

PHYSICIANS OF SANFORD HOLD MEET

TAKE UP CITY HOSPITAL AND THE COST OF SAME

At the call of Dr. R. E. Stevens, chairman of the Hospital Committee of the Sanford Board of Trade, a meeting was held in the office of the chairman on Wednesday evening, October 26th, at eight o'clock, for the purpose of considering the hospital proposition in every detail. Every physician in Sanford was represented with the exception of Dr. Samuel Puleston, who was detained on account of a professional engagement.

The meeting having been called to order by the chairman, Dr. Oliver J. Miller was selected as secretary.

The first subject under discussion was that of capacity, and after a very lengthy consideration as regards the minimum number of beds that would be required to take care of the hospital cases in Sanford, it was definitely decided that the hospital be built on the unit system, and that a hospital architect be used for the purpose of drawing plans for the institution. The arrangement of the rooms and beds was decided as follows: Six private rooms with bath; six private rooms with communicating baths, two of which shall be sufficiently large to accommodate three beds. One delivery room connected with a very large and airy maternity room. One negro annex, consisting of two wards with a capacity of four beds each, and one private room, which negro annex should be connected with the main building by an archway. The operating department being on the top floor, consisting of operating room, anesthetizing room, dressing room, linen room, and physicians' wash and locker room. The laundry to be in the basement as well as the dining room and the kitchen, room for orderly, and heating apparatus. The nurses' quarters to be over the negro annex and connected with the main building by a glass arcade, to be used as a sun parlor for the convalescents, and to consist of two large rooms and a bath connecting. This will give a capacity of twenty beds and fifteen rooms for patients.

The approximate cost of the building was estimated at $10,000.00, the building being frame. The estimated cost of maintenance was placed at $400.00 per month, and the estimated income from private patients and paupers was placed at approximately the same figure, provided the city will pay for the hospital care of their paupers at the same rates as will be charged Seminole county for the same service.

The following resolution was adopted: After a very lengthy discussion of the hospital proposition from every viewpoint, the following resolution was unanimously adopted: Whereas, A suitable hospital is greatly needed in the city of Sanford to protect and conserve the lives of its citizens, and

Whereas, The trustees of the Sanford-Hospital Association have passed a resolution donating all of their assets which consist of over $2000.00 in cash and five (5) lots as a building site to the city of Sanford upon condition that the city build, equip and maintain a suitable hospital for the city, and

Whereas, We are of the opinion that this is the only feasible plan whereby a hospital can be provided for the city, and

Whereas, We conscientiously believe that if the city build and equip a hospital in conformity with the plans submitted by us, and administer same in a manner outlined by us, that the hospital will be self-supporting, providing the city of Sanford will pay for the hospital care of their paupers at the same rates as will be charged Seminole county for the same service, NOW,

Therefore, we the undersigned physicians of the city of Sanford do hereby wish to recommend that the city of Sanford build, equip and maintain a suitable hospital for the city, in which event the city can be assured of our entire cooperation in making the hospital a financial success.

KNOTT SPOKE CANAL PROJECT REPORT ON STREET TO BIG CROWD UNFAVORABLE

JENNINGS INTERRUPTED BY CATTS SUPPORTERS SOAKED THEM

The opening gun of the second campaign in the race for Governor was fired here on Tuesday night when Hon. W. V. Knott, Democratic candidate for Governor and Hon. Marion B. Jennings of Jacksonville spoke at the corner of First street and Park avenue to a large and enthusiastic crowd. On account of the short notice given in which to advertise the speaking there was no notice given to the country precincts until Tuesday, and many of them knew nothing about it, although they were desirous of hearing Mr. Knott.

Hon. George A. DeCottes presided as chairman and introduced Mr. Knott who launched at once into his subject and in a calm and almost a judicial manner gave the voters the explanation of how the mistakes occurred in the counting of the second choice votes. Many people here know Mr. Knott personally and have known him for many years and knowing him believe that he not only had a right to demand a recount but that he was perfectly justifiable in demanding it. Mr. Knott is not an orator as his official duties of state treasurer and state comptroller never called for any oratory but he strikes one as being a man of facts and figures and knows whereof he speaks. He was given the closest of attention and his statements went home to the voters.

Marion Jennings followed Mr. Knott and launched a vigorous attack upon Sidney J. Catts and was fairly sizzling when a voice from the crowd yelled "catts" whereupon Jennings climbed right on the Catts people in the crowd and from that time until he closed it was a case of parry and thrust between the speaker and the crowd. This interjection of the speaker should never have been allowed as it tended to lose the trend of the speaker's thought, but he seemed to enjoy it and sent it back hot from the bat until he had vanquished the disturbers. Mr. Jennings is a most forceful speaker and he held the crowd by his wit and repartee keeping them in rare good humor even though some of them disagreed with him.

