people here are so much more interested in working together than in any other he has been in."

Bergen said he and his wife Joyce quickly became enamored with Sanford after taking a stroll through the downtown historic district Monday afternoon, where they followed the walking tour, reading the brass-plated plaques on the buildings.

"We were out there pushing the stroller," Bergen said, referring to his seven-month-old son Keith. They also have a four-year-old son Cliff, who walked. "Our first appointment (six years ago) was St. Augustine, so it was nice to see that someone was taking the time to pass things on. It was nice to see that there are people here who are interested in their past."

His wife Joyce echoed the sentiment.

"We fell in love with the city right away," Joyce said. "It's just a lot more laid back than other places. It's really nice."

"We got caught in the storm while we were walking Monday," Gary said. "And we ended up in the drug store talking to the people who worked there. I loved that. You could just talk to anyone."

Bergen said his biggest task will be to try to expand the latchkey child care program in which the Salvation Army picks kids up and drops them off at their schools. City officials said the program is a boon to single working parents who have little time and resources to get their kids to and from school.

have and provide jobs for the members of the households who are not working."

Commissioner Bob Thomas said he would support the request and that he thought it would be a progressive move over past reluctance to accept similar projects.

"I think this would make some of the old farmers that founded the city turn over in their graves if they could hear about something like this," Thomas said. "We need it. We'll have jobs for people who maybe don't have the skills to get other jobs."

Commissioner Lon Howell said he would approve the proposal if it did not cost the city any more in tax money than the first proposal did.

drunk driving. The Lake Mary Police Department says it has been cracking down on drunk drivers for the past three years.

"The word is out that if you drink and drive through Lake Mary, you're going to go to jail," said Capt. Sam Belliore. "A lot of people now avoid Lake Mary because we do have a strict enforcement policy."

Although it doesn't send out patrols specifically to look for DUIs, LMPD does have two night officers specially trained in dealing with drunk drivers. Lt. Robert Pieper of the Winter Springs Police Department, which reported 39 DUIs last year and 31 already this year, said, "Groups like Mothers Against Drunk Drivers have made our officers more on the lookout for DUIs."

MADD honored local officials Tuesday for making special efforts to arrest drunk drivers. Among them were Cpl. Thomas Dale, Lake Mary Police Department; officer Gary A. Smith of the Sanford Police Department; patrol officer Kevin P. Flanagan, Casselberry Police Department; patrolman Gary W. Long, Altamonte Springs Police Department; and Lt. Jerry Riggs, Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

The Longwood Police Department said they have experienced an 800 percent increase in

"As long as it's not costing the city any more, I think I would support it," Howell said. "We'll have to discuss this first. But if (the developer) comes back asking for any more money, I'll have to take a real close look at this."

Also before the commission tonight will be a proposal to increase by approximately 27 percent the rates charged for renting the Sanford Civic Center. A report said the increase is recommended to help the city "break even."

"It has been assumed for many years that certain services should be incorporated into the operational cost of the facility," said a report from the city parks department. "The Sanford Civic Center fees do not recoup the cost of facility operations. Staff is DUIs this year, although they would not disclose the number of arrests. Lt. Jessie Yelvington of the LPD said in the past they used alternative methods, like finding the suspect a ride home or suspending his license, just to avoid the lengthy process of arresting a drunk driver.

"The time involved in making a DUI arrest is tremendous. But we're trying to make the time to follow through with the arrests," he said.

The heightened awareness has sparked methods specifically aimed at catching drunk drivers. For instance, Sanford Police Chief Steve Harrett said his department periodically uses impaired driver checkpoints, which are nighttime roadblocks to check for drunk drivers.

Beginning June 1, Altamonte Springs now sends out DUI patrols from 8:30 p.m. to 4 a.m. Jeff Hawkins, public information officer, said this DUI squad has already arrested more than 25 drunk drivers.

"Statistics have shown that there is generally a 20 percent increase in DUIs between Memorial Day and Labor Day," he said.

Orange County also has a new DUI squad, and according to the Florida Highway Patrol, they have made 500 arrests in the past three months.

Because it takes so long to make a DUI arrest, the Winter

Indian tribe's use of dirt creates federal uproar

United Press International

FORT LAUDERDALE — Dirt spread by the Miccosukee Indians to grow corn for religious ceremonies was laced with melaleuca tree seeds and could be an ecological disaster for Everglades National Park, federal officials said.

Unable to use their traditional fields in the Everglades because of the drought, the tribe trucked in the dirt to their reservation on the northern end of the park.

Tribal members planted gardens around their homes to grow corn for food and religious ceremonies, such as their Green Corn Dance.

But the dirt, which came from the area around the tribe's Dade County bingo hall 20 miles away, is infested with melaleuca tree seeds and roots, federal officials said.

"Those three acres hold the potential of grave ecological consequences," said Assistant Park Superintendent Robert Arnerberger. "We have grave concerns about the importation of this noxious tree into the park."

Only six melaleuca trees are growing in the 1.5-million-acre park. Park officials want to keep the tree from gaining a foothold because it spreads quickly, crowds out native vegetation and drains the groundwater supply.

The tribe failed to get a federal permit for filling in wetland, and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is expected to decide this week whether to fine the tribe and order the Indians to destroy the crops and remove the dirt.

