

TWO BROTHERS IN COURT CASE

Jury Arrives At Decision After 27 Hours Of Deliberation On Testimony In Trial

CHICAGO, Apr. 4.—(AP)—The jury in the trial of two brothers, young St. Louis hoodlums, the lightest penalty under Illinois law for murder.

In this manner, half of the question: "Who killed Jake and why?" was answered.

A motion for a new trial was made at once by attorneys for the defense, who called the verdict a compromise. They will argue the point Apr. 17 against a conviction "satisfied that the verdict was just."

The case came with dramatic testimony since 2:24 P. M. Monday, the jury had been called to call in the jurors and the verdict was read.

At 5:20 P. M. the court announced the verdict. The jury returned a verdict of guilty on the charge of murder.

The jury found the defendant, Joseph Sabath, beginning with the verdict, had been called to call in the jurors and the verdict was read.

ROCKNE'S PUPILS WILL CARRY HIM ON LAST JOURNEY

Impressive Ceremony Will Mark Funeral Of Beloved Mentor

By PAUL MICKELSON. SOUTH BEND, Ind., Apr. 4.—(AP)—The same strong arms which carried Notre Dame to unequalled glory on the gridiron during the past two years will bear Knute Rockne on his last journey today.

In keeping with the wishes of the immortal football coach, six of the players who helped to give the Rumbler two national championships, were chosen yesterday as active pallbearers for the impressive but simple funeral services.

They were Tom Gealey, captain of the 1930 team; Tommy Farr, captain-elect, of the 1931 team; which fees the heaviest task of carrying on without the great master; Frankie Carideo, the "Little Napoleon" of the Rockne Bakers for the past three seasons; Marchmont Schwartz, who so often saved the day for Notre Dame on the field of battle; Matty Brill, a youth who came to Notre Dame as a "football failure" but who was forged by Rockne into one of the greatest of them all; and Larry Mullins, line crashing fullback.

Among the honorary pallbearers will be Charles W. Bachman of the University of Florida; W. A. Alckender of the Georgia School of Technology; Dan McGoin, of Vanderbilt University; Robert Chip of Atlanta; Will Rogers, the humorist; and Mayor James J. Walker of New York City.

Hundreds of mourners from all sections of the nation streamed into the picturesque Rockne home in Sunnyside, yesterday to pay tribute to the great Viking. The mourners came, braving raw, cold, drizzling rain. Eyes were clouded with tears, more so because none could take a last view of the body, sealed in the bronx casket forever because of its condition.

Plans were completed yesterday for the funeral. The cortege—a cavalcade of automobiles carrying Mrs. Rockne and family, Rockne's 72-year-old mother and his three sisters, officials of the university and other relatives and close friends—will leave the Rockne home at 2:30 P. M. for the Church of the Sacred Heart on the campus of Notre Dame.

The eulogy will be by the Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the university. At 3:45 the body will be blessed and then taken to the Highland Cemetery on the outskirts of the city. The entire service is not expected to last more than three hours.

Sacred Heart Church, a Gothic style of architecture, will be decorated inside and out with black and white as will other buildings on the campus. The football stadium also will be in mourning, the entrance from the tan being draped with black and white.

Twelve members of the Notre Dame graduating class of 1916, Rockne's class, will form a guard of honor during the funeral.

Our collection will be confined to what the band records, the records let down and the memory stays.

In St. Louis, the body of the late Knute Rockne will be carried to the Rockne home in Sunnyside.

FARM BOARD'S SALE SCHEME IS GIVEN OKEY

Cooperative Terminal Marketing Agencies For Fruits And Vegetables Approved

JACKSONVILLE, Apr. 4.—(AP)—The federal farm board's proposed cooperative terminal marketing agencies to handle the fruits and vegetables for which there is no national sales agency was approved at a conference here yesterday.

The conference was attended by two members of the farm board and representatives of cooperative associations of seven southern states. A committee of five was appointed to look further into the proposal and to confer with a similar committee which will be selected in St. Louis.

Members of this committee are: H. H. English, Bradenton, representing the Manatee County Growers association; H. L. Robinson, Hastings, of the Hastings Potato Growing association; Ralph B. Chapman, Sanford, of the Standard Growers association; T. W. Bennett, Meggett, S. C., of the Carolina Producers association and J. C. Potter, Cornelia, Ga., representing the Consolidated Apple Growers association.

