Tactics Sharply Hit By Stephenson

North Orlando Councilman Bob Stephenson branded Wednesday's 9:30 a. m. special called council session "entirely unfair and unjust" and labeled it as a "typical example of North Orlando Co. tactics."

He said "held entirely at the convenience of the company." At the present time Stephenson and Anderson are the only elected officials on the council. Elections will be held in March for the posts held by Fasula, Ruel Stripling and Clarence Memory who serve on the board through appointment by the company.

LYMAN ALTERNATES on the Brain Bowl Team are Sandy Sherwin, left, a senior and Arlene Mason, a junior. Though Arlene has yet to see action, Sandy took over as team captain last Sunday when Lyman met Seabreeze of Daytona. (Herald Photo)

Reports of business and civic progress in the City of Longwood were made at last Thursday night's meeting of the Longwood Area Chamber of Commerce.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A Job Well Done

The extent of high esteem and deep respect felt for Paul Bates, retiring chairman of the Casselberry Board of Aldermen, was shown by residents attending Monday night's meeting when the entire audience gave him a prolonged standing ovation accompanied by an enthusiastic round of applause.
No individual ever deserved it more. . . . This civic minded man, whose life already was filled with services to his town, spent innumerable extra hours during the past year in order to work out the ever increasing problems coming before the board to the satisfaction of all parties concerned.
The Herald would like to go on record in agreement with Casselberry residents that he has done a magnificent job for, in our estimation he has led the town, with dignity, through one of its most trying periods of growth and development.
Although some of the projects he would like to have seen completed still await final action, he and his fellow board members can most assuredly take credit for laying the groundwork in much of the progress yet to come to the Town of Casselberry.

During the year, in addition to sponsoring card parties, and square dances, the group assisted the firemen with several barbecues and at the annual picnic and gave a Halloween party and a Christmas party.
Proceeds from Auxiliary sponsored events were used toward the new meeting room at the Hall. The Auxiliary also purchased a heater, chairs, electric fan and had the club room fixed.

It's a sure bet the city won't ask for urban renewal legislation when they get together with the local delegation Feb. 1... The word is that "urban renewal" is too much a hot potato.

It's also a sure bet the county will besicze, plead, cajole, urge, ask, emphasize, stress, argue for a pay raise... At least this time the majority have been in office more than 15 days.

That scheduled school board meeting yesterday was called off because plans for English Estates school weren't quite ready.

Even though Hunt Co. plant dedication is set for tomorrow it will be awhile before the plant is put into operations. Still some problems with the state on industrial waste.

Greghoad honored local manager Homer Little for "exceptional service."

Big dolans here tomorrow but remember it's also Robert E. Lee's birthday. Well, I was born in south Brooklyn!

New Delary C of C President, J. C. Bradley tells us that John Kriker has accepted an invitation from him to speak to the Delary group on Feb. 20th.

Speaking of Delary, Hospital Administrator Bob Berrner spoke to the Delary Chamber Wednesday night telling them about the new retirement center which will be built there.

Water improvement contracts between the city and Clark, Daley and Dietz will be signed at the Jan. 28 meeting.

The new Board of Aldermen took over in Casselberry Monday night with a tidy cash balance on hand of $23,381.82. An approximate $6,000 of this amount, however, has already been awarded in bids by the retiring board.

In addition the new board inherited final action on the city's new zoning plan and map, on the requested water rate raise by Casselberry Utilities and on the annexation of Seminole Shopping Plaza.

Hunt 'Fearful' For U.S. Future

Praise for Florida but fear for the future of the United States was expressed today by H. L. Hunt, here from Dallas for the dedication of his HLI Products plant at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Expressing his faith in Florida, Hunt said today that "as we are successful in our operations here we will be expanding."

"Your state has had its ups-and-downs, such as the end of the boom in 1923 and the recent freeze, but it has a tremendous potential and is a good place for labor to live."

Hunt and Doyle Conner, commissioner of agriculture, will speak at the dedication.

Even though Hunt Co. plant dedication is set for tomorrow it will be awhile before the plant is put into operations. Still some problems with the state on industrial waste.

Special Session Petition Filed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Five House members filed petitions with the Secretary of State today to initiate a move for the Legislature to call itself into special session to reapportion.

The petitions, requesting a third special session on redistricting, were filed by Reps. George Stallings of Duval, Bobby Ross of Wayne, James H. Wise of Oklawaha, Jack Saunders of Monroe and Allison R. Strickland of Citrus.

If a total of 27 petitions, representing one-fifth of the membership of the Legislature, are filed, the Secretary of State must poll the entire legislature. Affirmative vote of three-fifths or 80 members is necessary to convene the meeting.

The self-starter move was launched by Stallings even though House Speaker Malory Horne dropped a similar proposal on Tuesday because he said it was "hopeless."

Horne said it was impossible to get members of the Senate to go along. Horne said the move has to be approved by three-fifths of each House.

"If we're to get back into special session, it's going to have to be by call of the governor," Horne said.

The governor said he won't call the session until he has agreement in advance for adoption of a reasonable plan which so far he has been unable to get.

"Very few people know," the Texas oilman said, "that in September of 1961 our Congress passed a bill, and the President signed it, giving authority to the President to disarm our country. It could mean, if he wished, destroying our military services, doing away with the U. S. Military academy at West Point, the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis and the U. S. Air Force academy at Colorado Springs."

Hunt charged the President's representative for disarmament "has been proved to be a member of a Communist front in the U. S. but he recently resigned."

He said further that if the U. S. is disarmed our arms would be turned over to the UN, whose military forces always have been headed by a Communist.

He concluded that the newspapers, magazines and other news media "is perhaps 95 to five per cent in the hands of people who want to see us subjugated." He suggested a slogan: "Ask your friends to buy their products advertised only in patriotic media."

Under the plan, parents of children who will enter the first grade next September will apply at the school of their choice during the period from February through April. The children will be allowed to attend the school nearest their home regardless of the predominance of the race in their neighborhood or school.

The option will be extended one grade each year thereafter.

Taken integration was introduced in the county this school year when about 20 Negro students were admitted to Durranne Elementary School, which primarily serves families stationed at McCoy Air Force Base.

GSA OK's Post Office As Future Library Site

The General Service Administration today agreed to turn over the vacant First St. Post Office for use as a public library.

At the same time, GSA officials in Atlanta informed City Manager W. E. Knowles that 65 feet of adjacent property by the facility would be put up for sale.

The deed for the facility is expected to be turned over to the city within the next 10 days.

Knowles said this morning that he will start immediately on planning a layout for the post office for use as a library and start cost estimates on renovating the facility.

On Nov. 26, the City Commission voted to ask the GSA to take over the post office for use as a library despite protests from merchants that it would benefit the city more if it is put up for public sale.

Even though the commission approved the post office for a future library site, they favored the facility being put up for public bid. At that time Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said "if we don't take the building, the school board or any federal agency could get control of the facility."

No Politics Involved In Called Jury-Conner

Doyle Conner, commissioner of agriculture, today denied any political implications in last Monday's grand jury action against four citrus men.

In a telephone interview with The Herald from Tallahassee, Conner said that "to my knowledge the case proceeded along normal lines."

He was asked of reports that charges against the four men had been dismissed last summer in a justice of the peace court.

"When we here in Tallahassee first learned of the facts," he explained, "we investigated and turned our information over to the state's attorney, Arthur Steed. He took the case into the JP court but later decided he wanted it in a court of higher jurisdiction and so moved to that court. The motion was granted and the men were released from their bonds. We nearly slipped when we learned that."

"But now the four men have been formally charged in indictments and these will proceed from this point."

