Bush Believes Overpass Possible

By BOB LLOYD
City Editor

Analysis

Seminole County has an increasingly serious highway problem that could be solved, but appears apathetic on the part of elected officials may mean there will never be a solution—only a growing problem.

The problem is the railroad crossing on SR-46 at the Sanford west city limits. It has flashing warning lights and crossing gates and isn't a hazardous location by staff officials. But it is a festering point of public inconvenience, an obstruction to emergency response by law enforcement units, fire trucks, ambulances and other vehicles, plus a hindrance to flexibility needed by Seaboard Coast Line Railroad in assembling long lines of freight trains.

The crossing is unique, says County Engineer William Bush Jr., because the four-lane, divided highway crossing is between the SCL's freight yards on the north and the depot, car shops and Auto-Train terminal on the south.

"The problem is the crossing is compounded by increases in both highway and rail traffic is a highway overpass, Bush believes. The State Department of Transportation and the county haven't the money for an overpass and haven't given a hint of building one in future plans. But last June, Bush proposed what he feels is a sensible, feasible approach. Get the SR-46 crossing designated a "special demonstration crossing" on the federal aid highway system eligible for special federal funding.

The response to Bush's answer has been disappointing to him. Mostly bureaucratic answers from the state and federal levels from officials, he says.

Support of the idea from local elected officials has been disappointing, too. No support. No resolutions from Sanford City Commission or the Seminole County Commission or the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Bush says.

Meanwhile, the rail and highway traffic is increasing. "Nobody's sincerely tried to do anything," Bush says as he thumps through a file folder full of letters, citizen complaints and notes on telephoned complaints.

Bush has prepared packages of information on the crossing problem, showing how when long, slow freight trains use it, there's sometimes no alternate route between Sanford and residential areas west of the tracks and the interstate highway. Bush says sometimes the long, slow trains block up to four other crossings as far south as West 25th Street.

During a brief flurry of county commission interest in May 1973 of railroad crossing blockages, a survey showed during a 12-hour period in one day the SR-46 crossing gates were down one hour and 25 minutes.

County commissioners discussed passing an ordinance with maximum times crossings could be blocked. But as Bush put it, "They let the railroad folks sweat them out of it."

"Frankly, the south end county commissioners don't care what happens up here (in north Seminole)," Bush said. He notes that he's gone to the commission three times in the last year about the SR-46 crossing, "but they've just kind of shrugged their shoulders."

In 1963, the year I-4 opened from SR-46 to Orlando, the traffic count at the SR-46 crossing was 3,369 vehicles a day. The 1973 annual traffic count shows a jump to 8,995 vehicles a day.

The 1973 Federal-Aid Highway Act provided special aid for demonstration projects at 12 specific rail crossings across the country. A total of $90 million was allocated for the three-year program. Florida didn't have a project in the program.

"But there's nothing to stop congress from passing a new act, Bush believes, and the Sanford crossing could be included and the overpass could be built within five years—without disturbing state and county road funds—instead of waiting 15 to 20 years to try to fight it to the top of the district road budget and get it funded.

"Right now, the crossing problem has been eclipsed by the Osteen Bridge," said Bush. "But I'll guarantee you that when five wreck victims in an ambulance on the way to the hospital have to wait for a train and people die... it'll be Osteen Bridge all over again... with a great hue and cry."

The Osteen Bridge on SR-415 east of Sanford, over 50-years-old and too narrow for two trucks to pass, was the scene earlier this year. It five deaths when a truck struck a van on the wooden guard rail span and the van plunged into the St. Johns River.

After public outcry, the state installed emergency steel guardrails and stepped up bridge replacement plans. The new $3.3 million bridge is expected to go to bid in April, with construction to start within six months.

"This (federal funds) is the only way, I'm sorry to say, that I think an overpass will ever be built on SR-46," Bush said.

"I think federal programs are there for those who scream the loudest and work the hardest. Seminole may never have enough secondary state road funds or the Fifth District DOT enough funds to acquire even the right-of-way needed for an overpass," Bush said.

Bush believes the overpass project could become a federal demonstration project, but says the effort will need every bit of support, both local and state, it can muster.

"I think it can be documented in such a way those bureaucrats would be wowed by it, but nobody's trying," Bush said.

Besides support on the state and congressional level, the overpass project must have solid backing from the sheriff, police, fire, ambulance, hospital, city and county officials, to be effective.

So far, Bill Bush doesn't seem to have gained their attention. But the citizen complaints keep rolling in about traffic delays at the SR-46 crossing.

A circuit court judge recently complained to county commissioners about the crossing and the most attention the complaint seemed to get was a comment by a commissioner that "maybe the judge should start to work five minutes earlier."

Unfair Trial Charged

WASHINGTON (AP) — John D. Ehrlichman's lawyer protested today that his client is being denied a fair trial by rulings prohibiting him from introducing at the Watergate cover-up trial evidence relating to the White House Plumbers.

"I say that Mr. Ehrlichman is not getting a fair trial if that is the situation," said William S. Frates, Ehrlichman's attorney. "I don't agree with you," responded U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica.

The exchange took place after Sirica upheld a prosecution objection to the introduction of an affidavit from Earl Krapf Jr. relating to the activities of the Plumbers unit and particularly the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Frates had argued that the affidavit was essential to counter a prosecution contention that an Ehrlichman motive for participating in the cover-up was to prevent disclosure of the Plumbers' activities.

In an earlier trial, Ehrlichman was convicted of conspiring to deny Dr. Lewis Fielding, Ellsberg's psychiatrist, his civil rights.

Chief prosecutor James F. Neal had protested that Frates could not use Krapf's memorandum as evidence of what was in Ehrlichman's mind.

In contrast to the defense cases presented by other defendants, Frates has called a number of witnesses.

Two Killed In Wrecks

Two men were killed and a child critically injured in three separate traffic accidents in the county Sunday, according to reports by state troopers and police.

Robert Kennick Vasen, 56-year-old Mt. Dora dentist, died after his sedan was struck broadside by an auto driven by Paul Porter, 19, of 450 Longwood Circle North, Longwood, on U.S. 17-92 at South Street in Fern Park, trooper Robert Lovering said.

Lovering said the Porter vehicle was northbound on U.S. 17-92 when the Vasen auto crossed the four-lane divided highway in front of the oncoming car.

Porter was treated and released at Florida Hospital North, Altamonte Springs, a hospital spokesman said.

Lovering said Vasen's 50-year-old wife, Ellen, was taken to Florida Hospital North and then transferred to Waterman Memorial Hospital in Eustis where she was reported still in a coma Sunday night.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper Phil Dixon reported Edmond C. Hill, 56, P.O. Box 932, Oviedo, was killed on SR-46 at Geneva early Sunday when two trucks overturned and he was pinned in the wreckage.

Sheriff's deputies said Hill was driving a truck in the area of a second truck in tow and apparently fell asleep and the vehicles veered off the north side of the highway.

The truck overturned and skidded around in the road when Hill apparently tried to get them back onto the roadway.

Deputy Donald Dreggers said rescue crews used portable power saws to free the driver, who was pinned in the truck in an upside down position. Hill died at the scene.

Seven-year-old Ronald Dale Sims, 317 West Third St., Sanford, was listed in fair condition today at Florida Hospital North after being struck by a car about 8:15 p.m. Sunday near his home.

Sanford police patrolman John W. Foster said the boy darted into the path of a east-bound car at 310 West Third St. and was struck by the vehicle. Driver of the car was listed by police as Roy Rogers Downer, 1702 West Third St., Sanford. Foster said no charges were made, pending further investigation.

A hospital spokesman said young Sims suffered fractures of the right arm and leg, pelvis and internal injuries.

Fisher said his son was arrested by a deputy in the area of 13th Street in Sanford after a group of boys yelled at a passing patrol car. All the boys fled, except the Fisher youth, who said he was not involved in the incident.

Polk said that he was prohibited from discussing details of the incident until the investigation was concluded, under the new "Police Officers Bill of Rights" which became effective Oct. 1, 1974.

If the investigation finds sufficient grounds to support the complaint, a three-man board is appointed to judge the officer's innocence or guilt.

Truth Tests Set For Man, Deputy

By BILL BELLEVILLE

A Seminole County Sheriff's Deputy and the youth he has been accused of beating, will both be given polygraph tests Dec. 16 as part of the continuing investigation into the alleged incident, Sheriff John Polk said today.

Last week, Melvin Fisher complained to Polk that a sheriff's deputy mistakenly arrested his 18-year-old son, Mitchell, for disorderly conduct Nov. 30.

