

Senators Seek Probe Of CAB Florida Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., led a battle today for a senate investigation of the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) decision to drop northeast Airlines from the New York to Florida route.

Kennedy announced Thursday that he, Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., and Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., were asking the Aviation subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee to hold the hearings.

It was Kennedy's first major senate speech. Only several senators were present and the galleries were nearly empty. Part of the gallery has occupied by Kennedy's office staff.

Northeast Airlines President James W. Austin told New England congressmen Thursday that loss of the route would mean that about 1,350 jobs would have to be eliminated, mostly in New England. The present 2,200 jobs would be cut back to 650 to operate a regional service in New England.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Me., added in the senate that he supported Kennedy and hoped the hearing would consider not just the Florida run but the complete air transportation picture in New England.

Kennedy said the CAB plan to drop Northeast from the New York to Miami run "will have so adverse an impact on the economy and the air travel to the New England area that I feel it deserves the closest attention of the Congress."

Kennedy said: "The decision severely restricts competition in one of the richest passenger markets in the country."

He also said the CAB decision would restrict shuttle service between Boston and Washington to one carrier and "could well mean higher prices for travel between those points."

$950 Found In Bed Returned

FORT WORTH (UPI) — The quoted price for mattress renovation is $15.81, but it almost cost a 66-year-old Fort Worth widow $950 more.

C. R. Fincher, owner of the mattress renovating firm, said an employee was shredding the mattress stuffing to eliminate lumps when he spotted a $10 bill. He began checking and found $950 in cash.

"If I had known the money was in there, I would have been a fool to send the mattress to you," Fincher said the woman told him. She paid him $15.81 out of her windfall.

Quarter-Finals

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — Martin Mulligan of Australia reached the quarter-finals of the West German international tennis championship with a 6-3, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Dietrich Ecklebe of West Germany. Francoise Durr of France, Edda Buding of West Germany and Anette Van Zyl of South Africa advanced to the women's quarter-final singles bracket.

Mao Puts His Lip In U.S. Race Question

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung Thursday called the American Negroes' civil rights campaign a "sharpening of the class struggle" and promised them Peking's support.

Mao, in a statement issued by the New China News Agency, charged that President Kennedy's civil rights program was nothing but "two-faced tactics . . . an attempt to lull the fighting will of the Negro people and deceive the masses throughout the country."

He denied charges made by Moscow that China's own policies were racist. The Soviets have accused the Chinese of trying to capture leadership of nationalist movement in Africa, Latin America, and Asia by turning the people there against the "white, hostile, Soviet ritz-sena."

"Our unity is not one of race; it is the unity of comrades and friends," Mao said. His statement on the U. S. race question was prompted by an American Negro, Robert Williams, who is "now taking refuge in Cuba," Mao said.

This Southerner Knows His Grits

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Guests at the Boone County ham breakfast Saturday will get their hands and eggs but no grits, and all because caterer James C. Nanson is a Southern cooking purist.

Nanson said grits must be cooked and served quickly in the best tradition. He feared the grits would not withstand being carted to the fairgrounds to be served lukewarm.

RFE Reports Views Of Southern Moderates On Race Issue

By Al Koppeltzer
United Press International

Radio Free Europe is a privately - supported organization that transmits Western "truth" behind the Iron Curtain into Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Bulgaria and Romania.

In the course of attempting to answer Communist attacks with what it calls an "unvarnished picture" of the racial situation in the U. S. South, RFE sent two newsmen into Dixie for three weeks. Their interviews, and RFE "Commentary" are being used for four half-hour programs broadcast from two transmitters in West Germany and one in Portugal.

A striking note about the complete 500 page transcript is that it skips reactions that are more conservative than middle-of-the-road. The agency's news chief, Horst Pezall, a native of Berlin, Germany, explains this way:

"Members of extremist groups such as the Black Muslims and the White Citizens Council, were not interviewed. The people of the countries we reach were getting plenty of the extremist point of view from the Communist propagandists."

Here are samples of how the racial situation was reported by Radio Free Europe:

RFE Commentary: "There is a very real sense of optimism among Negro leaders and complete consensus among whites . . . that the racial barriers that exist today are certain to fall."

Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina: "What is needed is a new emancipation proclamation from the bigotry of the past . . . the people of North Carolina are realizing it is simply not right and

He Didn't Think About Back Door

DALLAS (UPI) — Grocer J. W. Richey is a careful man. Because of the threat of robbery, he had a burglar alarm system installed at the front door of his store.

Thursday, burglars broke in and stole tobacco, wine, a money order machine and a radio. They came in the back door. It wasn't connected to the alarm.

moral to deprive people of a chance to make the most of their abilities."

Mayor Stanley E. Brookshire of Charlotte, N. C.: "The choice should not be too difficult if we admit in all honesty that discrimination based on the color of a man's skin is legally and morally wrong and economically unsound."

This is one alternative to the United Nations

The U.N. isn't perfect but it's our one best hope. Below are facts about its work that you should know. Read how the U.N. works to prevent war.

The U.N. helps put out brush fire wars before they can flare up and consume the world. In the Congo, for example, the U.N. helped restore order, to prevent Russia and other powers from taking over.

The U.N. offers a meeting place for nations. World leaders are "onstage" there, before the conscience of world opinion.

Behind the scenes, U.N. programs like UNICEF and UNESCO spread education and technical knowledge, help stamp out disease and hunger. The United Nations gets at the roots of war.

Motor Sales Up, Follow Trend, Dealers Report

An upward trend in the sale of cars and trucks reported by dealers across the nation is matched by Sanford dealers, according to a Herald survey.

Recent United Press International stories out of Detroit listed sales of cars and trucks during July had set a record-shattering mark, topping a 13-year record.

In Sanford, Don Bales, of Sanford Motors gave The Herald a plug as he reported a "very good sales year — we're going great. Those Herald ads really pull them in, too. July is normally a slow month for us but it was fine this year and is running right on into August."

Emmett Ferrel, of Holler Motors, reported that his office had been able to obtain some extra cars during July, exceeding their regular allotment, and "we have less used cars on hand than we have ever had before at this time of year."