Conner denied any knowledge of reports that the case had been transferred from the JP court to Circuit Court because "one of the defendants turned state's evidence."

Steed's office at Orlando said he is in court today and cannot be reached until this afternoon.

The grand jury last Monday returned true bills charging conspiracy, bribery and grand larceny against Ralph Alderman, C. R. Lowdermilk, Billy Hammond and Alva T. Hall.

The four defendants appeared at the county jail Tuesday, surrendered themselves, posted bonds and were released pending a hearing on April 16.

Seminole Blvd. Pave Job Reborn Again

The paving of Seminole Blvd., thought two days ago to be a dead project, was suddenly reborn late Thursday afternoon when Seminole Raceway withdrew the Feb. 1 completion deadline and put up $18,000 toward the $26,400 denuded by the county to participate in widening and resturfacing the road.

The town of Casselberry early this morning deposited with County Clerk Art Beck with its $6,000 share and the $100 contingency fund along with the Raceway's check.

Construction is expected to begin immediately and the county, which will furnish labor and materials, has assured that the road will remain open to two-way traffic at all times.

The three way agreement between the Raceway, the town and the county will cover the two mile stretch from Hwy. 17-92 to Lake Dr. The 500 foot strip from Lake Dr. to the gates is being repaved by the Raceway.

Estimated time limit for doing the work, once construction begins, has been set at four days.

The new station and shops were put in use in October, 1953.

ACL Donates Deed To City

The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Wednesday presented the city with the deed to a water pipe line approximately two miles long and a 15-foot right of way to go with it.

Mayor Tom McDonald accepted the deed from railroad officials, L. A. Anderson, assistant superintendent, and W. T. Hensley, commercial agent.

Appraised value of this line and the right of way has been assessed at near $15,000, Anderson said.

The line was the original water line from the railroad's former pumping station in Lake Jena, which served the old shops and the old passenger station in Sanford, he added.

The new station and shops were put in use in October, 1953.

Times Are Exciting

There seems to be little doubt that we are living in the most exciting times man has ever known! If we survive this century it will almost be certain that historians will say that it was man's finest period of existence. When we read of the accomplishments of past years and make comparisons with our times it is amazing indeed.

When I was a boy one of the favorite expressions to indicate impossibility of achievement was, "I couldn't do that anymore than I could fly to the moon!" Perhaps this will be an unthoughtful saying before much more time has passed. Twenty years ago some of our military aircraft reached a speed of over 300 miles an hour. This seemed utterly fantastic to us but it is easy to understand when we realize that 15 years before that, an automobile driver who exceeded 40 miles an hour was brave, indeed.

tion remarked recently that when he was a boy a church with a membership of 500 was considered large but now they are not unusual.

Cities of a million people were once considered rare and yet they will be common place before much time has passed! Today our "airp cities" are developing which will have many millions of people within a few years. It is said that one such city now exists which is approximately 600 miles long. This is the area from Haverhill, Mass., to Chesapeake Bay. It is estimated that by 2000 A.D. that San Francisco and Los Angeles, as well as Milwaukee and Chicago, will be one city in metropolitan area.

Need For Juvenile Counselor Stressed

The importance of having a full time Juvenile Counselor to work with the Juvenile Court was emphasized in the yearly report issued today from the office of County Judge Vernon Mize.

Judge Mize, who also serves as judge of the Juvenile Court, credited the work of Juvenile Counselor Dan McCord as being very effective in reducing the number of court cases handled during the past year, involving delinquent youth under the age of 17.

"The number of children who are second or subsequent offenders is being reduced due to the more intense and efficient job of counseling that is being done by the counselor and the court," Judge Mize said in his report.

There were only 100 cases whereby children were adjudicated delinquent in 1962 as compared with 182 in 1961, the Judge's report pointed out.

He noted that of the total number of cases in which no official court action was taken was 276 in 1962 as compared with a figure of 319 for the year 1961.

A total of 516 cases were referred to the court this year as compared with 700 for 1961.

"This substantial decrease in the number of cases, directly reflects the work of the Juvenile Counselor," Judge Mize noted.

"A great deal of time is spent by the Juvenile Court Counselor in making investigations and making contact with everyone involved before the court can determine what action will be necessary," Judge Mize said.

A total of 158 children had to be detained in the county jail for varying lengths of time during the past year, the report shows. "Most of these children were in jail for a very short period, many of them for only a few hours," the Judge noted.

By far the greatest number of offenses were in the traffic violations, with 66 children arrested for incidents during 1962, the report indicates.

The second largest offense was breaking and entering, 32 cases; Petty larceny was charged to 23 children; Auto theft to 12, Vandalism to five and Habitual Truancy to six.

Three children were charged with grand larceny and three were judged incorrigible. Two were caught carrying a concealed weapon, two shoplifting, six destroyed private property, and other charges included gasoline theft, disorderly conduct, entering, attempted breaking and entering, setting fires, robbery, bike theft, assault and battery, discharge and display of firearms, setting off false alarms, violating probation and one case of rape.

The breakdown of offenses by age shows that the 13 to 16 age group were the worst offenders, accounting for 90 percent of the crimes.

In the Dependency statistics, the most were found under age ten, however, with 32 white children under ten and 36 Negro children having to be taken charge of by the courts because of the lack of financial support, change of custody, lack of a suitable home, abandonment, conditions injurious to morals, abuse, or other causes.

Just Wrong Places

The Republicans knew something was sadly wrong when, in the 1962 elections, they piled up 48 percent of the total vote for U. S. House members but got just 40 percent of the seats. Now they think they have the answer: bad districting.

If votes and seats were matched at 48 percent, the GOP today would have 209 house seats instead of the 176 they won.

GOP researchers, seeking the reason they did not get those extra 33 places, took a hard look at congressional apportionment, nationwide. In a study now being privately circulated to governors, legislators and party officials they concluded that:

... great deal of Republican strength is concentrated in oversized districts. Such districts are defined as those which have at least 15 percent more population than each district would have if all within a state were equal in population.

The effect of overzeal, of course, is often to give the winning party a bigger cushion of votes than it has any use for. These show up in the total vote — but do add seats. If some of the "extra" population were placed in a nearby district, it might give the party another seat.

Of the 85 oversized districts in the nation, Republicans won 41, Democrats 44. That seems to put the Democrats in an even worse fix, but it is only part of the story. The balancing evidence is that the Democrats captured 64 seats in undersized districts, while the GOP won only 21 in such areas. The undersized naturally, are those which fall 15 percent or more below the optimum size.

The party that wins most in the undersized districts obviously makes its votes count for more in seats. In the 88th Congress, one of every four Democrats but only one of every nine Republicans represents an undersized district.

In contrast, one of every four Republican lawmakers but one of every six Democrats represents an oversized district.

GOP studies show that 58 of 87 seats in the Old South (leaving out nine at-large posts) are either too large or too small to be rated fairly apportioned. Though Republicans increased their southern vote mightily in 1962, they won just 11 of 97 districted seats — for a net gain of four.

Most of the too-fat districts, say the Republicans, are not big city areas but are either in medium-sized cities or in the badly underrepresented suburbs, coast to coast.

The net effect of this study is to urge upon GOP leaders everywhere a new, comprehensive effort to achieve more equitable congressional apportionment, which might in turn yield a better party ratio of seats to votes.

The growth of the suburbs makes the matter reasonably urgent for the Republicans, for they count on building new strength there.

Yet many of the nation's 85 undersized districts are today represented by powerfully entrenched figures who pack weight in their home states. One cannot imagine that they will give ground easily to changes that would make their areas more competitive.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — "Every time I feel depressed," says Dr. John P. Roche, new national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, "I go out and read National Review to find out how important we in ADA really are."