According to Fisher, the deputy then took the youth to a deserted area near the Sanford airport and beat him, injuring his eyes, jaw and back.

Mitchell was treated and released at Seminole Hospital in Sanford early the next morning, but the hospital would not disclose the nature of the youth's injuries.

Fisher said his son was arrested by a deputy in the area of 13th Street in Sanford after a group of boys yelled at a passing patrol car. All the boys fled, except the Fisher youth, who said he was not involved in the incident.

Polk said that he was prohibited from discussing details of the incident until the investigation was concluded, under the new "Police Officers Bill of Rights" which became effective Oct. 1, 1974.

If the investigation finds sufficient grounds to support the complaint, a three-man board is appointed to judge the officer's innocence or guilt.

supplies one, and the two appointees mutually decide on a third member.

Specific information about the complaint will be made public, Polk said, if and when the board convenes. Also, as part of the investigation, sworn statements are being taken from individuals who may have had contact with the alleged incident, Polk said.

Under the new law, a police officer cannot be suspended from the force until the board makes a decision. Until then, he can only be "reassigned" from active duty based on the discretion of the Sheriff.

City Judges Favor Court Elimination

The Florida Municipal Judges Association has agreed to sponsor a campaign to "save" city courts in the state. The courts are to be eliminated under Article V of the state constitution in January, 1977.

But, the campaign will receive no support from Seminole County's municipal judges, Gene R. Stephenson of Longwood and Altamonte Springs, and Newman Brock of Winter Springs.

Stephenson, a municipal judge for the past 10 years, today gave the move "only a fair chance" of success. The only fault he could find with the scheduled phasing out of municipal courts is the time factor, calling it a "little premature."

The problem most often cited by those opposing the phasing out, Stephenson noted, is that fewer county judges are available to handle the increased workload than are currently at work in the cities. But that problem could be solved, simply by naming more county judges, he said.

Probably the worst problem that will be seen after the phase-out is that the judges may not be familiar with the problems city residents may have, Stephenson said.

"Experience has shown that Article V—in other areas of judicial reform—is working well," he added.

Brock said today the association's position came as no great surprise to him, that in fact, he had been expecting it. "But their position has not caused me to change my initial position."

Police Warn Of Schemes

While shopping continues to rise in Seminole County as Christmas nears, the phony charity rip-offs that usually flourish during the holiday season have not occurred yet.

Sheriff's Department Capt. L. R. Rice emphasized the word "Yet" as he noted that the usual practice is for solicitors to check in with Sheriff's Capt. J. Q. (Slim) Galloway before beginning drives.

"We have a situation in this city where anyone going door to door must register with us," Longwood Police Chief Tom Hennigan said, adding that no registration fee is required.

"We do like to know that anyone soliciting is legitimate," he said. He asked city residents to be observant and check in with the department about questionable solicitors.

He said Longwood is being plagued with other sorts of crime, including two armed robberies in recent weeks, one during daytime. Another recent case was the robbery at knife-point of a high school youth. "It is going to get worse before it gets better," he predicted.

Hennigan said citizens can be very helpful to police by reporting any situation that "does not look right." "Call us, that is what we are here for," he said. "We would rather check out someone's suspicion and determine it is unfounded than not be notified of the suspicious happening," he said.

Altamonte Springs Police Chief Justus East, saying that no phony Christmas solicitation schemes have come to his department yet, advised those from whom contributions are being requested to check out credentials thoroughly.

"A legitimate operator is not offended by questions," he noted. "It is far better to ask questions than be ripped off."

Most Soft Coal Miners Back On Job After Strike Ends

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Most of the United Mine Workers' 120,000 soft coal miners were returning to work today, the first day of full production in most mines in almost a month.

There were only scattered reports of absences from the midwest shifts, the first full shifts since the strike began Nov. 12. A new three-year contract was approved last week by 56 per cent of those voting during the ratification process.

Some, mostly in Indiana and Illinois, said they would remain off the job until the UMW's construction workers had signed a contract with the Association of Bituminous Contractors.

Hefner Forewarned On Drugs

CHICAGO (AP) — The former head of security for Playboy Enterprises said he testified three months ago to a federal grand jury about drug use at the mansions of Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner in Chicago and Beverly Hills, Calif.

In a telephone interview, Allen H. Crawford said Sunday that he resigned his post last July because Playboy officials ignored his warnings about the "moral" problem and people of questionable character that might be associated with Playboy.

Seven Playboy employees reportedly have been subpoenaed to appear this week before a grand jury in Chicago in connection with a federal investigation by the Drug Enforcement Administration into drug use inside Hefner's enclaves.

Democrats Soft-Pedal Controls

KANSAS CITY (AP) — With ringing declarations of restored brotherhood, Democrats have sent their leaders back to Washington or home states to make good on promises to attack the nation's problems.

But two of the party's leading presidential possibilities already were soft-pedaling the key plank in an economic program adopted by the unprecedented Democratic miniconvention — strong economic controls.

Sens. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. of Texas and Birch Bayh of Indiana said in television appearances Sunday they considered wage-price controls a "last resort" in the economic battle. Meanwhile, back at the convention hall, Rep. Richard P. D. Tenn., chairman of an economic panel, said delegates were agreed that "some form of price and perhaps wage controls are necessary."

The return to the practical side of politics followed a euphoric finale to the miniconvention which adopted a party charter, endorsed an economic platform for the Democratic Congress and showed more unity than the Democrats have exhibited since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The economic package adopted Friday night was based on speeches by Democratic leaders from Capitol Hill. It called for controls on prices and all forms of income, tax reform, strict energy conservation, credit rationing, national health insurance and public service jobs.

The charter banned the quota system which had divided the party bitterly in 1972. It was replaced with a mandatory party charter, endorsed an economic platform for the Democratic Congress and showed more unity than the Democrats have exhibited since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The first constitution ever adopted by an American political party also bans discrimination, outlaws winner-take-all primaries, reforms delegate selection procedures for national conventions, opens all party meetings to the public and makes the national party supreme over state parties.

The real test of the new affirmative action substitute for quotas will come when the Compliance Review Commission rules on state programs and spells out what programs will satisfy the new rules.