"Melaleuca infestation is a problem in other areas. We want to keep it out of uninfested areas," said Tom Welcorn, chief of the EPA's Wetlands Regulatory Unit.

Tribal leaders said federal officials had exaggerated the danger posed by the garden plots, many of which measure only 50 feet by 75 feet.

While the dirt may contain some melaleuca seeds, most of the soil is clean, Tribal Chairman Billy Cypress said.

Mass murderer near execution

United Press International
PINE BLUFF, Ark. — A man who killed 14 members of his family and two other people in a 1987 Christmas holiday spree faced execution Monday night for the largest mass slaying of a family in the United States.

Ronald Gene Simmons, 49, of Dover, Ark., who authorities said went on the murder binge because his daughter had broken off an incestuous relationship with him, was scheduled to be executed by lethal injection at 9 p.m. CDT. No litigation pends in the case because Simmons has declined to appeal, saying, "I only ask for what I deserve. Let the torture and suffering in me end."

Simmons could halt the execution by changing his mind and saying he does want to go through the appeal process.

Simmons was in a holding cell about 20 steps from the death chamber at Cummins prison, about 20 miles southeast of Pine Bluff. His death would be the second execution in a week in Arkansas, which carried out its first execution in 26 years June 18 when John Edward Swindler, convicted of killing a policeman, was electrocuted.

Simmons also would be the 131st person executed in the United States since the Supreme Court reinstated the death penalty in 1976 and the second in Arkansas. On June 18 John Edward Swindler, called the most dangerous inmate on the state's death row, was put to death for the murder of a police officer.
Manuel Ulburri of Aurora, Colo., was in Arkansas in hopes to talk face-to-face with Simmons before the execution. Becky Simmons, 46, Ulburri's sister and Simmons' wife, was among those killed.

IN BRIEF

AMERICAN LEAGUE

White Sox sweep A's at home

The Oakland Athletics have made two World Series appearances since last being swept in a series at home.

In a rivalry that has become baseball's focal point, the Chicago White Sox emerged from Sunday's 3-2 10-inning victory and three-game sweep of the defending World Champions as bona fide challengers for the Western Division title.

On the strength of Dan Pasqua's game-winning solo homer, the White Sox closed to within one game of the first-place Athletics by inflicting the damage on enemy turf.

Elsewhere in the American League, Toronto ripped New York 8-3, Boston bested Baltimore 2-0, Kansas City crushed Minnesota 11-2, Cleveland clipped Milwaukee 9-5, California clubbed Detroit 10-2 and Seattle edged Texas 11-5.

AUTO RACING

Earnhardt's luck changes

BROOKLYN, Mich. — Dale Earnhardt's racing luck changed for the better Sunday, but he isn't concerned with the reason.

"I went fishing last Monday and caught a mess of bass, maybe that changed my luck," Earnhardt said sarcastically after winning the NASCAR Miller 400 at Michigan International Speedway.

Earnhardt, who led for only 22 of the 200 laps, passed Ernie Irvan with five laps remaining and held off Irvan's bid for his first Winston Cup victory.

It was the fourth Winston Cup triumph of the season for Earnhardt, who ranks fifth in the season point standings, but his first since May 6.

GOLF

Irwin makes it two in a row

HARRISON, N.Y. — Following a jubilant encore performance, Hale Irwin has no plans to exhibit his new trademark victory lap in the near future.

Twice in the space of six days Irwin astounded the golfing fraternity with improbable victories. Winless since 1985, the 45-year-old Irwin became the oldest man to win the U.S. Open championship by capturing a playoff last Monday, and he followed that up Sunday with a victory in the $1 million Buick Classic.

Just as he did last Sunday at Medinah, after sinking a 45-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole to create a playoff with Mike Donald, Irwin jogged part way around the green of the Westchester Country Club following a 6-foot birdie putt on No. 18, exchanging high-fives with the gallery.

WORLD CUP

Argentina, W. Germany survive

ROME — Defending champion Argentina and West Germany survived a pair of second-round matchups Sunday that many odds-makers predicted would decide the World Cup finalists.

Argentina eliminated South American rival Brazil 1-0 to reach the quarterfinals, while West Germany dumped Holland 2-1. The matches featured four of the world's biggest soccer powers and boasted three nations that had won eight World Cup titles between them.

Of the day's results, Argentina was the big surprise. After stumbling through the first round, the title holders beat Brazil despite being thoroughly outplayed.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Teufel 'mistake' beats Phillies

New York Mets pinch-hitter Tim Teufel stepped up to the plate only once Sunday afternoon, guessed wrong, and still ripped the game winner.

With two outs in the ninth and his team trailing Philadelphia 5-4, Teufel slapped a two-run bases-loaded single off Phillies reliever Roger McDowell to lift the Mets to a 6-5 victory.

"It was one-on-one versus Roger," said Teufel. "He has been struggling. Maybe in a different situation he throws a better pitch. Expecting the sinker, I kept my hands in and tried to go the other way and I was fortunate to make good contact. When you don't get that many at-bats in a week, that means you are fortunate to do what I did."

The heat of summer has been good to the boys from Shea. Since June 5th the Mets have gathered 15 victories to only three defeats.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh topped Montreal 5-3, Atlanta edged San Diego 11-10 in 12 innings, Chicago shaded St. Louis 3-2 in 10 innings, Houston clipped San Francisco 8-2, and Cincinnati nailed Los Angeles 10-6.

