Three Fort Myers Citizens Perish When Plane Burns

Fort Myers, March 2.—Capt. R. C. M. Page, aviation pilot; Thomas H. Colcord, member of the Fort Myers City Council, and G. Hunter Bryant, Lee county tax assessor, all citizens of Fort Myers, were burned to death when flames destroyed Captain Page's seaplane in an accident near Everglade, sixty miles south of the city, today.

All three men were members of prominent Lee county families and were well-known throughout this county, having lived here for many years. Captain Page is said to have been the first Florida man to go overseas with the aviation corps, sailing Oct. 15, 1907, from Mineola. He has the credit of bringing down three German airplanes while at the front. Since his return he had been carrying passengers extensively in his flying boat at Fort Myers, Naples, Sanibel, Useppa island and other points along the coast.

The seaplane left here yesterday morning carrying Mr. Bryant to attend to his duties in connection with assessment of road taxes in the southern part of Lee county. He chose the air route because the roads were in bad condition. Mr. Colcord made the trip in place of Captain Page's mechanic.

The bodies were brought here tonight for burial.

For Musical Beginners.

Builders of modern hats might well take a hint from a unique feature in Buckland's hats, in Brook street, now undergoing transformation to accommodate the new Guards club. This was a suite of "sound-proof" rooms called the "Handel suite," after the composer, who lived and died in Brook street, for the use of musically inclined visitors. This admirable arrangement enabled amateurs of such distressing instruments in the hands of the novice as the piccolo or the bagpipes to practice without disturbing their fellow-guests.—London Times.

Hats That Afford Protection.

The natives of the Philippines and South Sea islands wear large sun hats as a protection from the heat. Palm leaves of various kinds furnish the material generally used, but the shape differs. Some are woven flat and some with a peak. The commonest form in the Philippines is made of palm leaves covered with cane, a cane bandau giving an air space above the head. The ornamentation of these hats is very simple; no colors are used with the exception of brown, which is occasionally introduced in the use of hemp.—Asia Magazine.

St. Petersburg and Daytona Taken In—112 Games To Begin May 10th Orlando, March 3.—By unanimous vote the directors of the Florida State League with W. W. Rose, president, presiding at the meeting here tonight, voted to take in St. Petersburg and Daytona as members of the League. S. B. Denton and Edward C. Darlington, owners of the Tampa club, asked for a franchise for Havana, but this request was refused on the grounds that the league is a state organization.

The meeting was held in the Elks home and was attended by about thirty directors. It was decided that the season should commence each year on the second Monday in May and continue to September 2, and the schedule to be 112 games played. The guarantee for each game was fixed at $50.

A motion to reinstate Chapman of Sanford and Dunfee of Orlando was voted down, these two players violated league rules last season and will be not permitted to play.

The addition of St. Petersburg and Daytona makes the circuit consist of eight clubs.

Important News.

Jack's little playmate, Ben, was called home to God, so Jack was told when Ben died. A few nights later when Jack was saying his prayers his mother heard, "And please, God tell Bennie that one of his rabbits died today."

Tax of Idleness.

It would be thought a hard government that should tax its people one-tenth part of their time, to be employed in its service. But idleness taxes many of us much more. If we reckon all that is spent in absolute sloth, or in doing nothing, with that which is spent in idle employments or amusements that amount to nothing. Sloth, like rust, consumes faster than labor wears; while the used key is always bright, as Poor Richard says.—Franklin.

Much Work To Do Here This Season FOR ACTIVE BODY

WILL BE PLACED IN THE FIELD TO LOOK AFTER PEOPLE'S INTERESTS

There are at least two hundred men in Seminole County who believe that a Board of Trade is indispensable in promoting the welfare and the uplifting of the community and that no real progress can be made without such a body and believing this a meeting is called for next Tuesday night at the Court House at 7:30 to reorganize the Board of Trade, elect officers for the ensuing year and take such other steps as will put new life into this body of men who have done such good work in the past but who have certainly languished for the past few months. This is not only true of this community but of others and almost fifty per cent of the state papers are urging a better attendance at the Board of Trade meetings or asking for reorganizing or the organizing of new trade bodies all over the state.

There seemed to be a lethargy after the strenuous days of the war and the people just wanted to get away back and sit down for some time to come and forget all activities in the line of community work. This is the wrong idea for this kind of work should stop and when a community thinks they can get along without a live trade body of some kind that community is sliding backward or is not getting what is coming to them.

It is useless to enumerate the many good things brought to Sanford by the Board of Trade or to enumerate the many good things that can be brought here now. Every citizen admits that our city needs such a body now and needs it more than it ever did and it is expected that at least fifty per cent of the real men of the county will be present at the meeting next Tuesday night. We can at least judge them by their works.

SUPREME COUNCIL TO ADHERE

TO REFUSAL TO ALLOW THE RESTORATION OF THE HAPSBURGS

London March 4. (By Associated Press) The Supreme Allied Council has resolved to adhere to the refusal to allow the restoration of the Hapsburgs either in Austria or Hungary; as stated in conference circles in answer to inquiries regarding the Rumanian fears of the appointment of Horthy as Hungarian regent means the return of former rulers.

We have been unable to enthuse over this "drive" for money to pay some job hunters to help our legally elected and empowered officers to enforce the prohibition law. It would be so much cheaper and simpler, more direct and less open to suspicion of graft to devote the same effort to electing officers who will do the duty.—Leesburg Commercial

GIVES CHURCH AN OFFICE BUILDING

Presbyterians Can Get The Heard National Bank Building Louisville, Ky. Mar. 1.—The Presbyterian church in the United States has become the recipient of a $1,000,000 office building to be used as an endowment fund for aged and infirm pastors, contingent upon the raising of $400,000 to pay part of its cost. The building is that occupied by the Heard National bank, Jacksonville, Fla.