Expression of the delegates was that the plan for marketing terminals is both feasible and necessary for the preservation of the vegetable production industry.

C. C. Teague, farm board member, said the plan would mean the elimination of commission men and jobbers but that it might eliminate speculators at production points.

He said terminal facilities would allow products to be fed into the markets on the basis of consumption. It was estimated that 45,000 cars of products were represented at the conference.

C. S. Wilson was the other farm board member present. The morning was devoted to organization of the conference and the afternoon to round-table discussion.

Florida had the largest representation. Other states sending delegates were Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

After the regional conference in St. Louis, Apr. 6, a third conference will be held in Washington, Apr. 8.

Exploration Begun Of Glades Area By National Park Body

MIAMI, Apr. 4.—(AP)—Headed by Ernest F. Coe, chairman of the Everglades National Park Association, a party of five, including two Seminole Indian guides, set out from here yesterday to explore inner recesses of the proposed tropic Everglades National Park, on the southern tip of Florida.

Mr. Coe, outlining the objective of the trip, said "We have been around the park's boundaries, by boat and motor and have cruised over it by air but never have we delved into its core. We intend to see just what is in there and thus obtain a true picture of our tropical wonderland."

The party went by motor to Royal Palm State Park, south of Homestead, and then set out on foot into the Everglades. The trip is expected to carry them in a northwesterly direction to the Tamiami trail near Pine Crest.

Besides Mr. Coe, the party included: A. R. Livingston, Homestead engineer; Claude Matlack, photographer; and Ben Tommy and Willie Jumper, Indian guides. Supplies for four days were carried.

"We will learn more about the real secrets of our national park area in this trip than we could in weeks of study from the more accessible parts of the region," Mr. Coe said. "The country through which we will tramp is for the most part uncharted. Here nature's economy of balance is still unbroken, little modified by human agency."

"Our collection will be confined to what the band records, the records let down and the memory stays."

In St. Louis, the body of the late Knute Rockne will be carried to the Rockne home in Sunnyside.

LARGE SUMS ARE FOUND INVOLVED IN RACKETEERING

"Industry" Has Yearly Business Of Twelve To Eighteen Billion

ALBANY, N. Y., Apr. 4.—(AP)—Racketeering, the New York state crime commission finds is an "industry" with an annual turnover of $12,000,000,000 to $18,000,000,000.

The per capita payment to the racketeers is a minimum of $25 a year for each of Uncle Sam's family of 125,000,000 and half again that much if the commission's maximum estimate is correct.

The crime commission, formerly known as the Haumes commission, passes out of existence with the adjournment of the present session of the legislature.

The report declared that a study should be made of what corrective measures could be adopted that would halt racketeering in the state.

One racket in New York state alone—that of fake securities—is known to take approximately $400,000,000 a year, the report said. "Large surety companies say that crimes against property alone total nearly seven billion dollars a year."

The commission quotes Federal Attorney Howard W. Ameli of New York, as saying that almost every business in New York city had paid in tribute to racketeers over a period of several years a total ranging from $200,000,000 to $600,000,000 annually.

"These figures are astounding and it is the public who pays them," the commission told the legislature. "It would seem that corrective measures can be formulated to stop, in part at least, the 'racketeering' within the confines of the state, but the subject should be investigated, which can be done, so that necessary correction can be made."

HISTORIC FORT AT PENSACOLA ON LAST LEGS

Heavy Seas Recently Have Doomed Walls Of Old Stronghold Of Civil War Fame

PENSACOLA, Apr. 4.—(AP)—Army engineers have given old Fort McRae until the next high sea to stand as a sentinel over the Gulf of Mexico here. Then, they say, the last casement of the ancient fortification will fall, marking the end of one of Florida's most historic forts.

Heavy seas on the gulf coast threatened for two days this week to undermine the last remaining casement of the ancient fort, toppling it into the gulf where the other walls fell years ago. But the one casement is still spoken of as "Old Fort McRae." It stands between the gulf and the more modern fort.

Fort McRae was built under the direction of Capt. William H. Chase, United States army engineer, in 1831. Another fortification Fort Pickens, was built on Santa Rosa island just across the bay. The two were built to guard the bay entrance when it was realized Fort Barrancas was not sufficient.