Compiled from staff and wire reports.

St. Stephen's takes title

Catholics rally late to claim church league championship

From staff reports

SANFORD — St. Stephen's Catholic Church of Winter Springs scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to post a 13-11 triumph over Calvary Christian and claim the championship of the Sanford Church Slowpitch Softball Spring Tournament at Chase Park Saturday.

The win gives the travelling trophy to St. Stephen's and complements their victory in the Fall League Tournament last November.

The final climaxed a hectic three weeks that featured a five-game final day that saw a lot of hitting.

The day opened with Central Baptist crushing Grace Christian 21-9 and eliminating Grace from the double elimination tournament. The game was closer than the score as the game was tied 9-9 entering the sixth. Central Baptist scored six runs in each of the sixth and seventh to pull away for the big win.

Contributing to a 30-hit Central Baptist attack were Mike McCoy and John Larner (one triple, one double, three singles and four runs scored each), Jay Crutchfield (double, four singles, two runs scored) and Tom Holland (double, three singles, run scored).

Also contributing were Steve Bradley (three singles, two runs scored), Robbie Robertson (two singles, three runs scored), Dave Moss (two singles, two runs scored), Eddie Coggon (two singles, run scored), Eric Luce (double, run scored) and James Sealey (single, run scored).

Leading the Grace Christian attack were Wally Roberts (four singles, two runs scored), Wade Creggor (home run, double, single, run scored), Charlie Farmer (double, two singles, three runs scored), Charlie Cutshall (three singles), Tom Minnick (two singles, run scored), Dave Ferneau (double, run scored), Jeff Cutshall (single, run scored) and Paul Osteen, Rick Culbertson and Steve Graham (one single each).

The next game found the Church of God eliminating Central Baptist with a 9-8 victory.

In the winners bracket final St. Stephen's defeated Calvary Christian 18-3 behind a 20-hit attack. The big inning was a nine-run third.

Doing the damage for St. Stephen's were Don Causseaux Jr. (home run, two singles, run scored), Jeff Sladek (triple, two singles, three runs scored), Jim Nulty (two doubles, single, two runs scored), Scott Causseaux (two doubles, single, run scored), Don Causseaux Sr. (double, two singles, three runs scored), Tom Gallan (double, single, three runs scored), Keith Sparks (triple, run scored) and Chris Causseaux and Rick Holt (one single and one run scored each).

Pacing the Calvary attack were Delton Gingerich (triple, double, two runs scored), Ross Denoto (double, run scored), Clayton Gingerich (double) and Wayne Combs, Angel Galarza and Rene Munoz (one single each).

Calvary came back in the next game to outscore the Church of God 16-15 to earn the right to play St. Stephen's in the final. John Bowman singled in Clayton Gingerich with the winning run with no one out in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Adding to a 25-hit Calvary onslaught were Donoto (triple, four singles, two runs scored), C. Gingerich (triple, three singles, two runs scored), Galarza (double, three singles, two runs scored).

Rec dept. rules city in softball

From staff reports

SANFORD — Rocky's Rec's won the first City of Sanford Interdepartmental Slowpitch Softball Tournament with a 4-3 triumph over Herman's Hammers at the Fort Mellon Park softball field Saturday.

The tournament was a single elimination affair that featured four teams made up of men and women employed by different city departments.

The first game featured Mason's Maulers against the Hammers. The Hammers used a six-run fifth inning, highlighted by a three-run home run by Lloyd Wall, to rally from an 11-7 deficit to take a 13-11 lead. The Hammers added three insurance runs in the seventh to take a 16-11 win and advance to the finals.

Wall led the Hammers attack with a pair of home runs, a single and three runs scored. Other contributors were Sal Petrotone (triple, single, two runs scored), Jeff Wall (two doubles, two runs scored), Greg Hensley (double, single, three runs scored), Steve Parrish (double, single), Charlie Turner (two singles), Jerry Herman (triple), Barbara Foster (single, three runs scored) and Alan Peterson, Joe Litton and Jason Wood (one run scored each).

Leading the Maulers assault were Keith Acree (home run, triple, single, three runs scored), Kelly Wells (triple, double, two runs scored), Johnny Blake (double, single), Darron Scott (two singles, two runs scored), Milton Smith (two singles), Paul Moore (single, run scored) and Gretchen Mason, William Taylor, Gerald Taylor and Larry Brace (one single each).

The other semifinal, the Rec's built up a big lead early before Hickson's Hooters (made up of the Fire Department) closed the gap at the end, the Rec's advancing with a 12-7 win. The Rec's used a five-run second to go up 9-0 before the Hooters mounted their comeback.

Contributing to a 15-hit Rec's attack were Robbie Robinson (double, three singles, two runs scored), Steve Lawrence (triple, double, single, run scored), Dave Bennett (two doubles, two runs scored), Rocky Ellingsworth (double, single, three runs scored), Jeff Deen (double, run scored), Anthony Hartfield (single, run scored), Charles Rowe and Penny Davis (one single each) and Mike Kirby and Dean Smith (one run scored each).

S. Seminole wins in Jr. Bambinos

From staff reports

LONGWOOD — Johnny Buchannon and Austin Costin combined to pitch a no-hitter and lead South Seminole to a 7-1 win over Longwood in the title game of the Junior Bambino All-Star district tournament Sunday at Longwood's Candyland Park.

