Suspect In Murder Freed To Attorney

Citing "threats" to Samuel Geter "which will not be tolerated," Seminole Circuit Court Judge Dominic Salvi Wednesday authorized the release of the 14-year-old black youth to the "custodial care" of a Polk County couple, pending Geter's Dec. 10 first degree murder trial in the death of William Oglesby, a 12-year-old Sanford schoolmate.

After consultations with Salvi, 11 with the flu, Seminole Circuit Court Judge Tom Waddell Jr. signed the release order Wednesday afternoon which released Geter to his attorney, T. David Burns of Bartow.

Burns, who earlier Wednesday gained a continuance of the trial from Nov. 26 to Dec. 10 in Titusville, whisked the slight, 88-pound youngster from the Seminole County jail cell where he has been confined since the Sept. 5 fight with Oglesby near Sanford Middle School.

Oglesby died in Florida Hospital after the fight with Geter during what the state says was a robbery attempt. Geter was at first held as a juvenile in the case, but State Atty. Abbott Herring decided to try him as an adult on first degree murder and felony charges.

Geter pleaded innocent to the charges at his Sept. 24 arraignment. If convicted of first degree murder, Geter, who was 13 at the time of the incident, could be executed.

Geter's release order specified that Burns turn him over to a Polk County couple investigated and

Wednesday Hearing For Arson Suspects

An Orlando plumber and a teenager, charged with arson in connection with a Sept. 19 blaze that destroyed a fleet of 26 trucks belonging to Air Flow Designs, had their arraignment set Wednesday for Friday.

After the court appearance Benjamin Hanes, 38, of 49 S. Hastings St. posted $5,000 bond. Arthur Brundon, 17, of 45 Hastings St., remains in the county jail in lieu of the $5,000 bond.

Hanes said he would hire a private attorney and Judge Harold Johnson assigned the public defender to represent Brundon. A preliminary hearing is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Friday.

The state attorney's office said today the two will be arraigned Monday.

They were arrested at 5:10 a.m. at Hanes' home on a warrant issued by Seminole County Court Judge Clarence Johnson Jr.

Hanes listed his occupation as a plumber and said he belonged to Plumbers Local 803.

