WILL HE THROW SMALL ONES BACK?

Any mature fisherman will tell you: you can't be too young to begin mastering the intricacies of the trade. And, these same sages would tell you, the fishing game is meant to be a relaxing pastime. Obviously, Joey Beasley has taken both these bits of advice seriously, if casually, as he rests his pole waiting his first bite at Lake Monroe Park on the St. Johns River. Joey's mother, Mrs. Rick Beasley of Monroe, meanwhile, keeps her open eyes on things. And we wonder: if Joey should catch a fish or two, will he be able to judge if they are small enough to throw back or big enough to keep?

'It's Exactly What I Expected' -- LaPeters On 'Ticket-Fix' Ruling

By DENNIS FEOLA
 Herald Staff Writer

Reacting to the close of a local investigation he prompted, former Police chief Wallace LaPeters Saturday said the decision was not unexpected and he's forgotten the entire matter. "I haven't given it any thought in weeks," LaPeters said. "I haven't even read the papers."

Nothing that happens would surprise me. It's exactly what I expected," he said. Friday, County Court Judge Alan Dickey said there is no evidence a Sanford city official tried to fix a traffic ticket for Orlando City Commissioner Robert Keith. LaPeters made the charge the day after his surprise firing by the Sanford City Commission on July 17. On Saturday, LaPeters renewed his claim it was the intention of certain city officials when he was hired to replace him with former chief and now acting chief Ben Butler. "The whole thing was pre-ordained unless I got Mrs.," he said. "One application for the chief's job, what a job."

'The whole thing was pre-ordained'

LaPeters said he has gone into business with his wife in Paola. "We're doing very well right now. I am overjoyed with what I can adjust to the criminals, it's the self-serving individual under investigation except to say he was from Seminole County. LaPeters said Keith called him about the ticket; however, Keith stated over nothing to have the ticket voided. Robert Keith is the cousin of Sanford City Commissioner Eddie Keith. Robert Keith paid the carpool driving ticket in March. Dickey's decision was based on information provided from an investigation by State Attorney Douglas Cheshire. The state attorney's office investigated LaPeters's charges that City Manager Warren E. Knowles asked him to fix a traffic ticket for Keith and that the city commission violated the state's Sunshine Law by deciding to fire him before the July 17 meeting. In both cases, Cheshire said on Aug. 18 news conference, there was no evidence of any criminal wrongdoing. However, Cheshire also announced he was turning his investigative file over to Dickey for the judge to determine if there had been a contempt-of-court violation in connection with LaPeters's allegations concerning attempts to fix Keith's ticket. Throughout the investigation, Cheshire declined to name the individuals under investigation except to say he was from Seminole County. LaPeters said Keith called him about the ticket; however, Keith stated over nothing to have the ticket voided. Robert Keith is the cousin of Sanford City Commissioner Eddie Keith. "The kids just seemed to come out of the woodwork," said Woodrow Burned. Burned, transportation supervisor for the school board, was explaining his decision this week to cut several stops on the route of the school bus going to Sanford Grammar School. The decision was a reversal of a decision made last week. At the time he had said the bus wasn't overloaded beyond its passenger capacity. However, he changed his mind this week when complaints of overcrowding and resulting discipline problems from school officials prompted Burned to go out to the school again. On the return visit, he found the bus had about 88 children. The bus has a capacity of 88. Because of the overcrowding, Burned, after consulting with Superintendent William Laver decided to cut three closest stops from the route. The stops that were cut are: Poplar, Avocado and Holly all of which are on W. Third St. in Sanford. The final stops on the five stop route of the bus will now be at Perimeter and Mangrove Aves. on First St. Burned's decision in meeting with resistance from Audrey Butler and Barbara Wyche, two parents affected. "The bus is not overcrowded and I think it's a prejudice that most of the kids being picked up are white," Mrs. Wyche said. "We will fight it and we are not going to walk our children to school," she added. Burned disagreed. "It's not racial," he said. "because we'd be crazy to do that." The new and old stops are less than two miles from the school, he noted. However, because the cut stops are closer to the school it is easier for those children to walk, he added. State law states that a school district must provide transportation for a child living more than two miles from the school.

Telephones began ringing early Friday morning at the home of Seminole Community College track coach Terry Long and Dan Merrick, 23, 505 East Airport Blvd., Sanford. The last people Long and Merrick expected to have calling them were officials of the government of Japan. However, they were calling at the request of officials to ask Merrick to run in the Eight Nations Games to begin in Tokyo Monday. As the last nation for the games, Japan was trying to fill the United States officials in filling the roster of participants. Steve Reddick, of Philadelphia, was originally scheduled to run the 100-meter dash for the U.S. in the games, but suddenly became ill.

TERRY LONG

Reddick is ranked No. 1 in the nation in that event and with his illness the U.S. needed to call on the next in line — Merrick. Long is Merrick's coach and has worked with him since he was junior college All-American for SCC in the early 70s.

This is considered the off-season for U.S. runners

He is one of 10 people who justly hold the 5.5 second world record for the 100-meter dash. In 1975 he set a record for the 70-yard dash during the Mason-Dixon Games. That record was later broken. Though Merrick's credentials are substantial, the call from Japan could not have come at a worse time. In addition to being late at night, the call came when he is not in peak competitive condition. "He's in his non-competitive phase training right now which is endurance and distance," said Long. "This is considered the off-season for U.S. runners." Merrick's condition was a major consideration in

$487.5 Billion Budget OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress Saturday adopted a 1979 federal budget with the lowest deficit in five years, and an influential senator said a balanced budget now may be possible before 1982. In a rare Saturday session, the Senate gave final congressional approval with a 47-7 vote. The budget, for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, calls for $487.5 billion in spending and a $38.8 billion deficit. Those figures are $11 billion and $12 billion less respectively than were projected in a target budget for the same year approved by Congress last May. The new deficit is nearly $22 billion less than President Carter's first projected in January for 1979. A total of 48 senators were absent from the early morning session called by Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia in an effort to reduce a heavy backlog of bills awaiting action before adjournment of Congress. The vote was on a compromise version of the budget negotiated by a House-Senate conference and approved earlier in the week by the full House. Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, said the reduced deficit was due in part to lower than expected costs in existing programs. But some of the reduction, he said, was due to "deliberate congressional action to cut back on new programs."

For that reason, Muskie said, Congress could be "proud" of the budget. "It gives us real reason to hope that we can balance the budget earlier than the 1982 target established in the budget process," he said. The budget does not have to be signed and cannot be voted by President Carter. Congress set up a new budget process four years ago under which it prepares the only federal budget that is in any way binding. The budget submitted by the president each

CHARLOTTE WHITMORE AND D.F. KIRKPATRICK WITH FLOUR BAG

Weevils In School Flour No Problem, Officials Say

By LEONARD KRANDORF
Herald Staff Writer

Any fears that weevils found in some of the last two months' supply of flour for the school district might be a health hazard are unfounded according to school officials and a county health official.