Junior Bambinos, for players ages 9 and 10 years old, is the youngest age group in Babe Ruth Baseball.

South Seminole, a first-year league that draws its players from the Oviedo and Tuskawilla areas, now advances to the state tournament in Newberry. South Seminole will open the state tourney, which will follow a double-elimination format, against Ocala on July 6.

Sunday's game actually began on Saturday afternoon but was postponed by rain after Longwood had batted in the top of the second inning and the score tied at 1-1. South Seminole scored two runs to open play on Sunday and went on to post the win.

Buchannon, who picked up the save in Friday night's 7-1 win over Longwood, worked the first four innings, striking out five and walking one while giving up an unearned run, to earn the win. Costin, the winning pitcher on Friday night, earned the save on Sunday by striking out five in his two innings.

Offensively, Troy Boutwell doubled and had two RBI as Alan Montijo doubled and drove in one run to lead South Seminole's six-hit attack. Damon DiCharry singled, scored a run and had an RBI while Buchannon and Ryan Wilder both singled and scored a run as Ashley Scott singled and had an RBI. Matt Tulip scored a run.

For Longwood, Ryan Lee scored the game's only run in the top of the first inning to give the home team an early 1-0 lead.

DeLand advances in Babe Ruth play

From staff reports

DELAND — Southeast Seminole fell short in its attempt to advance to the state tournament when it dropped a 4-1 decision to DeLand in the Babe Ruth (14 and 15-year-olds) All-Star District II finals at the Tom Sperling Baseball Complex in DeLand Sunday.

The game had started on Saturday but was postponed by rain after one and a half innings and completed on Sunday.

Southeast Seminole had advanced to the finals by hammering Longwood 23-0 Friday night but were unable to carry the momentum over to Saturday. Southeast needed two wins over DeLand to advance to the state tournament.

DeLand will advance to the state tournament in Sarasota starting July 18 where they will take on host Sarasota. In 1988, Sarasota was the National Babe Ruth Champions.

The key blow in the game was a two-run single by DeLand's Tom Garrett that gave DeLand a 3-0 lead. Matt Johnson was the big hitter for DeLand with two singles and an RBI.

Pacing the Southeast Seminole attack were Miguel Rodriguez (single, run scored), Edger Aviles (single, RBI) and Lou Traeger and Robin Hess (one single each).

Stingers, Gold Coast drop Junior Olympic openers

From staff reports

Both the Sunshine Basketball Association Stingers and Florida Gold Coast from Riviera Beach lost their first games in the opening round of the AAU Junior Olympic Girls' 11 and Under Basketball National Championship Tournament.

The SBA Stingers, made up of players from the Seminole County area, were hammered by Oklahoma 88-27 in a game played at Oviedo High School. Meanwhile, Florida Gold Coast was getting beat 63-36 by Maryland at Lake Brantley High School.

In all, 18 games involving 33 teams from around the country were played Sunday. A full schedule is on tap for today with first-round action picking up at 2 p.m. at Oviedo, Lake Howell and Apopka high schools and at 5:45 p.m. at Lake Mary High School.

The Stingers will try to break into the win column when they play Virginia at 9 p.m. at Lake Howell. Florida Gold Coast will play twice today at Oviedo, meeting New Jersey in a 2 p.m. game and taking on Missouri Valley-Kansas at 9 p.m.

In other action Sunday, at Oviedo High School, Ohio whipped Minnesota 68-31, Central Illinois edged Pacific Northwest 27-25, Virginia topped Connecticut 54-39, Southern Louisiana knocked off Missouri Valley-Missouri 57-30 and Michigan bested New England 42-35.

At Lake Howell High School, Potomac Valley beat North Carolina 49-34, Southern Pacific dunked Inland Empire 47-30, Southwest-Texas stopped Pacific Southwest 50-32, Indiana drilled Alaska 49-32, West Pennsylvania shaded New Mexico 49-45 and Arkansas held off Southeastern/Alabama 39-36.

At Lake Brantley High School, Southeastern/Tennessee nailed Lake Erie 68-36, Middle Atlantic overcame West Virginia 43-35, Missouri Valley-Kansas bopped New Jersey 50-30 and stomped Georgia 70-34, and Maryland downed New Jersey 43-35.

Today and tomorrow, the teams will continue round-robin play within their respective pools (there are seven four-team pools and one five-team pool). On Wednesday, the two teams with the best record in each pool will advance to the championship.

SBA President John Smith estimated the combined attendance at 2,500 on Sunday. Tickets are $5 for a day pass ($2 for students and children under 17) or $15 for a tournament pass good for the whole week.

All-Stars can demand too much too soon

Don't look now, but it's All-Star season.

Following the lead set by Major League Baseball in 1933, every youth baseball in eration picks an All-Star team to send against like organizations for local, state, national and, in some instances, international honors.

Fine, Dandy, Wonderful. But we may be overdoing it a bit.

In Seminole County alone, we have communities participating in Little League (Altamonte Springs, Casselberry, Oviedo), Pony League (Five Points, Forest City), Babe Ruth (Longwood, Oviedo) and Florida Little Major (Sanford) youth baseball leagues.

We can debate the validity of organized youth baseball all day long. The structured nature of youth leagues, with its unmeasured fields, uniforms, coaches and the like, has a certain appeal to players and parents but there are certain aspects missing from the sandlot game.