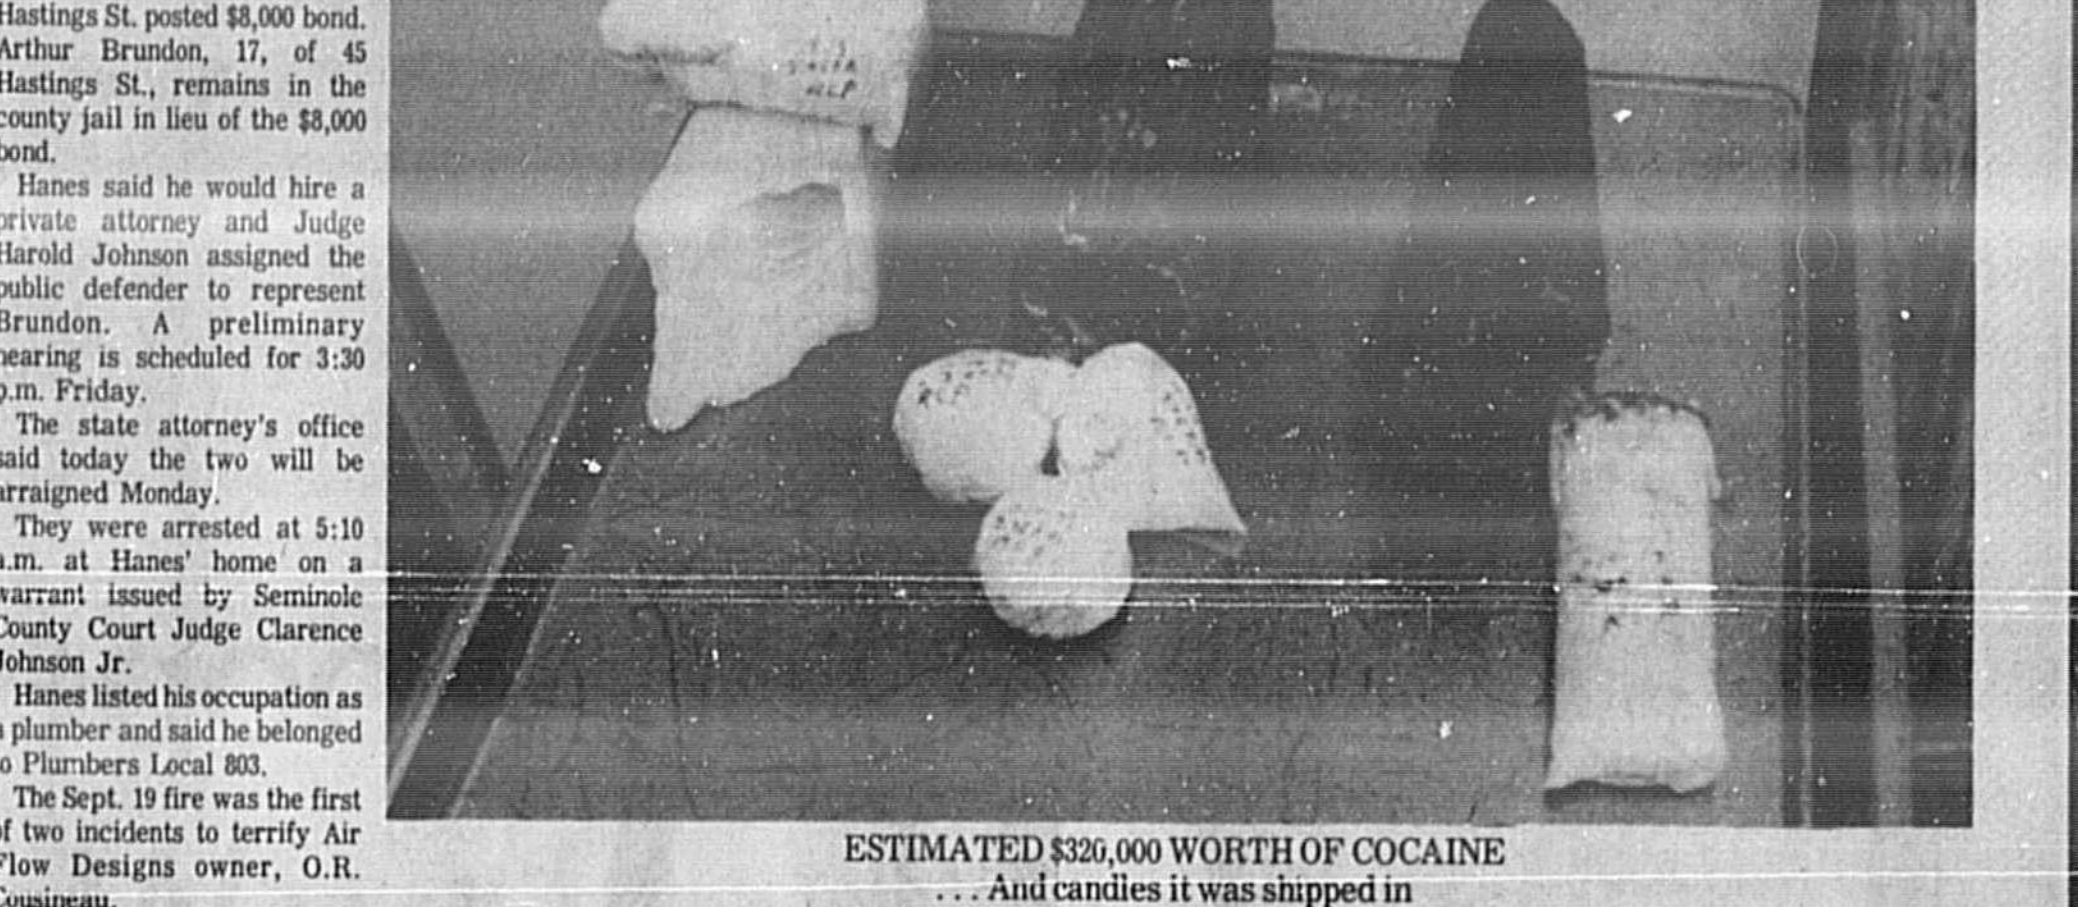

The Sept. 19 fire was the first of two incidents to terrify Air Flow Designs owner, O.R. Cousineau.

Six sticks of dynamite, wired to explode, were found in Cousineau's front yard on Nov. 6 by his 16-year-old daughter. Cousineau has offered a $12,500 reward for information leading to the arrest of the persons responsible for the arson and the attempted bombing.

"We have no information, at this time that links the arson to the bombing," Sheriff's detective Robert Kunkler said. Sheriff's detectives exploded the bomb at the department's firing range and said at the time massive damage would have been done to the houses in the neighborhood if it had gone off.

Kunkler, who headed the investigation, declined to say if the arrests resulted from a tip from a person interested in collecting the reward.

"The investigation is continuing," Kunkler said, declining to comment further.

ESTIMATED $320,000 WORTH OF COCAINE... And candies it was snipped in (Herald Photo by Mark Weintz)

Area Secretary Nabbed In $320,000 Drug Haul

Seminole County detectives and federal agents joined forces Wednesday evening for the "biggest ever" local narcotics bust which netted an estimated $320,000 worth of pure cocaine and resulted in the arrest of a Longwood secretary. Sheriff's investigators said.

Mrs. Daniel was released from Bogota Colombia, Seminole Sheriff's Sgt. Ray Parker said.

Julie Christine Daniel, 26, of 303 McClintock St., is in Seminole County jail charged with importing and possessing a controlled substance.

Mrs. Daniel was released from Seminole County jail late Wednesday on $15,000 bond and was scheduled to appear in County Court at 2 p.m. today for first appearance.

The arrest came after a week-long investigation by U.S. Bureau of Customs, Drug Enforcement Administration, U.S. Postal Inspectors and the Seminole Sheriff's vice squad.

The cocaine was discovered hidden in the candies by customs agents in Miami who "opened the package on a routine check," Parker said.

"They stuck a metal probe in the candies and when they removed it it was full of coke," he added.

After a field test revealed that the white powder was cocaine, the customs people

President To Address Editors

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon will address The Associated Press Managing Editors Convention which opens here Friday, the White House says.

The President will present his views on issues facing the nation when he attends the convention Saturday, officials announced Wednesday night.

More than 340 American and Canadian newspapermen and their families were expected to attend the five-day event at Disney World.

The impact of Watergate on the press and nation and recent advances in newspaper technology were to share the spotlight on the convention program.

The vice chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, Sen. Howard H. Baker, RTenn., was to anchor a "Watergate Day" Monday.

Blough Resigns In Deltona

Blough also said he plans a trip to Chicago on business and that the existing district has been adopted. We are going to get a dog or a cat, since we complained about the dog situation in the third area of Deltona," he stated.