National Review is William F. Buckley Jr.'s weekly guide for right-wingers. It looks upon ADA as a kind of Communist cell that runs the government. ADA thinks it's not that important. ADA has written letters to President Kennedy telling him what he ought to do. But he hasn't taken their free advice and hasn't even answered their letters. Fewer than 50 ADAs have been identified in the Kennedy administration, although they are well dispersed in key jobs.

"We have about 80,000 members—we're very selective," says Roche, with tongue in cheek. "Liberals are rambunctious types. They're not good organization men. That's what makes them so enjoyable."

The question of how much influence ADA really has is made timely once more by the organization's annual message to the president telling him what he should be for.

Roche, who delivered this message to a small press conference, was elected ADA national chairman last year. He is a Brooklyn boy, a Hofstra A. B. and Cornell Ph.D., Fulbright Fellow and tramp professor at half-dozen institutions of higher learning. This year he is visiting professor of political science at University of Chicago.

Roche says he has no idea how many members of ADA are also members of the next Congress, although his letterhead lists five senators and one representative who are members of his national board and executive committee. The senators are Clark of Pennsylvania, Humphrey and McCarthy of Minnesota, Morse and Neuberger of Oregon. The congressman is Jimmy Roosevelt of California.

Roche thinks there were several more ADAs elected to the new Congress and he believes there is a net addition of about five liberals to the House. "Also," says Dr. Roche, "there are a lot of good people in Congress who are not members of ADA. And if the Republicans want to knock off ultraconservative Democrats in the South, that's all right with us."

All things considered, Roche thinks the new Congress will do right by the ADA program — if the President will just cooperate and exercise the right kind of leadership.

That's the No. 1 problem from the ADA point of view. President Kennedy was never an ADAer. He knocked off ADA's favorite, Hubert Humphrey, in the West Virginia primary and boasted after he was elected that he was a conservative.

"Conservatism comes two ways," says Roche. "You can have a conservative program or you can have a conservative personality. Kennedy has a program that is 10 degrees to the left of Harry Goldwater and John Tower. But Kennedy hoards his personality like a French peasant hoards his gold. He doesn't fight for all the things he believes in the way he fought for his new trade program. In that battle he used his prestige and he won a tremendous victory."

The things that ADA thinks the President ought to fight for this year include, as a minimum:

"Specific civil rights legislation, tax reductions and reform, establishment of a department of urban affairs, medical care for the aged under Social Security, federal aid to school construction and teachers' salaries, a sweeping attack on the corrosive blight of unemployment, open and energetic support for changes in the rules of the House and Senate."

"I am not disappointed in President Kennedy's performance on these issues in the last Congress," Roche explains, "because I didn't expect too much. I have known Kennedy politically for a number of years. There was an argument over a choice between Kennedy and Nixon in 1960. "But you take your breaks in politics where you find them, and I don't suffer from the paralysis of perfectionism."

Better Mouse Trap

Phil Newsom Says . . .

Moscow, China Dispute Grows

The growing dispute between Moscow and Peking gives rise to another line of speculation perhaps not as wild as it first might appear.

A couple of years ago when the quarrel first was coming into the open warnings were sounded that this might be a quarrel but rather an elaborate contrived Communist trap designed to lull the Western World in preparation for another major move by world Communism.

That theory now generally has been dropped and the dispute accepted as a major struggle for leadership between Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-Tung who have discovered there can be no such thing as co-equal dictators.

Now to carry it forward another step and to speculate that the quarrel is more than one of ideology and an interpretation of Marxism-Leninism.

This would consider the possibility that there is in Moscow a growing suspicion that their Red Chinese allies have territorial ambitions extending beyond merely Southeast Asia but also against vast reaches of Soviet territory as well.

These would be territories once held by the Chinese but lost over the years beginning with the Opium War of 1840 when the European powers began carving up imperial China.

Such a theory would place in a new light the hundreds of thousands of soldier-farmers Red China has been pouring into her wild western territories and Khrushchev's haste in opening up the Soviet Union's virgin lands in the East.

It would help explain Chinese determination to retain his hold on Ladhak against Indian claims and it would mark as strictly temporary Chinese border agreements with Burma, Nepal, Pakistan and Outer Mongolia.

These thoughts come into being as result of perusing a map published by the India News, an organ of the Indian government information services.

The map is said to have been published in a Chinese textbook in 1954 at about the same

Yesterday I gave you some of the 50 commonest Merits that were cited by the 1,187 women I surveyed while I was teaching at Northwestern University.

So today I shall list some of the 50 Demerits or faults cited by those same girls.

He tries to flirt with other girls while on a date.

Too very suspicious and jealous.

He uses profanity. Or tells vulgar stories.

He drives his car recklessly and exceeds the speed limits to try to show off.

He uses alcohol and smokes to try to make people think he is a big shot.

He tells lies and is unfaithful.

He is a "mamma's" boy.

He is stubborn and bull-headed. Seldom admits he is ever wrong.

Is guilty of halitosis, dandruff, yellow teeth, dirty fingernails, or "B. O.", etc.

Too fresh! He tries to paw a girl. Expects undue sexual liberties as payment for a date. Guilty of "Roman" hands.

He has no time sense. Stays out long beyond the curfew hour for the girl. Has no consideration for the fact she may have to be up and at work next morning at 8 a. m.

He is cynical. Believes everybody is bad until proved otherwise.

He argues with waiters, taxi drivers, and other motorists.

He is a chronic back-passer, always blaming somebody else for his own mistakes.

Has rarely earned any money. He lives on a "dole" from indulgent parents or older brothers and sisters.

He is tactless and blunt.

Has poor table manners. Licks his fingers; gorges his soup; picks his teeth at the table.

Wears flashy or bizarre clothes. Tries to be a show-off. Accepts defeat too easily. Not enough spunk or masculine perseverance.

Too superstitious. Believes in luck so he gambles, thinking he can "win" success instead of "earning" it.

Boasts in juvenile fashion about his many other dates or sex conquests.

Tries to say things that will shock the crowd. A radical or grandstander who craves attention even if he must get it by always taking the opposite side.

Dishonest! Cheats at cards or in sports and at work.

Ashamed of his parents because they may be immigrants or of the working class. Tries to ignore his "blue collar" relatives and affect a "white collar" snobbish class distinction.

Talks tall tales to boost his inferiority complex.

Falls to develop a trade or go to college.

Rude to children, including his own brothers and sisters.

Can't hold a job or handle money wisely.

North Orlando Chief Answers Charges

Ridiculous,
Sutton
Explains

By Mona Grinstead
North Orlando Police Chief Jack Sutton today answered charges brought against him Wednesday in a resolution of complaint presented at a special morning council meeting.

In a statement released to area newspapers, Sutton said "the charges against me are entirely ridiculous unless you consider a beer or two at a community party six months ago 'conduct unbecoming an officer.'"

"In fact, one of the men signing the complaint offered me a job working for him recently. If I were that incompetent, why was the offer made?"

"I have contacted a majority of the Village Council members and asked them if they would resign. I was told by three of them that the charges were 'ridiculous and seemed to be of a personal nature' and that I have their full backing and they have complete confidence in me."

Sutton did not name the three councilmen referred to in his statement.

Signatures on the resolution was signed by Police Officers Bob Stephenson, Dave Tilson and Mike Gosbey, who stipulated that the document also be accepted as their resignations unless action is taken against Sutton.

Guild Buys Toys For Orphans

By Louise Simunek
The Women's Guild of the St. Mary Magdalen Catholic Church of Altamonte Springs undertook a remarkable project during the past year.

After hearing of Lt. Col. Edward B. Blackman's interest in an orphanage in Vietnam, members of the Guild raised money to purchase some badly needed toys for the children there.