The matter came to light when a woman, who asked not to be identified, brought to the Evening Herald office a pouch containing some of the flour and weevils. She said she and others who were concerned the schools might be using the flour and that it might be a health problem.

Charlotte Whitmore, food service director confirmed that weevils had germinated in a supply of flour that was delivered at the end of last year to the school district's warehouse.

She noted that the 25,000 pounds of flour remained stored all summer in the non-air-conditioned warehouse and the heat caused the weevils to appear.

"In this hot Florida climate you will have this problem with any type of cereal products," Mrs. Whitmore said.

Additionally, the problem is expected to be resolved shortly, according to D.F. Kirkpatrick, assistant food service director.

Of the 25,000 pounds of flour that were on hand, only about 3,000 pounds remain, according to Kirkpatrick.

He noted that since the school system uses about 15,000 pounds of flour a month "the problem should resolve itself within a few days."

In the meantime, cafeteria personnel at the schools are throwing out the flour that has large numbers of weevils and sifting the flour in which there are small numbers. Whitmore

County health official Bud Corbett said Friday the procedure is proper in dealing with the problem and presents no health problem.

"If they open the bag and find weevils crawling all over the place, then they should dump it, but if they just find a few, sifting would be the proper procedure," Corbett said.

He added that after sifting nothing remains of the weevil that would be a health hazard. Although Kirkpatrick has no specific count on how much flour had to be thrown out, he estimated the figure is about 10 percent, or about 2,000 pounds.

Sifting and disposal were two of the techniques used by two different luncheon managers.

"I haven't had to dump any because I found it was not that bad and so I sifted it at least twice," said Lucille Feiler, manager of the Lynn, production center.

However, Dorothy Bass at Sanford Middle School found that the situation was serious enough to warrant disposal.

"I have just finished throwing out 10 bags. They were really quite bad and I didn't want to use them," said Mrs. Bass.

The weevils were discovered at the beginning of this school year when schools began receiving the flour from the warehouse.

The flour they received was part of a load that had arrived unexpectedly at the school district storage warehouse at the end of last school year.

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) had sent the 25,000 pounds to take the place of another batch that had been sent to the county but recalled. When that batch was recalled, the county bought some more plus another scheduled shipment had already arrived. So, when the 25,000 was then sent the food service department found they had more than they needed.

However, because the school year was nearing completion and the USDA does not have storage facilities the flour was stored in the warehouse.

Mrs. Whitmore added that in the future her department will try to keep better accounting of when such items arrive. Additionally, if the items do arrive they will try to keep it stored in a cooler temperature if they have to keep it during the summer months.

Graham Vs. Shevin: Audience Boos Religion Query

TAMPA (UPI) — The contest between Robert Graham and Robert Shevin for the Democratic nomination for governor heated up Friday in contrasting joint appearances at Pensacola and Tampa.

At Pensacola it was basically a friendly meeting in which a member of the audience was rebuffed after making an attempt to inject religion into the discussion.

But at Tampa, both candidates turned the heat on in a spitting session at WFLA-TV. The show will be aired tonight.

Shevin repeated his accusation that Graham voted for an income tax 10 years ago and now says he is against it.

Graham defended the vote as being merely procedural in nature, and said Shevin sponsored legislation in the late 1960s banning the death penalty. Shevin now is an advocate of capital punishment.

Graham also accused Shevin of interrupting him to which the attorney general replied sharply: "I appreciate that Bob. And I appreciate that you left me about 30 seconds."

At Pensacola, Shevin was greeted by a newspaper headline declaring "Sacrament support swings to Graham."

When he arrived at the restaurant for the Pensacola Tiger Bay affair, most of the members seemed to be wearing buttons declaring they were supporters of Graham or Hans Tandler, who ran third Sept. 12 and was eliminated, or Republican-nominee Jack Eckerd.

Both candidates made points in their debate, dealing primarily with their commitment to cut taxes and government waste, bring in more industry, support the Equal Rights Amendment and fight crime.

Graham, warning to an audience obviously full of his partisans, came on a little more forcefully.

Then Pensacola retiree Ralph Newman, obviously intending to hurt Shevin with the predominantly conservative Protestant crowd, stood up, identifying himself as a 100 percent supporter of eliminated candidate Hans Tandler, the born-again Christian mayor of Jacksonville, he demanded the candidates tell their religious affiliation.

The audience boomed, urging ex-Sen. John Broxon of Milton, the moderator, not to put the question.

As Broxon hesitated, Shevin jumped to his feet and insisted on replying.

"I'm Jewish and I'll make my belief in a supreme being against anyone and I don't think by a happenstance of birth. I am forever barred from being governor of Florida," he said.

Following Shevin to the podium, Graham said he was a Miami native, a member of United Church of Christ and shared Shevin's belief in a supreme being.

Then, in a moment charged with emotion, Graham praised Shevin's significant contributions and commitment to Florida, saying, "It is an honor to be running for governor with a man who offers an alternative of such quality."

Again, the applause was loud. Newman slipped out of the restaurant unnoticed as the crowd rushed to the podium to press the hands of both candidates and apologize for the "unpleasant incident."

Will The Door Slam Shut On Them?

Israelis On West Bank: Modern Zealots

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Israel's conquest of the West Bank of the Jordan River in 1967 opened an ancient door to the land of the Bible closed for generations to religious Jews who saw it as their God-given right to settle and live there.

Now they fear the door will slam shut again with the coming of peace to the Middle East.

They are the modern version of the zealots — the Jews who rose against Roman rule 2,000 years ago — and their wishfulness to the government in settling barren, wind-swept lands few others would go to voluntarily is overshadowed by their dogmatic resistance to modernity.

These religious radicals supported by their brethren in Israel spread and abroad represent the right-wing extremists who oppose the Camp David accords because it means giving up occupation.

Kiryat Arba, the first Jewish urban center in any of the captured territories, is today a town of six-and-eight-story white stone apartment blocks. It far outclasses the tinier Gush Etzion settlements spread over barren hillsides where residents live squeezed into trailers donated by the United States.

The trailers were intended for use by Soviet Jewish immigrants.

Most of the long has viewed the settlements in occupied territories as illegal under international law. President Carter has called them obstacles to peace. The Arabs in the captured lands and elsewhere agree, of course.

But the Israelis have ignored the protests.

Some governments since 1967 have sought to convince a skeptical world the territories are needed for strategic depth to keep Arab armies from overrunning Israel in another war — to fight in the Sinai and Golan instead of Tel Aviv and Haifa.

The 1973 October war proved the thesis to them.

Meisels is not the only former American living in the occupied territories. Americans, who have a pioneering past of their own and often point to U.S. capture of Indian lands to justify living in territory seized in war, form a sizeable minority in the settlements.