The structure was given to the church by C. E. Graham, a wealthy resident of Spartanburg, S. C. For many years he has been a liberal friend of the Presbyterian department of ministerial relief, and the "Graham Trust" as his gift will be known, will serve to perpetuate his generosity. The building is the most beautiful office structure in Florida. A movement will be inaugurated soon to raise the $400,000 necessary before ownership of the property by the board of ministerial relief becomes assured.

The total endowment fund of the southern Presbyterian board of ministerial relief, including the Jacksonville property will be $1,100,000.00 the yearly income of which will be approximately $68,000. It will be used for the support of ministers who have rendered worthy service to the church but have been called from active work by age or infirmity.

Credits Overstrained

Washington, Mar. 1.—Early ending of the general expansion which has characterized war and immediate post-war periods were forecast in a statement summarizing February business conditions issued tonight by the Federal Reserve Board. The upward movement of prices as far as the Board could ascertain generally had not met with any check.

Financing and banking authorities everywhere were asserted to be looking more seriously at the general situation in credit and beginning to urge the adoption of conservative policies. While the review asserted that this could not be accepted as meaning that "the orgy of speculation" had been absolutely checked, there was said to be the indisputable evidence that banks were exercising a "greater degree of discrimination and judgment in complying with the demands of their customers."

Cyclone Reported East Of Florida

Washington, Mar. 1.—A cyclone disturbance was reported tonight by the weather bureau east of Florida and apparently moving east. "The outstanding features of Sunday night's weather map," the report read "was a strong area of high pressure attended by moderate cold wave which has overspread the west gulf states and the south Atlantic states. Pressure is low to the eastward of Florida and along the coast thence northward to New England. "The temperature will moderate some what Tuesday in the gulf states

DEMPSEY IS SLACKER

Champion Will Be Put In Discard In America San Francisco, Mar. 1.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, and his manager, Jack Kearns, were indicted by the federal grand jury today on the charge of having conspired to cause Dempsey to evade the selective draft. Another indictment against Dempsey charges actual evasion of the draft. Warrants were sworn out and their bonds fixed at $1,000 each. The conspiracy charge carries a maximum penalty of two years and a $7,000 fine. The maximum sentence for evasion is one year.

The indictment followed weeks of investigation conducted by the Department of Justice's Bureau of Investigation here and the federal district attorney's office. It was prompted by the public charges of Maxine Dempsey, divorced wife of the pugilist, that she had been compelled to attest Dempsey's claims for exemption.

Subsequently, in an affidavit, she retracted the charges, saying that they were caused by pique against Dempsey. This affidavit figured in the grand jury inquiry. Dempsey is charged with having falsely sworn that his father, mother, widowed sister and the latter's two children were dependent upon him. The indictment declared that Dempsey's statement that his wife, lived with him for eighteen months previous to his appearance before the draft board, and that his parents and widowed sister made their home with him for four years, was false. It says that he wrote his wife in 1917 asking her if she would swear he was supporting her.

TAX ON GASOLINE IN STATE YIELDS $30,000

Auditor Makes Report On Balance Due

Tallahassee, Mar. 1.—J. Will Yon, state auditor, has just filed his report with the governor on collection by the commissioner of agriculture of its tax on one-eighth of a cent a gallon on gasoline and oils sold in Florida under Chapter 7605 of the Acts of the Legislature of 1909. The law became effective last September 2 and since the date, up to January 31, it is shown, according to sworn statements of the Standard Oil Company and other wholesalers, that there was sold in the state a total of 24,009,233 gallons, yielding a revenue of $30,011.47.

In his report, the state auditor has the following to say: Section 10 of the act directs the commissioner of agriculture to pay over to the state treasurer monthly all moneys received by him hereunder, such payments into the state treasury to constitute a fund to be known as the "gasoline inspection fund." After paying all expenses out of this fund incident to the administration of the law, whatever balance remains to said fund on January 1 shall be placed at the disposal of the state road department for construction and maintenance of public roads. The commissioner of agriculture has failed or neglected to make payments to the state treasurer as directed by the act. Up to January 1 he had collected a total of $22,047.08 and had paid over to the state treasurer only $6,500. All collections not yet turned over to the state treasurer are on deposit in Lewis State Bank and Citizens Bank. Balance in these banks he is due to pay over to the state treasurer is now $28,143.37.

"After paying all expenses incident to the administration of the law, there was a balance on January 1 due to the state highway fund of $17,850.32 which amount would have placed at the disposal of the state road department for construction and maintenance of roads, on that date, had the commissioner of agriculture made his payments promptly to the state treasurer as directed by the act. I judge this amount will be transferred by the state treasurer to the state highway fund in a short time, just as soon as the commissioner of agriculture pays over to him the amount due.

PLAN WAR ON FRANCE

Germany Said to Be Preparing for Next Conflict.

Time Will Bring on Clash, Is Word of Old and Young of the Nation.

Berlin.—Germany is preparing for its next war. And France is the intended victim. Just when this attack on the French is to take place has not been settled in the German mind—but every German, no matter what his age or station, says that time is coming—maybe in ten years, maybe twenty or maybe thirty.

But even if there is doubt as to the exact time of Germany's effort to avenge the loss of the world war, there does not seem to be the least doubt that vengeance will be visited upon the French and that Germany will be successful in the attempt. Germany is not forging arms or making munitions with that end in view just now, for that would be impossible. But through propaganda of the most poisonous kind the fire of hatred is being kindled in the German mind.

