U.S., BRITAIN SEEK TO END CHACO DISPUTE

Two Nations Will Join World Powers In Broad Program Of Stern Repression

LONDON, May 16.—(A.P.)—The Associated Press was informed authoritatively today that a group of world powers, including the United States and Great Britain, planned to take concerted action to end a bloody war in the Chaco between Paraguay and Bolivia.

These powers are considering measures of repression which include political, economic, and financial phases.

The action is being seriously considered here, in Washington, and at Geneva.

It is reported as possible that the League of Nations itself may take action shortly.

A high authority asserted that action would be aimed at both governments equally.

Possible lines of action might involve economic and financial non-co-operation with the nations, in addition to political restrictions.

At Geneva the League of Nations Council opened its seventy-sixth session yesterday in a tense atmosphere, with many delegates feeling that they are engaged in a critical discussion which may determine whether the nation will continue to accept the League as an agency for the settlement of international problems.

The League is engaged in a battle for life," was the sentiment expressed by some quarters.

It was regarded as noteworthy that only one foreign minister was present, other countries being represented by foreign ministers.

Barthou had expressed some optimism over the future of disarmament after he had met with Gen. Anthony Eden, British negotiator.

While the crowd was forming in front of the relief headquarters somebody entered the office of Mrs. W. T. Johnson, in charge of social service, and placed a revolver on her desk.

Mrs. Johnson said that the person who put the gun on her desk evidently thought she might need it to defend herself, if the situation grew serious.

Several residents of the neighborhood were aroused, but, unaware of Cain's identity or the experience he had just gone through, they reported to police that burglars were trying to break into their homes.

Eustis Mob Stages Scene Before FERA Headquarters; U.S. Strike Violence Flares

Dissatisfaction Over Relief Afforded in Past Ends In Non- Violent Exhibition

EUSTIS, May 16.—Food supplies, sufficient to last a week, were handed out to a crowd of 250 relief workers here yesterday by Administration officials, after a short non-violent demonstration had been held before FERA headquarters and later at the city hall where the demand for food was made.

Rumblings of dissatisfaction over FERA relief had been heard here for some weeks and the demonstration yesterday came as a climax to the discontent that had been manifested among workers.

The crowd, which followed no violence, was liberally sprinkled with negroes.

From authoritative sources it was learned that several I. W. W. agitators were among the demonstrators.

Police, who had been assembled in preparation for any violent acts that might have been resorted to by the crowd, were not compelled to extend themselves in keeping order and the demonstrators dispersed but later converged again on the city hall, into which they crowded to hear W. G. Hoffman, FERA auditor, and Ralph Avery, director of operations in this county, explain that the relief administration was pinched for funds.

After explaining the situation, Avery distributed the food to the crowd.

Both Avery and Hoffman told the crowd that the Administration could not continue its activities on the same scale as in previous months.

Mr. Hoffman, who had watched the crowd gather, said that the situation "looked serious" for a time.

SAFE IN ERIN, FLIERS WORK ON MONOPLANE

Italians Forced Down By Engine Trouble After Stormy Trip With Rome As Goal

LAHINCH, Ireland, May 16.—(A.P.)—Captain George Pond and Lieutenant Cesare Sebrell, safe after a narrow escape from death in the Atlantic, worked on their monoplane today with prospects for an early continuation of their flight to Rome.

The fliers landed on a sandbank here last night after a hazardous crossing in which a fuel pipe and engine trouble threatened to force the plane down at sea.

The fliers announced that they had planned a round trip flight, and they hoped to get away for Rome within 48 hours.

The main connection between the gasoline tank and motor broke just before the New York fliers came down on a small field. Forced to cut off their motor, the fliers ran their big plane into a sandbank causing some damage to the undercarriage.

The fliers, seeking to get a non-stop record from New York to Rome, were forced down two miles from here in mid-afternoon.

The fliers walked to Lahinch and reported themselves unhurt but their big Bellanca plane slightly damaged.