Deborah Chen, who came from the Far Rockaway section of New York City, lives in a trailer with her two young children in the West Bank settlement of Elon Moreh. The site was a former army camp and it was from there Begin once proclaimed the area "liberated Israeli territory." He was applauded, then.

Elon Moreh, a Gush Etzion settlement of 300 persons, is strategically placed on a hill that could be used to defend the road to Tel Aviv 25 miles away.

"It's so scary when I think of it," Mrs. Chen, 35, said. "I'm putting myself and my children in a strategic position to defend Tel Aviv."

The zealots of Gush Etzion have put up the biggest fight to claim land for settlement, to create tangible Jewish facts on land as holy to them as the Bible. Kiryat Arba, for example, is near the picturesque Arab town of Hebron where the patriarch of the Hebrews, Abraham or Abram, is said to have been buried.

"I don't feel very much like an obstacle to peace," Mrs. Pamela Klein told UPI correspondent Allen Alter. "I came especially from England to settle in the country promised to us since the time of the Bible."

"It's so scary when I think of it," Mrs. Chen, 35, said. "I'm putting myself and my children in a strategic position to defend Tel Aviv."

The zealots of Gush Etzion have put up the biggest fight to claim land for settlement, to create tangible Jewish facts on land as holy to them as the Bible. Kiryat Arba, for example, is near the picturesque Arab town of Hebron where the patriarch of the Hebrews, Abraham or Abram, is said to have been buried.

"I don't feel very much like an obstacle to peace," Mrs. Pamela Klein told UPI correspondent Allen Alter. "I came especially from England to settle in the country promised to us since the time of the Bible."

PERSPECTIVE

Some in the West Bank don't want to believe in a pretense to dismantling of Jewish settlements in the West Bank.

Their sincere conviction that captured Arab lands must remain Jewish poses a dilemma for the government of Prime Minister Menachem Begin. He voted to return 10 months ago with the help of those he now is accused of betraying.

"We think this is the beginning of the fall of this government which has decided to raise its hands to the settlements," said Shimon Peres, a leader of the ultra-nationalist Gush Etzion (Blue the Far Right) movement. It has spearheaded the homebuilding drive in the West Bank.

More than 13,000 Israelis live in 135 settlements in all of the occupied territories — Jordan's West Bank, Egypt's Sinai, the Golan Heights of Syria and the Golan Heights. They include 16 settlements established by Meisels, the army's pioneering youth.

Of these, according to the quasi-government Jewish Agency, 7,000 persons live in 30 West Bank settlements — 10 of them along the Jordan River and 10 others belonging to Gush Etzion posted strategically on hills overlooking roads leading to Israel.

Another 22 settlements dot the sands of Sinai and house 4,500 Israelis, more than 2,000 of them in the budding city of Yamit on the Mediterranean coast south of the Golan Heights. Foreign Minister Shimon Peres once envisioned it as a city for 200,000 Jews.

There is no common denominator among the Jews of Gush Etzion and those without an ideological commitment to Greater Israel who have chosen to farm the Jordan Valley, to cultivate the arid Sinai or to live quietly by the sea in Yamit.