The orphanage is sponsored by the Order of the Sacred Heart and nuns are Vietnamese who have been trained by the French.

Children range in age from four to 12 years and American servicemen have taken a great interest in the youngsters and have arranged a number of entertainment projects for them including trips to the movies and the zoo which is said to be quite a remarkable collection of tropical animals.

A Christmas Party, the first of its kind for most of the youngsters, was given by the Servicemen who made all the arrangements even to providing and decorating a large Christmas tree.

The toys provided by the Guild were purchased by Mrs. Joseph Boruch and Mrs. Edward Blackman who made all the arrangements even to providing and decorating a large Christmas tree.

Fasula 'Hits Out' At Faulty Equipment

North Orlando Mayor Frank Fasula today itemized almost a dozen parts in need of replacement or repair on the village fire truck which he stated earlier in the week was "a disreputable piece of equipment in disgraceful condition."

Fasula cited lack of upkeep on the truck as a primary reason for his dismissal of Councilman Bob Stephenson as village fire chief in an attempt to reorganize the entire volunteer fire department. He said the fact that there have been no business or drill meetings for the volunteers also played a major part in his decision.

Complaints against condition of the fire truck included lack of washing or cleaning in months; deterioration of paint and entire rusting of truck body; tires half inflated; lettering entirely off one side and half off on the other; both batteries gone; siren removed and placed on a pole on S. Cortez Ave.; extension ladder laying on the ground; wood, debris and seat piled on hoses in rear of vehicle; hose nozzle rusty and dirty and probably not in workable condition and inability to start the motor in months.

The dismissal action against Stephenson was changed to suspension after he and Councilman W. W. Anderson cited points in the village charter calling for filing of complaints and a public hearing.

Gift Of Sight Stressed

More than 30,000 people are patiently waiting for the gift of sight than can be given when someone donates the use of his eyes after death to restore vision to someone else, members of the Kiwanis Club learned Wednesday.

These facts were presented by members of SHEBA, the local Eye Bank Association, Mrs. Frank Woodruff, founder of the group and Dr. Sidney Katz, local ophthalmologist, assisted by Miss Marcella Hinz, who operated the projector for the showing of the film, Boy with a Blindfold.

"Only the goodness of the human heart can give this living legacy, the gift of sight," Mrs. Woodruff said. She urged those who have signed up to donate their eyes after death to carry the orange card with them at all times. As was pointed out absolutely no charge to the receiver of the corneal grafts. The cost of the operations, the research that goes on constantly and the transportation and care of the living tissue all costs a great deal of money, and the Eye Bank Association throughout the country are consequently in constant need of funds, Mrs. Woodruff said.

One such fund-raising venture is planned for this county on Jan. 22, when the Jal-Alal Frunton has offered to donate all receipts for the center section of reserved seats on that night to the Eye Bank.

Tickets are on sale at Fausts and McReynolds Drug Stores, the Hospitality Shop in the hospital and from any of the Pink Ladies or the Sanford or Caselberry Lions Club members.

Bear Lake Garden Circle Presents Program On Flower Arrangements

By Shirley Wentworth
The Bear Lake Garden Circle met at the home of Mrs. Richard Ostrander on Jameson Drive for the January meeting with Mrs. Kenneth Knecht of Forest City as guest speaker.

Mrs. Richard Scott, president, conducted the business meeting and discussed several annual events to be held by the group.

Mrs. William Massey gave a report from the workshop she attended at the Garden Center in Orlando. It featured the art of making a variety of roses from ribbon. Mrs. Massey demonstrated the technique of making a tiny full blown rose from satin ribbon.

Mrs. Knecht presented a program on the use of gladiol and gerbera daisies and made a buffet arrangement, embellished with greenery. She also used glad florists and made a beautiful corsage that resembled a rose. Mrs. Allan Forward later won this corsage as a door prize.

Due to the lack of fresh flowers, Mrs. Knecht demonstrated several effective uses for permanent flowers. She made a sunny centerpiece of jonquils and daisies in a straw container. She explained the process as she worked and conducted a question and answer period during the demonstration.

Mrs. Vernon Gleason won the monthly gift certificate. Mrs. C. L. Brunk, Lake Asher, will be hostess for the February meeting.

Mrs. Kernan was paying her official visit to the Seminola Lodge. The president's colors of purple and yellow were carried out in all decorations during the evening.

A Manzanita branch, holding purple orchids, Mrs. Kernan's favorite flower, centered the speaker's table. Programs, place cards and favors continued the theme.

Mrs. Nell Futrell was in charge of the program. Mrs. Margaret McGonigal, assembly chaplain of Kissimmee, gave the invocation and Mrs. W. L. Roche, noble grand, welcomed the guests with a response by Mrs. Kernan.

Mrs. Nick Pfeiffert, soloist, sang "The Little Damsel." Mrs. Auburn Rector introduced the distinguished guests with a response by Mrs. Velma Summer, district deputy president of District No. 10. Mrs. Mae Myers, past district deputy, gave the benediction.

The following morning 17 members of the local Rebekah Lodge joined Mr. and Mrs. Kernan for breakfast at the Pinecrest Inn.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a 14-year-old son. I have just discovered that he has been smoking. Should I punish him or should I just ignore it and let him smoke? Some say to give him permission to smoke in front of us and the fascination of it will wear off. What do you say?

WEST TEXAS

DEAR WEST TEXAS: Tell the boy about the effects of tobacco and ask him not to smoke until he is 21 as a favor to himself and a gesture of respect for his parents' love and wisdom. If he will meet you halfway, he may forego smoking all his life. Here's hoping.

DEAR ABBY: You will save my life if you put in your column what a "D" means on a report card. I got a "D" and my father took all my privileges until next report card time. I tried to tell him that a "D" was a passing mark but he wouldn't believe me. Do teachers grade differently, Abby? Please answer right away.

PRISONER

DEAR "PRISONER": When some teachers give a "D" it indicates that the student barely passed — but he DID pass. Other teachers will give a "D" even though the work is not actually passing, but she knows the student tried. Have your father call your teacher to find out what YOUR "D" meant or you are D-E-A-D.

DEAR ABBY: Nine years ago my husband's mother moved in with us and we can't get rid of her. She has a job and pays us $10 a week, but her food and laundry cost more than that. My husband took out an insurance policy for her with my husband as beneficiary. We pay the premiums. Well, she borrowed $400 on it and the insurance people tell us if we don't pay it back, when she dies there won't be enough to bury her. When we asked her to pay it back she said, "I don't care what you do with me after I die. Dig a hole in the back yard and throw me in!" When we threaten to put her out, she says she'll quit her job, go to court and force us to support her. Can she do this?

DEAR AT: In some states the adult children are forced by law to support indigent parents. If you are truly concerned, better ask your lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a woman should keep a kosher kitchen for her husband?

BESSIE

DEAR BESSIE: Not unless he's Jewish. What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

SIX OF the principal characters meet at a fashionable party in this scene from the provocative Warner Bros. Technicolor presentation of "The Chapman Report," opening Sunday at the Ritz Theatre.

Candid Film Ritz Bound

Ripping aside a wealthy suburban community's facade of smug respectability, a team of psychologists conducting a sex survey dramatically reshape the lives of four women in "The Chapman Report," the provocative Warner Bros. Technicolor motion picture opening Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. Efron Zimbalist Jr., Shelley Winters, Jane Fonda, Claire Bloom, Glynis Johns, Ray Danton and Ty Hardin top the cast of the Darryl F. Zanuck Production which is based on the controversial best-selling novel by Irving Wallace. Because of the controversial subject matter Producer Richard Zanuck and Director George Cukor closed the film's set during much of the shooting. "The picture is based on the premise that love and tenderness are the true meaning of sex and that sex without these is mere animality," said Zanuck when the film went before the cameras. "We intend to make an honest picture which will be highly interesting, and we intend to do it without becoming a dealer in pornography."