On Wednesday Mr. Knott circulated among his many Sanford friends and he is well pleased with the outlook, as the Democrats of Sanford and Seminole will vote for the Democratic nominee, relying upon the judgment of the courts and the state canvassing board in deciding the Democratic nominee.

It is to be hoped that the next political meeting here will have better order than the two preceding meetings. No speaker should be interrupted while he is on the platform and if there are any present who do not like his remarks they are not in duty bound to remain and listen to them. Every speaker is granted free speech when he is granted permission to speak on the streets and the mayor and police force should see that he is not bothered while he is speaking. The bars have been let down in this city in this respect and it is probable that other speakers will be obliged to reckon with the jokersmiths in the crowd instead of addressing their remarks to the people as a whole.

Bad Cutting Scrape

Two young men are in the Miller hospital here and two are in jail as the result of a fight that occurred at Robinson Spring Tuesday night. All the parties are from Orlando and it seems that they became engaged in an altercation while enroute from Orlando to Sanford and alighted at Robinson's Spring to fight it out, with the result that two of them were badly injured. They were taken to Longwood and from there to Sanford for medical treatment and the other two were brought here Wednesday from Orlando to await the injuries of the wounded. They will have to face the court and pay for their scrap as soon as the wounded men recover.

EAST COAST CANAL CANNOT FOIST IT ON GOVERNMENT

The government will not purchase the East Coast Canal from the company that has been trying to sell it for some time and the chances of the St. Johns river being made the inland waterway through Florida are very bright.

The subject of the East Coast Canal has been discussed freely for several years. The St. Johns river was favorably reported upon but a reopening of the case was made by the East Coast Canal people who want to sell the canal to the government and for the past two years the case has been fought, the St. Johns river being backed by the Sanford, Orlando, Palatka and other people of the state who recognized the just claims of the St. Johns river as against the purchase of the ditch that has already been paid for by the state of Florida, in valuable timber lands to the amount of some $5,000,000.

The hearing occupied the time of the engineers and those who were interested since March, 1915, in WW interested since March, 1915, and in that time valiant work has been done by the Commercial Club of Sanford and the successor to that body, the present Board of Trade, chiefly through the committee composed of C. R. Walker, chairman, E. T. Woodruff and A. P. Connelly. These gentlemen have never let up on the fight and Mr. Walker has journeyed from Philadelphia to Key West attending meetings and making speeches favoring the St. Johns and against the purchase of the East Coast Canal and now their efforts are about to be rewarded as the following report from the engineers will signify.

Dear Sir:

It having come to the notice of the undersigned that you have expressed an interest in the pending proposition for the purchase of the East Coast Canal from the St. Johns river to Key West, and the construction over this route, or a parallel route, of a free and open waterway having a depth and capacity sufficient for land navigation, you are hereby informed that the report thereon, authorized by the act of congress approved March 4, 1916, has been made and is unfavorable to the improvement. The principal grounds upon which the adverse conclusions are based are that the commerce likely to be benefitted by the construction of such a waterway is not sufficient in amount to justify the large cost of an adequate improvement, and that the existing privately owned canal, if maintained at the depth and width required by the terms of its charter will afford reasonable adequate facilities for the present water borne commerce, and permit a considerable increase in that commerce; and that the military and naval value of such a canal would not be sufficient to alter the conclusions based upon consideration of its commercial value.

You are further notified that all interested parties have the privilege of an appeal from this conclusion to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, a permanent body sitting at Washington, D. C., to which all examination and survey reports of this character are referred. Parties desiring to do so may be heard on appeal by the board, either orally or in writing. Written communications should be addressed to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, Southern Bldg., Washington, D. C., and should be mailed in time to be in the possession of the said board within four weeks from the date of this communication. If however you have important data to communicate to the Board which cannot be collected and put in shape for proper presentation within four weeks, the board should be informed of this fact without delay and request made for an extension of the limiting date for submitting information. If oral hearings are desired, dates for the same way be arranged for by correspondence with the board.

Any further information needed

may be obtained by application to this office, but attention is invited to the following regulation as to the manner in which such information may be furnished:

Where interested parties desire data necessary for the preparation of their appeal to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, it will be given them verbally by the district officer or, in his absence, by the senior assistant engineer connected with the improvement. They will not be permitted to have access to the report without authority from the Chief of Engineers.

You are requested to communicate the foregoing to any persons known by you to be interested in the improvement and who, not being known to this office do not receive a copy of this communication.

Very respectfully, W. B. Ladue, Lt. Col., Corps of Eng., U. S. Army

Prof. Maris Injured

Prof. G. L. Maris who resides at Lake Onoro was injured Wednesday near the High School building while driving home in his wagon. A car driven by a man said to be a Sorrento physician ran into the horse and wagon of Prof. Maris knocking the horse down and throwing Prof. Maris out of the wagon. Several who were near ran to his rescue and he was placed under the care of a physician who pronounced his injuries as being serious as he was badly bruised and shaken. The horse was badly injured and crippled. The man who was responsible for the accident continued on his way and as yet has not been apprehended. Those who witnessed the accident claim that the auto driver was careless and it was his fault entirely.