Denver Cordell, of Willis Jeeps and trucks, reported that his figures show a jump of 62 per cent in sales over last July.

Seminole County Motors manager Ben Howland reported that their sales were up 50 per cent and more during July and about 75 per cent for the year. "It has been a great year, we've done a very good business," said Howland.

Hunt-Lincoln Mercury sales manager Willie Hunt reported that "Business is excellent, much better than last year."

Strickland-Morrison reported that they were a little previous, in that "July was better than last year but June was our best month so far."

Conversely, Brass Motors said that "July was good but August is going to be much better."

Hill Hemphill reported that "sales for the year to date are much ahead of last year. We are pleased with the reception of our 1963 line."

Business Briefs

Ethical Use Of Hypnosis Told

Hypnosis is not a state of sleep, unconsciousness or even semi-consciousness, Joe McCawley, ethical hypnotist, told Jaycees.

Defining what hypnosis is and what it is not, McCawley said that the hypnotized subject appears to be asleep, but actually is more awake, more alert, with all senses much more acute than at any other time.

"The idea of a hypnotized person being some kind of a zombie, the victim of a weird or occult mystery is false," he said.

"It is a science, he explained, 'it is as old as man, or as old as communication between men. Just what it is cannot be explained but under hypnosis, the person is in a state of heightened susceptibility, in which he will accept acceptable suggestions.'"

"Contrary to popular opinion," McCawley pointed out, "a person cannot be hypnotized against his will, and under hypnosis he will not accept any suggestion or command to which he is morally or ethically opposed."

McCawley described the ethical use of hypnosis in medicine and dentistry, which is of invaluable aid in cases where patients cannot take anesthesia or drugs, in treating emotional disorders, in helping to break bad habits or form good ones.

He said that he does not take any patients except those referred to him by doctors and dentists.

"There can be great danger in the careless and unethical use of hypnosis," McCawley warned.

"The use of hypnosis can remove symptoms of illness and thus remove the worry about the cause, which could be serious. It can cause regression and cause the person to re-live traumatic shocks and experiences suffered as a child, with the possibility of disastrous results."

"Hypnosis should never be used as a gimmick, an experiment or a game," he warned.

In spite of the fact that many people think that they cannot be hypnotized, everyone can, and in fact has been under hypnosis many times, McCawley explained.

"You have a prime hypnotic instrument right in your home—your television set," he said.

"Focusing on the television screen, you can become absorbed in the action there, losing your awareness of what is going on in the room around you. A speaker can have the same effect of mesmerizing you so completely as you listen to his voice, that your surroundings fade away completely from your consciousness."

"This is a light stage of hypnosis, which of course can be easily broken," he said.

"There are six stages of hypnosis, going progressively deeper," McCawley explained. "There is also self-hypnosis, which we often teach to our patients so that they may be able to continue the treatment at home."

"In any case, if you feel that hypnosis could help you, or you would be interested in trying it, don't come to me, see your doctor," he said.

Carolyn Michels, who earned her B.A. degree in elementary education, plans to teach third grade at Skyview Elementary School in Pinellas Park.

Mrs. Karen W. Waggoner, who received her BA degree in English, also plans graduate study. She is a member of the Scroll and Key and the mother of one son.

Gordon L. Hathaway, of Winter Park, who earned his Master's degree in education plans to continue teaching the eighth grade at Sanford Junior High School. He has received his BA degree in business from Rollins College.

Decision In Hawaii

The National Legislative Conference, an arm of the Council of State Governments, will take another look at the three so-called "states' rights" constitutional amendments in its Hawaii sessions.

The amendments thus will have come full circle, for they grew out of a report prepared by a committee of this conference and submitted last December to the General Assembly of States.

Both the conference and the assembly are bodies composed of state legislators. The assembly approved proposals from the committee, and subsequently they were submitted to all 50 state legislatures for their consideration.

The suggested amendments, of course, are those which would create a Court of the Union superior to the Supreme Court in some matters, bar the federal courts from a role in state legislative reapportionment, and simplify the means by which states can initiate U. S. constitutional amendments.

Only four states have approved the Court of the Union idea, but roughly a dozen have endorsed the other measures. Two-thirds, or 34, are required to compel Congress to act and submit the proposals to all the states, with 88 approvals needed for ratification.

There is no clear word on what the National Legislative Conference will do on these notions. As a full body it took no stand on them last year.

Considerable opposition to all three proposals has developed since various public figures have "discovered" what was going on. A negative stance by the conference at Hawaii presumably would act as a heavy brake on the movement for the amendments.

Even without this, definite signs of a slowdown in the drive began to appear a month or two ago. And it is a long way from a dozen states to the needed 34.

Strategy of the proponents is to win approval first of the measure which would ease state action on constitutional amendments. That would wipe Congress out of the picture in such efforts, and provide simply that when two-thirds of the state pass an identical amendment, it is automatically submitted for ratification.

The theory in pushing this is that, if it wins, it will be easier thereafter to gain the necessary state endorsement of the other proposals. All three are currently handicapped by a cumbersome constitutional procedure never successfully applied by the states.

The events in Hawaii may determine whether the states' rights amendments get a new boost or a hard brake.

Lyle C. Wilson Says:

Defense Waste Shocking

The American taxpayer would be well advised and within his rights to demand that the national Defense Department make better use of the said taxpayer's money.

Or, maybe some alert member of Congress should call the Pentagon to account for some of its too fool methods of doing business. The angry taxpayer and alert member of Congress need do no more than refer to the numerous reports by the comptroller general of the United States on the wasteful practices of the Pentagon brass, military and civilian.

Joseph Campbell is the comptroller general. His job is to audit the books of all spending departments and agencies and to tell Congress what he turns up. What turns up is a shocking story of waste, extravagance and stupidity, notably in the department of national defense.

In a single mail this week were three reports from Campbell, each running about 25 pages and each relating that some fatted in the Pentagon had wasted another bundle of the taxpayers' dollars.

There was, for example, the report on "unnecessary annual expenditures by the Departments of the Air Force and the Navy for leasing commercial facilities to store petroleum products in the San Francisco area instead of using excess government-owned petroleum facilities at the Navy fuel department, Point Moline, Richmond, Calif."