"In short," said Blough, "I feel we have accomplished more in the five months I have been in office than the association has in the five years of existence."

Blough submitted his resignation effective Nov. 10 in a letter received by association secretary Sally Roehrer. In a telephone interview Blough told The Herald reasons in back of his resignation.

Scheduled to enter Seminole Memorial Hospital Nov. 28, Blough stated, "I have so many outside commitments I have been neglecting and because of ill health I feel I must give up my active participation in the Association."

Time For A Shock

American Middle East Misconceptions

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN Copley News Service

NEW YORK—"Everyone has fallen to sleep over the Middle East crisis, Egypt's President Anwar Sadat observed last April. "The time has come for a shock."

When the fourth Middle East conflict erupted in early October, there was indeed shock and great surprise in Washington and elsewhere. The most surprised and shocked of all was the Nixon administration and newly appointed Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, winner of the 1973 Nobel peace prize for the alleged settlement of the Vietnam war. In reality, the explosion in the Middle East was a consequence of a constellation of misconceptions.

The first misconception concerns the Nixon-Kissinger muddled thinking about Moscow. Not only was the administration deceived by the Russians in the recent wheat deal, but in the Middle East as well. For example, Kissinger took a face value the false and misleading pledges of peace by Moscow.

While the Russians were making such pledges, however, they were secretly planning with the Arab nations a renewal of the conflict in the Middle East. Just as with the Vietnam war, with the Soviets helped keep alive as it was

Other Thoughts

Spies in journalists' clothing have been creeping up in our land again.

Recently it was revealed that Nixon campaign operatives had hired a journalist to engage in political espionage in the McGovern camp. And a group, described as socialist, has been bedeviling the Georgia Power Company. One of its pamphlets urges its members to identify themselves as journalists in order to get information from the utility's executives.

allegedly coming to an end, so are they keeping alive the Middle East conflict. An examination of Russia's role in the planning of the Arab attack on Israel on the highest of holy Jewish holidays makes clear to what extent Kissinger and the Nixon administration were fooled by Moscow.

The second misconception in the Middle East has been long-standing and is the principal reason why once-friendly Arab nations have been driven into the arms of the Russians. For in the minds of many Americans, Jew and Gentile alike, there is a propensity to look on the Arab world with a stereotype vision.

Arab countries and their culture are regarded as an illiterate, dirty, impoverished part of the globe. This has blinded many Americans, including some of the highest officials in our government, to the forces that fuel

Mexicans Call Halt In Terrorism

Mexico is trying to decide which way to go, to the left like Chile under the Marxists, or straight ahead in the up-and-at-them style that has made the Aztec republic the envy of Latin America for some three decades now.

It is much more than a semantic struggle that is going on in Mexico at the moment. Lives have been lost and countless crimes committed in the undeclared ideological warfare.

There have been kidnappings, and murders, bank and payroll robberies, and terrorist bombings. Concern is widespread and increasing.

In Tlaxcala, for example, cab drivers recently went on strike, refusing to work until police started capturing some of their assailants.

In Guadalupe, the nation's second largest city, businessmen and industrialists closed their doors and draped their signs and offices and plants in black protest of the kidnap-murder of a prominent young industrialist.

In the wake of that abduction, in which the kidnapers demanded not only large cash ransom but also the release of 51 so-called political prisoners, a number of high federal government officials announced that they wanted it

Although the emergency plans are over four years old, they have been updated and reflect present policy.

"The Attorney General is designated chief civilian officer for coordination of all federal government activities relating to civil disturbances," wrote aide John Ehrlichman in his cover memo.

NEA Tries To Fool The Public

The National Education Association has created a false impression of the quality of American schools by reprinting an interpretive article it believes supports its bias. It illustrates the lengths to which this organization representing 1.2 million teachers will go to push its views, regardless of the facts. It is precisely the kind of article the NEA would condemn if it criticized NEA views. Use of such an article and research findings in this way would make any reasonable student of education research shudder.

The article interprets the findings of the International Association for the Evaluation of Educational Achievement (IEA). It is not an initial objective news report. The Arab feelings of blind outrage toward Israel. Added to the stereotyped view of the Arabs is the fact that, from their point of view, Arab nations believe the United States is a moral hypocrite when it talks of peace while resupplying Israel with arms, when a well-organized and vocal Jewish minority in America raises huge sums for Israel in the United States, and a German-born Jew, Henry Kissinger, is appointed secretary of state.

The root of Arab rage was never more brilliantly and objectively analyzed than by Israeli author Amos Elon in his book "The Israelis—Founders and Sons." If the perspective offered by Elon in this superb and balanced work had been applied to the Middle East by Washington over the last few years, the Arab nations would not now be captives of Communist colonialism.

Some high officials, aware of Nixon's belligerent attitude toward his Watergate critics, wonder whether he would use his emergency powers to hang on to the presidency if he should be faced with impeachment.

His closest associate now is Alexander Haig, a former Army general. The lawyer who has Nixon's ear, former Pentagon counsel J. Fred Buzhardt, is a West Point graduate. John Bennett, another aide in the President's immediate circle, is a retired two-star general.

Throughout the crisis surrounding the ouster of Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox, according to our sources, Haig followed the President's orders without questioning them. His loyalty was to his commander-in-chief, not to the higher principles at issue.

Haig, for example, personally ordered the FBI to seal off Cox's office. He also transmitted the order to former Deputy Attorney General William French Smith to fire Cox. When Ruckelshaus refused to do so, Haig delivered to Nixon on May 19, 1969. He initiated the "approve" line and then scribbled "Good Planning" in the bottom margin.