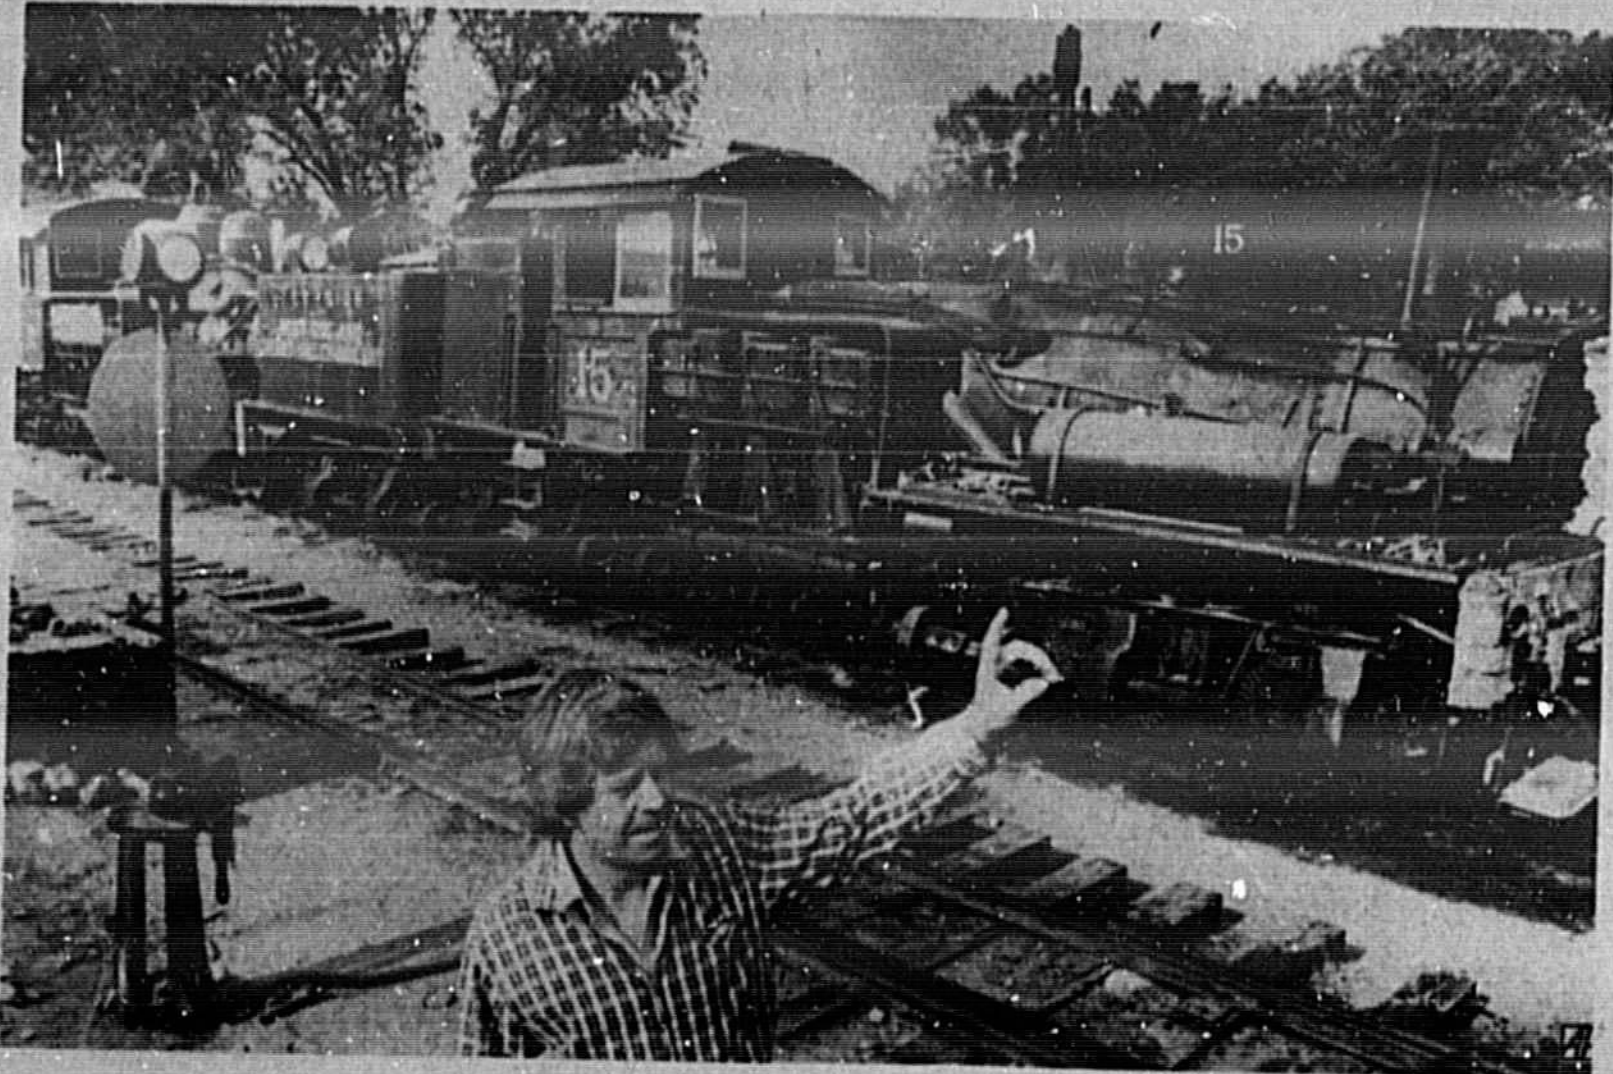

mean when the new charter says the reforms extend to "all party affairs." Some party regulars were complained that having to recruit women, blacks, youths and others every time a local committee wanted to conduct a fund-raising drive would be taking it too far.

Meanwhile, Terry Sanford, president of Duke University and former governor of North Carolina, said he has just about made up his mind to announce his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

reporiers Sunday at Kansas City. He said those doubts were decreasing "as time goes on."

Sanford has not held an elective office since he left the governorship in 1964. He made a brief bid for the presidential nomination in 1972, but was soundly defeated by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in the North Carolina primary, ending his campaign.

And Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, poised on the threshold of an announcement of his candidacy, said he was pleased with his reception at the miniconvention.

Inflation Yet To Squeeze State Budgets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is set to open final debate on Nelson A. Rockefeller's vice presidential nomination with overwhelming approval expected.

Senators opposed to the nomination of the former New York governor have asked for time to recount the details of the controversy that have slowed final action on the nomination.

The Rockefeller-related controversies revolve mainly around his gifts and loans to public officials and the potential impact of his family's billion-dollar fortune on the federal government if he becomes vice president.

The Senate Rules Committee recommended 9 to 0 last week that the nomination be approved. The House Judiciary Committee is expected to recommend approval.

Heiress June Hunt Seeking Success As Singer, Guitarist

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The daughter of H. L. Hunt and his second wife, "Peaches," says she doesn't believe money should rule her life. She just wants to make it as a singer.

"Peaches" is June Hunt, 29, the daughter of the Texas oilman who died Nov. 29. She is thought to be one of America's wealthiest women because of her father's fortune.

make it in the entertainment world on her talent as a singer and guitarist.

She says that her great wealth frightens some people she meets and causes resentment in others.

what she says this time? "I don't love you anymore."

June Hunt says her singing began as a child when her father would pull her up next to him at the supper table of their home in Dallas and insist that she sing tunes that he liked.

She studied music at Southern Methodist University, then launched into a career in religion, becoming a youth and college director of First Baptist Church in Dallas.

She began touring the country on speaking engagements that usually included some singing.

Miss Hunt's singing career got a boost in 1972 when she staged her own USO tour in Vietnam.

Then, Truth Records, part of Six Records in Memphis, became interested in her. The firm, famous for the "soul" music it produces, signed her as its first white female vocalist.

"The Little Blue Man" record is the first result. It will be promoted through use of toy blue men sent to record shops.

Statewide Search Launched For Four Women Escapees

LOWELL, Fla. (AP) — A statewide search was under way today for four women arrested by a local police officer Sunday.

Two of the escapees were serving life terms at the prison for first degree murder and additional time for previous prison escapes, officials said. They were all branded as "dangerous" by Rex Newman, spokesman for the Department of Corrections in Tallahassee.

11 Persons Killed In Auto Accidents

MIAMI (AP) — Police say a dozen small but loud explosions set by Cuban exiles observing Cuban Liberation Day sparked numerous calls to authorities but caused little damage.

When the explosions rocked Miami's Latin Community early Sunday, FBI agents, police patrol cars, a bomb squad and homicide investigators rushed through streets to blast locations.

The only damage they found was a portable toilet at a construction site that was ripped apart by an explosion and small holes in several streets. Police reported no injuries from the blasts, caused by small, unknown explosive devices.

William Schachl, 31, of Fort McCoy was killed Sunday when he lost control of his car and ran into a tree on State Road 315 north of Ocala.

Steven Ray Horn, age and address unknown, died when his car ran off State Road 62 Saturday and rolled over five times about 15 miles east of Parrish in Manatee County.

Troopers withheld immediate identification on a 23-year-old man from Tuscaloosa, Ala., who was a passenger in a car involved in a two-car collision Sunday in Key West.

Troopers said Terry Doyle of Deers was killed Sunday near her home.

Other fatal accidents reported by troopers were: An 18-year-old youth crouching or sitting in the highway was killed on state highway 15 on Friday when a rainstorm late Friday was struck and killed by an oncoming car when the driver swerved to avoid the cycle but failed to see the young man. The identity of the youth was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

12 Explosions Cause Minor Damage in Miami

MIAMI (AP) — Police say a dozen small but loud explosions set by Cuban exiles observing Cuban Liberation Day sparked numerous calls to authorities but caused little damage.

When the explosions rocked Miami's Latin Community early Sunday, FBI agents, police patrol cars, a bomb squad and homicide investigators rushed through streets to blast locations.

The only damage they found was a portable toilet at a construction site that was ripped apart by an explosion and small holes in several streets. Police reported no injuries from the blasts, caused by small, unknown explosive devices.

War Toys Return

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Tommy guns, cowboy holsters, plastic soldiers and other war toys taken off the nation's store shelves during the Vietnam War era but are a hot selling item this Christmas.

"It used to be that you didn't get a gun for Christmas, because you didn't want Kenny to be a war-monger," says Boca Raton toy maker Bill Cook. "Well the war's over now."

And if one kid on the block gets a bunch of toy soldiers, everyone comes over to play and the soldiers disappear like mad — I know, because that kid is always mine."

Barry Metzger, manager of Lionel Playworld, one of the largest toy stores in South Florida, said customer complaints forced the store to remove every war toy and most cowboy guns from its shelves during the Vietnam years.

