Capital Hums Over Hoover's Action In Case Of Lobbyists

President's Denunciation Of Propaganda Against Discrediting Is His Most Vigorous

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—(INS)— President Hoover's threat to seek legal action against shipbuilding corporations which propagandize against naval reduction created a sensation in Washington today, both in and out of Congress.

While Mr. Hoover named no names, he referred to the $250,000 suit which Wm. D. Shear, a naval expert, has brought against three large concerns on the ground that he represented them at the "short Geneva naval conference and elsewhere in opposing naval disarmament." The concerns sued to disbar were the Bethlehem Ship Building Corporation, the Newport News Shipbuilding Corporation and the American Brown Bovis Corporation.

There was a Wilsonian flare to Mr. Hoover's denunciation of such business.

"This propagandist," said the President, "has, during the past few years, organized zealous support for increased armament and has been a severe critic of all efforts of our government to secure international agreement for the reduction of naval arms, which include activities of the Geneva conference, and opposition to the movement I have initiated in the three months."

Every American has the right to express his opinion and to do so in open propaganda if he wishes, but is obviously a public interest for those who have a special interest in, or may be engaged in contracts for the construction of naval vessels, merely to attempt to influence public opinion or public officials by propaganda in favor of larger armament, and attempt to defeat the efforts of the Geneva conference, and opposition to the movement I have initiated in the three months."

The President said he was leaving the attorney general and Justice in the situation to see if there is no cause by which such an issue may be brought up or made the basis of prosecution. An intimation that the government may become a party to the disbar suit was made at the Department of Justice to day.

The legal experts, it was said, have unearthed an old law which gives the government the right to become an interested party to any litigation involving the policy of the government in foreign relations. The legal experts were studying it today to determine if it could be made to fit in the theater case.

Mr. Hoover's denunciation of the ship building lobby was by long odds the most vigorous public pronouncement he has made in his six months as President.

It aroused, too, considerable speculation today as to whether Mr. Hoover will follow up his attack on the shipbuilding lobby with similar denunciation of other lobbies that are notoriously and flagrantly operating in Washington.

The Capitol has been a veritable beehive of lobbies ever since the special session of Congress began last April. Most of them have been drawn here by the new tariff bill — there are sugar lobbyists, steel lobbyists, cement lobbyists, coal and shoe lobbyists—an short, lobbyists for everything. And all of them have a pecuniary interest in the proceedings.

Say To Talk With Students Next Week

In preparation for the opening of Seminole High School, G. E. Tally, principal, announced yesterday that he would be in his office all of next week for the purpose of conferring with pupils concerning registration, courses of study, and other school matters. All boys and girls who will be entering the local school for the first time, are especially urged to meet with the principal.

The high school will open Sept. 26 with the regular corps of teachers. The various courses which have been offered heretofore, make up the schedule for this term, Mr. McKay said.

HOPE IS LOST FOR PERSONS ON LOST PLANE

Search Continues Despite Belief Chance
For Life Has Passed
For Eight Victims

WINSLOW, Ariz., Sept. 7—(INS)—Search for the vanished crew of the light flying passenger plane, which disappeared yesterday, the fifth night of the search, drove into a storm to an unknown fate Tuesday noon.

Five passengers, one a woman and three men, all but the most hopeful believed carrying food for less than a day, the missing had faced starvation, it was said from there.

Paul Collins, operating manager of the T. A. T. directed the plane here while awaiting the arrival of Charles A. Lindbergh, technical adviser of the owners of the Arizona Land and Timber Company, who arrived in the late afternoon. The Governor of Texas, the distinguished crowd, Shad Williams, the executive.

A group of the Northampton Club, which included Mrs. Mayes, 72, widow of Major General George Clegg, and the Governor of Texas, were in the distinguished crowd. Shad Williams, the executive.

The T. A. T. aircraft here in mushroom field base had been completed with a wing of 22 inches and was loaded all night on 22 small planes. Five pilots including army reconnaissance and two San Diego and March Field, Calif., mapped the savage wilderness for new explorations.

Two army bombing planes, carrying trained commanding crews, were sent to the scene of the accident from San Diego, Calif.

The load of missing persons turned out an enormous expense by the T. A. T. and all of us here, had begun flying again on today.

Disappointed by failure of every lead thus far, but hunting the heartland, the field base finally went back to their task.

Airmen today will start a methodical hunt. The tasks of research with maps in their planes, cross-crossing back and forth over a square of 100 miles, got them going out to the east, north, west and south.

They will continue to fly until they find the wreckage.

Scarcely has hope been born when a squadron of planes roared away to Waldo, Fla., Valdosta, Ga., and Dothan, Ala., where the last persons were seen flying over the mountains.

The kind of the Houston was sold, May 4, 1928, and it was an electrical motor which was fitted as a flashlight and a radio.

It was reported that the engine was damaged in a collision with a tree.

Scarcely has hope been born when a squadron of planes roared away to Waldo, Fla., Valdosta, Ga., and Dothan, Ala., where the last persons were seen flying over the mountains.

An improvement in agricultural, commercial and industrial conditions over the same period last year is forecast for the last quarter of 1929, and it was shown that only five out of the 28 industries reported an expected let-down in business.

Increased tendencies of shipments over the last quarter of the year will continue, but with the congressional session being held by Charles T. Henderson, who has recently returned from China (Manchuria), where he has been conducting the country in an evangelistic meeting, Mr. Henderson will sing of the moving hour and Mrs. R. G. Glenn will render a solo in the evening.