Within the White House, he has spoken of the danger of turning our delicate foreign affairs over to an inexperienced President. Our sources say he sounded as if he is determined to carry on as a patriotic duty.

The plans are ready for him to declare a state of emergency, meanwhile, if he should choose. One classified document, known as the "Interdepartmental Action Plan for Civil Disturbances," outlines the responsibilities of the Defense and Justice departments in the event the armed services are mobilized.

This detailed plan, which includes sample proclamations and executive orders for the President to sign, was delivered to Nixon on May 19, 1969. He initiated the "approve" line and then scribbled "Good Planning" in the bottom margin.

"The Attorney General is designated chief civilian officer for coordination of all federal government activities relating to civil disturbances," wrote aide John Ehrlichman in his cover memo.

"The Secretary of Defense, through the Department of the Army, will be primarily responsible for employment of the military at a disturbance site."

One of the proposed proclamations deals with "Law and Order in the Washington Metropolitan Area."

Under the laws now on the books, according to Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, the President may seize properties, mobilize production, seize commodities, institute martial law, seize control of all transportation and communications, regulate private capital, restrict travel, and—in a host of particular and peculiar ways—control the activities of all American citizens.

The Coup That Could Be

by Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON—One of President Nixon's earliest acts after he moved into the White House was to draw up contingency plans for the call-up of federal troops in case of a domestic crisis.

The planning was intended to cope with the widespread riots and demonstrations that rocked the nation in the late 1960s. The President has the power to implement the plans, however, any time he feels conditions "make it impracticable to enforce the laws."

Housing Expert Talks

Ex-Gurney Aide Pressure Claimed

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Gerald Curley is the second, Catholic housing expert to reportedly complain that a former aide to Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., tried to make political deals on housing projects.

The Gainesville Sun and Jacksonville television station WJXT reported Wednesday that Curley of St. Petersburg said he met with former aide Larry Williams and was led to believe his project would fare better if the "right people" were in charge.

Last week, Hobart Jost, president of the Catholic Charities Housing Association in Jacksonville, said he was pressured by Williams to get rid of a mortgage firm headed by a Democrat and a consulting firm that refused to contribute to Gurney's campaign, the newspaper and television station reported.

The alleged deals were not in return for favorable federal action on housing projects. Neither proposed project was approved.

Curley, chairman of an investigation board of the Diocese of St. Petersburg, was quoted as saying he met with Williams at St. Petersburg's Whitted Airport for 10 to 15 minutes and was given "a general impression that if you had all the right people involved, you'd have better luck."

The Miami Herald reported earlier that Williams, who said he collected $300,000 for a secret Gurney Boosters Fund, had agreed to plead guilty to two felony charges and testify for the government in an investigation of Gurney finances.

Curley refused to say who Williams indicated were the "right people." But the Gainesville Sun and WJXT reported other sources said Williams suggested himself as consultant, Gurney's Winter Park law firm as attorney, and Alfred E. Austin Construction Co. of Tampa as builder.

Curley said the Diocese already had selected an architect, contractor and attorney. "We weren't in a position to play any games," he said.

The two housing projects under consideration were to have been government-backed developments for the elderly, which would have required approval by the Federal Housing Administration.

Jost's project fell victim to a moratorium issued by President Nixon last January halting other developments. Curley said his project was turned down by the FHA last year.

Curley said he would "communicate to the decision makers the details of the process and they will take appropriate action."

Bedell said he would "communicate to the decision makers the details of the process and they will take appropriate action."

Teachers' Union Woos Bargaining

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The state chairman of the American Federation of Teachers Union says he's pleased with the outcome of the first meeting between his group and state university system officials.

The AFT met Wednesday with the university system officials to discuss proposals for salary increases and improved working conditions.

"This is the first step toward collective bargaining," said Dr. Kenneth Megill, AFT chairman and ousted University of Florida philosophy professor. "This was the meet and confer stage. I think the groundwork is laid to move on to other stages."

But George C. Bedell, state university system personnel and faculty relations director, said the meeting was called to comply with Gov. Reubin Askew's September directive for agency heads to discuss working conditions with employees.

Bedell said the meeting with the faculty group did not represent collective bargaining and did not imply such representatives are recognized as the exclusive bargaining agent for any group of state employees.

The AFT presented four pages of proposals to be considered by the state university system, including request for a 36 per cent pay hike and a year's paid sabbatical every seven years.

"I think it was a historic meeting," Megill said afterwards. "We'll see the full effects of it in the months to come."

Bedell said he would "communicate to the decision makers the details of the process and they will take appropriate action."

Baseball Players Resent Their Scouts' Tactics

By BILL CONLIN
Copley News Service

Once in the long ago, Del Baker was confronted by the Detroit Tigers and Hank Greenberg was his big clocker, a home-run hitter of such proficiency that in 1930 he hit 38 in a series run at Babe Ruth's record.

Like most managers in that era, Baker coached at third base. He was a gifted pitcher and adept at sizing up a pitcher and "calling" his pitch. That is, whether he was about to throw a curve or a fastball.

On the fastball, Baker would whistle shrilly to Greenberg. Forewarned, Hank would set for the pitch and aim for the fence.

The system worked well... up to a point.

Baker himself ruined the set-up.

Now we appear to be coming into another era of over-pertizing. The glory is being taken away from the athletes and being accorded to those agents of espionage known as scouts.

Never in baseball, as has previously been noted, has "The Book" played such a vital tactical part. Major league clubs have used their scouts exclusively for ferreting out young prospects have converted them to spying on future opponents.