FORD FEELS CONFIDENT OVER FUTURE

'Nothing At All Wrong With Business; It Continues To Pick Up,' Claims Magnate

CHICAGO, May 16.—(A.P.)—Henry Ford spent six hours in Chicago yesterday inspecting the huge building his company is completing at the Century of Progress Exposition, and took time out to say that he continued confident that business was on the upgrade; that he did not want to talk about politics and that he had put the NRA entirely "out of my mind."

The motor manufacturer, accompanied by his son, Edsel, and members of the Ford executive staff at Dearborn, Mich., arrived at 8 A. M., covered a large part of the fair grounds afoot and after a luncheon with Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Century of Progress Exposition, left for home shortly after a P. M.

In the course of an interview Ford said he continued an irrepressible optimism. He said he believed people generally had become tired of depression talk and that for himself he was sure the depression was definitely a thing of the past.

Asked to comment on the Roosevelt recovery program, Mr. Ford said "I don't want to talk about that; I really don't know anything about it."

He spoke freely about the general plan for the second season of the Century of Progress Exposition, referring to it as evidence that people are seeking knowledge "if there is anything wrong with the world," he said. "It is a test of knowledge and education will take care of that. The next 50 years will see much greater scientific progress than has been made in the last thousand years."

Discussing competition as a factor in progress, the manufacturer said: "We must live through price competition, but competition isn't a matter of price alone; it is matter of quality. There is nothing at all wrong with business; it continues to pick up."

3 Gittle Kidnapers Given Life Sentences In Prison; Robles Family Again Happy

Trio Pleads Guilty To Crime Of Abduction To Escape Possible Sentence Of Death

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—(A.P.)—Pleading guilty to charges of kidnaping by extortion in the abduction of William F. Gittle, Beverly Hills millionaire, James F. Kirk, Larry Kerrigan and Roy Williams were sentenced last night to serve life terms in San Quentin Prison.

Faced with the possibility of being hanged if they were convicted and the jury found they had done bodily harm to Gittle, the three prisoners, James F. Kirk, Larry Kerrigan and Roy Williams, alias Roy Tate, accepted the alternative offered them by Pitts of entering guilty pleas and avoiding jury trial, he said.

Pitts told them he could not promise the lighter sentence but that a superior court judge was ready to hear their pleas and he, Pitts, would recommend that life terms be given.

The District Attorney said he took this action because it appeared Gittle had suffered but minor injuries, irritated eyes and a sprained ankle as a result of the kidnaping.

The state law provides the death penalty if the kidnapers inflict bodily injuries on their victim.

The three men confessed their part in the kidnaping when questioned by officers.

Williams, who was seized while standing guard over the abducted millionaire, and Kerrigan, who fled, and was captured, answered readily. Kirk, the little red-headed, puffy faced fellow who reputedly was the brains of the snatch gang, was more defiant.

He became meek when he saw his pals had talked.

The three men were emphatic, however, in denying that Loretta Woody and Joan Burke, the women taken by the police in their roundup of the gang, had anything to do with the abduction.

Committee Told That Roosevelt Expects Stock Exchange Act To Suit His Views

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(A.P.)—Congressional conferees on the stock exchange bill were put on notice today that President Roosevelt wants definite House managerial requirements and Federal Trade Commission jurisdiction.

While both capitol branches took a breathing spell from paramount legislation, the Chief Executive in conference with the press and agents with legislative delegations, had something to do as well on disarmament, silver, and the like.

He has under preparation a re-statement of this country's position on armaments limitation to be communicated to the approaching Geneva conference.

Whether this involves any fresh approach toward strengthening the Geneva meeting remains to be seen.

A House Banking Committee, heading a Presidential wish, set itself to vote on continuing the temporary deposit insurance plan this month.

Working with old-time newspaper speed, the Senate yesterday passed another of the major bills on its calendar—that creating a five-man bipartisan commission with power to regulate telegraph, telephone, radio and cable communications systems.

Less than five hours of debate and only a voice vote was required to approve the measure and send it to the House.

Conforming to the general recommendations of President Roosevelt, the bill transfers to the new commission all existing powers of the Federal Radio Commission over radio and the Interstate Commerce Commission over telegraph and telephone facilities, including authority to license and allocate broadcasting facilities and to control rates charged by other services.