From 1832 until the war between the states the two forts stood without firing a hostile shot. At the beginning of war, fate played a queer trick on Capt. Chase. He was made a general in the Confederate army with orders to capture Fort Pickens from the federal troops who had evacuated Barrancas and McRae.

General Chase sent a garrison to Fort McRae and the fort was fired on for the first time on Nov. 8, 1862. It was caught between the cross fire of Fort Pickens and two federal men of war moving off shore.

At the end of the first day of fighting more than 200 shots had been fired at Fort McRae from the powerful guns of Pickens and the fortifications had been made almost useless for further fighting. The battle showed Fort Pickens could only be captured at a tremendous cost.

General Chase decided not to attempt to capture Fort Pickens and evacuated McRae, leaving the federal garrison occupying Pickens, which held until the close of the war. The fort was the only one in the South which did not fall to the Confederacy.

All but one of the walls of Fort McRae which stood through the federal bombardment went down in the hurricane of 1906 when several persons lost their lives there. The last casement towers 50 feet near the bay entrance jetty—a ghostly reminder of a mighty fortress of bygone years.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 4.—(AP)—Generally fair but cool Easter weather east of the Rockies, with the exception of the South Atlantic states was forecast today by the weather bureau. Rain was predicted in parts of Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and all of Florida.

The bureau explained, however, that fair weather did not necessarily mean sunshine. West of the Mississippi to the Rockies, slightly colder weather was reported but there were indications of a temperature rise during the day. It has been raining in the South Atlantic and Eastern Gulf states and Northern New England. The only snow reported was in Northfield, Vermont and Greenville, Me.

Red Cross Official Flies From Miami To Quake Torn Area

SOLUTION IS SEEN BY CARLTON FOR TAX DIFFICULTY

Will Avoid Necessity Of Any Increase

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 4.—(AP)—Governor Doyle E. Carlton of Florida yesterday interrupted work on his biennial message to the state legislature long enough to predict that the legislature will solve the whole question of finance and taxation if it succeeds in finding a way to equalize, but not increase taxation.

The governor said he will deliver his message in person next Wednesday, the day after the regular assembly is opened here. Finance and taxation, considered jointly, is the one big question to be answered by the legislature during its 60-day meeting here, in the opinion of the governor. The chief executive said he believed the answer to be proper distribution and not increases in taxation.

"The whole thing may be summed up in one word—equalization," Governor Carlton said. The entire state tax levy of 13 mills should be wiped out so that relief can be given from local burdens of taxation, the governor declared. However, he does not think that the state's common schools should suffer. Rather he would give the school system relief and assure all communities a minimum of eight months of school each term.

Unnecessary offices should be abolished so that every department of the state and local governments could be placed on a minimum basis of governmental economy, the governor suggested.

One of the best ways to solve the debt problem, in his opinion, is to relieve real property of an excessive tax burden. This will make it possible for local tax units to carry local burdens, he predicted.

But even with the strictest governmental economy, Florida still will need to seek new sources of revenue, Governor Carlton said.

He also forecast legislative action toward strengthening the present state banking laws and said he believes such changes are needed.

The chief executive admitted that his remarks were in the nature of an index to his message to the legislature next Wednesday.

Takes Over Duties Of Rehabilitation And Feeding Of Victims In Managua Tragedy

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Apr. 4.—(AP)—The task of directing the feeding and rehabilitation of Managua's 40,000 residents, made homeless by Tuesday's disastrous earthquake, was taken over yesterday by Ernest J. Swift, Red Cross official, after his arrival by airplane from Miami.

The Red Cross official's first step after reaching Campo de Marte and American headquarters where Matthew E. Hanna, United States minister, loaning his legation in the shelter of tents, was to confer with Mr. Hanna and then make an inspection trip through the devastated city.

Later Mr. Swift conferred with marine and medical corps officers and others to decide what immediate steps should be taken.

Meanwhile, other naval relief groups congregated at Corinto, to which city a number of wives and children of the United States Marines were taken by airplane yesterday. From there they will be returned to their homes in the United States.

Naval ships brought food and medical supplies to Corinto from Balboa, Panama Canal Zone. These will be brought to strike.