The A's, for example, had a coterie of four, headed by Al Hollingsworth and the deceased Bill Rigney, putting together The Book, first on the Baltimore Orioles and then the New York Mets.

When he won the play-offs, manager Dick Williams praised in the locker room jubilation to praise specifically Billy Herman for his scouting accuracy in analyzing the Orioles' batting weaknesses.

Up to that point they had been in the happy delusion that their own good pitching had been responsible for vanquishing the Baltimore. Now here was an outsider, a man they seldom saw, getting the credit via written reports.

Sometimes the ball bounces strangely. Vern Hoschelt, who has been everything in baseball, was once president in 1960-1961 of the Three-Eye League (that's where the umpires wore monacles), and now he is a trainer coach of manager Dick Williams. For Oakland, he is the Keeper of The Book.

Savard Returns A Winner

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

There were no games scheduled in the World Hockey Association. "Alex has a good frame of mind," said Mickey Redmond, whose second power play goal at 11:29 of the third period boosted the Wings into a 3-3 tie.

Red Wings 4, Islanders 3. Henry Boucha's goal at 17:35 of the final period gave Detroit a 4-3 come-from-behind victory over the New York Islanders. It was the Red Wings' third consecutive triumph since Alex Delvecchio was named coach a week ago.

"You can't believe team morale compared with what it was earlier in the season," said Boucha.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Are "points" paid on a home mortgage deductible as interest expense?

A. Yes. The term "points" is sometimes used to describe the charges paid by a borrower to a lender as loan origination fees, maximum loan charges, or premium charges. If the payment of these charges is compensation solely for the use or forbearance of money, it is interest and generally deductible in full as interest expense in the year paid.

However, if the payment of any of these charges is compensation for specific services that the lender performs in connection with the borrower's account (such as lender's appraisal fees, the cost of preparing the mortgage note or deed of trust, settlement fees, notary fees, etc.) it is not interest. Moreover, payment of these amounts cannot be considered an additional cost of the property and may not be added to the property's basis. The term "points" is also used to describe loan placement fees that the seller may be required to pay to the lender as a condition to arranging financing terms for the buyer. These amounts are not deductible as interest. However, these charges are a selling expense, reducing the amount realized on the sale of a home.

Q. I had a large amount of medical expenses last month. To determine if you may claim the additional withholding allowance, see page two of Form W-4.

'Distaff Review' Wins Plaudits Touch Of Broadway Reflected In Play

By FANNETTE EDWARDS
Herald Correspondent

DELTONA — Terrific, stupendous, sensational, delightful... are but some of the words to describe the two performances of the "Distaff Review," by members of the Deltona Woman's Club, Friday and Saturday evening in their club house on Normandy Boulevard.

Since the beginning of time, woman has been in the limelight, always forging ahead. So it has been with the women in the good old U.S.A. From Betsy Ross, whose prominence stemmed from designing and making the first United States flag, to Billie Jean King, whose tennis prowess brought her fame and fortune, American women have been in the limelight.

"Distaff Reviews" written, directed and produced by Mildred M. Caskey, with the musical score and skit of the choral group written and directed by Mrs. Pauline Rose, proved to be the most nearly professional production ever put on any stage.

From the first appearance of "Miss Liberty," portrayed by Eleanor Robbins to the last performance of "The Modern Miss," by Dede Eastman, the show was a combination of sincerity, beauty, fun and laughter.

Famous women in our history depicted were Betsy Ross, Harriette Beecher Stowe, Mary Todd Lincoln, Emily Dickenson, Maria Sanford, Amelia Earhart, Grandma Moses, Eleanor Roosevelt, Clara Booth Luce, Cornelia Otis Skinner, and Jenny June Croly, organizer and founder of the Woman's Club of America.

These women were portrayed by Frances Hochreiter, Betty Rountier, Cay Anderson, Florence Duran, Grace Berg, Vera Moran, Ruth Lamb and others.

Hedda Hopper was there with her usual gossip, in the form of a group hoopoo gown of lace and tulle, and beautiful Eileen Linahan, with shiny black tresses, gowned in a floor length white satin bridal gown, was a perfect Wallis Warfield Simpson, whose sweetheart, King Edward III, gave up a throne to marry her.

The hit of the show was the Woman's Club talented singer and performer, Beverly Stuhrenberg who brought down the house with her rendition of Lily Langtry, dressed in cerise chiffon formal bedecked with diamonds from head to toe, and the "I don't care girl," Eva Tangway. She danced and sang and took her bows like a "pro."

A REAL PRO IN ACTION
... Mildred Caskey, director

Helen Robertson reporting on folks in Deltona and DeBary. Cutie little Kay Blair in her long white ruffled blonners, portrayed that famous "Amelia Jenks Bloomer," and Wynona French ran around the stage with her little red hutchel, as the famous "Carrie Nation."

Petite Pauline Ross (out of her chorus role) received a great hand for her interpretation of little "Annie Oakley," as she sang and mimicked a perfect imitation of Betty Hutton in that role.

Beautiful women of our land were portrayed by Peg Myers, as the famous Polly Madison in Lillian Russell was depicted by Pat Lynch in a sparkling black and white formal, accompanied by her husband as Diamond Jim Brady. They made a most attractive couple and they sang and danced.

Dottie Mercorelli and L.L. Col Miller were outstanding in their duets. Both have voices that blend beautifully and make you wish you could sing too.

For comedy the men took a part and played a fourroom at bridge saying and doing just what they thought women do and say when they get together at some woman's home for an afternoon of cards. It was hilarious.