11 Persons Killed In Auto Accidents

MIAMI (AP) — Police say a dozen small but loud explosions set by Cuban exiles observing Cuban Liberation Day sparked numerous calls to authorities but caused little damage.

When the explosions rocked Miami's Latin Community early Sunday, FBI agents, police patrol cars, a bomb squad and homicide investigators rushed through streets to blast locations.

The only damage they found was a portable toilet at a construction site that was ripped apart by an explosion and small holes in several streets. Police reported no injuries from the blasts, caused by small, unknown explosive devices.

William Schachl, 31, of Fort McCoy was killed Sunday when he lost control of his car and ran into a tree on State Road 315 north of Ocala.

Steven Ray Horn, age and address unknown, died when his car ran off State Road 62 Saturday and rolled over five times about 15 miles east of Parrish in Manatee County.

Troopers withheld immediate identification on a 23-year-old man from Tuscaloosa, Ala., who was a passenger in a car involved in a two-car collision Sunday in Key West.

Troopers said Terry Doyle of Deers was killed Sunday near her home.

Other fatal accidents reported by troopers were: An 18-year-old youth crouching or sitting in the highway was killed on state highway 15 on Friday when a rainstorm late Friday was struck and killed by an oncoming car when the driver swerved to avoid the cycle but failed to see the young man. The identity of the youth was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Martha A. Griffin, 33, Jacksonville, was pinned by her car after it went out of control of a curve, struck a power pole and rolled over in Marion County Saturday.

The car, driven by Virgil Lee Hutchins, 24, of Tampa, swerved to avoid a vehicle pulled into its path and struck a tree. The accident took place near Tampa Friday night.

WORLD IN BRIEF

European Countries Agree To Buy U.S. Jets

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Norway, Denmark and the Netherlands have decided to buy American jet fighters built by General Dynamics to replace their aging U.S.-made F104 Starfighters, the Oslo daily Morgenbladet said today.

The usually well-informed newspaper said Norway's Defense Minister Alv Jakob Fostervoll will give a briefing in Brussels today on the decision to recommend purchase of the Texas firm's F16 jet.

The paper said Belgium, which had joined the three governments in selecting a new plane for their air forces, had not made up its mind but would probably also buy the $-million F16.

Belgian and Dutch government spokesmen expressed surprise at the Oslo report. A Belgian Foreign Ministry spokesman said in Brussels he had not heard of any decision and did not expect any until next month.

Fighting Continues

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The Saigon command reported a fourth straight day of fierce fighting and shelling attacks today in the southern half of South Vietnam and along the border with Cambodia.

The command said casualties in the fighting had risen to more than 2,600 on both sides. It reported 248 government troops killed, 890 wounded and 210 missing and claimed 118 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops killed, many by air and artillery strikes.

Military officials acknowledged that security had deteriorated in the fertile Mekong Delta south of Saigon, where the bulk of the attacks were concentrated, and in the Binh province bordering Cambodia to the northwest of the capital. But the officials claimed the Viet Cong had taken a heavy beating.

Archbishop Convicted

JERUSALEM (AP) — An Israeli court today convicted the Greek Catholic archbishop of Jerusalem of smuggling arms for Arab terrorists in Israel.

Mgr. Hilarion Capodji, a Syrian and the leader of about 400 Christians in the Holy Land, could get a maximum sentence of 35 years in prison. But legal sources said he probably would be expelled from Israel.

The Jerusalem District Court convicted the 49-year-old prelate on three counts: making contact with a foreign agent, the military commander of the Palestine Liberation Organization, carrying and possessing illegal weapons, and working for an illegal organization.

Japan Gets New Minister

TOKYO (AP) — Takeo Miki, a reformer and veteran politician, became prime minister of Japan today. He inherited the problems of an inflation-ridden economy and the task of trying to clean up the image of the ruling Liberal Democratic party. Miki, 67, got 278 of the 483 votes cast in the lower house of the Diet and 249 in the upper house. Miki was chosen last Wednesday to succeed Kakuei Tanaka as president of the ruling party and prime minister. Tanaka resigned last month after mounting criticism over allegations that he used his position in amassing his personal fortune.

Students Bury U Thant

By The Associated Press
Burmese students buried U Thant on their campus in defiance of his family and the government; Malaysian police seized several more student protest leaders, and more unrest was reported in South Vietnam and in South Korea.

U Thant, the former secretary-general of the United Nations, was buried Sunday in a mausoleum students hastily constructed on the campus of Rangoon University.

Tough Decisions Face Market Leaders

PARIS (AP) — Common Market leaders gathered today for a two-day summit conference. A key question was whether France was ready to join the others in accepting the United States proposal for a common front against the oil exporting countries.

The other eight members of the European Economic Community have generally endorsed Washington's proposal that the major oil consumers unite for eventual price negotiations with the Arabs and other members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

France has refused to join such a consumers' club, seeks separate deals with the oil states and urges holding an immediate conference of consumers, producers and exporting nations.

French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues told newsmen after West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt returned from Washington and talked by telephone with Giscard. The fact that the French were not going to press their European partners for support was taken by some diplomats to indicate that Schmidt may have worked out a compromise.

The energy question is just one of the tough problems that the market leaders face in Paris. The nine—Britain, France, West Germany, Ireland, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Denmark — are expected also to consider more frequent meetings and a pledge to work more closely on economic matters.

The agenda does not include British bids for cheaper membership terms in the Market, but conference sources said Prime Minister Harold Wilson is determined to bring up the subject. France and some of the other members are against any change.

Fight Brewing On Turkey Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid program is headed for a Senate-House battle over Turkey in the face of a move in the House to shut off that aid immediately.

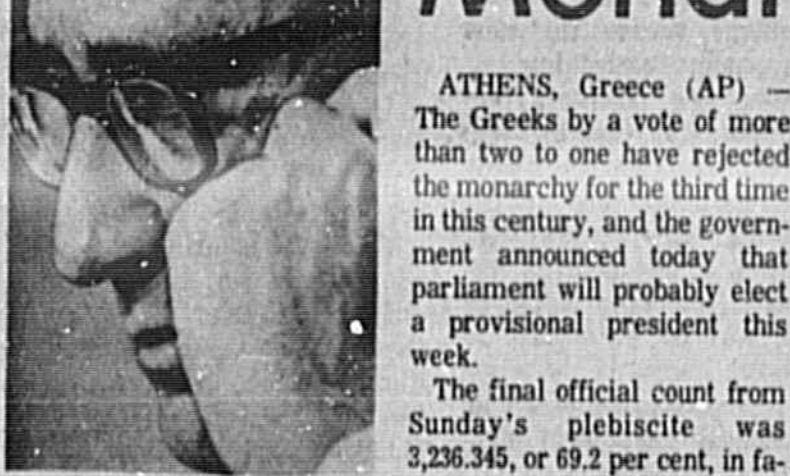

House Republicans planned to caucus on the troubled bill today. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was to go before the House Foreign Affairs Committee later today to appeal for approval of the aid program.

House rejection of the $2.6 billion foreign aid bill would not kill the program. It could still be funded under a stop-gap continuing resolution to leave its fate up to the new Congress convening in January.

In approving the continuing resolution earlier this year, the House voted the cutoff by margins up to three to one before the November elections. This indicates that Kissinger's amendment will set up a House-Senate fight that could last into the present Congress adjourns, probably at the end of next week.

But Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., a leader of the move to cut off U.S. military aid to Turkey, effective Tuesday, vowed to try to place a cutoff clause in any such continuing resolution.

The Senate voted last week to delay the Turkish aid cutoff until Feb. 1. But Rosenthal said he will oppose delay unless even without the Turkish aid dispute — and said he blames Kissinger.

"Kissinger's carrying foreign policy around in his vest pocket, and when he's gone nothing happens," Whalen said in an interview.

Whalen contended that one result was that administration lobbyists may not be able to keep together the coalition of House Republicans and Democrats that passed foreign aid by only five votes last year.

Greeks Reject Monarchy Again

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greeks by a vote of more than two to one have rejected the monarchy for the third time in this century, and the government announced today that parliament will probably elect a provisional president this week.

The final official count from Sunday's plebiscite was 3,236,345, or 69.2 per cent, in favor of a republic and 1,443,804 votes, or 30.9 per cent, for the return of the monarchy. Twenty-five per cent of the eligible voters did not vote.