Every German I met voiced to me his hatred of France. Every misfortune the Germans have met with has been laid to the door of the French. Premier Clemenceau is hated in Germany as no other man ever was. The mere mention of his name brings forth direct threats of what is to happen to France.

The evil propaganda is doing his work well. He is reaching not only the mind of the adult German, but his poison is sinking deep into the mind of the rising generation. Even young boys give rise to their hatred and tell how, when they grow up, they will drive the Frenchman from conquered German territory and destroy the French nation.

"Germany soon will be stronger than France, despite our present condition," said a German student to me a few days ago. "Then France had better watch out."

GIVE UP OLD WINDMILLS

Quaint Structures in Holland Being Replaced by Practical Modern Power Plants.

Amsterdam.—Holland is slowly but surely losing the one characteristic of its landscape made famous in art and known to every schoolboy—the squat, fat, lazy looking windmills that for centuries have stood out all over the country's flat surface. These quaint structures are gradually giving way to highly practical but ugly steam and electric plants. Dutch technical men say the windmill is doomed.

Now and then a large group of them is replaced by one electric plant, and in the course of each year a number are destroyed by fire—presenting a spectacular blaze with the big burning wings wheeling around like fiery arms. They are never reconstructed.

The existing type of Dutch windmill was invented about the year 1400. The great disadvantage of the windmill, of course, is its absolute dependence on weather conditions. For this reason it is being replaced, when possible, by modern machinery.

The Dutch windmill, however much it may look in pictures to be a toy, is far from that. It is a sturdy structure, as big as a good sized house, and the machinery inside is extremely powerful.

Naturally a great many of them remain, but the number becomes less year by year, and so far as can be ascertained, the erection of a new one is seldom undertaken.

Father Missing, His Family Lodges in Jail

Los Angeles.—Arriving from Seattle to meet her husband here, Mrs. Ruth Anderson, thirty-four years old, with her four young children, spent a night in the care of the matron at the city jail. Anderson did not meet her, as she had telegraphed him to do.

The only clue to her husband which the woman had was that he had been working on the Los Angeles flood control project.

Mrs. Anderson and the four children, ranging in ages from ten to fourteen, were taken in charge at the Southern Pacific depot by Police Officer A. A. Sayles. They had had nothing to eat all day and were without funds. Sayles gave them a meal and then took them to Central station.

Got Horned Doe.

Renfrew, Canada.—A spotted fawn another freak of nature, was shot on the Madawaska river, where John B. Box of Calabogie last week shot a horned doe. It fell before the rifle of Thomas Fraser, whose home is near Calabogie. Hunters and others have viewed the spotted fawn with a great deal of interest, and old hunters report that on two former occasions a freak of nature of a similar kind was brought down from the same part of the Madawaska. The amount of game secured in that country was large this season than ever before. Though hundreds of hunters were in a comparatively small area an accident of any kind is reported.

ONLY RELICS OF LOST RACE

Network of Canals All That Remains of Early Dwellers in the Arizona Desert.

By far the most interesting remains of the lost people of Arizona are their network of canals, which prevail through the valleys. The longest is the one tapping the Gila river and which supplied with water the ancient city, now marked with the one standing building. This is the Casa Grande, about which so much has been written and which has excited much interest among archeologists in the last ten years.

The volume of water taken out by this canal must have been immense, for it supported millions of acres. In most places the canal has been filled with drifting sand, but its course is easily traced. Engineers who located the Maricopa canal made use of the old Aztec ditch and today water runs over its pebbly bottom just as it did 2,000 or 3,000 years ago.

For miles and miles around mounds tell the tale of houses destroyed by the ravages of time. Phoenix was built on the ruins of this ancient city and there relics frequently are found of this ancient civilization.

Early Meeting Houses.

The earliest New England meeting houses were built in valleys and meadow lands, much the same as the first Old First church in Springfield, for here it was that the homes were located. For a time it was required that all homes should be built within half a mile of the meeting house, for the most part to afford protection to the settlers, since the building did duty as a fort as well as house of worship.

As the population increased and new settlers came into the villages the half-mile radius became too crowded to permit this to continue. It was necessary to go some distance to pasture the cattle and for this reason the law was canceled.

Origin of the Jazz Band.

The jazz band idea, according to a French paper, originated in the time of the Directory. At the concerts of the Cat orchestra were twenty cats, heads in a row on the keyboard of a harpsichord. The performer by striking the keys pulled the cats' tails, causing a caterwauling which sounded like a jazz band.

Musical Instruments of Insects. Buzzing or humming of insects is mainly due to the rapid vibration of the wings, which often strike the air more than 100 times a second, but there is sometimes a special quivering instrument near the base of the wings. Chirping or trilling is due to some sort of "stridulating" organ, one hard part being scraped against another, as the bow of a fiddle—it may be leg against wing.

First Negro Clergyman.

In 1780 on November 20, Samuel Haynes, a minister, was licensed to preach. He was the first negro clergyman in the United States. Haynes was born at West Hartford, Conn., in 1753. He served as a soldier in the revolution, and after the war became a student in the house of the Rev. Daniel Ferrand, a Congregational minister at Granville, Conn. Doctor Ferrand taught Haynes Latin and Greek and helped him to study for the ministry. In 1785 he was formally ordained, a Congregational minister at Litchfield, Conn., and shortly after was assigned to the parish of Torrington. He resigned after two years on account of the prejudice of his parishioners. He was called immediately to a church at Rutland, Vt., where he preached for 18 years.