Specifically, in sandlot, a boy or girl can get a dozen or more at bats a game. In an organized youth league, that number is cut by two-thirds or more. In sandlot, the game is important, not the league or league standings.

For the purposes of this discussion, let one of the givens be that organized youth baseball league fill a need within the sport. If nothing else than to introduce boys and girls to the finer aspects and some of the protocol of the game.

One of the big arguments against organized youth baseball (that's not far - it's an argument against all organized youth sports) is the pressure to win that its puts on boys and girls in their developmental years. Even so, you can debate that sooner or later, they're going to have to learn to play with pressure if they're going to continue in the sport. What better way to learn than in a structured setting? Maybe. Possibly. Then youth leagues take that one step further and select All-Star teams. As if just playing for wins or losses isn't enough pressure, now we're elevating young boys and girls over others just because of the ability to play a game.

Again, if they continue in the sport, that will eventually happen. High school varsity, junior varsity and freshman teams hold tryouts and cut players. And sooner or later, children have to learn that's the way it is in competitive sports.

But how soon is too soon? Not to single out Little League Baseball but to use its age groups for a point of reference, but we have All Stars at the Senior (14 and 15-year-olds), Junior (13) and Little (11 and 12) age brackets.

That's not too bad, but we have other organizations that carry All Stars to an extreme, picking teams in the 9 and 10 age group. If naming 11 and 12-year-olds to All-Star teams is walking a fine line, then 9 and 10 All-Star teams is going way across the line.

I know there are those who will argue this, but it seems to me that at that age, boys and girls should just be concentrating on learning how to play the game and enjoying it rather than playing it at the level for such high stakes. It feels wrong the same way hearing about a 10-year-old back belt feels wrong.

That's asking too much too soon.

The Reds withstood a furious comeback effort to defeat the Patriots 8-7 on Sunday behind the combined pitching and hitting of Steve Clemente and Robert Smith. The Patriots trailed the Reds 8-2 going into the bottom of the seventh but scored five runs and had the tying and winning runs on second and third.

Clemente tossed a five-hitter over 6 2/3 innings before tiring. Smith came in to get the final out with the bases loaded. Clemente was 3 for 4 with two doubles, two runs scored and three RBI while Smith was 2 for 4 with a double and three RBI.

The Patriots scored a pair of runs in the top of the first inning to take the early lead. Jason Jaillette reached second on a throwing error, went to third on a Brett Black grounder and scored on a Joe De Leon single.

De Leon came around to score on a stolen base, wild pitch and wild pickoff attempt.

The Reds scored three runs after two were out in the top of the second to take a lead they would not relinquish. Bill Elliott reached when he was hit by a pitch, pinch runner Kevin Simms stole second and Tim Sarner walked. Clemente provided the offense for St. Stephen's (triple, three singles, two runs scored), Don Causseaux Sr. (triple, two singles, two runs scored), Nulty (two doubles, single, two runs scored), Sladek (double, two singles, run scored), Don Causseaux Jr. (three singles, run scored), Scott Causseaux Jr. (two singles, two runs scored), Callan and Holt (two singles and one run scored each) and Sparks (home run, run scored).

Getting hits for Calvary were C. Ginterich (home run, triple, two singles, four runs scored), Denoto (double, two singles, two runs scored), Galarza (double, two singles, run scored), D. Ginterich (three singles, two runs scored), Combs (three singles, run scored), Haner (single, run scored) and Bowman, Witt and Walton (one single each) and Foster (run scored).

Providing the offense for the Rec's were Smith (triple, single, run scored), Ellingsworth (double, single, run scored), Hillary and Davis (one single and one run scored each) and Laurence, Rowe and Y. Hartsfield (one single each).

Doing the damage for the Hammers were Lloyd, Wall and Herman (one home run and one run scored each), Hensley (triple), Jeff Wall (double), Turner and Parrish (one single each) and Foster (run scored).

Pete Bezerdi was the defensive star for DeLand. After starting the game at pitcher, Bezerdi moved to third base and made three key plays. One of the plays came in the sixth when he threw out a runner at the plate to complete a double play.

Rodriguez made two outstanding plays in centerfield for Southeast Seminole. He made an over-the-shoulder catch ala Willie Mays on a 400-foot blast to save a run in one inning, made a running shoestring catch in another inning and made a throw that held a runner at second.

In Friday's slaughter of Longwood, Southeast Seminole led 2-0 when they came to the plate in the bottom of the third and exploded for 18 runs off a pair of Longwood pitchers.

Traeger and Rodriguez combined on a two-hitter and Andy Holmes went 4 for 4 with two triples, one double, four runs scored and three RBI to lead a 17-hit offensive display.

Also contributing to the Southeast offense were Aviles (3 for 5, two triples, four runs scored, four RBI), Mike Hernandez (2 for 2, double, two runs scored), Tony Beasley (2 for 5, two runs scored, two RBI), Josh White (2 for 5, double, three runs scored, three RBI) and Rodriguez (2 for 5, two runs scored, two RBI).

Sean Heffey and Dave Harp had one single each for Longwood.

City

Continued from 1B Terry Henry (home run, single, run scored), Tom Martin (triple, single, run scored), Tim Gracey (double, single, two runs scored), Doug Luce and Eric Parshall (one double, one single and one run scored each), Bill Spivey (two singles), Bert Herring (single, run scored) and Robert Vaughan (single).