It exceeds the President's recommendations in some respects as to the granting of new power, but Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, whose name appears in the bill, thought it would be acceptable.

YOUNG KENTUCKY

I came the Womack Road from Sandy Bridge
When red shoe-makers were nodding with the dew
The sun rose even with the Neaton Ridge;
Under the leaves a golden ray came through
A man with horse and buggy passed me by
A jarrily sang upon the woody hill;
A mallard duck flew over with a cry,
A crow flew by with something in its bill.
I went the Womack Road from Sandy Bridge
When red shoe-makers were drinking back the dew
The moon rose even with the Neaton Ridge;
Under the leaves a silver ray came through
I could pick blackberries along the way
For moonlight on the fields was bright as day

What this country needs is a crop reduction program applied to office holders.

Dillinger's trail is said to have led back to the jail he whittled his way out of last March. May be he forgot his knife.

It has about reached the point where if a good news story doesn't have a kidnapping mixed up in it somewhere it is liable to be crowded off the front page.

"Better to be loved and bossed than never to be loved at all," he'd like. We like that one too, but do you know, "Better to have loved and lost than to be a married man?"

Why is it that the man who goes broke always has the breaks against him? Isn't it possible for a lucky man to neglect his business and have it go to pieces on him just like anybody else.

The country won't be completely ruined, even in the minds of the most rabid pessimists, until the government passes a law forbidding a man to take more than three bases after knocking a home run.

The Soviet government has launched an "Own Your Own Car" program by which it is hoped to enable every citizen to have his own car. They better look out, it was a "Two cars in every garage" program that got us in the fix we're in.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion that Mark Willens does not have to return to Florida in order to retain his right to represent the Fourth District in Washington. Major Frank and Mrs. Croker couldn't have picked a harder job for themselves.

Currency in circulation on year ago amounted to $5,297,000,000. Today there is only $3,382,000,000 of currency in circulation. Which certainly ought to show that it isn't the amount of money in circulation which makes the difference between good and bad times.

The principal users of silver money in the world are Mexico, India, and China. While England, France, Germany, and practically all other civilized countries use gold exclusively. Senators Thomas, Pittman, and others like them who represent silver mining interests, would have this country abandon the monetary system of all progressive nations in favor of the money of such a backward nation as China.

Secretary Wallace's Dilemma

The inevitable conflict between human nature and the crop reduction program of the Department of Agriculture has been brought to light recently by the dual role which Secretary Wallace has been compelled to play as a result of his connection with the Administration and the Hi-Bred Corn Company of which he was formerly president and even now its largest single stockholder.

As Secretary of Agriculture it is Mr. Wallace's singular task to promote to the best of his ability the A. A. A. plan to induce corn farmers to take 20 percent of their acreage out of production so as to reduce the corn crop and thus raise prices. As a special incentive to get the farmers to do this, a bonus, raised by processing taxes, is offered them for every acre reaped from production.

But the Hi-Bred Corn Company, which Secretary Wallace owns, produces seeds, and like any good corn company, produces the best seeds for the farmers. It is possible to produce by various processes of cross breeding and elimination and other scientific experiments, many of which were personally conducted by Mr. Wallace, a corn seed has been developed which in numerous tests has been shown to produce 11.4 bushels more corn per acre than its nearest competitor.

The Hi-Bred Corn Company, like any progressive business concern which has something to sell and knows how to sell it, advertises its product broadly. The principal medium which it uses for this advertising is naturally the publication most widely read by the farmers. This happens to be the Middle West "Wallace's Farmer." This magazine was founded by Secretary Wallace's father, was formerly owned by his family, and even now carries on its masthead, "Henry A. Wallace, Editor on Leave of Absence."

So while Secretary Wallace is trying to get the farmers to reduce their acreage by 20 percent, Mr. Wallace is trying to get them to use seed which will produce 19.8 percent more corn per acre. It seems apparent that if the farmers will buy Mr. Wallace's seed, they can comply with the A. A. A. crop reduction program obtaining the government bonus for cutting their acreage, and still raise just as many bushels of corn as they did before.

