

Oatis Trial

 of bureau.
 No Western correspondents were in Prague to cover his trial. Several had been expelled and the last three Western reporters withdrew after Oatis' arrest. The Embassy observers at the trial are relaying their reports to the U. S. High Commission Office in Frankfurt, which is making the reports available to the Western press.
 The Czech prosecutor charged in court today that the last three Western reporters to leave Prague, Russell Jones of the United Press, Robert Bigio of Reuters, and Gaston Fourrier of the French Press Agency, also engaged in spying.
 Oatis' testimony supported the Czech charges against Jones, Bigio and Fourrier.
 The prosecutor asked Oatis if he had been an espionage agent, and had acted on orders from his Associated Press superiors in New York and London. He answered "Yes."
 The prosecution then produced as evidence copies of teletype messages it said were sent Oatis from the New York and London offices. These messages included one asking for a check on reports about the disappearance of Vladimir Clementis, former Czech foreign minister, and requests to check reports that four high-ranking security officers had been arrested in the Czech Communist purge.
 These are routine messages such as are sent out by all news services to their correspondents abroad. Oatis had been asked by cable to check reports already appearing in print in the United States that Clementis had disappeared.
 Oatis testified the U. S. Embassy also gave him intelligence missions.
 The prosecution said Oatis and his three co-defendants—Czech nationals who had been employed by the AP in Prague, knew about the assassination of a Czech state security officer which allegedly occurred before Oatis arrived in Prague.
 Oatis testified he knew about the murder "from someone named Joe," but never knew who the murderer was. The prosecution then said it was Oatis' duty to inform security authorities, and that he attempted instead to warn agents outside the country by publishing stories of arrests in the case.
 At the end of Oatis' morning testimony, the prosecutor asked: "Do you have anything to add?"
 "No," Oatis answered. "I made a full statement as it was drawn out of me by your questions, and I want to add that I feel sorry for what I did."
 "Do you hold any hatred for Czechoslovakia or the Czechoslovak working people?"
 "No."
 "And yet you felt compelled to carry out these activities?"
 "Yes," answered Oatis, "and this on instructions from my superiors in London and New York and under the influence of some Western diplomats."
 Asked about his family background, Oatis testified he came from a "workers' family," and he, too, was a worker. The prosecutor challenged that, saying Oatis was not a worker but an acknowledged spy. Oatis replied he was still a worker and intended to continue being a worker.
 Oatis' Czech defense counsel asked only one question—an attempt to show that Oatis was a small egg in a large machine.
 The courtroom full. Spectators needed special cards to get in. The court consisted of five judges, seated at one side of the room. The defense counsel was on the other side, and Oatis was in the middle. The two U. S. Embassy observers were seated at the back of the courtroom.

Charges Of Murder Plot Are Dropped Against 5 Tampans

TAMPA, July 2.—(AP)—One of Tampa's most sensational criminal cases came to an end today when charges were dropped against five persons accused of plotting to kill Sheriff Hugh Colbreath.
 The case came to trial twice and both times ended in a mistrial. County Solicitor V. R. Fisher reported he was dismissing murder plot conspiracy charges against City Representative (Councilman) P. Joseph Rodriguez, John (Johnny the Greek) Moutos and his wife Virginia and Roy and Arthur Velasco.
 The Velascos are brothers of Jimmy Velasco, the slain Tampa gambler-politician.
 Fisher's explanation of dropping the charges were "I can see no reason to further spend the taxpayers' money by again trying the case against the defendants."
 The State charged the Velasco brothers got Moutos to come here from Chicago to kill Sheriff Colbreath. In the two trials, Rodriguez was accused of being the payoff man in the alleged plot.
 The State's principal witness was Jimmy San Martin who testified he was planted by Colbreath to observe the Velascos while a plot was being hatched against the sheriff.
 San Martin related to two juries that Moutos had been hired as a trigger man and the death weapon was to be a sawed off shotgun.
 The defense put on no witnesses at either trial. Defense attorneys.

Lowered, labeled the state's case as "fantastic" and repeatedly called San Martin a "stoopidpigeon."

Czechoslovak Court Sentences Oatis To 10 Years In Prison

Term Is Reduced To Five Years Because Of Good Behavior; Trial Called Farce

By DAN DELUCE, FRANKFURT, Germany, July 4.—(AP)—Associated Press correspondent William N. Oatis was sentenced to 10 years in prison today by a Communist court in Czechoslovakia for "spying out state secrets" and reporting "landis and lies."

The chief magistrate said Oatis, the first Western newsmen ever tried (along the Iron Curtain), was spared from the death penalty because of his "admission of guilt and assistance in exposing the espionage activities of Western diplomats and Western news agencies."