The final was a defensive struggle as both teams scored a run in the first inning but didn't score again until the fifth.

The Hammers scored first with Foster and Lloyd Wall drawing bases on balls before

Continued from 1B singles, three runs scored) and Bowman (double, three singles, run scored).

Also chipping in were Munoz (home run, triple, two runs scored), D. Ginterich (two singles), Ron Haner and Channing Walter (one single and two runs scored each) and Combs and Gabe Witt (one single and one run scored each).

Facing a 28-hit Church of God attack were Randy Yates (double, four singles, four runs scored), Tim Pete (two doubles, two singles, two runs scored), Don Causseaux Jr. (three singles, two runs scored) and Brantley Brumley and Tom Walker (three singles and one run scored each).

Other contributors included Al Dickens (three singles), Clayton Nichols (double, single, three runs scored), Rick Carter (two singles, run scored), Joe Brinkle (two singles) and Ken Picklesimer (run scored).

The final started with Calvary jumping out to a 7-0 lead before St. Stephen's started its comeback.

Jeff Wall doubled to score Foster. The Rec's run came when Ellingsworth doubled, Laurence singled and Deen lifted a sacrifice fly.

The Rec's scored three runs in the fifth to take the lead. Smith led off with a triple but the next two batters popped up. Robbie Hillary then hit a bouncer to third that he beat out for a hit, Smith scoring.

Davis followed with a single and Yvette Hartsfield singled just inside the third base bag to score Hillary. Ellingsworth followed with a single to score Davis with the ultimate winning run.

The Hammers came back with solo runs in the sixth and seventh innings on home runs by Herman and Wall but it was not enough.

Providing the offense for the Rec's were Smith (triple, single, run scored), Ellingsworth (double, single, run scored), Hillary and Davis (one single and one run scored each) and Laurence, Rowe and Y. Hartsfield (one single each).

Doing the damage for the Hammers were Lloyd, Wall and Herman (one home run and one run scored each), Hensley (triple), Jeff Wall (double), Turner and Parrish (one single each) and Foster (run scored).

IN BRIEF

Music in motion

Lake Howell High School Band Parents and the Magic Drum and Bugle Corps of Orlando are sponsoring the non-profit youth presentation, "Music, Magic, Motion — Drum Corps Spectacular," Wednesday, June 27, 8 p.m. at the Lake Mary High School Stadium. General admission is $8. Reserved seating is $12. Group discounts are available. For more information call 671-2843.

Convention time

The Winter Springs Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5405 and its Ladies Auxiliary will be sending several delegates to the state convention in Kissimmee on June 27. On July 1, all newly elected and installed officers will start performing their duties at the post under the leadership of Commander Jerry Hesketh and President Ida Leonard for the coming year.

Fourth of July fun planned

Winter Springs VFW Post 5405 and its Ladies Auxiliary will be holding a family fun day at the post home at 420 N. Edgemon Ave., on July 4, starting at noon. There will be plenty of barbecue chicken and ribs with all the trimmings. Games for the children, Bar Bingo for adults and lots more fun and excitement are planned. This will be open to the public so come out and enjoy the holiday. Donations are $5. Call 327-3151 for more details.

Host families needed

With barriers coming down around the world, students like Bozicek and Gorazd from Yugoslavia, Man-Ho and Wa Shing from Hong Kong, Luciano and Francisco from Spain, as well as boys and girls from many other countries, would like to spend a high school year with an American family. The International Education Forum, a non-profit high school exchange organization, is now seeking families in the Sanford and Seminole County area to host foreign high school students for the 1990-91 school year. For more information contact Mr. Robert Faria, 1511 S. Peninsula Dr., Daytona Beach, 32018. Phone (904) 255-1031.

This tree easy to grow, versatile

The crape myrtle is one of the most rewarding small trees or large shrubs for the landscape. Its ease of propagation, long blooming period and ability to grow under nearly every soil condition make the crape myrtle a widely used and greatly admired ornamental.

The flowering season for crape myrtle begins in June or July, and continues until fall. Each long cluster of flowers (panicles) is composed of hundreds of one to two-inch, red, pink, white, lavender, or purple flowers. Leaves are often garnet tinged in the spring, glossy dark green in the summer, and dull to intense yellow, orange or red in the autumn. When the leaves fall in the winter, the crape myrtle becomes a living sculpture. The trunk and branches have an attractively gnarled, twisted character with smooth bark varying in color from light tan to rich deep brown. Patches of bark flake off (exfoliate) in early summer to reveal new bark ranging in color from light pink to pale green.