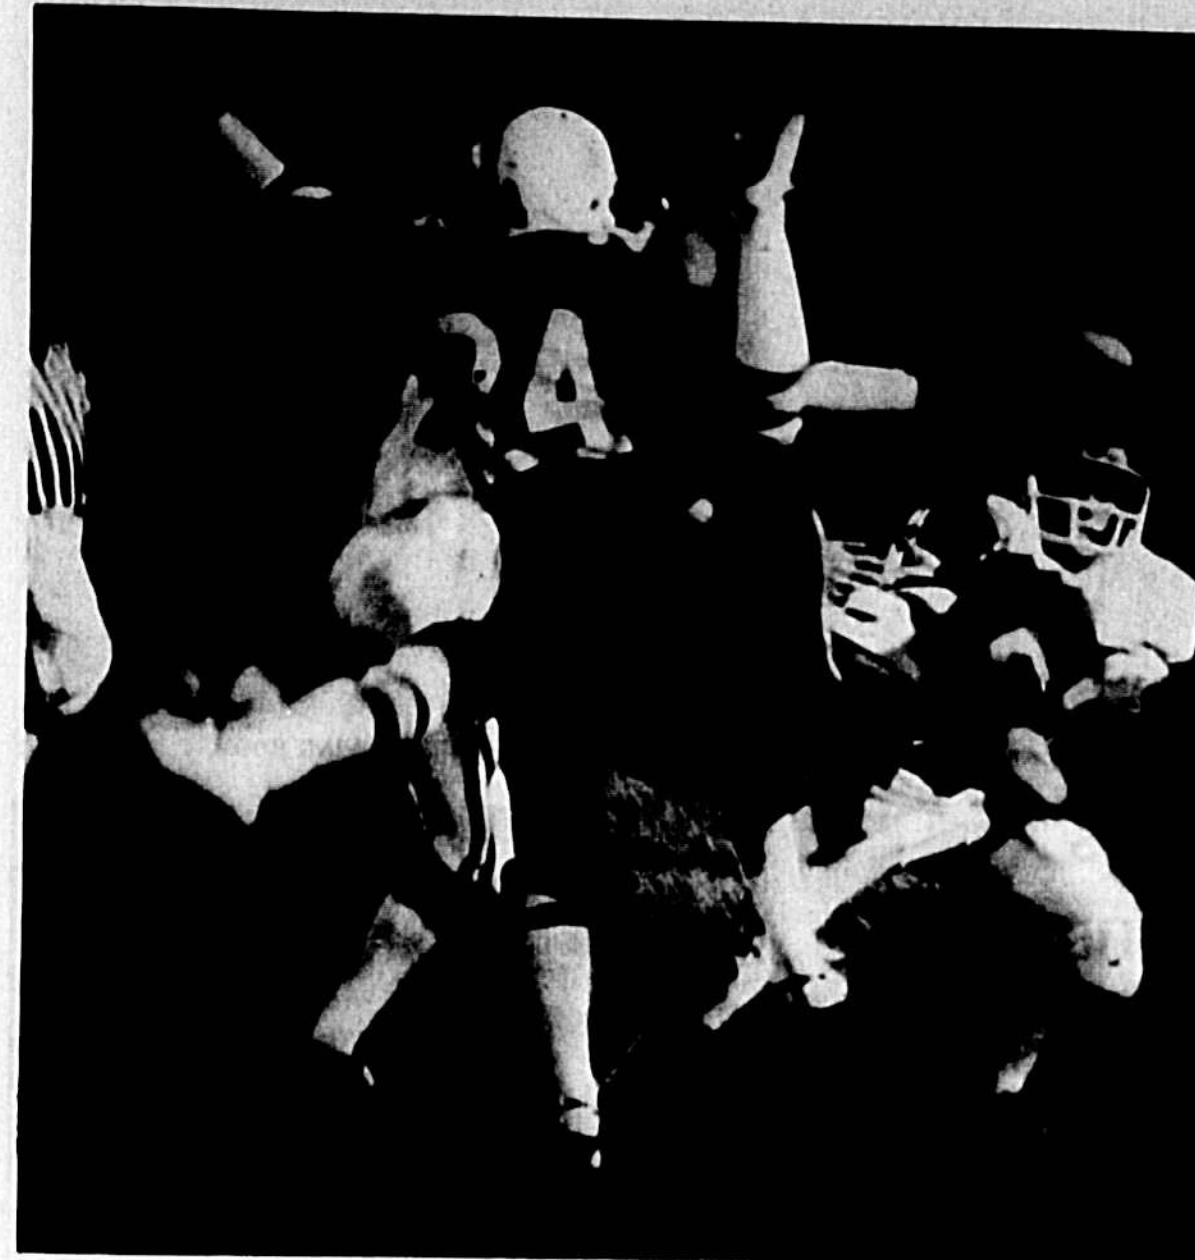

If they have anything in common, it is the singular purpose of settling where they are — developing pioneers in an age where in this part of the world there is little left to colonize.

"If it's really peace, there's no need to talk about people leaving the settlements," said Mrs. Pamela Klein of Kiryat Arba, the second Gush Etzion settlement that recently celebrated its 10th anniversary. It is home to 1,000 persons.

"And," she said, "if we are asked to leave, then it's not a true peace and the people have simply been blinded."

Howell's First Win Is A 10-0 Big One

DeLAND DEFENDERS BUMP AFTER KNOCKING DOWN PASS

By JIM HAYNES
Herald Sports Editor

Lake Howell shocked DeLand Friday night in a high school football game that was expected to turn out the other way.

"It's called dedication," said a smiling Howell coach Curtis Keen after his team's first win of the year.

Lake Howell dedicated the victory to Keen afterward, and if anything, the band of Hawks seem to have a mutual admiration society going among themselves.

DeLand wasn't included in that number, however, as the Bulldogs were unable to penetrate the Lake Howell 36 yard-line.

Defense was the prime motivator for Lake Howell.

Paced by Daws Weaver, who might be the lightest defensive tackle in the state at 137 pounds, the Haw defense stymied DeLand continually.

Meanwhile, Howell's offense took the cue well, and capitalized on two scoring opportunities as Al Squartino hit first on a 36-yard field goal in the second quarter, then came back in the third period on the receiving end of a six-yard pass from sophomore quarterback Mike Wood.

Howell's defense, aided considerably by the efforts of Jeff Wallace, Jim Bray and Darryl Ely, dictated the pace of the remainder of the game.

A light rain fell in the second period, but it subsided and did not affect play.

Squartino was a picture of happiness as he sat on the bench late in the game.

"The offensive line... and the quarterback... that's the story," he said. Squartino, a senior who has played since his freshman year, added that the Hawks felt victory was at hand from the opening kickoff.

"Really when we left the locker room. But after the field goal it was clearer... and after the TD, well, I knew we had it. I'm gonna do some celebrating tonight. I feel like tearing the town apart."

LPGA: Dost, Klass

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Beverly Klass and Jo Ann Dost, two little-known pros who found each other just in time to form a partnership, led the 1978 LPGA Team Tournament after fashioning a 7-under par, first-round 66 Friday at Portland's Columbia-Edgewater Country Club.

Nancy Lopez and her partner, Jo Ann Washam, along with the defending championship team of Julieta, Corser and Judy Rankin, found the going rough on a cold and windy first day of the three-day 54-hole tournament.

The Corser-Rankin duo is six shots back, while rookie superstar Lopez and her partner are five shots behind.

Just one shot off the pace are three teams of tourney-wise players — Joyce Kazmierki-Sandra Spuzich; Amy Alcott-Debbie Massey and Beth Stone-Jo Ann Premice, who at 38 and 45 respectively call themselves "the oldest team" in the tourney.

Two shots behind were the teams of Kathy Farrow-Debbie Skinner and Karolyn Kertman-Carole Jo Skala. Skinner had a hole-in-one at the par-3, 136-yard second hole. She fired a 7-iron to the front edge of the green and the ball rolled about 25 feet into the cup.

"It was my first ever in 17 years of playing golf," she said, "and I went crazy. They're giving away a car and a van for the first hole-in-one on the par-3 172-yard 10th. Too bad, I need a car."

Dost, 27, Vienna, Fla., said in the press room she and Klass "discovered just a little less than two weeks ago that we didn't have partners for this tournament when we thought we did. So we decided to team up. Beverly really crunched the ball. She must have hit her drive on the par-4, 400-yard 11th hole 318 yards. She just had a wedge shot to the green and she got the birds that put us 7-under. She had five of the seven birdies today." Klass, a three-year pro from Tarzana, Calif., said, "I've been hitting the ball solidly lately and my swing is in the groove."

Brantley Clobbered By 35-14

Haynes Hunches
By JIM HAYNES

A Degree Of Excellence

Every victory is significant, but it takes a little time to look back over the years and point to one which can be termed "most significant."

Friday night's 10-0 win by Lake Howell over DeLand just might turn out to be that game.

For certain, Howell coach Curtis Keen couldn't think of a game which Howell has won in the past which equals this one.

"Hey, it's not just winning... but look how we won," he said as the clock was ticking down in the final minutes of the game. "We shut 'em down. And this is DeLand!"

For certain, a school's first win is significant. You can't win No. 2 until No. 1 is in the books.

This elementary gibberish notwithstanding, it appears fact that Keen has accomplished his task of getting Lake Howell football on the map.

Not the 10-0 score. But using that poise and pride to execute properly. Most teams display those qualities ever so often.

Before Friday night, Howell was still trying.

"I've played since I was a freshman, and I think this is the first time we have put it all together," said Daws Weaver, defensive tackle who calls his unit's signals. "I'm talking about offense and defense playing together. Before we were a bunch of individuals... now we are a team. We're gonna go all the way, now. That's what this win means."

A neutral observer at Friday's game was overheard to comment about the game being boring. True, 3-0 in the first half isn't going to keep a crowd on the edge of their seats.

But football being the grand institution it is, the game isn't all running for touchdowns. Football is a combination of factors, generally culminating from the general mental attitude of the participants.

That's probably why the Lake Howell band broke into a loud rendition of the theme from Rocky when the Hawks trotted off the field late in the fourth quarter, after hitting DeLand on a third-and-long situation for what seemed like the umpteenth time in the game.

Even more significant is that Howell isn't comprised of those beef people generally associated with successful football programs. There are only a few of the bruiser variety on this team, but DeLand didn't seem in a hurry to knock heads with any of the Hawks.

Keen also noted the inexperience of the team was what had him so excited about where this team was going.

Like quarterback Mike Wood, a sophomore. Keen told him to run out the clock in the final minute. Wood took the snap from his own 35, turned and tucked the ball under his arm and started running. And running. Only in the wrong direction. He made a bee-line for the sidelines at the 15.