Campbell reported that the Navy's surplus oil storage capacity at Point Moline averaged 450,000 barrels for the past three years. But the Pentagon has been leasing nearby storage facilities with a capacity of about 432,000 barrels at $305,500 a year. Pure waste!

There was another report on "the increased price for ballistics computers resulting from excessive estimated material costs under a department of the Air Force contract." Campbell estimated that this one wasted about $83,800.

The third report described the deplorable unreadiness of the 3rd armored cavalry regiment, a strategic Army corps unit, when it was ordered to Berlin in the autumn crisis of 1961. This situation developed for lack of repair parts for combat and other motor vehicles.

"Our review disclosed," the report said, "that so many Armored were out of commission for lack of repair parts that not even one squadron of the three that composed the regiment was satisfactorily equipped to perform its strategic mission at the time it was ordered overseas during the Berlin crisis."

To The Editor

Dear Editor, I would like to clarify an article in the Sanford Herald under date of August 7th, 1963, in regard to figures presented to the County Commissioners for reappraisal of the downtown area. I quote from your article:

"Tax Assessor Mary E. Walker again submitted a request for a reappraisal of city commercial property to equalize assessments and said that she would be able to obtain a competent firm to do the job for $7,500 or about half of the amount requested last year."

Figures of $7,550 to reappraise the entire commercial area of Sanford and of $6,640 for reappraisal of the downtown commercial area including French Avenue were presented to the County Commissioners for the 1963-64 budget AT THEIR REQUEST.

For the previous two years, a request of $15,000 for additional reappraisal and map work had been made, but nothing was budgeted by the County Commissioners. This money was requested for as much reappraisal work as could be covered for a given tax roll. This amount was not for any specified area, however, I did have a figure of $6,250 from an appraisal firm which I hoped to include in this work.

On August 8th, 1962, the proposal of 1961 of $6,250 for a reappraisal of the downtown business district of Sanford was presented to the County Commissioners at their request.

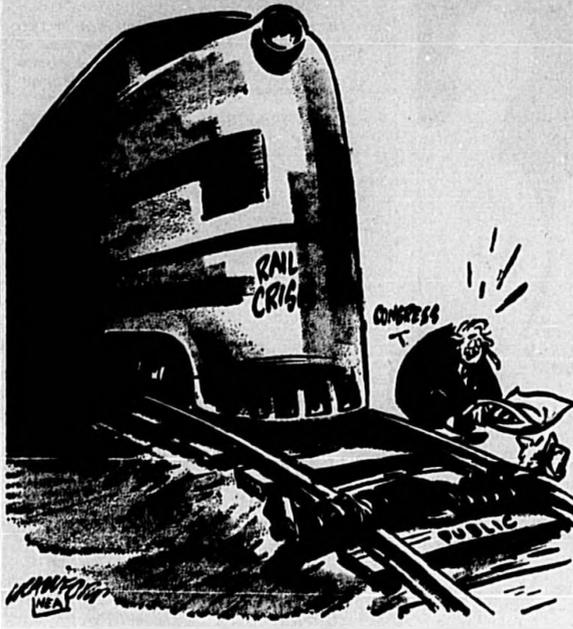

The recent article indicates the entire $15,000 was for reappraising the business district; however, this appears to be an assumption as the $6,250 figure was included in the overall request.

As costs have gone up since 1961, the figure for the work is actually more rather than one half the amount as stated by the paper.

Thank you for publishing this letter to clarify the article, I am

Yours very truly,
Mary Earl Walker,
Tax Assessor,

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The second step toward disarmament may be in the direction of reducing the danger from surprise attack.

Russia's Chairman Nikita Khrushchev is reported to have expressed most interest in this subject to U. S. Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman and Britain's Lord Halifax during Moscow negotiations on the test ban treaty.

The idea of reducing the dangers of surprise attack first appeared in the Soviet bloc disarmament plan of September 1959.

As a kind of postscript, it was stated that if the western powers were not ready to discuss "general and complete disarmament," the Soviet Union would be prepared to consider certain partial measures.

These partial measures include "an agreement on the prevention of surprise attack by one state upon another."

The United Nations 10-power Disarmament Committee's five western countries—America, Italy, Britain, Canada, France and developed it in their March 1960 proposals.

In the first stage of their three-stage disarmament plan, it was proposed that a joint study be made on measures to protect against surprise attack.

For the second stage, a proposal was offered to cover aerial inspection—President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan. This proposal called for ground observers, overlapping radar, prior notification of aircraft flights and appropriate communications for reporting to the United Nations.

This was further revised by the United States in June 1960 as a three-part plan to be put in complete effect during the first stage of disarmament. But the 10-nation Disarmament Committee failed to agree on anything. So that effort was lost.

In the summer of 1961 the United States and Russia held a series of bilateral talks on disarmament. They finally recommended to the United Nations a joint statement with two separate sets of principles as a guide for future multilateral negotiations.

Again the United States refined its proposals under the title of "Protection Against Accident, Miscalculation and Surprise Attack."

These are the proposals in which Chairman Khrushchev has expressed interest as a second step toward disarmament.

Four recommendations were made for the first stage of a general disarmament:

—States to give advance notice of major military maneuvers which might cause alarm and induce counter-measures.

—Observation posts to be established at major ports, railway centers, highway intersections and air bases to report on concentrations and movements of military forces.

—An international commission to recommend further measures to reduce the risk of nuclear war by accident, miscalculation or failure of communications.

—Additional inspection arrangements to be established to reduce the danger of surprise attack.

These four proposals were then put in a more comprehensive "Outline of Basic Provisions For a Treaty on General and Complete Disarmament in a Peaceful World."

This was presented to the 18-nation Disarmament Conference in April 1962 and is still before it as pending business.

Worry Clinic

Eileen needs to imitate the diabetic patient! Her fondness for a two-legged "sugar" is not a guarantee that she will be good for her. Girls, take the test below and see if you rate G. K. on all five counts. Otherwise, you are not ready for marriage.