With 92 per cent of the vote in Sunday's plebiscite counted, the government said 2.8 million, or 68.9 per cent, voted for Greece to continue as a republic, while 1.3 million, or 31.2 per cent, voted for the return of 34-year-old King Constantine.

Almost 85 per cent of the eligible voters did not vote. The leading candidate for the provisional presidency, a large figurehead, is former premier Panayiotis Kanelopoulos, 72.

He will be replaced in a national election. But before that is held Premier Constantine Caramanlis will submit a new constitution or constitutional amendments to Parliament defining the Presidential Powers.

It is not known yet whether he will propose a strong presidency, like the American and French presidencies, or a weak figurehead, with policy as well as government administration remaining the province of the premier elected by parliament.

Other government sources said the former king would be wise for him to attempt to return in the near future.

Constantine has been living in England with his wife, who was the Danish Princess Anne-Marie, and their three children.

The rejection of the monarchy was generally expected, but the size of the vote against it surprised some observers.

There was no immediate comment on the outcome of the plebiscite from ex-King Constantine, who fled from Greece in 1967 after an abortive attempt to overthrow the military

Soviets Ready For Space Link

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet experts say they are ready for next summer's Soviet-American space linkup following completion of the six-day Soyuz 16 space flight. They said it was a success.

Cosmonauts Anatoly Filipchenko and Nikolai Rukavishnikov landed in Central Asia just after noon Sunday, Tass reported. The two men, who are the backup crew for the joint Soyuz-Apollo flight in July, both felt fine, the official news agency said.

"We are confident that we are ready for the 1975 flight," Cosmonaut Alexei Yeliseyev said in a television interview. He is involved in planning the Soviet-American mission.

"Our system is ready," said scientist Vladimir Syrovatkin.

Solzhenitsyn

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Alexander Solzhenitsyn has met here with American evangelist Billy Graham, who says they talked about the "need for a religious awakening throughout the world."

Graham said Sunday the titled Soviet writer's "grasp of both history and theology is amazing," and Solzhenitsyn "has the kind of intellect and moral courage that the world so desperately needs today."

Pope Paul VI

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI has paid a traditional visit to the Monument of Mary near the Spanish Steps in Rome to mark the Feast of the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin.

The Pope rode to the monument Sunday in an open limousine, waved to a crowd of several thousand, then prayed there.

Pierre Trudeau

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada says the United States has suffered "a decline of moral leadership," but remains in a predominant position of leadership among nations.

"I mean that the mood in the world over the past few years has been one of less acceptance of the overwhelming moral and political and economic leadership of the United States," Trudeau said in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News & World Report.

Bobby Fischer

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass is speculating that Bobby Fischer may defend his world chess championship by playing Brazilian grandmaster Henrique Mecking rather than Anatoly Karpov, a Soviet player.

The Soviet news agency Saturday night called Mecking's challenge ludicrous because he lost to Viktor Korchnoi of the Soviet Union in a quarter-final competition.

Korchnoi lost to Karpov last month in the chess challengers final.

"Fischer probably is far from being convinced, as some would like to think, of his victory over the young Soviet grandmaster, if he chooses Mecking as a rival," Tass said in a commentary entitled "Would Robert Fischer Like a Weaker Rival?"

WOMEN

DEAR ABBY 'Miserable' Isn't Any More

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Will you do me (and countless thousands of teen-aged girls) a tremendous favor and re-run the letter and your reply from your column of September 6, 1968?

I wrote it, and now I want to write a "P.S." Thank You... "D"

DEAR "D": With pleasure: DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl and my problem is my mother. I hate her. It may sound terrible to you, but I really hate her. I used to think I would get over it, but I know now I never will.

Sometimes I think I will go out of my mind if she doesn't quit picking on me. I never do anything to suit her. She doesn't like my clothes, my hair, my friends or anything.

My friends are not bums, either. They are good kids and they aren't wild or on pot or anything like that, but my mother says they look like hippies, and they are not.

Please help me, Abby, before I run away from home. I cry myself to sleep at night because my mother is so hateful. If I babysit, she makes me put the money in the bank. Other girls can buy records or do whatever they want with the money they earn.

Don't tell me to talk to my father. He's always on her side. And don't tell me my mother "loves" me and is only doing things for my own good. If you print my letter, don't sign name or I'll get killed."

MISERABLE IN PHOENIX "DEAR MISERABLE: Your letter doesn't shock me at all. I receive many such letters each week. Almost every normal teenager alternately loves and hates his parents.

It's not easy to be criticized, restricted, corrected and disciplined day in and day out. But parents who really love their children, prove it by consistently letting their children know what is expected of them. Parents who are "soft" and permissive rear confused, insecure children.

I don't expect you to agree with me today, but keep this letter and read it again three years from now, and then you'll understand it perfectly. Good luck, dear. You're lucky. You are loved."

DEAR ABBY: Now, for my "P.S." I am no longer "Miserable." I am grateful. I am 20 years old now, Abby, and I just found that clipping tucked away in my 1968 diary. (I am "cleaning out my closets" because I am going to be married next June, and I'll be moving.)

You were right. My parents were stricter than the parents of my friends, but now I realize that they set extra high standards for me because they loved me and wanted me to be proud of myself.

I am graduating from college in June, and marrying a wonderful man on the following Saturday. How can I thank you?

"D" IN PHOENIX "DEAR ABBY: My husband loves to hunt, and he gets positively rabid when anyone mentions any kind of gun control. I've always hated guns, and think that handguns should not be manufactured except for use by law enforcers.

The other day my husband came home with bumper stickers on our new car. They said: "Guns don't kill people. People kill people."

I finally had to agree that those bumper stickers made a lot of sense. No? DEAR SOOTHEE: Prepare to become soothed. That bumper sticker should read, "Guns don't kill people, but people with guns kill people." Run that through your old rifle barrel a couple of times.

POLLY'S POINTERS Kitchen Carpet Stain Is Toughie

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Grease from the stove has splashed on the indoor-outdoor carpet in our kitchen making a circle about one foot across. We have used cleaners and a vinegar solution but nothing helped. Just before this happened the carpet had been cleaned by a professional so this was a disaster budget wise. Any suggestions will be appreciated.—MRS. M.K.

DEAR MRS. M.K. — One maker of such carpet suggests that for very heavy grease spots one applying a dry-cleaning fluid, such as used for spot cleaning clothes, and then a solution made of one teaspoon white vinegar and one teaspoon of a neutral detergent, such as used for delicate fabrics, mixed in a quart of warm water. Re-apply cleaning solution. BIOT (not rub) gently with a clean cloth beginning at outer edges. Do not apply so much liquid that the backing will become wet. Hurry along the drying process by blotting up as much as possible with another clean cloth or paper towels. Things used previously may hinder the workability of anything used. If any stain has had time to dry and set, it is going to be hard to remove.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Perse is with those thread "eyes" put at the necklines of dresses instead of metal ones and supposed to be used with a hook. I find it very difficult to fasten the thread type and often the garment fabric is pulled by constant trying to reach and find that elusive thread "eye." —EDNA

DEAR POLLY — Those who crochet a lot should try removing the inside from an old ball-point pen and pushing the crochet needle through the outside part. Start to crochet and discover how relaxed your hand and arm are as you work at a favorite pastime. —MRS. A.D.R.

DEAR POLLY — I save the cardboard cores from large rolls of Christmas gift wrapping paper so when I take down the Christmas tree I can wrap the lights around the tubes, candy-cane style. The ends are taped to the tube. The following year the lights are ready to unroll with no tangles. This is especially good for miniature lights. When storing tree ornaments wrap each one in a facial tissue. —LENA

DEAR LENA — Even before we were so conscious of saving anything and everything, we used tissue that came on gifts for wrapping ornaments to be sure! —POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Coloring my hair at home is not such a task now that I can see what I am doing. I washed and dried a pair of used plastic gloves and cut off the fingers, including an inch or so of the hand section. I slip these fingers over the bows of my glasses and secure near the lens with plastic tape. Twisting the plastic fingers will also give a closer fit. —BETTY

Champagne Ball: A Sparkling Affair

The sparkle of free-flowing champagne was reflected in every merry eye and beaming smile Saturday night, as 200 Seminole Mutual Concert Association members and guests partied till the wee hours at the annual Champagne Ball, held this year in the splendid clubhouse at The Forest, Lake Mary.