ROUMANIA DISASTER LESSENER

PRESSURE OF GERMAN TROOPS IS WEAKENED AT LAST

The situation of the defeated Russo Rumanian army in Dobrudja appears slightly less critical from today's official report from Petrograd, which describes the pressure of Field Marshal von Mackensen's armies as somewhat weakened.

Unofficial dispatches from Berlin report that the outposts were split into two parts with the fall of Tebernavoda, some escaping over the great bridge across the Danube, while others fled northward in Dobrudja.

Apparently the sections remaining in the Black sea province have finally been able to make some stand against the onrush of the Bulgarians, Germans and Turks, north of the Constantza Tchernavoda line. Von Mackensen's guns are now said to be dominating the bridge.

As a whole the situation for Rumania is considered by military commentators in Berlin as increasingly precarious, in connection with the operations in Dobrudja and the Austro German successes in the mountain passes on the south. Petrograd, however, asserts that the Teutonic pressure also has been arrested in these Transylvanian border regions. Further north in the Carpathians near Capul mountains the Russians report the repulse of a Teutonic attack.

In Macedonia new entente advances are announced. The French cavalry has occupied the villages of Golobrd and Lasitsa, in the vicinity of the Greek Albanian border while the Serbians have driven the Bulgarians and Germans further back in the region of the Crens river southeast of Monastir, according to Paris. The British report carrying out successful naval aeroplane attacks on the situations of Buk and Drama on the Constantinople Saloniki railway.

SWEARINGEN WILL SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

CATTS CAMPAIGN WILL BE REPRESENTED BY PROMINENT SPEAKER

Hon. Van Swearingen, ex-mayor of Jacksonville and one of the prominent attorneys of that city will speak here tomorrow night at the corner of First street and Park avenues. The committee announces that in the event of rain the speaking will be held in the court house. Mr. Swearingen will speak in the interest of Sidney J. Catts, candidate for Governor and expects to tell the history of the recount and other items of interest along the line of the why of the wherefores.

Mr. Swearingen is a most forceful speaker and can be depended upon to keep the crowd from going to sleep. He formerly resided here in Sanford, being at that time an employee of the car shops and has many old friends in Sanford. The speaking will begin at eight o'clock and The Herald urges a quiet and orderly meeting for Mr. Swearingen and none of the rowdism that has been apparent at other meetings here at various times.

Basketball

Captain Ned Chittenden of the B. S. A. Basketball club has at last decided on the players who will more than likely play in the first game.

The following players will play in the opening game: Hawkins, R. F.; Spencer, L. F.; Laing, Center; Chittenden, R. G.; and Washburn, L. G. and with the following "subs" the club is well fortified to replace the injured: Jones, Murphy, Kanner and Griffin will do the filling in when needed. Each and every one can more than fill the positions of which they will be stationed at. The most noticeable work of the club of late has been the team work which has been displayed by the boys. Capt. Chittenden has used his men at all positions, so as to be in a position any player wherever he is needed.

Another thing that has pleased Manager Washburn has been the feeling of the boys in regard as to who would play in the first game, all the boys are "pulling" for each other and the proper spirit has already been shown and with such feelings prevailing in any line of sports, always denotes success for the season. In a practice game last Wednesday night of which the boys were getting ready for a battle the sides were evenly divided with the following players in the lineup: Jones, R. G.; Chittenden, L. G.; Kanner, Center; Spencer, R. F.; Davis, L. F. The other team which was led by Manager Washburn were Hawkins, R. F.; Murphy, L. G.; Washburn, L. F.; Laing, Center and Griffin, B. F. The former team came out in the long end by a score of 11 to 6.

Red Davis.

Skating Rink for Sanford

A tent is being put up at the foot of the city dock which will be used for a roller skating rink. C. J. Flynn has charge of the new amusement and he and his wife promise to make it a place of enjoyment for both young and old, as they have both been in the rink business several years and understand the work thoroughly.

The skating surface will be of maple flooring and everything is new and clean. A big electric band organ will furnish music for the skaters.

Every Thursday morning will be "Ladies' Morning," no men allowed those who will be there to instruct in skating. Mrs. Flynn will be present at each session and will be pleased to instruct any who wish to learn to skate.

Mr. and Mrs. Flynn hope to be ready to open the rink by the first of next week. There will be three sessions daily: Morning from 9:30 until 11:30; afternoon from 2:30 until 5:00; and evening from 7:30 until 10:00.

A host of young folks are expected over from Orlando on opening night, as Mr. and Mrs. Flynn are well known in that city.