Special music by the church choir will feature both services, with the congregational singing being led by Charles T. Henderson, who has recently returned from China (Manchuria), where he has been conducting the country in an evangelistic meeting.

Mr. Henderson will sing of the moving hour and Mrs. R. G. Glenn will render a solo in the evening.

Mr. Phillips has arranged for the choir program.

HOBBY TO PLAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7—(INS)—Hobby Jones, depose champion, will play at an exhibition match here Tuesday, it was learned today. Others to play in the tourname are Dr. O. P. Willing, George Von Elm and Cyril Tolley.

HANDY GETS $2,100

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—(INS)—A payroll rubber today took $2,100 a pistol point from a messenger of Natalie, Inc., a children's clothing establishment. The messenger had just drawn the money from a bank and was confronted by the bandit in the hallway of the building.

NAMED U. S. ATTACHE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—(INS)—Hal Robert H. Fletcher, 2nd U. S. Infantry, now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., was today designated military attaché to Madrid and Lisbon.

Two Ex-champions Remain in In Semi-finals Of Golf Tournament In California

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
Sports Editor

PEBBLE BEACH, CAL., Sept. 6.—Two men who were champions and two who are willing to be left alone are the remnant of a once great field of 140, when the semi-final round of the national amateur golf championship was called to a point of order this morning.

The two ex-champions, human vintages of other and better days, Francis Ouimet and H. Chandler Egan, were on opposite sides in the semi-final bracket when the action got under way, so the alert for that eventless thing called drama, was hoping that fate would decree that they live to meet in the final round to morrow.

This was resolved to be the on-circumstance that would save the final round for the emotionalists, still very much dashed over the fact that a man by the name of Jones had left the tournament just and I don't mean convey.

So much for emotionists. Now for the Egan and Ouimet, who meet Dr. O. F. Willing, that tragic figure from the Northwest in one of those 35 hole matches. In the other, Ouimets face him with fatigue, with play Harviss Jimmy Johnston, young, bold and striking with health. If the quartet were "handcapped" to a shot-making Ouimet probably would be placed No. 1 on Q-volley list and Egan No. 2 and as far probably they are destined to be the semi-finalists.

Willing beat Egan the last time they met and if form is served the match must go to the man with while fighting strength to carry his pace over a distance Johnston, by exactly the same token, must go to the mark a oddson choice over Ouimet. It fact this viking blood from the Midwest two-timers shaped up today as the most plausible champion to be among the four survivors.

Yet, according to the best minds hereabouts, this is to be what is known as "Johnston's tournament." But by a great margin, for Johnston is over 30 and this year is to be a James Tournament. And when it was over it became a Tally tournament and finally a Vughe tournament. Still, even the best mind can't be mistaken definitely, Johnston, by most of the rules of the game, would seem to be a "natural." Jimmy has a fighting heart. So has Ouimet. Jimmy has the enduring that is the soul endowment of youth. Ouimet is off beyond 6 years. He can play good golf that Johnston has not often enough. Out of the 36 holes in the day long at the 36 hole game and for Ouimet, the necessity may be a bit painful.

Ouimet surely is in his mid-thirties, yet he really is the "father of American golf" on the head of his immortal victory over Vardon and Rayns Brook three all the way back in 1913 when Harry Jimmy Johnston was staying after school to eat at his home with Ouimet won the amateur the next year and was six times a major title and not since 1920 has he had a taste for the game of the semi-final round. In fact, next to him that he is Francis Ouimet who is making a last desperate gesture to reclaim the honors that once were his and destiny has drawn him out of the bat with a very unfavorable exponent.

Herman is probably the only member of the Robins glad to be in Pittsburgh. Herman's pleasure is easily explained. It was in the West that he compiled the greater part of his 226 hitting average.

Yesterday was a moist one in the stock market with the majority of the stocks, resembling nothing in particular as trading places for money due. Only Pittsburgh in Cincinnati found dry field. The Pirates took advantage of this to further shatter the Jimmie Lewis one held over them by holding him from the mound and leaving him to 5. Braine, in addition to turning in a winning game, got the Blue Jays hot with three one, one a home.

In the American things were little better. Of the two games played only Cleveland and Detroit found things dry enough for baseball and all were forced to call home to the middle of the sixth inning. Ken Holloway, former Tiger, turned on his old teammates, held them to two hits, and the Indians won as they pleased, 1 to 0.

Babson Predicts Big Crash In Stock Mart

WELLESLEY, MASS., Sept. 6—(INS)—"Sooner or later the stock market boom will collapse as the Florida land boom did," said Roger W. Babson in an address in the 16th annual national business conference here.

"I still repeat what I said a year ago and two years ago, that sooner or later a crash is coming that will take the leading stocks into a decline of from 10 to 30 points."

"The economic cycle is in progress today as in the past. The federal reserve system has just the banks in a strong position;

but it has not changed human nature. More people are borrowing and speculating today than ever in our history. A crash is coming and it may be a terrific one."

GUSTAVO VOLLMER, JR., who recently won the National Singles Championship, is determined to jump in and sustain his standing during the final, hard-fought match which he took from Ricardo Morales, 2-6, 6-2, 6-0, 6-4. Vollmer represents the Ferrovial Club of Havana, and played this year in the Final American Zone Davis Cup Matches at Detroit. He defeated Ricardo Tapia, the Mexican champion, in the first round of the Davis Cup round at Havana last spring. Sugar, according to the new champion, has always provided him with a quick source of the energy required for the crucial sets.