SANDRA DEE and Bobby Darin, who were brought together for the first time in Universal's highly popular "Come September," are reunited in "If a Man Answers," Ross Hunter production being released by Universal. Michelle Presle, John Lund, Cesar Romero and Stefanie Powers complete the cast topers in this romantic comedy filmed in full color.

Comedy Set For Drive-In

Containing all the laugh-provoking elements which are proving to be so popular with the public these days, Universal's Ross Hunter production, "If a Man Answers," opens Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre. Sandra Dee, Bobby Darin, Michelle Presle, John Lund, Cesar Romero and Stefanie Powers are starred in this riotous Eastman color comedy that is a worthy successor to Hunter's "Pillow Talk," credited with starting the current cycle of romantic comedies. The other feature on the program is "Betrayed" with Clark Gable and Lana Turner.

Both films will play through Tuesday. On Wednesday and Thursday, "The Mountain and Stalag 17" will play. A triple horror film is slated for Friday and Saturday. The three films are "Blood of Dracula," "Night of the Blood Beast" and "Blood of the Vampire."

One of the strongest points in the Jordan-Robinson partnership is a willingness of each partner to be dummy. Each has great confidence in his partner's ability to handle the cards and tends to raise his partner rather than rebid his own suits.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

"Men buy or make the decisions on virtually all buying in Europe" reports a business management consultant, recently returned from Germany. "In Europe it's the man of the family who even chooses the furniture and dishes."

and they aren't about to let a mere man make such important decisions as choosing a silver or china pattern, or even selecting a chair for the living room. Oh, a husband might go along when there is furniture to be bought. But his suggestions are usually ignored as the wife and the salesman between them make the final decisions. Even when the husband seems to be making the choice, it's a 10-1 shot that the wife has previously made her choice. She takes her husband to the store and carefully steers him in the right direction. If you don't believe it, just watch a few couples shopping together for something for their home. Whatever the item, it's the wife who poses as the expert and the husband who lets meekly to what she has to say. One reason that women have gotten the upper hand in family buying is because they talk the salesman's language, and a man doesn't. So the man stays silent as his wife and a salesman start tossing around such terms as "Early American" and "French Provincial" and the newest names for all the shades of the rainbow—names that change every season or two. How can a man who calls "melon" orange, or "rosedust" pink, or "cocoa" tan, ever hope to have his opinions carry any weight?

Highlights TV Time Previews

7:30-8:30 p.m. CBS. Rawhide. "Incident at Spider Rock." This episode is a welcome break for fans of the series as the drovers come off the range to enjoy the comforts of a very small town. Unfortunately, the townspeople are scheming a bit of wholesale thievery. You'll enjoy veteran Lon Chaney as one of the drovers being taken by the hick-town hucksters. Ditto Susan Oliver as the saloon singer who lets the men know they are being taken. Eric Fleming and Clint Eastwood star.

7:30-8:30 p.m. NBC. International Showtime. "Circus from Copenhagen." This episode is for those viewers who enjoy seeing old friends, for it features some acts that have been on often enough to be considered that. The Schumann horses are a unique equine performers who show their training in a riderless basketball game. There is another horse act simulating an equestrian ballerina and using performers placed in the audience.

NFL Probe Spreading

NEW YORK (UPI)—The owner of the Baltimore Colts wound up in the middle of the National Football League's fast-spreading investigation today while Commissioner Pete Rozelle presumably was considering fines or suspensions against the Detroit Lions' organization.

The Miami Herald said in a front page story that dealt with testimony in an ex-ambler's unsuccessful lawsuit against Carroll D. Rosenbloom, owner of the Colts, has been turned over to Rozelle by federal court order.

Michael J. McLaney, one-time casino owner in Havana and now an investment banker in Miami, brought the suit against Rosenbloom in 1950 and it was subsequently dismissed.

John Babin of Utah State apparently had the job clinched Thursday. The 11 was disclosed that Bob Reynolds, former Indian grid star who heads a new two-year pact in Navy, but Reynolds went to Sterling in the selection, had given up on the prospect of leading Wayne State.

Reynolds, president of the Los Angeles Angels baseball club, reportedly represents a strong group of alumni from that part of the state who are opposed to hiring Italian because he played—and later was assistant coach—at the arch-rival University of California.

Leon McLaughlin, a comparative unknown, remained very much in the running. He was a member of Jack Curtice's staff and has been in the race since the Tokyo Curricio got the use last Nov. 26.

The New Hunt Co. Plant

The tremendous natural potential of Florida, being teamed with Texas capital and development know-how to form a new economic stimulus for Central Florida.

The Sanford Industrial Park will officially come into being here, Saturday, when Texas oilman H. L. Hunt, Florida Governor Farris Bryant, Florida Commissioner of Agriculture, the Doyle Conner, and other dignitaries from Florida and Texas put into operation a huge new HLIH Products vegetable packing plant.

The plant's location, in Sanford Industrial Park, is less than 50 miles northwest of Cape Canaveral, in the center of one of the fastest growing areas in the United States. Within a radius of 40 miles there are more than a million people and some 200 industries.

The plant will produce canned goods for various HLIH brand names—H.L.I. Alma, Saxet and Halmark. Other HLIH brands are Butterfield, Triumph and Perfection. From 200 to 400 workers will be employed at various seasons, with the annual payroll running about half a million dollars.

An industrial spur of the Atlantic Coastline Railroad will serve the HLIH plant, and truck shipments will have easy access over U. S. Highways 17 and 92.

Tour Paid Off
A big shot in the arm to Central Florida and Seminole County agriculture production.

It likewise pointed out that "for every one person working in the plant there will be five working in the field," and "this does not include the men in the transportation operation or in the storage and wholesaling end that will benefit, too."

County produce men's comment on the new plant was summed up in this statement: "It's the biggest thing to hit our area in years. This is the greatest thing to create economic income that Sanford ever had."

Two HLIH Products officials, Everett Higgins and Clyde Lovinood, made a tour of Florida last summer, seeking a site for the new plant opening here Saturday.

When they reached Sanford, they ran into John Kridler and Walter Krier. . . and the site was clinched.

The HLIH officials later expressed amazement that Chamber Manager Kridler was "ready with all the answers" to their questions.

They praised Herald Publisher Gielow for "bringing certain important groups together and making the way easier for the new plant and its builders."

Kridler got them together with the city and county commissions and "grasped the way" for them on their power problems.

Quite A Man Is H. L. Hunt

(Following is an article written in 1950 by Saul Pett which Mr. Hunt considers factual.)

On weekday mornings he drives himself downtown. He parks his car three blocks from the office to save 50 cents in parking fees.

He carries his lunch from home in a brown paper sack. He is dressed less impressively than nine out of ten business men you meet, including those on their way to bankruptcy court. His suits usually are store-bought, not custom-tailored. On occasion, he wears the wrong suit jacket while the right one is being repaired for battle fatigue.

By the improbable standards usually attributed to his kind in Texas, he lives a life of stringent austerity. He owns no yachts or private planes, has no chauffeur for his four cars and maintains only two homes—one at a profit. He is something less than an ostentatious tipster.

He has his own comb trimmer but frequently allows his wispy white hair to grow long at the temples and back of the neck. With his hair long, with those blue-gray eyes and that general look of gentle yearning, he suggests a struggling unknown author, which he is, in a manner of speaking.