"What were you doing?" Keen asked later.

"I was running out the clock... but I didn't want those big guys to get me," he answered.

Ah, but the resourcefulness of youth!

GAINESVILLE — Ouch! No. 1 put a 35-14 hurting on No. 4 Friday night at Florida Field, leaving Gainesville smiling at its top billing and wearing a "who says we ain't No. 1 smile!"

If Gainesville was smiling, then Lake Brantley must have been wearing a frown button, because the Patriots had higher aspirations in this game.

Much higher.

Baird Lyons and Tony Constantine had opportunities to move the Patriots, but Gainesville's pesky defense did its job well and held Brantley to 100 yards of total offense.

"If there are any doubts about who is No. 1, I think we answered that tonight," said Gainesville coach Wesley Dicks.

Brantley fell to 2-1 and 1-1 in district play.

Richard Salem scored the first Brantley TD, taking a six-yard scoring pass from Lyons to tie the score in the second quarter. Hob Fie's kick put the visitors in 7-4 command.

Gainesville retaliated twice before halftime and took a 21-7 lead to the locker room.

The last Lake Brantley TD came late in the game on a two-yard keeper by Lyons.

Alleged Seeks Thompson Leads PRIX DE L'ARC

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alleged, who will attempt to become the first horse since Ribot to win the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe twice on Oct. 1, is the first acceptance for the $300,000 Turf Classic at Belmont Park on Oct. 21.

Trainer Vincent O'Brien has accepted the invitation for Robert Sanator's Alleged. Lester Piggot, who rode Excelsior in last year's inaugural running of the Turf Classic, will be aboard Alleged.

SEATTLE (UPI) — David Thompson scored five baskets in three-quarters in the third period Friday night as the Denver Nuggets overcame a one-point deficit and went on to defeat the Phoenix Suns, 120-111, in an NBA exhibition game.

Bookies for both teams were on display most of the game, but it was Thompson, the Nuggets' 600,000-a-year swing man, who captured the attention. He scored 21 points in 21 minutes of action.

Oviedo Goes On Rampage In 33-12 Victory

McClennon Scores 3 TDs In Win Over Cocoa Beach

By GEORGE SHRIVER
Herald Correspondent
Oviedo's Lions feasted on victory as they routed Cocoa Beach, 33-12, with Marvin McClennon scoring 18 of the 23 points for Oviedo. A first up team the Lions capitalized on every beach mistake to put tallies on the board.

TERRY GRIFFIN (23) BLOCKS MARVIN MCCLENNON LOOKS FOR RUNNING ROOM

quarter and a fumble on the first play after the kick off gave Oviedo excellent field position for its third score of the evening. In the third quarter a TD by the Lions set up another scoring drive for the Oviedo Lions.

The Lions opened their running attack with McClennon, Terry Griffin and Mike Scott carrying the ball 135 yards only to have a handoff fumbled to give the ball back to the Minutemen who moved the ball out of danger with a punt only to have it nullified with a face mask penalty call and the Lions went on the march again moving the ball back to the Minutemen 15 from where McClennon made the first score.

Oviedo moved the ball from the eight to Cocoa Beach's 10 where a nightmare almost occurred with a fumble on the two yard line recovered by the Lions and McClennon crossed the goal line on the next play. Numb fingers struck the Minutemen again as they fumbled the ball on their own 17 on the very first play after the kick off. Two plays later Marvin McClennon found himself in the end zone for the third consecutive time with a total of 18 points for himself and the Lions with a 20 to zero half time lead as Kensingger completed a running attack featuring McClennon, the Lions moved the ball from their 21 to the 45 where the Lions stalled as a third down play attempt failed.

The Minutemen took advantage of their passing attack and moved the ball nine yards mostly in the air for their first score of the night. The extra point attempt was blocked by the Lions.

A hand snap from center gave the Lions good field position for their next scoring drive from the Cocoa Beach 46 with Mike Scott making a five yard dash to Jeff Burroughs, his 32nd. The Red Sox reached Mahler for a run in the first on an RBI single by George Funder. They added a run in the second on Arturo DePrez's first major league home run and Joe Morgan hit his 13th homer in the fifth.

In other NL games, it was Chicago 5, St. Louis 3; San Francisco 5, Houston 6; and San Diego 12, Los Angeles 1. Philadelphia at New York was postponed by rain.

Chick Bunker singled home two runs with one out in the ninth inning to trigger a three-run rally that gave the Cubs a victory over St. Louis.

Hugs, Kisses For 'Da Winner

Winning is happiness, smiles, hugs and kisses and not even knowing who is playing in the ball game as at this point were characteristic of Joe Montgomery as his Oviedo Lions trounced Cocoa Beach Friday night.

During the last four minutes of the game Montgomery was heard to comment that he did not know who was even in the game as he was trying to give all his players an opportunity to get some game time.

He was all smiles as he moved up and down the side lines looking for a new player to put in the ball game as at this point in the game the Minutemen were pretty well led out of a comeback, and when better time to give all the team members an opportunity to get some game time.

As the field was clearing of the two teams Mary Montgomery came rushing out on the field to greet her husband with hugs and kisses for his first win of the season. Montgomery's grin was indicative of his feeling of pride for his Lions who he felt had played a great game.

At the end of the football field was the man of Marvin McClennon who was rightfully proud of her son who had scored 18 points for Oviedo and who was waiting to congratulate the man who had done a great job of coaching her son.

McClennon was beaming with pride as she chatted with the coach while other fans were chiming in with their expression of pleasure in the Oviedo win.

The Oviedo locker room was a scene of pandemonium as each player tried to get himself in congratulating his fellow players for the one evening's performance. You could hear the locker room noise several blocks away.

Coach Montgomery said, "I really excited about next week's game. The Lions are home against Kissimmee."

'Area Director Of The Month'

Carol Kerita, area director of The Diet Workshop of Central Florida, was named "Area Director of the Month" by The International Diet Workshop for her Community Service Project, "Feeling Great In '78," a three-day health fair held in August.

Brown Opens Dental Office

Dr. Randall C. Brown, a graduate of Seminole High School, Furman University and the University of Florida College of Dentistry, this week opened his first office in his native city at 902 W. 25th St. He'll host an open house at 10 a.m. Tuesday. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Swartz, live on Rt. 1 just west of Sanford.

Solar Stores Opens Outlet

Solar Stores, Inc. has opened a second retail outlet at 79 north Highway 17-82 in Casselberry. The store operates another outlet at 1309 North Mills Ave. in Orlando and has plans to open at least one more store in Orlando and a minimum of nine more in the central Florida area.

50-Year Mortgage Reduces Payments

G. I recently read an article that mentioned the possibility of 50-year mortgages on homes. Is this possible? Isn't the whole idea foolish?