CASE Q-419: Eileen G., aged 17, is a high school senior. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I have been going steady with a boy named Harry.

"And I am in love with him. So he has suggested that we run away and get married.

"But my parents would be furious. For they want me to go on to college.

"Harry says if we love each other, then that is all that matter, so he insists we elope. What do you think?"

People in love should take a lesson from diabetic patients. They know they can't follow their appetites alone but must curb their desire for sugar by an act of the brain.

Well, when you are also in love with a two-legged "sugar," you need to use your brain just as diligently as the diabetic!

Happy marriages require much more than teenage sexual infatuation.

Even true love is not enough, for a happy marriage demands not only real love, but an adequate pay check, proper understanding of child psychology, budgeting ability, etc.

At the time of George Washington, it was customary for a girl of 17 to get married. For the average lifespan in those days was only about 42 years.

Thus, a teenager could look forward to not more than 25 years of marriage.

Nowadays, however, the life expectancy of a girl like Eileen is 75 years, so she can defer her wedding 'til she is 25 and still live to celebrate her Golden Wedding Anniversary.

If you teenagers want to STAY happily married and thus avoid the divorce court, then follow these rules:

(1) Don't go steady during high school.

Play the field, even though you may not always be sure of an escort for every school party.

It is cowardly to go steady! And a happy romance cannot be built on cowardice!

(2) Finish high school and get at least one year of college, preferably Business College.

Then you will learn how to budget, keep books and operate a home so you will not be constantly hounded by bill collectors.

And no boy should even think about marriage till he has a trade or a profession by which to guarantee his family a better income than "pick and shovel" unskilled work.

(3) A girl should not marry till she has worked for a year and thus learned how hard it is to earn and budget a pay check.

(4) Don't cross radically different racial or religious lines, but try to marry somebody who will be active with you in the same church.

(5) Invite your sweetheart into your own home so he (or she) will then be viewed against the backdrop of your own home surroundings.

Many a person seems very romantic in a night club or dance hall location, but jars on your nerves when brought into the cultured environment of your own family.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My brother and I caught poison ivy again this year for the third year in a row, and our father is making us pay for the shots with our own money. Last year when we caught it, he said that now that we knew where the poison ivy was, if we ever caught it again we'd have to pay the expenses. Abby, isn't it bad enough to be covered with poison ivy without having to spend our berry-picking money to get well? If you print this in your column our father might change his mind.

DAVID AND STEVE (11 and 13)

DTAR BOYS: I'll print your letter, but I'm afraid it's hopeless. Your father is trying to teach you that money doesn't grow on trees. You've got to scratch for it.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 25-year-old daughter. She is still single and doesn't seem the least bit concerned about it. When the subject of marriage comes up, she laughs it off. As far as I can see, she has no intention of getting married, and I don't care for the idea of having an old maid for a daughter. What can I do?

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR WORRIED: Be thankful that your daughter is content. Or would you rather she be married and miserable? Or worse yet, divorced and living at home again with a couple of youngsters to raise?

DEAR ABBY: What should the mother of a teenage boy do when a girl's mother doesn't give her daughter a deadline to be home after a date? I suppose I should feel flattered that the girl's mother trusts my son with her daughter, but it doesn't seem right to send a 17-year-old boy off with a 16-year-old girl without telling them when to be home. I believe it's the girl's mother who should set the deadline. But if she doesn't, then what?

MRS. P.

DEAR MRS. P.: Tell your son what time you want HIM home, and that should settle it.

DEAR ABBY: The woman who "lied" nine years off her age in order to capture a certain widower reminded me of my own experience. When I met this very attractive older gentleman, I wanted so much to be considered "wife" material that I ADDED five years to my age so he wouldn't think I was too "young" for him. We are married now, and couldn't be happier. I later confessed my scheme, and we both had a good laugh.

Highlights

7:30-8:30 p.m. NBC. Monday Night at the Movies. "April Love" starring Pat Boone and Shirley Jones. (Color) (Rerun) This was made at the peak of the Boone craze among teenagers obviously to exploit his popularity. Surprisingly it turned out to be pretty solid entertainment, rather than mere juvenile mumbo jumbo. Boone plays a young man who had trouble with the law and took to his uncle's farm while on probation. He is desperately bored with the enforced rural life until a pair of shapely sisters come on the screen. Dolores Michaels and Arthur O'Connell are featured.

7:30-8:30 p.m. ABC. The Dakotas. "Reformation at Big Nose Butte." (Rerun) Solid action and the acting is above par. An outlaw leader (Telly Savalas) tempts Deputy J. D. Smith (Jack Elam) to consider joining his old gang. Smith resists the lure of "just one final haul" and takes off in pursuit of the gang when he finds they switched robbery plans away from the army payroll he was guarding. A good showdown scene and Savalas is excellent in his heavy role.

8:30-9 p.m. CBS. Vacation Playhouse. "Mickey and the Contessa."

Hawaii has 1148 males to each 100 females.

Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

South won the opening diamond lead with the ace and started about the business of drawing trumps. His plan was to let West hold a diamond after trumps were drawn and eventually discard one or two clubs on dummy's long diamonds.

South have for that bid? He only held a five-card trump suit, nothing in clubs and just the ace of diamonds. South was marked with the ace and king of hearts. How many hearts did South hold? Only those two! With three hearts he would surely have ruffed one in dummy before playing two rounds of trumps.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millett

A wise young man who intends to get married will do his best to become well acquainted with his future mother-in-law. The kind of person she is will be a strong indication of the kind of wife her daughter will make for him.

Two. What is the mother's attitude toward the job of homemaking? If she belittles it and has not taught her daughter anything about homemaking—then the daughter is likely to turn out to be another frustrated wife, bored with the responsibility for making a home.

Three. What is the mother's attitude toward her daughter? Is she willing to let her daughter think for herself and accomplish her own—not her mother's—ambitions? If she's a possessive mother, no young man had better count on the idea that she'll stop trying to run her daughter's life as soon as she gets a husband.

Miami Blanked

By Sun Sox 9-0

By United Press International Sarasota held a steady grip on first place in the Florida State League Sunday night in battering Miami 9-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Gil Downs. It was Downs' 12th win of the season against only three losses.