The opening night will be advertised in this paper. Watch the date and don't fail to come and get acquainted with the Flynn's.

Chit-Chat of the Play Houses in Sanford

Synopsis of "Flirting With Fate" is long on art but short on funds. The merest hint of the story of "Flirting With Fate," the Triangle release which is to be shown at the Lyric Theatre Wednesday stamps it as the liveliest Douglas Fairbanks picture thus far; and that is establishing a record when one thinks of "His Picture in the Papers," "The Habit of Happiness" and "Reggie Mixes In."

Fairbanks in the picture plays Augy Ainsworth, a young artist who is long on art but short on funds. He has fallen in love with Gladys Kingsley, a girl of wealth and social position, but her guardian aunt frowns upon his suit because he has not money. Because Roland Dabney has money, and for no other reason she encourages him to court Gladys.

When the propitious time arrives for Augy to propose to Gladys he cannot muster up the courage. In order to get control of himself he is persuaded by Gladys' friend, Phyllis, to practice proposing on her. While he is practicing Gladys sees him, thinks he is faithless and promptly accepts Dabney.

Augy wants to commit suicide when he learns what mischief has been done; but when he tries to commit suicide by inhaling gas his quarter in the slot meter runs out. He enters a saloon to get change for a quarter, and there meets Automatic Joe, who does all manner of killings, plain and fancy, at nominal rates. He fixes it up with Joe to shoot him at some unexpected moment and then goes back to his room.

Then a wonderful change takes place in his life. Gladys has learned the truth, broken her engagement to wed Dabney, and sent for Augy to come back to her. Also a relative has expired and left him a million dollars. This provides the aunt with a million reasons for wanting Augy for a nephew-in-law, so all is clear sailing. In the midst of his elation, Augy remembers his compact with Automatic Joe. Knowing that Joe is in the habit of disguising himself, he imagines that even with a beard is his hired assassin. In desperation, he takes to wearing a beard to conceal his identity. Then he goes to the nearest police station and explains his predicament to the sergeant at the desk. A detective distinguished with a beard is put on his trail. He thinks it is Automatic Joe, and has the chase of his life.

In the meantime Automatic Joe has been converted from his wicked ways by the Salvation Army, and is anxious to return Augy his money and cancel the agreement. He spies Augy just as Augy and his bride are returning from the church, and hurries to him. Leaving his bride, Augy flees for his life.

Fun in this film is fast and furious; and the finish is one of the best moments.

by Robert Ralston Reed; photoplay by Margaret Turnbull; director, Frank Reicher. Many dramatic stories of witchcraft have been written but few successfully portrayed on the screen. The story is of a Huguenot refugee who sacrifices herself by marrying a decrepit old miser to save her mother from the stake; is cleverly interwoven with the girl's love for Captain Richard Wayne, who ultimately saves her with the Governor's proclamation abolishing punishment for witchcraft, just as she is about to be punished with this supposed crime. Cast: Fannie Ward, Jack Dean, Paul Weigel, Lillian Leighton.

If you have ever seen Douglas in any of his previous pictures you won't have to be told that you'll enjoy this latest Triangle play. You'll KNOW.

"Flirting With Fate" is the title of his latest picture and it's going to be shown at this theatre Wednesday night. New York critics say it is the best Fairbanks' play, so far. If you haven't already decided to come, do so now. Lyric Theatre, Wednesday.

Emmy Wehlen in "The Pretenders" At the Star Tonight

Emmy Wehlen, one of the most beautiful and talented young women now appearing in the silent drama will be seen at the Star tonight, in "The Pretenders," an elaborate Metro wonderplay produced by Rolfe Photoplays, Inc. Miss Wehlen is supported by one of the strongest casts ever seen in a Metro Production which includes such well known players as Paul Gordon, a newcomer to Metro, William Davidson; Chas. Eldridge, Edwin Holt, Howard Truedell, Jerome Wilson, Hugh Jeffrey, Harry Neville, Ilean Hume, Kate Blanche and other stage and screen artists.

"The Pretenders" is an original story, written by Channing Pollock and Rennold Wolf especially for Miss Wehlen. Mr. Pollock and Mr. Wolfe have written several of the best plays seen on Broadway during the last few years, and are fast winning a coveted position at the top with the foremost scenario writers George D. Baker, one of the ablest directors in the country who produced "The Pretenders," left nothing undone to make it an artistic treat. Unusual stage settings are used and Director Baker has also photographed some beautiful and picturesque locations in and around New York for the production.

The story of "The Pretenders" presents a vivid picture of the simple life in a Middle West town before the family of Pettinills become wealthy, and after they come to live in a Fifth Avenue mansion, with a country home in the Adirondacks. An interesting glimpse of English customs is also given in the situations, where a real Earl and a counterfeit Earl figure. Miss Wehlen, who is counted one of the best dressed women of the stage or screen wears many wonderful gowns in "The Pretenders." In a word, this Metro feature has every requisite found in the best class of screen productions.