Your Real Estate
ERROL L. GREENE

A 50-year loan may seem like a great idea, but when you look at the monthly payment, you'll find that a 30-year mortgage is actually less expensive. This is because a 50-year mortgage has a higher interest rate than a 30-year mortgage. A 30-year mortgage with a 12% interest rate has a monthly payment of $450. A 50-year mortgage with a 15% interest rate has a monthly payment of $400. So, while you're paying for 20 more years, you're actually saving money each month.

A 50-year loan is paid back at the rate of $18.74. This is a reduction of $3.50 per month. A 30-year loan would cost you $22.24 per month on a $40,000 mortgage with a 12% interest rate. A 50-year loan would cost you $18.74 per month on a $40,000 mortgage with a 15% interest rate. This reduction can mean the difference between a mortgage being affordable and not being able to qualify for the loan.

The Senate Finance Committee voted to cut the corporate tax rate 2 percent and to create a 7 percent capital gains tax from regular income taxes. It also passed a bill to reduce the tax on dividends from 30 percent to 20 percent. The bill also passed a bill to increase the tax on dividends from 30 percent to 20 percent. The bill also passed a bill to increase the tax on dividends from 30 percent to 20 percent.

AND THEY ALL... ...HAD A GRAND TIME
That's a prize check of $1,001 being given by L.R. Goodman, manager of Sanford's Winn-Dixie on U.S. 17-82 at 25th Street, to Vera Mae Hayes, Box 3145, Sanford's first big winner of the supermarket's double-bingo contest. She plans a trip to Atlanta with her newfound loot.

Credit Tightening Hurts Gaming Issues

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gambling issues were pummeled as stocks fell for the second straight week in reaction to Federal Reserve credit tightening and rising interest rates that spurred recession fears. Trading was moderate. The Dow Jones industrial average, which plunged 29.19 points last week, slid another 16.11 points to 822.66. It lost 10.56 points in a seven-day slide through Wednesday. The New York Stock Exchange index lost 1.46 to 97.25 and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index shed 2.35 to 161.04. Declines roiled advances, 1,542 to 266, among the 2,122 issues traded.

The market recovered somewhat late in the week with the help of bargain hunters. But gambling stocks suffered huge losses as the NYSE and American Stock Exchange forced investors to put up more cash to trade in gaming issues that had soared unprecedentedly last week.

The Fed dominated investor thoughts. It raised its discount rate 1/2 point to 8 percent Friday after revised August figures showed money supply was exceeding its growth target by a wider margin than originally reported.

On Wednesday, one day after its Open Market Committee met, the Fed sent the market reeling by raising its target for federal funds rates on overnight loans banks make to one another. This put upward pressure on short-term rates and could force banks to raise their prime rate rate that stands at 9 percent.

Robert McKinley, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, making August housing starts fell 17 percent, said the Fed's policies could lead to a housing collapse and damage the economy.

With the third-quarter drawing to a close, the economy still shows solid strength. And August durable goods orders climbed 7.8 percent, the biggest increase since an 11.6 surge in December 1976.

The revised second-quarter gross national product rose 8.7 percent instead of 8 percent recently reported. But inflation runs at an 11 percent rate instead of 10.7 percent.

President Carter told the U.S. Steelworkers convention he would unveil a "tough" new anti-inflation program shortly, probably wage-price guidelines. Carter aides reportedly are split over what approach to take.

Carter disturbed some analysts when he predicted a $80 billion tax cut might pass this year. Observers said such a cut would be inflationary and make the nation's budget deficit too large.

The Senate Finance Committee voted to cut the corporate tax rate 2 percent and to create a 7 percent capital gains tax from regular income taxes. It also passed a bill to reduce the tax on dividends from 30 percent to 20 percent.

Traders were nervous about tax rate 2 percent across the board. Republicans took their case for the bill to the public. However, Wall Street was hopeful of some sort of success despite the bitter rhetoric. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance said he had accomplished what he had set out to do in trying to win over Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

Big Board volume totaled 144,173,200 shares, down from the 192,099,368 last week and up from the 93,544,830 traded during the same week a year ago. Composite volume of NYSE issues listed on all U.S. exchanges over the counter totaled 152,351,900 shares, compared with 216,833,688 last week.

Dr. Virginia Stevens Named To World's 'Who's Who'

Rollins College associate professor of Education, Dr. Virginia Stevens, has been selected for inclusion among the 1979 Fifth Edition of THE WORLD'S WHO'S WHO OF WOMEN. This publication honors outstanding women of achievement throughout the world. Dr. Stevens was also recently elected president of the Advisory Committee of the Seminole County Mental Health Center and is currently Director of the Learning Center at Rollins as well as Director of the Rollins Summer Academy.

Beauty Contestants Wanted

Tri County Roadrunners are searching for girls between the ages of 14 and 19 as contestants in a Queen Contest. Four runners-up will also be selected. For information and entry forms, call Lou Jones, 322-4369.

Parents Open House Set

Seminole High School (SHS) will hold Open House-Parent Night on Sept. 26, at 7:30 p.m., in the auditorium. Following a brief meeting, the Advisory Committee will be introduced and the State Assessment Program will be discussed. Parents may visit the classrooms and meet with their students' teachers.

Free Cancer Clinic

A free cancer detection clinic will be held at Orlando General Hospital on Oct. 3, at 7 p.m. The clinic, sponsored by Orlando General Hospital and the American Cancer Society, is offered to women 16 years of age and older and includes a pap smear and breast examination.

'Outstanding Women' Listed

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Women of America Awards Program announced that two area women have been selected for inclusion in the 1978 edition of OUTSTANDING YOUNG WOMEN OF AMERICA. They are Marylyn McDaniel King of Winter Park (formerly of Sanford), and Suzanne Pertin Tinsley of Casselberry.

EPICENTER Program Opens

The EPICENTER Marital Separation program will be conducting a new eight week seminar for separated and divorced persons starting on Oct. 5, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the First Congregational Church, 225 S. Interlachen Ave., in Winter Park. Advance registration is preferred by writing or calling the office, 5135 Sand Lake Road, Orlando 32808; 305-551-2391.

Trinity Schedules Sale

Trinity Preparatory School mothers are having their second annual Clothesline-Arts and Crafts Sale on Sept. 29 and 30 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. according to co-chairmen Mrs. Charles Flynn and Mrs. Thornton Hough.

Proceeds from the sale are used to "booster up" Trinity's newly-established lunch program which was started this year by the women's group.

Do You Have A Song?

If you have a song, bring it to the October meeting of the Songwriters Guild of Central Florida. Plans for the club recording to be released soon are now being finalized.

Everyone interested is invited to the Oct. meeting, at 7:30 p.m., at 2424 Edgewater Drive, First Federal Building, College Park. For more information call Sharon Perkey, 671-4078.

She's In 'Horse' School

Barbara J. Beckhorn, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beckhorn, 254 Broadmoor Drive, Lake Mary, is now enrolled at Meredith Manor School of Horsemanship, Waverly, W. Va.