And the "Strange Interlude," or "What's happened to the Girls" a comical skit of women today in professions usually attributed to men, was another most enjoyable feature with Helen Falzone, Alice Gajdusek, Kay Ellis, Jerry Bateman, Jean Ross and Marion Varman, all members of the chorus.

The Woman's Chorus, incidentally, 30 strong sang a most beautiful medley from "Cabaret" that was a delight to listen to.

The Four-star performers of the evening (our Deltona "Chorus Line") were something special.

Betty Konigsmark, Gertie Williams, Anna Healey, Eileen Boren, Edan Boyette and Kay Blair formed the "Flora-Dora Sextette," the "mom" girls, "Radio City Rockettes" and the "Jazz Age." To "The Jazz Age," add the names of Gwendolyn Kartman, Drusilla Berger, Belle Jordan and Margaret Schaller and there you have it.

Grace O'Brien, who served as pianist throughout the performance deserves a special commendation for her superb artistry as does Genevieve Richardson, who served as narrator at a moment's notice when Mrs. Ruth Paetz was taken to the hospital.

All in all, this was really an "out of this world" extravaganza.

Bridal Shower Honors Debbie Dempsey

Miss Debbie Dempsey, bride-elect of Lament Pangle, was guest of honor at a recent bridal shower, given by Mrs. Tom O'Day at her home 307 Tucker Drive, Sunland Estates.

A large honey comb umbrella, decorated with yellow and green satin ribbons was suspended above a special chair placed by the gift table for the honoree to use while opening her gifts.

Yellow and green crepe paper streamers were suspended from the dining room ceiling at each corner of the room and two wedding bells attached where they crossed directed above the refreshment table.

The centerpiece was a bride doll standing in a bed of yellow roses and green fern. Flanking the center arrangement were two candles Motive type, in green with yellow roses on white background and the inscription "Debbie And Lament."

Hostess gift to the future bride was a heart shaped ring bearer's pillow. It was made of candle light satin, identical to the material in the bridal gown, with a center cluster of white satin roses with deep green satin leaves and encircled with a lace ruffe.

Approximately 25 relatives and friends were present for the delightful evening event.

Accounting Executive Says Women Need Business Sense

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — No one ever told Sara Lou Brown that women didn't become public accountants.

"It's surprising they didn't," said the petite, dark-haired Texas CPA. "Most of my teachers at school were in practice for themselves. They must have known there weren't many women in the business."

At 30 a partner in Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, an international accounting firm, Mrs. Brown studied economics and accounting at Rice University in Houston. She had started to school as a French major but decided that her Texas accent did not translate very well into another language.

"When I got out of school and started interviewing, I was nine years ago, most accounting firms wouldn't even talk to me," she added. "But after I finished two years of graduate work in accounting, the climate had changed considerably."

She started working for the tax accounting department, as did most women accountants of that time. Today, she says, things are more diversified even in her own Houston office. However, she knows of only one other woman partner in a major accounting firm.

Mrs. Brown finds public accounting a good career field for women.

"It's a profession where abilities can be measured by something other than intangible standards," she said. "In public accounting certain abilities cannot be overlooked. Women have the same opportunity from the outset that men are given. They do the same kind of work and their ability in doing that work cannot be overlooked."

"And there are adding machines for everyone. You don't have to be a math whiz, but you do have to understand numbers and what they do," she said.

Mrs. Brown calls accounting "the basic measure of all business." If a career person understands accounting, even if she doesn't want to do it forever, it is a good basis for any business, she adds.

Knowing how businesses work is something Mrs. Brown enjoys. She says one of the pleasures of her job is adapting things to each individual who comes to her for advice.

"We deal in international taxation and regular federal and state taxes, work with trusts and estate planning. I think one of the main business planning problems women have today is family taxes and investments."

"Widows, especially, have this problem, and I think while their husbands are alive they should make it a point to know who his attorney is, who his banker is and who his accountant is.

IN CONFERENCE—Sara Lou Brown, a certified public accountant, talks with a client at the firm in which she is a youthful partner.

"Then it won't be so difficult to learn about assets that are available in case of a death in the family. They'll know who to ask, and who will have a list of insurance policies, tax records and investments," Mrs. Brown added.

Women, she said, often do not want to make a will. They say there is little need for it and that it defines their mortality.

"They always want to wait until next year," the accountant said. "People don't believe that the earlier they plan financial arrangements for retirement or death, the better off they are. Most people don't want to give up control of things. They want to hang on as long as possible."

Mrs. Brown says a lot of people can afford an accountant to take care of their business planning. If they can't, she suggests that most larger banks do financial planning pretty much for free.

Married to a Houston architect, Mrs. Brown finds some spare time to be treasurer of the Houston Grand Opera Association. She has helped make decisions on investments and monitor the group's finances.

"There isn't much spare time for things other than work," she said. "My husband specializes in interior architecture and we've just renovated a home for ourselves and moved in this year. He used to do hospital interiors, which amused me because I thought all hospitals looked alike inside."

The March of Dimes warns that all mothers, especially those with a history of miscarriage, premature delivery, stillbirth, or toxemia during previous pregnancies, should get early, regular prenatal care.

The difference between a cuckold and old kook

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1973 by Charles Trieman N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I write a syndicated newspaper column titled "Bernstein on Words." Recently I received the following letter:

"Dear Mr. Bernstein: While celebrating my 45th wedding anniversary, I recalled that 40 years ago my wife had an affair with another man. My question: Was I, or am I a cuckold?"