It is not an enviable position in which Mr. Wallace finds himself. One likes to see someone who is able to paddle his own canoe, but it hardly seems the part of wisdom to try to guide it in both directions at the same time. Mr. Wallace is an exceedingly competent individual and may be able to do it. But to the common man it looks as if there might be an unnecessary strain somewhere amidships.

They Have Arrived

Thirteen American women were presented to Queen Mary at the Court of St. James in London last night. No one knows the strings that were pulled, to say nothing of the hair, in order to obtain this same, this pinnacle, of social recognition. These women at last had arrived. Their paths were literally strewn with the dead bodies of their less fortunate competitors over whom they climbed in their battle to the throne room.

The newspapers tell us that the brief ceremony, in which the Queen merely nods her head—whether in courtesy, or from mere weariness from supporting her crown of diamonds, we don't know—was preceded by days of feverish activity on the part of the lucky girls and their mothers, aunts, and uncles. London and Paris shops were literally wrecked in the frenzied endeavor to find exactly the right shade of white.

The American women were but a handful of the vast throng of nearly three hundred women from all parts of the world representing the last word in social aristocracy. More than eight hundred persons, evidently some of the women had met the Queen before. attended this grandest of all palace functions, one of the few survivors of those bygone days when romance was in flower.

It's no joke this presentation at the Court of St. James. Many a woman would die for the honor. They go to finishing schools and study for years the most approved manner of swinging that right foot in order to execute the perfect curtsy. They are trained, and groomed, and polished for years, just like a stable of Mrs. Astor's race horses, and then they have to angle for bids with all the piscatorial skill of Franklin Roosevelt, or the President of the Isaac Walton League.

But show us a girl who can truthfully say, "I wouldn't walk across the street to see Queen Mary stand on her head," and you have found a girl who can really do something worthwhile.

Bert Acosta Jailed For Being Drunk

MINNEOLA, N. Y., May 16.—Bert Acosta, once holder of the world's endurance flight record, served the first day Monday of a three-month jail sentence.

He was sent to the Oneida county jail for violation of a law against drinking in a public place Sunday after he floundered in an automobile accident.

Police said he quarreled with the officers after an automobile in which he was riding with George Schwartz, 23, of Jamaica, and a young woman companion overturned in Mineola. All three were slightly injured slightly.

damaged. They expect to continue after minor repairs tomorrow. Both went to bed early at a local hotel, but consented to discuss briefly their hazardous experience with a newspaper correspondent.

Pond, found in his room, said they flew blind for 21 hours. "About 400 miles from Ireland," he said, "we had absolutely no knowledge of our surroundings in the fog and thought for a long time it seemed a very long time it would be necessary to make a forced landing at sea."

Their big monoplane, the Leonardo Da Vinci, is a land plane, and such a plunge they intimated probably would have proved fatal. "Hope dwindled as we struggled on and the engine seemed about to sputter its last," Pond continued. "Sabelli thereupon began to pump oil into the engine. The plane responded and we rose to a height of 100 feet. The machine continued on the course, but still we had no idea of our bearings."

"After what seemed an endless period of aimless flying Sabelli sighted land. We saw thatched cottages and immediately recognized it as Ireland. We continued until over May, where we saw a suitable field and landed."

"At one stage of the journey, Sabelli had to climb out of the cockpit and pump gasoline into the reserve tank to insure the motor's supply, as the main tank feed line was choked."

"During the entire flight, we did not sight a ship of any description. The only land we saw until Ireland was Harbor Grace, Newfoundland."

Pond paid high tribute to Sabelli's courage during the forty flight which brought them through safely, even though far from their home goal.

Sabelli in an interview described the flight for his life as "terrible."

"Imagine our relief," he said, "when our airplane rose just as we were certain we should be forced into the sea. And realize our joy when we sighted our home."

Challenge Of Gangs Is Taken Up By U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—In the challenge of the John Dillinger gang, the government may write a $100,000 answer.