"The Velvet Paw" At the Star Wednesday

A woman must challenge the world at its own games. She cannot stand above the mists and call the crowds to her, but many will follow her up through the mists if she wins.

Washington, D.C., that entrance to fame—the hotbed of political strife, that oft becomes the gateway to oblivion, has been called the most beautiful city in the world, and yet tradition and fact record many of life's wonderful dramas that have had their birth and death in the shadow of the great dome of the Capitol.

Like many faithful wives, Mary Dexter accompanied her husband to Washington in search of success, but it came in a far different manner than she anticipated, and the golden bridge over which she crossed to sunrise, also brought her in sight of The Cross.

Most women would have given up the fight, but Mary Dexter proved that woman has a natural greatness which man seems unable to destroy, and out of the depths of the sorrow she passed through, she mounted to the pinnacle of success. She proved the Nation's champion, and out of the goodness of her soul came an inspiration that caused as great a fight as was ever seen in the House of Congress.

This is a marvelous picture and House Peters with Gail Kane demonstrate the power of Right—and Love.

"The Pawn of Fate" Geo. Beban at the Star Thursday in "The Pawn of Fate."

Pierre Duffreng, a peasant of Normandy and his pretty wife, leave their picturesque farm for the gay world of Paris, confident that in Pierre the world is to deliver a new artistic genius.

Pierre is really the dupe of a wealthy Parisian painter who has fallen in love with Pierre's wife, Lesar, the Parisian, plays upon Pierre's artistic ambitions and lures him on to become at last the butt of a cruel jest.

His illusions shattered and his faith in his wife dimmed Pierre turns upon his false friend and takes partial toll for his wrongs in physical violence.

In the depths of despair, Pierre is about to seek solace in suicide when arrested and confronted by the man he has mortally wounded.

In his dying moments Least atones and the reconciliation between Pierre and his wife comes in a scene of deep pathos and compelling heart interest.

MAKING DUTY EASY

HOUSEWIFE'S SCHEME DECIDEDLY WORTH CONSIDERATION.

Much Less a Task When One Can Contribute to Turn Necessary Work Into Something That May Be Termed Amusing.

"Dear, will you see to Horace? I think he's hungry," remarked the hostess to her husband.

"Who is Horace?" asked the week-end guest. The hostess laughed.

"Why, it's the furnace," she admitted. "You see, we have got into the merry way of playing a game with our housekeeping, and naming everything in the house. It isn't nearly as much of a task to tend the furnace when it is named Horace and is, in a way, a helpful, active member of the family, as when it is regarded merely as a nuisance. A furnace isn't a nuisance, you know. It is a big, comfortable friend—only, like most friends, it has to be liked and appreciated and visited with in order to do its best work. So, instead of going down to put coal in a cold, forbidding ugly stove, my husband goes down to feed Horace, and make him feel better for having his cinders shaken down, to pat him metaphorically with the poker, and thank him for keeping the water in the bathroom warm. Silly, isn't it? But it brings such a nice glow of fun into an ordinary job."

"My kitchen range is named Aunt Susan. Into her ample lap I put my cooking utensils, knowing that she will help me make everything appetizing and savory, aid me in getting my dinner ready on time, and hum genially to herself when I leave her alone with the teakettle. She is like a wise, experienced old aunt to a young housekeeper like me."

"We have a battered old roadster that is lovingly termed Old Dobbin, since the accession of the smart little car which we call James—as if it were chauffeur, footman and butler rolled into one. Dobbin drives the children to school, runs all the village errands, and takes us on all the family outings, while with James, I go calling, we drive to church, and altogether keep up the family 'tone.' The hostess, a simple woman of simple tastes, smiled at this as at a huge joke; for she and the host were their own chauffeurs and footmen, and were as free from pretension as well could be.

"It is just one way of making friends of the familiar objects we have about us every day," she explained. "One takes a special interest, then, in even the commonplace, uninteresting, even unattractive, things one may have to deal with. For example, I don't so much mind scouring my big iron skillet now that I call it Old Black Joe. And the children do not mind washing and wiping dishes when they name the different kinds of china and glass by families—Mr. and Mrs. Willowware being the two large platters, and the plates and other dishes being their children, nephews and nieces. It is just one of the jolly little games that may make over the prosaic program of everyday duties into fun."

Brightening the Shave.

An Englishman, weary of bloodshed, has bethought him of a means of enlightening the gloomy and otherwise dangerous ritual of the shave, says Popular Science Monthly. He has invented a miniature electric lamp provided with an adjustable clip and flexible cord which may be attached to the razor and light the path of the blade through the tough bristles of the human face.

