The Wanfard Werall Page 6-A-April 29, 1964 Hoffa Backs Up After Challenge From Own Men

WASHINGTON (UPI) James R. Hoffs appeared today to be losing the iron grip he has held on the leadership of the 1.5 million-member Teamsters Union.

The beleaguered Teamsters boss has cut himself off at least temporarily - from further use of union funds to pay his heavy legal bills. He made the move after his right to have the union pay his legal bills was challenged by other Teamsters officials.

In labor circles this challenge to Hoffa was regarded as one of the strongest threats to his leadership in many years.

Hoffs, who has been convicted of jury tampering and sentenced to eight years in prison, is now on trial in Chicago on charges of defrauding labor-management trustees of a Teamsters' pension fund. Teamsters vice president John J. O'Rourke had demanded that the international union stop paying Hoffa's legal expenses until its 15-man executive board can decide whether this conforms with federal law.

Hoffs ordered the suspension of legal payments until · legal expert unconnected with the union can review the matter and decide. The expert has not yet been chosen.

Hugh Duval on charges of lewd and lascivious conduct, using obscene language and serving drinks while still a minor.

State beverage agents testified they arrested Miss Elder at a North Miami bar last month after she stood beneath a splotlight, "took off her blouse and shook," all the while shouting obscenities at customers.

"It was all part if my act" and permissable "under an entertainer's license, like a poetic license, you know," Miss Elder explained to Duval. "I'm a poor man's Belle Barth."

Belle Barthe, someone offered, was an entertainer specializing in "blue" routines. Asked her age, Miss Elder fold Duval, "I'm 23." "She's 19," agents said. Duval dismissed the liquor count and dropped the va-grancy charge, but he bound her over to criminal court on the lewdness chargess.

The Soviets are trying massive retaliation against, of all things, the "Twist."

According to a story out of Moscow, over the past 10 years the Communists have tried to popularize no less than 50 home-grown dances that would be acceptable both to party ideology and Russian youth. One of them bore the suspiciously

Western name of the "Slag Heap," but evidently it was small potatoes next to the "Mashed Potato" from America, because it just didn't go OVEL.

No one expects this, uh, cultural invasion from the West to play more than a small part in ending East-West tensions, but that old Iron Curtain seems to be a-shimmying and a-shaking.

Communication is a two-way street. For understanding, ideas and thoughts must travel in both direc-

What happens when, somewhere along the route, traffic snarls? Mis-understanding and confusion can result

In a series of experiments, a Bell Telephone Laboratories scientist has graphically demonstrated the role of two-way communication in tack-ling a problem.

In each test, six people were di-vided into pairs. Each of the given a set of dominoes. The dominoes of one person (A) in each group were placed in a specific pattern; the dominces of the other person (B) were unorganized. "A" was told to tell "B" by telephone how to set up his dominoes in the same pattern, but with this difference:

In Group 1, "B" could not talk to "A." Result: none of the "Bs" got the pattern right. In Group 2, "B" could only indi-cate by pressing a buzzer that he didn't understand the instructions of "A," who was allowed to repeat the instructions. Result: some of the "Be" got the pattern right. In Group 3, "B" could talk to "A." Result: all of the "Ba" got the pattern right. When interviewed after the tests,

"As" in Group 1 thought the "B's" were dim, since they couldn't under-stand simple instructions. But the "Bs" felt the "As" couldn't explain things.

The Group 2 participants expressed similar views, but not quite as strongly.

Only the Group 8 people-who had been permitted full two-way communication-felt happy about the experiment.

The tests seem to show that it's easy to misunderstand, misinterpret and become completely confused when two-way channels are closed. Small wonder, then, that a common phrase these days is, "Well, what I meant to say was. ..."

Thought For Today

And he will give rain for the seed with which you sow the ground, and grain, the produce of the ground, which will be rich and plenteous. In that day your cattle will graze in large pastures. - Isalah 80:28. America is a world symbol of productive power, of military strength, and of great material wealth but this is not enough. We must demonstrate the qualities of moral leadership, for power without morality is power without purpose.-Walter P. Reuther.

Mrs. Karl Honored At Coffee

The spacious Moreland home on Celery Avenue was the scene of a refreshing morning coffee reception recently honoring Mrs. Fred (Faye) Karl, wife of gubernatorial candidate, from Daytona Beach.

Accompanying Mrs. Karl to Sanford was Mrs. J. W. Emmons, Daytons, of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Assisting Mrs. H. A. (Camille) Moreland as co-hostess was Mrs. John E. Pierce, Jr., the former Mary Ann Whelchel of Sanford, now residing in Daytons.

The serving table was overlaid with an ecru linen cloth featuring hand hemstiching and centered with a lovely yellow rose floral arrangement flanked on either side by silver candelabra holding yellow candles.

The delectable iced coffee, served from a crystal bowl was combined with ice cream and whipped cream and served with an assortment of dainty sandwiches and a variety of Danish pastries. Silver compotes held nuts and candies.

Mrs. Karl's brunette beauty was enhanced by her lovely green ensemble featuring a slim skirt and flattering overblouse. She wore matinee pearls and patent assessorjes.

The guest list for this elaberste coffee reception exceeded 150.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when you finally find out that what had suspected deep down in your heart was true? My sisterin-law telephoned the other day to inform me that my husband had an affair about a year ago with a supposedly good friend of mine. She said she and her husband had known about it all along. Suddenly, a lot of things began to fit into place, such as cancelled checks made out to strange places, and several unexplained late evenings. Each time I confronted my husband with the accusation, he denies it. I would gladly

EDITORIAL COMMENT

School Issue

A large number of inquiries as to the status of a constitutional amendment vote coming up next November has prompted The Sanford Herald to offer this explanation to its readers.

The question for statewide vote on Nov. 3 is: Shall the school superintendent (of Seminole and seven other countles - Escambla, Lake, Martin, Okeechobee, Palm Beach, Putnam and Taylor) be elected by the people or appointed by the School Board?

The question is not an issue in this year's election of a school superintendent for Seminole County. Whoever is elected in November of this year will serve until January 1969.

The 1963 Legislature approved an act bringing the proposed constitutional amendment before state voters throughout Florida in November. It must be approved by a majority of the state's electors to become law. AND IT MUST BE APPROVED BY THE SEMINOLE COUN-TY ELECTORS TO BECOME LAW IN THIS COUNTY. Even though approved statewide, if voted down in Seminole County it will become a dead issue here.

If approved statewide and in Seminole County in November, the Seminole County School Board may exercise its prerogative and call for a special "local option" election for Seminole County voters only. If finally approved, the school superintendent then would be appointed on a four-year trial basis.

Purpose of the proposed change is to give the School Board the assurance of having a trained, experienced administrator to direct and guide Seminole County's biggest business, a multi-million-dollar enterprise.