Three Czech employees of the AP's Prague office, tried with Oatis, also were judged guilty and sentenced to prison terms ranging from 16 to 20 years.

The AP statement said the prosecution's evidence at the trial "showed only that Oatis was engaged in the legitimate pursuit of newsgathering as free people understand it."

British Enshrine American Heroes' Names In Church

Roll Of Honor Is Presented To Royalty By Gen. Eisenhower

LONDON, July 4.—(AP)—The names of 28,000 U. S. service men who died on duty in Britain during World War Two were enshrined today in bomb-scarred St. Paul's Cathedral. A Communist attempt to displace the solemn ceremony was put down by police.

General Dwight Eisenhower handed over the roll of honor in the presence of Queen Elizabeth, Princess Elizabeth and Margaret, Prime Minister Attlee, wartime Prime Minister Winston Churchill, and dozens of other military, church and diplomatic notables of America and Britain.

Eisenhower asked that the honor roll be dedicated to the glory of God and that it be a "perpetual memorial" to the men who gave their lives in the common cause of freedom, justice and truth.

The ceremony highlighted the Fourth of July observance by the American colony here. The Communists staged their demonstration as 650 marching U. S. and British army, navy and air men arrived at the church.

British troops pushed their way through the waiting crowd shouting "Send the Yanks back" and "Britain for the British."

Hundreds of leaflets bearing the imprint of the London district of the Communist Party were strewn around the church. They accused America of "using British troops for cannon fodder" and asserted England has become a U. S. atom bomber base.

Iranians Suggest Compromise Deal To Transport Oil

Wording On Receipts From Tankers Is Reported Changed

LONDON, July 4.—(AP)—Britain is studying a new Iranian suggestion for solving the two countries' oil payment deadlock and insuring continued flow of fuel to the West, official sources said today.

The development arose in the course of a talk between U. S. Ambassador Henry Grady and Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh in Teheran Monday, the informants added.

The Iranian suggestion reportedly concerns the wording which appears on receipts oil tanker captains are called upon sign when they take on their fuel cargoes at Abadan.

Iran has wanted a firm guarantee that the receipts promise payment to the newly formed Iranian National Oil Company.

Britain has insisted that such receipts should reserve the rights of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company (AIOC) in any share of the oil proceeds to which it might become entitled under a final settlement.

Grady left Mossadegh with the information that the Iranian leader will consider a new receipt form which seeks to satisfy both parties, the informants said.

The Foreign Office and AIOC are studying a new formula which they hope will be accepted by Mossadegh yet not prejudice their own claims.

If they succeed the new arrangement likely will do three things: 1. It will allow Britain's tanker fleet to continue to operate in the Persian Gulf.

American Nation Celebrates Birth Of Freedom On Independence Day

PHILADELPHIA, July 4.—(AP)—The Bell of Freedom tolled again today on the historic Fourth of July. The nation relived the birth of American liberty, and prayed for worldwide peace in a dramatic declaration of independence on this 175th anniversary of the signing of that immortal document.

Philadelphia, cradle of U. S. liberty, took the lead in the four-day Independence Jubilee. The Tower Bell in the Old State House, a block from Independence Hall, tolled the year, 1951, and the anniversary, 175.

Thousands listened and watched in Independence Square. The Congress of the U. S. and the City Council of Philadelphia held token meetings in Independence Hall. The Pennsylvania state legislature held a mock session in the state house.

U. S. Senator James H. Duff (R-Pa.), chief speaker, said America "at this very hour of greatness" faces "the greatest challenge in our history."

Cattle Feeding Is Described As Ohio's Only Legalized Gambling

EDITOR'S NOTE: Associated Press special correspondent Tom Whitehead has followed the battle of beef from Texas into the mid-west. Here is another in the series of what farmers are saying and doing about beef price controls.

By DON WHITEHEAD, DES MOINES, Iowa, July 4.—(AP)—There's a saying in this cattle country that "cattle feeding is the only form of legalized gambling in Iowa."

Farmers figure they gamble on the weather, on livestock losses, on feed prices and a number of other factors in trying to make a profit on beef cattle. It's the same throughout all the corn belt including Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas.

Bearded, Dust-Caked Soldiers Celebrate Fourth By Fighting

By SAM SUMMERLIN, SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, July 4.—(AP)—A dust-caked, bearded little group of American infantrymen tackled into their patrol station today after spending July 3 tussling their own brand of fireworks at Communists.

The patrol, like many others across the Korean battlefield, spent their nation's Independence day battling the Chinese and north Korean forces. Neither the Fourth of July nor talk of a ceasefire relieved these troops of the grueling, dangerous mission of probing enemy positions.