Four. What is the mother's attitude toward such things as money and social position? An ambitious mother who has a shallow set of standards may pass them on to her daughter. So if the mother sets great store by money and social position, the young man should make sure the daughter doesn't share those ideas—unless, of course, he shares them himself. In which case, she would probably be a good wife for him.

Five. Is the mother a happy, cheerful person? If she is, chances are the daughter will be easier to live with than if she had grown up in a family headed by an unhappy, neurotic woman.

Dr. Frank Leone Presents Program At Dinner Meeting Of BPW Club

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club met at the home of the president, Mrs. Harriett Slawter, 1921 Park Ave. for the regular meeting.

Guest speaker was Dr. Frank Leone, County Welfare Director. He told of plans for a public nursing service which would provide home nursing calls for a nominal fee.

This service would benefit a lot of elderly people who might be unable to go to a doctor or could not afford to stay in a hospital.

Following the meeting, a covered dish supper was served. During the business session, plans were discussed for a fashion and hair style show to be held during National Business and Professional Women's week, in October. Mrs. Arolyn True gave a brief summary of her trip to the national convention in Dallas, Texas, in July.

Four members made plans to attend the district meeting in Cocoa. They were the president, Mrs. Slawter, Mrs. Helen Pearson, Mrs. Marjorie Cowan and Mrs. True.

Capt. And Mrs. A. Williams Have Interesting Vacation

Capt. and Mrs. Arnold Williams are recuperating from a 4,000 mile vacation trip. Their first stop was in Decatur, Ala. to see a service friend of Capt. Williams.

From there they went through Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky. They stopped in Chicago where the Shrine Convention had people packed in the streets. They said hello to a former Sanford couple but as motels were so hard to find decided to start East. While traveling through Illinois they found a town called Paris, and stopped long enough to eat there. That evening they stayed at Napoleon.

After spending several days in Akron, Ohio, with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Love, they journeyed to Canandaigua, N. Y. Here they spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Harvey, former mayor of Rushville and winter visitors in Sanford.

The cherry orchards were beautiful but very dry. A visit to a plastic factory proved very enjoyable and other sightseeing trips were made in Rochester, Ili and Ft. Plain, N. Y. In Canajoharie, they dined with Mayor and Mrs. Lewis Baker, former neighbors and close friends and visited several other former associates and relatives.

Returning through the central area of North Carolina they called on Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hasley, former math pupils of Mrs. Williams. Mr. Hasley is engaged in manufacturing pipe coverings for industrial use and had just shipped an order to Africa. While in Greensboro the Sanford tourists went through the P. Lorillard cigar factory and a nylon hose factory. A stop was made in Albemarle to greet Dr. and Mrs. George Eldins who are raising prize winning show and race horses. They had quite a menagerie consisting of 14 horses, two ponies, a monkey, a goat and many cats. All three of the Eldins children have learned to ride and have many trophies and ribbons won at horse shows including one from Ocala.

Capt. and Mrs. Williams stated that this was the best and the first real vacation they had taken for 12 years. They observed that the happiest faces are found where many industries are providing high incomes so the people may have necessities and a few luxuries.

Iced Tea Is Thirst Quencher

By Gaynor Maddox
NEA — Every summer Americans drink an estimated eleven to twelve billion glasses of iced tea with meals, between meals, whenever they are hot, tired or thirsty.

Also, there is a new iced tea mix, which takes fuss out of making and serving it. This iced tea mix makes iced tea even more quickly than instant tea. It contains tea, lemon and sugar. Ordinary tap water, ice cubes and a pinch of the mix are all that are needed to prepare it. Packaged in a strong aluminum foil pouch, it is as easy to carry or store as to prepare, designed to withstand the rigors of boating, picnicking, hiking and camping.

If you prefer to make your tea the conventional way, be sure to make it extra strong to allow for melting ice. If you haven't a big teapot to brew it in, here's an easy method using an open saucepan. It makes two quart-sized servings to 10 to 12.

Bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in an open sauce-pan. Remove from heat and while the water is still bubbling, immediately add 1/3 cup loose tea or 15 tea bags. Stir and let stand, uncovered for 5 minutes. Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of cold water.

Incidentally, don't refrigerate the tea — it's apt to turn cloudy. Keep it at room temperature until ready to serve, then pour over ice cubes and serve with lemon and sugar to taste. Add a sprig of mint, too, if you have some handy.

For The Cool Ones
Even during summer there are cool days when a girl needs a coat. A lightweight silk or cotton coat is a good investment for that time of year.

Lettuce Remember This
Here's how to be sure you have crisp, dry lettuce for your salads:
Wash the lettuce, separate the leaves and wrap them in absorbent paper towels to remove moisture. Dry them carefully, because salad dressing won't adhere to wet lettuce. Return lettuce to refrigerator to chill before tossing your favorite salad.

18 - Club Loft

Assuming that the lie is respectable, the swing with the 3 wood is about the same as brassie.

It should be a full swing, executed with timing and rhythm.

The 3 wood does the job from any kind of an average lie, giving you distance, height and roll.

The top of the swing is similar to that of the swing with the driver. The hands are held high at the top and under the shaft. The club is parallel to the ground. The ball is played off the left heel from approximately the same spot as with the two longer woods.

You should be cautioned against scooping 3 wood, or spoon shots. You are beginning to move into a fairly lofted club when you deal with a spoon, so treat it as such. Hit the ball squarely. Let the loft of the clubbed get the ball in the air.

If the lie is in a divot or otherwise poor, that's the time to hit down on the ball with the spoon. It performs more like an iron in this instance. The ball is hit more with that pinching effect we previously mentioned as applying to irons. Don't be alarmed about any loss of distance you may suffer in this instance as that usually is compensated for by added roll.

Only in the case of a fairly good lie should a 3 wood be considered in the rough. Otherwise, choose an iron or a 4 or 5 wood.

The 4 wood is excellent for knocking the ball out of the rough. Its tremendous loft and compact head knives through grass with speed and accuracy, gets the ball up quickly. Long grass has less tendency to wrap around the wood head than it does to slip around an iron and slide in between the ball and club face at contact.