When he travels, he flies commercial. Away from home he often is irritated by food prices. "I feel," he says, "like a sucker paying $1 for a hotel breakfast." At home at night he personally goes around the house turning off lights.

Haroldson Lafayette Hunt at 71 one of the richest men in the world, is rife and admits it. He sees, not a contradiction, but a connection between thrift and great wealth. Estimates of his fortune range from $500,000,000 to two billion dollars. Estimates of his weekly income range from $1,000,000 before taxes to $1,000,000 after taxes.

How much is H. L. Hunt really worth? He, himself isn't telling. He smiles at estimates, neither confirming nor denying. He does not appear outraged by either the high or low guesses. He implies it's ridiculous to draw up lists of the world's richest men but seems to be aware of the published rankings, including the latest which places him second to J. Paul Getty, another oil baron.

Pinned down, he says he has no way of knowing what others are worth. doesn't really care, and what's more he says, he has no accurate way of knowing his own worth.

But during a rare series of interviews at "Mount Vernon," Hunt's outside model of Washington's home, the country's biggest independent oil producer did drop these scattered clues:

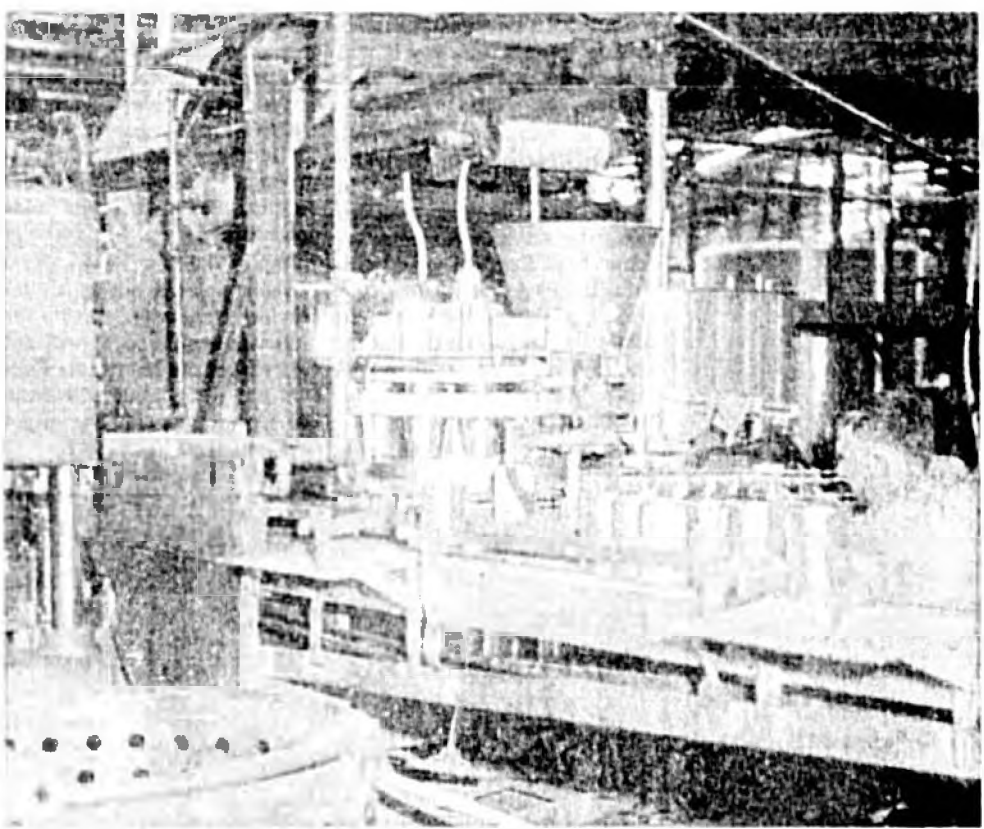

"We are proud of our production. During the war, we Hunt's produced more oil than Germany produced or had access to, including Romania."

"Our net profit (shared by Hunt, four sons and two daughters) from oil leases at Cotton Valley, La., has been about $30,000,000 in the last 20 years and it will go on producing another 25 to 30 years."

"Our net profit from oil leases at Lake Lake, La., will be around $100,000,000 in the next 20 to 25 years, and we've had it about six years."

"We have at least several other leases of this size."

"My boys have 11,000,000

CANNED FOODS roll out of the huge stainless steel filler and closer and make their way down the conveyor belt toward the cookers.

acres in Libya and they're beginning to return a fantastic production."

The Hunts have business interests in 15 or 20 states (he wasn't sure at the moment) as well as in Canada, Africa and the Middle East. They're in oil, cotton, timber-growing, cattle, pecan groves, and real estate, and one son, Lamar, also owns the Dallas Texans franchise of the new professional football league.

Hunt is a tall, erect man, whose face resembles Herbert Hoover's and whose politics are to the right of the former President. With a reporter, he is polite, friendly, cautious. He reveals little of the inner man except a fear of what may be said of him in print.

The personality that emerges is a blunt one, as plain as the clothes he wears, as undefined as his soft, ringless fingers. But behind the blandness, one suspects that H. L. Hunt can be as positive as a pilot when he wants to be.

He tolerates—almost seems to enjoy—questions about his wealth up to a point and then, with polite firmness, changes the subject. He clearly gives the impression that making money is far more fun than possessing or spending it.

What is Hunt's recipe for making money . . . ?

"You have to be lucky. . . you have to be of an acquisitive nature, aggressive and thrifty. You have to be honest and fair or at least have people think you are. You can't do a great volume of business unless your word is accepted."

" . . . I've never tried to become the biggest oil man or anything else. I simply like to do things—oil, cattle, real estate, timber, whatever—on as big a scale as I can."

" . . . For all practical purposes, I regard a man with $200,000 as well off as a man with $200,000,000. A millionaire who throws his money around is stupid; he gives our Communist enemies lots of propaganda against the United States."

" . . . I don't spend much money. There's nothing I want but what I'd buy. But I have no inclination to throw money away."

This attitude is strikingly reflected in the waiting room outside the Hunt Oil Co. offices. The only reading matter I noticed was two copies of a pocketbook titled "Alpaca" written and published by H. L. Hunt.

A band across the book cover said, "For inspection only. Please do not remove." A poster on a table reminded an open mind, like romance, have freedom, you'll be fascinated by "Alpaca." Copies may be purchased from the receptionist for 50 cents.

Although billed as a novel, "Alpaca" mostly concerns itself with a constitution devised for a small mythical country. With picturesque logic he suggests a graduated system of suffrage whereby men in the highest income tax brackets get seven votes, not one; two bonus votes go to each citizen who waives old age benefits or government salary; no literacy or lunacy test is required for any voter; and a citizen can designate others better informed than he to vote for him.

Hunt is evangelical about the message and personally seeks to promote the book. He recently made a rare public appearance in a Dallas book store where his two stepdaughters sang, "How much is that book in the window?" He even sent free copies to heads of state in Europe, Africa and the Near East.

And the "H. L. Hunt Parade of Products," which sponsors radio broadcasts in the Southwest, now plugs a new one—"Alpaca," that gripping romance. . . .

Hunt had 100,000 copies of the book printed by a Fort Worth printer noted chiefly for his production of telephone books. He preferred, Hunt said, a cheap soft-cover book to keep the cost down and achieve greater distribution.

(In New York, a publisher told me this story: Hunt sent him the "Alpaca" manuscript but the publisher wasn't interested. An emissary then arrived from Dallas, declaring, "You realize you're dealing with Hunt is worth $600,000,000. I'm worth several million myself and I'm only his messenger!" The publisher still said no.)

Hunt's home, "Mount Vernon," stands on 10 lovely acres overlooking a lake—a view which he considers better than George Washington's. While it has only 15 rooms, the house is three or four times larger than the first President's home on the Potomac.