There is one sure method of saving money. Don't spend it.

Popular opinion is popular only so far as it is satisfactory to the object.

There is, at least, one noticeable effect of the war. America is quite safe for plutocracy.

It's comforting to know that arbitration is coming into style, and disquieting to know that style never lasts.

Some people are always endeavoring to enlarge their circle of acquaintances. The borrowing is easier you know.

Beauty, they say, is only skin deep. But that, we imagine, depends upon whether or not it is of the drug store variety.

An exchange avers that nine-tenths of the conceit in the world is monopolized by men under 40. How old are you?

We insist, however, that there is no comparison between the prevailing price inflations and automobile tires. The latter sometimes blow up.

If the average American girl knew the number of microbes in a single kiss, she'd order a coffin, shut her eyes, and take one last delicious plung.

If the former crown prince gets short of cash he might secure a booking in the American movies. It takes all sorts of people to make up a reel.

The good book tells us that it is not well for man to be alone. But it would take a mouth full of convine some of the henpecked gentry of this fact.

Some people are veritable geniuses in making life disagreeable for others and they find the pastime so pleasing they never think of taking a reef in their sails.

No, don't ask us to think of the days when steak was 15 cents a pound and eggs 10 cents a dozen. There are limits to the memory of, even a newspaper editor.

An exchange sagely remarks that "nearly every divorce results in two or more marriages." Quite interesting indeed. Possibly one of the couple annexes a couple of new ones.

week and emitted dire predictions of an approaching panic. It broke when he returned home and his wife met him at the door. Poor devil.

Candidates for office should take warning and see that they are properly manicured before attempting to shake hands with our local population. We are just a bit fastidious in these parts.

When you are weary, and your spirits are drooping, and you want to enjoy a good old-fashioned laugh, just think of the agony of mind of our distinguished crop of presidential aspirants. The suspense must simply be hell.

TOO MANY MILLIONAIRES The number of abnormally rich men being created in this country is a matter of grave concern.

The accumulation of such great fortunes in a short space of time would indicate the employment of dishonest methods. Certainly the practices resorted to by these men in their scramble for gold are not in accordance with the precepts of the golden rule.

Wholesale dishonesty in business brings reproach upon the fair name of America, and supplies the ground work for future discontent and possible revolution. It means disaster in years to come.

No country can survive in these days when the majority of the wealth is in the hands of a few. This Revolution becomes the court of last resort. This great country itself is the outgrowth of rebellion against repression.

Two million dollars is enough for any man to own. If he can not live on that amount there is something radically wrong with him.

Congress would do well to place a limit upon the size of the fortune and the income of every resident of the United States, whether that resident be citizen or alien.

The splendid work of our forefathers should not be jeopardized to the greed of the financial octopus.

TOO MUCH LUXURY American people are suffering from a peculiar disease—an insatiable craving for the luxuries of life.

Time was when if we had a good home, plenty to eat, and to wear, and all means of recreation and enjoyment, we were contented and happy.

But not now. The more we get the more we want, and the more we want the more feverish our efforts to get it.

We never have enough—are never satisfied.

If our neighbor has a car, we long for one just a little better.

If Jones has a house of beauty, Smith wants one of grandeur and magnificence.

If Mrs. Smith is at the head of the social whirl, Mrs. Jones is not satisfied until she has supplanted her.

If one man is termed our leading citizen, a dozen others will aspire to the honor.

An abundance of the necessities of life is not enough. We must have the luxuries, both for our own pleasure and to outshine other people.

And the list of life's luxuries is so long and so varied that no man or woman has ever been known to reach the end.

Millions of people forego many of the necessities of life in order to bask in the limelight of luxury. They are lavish in adorning their persons and their surroundings at the expense of their stomachs. They enjoy the tinsel of life and endure the privations necessary in order to satisfy their vanity.

The age of sanity is disappearing. That of frivolity is here.

Modern day luxury is considered a blessing. In reality it is more of a curse, because we do not realize when economy ends and extravagance begins.

MORE TROUBLE AHEAD Many estimable people are fondly of the opinion that the troubles of America are at an end—at least in so far as our relations with foreign governments are concerned.

They believe that because we raised an army of 4,000,000 in a few months and sent 2,000,000 to France we have demonstrated our superiority in such a striking manner that the rest of the world will be glad to let us alone.

They are in error, as was clearly shown when England and France calmly ignored the threat of President Wilson on the Jugo-Slav question.

England and France expected enormous additional credits from the United States government. They did not get them.

They expected the United States to assume much of the burden of rehabilitating devastated Europe. They were disappointed.

They charge that we commercialized the war and annexed the wealth of the world, and that now we will not open our money bags for the alleviation of humanity. They are disappointed—chagrined—sore. They will bide their time until the proper opportunity presents itself, and then they will strike, either commercially or with the mailed fist, or both. Just what particular form that retaliation will take, no one on this side of the Atlantic knows. But Europe has a long memory. It never forgets.

AS OTHERS SEE US. A stranger judges this town mainly by its appearance. If it is clean, sanitary and inviting, he carries the good word afar. But if it is dingy, and ill kept, he carries the bad record to even greater distances. We should have a reputation second to none—superior to many—but we will have only that which we carve out by our own efforts. Let's all pitch in and make this the cleanest and the brightest the most progressive year in our history. Spring is the time to begin.

FARMER'S INCOME SUBJECT TO TAX Gains for 1919 Must Be Figured Under U. S. Law—Returns Due March 15.