The towering glass structure, set amid pine and oak woods, and glittering with myriad lights, saw the elegantly groomed ladies and their escorts dressed in party best, chatting over tasty and beautifully presented hors d'oeuvres, swinging to the lively strains of the Sounds Interesting orchestra from Jacksonville, and hearty appetites and subdued festive high spirits with a scrumptious breakfast and plentiful piping hot coffee served by Meiner's of Orlando.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kirk, charming hosts at Champagne Ball

Responsible for this social highlight of the year, was receptions and hospitality committee chairman, Mrs. Bill (Jeri) Kirk and her Champagne Ball committee members, Mrs. Norman (Liz) Helfrich, Frank Mebane, Donald (Barbara) Jackson, Mrs. William (Nancy) Kirk Jr., Jack Burney, Mrs. June Lorman, and Mrs. Boyd (Nell) Coleman.

Charming in a flowing white gown of classic shirtwaist design, Mrs. Kirk surely deserves the "hostess with the mostess" award for 1974. Her hors d'oeuvres committee, headed by Mrs. William (Lucy) Layer, Mrs. Frank (Elizabeth) Mebane, and Mrs. Woodrow (Vi) Clark, wife of Mutual Concert's president, and one of the evening's congenial hosts, wins the "gourmet award" for the splendid fare they provided.

Always an affair of high fashion, the Champagne Ball this year reflected the return to elegance and femininity all the fashion leaders have been predicting for the 1974-75 holiday season. Flowing in gowns of classic shirtwaist design, Mrs. Kirk surely deserves the "hostess with the mostess" award for 1974. And not to be outdone by this bevy of female beauty, the gentlemen came attired in a rainbow of tuxedos, blue and pink and yellow with black trim, in scarlet and green and shiny jackets, and many in ruffled and lace-trimmed shirts.

Marking Calendar Aids Cancer Check

By ELEANOR R. RODGERSON, M.D. The Herald Services

Q. I read about Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Rockefeller having their breasts removed because of cancer. I'm worried about my own now. What can I do for myself?

A. These two women have probably performed a great public service by bringing this problem forcibly to the attention of the women of the United States and the world. Cancer of the breast is the commonest cancer in women.

The greatest single thing you can do is to examine your own breasts frequently, every month about a week after a menstrual period. Before a menstrual period they are often normally swollen and tender from the action of your hormones. Afterwards they recede and are easier to feel.

Many women excuse themselves by saying, "I always forget!" You can tie your self-examination to something you do regularly, like taking a shower or bath, when you start your birth control pills each month, a specific date each month, a mark on the calendar.

A help in diagnosis in X-ray mammography and the new Xerox visualization that looks like a builder's blueprint rather than an X-ray and shows up abnormalities well. The treatment by surgery is far less mutilating than it used to be, particularly when a lesion is caught early. Radiation therapy has also improved with a judicious combination of these two is yielding much better results cosmetically and psychologically than before. Don't, however, become obsessed with palpating your breasts and worrying about them all the time. Treat the procedure as simple preventive medicine. Use it and forget about it between times.

BETTY I was just in the most cosmetic new unit in town! Have you seen it? 312 N. HWY 17-92 321-7900

Dolphins, Steelers Cop NFL Division Titles

DON SHULA

By The Associated Press
Don Shula kept the faith and Franco Harris accepted the challenge. So the Miami Dolphins — shooting for their third straight Super Bowl crown — and the Pittsburgh Steelers — longing for their first one — each won division championships in the National Football League Sunday.

New England as the Steelers won 21-17 and captured the AFC Central crown. "I expected it would be a real grind-out game," said Harris. "It was a real challenge."
Detroit, meanwhile, beat Cincinnati 23-19, winning in the final 29 seconds, and this is how the playoff picture stands:

American Conference
Buffalo at Pittsburgh.
National Conference
St. Louis or Washington at Minnesota.
St. Louis or Washington or Dallas or Detroit at Los Angeles.

On Saturday, Dallas beat Cleveland 41-17 to keep its playoff hopes flickering and Minnesota whipped Atlanta 23-10.
Dolphins 17, Colts 16
Bob Griese passed four yards to Howard Twilley and Larry Conka scored on a one-yard trip to give the Dolphins a 4-0 lead. Garo Yepremian tacked on a field goal which proved the difference as Baltimore got three field goals from Tom Linhart and a two-yard, four-quarter scoring pass from Bert Jones to Bill Oels.
"The yardage really surprises me, I can't believe I got that much," said Harris of the 59 carries that netted him 136 yards and a TD for the Steelers.

Redskins Need Win For Playoff Berth

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Washington's Redskins battle for the only remaining spot in the National Football League Super Bowl playoffs tonight facing the Los Angeles Rams who already are set to go in the postseason event.

Coach George Allen, a familiar figure at the Coliseum, brings his Redskins to town with an 8-4 record in the NFC East and just one-half game behind leading St. Louis.

A victory over the favored Rams would guarantee Washington a spot in the playoffs, but as of now, three teams are in contention — the Redskins, Dallas and Detroit.

Despite winning the Western title and boasting a 9-3 record, Coach Chuck Knox of the Rams declared, "We don't plan to do anything. We're not where we want to be yet. We want to continue to grow."

The kickoff for the nationally televised game is slated for 8 p.m., PST, at the same Coliseum where Allen was head coach of the Rams for five seasons, compiling a 49-17 record with that club from 1966 through 1970. This time a crowd of about 65,000 is expected with the game blacked out locally.

When he returned with the Redskins in 1971 for a Monday night game, Allen's club won 38-2 to grab a playoff spot and eliminate the Rams that year.

Washington quarterback Bill Kilmer can be expected to give the young Los Angeles secondary a big test. He and Sonny Jurgensen have completed 60 per cent of their passes this season.

Washington could go into a tie with St. Louis in the Eastern Division with a victory meaning that one of those two would reach the playoffs as a champion the following week and the other as the wild card with the best record among second-place finishers.

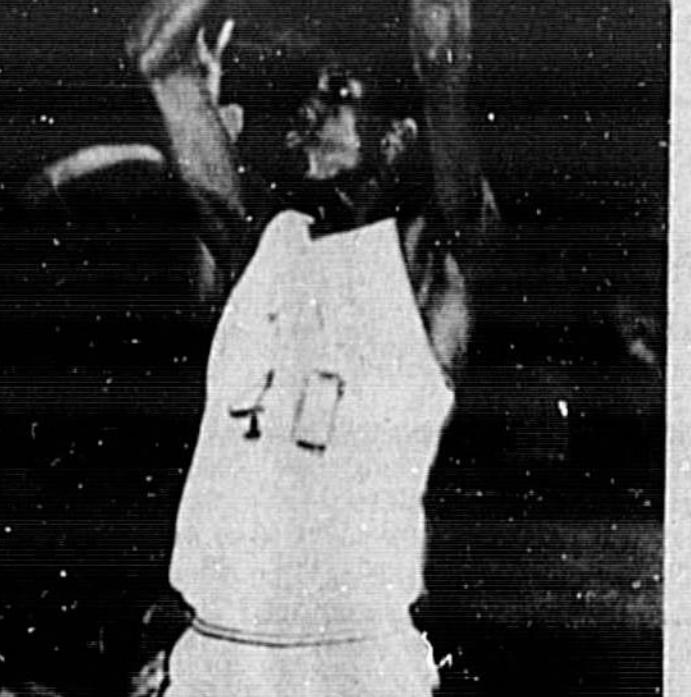

Dallas has posted an 8-5 record and Detroit 7-6 with both still in the running for the wild card spot should Washington lose. All then would depend on results of the final Sunday of the regular season.

Knox has his troops in good physical shape and plans no changes in his starting alignment although admitting he will continue giving reserves added playing time to strengthen the club for playoff competition.

The starting quarterback will have James Harris at quarterback and Lawrence McCutchen and Jim Bertelsen at running back. McCutchen leads all NFC rushers with 1,064 yards.

Statistically, the two clubs are close. The Rams are rated as three-point favorites. On offense, the Rams are fourth in the NFC — second in rushing and sixth in passing. The Redskins are fifth — 12th in rushing and second in passing.

Seminole's Raiders Fall To Polk Again

CHIP NOE

For the second time in 11 days, the Raiders of Seminole Junior College were knocked off by a Kent Glover-led group from Polk County Junior College.

Glover canned 31 points on his home court Dec. 6 as the Vikings squeaked past the Raiders 83-80. This time around the sharp-shooting guard poured in 29 markers, but the visitors had a much easier time as they came away with a 92-85 decision.

The locals were ahead at halftime Saturday night, 40-38, but Glover and company came out hustling in the second half and simply overwhelmed the less talented Raiders.