There's a swimming pool

Semitic, anti-Negro. Hunt denied the charge.

Today, Hunt is passionately devoted to a new program called "Lifelines," which his companies sponsor on 30 stations in the Southwest. It is a partly political, partly religious discussion program delivered by a Nashville preacher. Among other things, it insulates the Supreme Court has exceeded its jurisdiction, declares liberty index as government increases, laments federal spending and federal taxing and declares the loss of constitutional freedoms, among which it includes a man's right to choose his own neighbors or keep a health inspector out of his house.

The Hunts are so devoted to "Lifelines" that they frequently listen to the same broadcast twice (from Dallas and New Orleans) and post signs advertising the show on their lawn, mail box and cars. One night I noticed Mrs. Hunt wearing red and white earrings with the word "Lifelines" dangling from her lobes.

Hunt says he is not a "heavy" contributor to political campaigns. He did not, he says support the late Senator Joseph McCarthy financially although he admired much of his work. But if Gen. Douglas MacArthur had been nominated for President, Hunt says, I'd have gone all out for him financially.

He is not optimistic about the state of the world or his country. He thinks the United States faces imminent danger of bankruptcy and "is moving fast toward Communism." He thinks the United States should pull out of the United Nations unless it gets a greater voice in that body.

which, he says "already is dominated by the Communists."

" . . . And if we go along as we are, as we get sold on co-existence, we ourselves will become a Communist country. I don't want a war but the tolerance and friendship evidenced by the Khrushchev and Mikoyan visits here are alarming. Such things would not have been tolerated three or four years ago."

Hunt thinks the times call for a "strong man" in the White House and feels Senator Lyndon Johnson may be the answer. Curiously Johnson is not among Hunt's favorite senators because of his "New Deal voting record." He much prefers the work of Senators Eastland, Talmadge, Bridges, Goldwater, Byrd and other conservatives.

Then why does he favor Johnson for the Democratic nomination? "Because, if we are to be saved from Communism, a strong man will have to do it. Johnson has shown he can be a strong man the way he loads these Democrats and Republicans around in the Senate as though they had rings in their noses."

Hunt was born in Vandellia, Ill., the son of a large-scale farmer and grain speculator. His education stopped at the fifth grade and he roamed the Far West as a farm hand, cowboy and lumberjack. In Arkansas, he began to taste real wealth, trading in cotton land, parlaying his speculation into 20,000 acres.

Hunt Means More Jobs Here

The operation of a food processing plant in Sanford casts a bright glow over the current employment picture here, Florida State Employment Office Manager Joe Foy told the Herald recently.

Hunt Oil Company," Foy said. He stated that from his past experience with canning plants in other parts of Florida about 15 or 20 per cent of the staff would need to be skilled workers with the other 80 to 85 percent unskilled labor.

"The year-round operation of the plant is most desirable, and will go far toward helping take up the slack in the unemployment rolls here," he continued.

Seminole County produce-men called the announcement of the Hunt company cannery plant in Sanford as the biggest thing that ever happened to Central Florida agriculture.

M. L. Cullum declared, "This will fulfill a 30 year dream of mine. Now that the need in Central Florida for a major food processor is met there will be a revival of the small farmer and he will no longer be a marginal producer. This will result in the return of prosperity to Central Florida agriculture.

"In the past, most of the canners that wanted to settle in the area wanted us to pay part of their costs, but the Hunt people asked for nothing more than a location. It sounds mighty good to me, and it will bring back many farms that are now out of production."

In a telephone interview, Harold Kastner said, "It's the biggest thing to hit town in years. This is the greatest thing to create economic income that Sanford ever had. It will bring commodities in from a radius of 100 miles and result in a big revival of local agriculture. New families will come into the area with this stimulant to increase production. It will also bring back old fields that are now in Bahia grass and grazing cows. One reason for the Hunt people coming in here is the increase in population. The area will provide the biggest market for their product. This will mean a great resurgence in the industry and the marginal producer will now be a major economic factor as a profitable operator."

Homer Osborne, of the Farm Bureau, pointed out in an interview recently that the increased employment will not only affect the immediate Sanford population, but will mean for every one in the plant there will be four or five in the field. The plant will bring back the family farm as a large scale, constant producer of quality produce for the company, which is a quality canner.

CASES OF HLH tomato juice rest on special platforms in the storage area of the new Hunt food processing plant.

Canned Goods A'Plenty

The Sanford plant of HLH Products will process potatoes, beans, spinach, corn, beets and carrots for canning during the 10-month growing season.

During the entire 12 months of the year the plant will be engaged in processing of such items as pork and beans, dried black-eye peas, butter beans, lima beans and spaghetti.

The plant will produce canned goods for various HLH brand names: HLH, Alma, Saxet and Hallmark. Other HLH brands are Butterfield, Triumph and Perfection.

From 200 to 400 workers will be employed at various seasons, with the annual payroll running about $500,000.

Gov. Bryant telephoned Monday morning to apologize to John Krider for his inability to attend the Chamber's dinner Saturday evening. John assured the Governor that the dinner guests understood about the weather. Bryant asked John "for a return date as soon as possible."

Word is out that negotiations are nearing completion for establishment of a third new plant at Sanford Industrial park and, our informants say, "this will be the biggest thing that ever hit Seminole County."

NOTHING LIKE AN IRONIC SENSE OF HUMOR DEPARTMENT: Everyone going to the MovieLand Drive-In next Saturday night and signing a pledge to donate blood to the local blood bank will receive a month's pass for two. What's playing? "BLOOD OF DRACULA," "BLOOD OF VAMPIRE," and "The BLOOD Beast."

County Attorney Harold Johnson has a problem. The next County Commission meeting is Jan. 29. Chairman J. C. Hutchison, just over an operation, can't make it up the stairs to the chambers. So, can the commission meeting be moved? What's the legal pitch? Callin' Dick Ervin!

NOBODY ASKED ME, but how can ANY business man refuse to join the Chamber of Commerce? ... His financial success depends on people being attracted to come to or to stay in our community. ... And no one or no organization does this so well as does the Chamber of Commerce. ... ALL people with an investment in this area ought to be GLAD to add their personal assistance to such an effort. ... And it costs only 50 cents a week!!!

Speaking of the CoC, the membership drive workers each year come back with stories of complaints. ... You know the kind—"and that's the reason I won't join" ... If any business wants its interests promoted, it can best be done with the principal IN the CoC, not OUT of it. ... Out of it the fellow has no voice, no way of accomplishing what HE wants. ... IN it, as a member, he can speak his mind, can work for the things he believes beneficial.

TO ALL YOU PEOPLE, you business men, who are not already members of the CoC, how's about sending in at least $25 to the trade body, attend the meetings, serve on committees, DO something that YOU'D like to see done, get others to help you. ... Let's everyone work for the advancement of our area — and thus protect our financial investments.

What's this I hear about ANOTHER filling station that probably will be built soon on French Avenue? ... Lessee now, how many are there between the lake front and the city limits on our busy U.S. 17-92?

The new flashing sign pointed toward the I-4 bridge and lakefront U. S. 17-92 beckons the traveler to the "Hotel Bar" ... But when one of the nomads got to the place where the sign is, he said it was called "Valdez." H-m-m-m-m.

To the loyal citizens who were sitting in the glorious—but never the less HOT—Florida sun, Doyle Conner was most apologetic for his tardy arrival. ... He couldn't help it. ... His plane ran into some fog and the pilot had to "stack up" trying to find a spot to sandwich into the landing pattern of the Navy jets. ... The State's Commissioner of Agriculture dislikes inconveniencing folks, so his apologies were most sincere.