Lewis Douglas, budget director, and men from the justice department, are putting their heads together, considering the advisability of spending up to that sum on a "war chest" to combat crime. Among these things the money would provide are:

Twenty armored cars.
Two hundred swift and bullet proof vests.
Ten gas equipment.

Ten or 12 new officers of the division of investigation.
Two hundred and 50 more men to help the present 119 agents.
Expanded facilities for prosecution.

Georgia Priest Fights Sterilization Plan

ATLANTA, May 16.—The Rev. Joseph E. Moylan, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, in a sermon here criticized the movement for sterilization of mental and physical defectives in Georgia and said "the end certainly does not justify the means."

The priest departed from the general custom of preaching on religious subjects and arranged the program which has received the endorsement of Chairman E. F. Lindsey of the state board of control, and other leaders.

"The State of Georgia has the right to sterilize only as a last resort and as it has a right to inflict capital punishment for capital crime and just as the nation has a right to conscript men and send them to battle to defend an invading or oppressive hostile country, but it does not have the right to sterilize its citizens when there are other and even more effective means of accomplishing the purpose of the eugenics movement."

The priest suggested that those against whom the sterilization movement is directed be segregated or placed on subsistence farms where they "can not only help themselves, but also can prove beneficial to society."

ARMY PILOT KILLED

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 16.—A pilot in a crash of a biplane crashed here from Kelly field yesterday. A second crash landed in the city of the biplane on May 15, as he participated in a flight at Kelly field. The pilot, George A. Reynolds, 21, Middleburg, N. Y., was killed.

President To Spend Money On Weather

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The President has given the President money to spend on a $100,000 program in information about flying conditions in the North Pacific.

Tucked away in the war department appropriation bill which just became law is a provision authorizing the President to spend up to $100,000 for information "from an authoritative source" on the geographic, topographic and weather conditions in northern latitudes.

The information to be purchased at each place would not take a single person would not take a single person. So that the information would be added to that information already on hand and military aviation.

Ocala Deluged By Rain To Depth Of 5 Inches

OCALA, May 16.—The severest rain storm in many years lasting that of last September, deluged Ocala and vicinity Monday night, Wednesday, F. G. H. White reported precipitation at 5.60 inches. Five windfalls on the Atlantic Coast Line near Orange Lake were reported. Trains were not run from just after midnight Monday night until yesterday afternoon, when repairs were completed.

Water covered many highways throughout Marion county.

It takes good things to make good things

YOU CAN USE MOST THINGS that grow out of the ground just as soon as they are harvested. But not so with cigarette tobaccos ... not if you want them to be mild and taste right.

It takes many months of ageing in the wood—2½ to 3 years to be exact—to bring out the flavor and mildness of the tobaccos—just as it takes many months of ageing to bring out the flavor of rare wines. It means something that Chesterfield tobaccos are aged and mellowed like fine wines—it helps to give Chesterfield its milder and better taste.

HOLLYWOOD MAY COME OUT OF ITS BOND MESS SOON

Grossly Overbonded, Area May Benefit From Movie Plants

Editors Note: Another of the news items on Florida municipalities prepared by the Miami Herald has been received by Florida press.
CITY OF HOLLYWOOD
MIAMI, May 16.—(AP)—Although the founders of Hollywood grossly overbonded the city and levied enough taxes to leave the payment of the bonds (they hope) by paying taxes in 1926 and 1926. And if the great new movie picture colony, recently announced, expands its operations, think it will be a great deal of taxes will be paid in the next few years and Hollywood will blossom like the ever-blooming magnolia that mantles many of its homes.
Once it was called Hollywood-by-the-Sea, but the tiny smell of the sea in the nostrils of lot buyers. It is that name from J. W. Young, who came to this boom from that other city that gave Los Angeles and Hollywood, California, the gallant picture, and Hollywood in 1923 was a name to conjure with. The company took the form of issuing more than $1,500,000 with which to buy broad street, city hall and other buildings. The municipal picture.