LAND SALE PROFITS TAXABLE Necessary Farm Expenses May Be Deducted—Special Form for Farm Income—Cash or Accrual Basis for Computing.

A farmer, shopkeeper, or tradesman must figure up his net income for 1919; and if the farm or business income plus his other income was sufficient to require an income tax return, a complete return must be filed with the collector of internal revenue by March 15.

A farmer should ascertain the gross income of his farm by computing all gains derived from the sale or exchange of his products, whether produced on the farm or purchased and resold.

Farm Expenses. From his gross income a farmer is allowed to charge off all of his necessary expenses in the conduct of the farm during the year. These include costs of planting, cultivating, harvesting and marketing. In addition to these costs he may deduct money spent for ordinary farm tools of short life bought during the year, such as shovels, rakes, etc. Also, the cost of feed purchased for his live stock may be treated as an expense, in so far as this cost represents actual outlay; but the value of his own products fed to animals is not a deductible item.

Other farm expenses allowable are the cost of minor repairs on buildings (but not the dwelling house), on fences, wagons and farm machinery; also bills paid for hogshoeing, stock powders, rock salt, services of veterinary, insurance (except on dwelling house), gasoline for operating power and sundry other expenses which were paid for in cash.

As to hired help, all the productive labor is a deductible expense; but the wages of household servants, or help hired to improve the farm, as in tree planting, ditching, etc., cannot be claimed against earnings. A farmer is not allowed to claim a salary for himself or members of his family who work on the farm.

Wear and Tear. Purchases of farm machinery, wagons, work animals, etc., also the cost of construction or extension of buildings, silos, fencing, etc., should be considered additional investments in the farm and are not proper deductions against income.

A reasonable allowance may be claimed for wear and tear on farm buildings (except the farmhouse), fences, machinery, work animals, wagons, tanks, windmills and other farm equipment which is used in the conduct of the farm.

As to autos and tractors, the cost of these is not an expense, although the cost of their upkeep is an allowable deduction, if the machines are used exclusively for farm purposes and not for pleasure. Also, in such cases, a deduction for wear and tear is allowed.

Farm Losses. The loss of a growing crop is not a proper deduction from income, inasmuch as the value of the crop had not been taken into gross income. The loss of a building or of machinery through storm, lightning, flood, etc., is an allowable deduction, but care should be used to ascertain the correct loss sustained, as restricted by income tax regulations.

No deduction is allowed in the case of loss of animals raised on the farm, but a loss is deductible from gross income if the animals had been purchased for draft or breeding purposes. Shrinkage in weight or value of farm products held for favorable market prices cannot be deducted as a loss, for the reason that when such products are sold the shrinkage will be reflected in the selling price.

Sale of Farms and Lands. The value of agricultural lands has

CHARACTER The true worth of a man or woman is the measure of his or her character. Did it ever occur to you that precisely the same is true of a banking institution? If this bank enjoys success and a high reputation if it is a truly up-building force in the community if it is fulfilling its highest mission as a bank, it is all due to the Character that makes it the institution it is. First National Bank 11 FORSTER, President B. F. WHITNER, Cashier Sanford, Florida

Marriage of First Cousins. First cousins may marry in Alabama, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Good Way to Clear Land. In the novel method of clearing land adopted by a Minnesota farmer, the underground roots are burned away, freeing the stump above ground for use as firewood.

Forms for Returns. The Internal Revenue Bureau has issued an improved Form 1010F for the use of farmers. This form, together with Form 1040A or 1040, will give the farmer explicit information as to how to properly figure his net income for 1919.

There are two methods of figuring a farmer's income tax return this year. He may make his return on the basis of the difference between the money and goods received for his products and the cash paid out for actual allowable farm expenses within the year. Or he may make his return on the accrual basis, which means computing the receipts and expenses that pertain to the taxable year, including income earned and expenses incurred in previous or succeeding years.

Origin of Mourning Color. "I am glad to see people getting away from overdressing this black clothing so much," says an undertaker of wide experience. "I looked it up once and it's just the survival of an old Hebrew custom of dressing folks different to warn their neighbors of the unclean presence of death. Different colors were used, however, by different old timers. On the gold coast of Africa the relatives of the dead wear red exclusively and on the east coast they wear white instead of black. The good old holt-tall Maoris of New Zealand have been the inventors of this taboo stuff, though, for any one of them that touched a corpse couldn't touch anything with his hands for a year and had to eat off the ground, like the boys in a pie-eating contest. It's lucky for us undertakers that some at least of the old-time taboo has faded from the memory of the white man."

FINDS ANCIENT ABODE

Camera Locates Cliff Dwelling in Zion Canyon.

Probable That No Human Foot Has Been in Dwelling for at Least 1,500 Years.

Los Angeles.—Discovering from Los Angeles a hitherto unknown cliff dwelling 400 feet up a 2,000-foot canyon side in Utah is a new experience.

It was the experience of Eyre Powell of 44 Wavercrest avenue, Venice, who in enlarging a unique photograph taken with a telephoto lens, made what may prove to be one of the greatest archaeological discoveries of recent years in the United States.

The photograph was taken in Zion canyon, Utah, recently declared a national park, and shows what apparently is a cliff dwelling 400 feet long and 60 or 70 feet wide. It is probable, according to Mr. Powell, that no human foot has been in the dwelling for 1,500 years or longer. In this fact lies its chief archaeological importance, as other cliff dwellings, found at the surface, have been the homes of animals and much disturbed since being inhabited by their original builders.

