

Rev. Ralph Webster Talks To Men's Club

The Rev. Ralph R. Webster of Seabreeze Trinity Church gave an illustrated lecture on Puerto Rico at the last Men's Club supper of the season at the Episcopal Parish House last night.

President Braxton Perkins, Jr., announced that the election of officers for the coming year will be held at the first meeting next Fall. The Rev. H. L. Zimmerman utilized Whitunday services which will be held on June 5.

Pointing out that American possession of Puerto Rico dated only from 1898 and followed a long period of Spanish devastation following its discovery by Columbus in 1493, Rev. Webster said that the death rate has been reduced by 50 per cent and educational opportunities have vastly improved under American leadership.

Conditions on the island are still deplorable, he said, with 85 percent of the people being under-nourished and poverty-stricken and with virtually no middle class existing at all. Efforts to overcome these conditions have been impeded, he added, by the ignorance and prejudices of the masses themselves.

Rev. Webster was introduced by B. F. Whiting, Jr. Supper was served by members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the church.

During daylight hours the store hardly needs the supplementary fluorescent lighting due to the large windows at the front and front west side, which together with many upper windows and two skylights, provide plenty of natural illumination and give the interior a bright cheery look.

The color scheme of the store is pleasant with white walls, green trim, red and green linoleum asphalt tile, and the large orange signs with the M on the walls. Cabinets also have orange trim. The ceiling is of light colored cellophane.

Five aisles run the length of the store with wide cross aisles at the front and back. Four exit lanes have been provided to take care of movements.

On the extreme right or west side is a long rack for display and sale of fresh vegetables and fruit. Provision for reserve supply and overnight storage of these perishables is a large 10 by 12 foot produce room completely vermin-proof and enclosed by insulated metal within and without. It is refrigerated and an over-head radial cooler keeps the air in circulation.

Adjoining the produce section is a large open refrigerator unit for various types of frozen foods. Next to this is a triple decker dairy case where a wide line of cheeses and dairy products is available.

The opposite or east wall of the store is devoted to shelves containing canned goods. These shelves are numbered for convenience from 1 to 26. The store has been completely equipped with new products under the supervision of H. O. Whittle, district supervisor and James Fennell, meat supervisor.

Cooling of the store is accomplished by over-head fans and by two large exhaust fans located in the storage room in the extreme rear. Back of the store proper is a room addition containing seven large compressor engines.

Commenting upon the remarkable growth of the business, Mr. Saunders today expressed thanks to the many customers who have made this expansion program possible and who have expressed their friendship and liking for him and his fellow workers in messages of congratulation upon the completion of the new store.

M. J. Marshburn, president, H. C. Bekey, executive vice-president and Robert Pentland, Jr., chairman of the Board of Directors of the Margaret Ann organization, a Florida company, operating 23 stores in the Miami area and 22 in Central Florida, have expressed confidence in the prosperity and growth of Sanford as evidenced by the new store, said Mr. Saunders.

The entire career of Mr. Saunders has been in the food business. His early training was as a salesman with Armour and Co. Later he became affiliated with Thomas Lipton, Inc. of which he became general sales manager. He is married and has two daughters, Barbara, in college at Tallahassee, and Joni, who attends Seminole High School.

"Bring the kiddies Monday," he advised mothers, "we will have delightful surprises for them."

J. Stevens and Son were contractors. Plumbing was by Lee Brothers; electrical work by Seminole Electric Co.; painting and carpenter work by local contractors; paint block by Chapman and Son; and inside signs by G. D. Saunders.

Baldwin, with a smile, said McCarthy "has lost his temper and with it, the sound impartial judgment which should be exercised in this matter."

Speaking directly to McCarthy, Baldwin added: "More than 100 unarmed surrendered American soldiers were brutally shot down in cold blood by German S. S. troops.

"To this day, not one (German) has been executed for this crime."

Six Germans are under sentence to die, but the executions have been held up pending the Senate inquiry.

Baldwin said the investigation will continue without McCarthy, and that the committee "will endeavor through every reasonable means possible to determine the truth and then judge the case on the facts presented."

McCarthy is not a member of the Armed Services committee. But as one of the Senators who suggested the probe, he was appointed to the investigating group for its hearings on charges that American officials had used brutal methods in getting confessions from the German soldiers.

In his statements today he declared that the hearings had demonstrated the truth of the charges.

"I have listened to testimony and seen documentary evidence to the effect that accused persons were subjected to beating and physical violence in such forms as only could be devised by warped minds," McCarthy declared.

But he added, when he proposed that one of the men accused of brutality be subjected to lie detector tests, Baldwin objected.

That, said McCarthy, "indicates only one thing to me; not only has this subcommittee not only has no desire to obtain the truth but is conducting a deliberate attempt to avoid the facts and effect a white wash of the Army officers involved."

McCarthy said the Army interrogators were charged at the Senate hearings with "brutalities greater than any we have ever experienced either the Russians or Hitler-Germany of employing."

In his statement to the press he declared that "I want no murderer Nazis freed," and added: "I do want the innocent protected from the abuse of Hitlerian tactics, the Fright Interrogation, and the Communistic brand of Justice."

He said they aren't getting such protection from the Senate group, and concluded:

"I accuse the subcommittee of being afraid of the facts. I accuse it of attempting to whitewash a shameful episode in the history of our glorious armed forces. I accuse it of compounding a wrong, perpetrated by a few members, and iniquitous, the fair name of the millions of men and women who served with valor and distinction in the armed services."

"I accuse it of sabotaging our efforts under the European Recovery Act, setting at nught that which we spent and are spending billions to prove."