"We got beat on the boards," was S.J.C. Coach Joe Sterling's answer for the letdown of his squad.

"They are an excellent basketball team, and they outbounced us in the second half. Our offense had trouble getting untracked when we came back on the floor and the jumper out to a double figure lead. When we started playing ball again, it was too late to catch up," Sterling concluded.

The smaller but higher jumping Vikings limited the Raiders to one shot at a time during most of the fatal final half. Also, superiority on the boards allowed a lightning-quick fast break to begin.

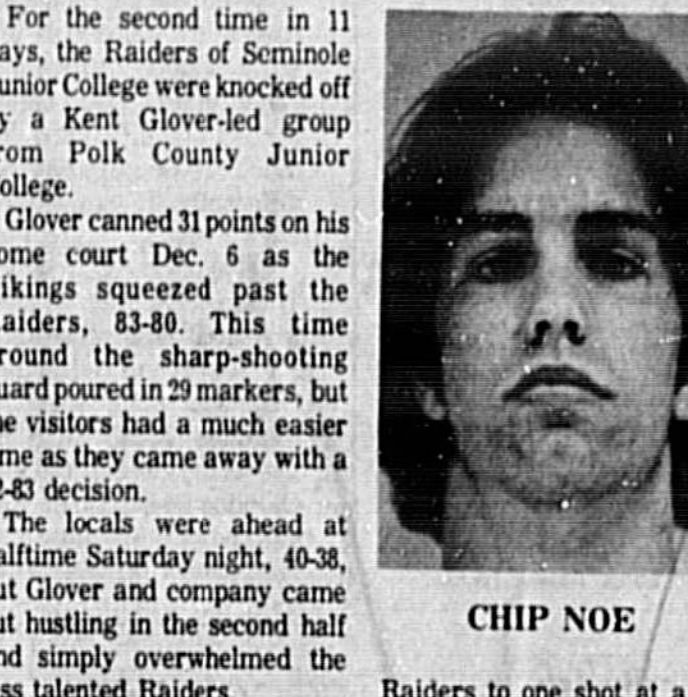

Coming down with ball after an errant Raider shot, one of the Vikings big men would whirl and hit a streaking guard who had no right things right the "turning" — almost, unnoticed.

The loss dropped the Raiders' record to a 4-3 mark while Polk now stands at 5-2, as both teams came into the fray with like 4-2 records.

Freshman guard Ken Atkins led Seminole's scorers with 16 points while Chip Noe contributed 14 and Freeman Kennelbrew added 10 en route. Sanford Seminole hit graduate Vernon Johnson high for eight points for the Raiders.

On Wednesday the losing battle with Western Athletic Conference member along with the Raiders returns to DeLand to take on always powerful Western Kentucky at the new Edmunds Activities Center on Thursday.

Stetson's Hatters Stun California Bears 59-43

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.

Stetson University's Hatters, sporting a 2-0 record and one of the best defensive clubs in the school's history, took on the University of New Mexico here tonight in what should prove to be a real test for the charges of Coach Glenn Wilkes.

Wilkes brings his 2-0 quintet here fresh from a stunning 59-43 upset victory over the University of California at Berkeley on Saturday. In the two games the Hatters have played, they've allowed the opposition an average of only 50.1 points-per-game, which might lead the nation in defense. (Marshall University felt the Hatter sting last Thursday, bowing 73-58.) California was limited to just 18 field goals in Saturday's contest and the Golden Bears were held to a 20-per cent shooting average in the first half and only four field goals in their first 20 attempts.

Citing the tenacious play of Fred Ross, Wilkes said, "Defense is still the name of the game and Fred just has to be the best defensive defensive player in the country the way he played against California. He was something super."

Stetson were never behind in the contest, jumping out to a 13-0 lead at the outset and then out-scoring the Bears 18-12 in the opening minutes of the second game and Fred just has to be the best defensive defensive player in the country the way he played against California. Salvation Army Kettle Drive On

The Salvation Army of Sanford is again preparing to provide Christmas for those who would otherwise have none.

The familiar kettles and bells made their appearance on the streets of Sanford manned by employees, individual volunteers and members of civic clubs.

Last year, with the help of these people on the kettles and that of the citizens of the community who responded to the mail appeal, 120 families were helped with food and toys and an additional 39 families, mostly elderly or disabled people were helped with food only.

Committee Asks Support For Zoo

The Civic Affairs Committee of the Winter Park Chamber of Commerce recently passed a resolution urging the City of Winter Park and the Board of Directors of the Chamber to take appropriate action to assist the Central Florida Zoological Park in Sanford.

Lake Mary Rider Wins In Parade

Francis Boyd of Lake Mary has been named the winner of the 1974 Horse and Rider competition in the annual Sanford Christmas parade, according to Mrs. Joan King, editor and publisher of Florida Horse and Rider magazine, which sponsors the trophy.

Indecision Is Quality For Stardom

By JAMES BACON

Out of Chicago comes one of those dark handsome Irishmen with the Tyrone Power good looks. George Shannon, just 30, is the son of a one-time Chicago police captain, lead of that city's vice squad. He's also a first cousin of Dan Shannon, Notre Dame's all-American end of some years back who made television's most famous bone-crushing tackle. If you don't remember it, ask actor Jack Ging. Jack was the Oklahoma back who was hit so hard by Shannon that it rocked TV tubes in every set tuned in. George has come to Hollywood via New York. "After seven years in New York, working in 35 plays, three feature films, 100 commercials, 20 industrial films and a soap opera, I felt the time was right to make it to Hollywood. "In the few months I've been here, I've acquired a great agent — Meyer Mishkin, have done a few commercials for Chevrolet and a 'Kojak.' "Next I go to the Canary Islands to co-star with Jean Seberg in 'Frontier Palace Hotel.' "Believe me, after all the gloom stories I heard about Hollywood in New York, that's a hell of a lot better than I thought I would be doing." George's timing is good. That may be why Mishkin took him on as a client. Meyer is the agent who developed Lee Marvin from a bit player to $1-million-plus star.

The movies now are heavy into the Robert Redford look in leading men instead of the rugged heroes of a decade ago. It will be interesting to follow George's career. His acting credentials are impressive. He first studied drama at the University of Chicago and then went into the famed Second City Improvisational theater for three years. This is the group that produced such luminaries as Mike Nicklaus, Elaine May, Valerie Harper and a few others making it big out here. From there he went to New York and spent four years at the Actors Studio with Lee Strasberg. He also did a half dozen off-Broadway plays in that period. Last year he topped it all off with the lead in Fernando Arrabal's new film, "J'irai Comme un Cheval Fou" and six months in the NBC-TV daytime soapier "How to Survive a Marriage." No, George was not a football player like his cousin. But he once was named national all-star centerfielder in the American Legion poll. Major league clubs offered him bonus contracts but, in those days, he wanted to be a doctor and entered pre-med at the University of Chicago. After two years, he switched to electrical engineering and then he switched to law. Just as it looked as if he would become a lawyer, he wrote a play. From playwright to actor was not such a big step. "My first part at the University of Chicago Summer Theater was the part of 'Valere' in 'The Miser' by Moliere. I was hooked." He certainly has one of the basic qualities for stardom — indecision.

'Top Banana' Origin Found In Burlesque

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD NANA — This is the definitive word on the origin of Top Banana as delivered by Jack Haley Sr.

"When burlesque was at its apex, there were two circuits with theaters in every principal city in the United States. Each show traveled with three comedians. They were designated first comedian, second comedian and third comedian. The first comedian was the most important. He was a burlesque star. "When the ever-changing fates of show business doomed burlesque, both circuits folded and in their wake a sort of stock burlesque surfaced. This stock burlesque consisted of chorus, minor principals who sang and danced and two comedians. "A star comedian was imported periodically to join the stock company. When he met with the two comics they discussed the comedy bits that would be used for the upcoming shows."

It should be noted here that burlesque sketches are seldom rehearsed, only discussed. All the comics know the various sketches and wing them on stage. Lou Costello once told me that.

Haley's note continues with a facsimile conversation: "What do you play in the Banana Bit?"

"I'm second comic."

"I'm third," says the other comedian.

"Through usage, this conversation developed into 'I'm second banana.' 'I'm third banana.' And, of course, the imported star was top banana.

And from that time on, every star burlesque comic was known as top banana. "How much you want to bet that some other comic will write in with a different explanation. Haley's sounds the most logical yet."