Upon graduation, Miss Beckhorn will be capable of offering beginner riding instruction as well as assist in managing a horse operation.

Black Students Honored

Eighteen black students, selected to receive scholarships at Florida Tech University, will be honored Oct. 2 at a banquet hosted by FTU's minority student services.

Eleven of the students to be honored are recipients of EEO (Equal Educational Opportunity) Scholars Awards; the remaining seven were selected to receive FTU Black Scholars awards. Among the EEO graduate students is Sylvester T. Polk of Sanford.

Fern Show Planned

The second annual fern show of the Central Florida Fern Society will be held at the Altamonte Mall on Oct. 19, 20, 21 and 22. There will be lectures and demonstrations of growing ferns, especially Staghorn ferns.

DISPLACED HOME MAKERS: New Directions, New Beginnings One Year Later

By JOAN MADISON
Herald Correspondent

"New Directions, New Beginnings" will begin on Sept. 25 for 18 one-day mornings from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. at the Agricultural Center on Highway 17-82 in Sanford. Geared for the woman who is a "displaced homemaker," this is an intensive course focusing on decision-making skills, self-assessment, motivation, confidence building, and coping with life-style problems.

An announcement similar to this caught the eye of many Seminole County women this year. Not all in need responded to it, but the 78 women who did found their lives changing in a more positive manner than they ever dreamed possible.

And now many of them are gathered in the Student Center at Seminole Community College for the first annual reunion of participants of the monthly course.

The room is abuzz with excitement. Each has brought her favorite dish for the luncheon celebration. Happy faces and lively chatter indicate pleasure of being with those who have been so supportive in time of need.

And slowly the picture evolves...

Of women widowed... dependent for years upon their husbands, now bewildered as to the handling of even simple money matters.

Of women who devoted their lives to their husbands and children, to the neglect of themselves, and now their husbands have left them for somebody new... and exciting.

Of women with the "empty nest syndrome"... their lives devoted to their children now seems empty that the children have grown.

Bonded together by a determination for self-improvement and fueled by concern that their CETA funded program may not receive funds to continue the program, they willingly shared their stories, hopes, with a fierce determination, to demonstrate the effectiveness of the program.

...married since 14"

Kathy Hornback of Longwood, separated from husband, has three children ages 7, 7 and 3.

"I have been married since I was 14, and never had a job. When my husband and I separated, I was completely alone. The course gave me confidence and belief in myself. It taught me I can do anything I want, and to respect myself - something my husband had taken away.

"I'm working on my GED and in January, I will begin training for the telephone company. And that's something I would have never thought about... me going into electronics," she said.

My husband used to say, "You're dumb... you're stupid. You'll never leave me because you can't do anything."

"Now I know if I make up my mind to do anything, I can. If (the course) has given me a whole new start, a new perspective, and it teaches you that you are lovable and capable, and that's so important. They prove that to us," she said.

'I was totally withdrawn'

Ann McArthur is a Winter Springs divorcee.

"I was divorced and hospitalized... totally withdrawn and lacked confidence in myself. I was very frightened, somewhat disoriented, and not motivated. Out of this program I got much better feelings about myself... my abilities, decision making and goal setting."

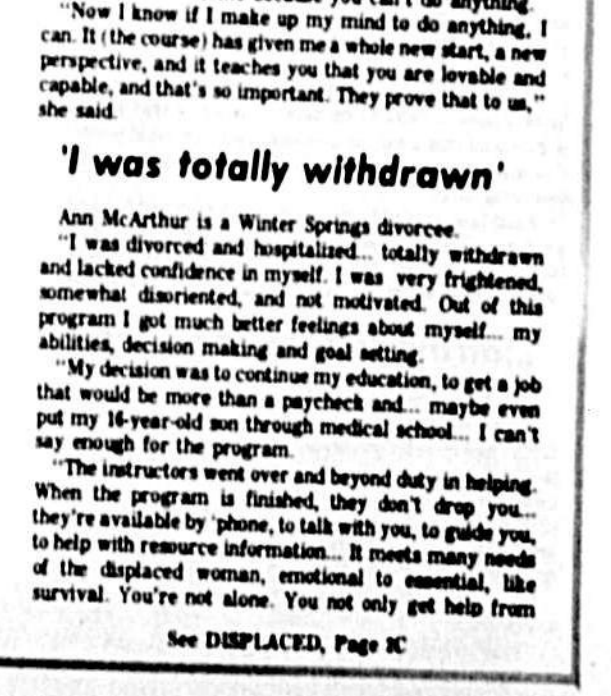

"My decision was to continue my education, to get a job that would be more than a paycheck and... maybe even put my 16-year-old son through medical school... I can't say enough for the program."

"The instructors went over and beyond duty in helping. When the program is finished, they don't drop you... they're available by phone, to talk with you, to guide you, to help with resource information... It means many needs of the displaced woman, emotional to essential, the survival. You're not alone. You not only get help from

Queen's Goal: 'We Speak That The Deaf May Hear'

By DORIS DIETRICH
OURSELVES Editor

For obvious reasons, Wilma Bennett of Sanford, must be a good "ruler."

Wilma, who was elected the Florida State C.B. Radio Association (FSCRA) Queen for 1977-78, will wear the crown for another year. Queen Wilma was selected the 1978-79 queen at the annual C.B. State Convention in Lakeland this month.

And according to Wilma, "I couldn't be happier."

Being a part of the association has been a rewarding experience for Wilma.

FSCRA has a "hearing conservation" program similar to the Lions Club "eye program," except it is for hearing," she explained.

This program has been endorsed by the Southeastern Conference and the United States Citizens Radio Council. The association clubs, as well as some clubs that are not association members, have Jamborees to raise funds to help children who need operations or hearing aids, but cannot afford them.

"The association theme is, "We Speak That The Deaf May Hear."

As the reigning queen, Wilma will be bringing all over the state to C.B. Radio Jamborees to help them raise money for their charities.

One of the queen's first appearances will be the Tri-County Roadrunners Hearing Conservation Jamboree at the Sanford Civic Center on Oct. 31 and 22.

An active member of the Eagles C.B. Radio Club of Sanford, Wilma is employed in the assignment office of the Southern Bell Telephone Co. and is a member of the Telephone Pioneers.

She was instrumental in getting September proclaimed as C.B. Radio Month in Sanford in an attempt to help promote and inform the community of the various club activities.

The Sanford club have engaged in various projects to raise money for the Central Florida Zoo.

They have served foreign students during Christmas, prepared and delivered Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets to the needy, collected food and furnishings for burdened families and helped with a drug abuse program.

The local C.B. Radio Clubs have also assisted in removing the meeting room of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, which they hold coffee breaks to raise money to help deserving persons liquidate large medical bills.

"We give freely of our time and money when anyone needs it," Wilma said.

Wilma is interested in learning who the hard of hearing children are.