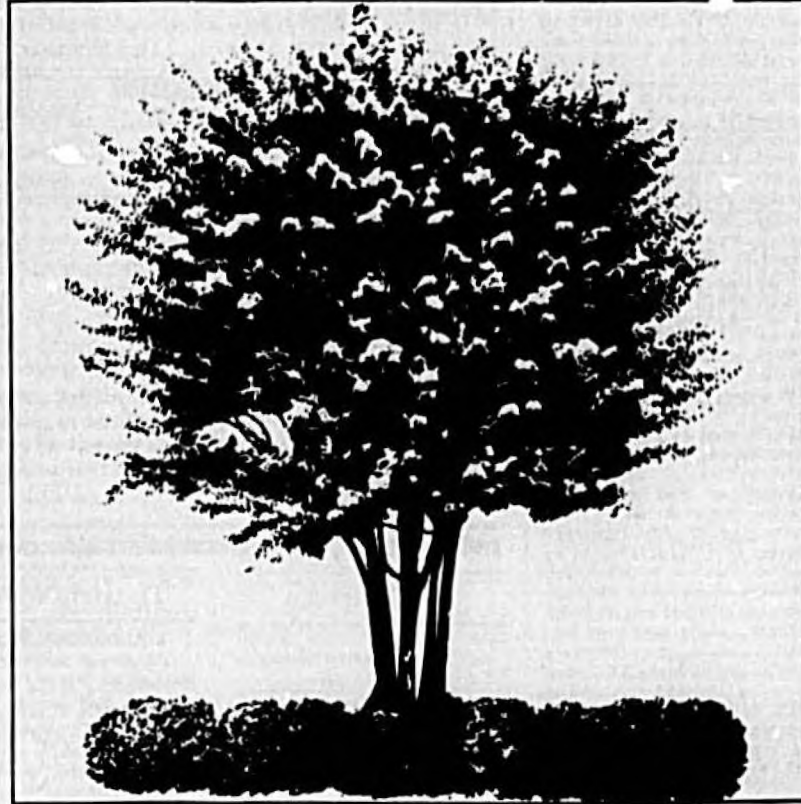

Crape myrtle is very versatile in the residential landscape. Single-trunked or multi-trunked specimens make ideal small shade trees for a sunny deck, terrace, or entrance walkway. Multi-trunked plants can be used as a visual barrier, a specimen plant in the garden, or a dominant landscape feature when planted singly or in groups. Semi-dwarf and dwarf types are suitable for foundation plantings, use in containers, or even as larger groundcovers.

Occasional pruning may be required to maintain desired size and form. Background plantings of evergreen shrubs or trees may be employed to further emphasize the floral spectacle of crape myrtle. Crape myrtle can be used to create an "allee" in large garden areas. Allees are usually long walkways where the plants are spaced so their canopies touch and enclose the pathways. There is even a patented, miniature weeping form good for use as a bonsai plant or in hanging baskets.

CELESTE WHITE

GARDENING

Crape myrtle

Crape myrtles are available in many flower colors and plant heights. Plant height is categorized as dwarf (less than 3 feet), semi-dwarf (3 to 6 feet), medium (6 to 12 feet) and tall (greater than 12 feet).

Crape myrtle should be located in an area that receives full sunlight for most of the day. Otherwise a weak spindly plant with a few flowers can be expected. Plants growing in shaded areas will also be plagued by plant diseases such as powdery mildew.

Crape myrtle tolerates a wide range of soil conditions, but grows best in a heavy loam that is slightly acidic (pH 5.0 to 6.5). Nutrient requirements are minimal; high fertility levels produce excessive vegetative growth and fewer flower panicles. Applications of 6-6-6 or 8-8-8 fertilizer in early spring at the rate of 1 to 2 pounds per 100 square feet of planting bed may be beneficial to established plants, especially those growing on poor soils. Mulches of pine bark or hardwood chips are beneficial in retaining soil moisture and minimizing soil temperature fluctuations during the summer. Heavy pruning must be done each year, if large specimen type blooms are desired. However, one of the most fascinating aspects of the crape myrtle is its unusual plant form. When the form is destroyed by severe pruning, then the blooms will be all that remains for one to enjoy. By a selective method of pruning, the unusual sculptured form, flowers and colorful foliage make it a plant with year-round charm.

Frequently crape myrtle is attacked by aphids and white fly. Aphids are small green colored lice-like insects that suck the sap and cause small malformed leaves. The white fly and aphids excrete a honeydew material on which a black fungus (sooty mold) lives. Both aphids and white fly can be controlled by spraying with an appropriate insecticide.

Powdery mildew is a common disease of crape myrtle, especially when it is grown in damp shaded areas. This fungus disease causes the plant's to be unsightly, but also can cause some defoliation and actual death of severely infested stems. Control can be achieved by spraying with an appropriate fungicide or planting resistant cultivars.

All Seminole County Agricultural Extension Services programs are open to all regardless of race, color, sex or national origin.

Look for love in right places

DEAR ABBY: How does a nice person meet other nice people? I'm not the type to hang out in bars, and these days it's dangerous to get too friendly with people you meet casually on the street, even though they may look nice. I'm over 21, am told I am very attractive, and I have no bad habits. Sign me...

LONELY AND SINGLE
DEAR LONELY: You have asked me the question that turns up the most frequently in my mail. The following is from my booklet, "How to Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old." The message is as applicable today as when it was first written:

If you're single for any reason — and want to know how to meet someone decent, this is for you:

"Decent people" are found where decent people gather. If you want to hook a mountain trout, don't go fishing in a herring barrel.

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

At the risk of sounding like a broken record, may I repeat the advice I have given in my column time and again:

Get out of the house and get involved! Get a job, go back to school, enroll in some adult education classes, learn to paint or sew, or offer your volunteer services in your community. Work with your church, the Red Cross, mental health society, the underprivileged, the disabled, the elderly, your political party — the list is endless. They need volunteers! I can't say enough for volunteer work. That's where worthwhile people meet other worthwhile people.