With his lamp attachment one may plunge fearlessly into the blackest depths of a three days' growth of beard and emerge from the ordeal unscathed. The lamp is attached to a conventional type of razor by a simple clip. It travels with the blade or with the motion of the hand. By looking into the mirror the man shaving himself can determine just what progress he is making and whether or not he is going to come through the operation with his two ears intact.

Siberia Picking Up.

A number of new commercial enterprises have recently been undertaken in northeast Siberia. Many iodine works have been established in the neighborhood of Vladivostok, on the shore of the Japanese sea, the iodine being made from seaweed found there in abundance. An interesting distillery for ether has been opened, the bulk of the ingredients being violets and iris blossoms from the Ussuri countryside. A good deal of amber is being collected from the beach along the coast of Premorsk and many new salt workings have been opened in the government of Irkutsk and in the Lena hinterland in the vicinity of Vitulsk.—Chicago Journal.

Cause for Bluesness of Air. Pure air is blue, because, as Newton tells us, the molecules of the air have the thickness necessary to reflect blue rays. When the sky is not perfectly pure the atmosphere is blended with perceptible vapors, and the diffused light is mixed with a large proportion of white.

Seminole county is young in years but old in the true Democratic spirit and the formation of a Democratic club demonstrates that Seminole county will roll up a handsome majority for the Democratic nominees in November.

In the June primary there was a whole flock of candidates who were before the people for their suffrage. At the Democratic meeting last Friday night the office seekers were very few. Are these same office seekers less Democrats now than in June or what is the answer? They may want another office some of these days and they can hardly ask for it on the Democratic ticket unless they show the true Democratic spirit.

The editor of The Herald is making an attempt to have the three alleys that are on the three sides of the building paved with the dun lug brick and cement grouted and asks the cooperation of other property owners and the city. This is the only way to solve the drain question. It is impossible to keep these public alleys clean under present conditions and alleys in the heart of the city should be paved just the same as the city streets.

The blinding lights now used by some car owners should be discontinued in this city. These lights are not even needed on the country road much less in the city. They are a general nuisance to all those who are obliged to travel at night and in many instances blind the pedestrians who attempt to cross a street ahead of them. The city council should have a section in their auto ordinances forcing owners to provide some other kind of headlight that will diminish the glare of the present system of lighting.

Editor R. L. Thompson of the Taylor County Herald is a true philosopher. Here is the song, he sings: "It has been finally settled who is the nominee for Governor, the world's record is over. Villa has not been captured. Wilson stands, good chance of being reelected, we are at peace with the world, paper is going higher, subscriptions coming faster our B. V. D.'s are still holding out, men are being, cane grinding and possum hunting time here, and good roads on the way—we should worry—pass the chicken."

congress in this district. The name or title by which a public man is thought of by his constituents is significant. If he is past middle life he can be thought of as Senator Smith or Mr. Smith or Hon. John Smith without any intimation that he is pretentious. The title is a courtesy extended to age instead of position. If he is a younger man and is known as Hon. John Smith it is a sign that his people like him.

We are not talking about the man who asks perfect strangers to call him Bill or Pete or Jim. He is a demagogue and expects people in addressing him to make a display of bad manners. But if the people just spontaneously think of him as by his first name they are apt to like him and he is apt to deserve their good will.

If we should meet our representative we would call him Mr. Sears as we would expect him to call us Mr. Brown or Mr. Smith or Mr. Mr. Jones if that happened to be the name. We do not believe in being too familiar on a short acquaintance but we think of our representative as Joe Sears because he is unpretentious and unassuming and we propose to call him Joe Sears behind his back as much as we please.

We consider Joe Sears one of the most admirable men in public life. He has made for this district a good representative and has acted through out his term with an eye single to duty. He has made no grandstand plays and has made no effort to show off. We do not believe the central idea in his mind has been going back to congress. He has not centered his mind on the ascertaining of what is popular. That throughout his career has been secondary to the question, "What is right?" This he has decided for himself and having decided what is right he has done it.

He has been a hard worker and has been faithful to his principles and to his people and will be faithful to both as long as he remains in public life. He has not made many speeches for public consumption and most of the speeches that appear in the Congressional Record are addressed to the public rather than to the members of the house. For instance, the speeches of senators or representatives the most influential speeches do not appear in the Record for they are not delivered from the floor of the house. They are made in committees or personal appeals.

Joe Sears is the nominee and there is no good reason why any Democrat should fail to vote and work for his election. He has years of usefulness before him and Florida would profit by having them spent in her service.—Times-Union.

THE "COURTS" CANDIDATE

Some of the newspapers of this state that have heretofore been Democratic, not from choice but because of circumstances, now call Mr. Knott the "court's candidate," and not the candidate of the people.

Mr. W. B. Flournoy, Mr. Catts' leading counsel, in a telegram to the Tampa Tribune, said: "I know the court of my state will be fair, as it always has been."