"If this is allowed to stand, if this whitewash succeeds, the United States can never protest the use of these methods by totalitarian countries. If the United States condones these actions by a few men, all the world can criticize and forever after question our motives."

Ford Strike

President Walter Reuther of the striking UAW-CIO declared the union is "very emphatic and definite" about its intention to pull out the union by next Monday on a new contract.

As Vist joined union and company negotiators for his first active participation in the direct peace talks the union's "speed-up" strike had idled more than 100,000 Ford workers.

Meanwhile South Bend negotiations for ending the month-old shutdown at the Bendix Aviation Corporation plant have been broken off indefinitely, an official of the striking CIO-United Auto Workers said.

Richard Goosier, International vice-president of the union, said no immediate conferences are planned. But he added union representatives would be available for meetings at any time. Federal mediators met with both parties last night.

And ten trucks moved into the Bendix plant to take out brake dies and parts of two automotive manufacturers—Nash and Willys. They were unmolested by pickets, who yesterday squatted in the street to block entrance to the plant. The union agreed to their removal after the companies promised to return the dies after the strike is settled.

Curtain Rises On Tax Search In Legislature

Bill To Pay County School Board Members Is Rejected
By Senate Group

TALLAHASSEE, May 23. (AP)—The curtain will be lifted today on the plan by a tax-hunt committee to solve Florida's financial troubles.

The plan, drawn by a seven-man group set up after Governor Warren's dinner for several legislators last week, was to be made public at 4:00 P.M.

It was being typed during the morning and turned over to the House and Senate finance committees at afternoon meetings.

No details have been disclosed on the nature of the plan, but the best guess is that the program will go something like this:

It will be a combination of several previous tax proposals. It probably will have a privilege tax on business and professional operations along the broad lines of the Mathews Plan.

There is a likelihood there might be a gross receipts tax on wholesalers and a scattering of Governor Warren's tax proposals.

Cities would receive benefits from the program by receiving permission to enter some tax fields now held exclusively by the state.

A member of the tax-hunt committee said the fate of the program will be in the hands of the finance committees and the legislature after it is made public.

Committee actions started off at a fast clip with the Senate education group reflecting a bill to pay county school board members. The bill would have repealed a provision of the 1947 school law that pay for school board members stop after Jan. 1, 1951.

Rep. Frank of Marion called for an investigation of mineral land leases by the state. He said a resolution calling for the probe was aimed at leases on titanium-bearing lands in several sections of the state.

Frank said the state army board was getting only 30 cents a ton for mineral rights on part of the Camp Blanding reservation, but the internal improvement board was getting 25 cents per ton for leases in coastal areas from Ponte Vedra to Vero Beach.

Rep. Pooser of Jackson asked for a probe of the Florida board of forestry and parks.

The Senate declined to act immediately on a resolution recommending a five-day 40-hour work week for state employees.

Senator Collins of Tallahassee urged immediate passage of the resolution. However, it was referred to a committee for study.

7 Sanford B&PW Members Attend Jacksonville Meet

Mrs. Sally Mero Williams, president of the Sanford Business and Professional Women's Club, and six delegates from the Sanford Club attended the 29th Annual Convention of the Florida Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at the George Washington Hotel in Jacksonville over the week-end when Miss Olive Huston of New York, National executive director, was present and the principal speaker at the banquet.

The convention began on Thursday and ran through Saturday night, all business sessions were presided over by Miss Elizabeth Heath of Tallahassee, president. Miss Huston conducted the workshop on Friday when instruction was given covering the function of all standing committees.

Dr. Thomas H. Bailey, State superintendent of Public Instruction talked on legislative program for schools and pointed out the needs of schools and that "we must bring education to the children no matter who they are or where they live."

Miss Frances Thurman of Daytona Beach was elected as state president for the coming year. Miss Horton Wiles was chairwoman of a legislative symposium and such subjects were discussed as jury duty, women in policy making posts, a national and state roster and a legislative platform for the Florida federation.

Ministers Hold First Session In Fourth Conference On Germany

PARIS, May 23. (AP)—The Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers met today to begin an attempt to settle the problem of Germany. Secretary of State Dean Acheson of the United States, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France and Foreign Minister Andre Y. Vishinsky met in the hotly contested pink marble hall at three minutes before 4:00 P.M. (9:57 A.M. EST).

This was the sixth meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers since the war and the fourth on the German question. It was the first session since the council was deadlock in London in December, 1947, on a German peace treaty.

The three Western powers were expected to press Russia for immediate and urgent consideration of Berlin. The lifting of the Soviet blockade of Berlin and the Allied counter-blockade of Soviet-occupied Eastern Germany opened the way for these new talks.

Acheson arrived first for the meeting in a limousine which was preceded by a police escort. He drove up through a big crowd of Soviet sightseers, Bevin and Vishinsky, who carried a red brief case, followed soon after and all looked at Acheson, smiled and were greeted by Schuman in the heavily guarded palace.

As the meeting perhaps the most momentous since the war got under way, Western Powers or Russia refused to say whether they were optimistic or not. One Western official said the West "will wait and see" what Vishinsky has to say. There has been a realization that Vishinsky soon will make a major Soviet policy statement.

Schuman called the meeting to order at 4:00 P.M. and then invited his aides to clear their photographers and reporters, who had been permitted to witness the opening.

Up to that time the room was filled with Soviet photographers, political delegates, ministers and reporters and each other to get in position for angles.

When Vishinsky entered he was greeted by all and looked at Acheson, smiled and was greeted by Schuman in the heavily guarded palace.