Merchants have scheduled "Cracker Days" here March 15-16.

NEWS PHOTOGRAPHERS continually seek live action and unusual photos. An estimated 10 Florida and Texas newsmen were on hand here Saturday for the ILLI Products dedication, sweating out about three hours in the sun waiting for Texas billionaire H. L. Hunt to push the button of his new million-dollar plant. That was the main picture ... as it is shown here by Herald photographer Bill Vincent. Hunt is pushing the button; next is Mrs. Hunt and then Wendell Jarrard, director of the Florida Development Commission. BUT ... the other cameramen commenced pushing and crowding in for their shots. The lens of Vincent's camera was cracked. Note the Orlando photographer in the right background. His TV camera was smashed and his film exposed in the melee. Of course, he expressed his chagrin in loud, clear and plain language. All this in a few seconds.

Conner Predicts Prosperity Boost

Increased prosperity in the agricultural field within a 50-mile radius of Sanford was predicted here Saturday by Doyle Conner, state commissioner of agriculture.

Orlandoan Held In Connection With Citrus Case

An Orlando man, Colbert Guise, 38, is being held in the Duval county jail on an extortion charge relating to the citrus larceny case pending here.

U. S. postal officials at Jacksonville reported Guise was arrested there when he sought to pick up a reply to an extortion letter. C. C. Moo, postal inspector, said Guise had mailed on Jan. 10 from Jacksonville a letter to C.R. Lowdermilk, Longwood, demanding $4,000 in $50 bills for withholding information about certain criminal acts allegedly committed by Lowdermilk.

Moo stated the letter also threatened Ralph Alderman, Orlando.

The Seminole county grand jury last Monday indicted Lowdermilk, Alderman, Alva T. Hall and Bill Hammond on 42 counts of conspiracy, bribery and grand larceny.

At Chamber Banquet

Dirge need for an institute of technology in Florida was voiced by M. S. Hall Jr., Orlando Junior College president, at the annual Seminole County Chamber of Commerce dinner Saturday evening at Mayfair Inn.

"We need now ... and right here in Central Florida is the logical place ... a school comparable to Massachusetts Institute of Technology and California Institute of Technology," the college prez declared.

Pointing out that Seminole county now ranks as the 38th county in vegetable production in the United States, Conner stated 39,000 acres now are used in that field, with a potential of 60,000 acres.

"We can see nothing but growth and prosperity for Seminole county," said Conner.

Flying here from Tallahassee solely for the ILLI dedication, Conner told ILLI owner H. L. Hunt that "we are delighted to have this addition to the Florida industrial community and taking part in recognizing Florida is continuing to expand."

Road Financing 'Bug' Ironed Out

Financing of the Seminole Boulevard road improvement job was being ironed out today at Casselberry.

Seminole Raceway officials had posted an $18,000 check with the county, while Casselberry had put up $8,400 for the two-mile resurfacing job.

However, county officials held that "to be proper the agreement must be between the county and the municipality" and returned the raceway check.

The procedure being followed today, it was said, is that the raceway was presenting its check for $18,000 to the town of Casselberry, which, in turn, would hand over its check for $26,000 to the county.

Technology School Stressed Here

Hall was a last-minute substitute speaker for Gov. Farris Bryant, who was weather-bound in Washington, D. C. Hall quipped: "The Governor couldn't be here ... and I'm glad," adding he appreciated the privilege of being asked to speak in the chief executive's place.

Pointing to the fact the world is entering the space age, with U. S. headquarters already established only 60 miles away at Cape Canaveral, Hall averred it is imperative the state establish a "top-notch" technological school immediately.

"But," he queried, "what are we going to do when we do get to the moon?" He kept the 400 dinner guests in continued good humor during his brief address.

Hall recommended three books for the edification of Americans.

The first, "The Book Of Imagination," was written in the 19th century by a Frenchman, Jules Verne. The author predicted in "Fives Weeks in a Balloon" that man would fly, in "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" that man would travel underwater, and in "Around the World in 80 Days" that man would circumnavigate the globe.

"All these have come true," Hall said, "but in 'From the Earth to the Moon' we have yet to see whether his fourth view will bear out."

The second book recommended by Hall is "Communist Manifesto," by Karl Marx. Pointing out he is not a Red but an avowed American, the college president stated that concepts outlined in this Communist creed also are coming true.

"The Communists are following exactly the teachings in this book," he stated. "And it predicts the Communists will take over the United States from within ... with internal collapses, not war. One plank in that book predicts we will be burdened with heavy income tax."

The third book recommended for American outlook into the future is the Holy Bible.

All the writings in the First Testament have been borne out, Hall stated, "even as late as 1948 when the Jews got Israel, in keeping with the covenant of the Lord with Abraham."

In Canal Off 17-92

Human Bones Found

Human leg and foot bones found Saturday morning in a small canal off south Highway 17-92 will be forwarded for pathological study to the Florida Sheriff's Bureau at Tallahassee, Sheriff J. L. Hobby said today.

Discovery was made by four boys playing along the canal, Jimmy Markos, 12, and his brother, Bobby, 10, of 2533 El Capitan Ave., and Mike Maddox, 11, and his brother, Doug, 8, of 1102 Santa Barbara Dr.

The boys noticed an Army-type boot floating on the water and fished it out. They found skeletal remains and notified the Ratliff garage, who, in turn, called the sheriff's office.

Deputies dragged the canal and found the mate to the boot, containing bones, and then came up with a few

Sheriff Hobby said there have been no "missing persons" reports for some time. He added that from the appearance of the remains they had been in the water for some time. The boots were in a good state of preservation.

The sheriff, from a precursory study, said the victim apparently was a small male.

Combined Canal, Road Jobs Thought Hailed

An entirely new approach for direct highway and canal connections with the East Coast, as suggested by John Drumley, Sanford, in meeting with enthusiastic support. Drumley is a member of the St. Johns-Indian River Navigation committee.

Volusia county authorities for some time have been planning for a four-lane highway connecting Deland and Oak Hill, on Highway 1.

By the same token, Seminole county officials have been seeking for major improvements to Highway 46 connecting Sanford and Alms, also on Highway 1.

Drumley's suggestion was that the highway and canal ventures be combined. He pointed out fill from the canal could be used for roadbed construction along the waterway.

John Krider, navigation committee chairman and Seminole County Chamber of Commerce manager, said today the suggestion has met with full support from Harold Scott, Jacksonville engineer retained to make preliminary canal studies for the navigation committee.

"This new approach could allow construction of the canal at one-third the cost of earlier proposals," Krider stated. "This idea calls for an 18-mile canal, with little or no maintenance, whereas earlier thoughts called for construction of a 40-mile canal much further south with continuous maintenance."

Krider mapped the route of Drumley's proposal from a point where the St. Johns river leaves Lake Harney along the Volusia-Brevard county line to Indian river. U. S. Corps of Engineers now are in the process of moving the Haulover canal near Alenhurst to a point north of Shiloh. This Haulover canal connects Indian River with the Intracoastal Waterway.

Seminole county recently acquired title to the 1,000 acres known as the former Ocala airport. The road from Sanford would skirt north of the old airport. The road from Deland would cut southeast and join the Sanford highway at a point in the vicinity of the airport.

"The beauty of the idea," Krider said, "is that the canal probably could be financed with revenue bonds, supported by lockage charges. Only two bridges would be necessary. Most of the land is unapproachable except by air and the canal could be built with a dredge or possibly even a drapline, with the fill being used for the highway."

Krider and Sen. Bernard Beach to air the proposal and Parrish will meet Tuesday morning with Harris Saxon, Volusia county commission chairman, at New Smyrna Saxon's request.