The photograph was taken at a distance of about three-quarters of a mile from the cliff. Mr. Powell having no idea that it would reveal anything of particular interest. The portion of the photograph which later was found to show the ancient dwelling was less than a quarter of an inch in size. Through successive enlargements this was increased to about 12 inches.

The dwelling is about 400 feet above the top of the shale slide at the base of the cliff. Leading down from the dwelling are traces of the ledge once used by the dwellers to go up and down to their safe retreat. These ledges have been almost completely eroded by the elements in the lapse of years, and it is safe to say, according to Mr. Powell, that the dwellings there have been undisturbed for many centuries.

The discovery of the cliff dwelling in the picture came as a complete surprise to Mr. Powell. He has decided, however, to make an early investigation of the place, and believes that a skilled Alpine climber may be able to pick his way up the almost destroyed ledges which the ancient inhabitants were wont to climb.

Testified He Kissed 300 Girls.
The champion "Jack the Hugger and Kisser" of Indianapolis, Ind., in Er Maroney, a twenty-two-year-old attendant at a skating rink. Maroney, a witness in the trial of a sixteen-year-old girl on the charge of delinquency, told Judge Lehr in juvenile court that he had hugged and kissed 300 girls in the time he had been employed at the rink.

Town Peculiarly Named.

What's in a name? becomes a matter for consideration in the case of the happy-go-lucky manner of bestowing one practiced by the surveying party about which Captain Reynolds tells in his book on the Mesopotamian campaign. This party came to a village on the Euphrates not marked on the map, so the surveyors halted a local Arab and asked him: "What is the name of this village?" "Madri," the Arab replied, "Madri" meaning "I do not know." But the party unquestioningly accepted it as the name of the village, and Madri the village is to this day—on the survey map.

COMFORT AT LITTLE COST

Inventor Tells of Idea Which Enables Him to Have Hot Bath at Practically No Expense.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, speaking of the importance of little things, in People's Magazine, tells of one of his own home-made devices.

"Speaking of comfort in the home," he says, "I've thought about the hot water problem. I do most of my hardest work late at night and in the very early morning; and I like to have a bath between 2 and 3 a. m. But, as a rule, the water heated by the kitchen stove has cooled in the boiler by that time.

"I got a zinc tank and put it into a wooden box much larger, so that there was a space of three or four inches between the outside walls of the tank and the inside of the box walls. This whole space I filled with wool. Hot water, poured into the zinc tank, I found, kept its heat far longer under those circumstances than in a container unprotected by the wool—along the lines of the thermos bottle, you see.

"But how to heat the water? And without waste? Ah! I was wasting heat every night, wasting it, dreadfully! Think of how it poured from the chimney of my student's lamp! I ran two pipes from the zinc tank into a 'hood' over the lamp's flame, thus establishing a circulation of water. I then proceeded with my night's work.

"Next morning the water in the tank was a little warm, but not warm enough. I found, however, that in the evening when I re-lit the student's lamp there was still warmth in the water from the zinc tank. So I became a cumulative process, and in a few nights I had the water in the tank too hot for me to hold my hand in it.

"That tank is now in the attic of my Nova Scotia house, and its water, heated by my student's lamp idea and protected by its wool covering gives me a nice warm bath every morning. The only difference is that I get the heat from a straight pipe run down the inside of the chimney to my open fire in the study."

"Barbara Fritchie."

"Woman's courage has often matched man's. On a day in 1863 it outmatched man's. Barbara Fritchie's blood runs through the veins of Old Glory. She was a gray-haired woman with the light of a mid-Abyssinian lion in her veins. On a September morning, when Lee's forces were pouring through Frederick, Md., led by Stonewall Jackson, every day of the United States had been low ebb. Up rose old Barbara Fritchie in the face of the regiment plowing the street. She seized a hauled-down flag and set it in her attic window, herself its color guard. Stonewall Jackson's eye caught sight of it. "Fire!" The rifles shattered the staff but old Barbara had caught the banner, and waving it far out over the street, she cried, "Shoot, if you will, this old gray head, but spare your country's flag." And the gallant Jackson's eye swam, and his shout blazed now. "Who touches a hair of you gray head dies like a dog. March on!"—Chicago Journal.

Wiss Russian

William F. Fox, Knights of Columbus commissioner to Siberia, who is speeding up entertainments for the Yankee diving police work on the Trans-Siberian railway, records an amusing incident at the installation of steam heat into the Knights of Columbus club at Vladivostok. The new radiator commenced piping quavers and demisemiquavers, and a Russian soldier who was standing near by thought the contrivance was one of the celebrated American talking machines he had heard much about. He even thought that the tune—the first to be played by the new instrument—was the American national anthem. But he was quickly undeceived when Yankee soldiers took him to the basement and initiated him into the rites of stoking a furnace.

Novel Strike.

There is a novel form of strike in progress in a portion of Victoria, Australia. Angered by the high prices charged for children's shoes and boots, parents have been sending their boys and girls barefooted to school. This anti-profiteering measure has been enthusiastically applauded by the children, who enjoy the novelty, and in many cases, where parents have not joined in, boots have been discarded before the home is out of sight. An amusing feature has been the action of a local boot-seller in sending his own children barefooted. As there is no school rule which prescribes footwear, and as the days are long and warm, the strike is running its merry course.

Peru Alarmed Over Chinese.

The continued influx of Chinese into Peru is being viewed with alarm and agitation is being carried on by the recently formed 'Anti-Asiatic league, which has as its purpose the securing of more stringent immigration laws. The chief fault found with the Chinese is, that they enter into small businesses and sell at such low prices that local business men can not compete. Feeling has run high on several occasions, with disastrous results to the Chinese merchants.