The 4 wood is excellent for attacking bad lies on the fairway and for getting the ball up quickly to clear trees or other hazards.

The 5 wood is considered an auxiliary club, doesn't come in a regular set of four woods. Yet it is a club that every weekend golfer should have. It is easier to control than the irons, can knock the ball out of almost impossible lies. Its distance is equivalent to a 2 or 3 iron.

Its added loft makes it a much preferable club to a 2 or 3 iron—especially in the case of questionable lies.

NEXT: The short irons.

Moffitt Paces U. S. Victory

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Billie Jean Moffitt, an extremely talented teenager with a tennis racket, was "Miss Big" as the United States overwhelmed England, 6-1, to win the 35th annual Wightman Cup tennis matches.

Miss Moffitt, a 19-year-old court whirlwind, won two singles matches and was a member of a doubles team that also came up with a victory to enable Uncle Sam to win his 25th Wightman Cup and fourth in the last six years.

The bespectacled youngster, who hails from Long Beach, Calif., in addition to possessing a fine all-around game and a never-say-quit spirit, also pleased the crowd with her vocal and facial grunts.

Several times she would chirp "yes" to compliment her foe on a fine shot, or admonish herself with "Hit it," "Go Billie" or "more Billie," when outfoxed by her opponent.

IBADAN, Nigeria (UPI) — Dick Tiger vs. unbeaten Laszlo Papp — somewhere in the United States?

That's the proposed fight which world middleweight champion Tiger of Nigeria was considering today, now that he has definitely disposed of ex-champ Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah.

Tiger, 32, stopped gory Fullmer, 32, in the seventh round here at Liberty Stadium Saturday night, and is now digesting a proposal to make his next defense against 37-year-old Papp of Hungary somewhere in America.

Rapp, the only three-time Olympic winner and the only professional boxer behind the Iron Curtain, is the challenger nominated by Championship Sports, Inc., CSI, one of Tiger's handlers disclosed today.

Griffith Angles For Tiger Bout

NEW YORK (UPI) — Welterweight champion Emile Griffith, who beat his 12th middleweight Saturday night, will defend his 117-pound crown next January and, after that, shoot for the middleweight 160-pound title, co-manager Gil Clancy announced today.

Griffith, 25, won a lopsided decision over middleweight contender Holly Mims of Washington, D. C., Saturday in a nationally televised 10-rounder at Saratoga Springs, N. Y. The bout was scored 6-3-1, 6-3-1, 8-1-1.

Clancy said Griffith is showing against Mims convinced that Emile could beat Dick Tiger of Nigeria, the 160-pound ruler, next year.

Fregosi Looks Like Tip-Top Shortstop

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — If a consensus were compiled of the opinions of major league managers on the infielder most likely to become one of the game's top stars, shortstop Jim Fregosi of the Los Angeles Angels would be a strong choice.

The 21-year-old Fregosi has caught the eyes of some of the best judges of baseball talent with his speed, strong arm and improved hitting.

"In about another year, Fregosi will be the outstanding shortstop in the American League," Angels general manager Fred Haney declares.

An the general manager's views are echoed by Angel manager Bill Rigney, who did his playing stint as an infielder and has given Fregosi special attention since he came to the young club.

But the praise is not limited to Angel executives. Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees says, "There's no question Fregosi has the makings of a great shortstop."

And the eyes of Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox light up when he watches Fregosi perform and he says, "The lad can't miss."

Fregosi is one of many great baseball players who have come to the game from the San Francisco Bay area. An outstanding athlete at Serra High School in San Mateo, Calif., Fregosi originally was signed by the Boston Red Sox, but the Angels got him in the original draft to stock the new major league club.

The versatile youngster, in addition to being one of California's outstanding high school baseball players, was also a football, track and basketball star and was the state's prep broad jumping champion.

"Being good in high school is a lot different from making good in the major leagues," Jim says. "I've had to learn a lot and I'm still learning things about being an infielder."

Fregosi played his first season of organized baseball while in the Red Sox organization with Alpine in 1960 and was named to the all-star team. After joining the Angels he was farmed to Dallas-Ft. Worth in 1961 and spent the first half of the 1962 season there.

The Angels recalled him midway in the 1962 season when shortstop Joe Koppe was injured and in three weeks Fregosi was considered a regular. Because he appeared in 58 games last season, Fregosi is ineligible for "Rookie of the Year" consideration this season.

Yankees, Nine Games Ahead, Can Walk In

A year ago today the Los Angeles Dodgers held a 2½-game lead over the San Francisco Giants in the National League pennant race.

That's the same bulge that separated these California rivals after weekend action, leaving some figure fiends wondering if history was ready to repeat itself.

You don't need a long memory to recall that the Dodgers blew a four-game lead in the final week of the 1962 season. Giants in a three-game play-off and they bowed to the off. This year, though, the Dodgers seem to have hit the skids much earlier.

Since July 20, when the Dodgers held a 10-game lead over the Giants, Walt Alston's men have lost 11 of 20 games. During the same period, the Giants, led by wondrous Willie Mays, have won 15 of 19.

Mays, hitting in his 13th straight game, doubled in two key runs to help the Giants win the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, while the Cincinnati Reds walloped Sandy Koufax and the Dodgers, 9-4.

The Milwaukee Braves ripped the St. Louis Cardinals, 9-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Houston Colts, 2-1, and the New York Mets rolled to an 11-4 victory after losing the opener of a doubleheader to the Chicago Cubs, 8-1, in other NL action.

Mays unloaded his double in the fifth inning to break up a pitching duel between Cal McLish (11-8) and the Giants' Jack Sanford (11-12). Chuck Hiller drove in three runs for the Giants with a homer and a sacrifice fly. Wes Covington collected four of the Phil's five hits off Sanford. Hiller drove in two runs during the first two innings to help the Dodgers southpaw twice this season.

The Reds raked Koufax for nine hits and five runs during 3½ innings to become the first team to beat the Dodger southpaw twice this season.

The Minnesota Twins scored a 5-2 win over the Boston Red Sox. It was the sixth straight success for the third-place Twins and kept them 9½ games behind the Yankees.