Abby, all that came to my mind was that juvenile jingle, "How much wood would a woodchuck chuck if a woodchuck could chuck wood," with a variation something like, "Just how old is an olden chuck when an olden cuckold is he?"

However, since this question seems much more up your alley than mine, how would you answer it?

DEAR TED: If the wife had only one affair—even briefly—her mate was a cuckold briefly. If she had another one, he's a cuckold for sure. If she's had them off and on over the years, he's not a cuckold—quite the reverse. He's an old kook!

DEAR ABBY: My problem is nothing new. It's my mother in law. My husband and I are the proud parents of a new baby, and I have returned to work part-time. Since we didn't know a reliable sitter, I asked my mother in law if she would babysit while I worked half days, and I offered to pay her. To my surprise, she accepted!

Abby, most grandmothers would be insulted if they were offered money to stay with their grandchildren. This is her first grandchild!

My husband and I have been fighting about this ever since she came up, and he says I am wrong—and if I don't feel right handling his mother money, I should just stick it in her purse and not make a big deal out of it.

DEAR MOTHER: You failed to mention an important factor. How well off is your mother in law? If she must work in order to support herself, obviously she can't afford to sit gratis. In any case, you'd have to pay another sitter, so why gripe?

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a chaser. I know it when I marial him, but nobody's perfect, and besides he has a lot going for him. For instance, he's a good provider and he's not stingy with his money. And he's also a wonderful father to our seven children, he's devout in his religion, and he's missed mass in 13 years, so matter how long over he was.

Big last thing was with a girl who used to call her and try to disguise her voice, but I always knew it was her. She'd say it was a "business call."

Once this girl called and talked to me. She said she was in love with my husband and he was in love with her, and she asked me why I didn't give him up. I told her I'd give him up, but she'd have to take our seven kids, their ages are 2, 2, 3, 7, 8, 10, and 12. She hung up. I think she must have fainted! That's the last time she called here.

Just thought this might be helpful to other wives with my kind of problem.

DEAR MARY: Thanks, but it's risky to make an offer you're never honor.

Financing Education

Don't Let College Scholarship Go To Waste

By S. Robert Freede

NEW YORK (NEA) - College students and their families are learning that seeking a student loan is itself a course in economics. Even the friendly banker across the street prefers to lend money to the needy - at 10 per cent rather than grant a student loan at the required 7 per cent. And now middle-income students are finding it more difficult to get federal aid. The Guaranteed Student Loan program, the plan in which the middle-income group could participate, is now giving most of its consent money to the needy - even though the middle-income families can no longer meet rising college costs. As a result colleges all over the country are facing a large drop in the number of recruits. But don't let a shortage of funds stand between you and a college education. Financial aid opportunities still exist for any student who really wants a degree. If the desire is strong enough there is an excellent chance of finding sources of help in meeting the rising cost of tuition, room and board, fees and the like which, in the more expensive universities, can easily cost upwards of $100 per week. Millions of dollars in financial aid actually go unused each year because students and their families are not aware that they may be eligible for funds. Don't let apathy keep you from receiving awards for which you qualify. Good sources of financial aid are your high school guidance counselor or your college financial aid officer. Seek his advice but don't expect him to do the whole job for you. He must help many students. He will put you on the right track but you must expect to do the legwork yourself.

Basic research for your "fund raising" campaign can be done in a public or school library. There you will find publications telling you how to find and apply for scholarships. (Remember, though, that no book can be expected to list all sources of financial aid available or be entirely current because sources of scholarships and financial aid change constantly.) Many scholarships and other financial aid grants are awarded on a competitive basis, involving your class standing, test scores, references and recommendations from teachers, counselors and members of your community. Yet there are hundreds of awards available to the average student, one not at the top of his class.

Astronauts Well Skylab Starts Longest Voyage

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - Three rookie American astronauts sped into orbit today on the start of man's longest planned space journey, an 84-day "holiday cruise" aboard the Skylab space station. "This is really great," flight commander Gerald P. Carr told Mission Control as the astronauts and their Apollo ferry ship rocketed into a successful orbit more than 100 miles above the earth. "It's smooth as glass." During the marathon flight, which will span Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, the spacemen are to conduct extensive studies of the sun, earth and man. They'll also take an unprecedented look at the great comet Kohoutek, a visitor from outer space now streaking toward the sun.

Marine Lt. Col. Carr, 41; Air Force Lt. Col. William R. Pogue, 43, and solar physicist Dr. Edward G. Gibson, 37, began the final Skylab trip on the power of a Saturn 1B rocket that thundered into a clear blue sky right on schedule at 9:01 a.m. EST. Ten minutes later they were in orbit and immediately began the 17,400-mile-an-hour chase to track down the 85-ton Skylab, which is the size of a five-room house. The station passed over the Cape Canaveral area several minutes before launch. By the time the astronauts reached orbit, it was over Yugoslavia. With mission commander Carr at the controls, the Apollo was to be guided through a series of five rocket firings to gradually close the gap.

Docking was scheduled for 5:25 p.m. The flight, which Carr has dubbed a "holiday cruise," will be the most rigorous test yet of man's ability to withstand the physical and psychological stresses of long space travel. The medical results will have a bearing on whether astronauts one day will embark for other planets. By studying the sun and earth, the astronauts hope to learn if space can be exploited for the benefit of mankind. No one can predict the benefits. But the thousands of photos and miles of tape gathered by the first two Skylab crews and the data to be collected on this last mission could provide a valuable payoff in the years ahead.