ALL THOUGHTS ON "CHOW"

Matter of All-Absorbing Importance Among Members of the American Expeditionary Force.

"One who observed the United States army during the late fracas, both in this country and in the A. E. F., frequently reached the conclusion that chow was king," writes James E. Darr in the American Legion Weekly. "A complete history of the war could be written in the terms of the wily, submarine turkey, slum, pommes de terre, French and potato," continues the Weekly.

"When do we eat?" "Remember that cry as the homes-40-chevaux-8 boxcar stood patiently for hours on a siding while hungry men longed to get to the billowing area and hot coffee? Remember that query in the trenches when Jerry had shelled the communication trench and held up the chow detail, or in the fox hole area when the kitchens hadn't been able to keep up? "Even way back in the wooden gun days of the war chow was a main objective in the day's plan. I believe it is safe to say that every name in the army or navy commented at some time in his letters home on the food. It was either, 'The grub is fierce,' or 'They sure give a guy plenty to eat.' "Those were the days early in the fall of 1917, when mess sergeants were new to their art—and mess officers, too, for that matter. The 'bird' who managed to hold his strategic position in the front end of the line was able to get a monumental helping; whereas the unlucky individuals at the other end were apt to be told, 'No more prunes; more on!' or 'Coffee all out; quit shoving!'"

"That was the fiercest battle for existence. You were on time or went hungry. Dear Clarence, who must always be called three times for supper at home, learned to be right there when the chow line fell in. "Some of the canny even learned to pack their mess kits with them to play it safe; on such the same theory that some men carry their tooth-brushes with them, not knowing where they will spend the night. "A tale is told of a company in the depot brigade at a certain camp that was caught standing retreat holding their mess kits. Which held the prize until a rooky in another company of the same battalion was observed standing retreat, wearing a dip hat and smoking a stogie."

Cannabis a New Menace.

In Brazil cannabis smoking is becoming a national menace, according to Dr. T. S. Blair of Harrisburg, Pa., who adds the warning that the vice can readily be imported to this country unless we guard carefully against it. He says the cannabis smoker nearly always becomes an imbecile in time. In an article on the "Relation of Drug Addiction to Industry" in the Journal of Industrial Hygiene, Dr. Blair says that business, industry and industrial physicians must make it their care to see that the "jokers" are taken out of the narcotic laws and that then those laws are effectively enforced. The few debased physicians "who infest almost every community and who deliberately keep up addiction through ignorance or cupidity," he says, must be taken in hand.

In many ways heroin is the worst habit-forming drug known, he declares and adds that its legitimate application in medicine can be filled by other drugs.

Plant Secrets.

The use of X-ray photographs for revealing the inner secrets of the structure of the bodies of men and animals has long been familiar but, their application to the plant world is more recent. The numerous mineral constituents of plants all appear clearly in the X-ray picture, and the fact that even the most delicate structure of plants can be thus photographed bears witness that even those bodies which are apparently transparent to X-rays do absorb them to a certain degree, which is governed by their consistency and thickness, then content of air and of sap, and their chemical constitution.

Like other objects, plants appear upon the photographic plate not as mere shadow pictures, but in so-called "plastic" representations—i. e., giving an effect of three dimensions. Call of Nicotine Two south side street cars were approaching each other not long ago, at least not so many months ago, this camouflage being necessary in order that a vigilant spotter may not be able to find out the culprit, for it was worth the delay to laugh at what happened. Suddenly one motorman signaled the other. The north-bound car came to a grinding stop and the car south-bound on the other track did likewise. And then follow this: "Gimme a chew off the old plug." (Business of reaching for the said plug and passing it over. Business of taking a chew and passing it back). "Thanks. 'Slong!" And the cars were on their way.—Indianapolis News.

Banks Make Record.

There has been only one national bank failure in twenty-two months, with none at all during the last calendar year—a new record in American finance, 30 times better than the average for any similar period in the forty years' life of the present national banking system. Two hundred and ninety-eight national banks have increased their capital stock during the last ten months.

INCOME TAX RETURNS DUE

Business Men, Farmers and Wage Workers Must File Schedules of Income for 1919.

MARCH 15 LAST FILING DATE.

Net Incomes of $1,000 or Over, if Single; or $2,000 Over if Married, Must Be Reported.

The Income Tax imposed by Act of Congress on earnings of the year 1919 is now being collected.

Returns under oath must be made on or before March 15 by every citizen and resident who had a net income for 1919 amounting to:

$1,000 or over, if single; or if married and living apart from wife (or husband); or if widowed or divorced, $2,000 or over, if married and living with wife (or husband).

The status of the person on the last day of the year fixes the status for the year with respect to the above requirements.

Under any of these circumstances a return must be made, even though no tax is due.

Husband and wife must consider the income of both, plus that of dependent minor children, in meeting this requirement; and, if sufficient to require a return, all items must be shown in a joint return or in separate returns of husband and wife.

A single person with minor dependents must include the income of such dependents.

A minor who has a net income of $1,000 or more is not considered a dependent, and must file a separate return.

Personal returns should be made on Form 1010 A, unless the net income exceeded $5,000, in which case Form 1010 should be used.

Residents of Florida should file their returns with, and make payments of income tax to, James M. Cathcart, Collector of Internal Revenue, Jacksonville.

How to Figure Income.

The best way to find out whether one must file a return is to get a Form 1010A and follow the instructions printed on it. That form will serve as a reminder of every item of income, and if a return is due it tells how to prepare and file it.

If in doubt on any point as to income or deductions, a person may secure free advice and aid from the nearest Internal Revenue office.