Packers Out Of The Doghouse

MIAMI (UPI) — Vince Lombardi, reluctant to praise and quick to criticize anything less than perfect, has let his world champion Green Bay Packers out of the doghouse.

He showed as much emotion as a pro football coach will Saturday night after the packers shrugged off a bumping loss at the hands of the college all-stars and ran over Pittsburgh's Steelers 27-7.

"An excellent individual effort all around," he called it. At the suggestion that the regulars, led by quarterback Bart Starr's pin-point tosses, had done most of the work, Lombardi snapped:

Now It Can Be Told

Lombardi Nixed N.Y. Jets' Bid After Green Bay Threw A Block

VINCE LOMBARDI

CHICAGO (NEA) — The American Football League was within one legal wrangle of the greatest coup in its three-year existence last winter.

Vince Lombardi, the most successful coach in professional football as the builder of the two-time world champion Green Bay Packers, committed himself with a hand-shake to jump leagues and take over the entire direction of the New York Jets.

This was when a group headed by Donald Grant was dicker for the founding AFL franchise (that was later bought by Sonny Werblin and his associates).

The only condition was that Lombardi be able to secure his release from an existing contract, which has three years to run, with the National Football League team. The Packers, sounded out, said nix and threatened a legal brawl if the AFL team tried to get him to breach it. Lombardi had to back out of his verbal agreement.

This was confirmed to me by a high AFL official, who divulged that the Jets would have matched the miffed sum Lombardi draws as coach and general manager at Green Bay and would have sweetened the pot with a stock deal that eventually might have given him at least 10 and maybe 20 percent of the club. This source said emphatically that Lombardi met with club and league officials to discuss the details.

Does it make sense that the most celebrated coach in pro ball should leave the hallowed security of the NFL, probably the most stable operation in all sports, for the precarious life of the AFL, which is still struggling for a firm perch, particularly in New York?

Only if you consider that Lombardi is a New York guy whose idea of the Wild West used to be New Jersey. And that Mrs. Lombardi is a confirmed New Yorker, too. It's no secret that Vince would have liked to move back to New York in 1961 before he won his first NFL championship. The opportunity was there when Jim Lee bardi out of New York — NFL-wise. With enough money and increasing signs that the AFL is here to stay, the Jet offer couldn't have looked too bad to a man out of Brooklyn.

Vince admitted he had a couple of offers to leave Green Bay. "This year," he said, "after we win."

He reveals in the Green Bay plant and the improvements that have been made there. He's a big man in Wisconsin and materially as well off as anyone could want to be.

"I'm so busy working anyhow," he said, "that I don't see how it matters where I live."

Maybe not, but the rest of the family doesn't watch films every night.

Members of the Green Bay corps sense a lightness in their boss this year, a relaxation of the tenseness that generally grips him in his work. Maybe the frustrations of wanting to return to the East don't eat at him any longer.

Sherman is entrenched with the Giants. When they couldn't get Vince, the Jets hired Weeb Ewbank, a highly competent football man, to reconstruct their franchise.

There's a limit to opportunity — even for the best man in the business.

Howell resigned as coach of the Giants, and the Mara brothers, Wellington and Jack, wanted him. They own the team, and Wellington was a Lombardi classmate at Fordham who first introduced Vince to leave an assistant's job at West Point with Red Blaik for the challenge of pro ball.

But again the matter of an obligation to Green Bay intervened. Veteran players on the club made a personal appeal that he stay on the job. The rebuilding job at Green Bay, started in 1959, wasn't done. So Vince immersed himself in his work, and the Packers became the best football team in the world.

For Lombardi, however, the personal future was complicated by the fact that Allie Sherman, the second choice coach of the Giants, did so well — two division championships in two years — that the Maras' rewarded him with a new five-year contract last winter. An unprecedented GIANT contract, incidentally.

AT OTIS AIR FORCE BASE — President Kennedy arrives at Otis Air Force Base hospital in Massachusetts, to be with Mrs. Kennedy in wake of the death of their infant son.

OTIS AFB, Mass. (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, greatly cheered by the visits of her two children, Caroline and John Jr., now is anxious to leave the hospital and return to the summer White House on Squaw Island.

The President brought the youngsters in separate visits Sunday for an affectionate reunion with their "Mummy," who has been grieving since the death of their little brother, born last Wednesday.

John Jr., nearly three, helicopter in on the evening visit and turned out to be a born scene stealer. Going to the hospital steps holding his father's hand, he asked soulfully: "Where's Mummy?"

Neither child had seen their mother since she was rushed to the hospital here after taking them riding on the trolleys last Wednesday. Both had been told they had a little brother — Patrick Bouvier Kennedy — who had gone to heaven.

The First Lady was making a rapid recovery from the Caesarian birth of her third child. She was out of bed and walking for the first time Sunday. She urged her doctor to permit her to go home right away.

As parents, the President and his 31-year-old wife appeared to be counting their blessings, despite their tragic loss. A White House spokesman described Mrs. Kennedy as "greatly cheered up" by the visits of her two children.

Negro Student Quits All-White Alabama U

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — James A. Hood, one of two Negro students who entered the all-white University of Alabama under federal guard two months ago, quit Sunday to "avoid a complete mental and physical breakdown."

Hood, 21, apparently faced imminent expulsion for criticizing officials. Hood's attorney, Arthur D. Shores, said he was "withdrawing on the advice of his physician... because of his physical and mental condition."

"My stay at the university has been a profitable challenge," Hood said. "I have enjoyed it thus far and regret that my illness has caused me to withdraw at this time. I look forward to re-entering after my recovery."

But the university said Hood could not return until after a hearing on charges he publicly and unfairly accused university and state officials of trying to get him expelled.

Mr. Flinn was the son of the late Henry Clay and Carrie Rush Flinn and had spent his entire life in the county. He was a builder with Greenwood Mills until his retirement.

He was a deacon in the Callic Self Memorial Baptist Church and was a member of the Masonic Lodge No. 91 for 60 years.

Siamese Twins Parted

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two teams of surgeons, working against a 36-hour deadline, successfully separated the Siamese twin sons of a teen-aged Glendale, Calif., couple Sunday.