If you're recently divorced or widowed, let your friends know that you're interested in getting back into circulation. The safest way to meet a decent person is through folks who include singles when they entertain. And I'm sure there's a special place in heaven for the matchmaking angel who is constantly "fixing up" dates for singles.

FROM OKLAHOMA: At the age of 18, I was convicted of murder (armed robbery) and spent 15 years in prison. I learned a trade in prison and now I'm one of the best electricians anywhere. People do hire felons. But they don't hire quitters. Today I own my own business and I made $125,000 last year.

A FELON BUT NOT A FAILURE
DEAR READERS: Tomorrow, more success stories from ex-felons who are far from failures.

Muscle contractions may need attention

DEAR DR. GOTT: For three years, I've experienced involuntary muscle contractions. They involve my legs, arms, head and sometimes my whole body. I've been examined for Parkinson's, thyroid, heart and nervous conditions, and all results have been negative. Muscle relaxants provide temporary relief, but eventually become ineffective. Do you have any suggestions?

DEAR READER: The symptoms you describe are challenging because they can result from a host of causes, ranging from alcohol abuse to multiple sclerosis, one of many neurological diseases characterized by loss of nerve-tissue insulation (myelin).

Because your doctors have been unable to diagnose your condition, I believe you should be examined and tested by neurology specialists in a teaching hospital. Such specialists are trained to diagnose unusual conditions; in addition, they have sophisticated equipment that may not be available to ordinary practicing physicians.

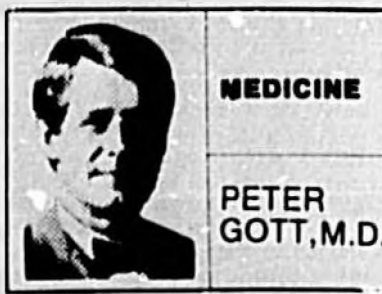

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Medical Specialists." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is the cause and treatment of spinal stenosis?

DEAR READER: Spinal stenosis, an uncommon form of sciatica, is a condition marked by narrowing of the spinal canal in the lower back. This exerts pressure on the nerve roots before they exit from the spinal column. Symptoms include back and buttock pain that radiates into the thighs and calves. This pain is usually worsened by standing, bending and lifting; it is relieved by rest. As the condition progresses, numbness and weakness may appear.

Spinal stenosis is caused by several diseases that affect bones, such as osteoarthritis, Paget's disease (a metabolic disorder characterized by areas of rapid bone destruction and re-growth) and spondylolisthesis (forward displacement of one vertebra over another). Initial treatment consists of bed rest, pain medication, phys-

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Precise bidding can assist a partnership in getting to the best contract. But there is a price to be paid, in that the defenders are listening to the bidding also. Knowing what the declarer has bid will usually result in the best defense. Look at today's deal. South opened with one heart, rebid two clubs, and then, when North invited game in no-trump, confirmed distribution of six hearts and four clubs by bidding three hearts. With fillers in both of opener's suits, North elected the 10-trick heart game. When the two of diamonds was led, East won the 10-spot, continued with the diamond ace and led the jack to West's king. That was three tricks in for the defense, and West was looking at the ace of spades. But a review of the bidding indicated that there was no chance that the ace of spades would cash. Where was the setting trick to come from? If declarer held A-K-J of hearts and A-J of clubs, there was no defense that would work. But what if declarer was missing either the heart jack or the club jack? If East held the club jack, he would also need the club nine. (Otherwise declarer could draw trumps and then play K-Q of clubs; when West followed with 8-10, South could finesse with the A-9.) If declarer was missing the jack of hearts, there was a sure way to defeat the contract. So West played back the fourth diamond. East ruffed with the jack of hearts, and West's 10-9-8 of trumps were promoted for the setting trick.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
June 26, 1990

Alliances you establish in the year ahead for purely social purposes should work out rather well. However, the same might not be true for partnerships in commercial ventures.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You might not be able to rely on promises made by a friend today. Your pal's intent might be good, but may not be in the position to deliver. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There could be financial opportunity around you today, but you might fail to recognize it or learn of it too late to capitalize on it properly. Be alert at all times.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your friends will resent it today if they feel you are trying to manipulate them for some selfish purpose. Try not to put your interests and needs above everyone else's.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Let wiser heads prevail today, especially regarding career matters. You might make judgments based on emotions, while an associate will make decisions based on hard experience.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Optimism has its drawbacks when predicated upon purely wishful thinking. Be expectant and hopeful, but don't let your reason desert you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be extremely selective of companions today, because you will be judged by the company you keep. If your associates have a bad reputation, you might be placed in the same category.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) People upon whom you can usually depend might not be all that reliable today. If you pass out assignments, it's best to get frequent progress reports.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You might be able to do something constructive today that could begin to generate earnings from a second source. Be patient, however, and allow ample time for things to develop.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone who has been treating you rather thoughtlessly lately might be in need of you today. Instead of playing the game, just pretend nothing ever happened.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're likely to keep your promises today only up to a certain point and this could disappoint persons to whom you've made commitments. Go all the way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your friends could lose respect for you today if you give them reasons to think you're a little too material minded. Worldly things have their place, but so do beauty, love and generosity.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though you're a good salesperson and promoter at this time, it's best you do not sell or promote anything in which you do not believe. Sincerely spells success.