Why should it suddenly become corrupt and turn its back upon its record, which has been above reproach or suspicion since the state was admitted into the Union, even during the most perilous times in the state's history?

Knowing its history and the character of its members, Mr. Flournoy closed his tribute to this high tribunal in the following language: "I cannot refrain from sending you this message. In the trial of this great public case, in which all Florida is interested, the names of and effects of and upon the candidates are referred to the science, oratory and spirit of our inspired American institutions. And as I pen this message its integrity is voluntarily sealed with the tear of the patriot who loves these institutions which were erected and saved by the precious blood of our forefathers."

"Surely," says the Pensacola Journal, "if there were any fraud on the part of Knott in the counts; Mr. Flournoy would not now attempt to cover it up. Or if there was fraud which he was unwilling to charge publicly, he would not voluntarily go out of his way to extol an institution and countenance a condition which he thought was false."—Ocala Banner.

YOU DO IT
Editor Bloom of the Lakeland Star speaks a whole mouthful of truth in the following: "The other day we were approached and asked to 'write up' a certain institution in this city; the claim was set forth that in the erection of a certain building an inferior grade of material was being used. 'Hop onto them,' the party said, and the party expected us to hop. But we had met with this kind of a parasite before and before hopping we made an investigation and found that there was nothing to the statements of the fellow wanting us to write 'em up. On the contrary we found that all was being done just as agreed and that this party was putting up a game to get us into trouble. We proceeded to ask him to sign a statement which he had given us authority to print but he said: 'Oh, that's different. I don't want my name mixed up in it, it might hurt my business.' The fellow was willing to let the newspaper do it for him, however, but was too much of a rabbit to take the blame himself. Every newspaper man most every day meets with this class. They want the newspaper to do the work and 'we'll stand back' of you," meaning they will stand at the back door ready to run."

POWER OF THE HUMORIST

Centenary of Cervantes Recalls to Readers of History Memory of Other Satirists.

The British are not the only people who this year may celebrate the centenary of a great writer. Madrid is erecting a monument to the author of "Don Quixote." Cervantes was more than a man of letters; he was more than a great humorist; he was an epoch. Master of ridicule, he laughed the defunct age of chivalry out of existence.

People often forget the social function of the humorist, a New York Tribune writer states. He restores sanity. He clears the atmosphere of extravagance and humbug. Bergson—that laughter has "survival value" as a corrective of social abuses. Certainly some of the world's most effective reformers have been its masters of ridicule and satire. There are humorists, like Mark Twain, in whose laughter there is no sting, and there have been bitter satirists, like Jonathan Swift and La Rochefoucauld, who have simply mocked the "all too humanness" of mankind at its noblest. But in almost every age there has been some bold nonconformist spirit whose laughter in the face of some traditional scarecrow has ended the tyranny of a truth which had outlived its usefulness and become a lie. Knighthood in the days of Chaucer had still its noble aspects, but knight-hood after Cervantes wrote "Don Quixote" could never quite escape a touch of the burlesque. Therefore, men turned to less unquanted and more real avenues of human service.

Similarly, the laughter of Aristophanes wrought confusion among the ancient Greek sophists. Lucian's mockery corrected much of the sentimentalism of the effete Greco-Roman society. The sound laughter of Erasmus, the humanist, spread the influence of the Renaissance in northern Europe. Butler's "Hudibras" helped correct the extravagances of early English puritanism. Voltaire laughed the last remnants of medievalism out of the eighteenth-century France and cleared the ground for modern democracy. Carlyle's " Sartor Resartus" made nineteenth century romanticism ridiculous. The sly humor of Thackeray brought common sense into early Victorianism, and the sardonic spirit of Bernard Shaw in these times has left little in modern commercial society unchallenged.

May the Cervantes monument stand as a reminder to moderns that there have been reformers with a sense of humor!

Their Fear Not Realized.
The great fear of those who act here in Philadelphia 140 years ago made this a nation was that the state would not remain a nation, a writer in the Philadelphia Public Ledger says. History has proved in their case the falsity of the epigram:

"The thing you fear will get you." What they feared never happened. We are a young country, but a very old government, as governments go.

Call the roll of the nations and you will see that a majority of them are babies beside the United States. Japan's present Imperial regimen is not half a century old.

The house of Hohenzollern is fairly ancient, but the German empire is not yet fifty and the French republic is no older.

Austria and Hungary were yoked together long after Franklin told the signers of the Declaration of Independence they must all hang together or be hanged separately.

Italy's kingdom is not half so old as the United States. Portugal's republic is a thing too young to vote, and the Chinese republic has not yet been weaned.

All the scores of Central and South American republics are much younger than is this greatest of world republics.

Nearly half the human race has now copied that lesson which was announced by the Liberty bell.

Bluffed the New Conductor.
He stood in the corner waiting for a car. Several cars had stopped to let him get on but he made no move to get aboard.