The operation on the day-old boys took three hours. Surgical teams of three doctors each were assigned to each baby in the operation.

"The best we can say is that they are in satisfactory condition," said a spokesman for Children's Hospital, where the operation was performed.

"The critical, post-operative period will last from a week to 10 days."

Both infants were placed in incubators following the operation.

The boys, Daniel Clifford and David Eugene, were born Saturday at Glendale Sanitarium by Caesarian section to Mrs. Rebecca Bartley, 16. She and her husband, William, 19, gave permission for the separation.

The twins were the first children born to Bartley and his wife. She was reported in satisfactory condition at the sanitarium.

Doctors said the separation operation had to be performed within 36 hours of the twins' birth to tilt the scales of survival in their favor.

The operation was completed six hours before the deadline passed.

Dr. Dwight Galloway, chief surgeon at the hospital — who did not participate in the operation — said the twins were joined from their breastbone to navel.

Charles T. Cederquist, hospital corpsman 1/c, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Cederquist, of Geneva, has completed a leadership course at the Naval Schools Command, Norfolk, Va.

James D. Wright, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Wright, Altamonte Springs, is undergoing recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Police Chief Roy Williams warned motorists today his officers have commenced a crackdown on violators who "jump" the traffic lights or fail to come to a stop at stop signs.

Mrs. Lucy C. Anderson, of Golden Lake, received a newspaper clipping from Marietta, Ohio, telling that her winter visitor, Mrs. Zetta Rhodes, while watching a water ski show, was stunned by a lightning bolt and hospitalized.

Seminole Plaza merchants have informed the Town of Casselberry that all future advertising will bear the "Casselberry" address.

Those who want "to see a good ball game" are invited by Casselberry's recreation commission chairman Larry Miller, to come out to the Ball Park diamond at 6 p.m. today to see the South Seminole Senior Little League playoff between Casselberry and Bear Lake.

Attorney Kenneth McIntosh informed the Casselberry Board of Aldermen at its meeting Monday night that a liquor license in Seminole County today is worth $25,000. Question came up in discussion over one now in litigation owned by Seminole Raceway.

Commissioner Jimmy Crapps had a big surprise thrown at him Monday evening. He brought out in Commission meeting he had been requested to ask for a postponement on the raising of four condemned buildings. City Manager Pete Knowles spoke up: "Those four buildings were knocked down in three hours this afternoon. Jimmy smiled and shrugged.

Lyman Coach Dick Copeland reported today that football practice has been moved up to 9 a.m. Thursday (instead of Friday) at the school gym.

A good question for a parliamentarian was raised in Monday's City Commission meeting. Jimmy Crapps moved a request be granted and his motion died for a lack of a second. Joe Baker moved the request be denied and his motion also died for lack of a second. Al Wilson moved the request be tabbed and his motion died. Sonny Raborn was absent. Then the question was raised: What happens now? It was decided the request was still on the agenda and would be brought up again at the next meeting.

Leonard Skates reports that the bar sign about the house "continuing its policy of never buying a drink" originated at his "Harry's bar" and that Frank Durso copied it.

City and county finally reached an agreement on that controversial street in South Pinecrest second addition. Although a city street, the county sold a lot at tax sale. The county will repay the buyer but the city must pay the interest.

A Winter Park man requested the city to pay expenses for a broken foot suffered on a city sidewalk. Commission dropped the matter quickly when City Manager Pete Knowles reported the man already had collected from two insurance companies.

Recreation Geared To U.S. Plans

Commercial Survey Gets County OK

County Commissioners today authorized Mrs. Mary Earle Walker, tax assessor, to proceed with final plans for a survey of commercial property in the city of Sanford.

Although the budget for next year has not yet been completed, Commr. James Avery moved that Mrs. Walker be authorized to go ahead with contracting for survey, with the assurance that she would be given the necessary $7,750.

Ford Cavanaugh of Bear Lake appeared before the commission representing property owners and parents of the Bear Lake area with a request that the commission consider building a sidewalk along SR 426 to Bear Lake School and Forest Lake Academy students will not have to walk on the highway.

Cavanaugh said the State Road Department had offered use of the right of way along the road, Cavanaugh proposed that the county and the citizens share the cost.

The access road to the English Estates school was again up for discussion by Engineer Bill Bush, who said that all rights of way offered so far are too narrow to meet road specifications.

Bids were opened on materials for a shed with the single bid rejected. Copper Company, Inc., was low bidder on a quantity of croquet posts and a negotiated bid for two gas tanks for the county road department was approved.

The commission approved recommendations of the zoning board for rezoning of several parcels of property including locations at Ravenna Park on Lake Howell Road and on SR 436.

Ganas Tells Of County's Program

Seminole County's proposed long range planning for recreation will be geared to state and federal planning, it was reported today by Fred Ganas, chairman of the county committee.

Ganas stated the federal government is planning appropriations totaling $1 billion for recreational developments, 60 per cent to be used by the states and 40 per cent by the federal government.

Florida's recreational plan already has been approved by the U. S. Department of the Interior, Ganas said.

The county chairman made his statement this morning after The Herald revealed Monday that the committee's "thoughts" of building a 10-acre fresh water lake in Lake Monroe for bathing and water sports.

"Recreation areas will be provided primarily," Ganas said. "The trend is away from come-look-see parks where there is little to do but admire nature. The new trend is toward areas that can be used by active people."

"Much of it will be keyed to water. A survey has shown that people want to have their fun on, in or near water. There is a lot of water use in the state. The favorite outdoor sport in Florida is swimming. A survey shows that residents of the state want more picnic grounds, more swimming, more fishing for hunting and camping."

Ganas pointed out that $20 billion is spent annually by Americans on recreation and the "figure may double by 1970."

Purpose of the county recreation planning committee, he concluded, is to make a study of recreational needs for use both now and in the future and of existing public land for and in Seminole County; make every effort to preserve existing facilities for public recreation; study and recommend the acquisition of additional needed areas in Seminole County for the present and future, and to coordinate the local committee program with the state outdoor recreation committee.