But unhappily, Hollywood is a city that found itself in the sudden collapse of the boom with a great many expensive buildings. The construction and operation of J. W. Child Guidance

By Frank Howard Richardson, M. D., F. A. C. P.

WHAT ABOUT MILK? It is quite safe to say that the most important single food, the food without which no child can obtain his maximum development is milk.

Doesn't that mean, then, that every child should be compelled to drink a certain amount of it every day? Oh, no indeed; for in that event he would discontinue milk drinking as soon as ever he could.

No he should be taught to like it—better he should not be taught to dislike it, as so often happens after well-meaning mothers and nurses have harried him into loathing it.

But suppose they do acquire this distaste; what then? Perhaps it's only the rich, thick, creamy taste, or "feel," they dislike.

Then give him a small glassful instead of a large one. Perhaps it's the fact that here is something that must be taken. Then let it be left unattended for awhile, getting in the required amount in the form of puddings and pures.

Milk is an indispensable food. Let's not make our children loathe it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS QUESTION: Dear Dr. Richardson:

son: What is the best time to send a child to school? Will he be over this month. Do you think he should go to kindergarten next fall?

ANSWER: That all depends upon the kindergarten, if it is organized, as many of the newer progressive schools are, especially for these younger children, it might be a fine thing for him to go thus early.

QUESTION: I have discouraged attling—I don't want my child to be a tattletale. But other children take advantage of this? Then too, what should I do when he tells me that some of his playmates are doing things I don't want him to do, or that might hurt someone?

ANSWER: I believe you are making trouble for yourself and your boy when you discourage his telling you things that happen to him and his friends, on the ground that this is tattling.

What Price Strikes? Billions Annually, Statistics Reveal

WARRINGTON, D. C.—Over 100 million man-days of work were lost during 1933 as a result of labor disturbances in the United States, according to figures compiled by the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

These figures showed 1,395 disputes adding to the Nation's economic loss as a result of the war of strikes which began last May coincident with the passage of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

The House yesterday gave its sanction to a measure to permit newspapers to announce winners and prizes in lotteries held by churches and like organizations.

JEFFERSON CITY, Tenn., May 16.—(AP)—Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaughn of Oklahoma City, who sentenced the Machine Gun Kelly to prison, recently told the graduating class of Carson Newman College.

By organization and leadership the loyal citizens, who outnumber the criminals several hundred times, have it in their power to stop the present shameful carnival of crime if they really want to do so.

He pictured a "bullet army" of 100,000 who, he said, were connected with 12,000 members, 5,000 kidnappers, 100,000 avaricious, 50,000 robbers, 10,000 bootleggers and 5,000 assassins in the United States.

He also said the annual "drug bill" at thirteen billion dollars, and that the entire cost of the annual expense of the drug racket is paid by the consumer.

PeachCrop In Pennsy To Be Unusually Short

HARRISBURG, May 16.—(AP)—Crop reports indicate that the Pennsylvania farmer is "getting a break" with his winter wheat.

While the Department of Agriculture estimates the probable national yield of winter wheat at 461,170,000 bushels, because of drought 31,000,000 bushels below the figure indicated a month ago, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service says Pennsylvania's prospects have decreased only slightly in that time.

Some other crops are not doing so well, however, and the farmer's dollar has declined one point in purchasing power, the service states.

The peach crop is expected to be "the shortest in years," and most sweet cherries were frozen during the extreme winter weather.

G. O. P. Held As Having Chance In N. Y. In Fall

NEW YORK CITY, May 16.—The Republican party has a good chance of recovery this fall if it will follow its old course as "a party of innovation," not of conservatism.

Henry Payne, former state tax commissioner, said at a meeting of Nassau county's Republican committee in Monaca recently.

He recalled that the party originated in a revolutionary protest against slavery, and gave instances to contradict the soundness of its reputation as the American party of the Right wing.

Then he recalled H. Edmund Machold, former state chairman, and praised the present chairman, W. Kingsland May, for his attack on the utility bloc's "unstable control of the Republican party" in the state.

"No longer," said Mr. Payne, is it a party protesting its honesty, but it is a party that is working vigorously to see that it is honest and that it is kept honest."