Guesswork, estimates and other haphazard methods are barred when a person is making out his Income Tax return. Accuracy and completeness must be insisted upon. The return is a sworn statement. As such it must be thorough and accurate.

Salaries and wages earners must ascertain the actual compensation received. Overtime, bonuses, shares in the profits of a business, value of quarters and board furnished by the employer and other items which are compensations for services must be included.

It must be borne in mind that compensation may be paid in other forms than in cash. A bonus paid in Liberty Bonds is taxable at the market value of the bonds. A note received in payment for services is taxable income at its face value, and the interest upon it is also taxable.

Other Returns Due.

Every partnership doing business in the United States must file a return on Form 1065; and every personal service corporation must file a similar return.

Corporations must file annual returns on Form 1120.

Trustees, executors, administrators and others acting in a fiduciary capacity are required to file returns. In some cases, Form 1041 is used; in others, Form 1040; and still others, returns on both forms are required.

Information returns, on Forms 1066 and 1068, must be filed by every organization, firm or person who paid, during 1919, an amount of $1,000 in salary, wages, interest, rent, or other fixed or determinable income to another person, partnership, personal service corporation or fiduciary. These information returns should be forwarded directly to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue (sorting division), Washington, D. C.

ANCIENT RACE DUG FROM ICE

Hidden for Centuries Under the Ice Fields North of Alaska.

WIPED OUT BY CATASTROPHE

Village of Six Igloos Discovered at Northern Tip of Alaska by Van Vally Expedition—Not Like the Eskimos.

Philadelphia.—Hidden for centuries under the ice fields north of Alaska, a scientific expedition, headed by William Van Vally of the University of Pennsylvania has discovered the remains of a prehistoric arctic race.

This remarkable find includes the fully clothed remains of no fewer than 100 individuals who apparently met sudden death in a village of six igloos, afterward covered by ice and snow, where they remained sealed until the present time.

The life, habits and physical appearance of this remarkable people bore little resemblance to the Eskimos. They were seemingly more nearly related to the natives of Siberia, and the scientists are proceeding on the theory that they constitute the long-sought link between Asia and America.

Northernmost Tip.

The discovery was made near Point Barrow, the northernmost tip of Alaska. Mr. Van Vally, head of the expedition, was sent out two and a half years ago by the University of Pennsylvania to make an exhaustive study of the Eskimos.

He was investigating a shallow well in search of Eskimo relics when his attention was attracted by the peculiar character of some debris. This led to a still further examination. Buried beneath four feet of ice, snow and tundra were uncovered what was recognized at once as the wreckage of a collection of ancient huts, or igloos. They had been constructed of drift woods of various kinds, covered with dome-shaped roofs cut from the tundra. The roofs had long since fallen in, while little remains even of the sides of the huts.

The great discovery, however, was made when the explorers came upon the first of the frozen bodies. In many instances, the positions of the bodies, all in perfect state of preservation, frozen in solid blocks of ice, suggested that death had overtaken them unexpectedly. Some had died in the act of drinking, at least that is the supposition from the presence in their hands of what appeared to be long tubes, one end of which was held between the lips.

Of the hundred or more bodies, nearly all were fully attired. Many were lying on beds of musk, often under polar bear skins. The apparel worn by some showed that the race had learned to fabricate clothing from the skins of birds and that they also understood the art of tanning or curing skins of animals.

One thing seems certain. The community was overtaken by some suddenly developing catastrophe.

Included among the bodies found in a perfect state of preservation were men, women and children of all ages. The clothing, furs and skins were in perfect condition. Exposure to the air, however, quickly caused much of it to disintegrate. As a result but few specimens of the clothing are included in the collection brought back by Mr. Van Vally.

No Means of Preserving.

Unfortunately the fate which befell the skins and furs and birdskin suits awaited the wearers as well. Although when discovered many of the bodies still retained their flesh there was no means at the command of Mr. Van Vally for preserving them. But a few hours' exposure to warmer air was required to cause the fleshy portions to sluff away. Fortunately, however, the skeletons remain intact, perfectly articulated, and within a very short time will be in the University museum.

Many interesting and valuable relics were discovered in the ruins of the six igloos. Some idea of the anomalous relationship between the inhabitants and the Eskimo is suggested by pieces of pottery found amid the ruins. The Eskimo of today uses soapstone utensils. No trace of such utensils could be found in the igloos.

Among the implements used by the ancient race some are of similar construction and shape as those used by the Eskimos. Of particular interest is the fact that Jado was used by the lost race. It must have been secured from points as far as 500 miles away. Inquiries by Mr. Van Vally among the Eskimos proved that the latter race had no traditions connected with the inhabitants whose remains he had discovered. "This is taken to indicate that the race, must have disappeared centuries ago, for the Eskimo's 'ancient story' goes far back.

Fox Hunter Gets Wolf.

Lafayette, Ind.—A fine specimen of gray timber wolf was shown here recently by William O'Herron, a West Lafayette grower. O'Herron was a member of a fox drive and while separating from others in the party saw the wolf skulking in the woods nearby. The carcass weighed forty pounds. The wolf is the first animal of the kind to be shot here in many years.

Present Automobile Shortage Is Placed at 1,000,000 Cars

New York.—A shortage of automobiles this year was predicted by members of the National Chamber of Commerce, although they estimated that the passenger car output for the year would exceed 2,000,000. The shortage at present was placed at 1,000,000 cars. One of the most prominent manufacturers, it was said, is preparing to double the factory capacity this year because of the steadily increasing demand.