Dropped out to the Windsor Gallery the other night to chat with one of my favorite artists, Leroy Neiman, whose works are on exhibit there.

He's also quite a salesman. LeRoy, probably the outstanding painter of sports figures, touted a serigraph of Jack Nicklaus' finishing his tee shot.

"Hang that in your living room and I'll guarantee you'll take 10 strokes off your game," said LeRoy.

Told him that Jack Nicklaus in person couldn't take 10 strokes off my game. Once down at the Bob Hope Desert Classic, I was hitting balls next to Jack on the driving range. He looked at my swing and gave me a private lesson for free.

Went out to the Indian Wells course and promptly shot one of the worst rounds of golf in my life.

Stan Davis is such a practical joker. He stole the safety belt off Mickey Rooney's tricycle.

Airing Delights Networks

NEW YORK (AP) — Two network news presidents say they're delighted by a federal judge's memorandum that may pave the way for broadcast of White House tapes played during the Watergate cover-up trial.

But Richard S. Salant of CBS and Richard Wald of NBC agree it sets no legal precedent for eventually permitting live or delayed broadcast coverage of federal court cases they'd like to cover electronically. "I don't think it goes that far," Salant said of U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell's memo, which last week indicated the tapes probably will be released for broadcast after the cover-up trial ends.

"He was exceedingly clear that it doesn't set that kind of precedent," said Wald, emphasizing that this wasn't the intent of the broadcasters who sought court permission to air the tapes.

Bill Sheehan, ABC News president, was in Hawaii on business and couldn't be reached for comment. His network, NBC, CBS, the Public Broadcasting Service, the Radio and Television News Directors Association and record firms had asked the U.S. District Court in Washington if they could copy the tapes.

Prior to that request, filed as a legal motion, CBS newsmen Fred Graham and his NBC and CBS colleagues informally had asked the trial's presiding judge, John J. Sirica, for permission to air tapes played at the trial.

Sirica informally denied permission after seeking guidance from Judge George H. Hart Jr., head of the federal district court in Washington, who gave Sirica consensus of opinion by the court's judges.

Hart, in a memo to Sirica, said the judges felt verbatim tape transcripts provided the press "appear to constitute more than adequate disclosure" to the public of the tapes' contents. As far as broadcast coverage of federal trials, both he and Salant say that still is something their networks would like to do. "We think we can do it unobtrusively and we think that the courts will agree with us in the future," Wald said. "But this case has nothing to do with that."

Reader Misformed About Vitamins

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have been told that chemists, as well as medical scientists, proved many years ago that synthetic vitamins cannot be part of human tissue, because they are inorganic and the body will reject them. And, the only vitamin that a chemical vitamin can do is to stimulate or nudge a sick or lazy cell. Is this true?

Coin Dealer J. M. Blythe says more people becoming Numismatists

Gold Impact Is Uncertain

California, the Black Hills of Dakota, the frozen Yukon and now Wall Street?

That's right. The Street's big boys are gearing up and jockeying for marketing positions in the Great American Gold Rush of '75 scheduled to begin Jan. 1.

American citizens may then dash out with their dollars (those who have them) clutching in their hands filled with visions of budding inflation through the purchase of gold bullion and futures.

Gold bullion price at the world's major markets—London, Zurich, Frankfurt, Tokyo and Winnipeg—have skyrocketed at a rate of almost 200 per cent in the past year, according to J. M. Blythe, owner of the Seminole Coin Shop here.

The major brokerage houses in the countries have kept the printers busy with publication of prospectuses for their marketing operations. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc. will team up with the Montagu company of London, and Handy & Hardiman, two large bullion and futures dealers, to form Merrill Montagu, Handy & Hardiman to market gold bars and wafers, to the American buyers.

Bache & Co., E. F. Hutton & Co. Inc., Paine, Webber, Jackson & Co., E. F. Hutton & Co. Inc., Paine, Webber, Reynolds Securities Inc. have underwritten Bars of Gold Inc., which will market gold futures to Americans.

Other companies will jump into the act, and soon buying a bar of gold will be as easy as calling your stockbroker and placing the order.

But Blythe just sits back at his desk, listening to the chatter of a teletype spewing forth the prices of gold, and other precious metals from all over the world, and smiles to himself. He's doing his own thing, which he says is proving highly profitable to quite a few Seminole County citizens — buying and selling gold and other coins of value.

Bankers in Seminole County are not enthused over the prospect of gold being sold the first of the year.

James McVeigh, cashier at Sun Bank of Fern Park, is "leery of the sale of gold."

Emphasizing the speculative nature of gold sale, McVeigh said in a letter from the federal reserve bank in Atlanta, "Gold is not legal tender, the letter states. Rather, it is a highly speculative commodity subject to widely fluctuating prices."

In light of these circumstances, state member banks will proceed cautiously should they decide to provide gold related services to customers," the letter said.

McVeigh, who teaches classes at American Institute of Banking, added that the most recent issue of "Pratt's letter" published by a Washington concern considered an authority on banking, also warns bankers about the prospective sale of gold.

Quoting from Pratt's letter, McVeigh said the sale of gold, if not highly regulated, could possibly hurt the economy.

"Every dollar that is drained out of the bank for gold purchase is a dollar the bank does not have to lend to help business and the sluggish economy," he said.

If the Sun Bank chain does offer the sale of gold, McVeigh said, it would be through its main outlet in Orlando. "I don't know whether the sale will be via gold certificates or if actual gold will be exchanged," he said.

"The individual who deals in gold could lose or gain a bundle," McVeigh said, noting he feels banks will be obligated to explain the speculative nature of the transactions.

George Foster, president of Barnett Bank of Seminole County, at Altamonte Springs,

Mills Won't Seek Ways, Means Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., will not seek reappointment as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Speaker Carl Albert said today.

Albert told reporters he had received a call from Bethesda Naval Hospital, where Mills is under treatment, and "without going into details, Mr. Mills, due to his health and on the recommendation of his doctors is not going to seek the chairmanship of the Ways and Means Committee."

Albert said that all decisions as to whether Mills will want to continue as a member of the committee will be made later and that there was no specific discussion of whether Mills might resign from Congress.

Albert said the call was made on Mills' behalf by another member of Congress who is a close friend of the ailing chairman. He declined to name this congressman.

The speaker said he also spoke to one of the doctors attending Mills and said he was given the impression that the doctor believed the decision was a wise one.

Asked whether a spot on the Ways and Means Committee would be kept open for Mills to take if he should be able to do so, Albert said, "I hope so."

The committee chairman is to be designated when Congress reconvenes. The tentative date for the new session is Jan. 14.

Mills entered the hospital last week, complaining of exhaustion, a few days after he stunned colleagues by appearing in stage in Boston with Mrs. Annabel Battistella, a stripper with whom he had been friendly.

In October, Mills was involved in an incident in Washington when a speeding automobile in which he, Mrs. Battistella and others were riding was stopped by police near the Tidal Basin and Mrs. Battistella plunged into the water. Mills emerged from the automobile bleeding from cuts and scratches on his face and officers reported he appeared to be intoxicated.

Mills later told his Arkansas constituents he was embarrassed and humiliated by the episode. He was re-elected to Congress in November.

Mills since 1958 has been chairman of the committee, which has a wide jurisdiction including tax, trade, Social Security and welfare matters. He came to Congress in 1939.

For many years he enjoyed enormous prestige as Congress' leading expert on tax matters and had the reputation of running the committee with a firm hand.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., the second ranking Democratic member of the committee, has been functioning as its acting chairman.

Albert said he did not get any detailed information from the doctor about Mills' condition.

"The medical processes have not been completed," Albert said.

Burglary Suspect Killed In Chase

Deputy Peter C. Bethea observed an auto leaving the area and followed it at speeds up to 70 miles an hour on Dirksen Drive to 14 at Deltona and then south one mile on I-4 where he attempted to stop the vehicle using siren and blue flashing lights.

The Volusia sheriff's car wasn't involved in the wreck and Deputy Bethea wasn't injured.

William C. Snyder, 36, 612 Randolph Ave., Orlando, identified by deputies as the driver of the fleeing auto, and his 18-year-old brother, Craig, were thrown from the south on I-4, and went back into Volusia County.

Using reports from the Florida Highway Patrol and Volusia and Seminole Sheriff's Departments the following account of the 1 a.m. incident was compiled.

Several Volusia deputies answered a silent alarm that a burglary was in progress at Fred Ray Electronics, 188 Highway 17-92 in DeBarry. On arrival, officers found the front door to the business had been smashed.