U. S. Schools Remain In Teachings Is Claim

ATLANTIC CITY, May 16.—The American education system has been "almost criminally remiss" in encouraging normal development, Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette College, said in an address recently before the closing session of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs.

"Compared with Europe, where educational opportunities are more restricted, our situation is discouraging," Dr. Lewis said. "We have the most appalling criminal record in the world. We look with suspicion upon the highly educated man."

Dr. Lewis said that nations most skillful in domestic government and foreign affairs rely on the scholar in politics.

Norman Thomas Says New Deal Is Failure

CHICAGO, May 16.—(AP)—Norman Thomas described the New Deal as unsuccessful but termed it the failure of capitalism, not of President Roosevelt.

The New Deal, the Socialist leader said in an address before the Chicago conference on the international and economic crisis, is inconsistent in the price monopoly works in favor of capital while the gains of labor under NRA are doubtful.

"The good intentions of the Administration," he added, "do not offset the fact that the choice of Roosevelt is a choice none of us has a right to make in the face of national poverty, when the consequences of his decisions might prove disastrous."

All four are members of the Florida Control Committee and their experience on this board during the present season should help them in representing Florida at this important national session.

J. Curtis Robinson, executive vice president of the Growers and Shippers League of Florida, is feeling mighty happy at recent slashes on the vegetable rates from Florida. He is always, night and day, working for lower rates on citrus. In a recent speech Mr. Robinson commented on the control setup and prospects for next season. He said, "Since the advent of the control committee the quantities to go to the auction centers is being regulated. This will unquestionably bring better returns for the entire crop another year, but it will also offer some new problems in distribution for our shippers to overcome." Mr. Robinson is now working on these problems.

Total movement of Florida citrus this season through May 15, according to government records, was as follows:

Oranges	22,517
Grapefruit	16,229
Tangerines	2,265
Mixed Citrus	7,263

Total car loads ... 20,974

These figures include shipments by rail, boat, express and truck and were released by the Florida Control Committee at Orlando.

Japs Claim Russians Killed Manchukuan

TOKYO, May 16.—(AP)—The slaying of a Manchukuan sailor and the wounding of another on the Amur River Saturday was held by Japanese army reports yesterday to a burst of rifle fire from military positions on the Russian bank of the river.

An investigation was begun by the newly-formed state of Manchukuo. Japanese reports said the sailors were felled while aboard a steamer.

Comment was declined by the war office but a spokesman said that officials of Manchukuo, Japanese-dominated state which recently enthroned Henry Pu-Yi as emperor, were seeking to get to the bottom of the affair.

A protest from Moscow appeared likely, especially in view of the strained relations between Japan and the Soviet in the Far East.

HEALTH from Florida CITRUS

Florida citrus fruit — major agricultural crop of the State, worth fifty million dollars annually — is a golden storehouse of health for all humankind, offering tremendous merchandising possibilities for the acceleration of Florida's growth.

In recent years, physicians and scientists have announced many unsuspected health attributes of citrus fruit ... such as essential vitamins B and C, remedy for acidosis and use in treatment of common colds. This factual information, more widely known, would result in increased consumption of Florida fruit, full utilization of the 22,000,000 trees and 214,500 acres of groveland and, of course, a greater reflected prosperity for the State as a whole.

Florida oranges are distinguished by their thinner skins, higher juice content, sweeter flavor and russet gold color. Florida grapefruit — eighty-one per cent of the crops grown in North and South America — are larger, juicier, with firmer meat.

The optimistic outlook for Florida citrus includes expenditure of a million dollars by steamship lines for improved cold storage facilities, adoption of codes and improved marketing methods by shippers. Manufacture of wine and champagne from Florida citrus is already underway. Growing factories are using increased quantities of surplus fruit. Opportunity for expansion of the citrus industry appears limitless.

Florida citrus is one of the State's great assets, one of many agricultural and industrial fields of opportunity awaiting development. More population ... a greater Florida market ... will supply this development. United state advertising for all Florida, will bring more people here ... open the door to prosperity.