3rd Arson Suspect Nabbed In Orlando

By MARK WEINTZ Herald Staff Writer

An Orlando rafter was charged with arson Thursday afternoon making a total of three persons charged and arrested in connection with the Sept. 19 blaze at Air Flow

Designs which destroyed 26 trucks. Kilce Mullins, 34, of 7512 W. Church St., is in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $8,000 bond. "We believe that we have now arrested all the people involved in setting the Sept. 19 fire," Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Kunkler said today. Early Wednesday morning Kunkler arrested an Orlando plumber, Benjamin Hanes, and 17-year-old Arthur Brandon on arson charges. Hanes hired a private lawyer and posted $3,000 bond the same day. Brandon also remains in jail. No arraignment dates have been set. "At this time we have no information which links the blaze to the attempted bombing of O.R. Cousineau's Casselberry home on Nov. 6, Kunkler said today. Six sticks of dynamite were found in Cousineau's front yard by his 15-year-old daughter, causing speculation that the bombing may be linked to the fire at Air Flow Designs, which is owned by Cousineau. After the attempted bombing Cousineau offered a $12,500 reward for information leading to the arrest or conviction of persons responsible for the arson or the bombing. Police have declined to specify if the arrests resulted from such a tip saying "that is Cousineau's business." Cousineau, however, has refused to talk to newsmen since a press conference following the bombing attempt.

AROUND THE CLOCK By John A. Spolski

If the following doesn't ease your mind, I suggest you re-read it. When government gets out of hand and can no longer be controlled by the people, there are two sources of power which are used by dictatorial government to keep the people in line: the Police Power and the Power of the Purse (through which the necessities of life can be withheld). These powers have been taken over by the Executive branch of the Federal Government.

Herring Says Vihlen Knew Of Unsafe County Buildings

By CHRIS NELSON Herald Staff Writer

State Atty. Abbott Herring said today that Seminole County Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. and Assistant County Atty. Howard Marsee have had details of his probe into electrical hazards to life and property since Sept. 25 - prior to the grand jury investigation.

Herring said today he will not make public the details of the county commission because "they are the ones who have chosen to take this to the press." The state attorney did not say whether Vihlen's September response prompted his decision to push the case, which resulted in the indictment of one county electrical reviewer board member, and a revamped electrical ordinance. Vihlen, informed of Herring's statements, today conceded he asked for it. "I verbal report" from the state attorney, but said he does "not remember (if) the report gave specific locations of any of the explosive locations and faulty wiring allegedly existing." "But even if (the specific addresses and locations) were mentioned, we still need the specifics now so we can initiate aggressive movements to correct them," Vihlen added. Vihlen said neither he nor Marsee took notes during the Sept. 25 briefing because he felt it "was private and confidential information, and to have done so would have been out of order."

Today however, an obviously irate Herring said that the county commissioners could have had the information at anytime, in addition to the information he gave Vihlen and Marsee earlier "if they had asked for it." He pointed out that all of the information garnered during his probe of the electrical practices in Seminole came from county employees. Herring specifically pointed to a sworn statement by county inspector Douglas Kerr in which the inspector said, "I would hesitate to sleep in any two-story building in Seminole County because of the electrical wiring." Herring continued blasting the commissioners for their tactics in trying to get information about the probe via the news media. "They went to the newspapers first, and I'm going to answer them in the newspapers," he said. "We'll pass the bulk of the information we have to the commission, and they can take whatever action they may care to take," Herring said, adding he decided to speak out today "because I don't like to see them or anyone else say anything."

ABBOTT HERRING "I put up"

Boost In Social Security Sails Through The House

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House, rushing to its Thanksgiving recess, consumed just one minute registering enough votes to pass a Social Security bill to help aged beneficiaries deal with the rising cost of living.

After the full 15 minutes allowed for the electronic tally Thursday, the total was 391 to 29 as the House approved the bill giving $2.4 billion more to the 30 million Social Security recipients next year in a two-step, 11 per cent benefit increase.

What little controversy that developed centered on an issue involving federal vs. state funds for a new welfare program for several million old, blind and crippled people.

The House voted, 246 to 153, against a so-called "hold harmless" provision. It would have meant $175 million in federal money to some big states - mainly New York, California, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Michigan and New Jersey - that would provide supplemental benefits under the new welfare system.

Passage of the bill sent it to the Senate, where the Finance Committee already has agreed in principle to similar terms. The chief difference involves an earlier starting time for the first step in the Senate version. The House-passed version calls for benefit boosts of 7 per cent beginning with next April's checks, followed by another 4 per cent increase starting in July's checks. Thereafter, cost-of-living raises in benefits would come automatically each

June instead of in January, as they do under the current law. The benefit boosts would be financed by expanding the taxable wage base from $10,000 to $13,200 - meaning that a worker and his employer who each paid a maximum $631 in Social Security taxes this year would be paying $772 next year, a 22 per cent increase.

The benefit increase would mean the average old-age, single recipient who currently gets $167 a month would receive $178 in April and $186 in July, while an aged couple's amount would rise from the present $277 to $296 in April and $310 in July. The legislation would replace a 5.9-per cent benefit hike, approved last July and due to take effect from June through December next year.

The measure also would speed and boost monthly welfare payments to the elderly poor, the blind and the disabled next year.

Tax Bill Mailing Delayed 15 Days The 1973 taxable personal property bills for Seminole County, usually mailed on Nov. 1, were mailed 15 days late this year, on Thursday. The 1 per cent discount due on bills paid within 30 days of the postmarked mailing date will therefore be honored through Dec. 15. Thereafter the 3 per cent discount will apply until the end of December; 2 per cent discount until the end of January; 1 per cent discount until the end of February; and March is net.