"If anyone knows of a child that needs help, please contact me. I will be happy to try to get them help," Wilma said.

Her phone number is 325-6666, evenings.

SMARTS SET! "Doing easily what others find difficult is talent; doing what is impossible for talent is..." — Amdt. 7th blank.

Take away four of the five letters of a certain word and what's left is pronounced exactly the same. What word? P.S.: It rhymes with clue.

Fit on your bananas. Grasp your left wrist with your right hand, behind your back. Now, try to touch the floor with your left toe. Good luck!

Riddle-Me-This. If you can: What is the fear of lobsters called? Claw-strophobia. How did the shellfish crash the party? They mussel-ed in.

THIS mind-reading demonstration makes an amusing party stunt. Try it next time you and friends get together. The performer is blindfolded. An aide asks someone to indicate with his or her fingers a number between 1 and 10.

Now, the performer places his hands on the aide's temples. Not a word is exchanged, but the performer, to everyone's amazement, quickly repeats the indicated number.

Secret: The assistant "transmits" the number by clenching jaws the indicated number of times. The performer or easily feels the movements.

Shortly after noon today, the Evening Herald received an anonymous telephone call from a person who claimed he knows the whereabouts of six-year-old Brian Schultz.

The unidentified male caller gave an address where he said the boy was being held. The address turned out to be a mobile home park near Longwood. Deputies of the Sheriff's Department checked out the report. The boy was not at the address and the lawman now believes the call was a hoax.

Robert Schultz checks over spot on map pointed out as part of search for his son, Brian (above).

Search Continuing For Boy

Where Is 6-Year-Old Brian Schultz?

By DENNIS FEOLA
Herald Staff Writer

The search continues today for six-year-old Brian Schultz, missing from his Casselberry home since Saturday evening.

The boy's fate is uncertain. While family members and top police officials remain optimistic the youth is alive, following Sunday's extensive search some at the command center are beginning to have doubts.

Sheriff's officials said there is no indication of foul play. "If he was in the woods, alive, we would have found him," Trance, a volunteer searcher, said.

"Everybody's discouraged, we though we would find him by now," Trance, a Casselberry resident said.

Major Duane Harrell of the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, confirmed that Sunday's search with more than 500 persons participating was extensive.

"There's nothing more we can cover in this immediate area," said Harrell said. "We've covered every place, so often the only thing we can do is send someone when there's a sighting," he said.

There have been numerous sightings of the first-grader, however, none of the sightings have been confirmed since the youth was last seen near his home in Lake Kathryn Estates Saturday at 5:30 p.m.

State Attorney Investigator Dan Lawrence and Bill Coffman discover tar-like substance on voting machine lock.

Crime Lab Joins In Investigation Of County Vote Machine Failures

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Central Florida Crime Lab was called in to assist in the investigation of voting machine failures in Seminole County in the Sept. 11 primary by State Attorney Douglas Cheshire's chief investigator Dan Lawrence this morning after a tar-like substance was discovered in two locks taken from voting machine doors.

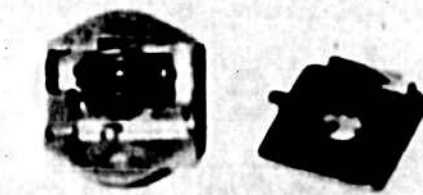

The substance was spotted by Lawrence as he oversaw the removal of the locks from voting machine doors by workmen sent to the county by International Elections Systems Inc. (IES), manufacturer of the machines.

and Roger Johnson, the county's employee in charge of voting machine maintenance. Bill Coffman, employed in the Orange County elections division to oversee maintenance of machines there, said the locks are supposed to be absolutely dry. "No liquid substance is supposed to be in the locks," he said. Coffman said he was called into the investigation by Lawrence as an expert.

Johnson said he first noticed a tar-like substance near a lock on a voting machine on election day after it was returned to the county warehouse near the county's agriculture center when it fell off a truck transporting it to a polling place.

Bill Reynolds, an independent Sanford locksmith, retained by the county to examine the locks in addition to the IES personnel, said it would be nearly impossible to inject something from the outside into the locks. He said the locks would have had to be removed from each machine, a process that would have taken time, to be tampered with. "Someone would have to go to some trouble to get the substance in there," said Coffman.

Reynolds examining the locks and the tar-like substance noted that rubber bumpers in each lock appeared to be of different size. On further examination he pointed out the rubber bumpers were soft and appeared to be melting.

Robert Kopeck, supervisor of microanalysis at the Crime Lab, went to the county warehouse at Lawrence's request to determine the "foreign matter," according to the crime lab.

Also present for the examination of locks were County Administrator Roger Neiswander, Seminole Election Supervisor Camille Bruce and Michael P. Falkowski III, attorney for Dan Holman, an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for county commissioner.

Falkowski said Holman may file a lawsuit today challenging the constitutionality of the first primary election and asking the circuit court to call a new election.

Although it had been said that Friday was the last day to file such a suit, Holman's attorney's opinion is that today is the last day Holman lost the election to Altamonte Springs City Commissioner Sammie Glenn by more than 900 votes.

Meanwhile, Woodrow Wilson Storey, of Indianatic, who came in third in a four-man contest for the Democratic nomination for the Florida Senate, District 16, said Friday he will make a decision by this coming Friday on whether to ask the circuit court to require that the primary contest be held

SEA Boss Watched, Listened To

By LEONARD KRANSDORF
Herald Staff Writer

His opponents say he is shrewd and cunning. Associates and supporters say he is dedicated and a good leader.

"He's a very clever person and clever enough that you have to watch every move he makes," says a county school official who has observed him for several years.

"I think he has done a great deal to help teachers and all school employees and to give us the will to improve ourselves," said a teacher who has also had contact with him for several years.

But after hearing both comments a slight grin crosses the face of Fred Eugene Grooms and with that slight but noticeable Tennessee accent he says, "I'm in a role as an advocate for employee groups and depending on what stand I take I'm either liked or disliked."

And within the past four months you could find comments on both sides for the man who serves as Executive Director of the Seminole Education Association (SEA).

In addition to his role as executive director, Grooms, whom friends and foe alike call Gene rather than Fred, also serves as spokesman for the clerical, non-instructional and bus drivers unions.

Some of the harshest criticism of the 37-year-old Grooms has come from clerical workers who openly say they want their union to disassociate with SEA mainly because of dissatisfaction with the way Grooms represents them.

Regarding that criticism, Grooms shrugs and admits "that group is going through some trying times and right now personalities have become involved rather than issues." If they vote to break with the SEA, Grooms says,

"that's their right and it may be their desire."

In addition to representing the three unions, Grooms is now trying to coordinate the effort to get the school system's 1,775 teachers the information in their contract which was tentatively agreed upon last week.

"At this point in the existence of the SEA I think we did pretty well," he said. He noted that before the negotiations began "we told the faculty Ryan that we would not have a contract by September but we did get one