Finally one stopped and a man got off. "Did you pay your fare to the end of the line?" inquired the waiting man. "Yes," said the man who got off.

"Can I have your seat?" he asked. "Sure, it's the last one on the right-hand side, cross seat."

The man clambered aboard and hurried to the seat just left vacant. "Fare please," said the conductor shortly afterwards.

"Fare nothing," responded the man. "I just took the other fellow's place who got off and he said he paid to the end of the line and said that I could have his seat."

The response evidently was a stunner for the new conductor and he was so surprised he passed up the fare.

As Fit as Caesar.
Epilepsy does not disqualify a man from serving as the executor of a $5,000,000 estate. Surrogate Fowler in New York city made this ruling in deciding against the heirs of Col. Francis L. Leland, who are trying to oust Dr. Timothy E. Cheesman as executor. Surrogate Fowler said:

"Suppose that one had nominated Caesar as his executor. He is admitted to have been the greatest genius of all the world, yet he was an epileptic. Who of us would not prefer Caesar for an executor, with all his physical defects, to the ordinary hedger and ditcher, possessed of an absolutely sound body and a congenitally sound mind?"

New Life Preserver.
A novel life preserver has been devised to supplement the ordinary cork jacket in rough water. By its use the person in distress is able to breathe, even when the waves sweep over his head. The appliance adds to the cork jacket a light metal chamber which floats high, a spout leading from it rising two or three feet above the water level. A tube leads from this chamber to a face mask, through which the wearer of the jacket breathes. Even if the water sweeps over his head the spout of the air chamber is still clear and the air supply unimpaired.

THE RELATION OF SCHOOL TO CHURCH

From an Address made at the Presbyterian Church by Prof. B. F. Estell Principal of Sanford Schools

In order that we may know what the relationship between the church and the school is, we must know what each stands for and does. What is the purpose of the church, and what is the purpose of the school?

The church, in my judgment, has one great object before it, which is the teaching and preaching of God's word with the object of winning men to Christ, causing men to accept him, and cultivating the spiritual life of the convert. The school has for its aim the training of the student with reference to his mental and physical being. The school emphasizes these things. It directs its courses with the special object of giving mental training and information.

Now the question for discussion is, what is the relationship existing between these phases of human development. The general object of each is to teach, to instruct. Considered from this standpoint, both are educational forces and institutions, and related as such. John Locke, the noted philosopher, in discussing the education of the boy deals with the following topics: Feet, habit, diet, meals, fruit, sleep, crying, self denial, rewards, reputation manners, company, virtue, punishment, whipping, chiding tutor, play-games, Latin, French, Greek, law, letters, travel, philosophy, arithmetic and other things. He does not draw any dividing line between the work of church and school but combines their work and calls it education.

Channing, another great writer, says that the world, from our first to our last hour is our school, and that the whole of life has but one great purpose—education.

Thus considered, education covers the whole field of discipline and training—physical, mental and moral. Dr. Eby says that "All the great educational thinkers of the past regarded religion as an absolute essential element of training and culture. None ever contemplated a merely secularized training such as is given in our public schools of America." Thus we see that while we are accustomed to make and draw a distinct line between the work of the state in education, and the work of the church, that no such distinct line, should be drawn. In the highest sense, both are educational. The united object of both is to develop ideal citizens. Christianity, brotherhood, good citizenship, education—all are related terms, and should be synonymous.

The facts gathered from books, the mental discipline which comes from pursuing a course of study, the association with the teacher, the atmosphere of the school room as a place for development all these are one in making a living, give broad sympathies, polish and refine the manners, elevate the taste, sharpen the intellect and deepen the appreciation for all that is elevating and ennobling. The work of the church comes in to round out and supplement this training with that which is more important—training in living the highest life according to the standards of its faith. Thus, the church and the school come together in the work that each has to do for humanity, and the relationship is seen to be one of a supplementary nature.

Neither the church nor the school as organized today is adapted to caring for the whole wellbeing of the child. The work of each is necessary to the true education of our citizenship. And since this is the case, the relationship should not be merely one of a supplementary nature, but one of mutual cooperation.

Then let us ask the question, how may the school cooperate with the church? Some of the ways that occur to me are as follows: By teaching a reverence for sacred things, by speaking well of religious workers and making the reading of the holy Book a part of the daily program. School officials may also help by employing such teachers as are active in religious work, and whose examples will be worthy of emulation in this respect.

Here I wish to read from a speech recently delivered by an eminent clergyman of our country, who spoke as follows, upon the work of the Christian teacher:

In the abstract there is nothing Christian in the science of mathematics or in the inductive sciences; classic languages are the speech of pagan nations and philosophy was born before the new star appeared over the hills of Bethlehem; yet under the power of a devout teacher these themes of the class room may glow with heavenly light. In the formulas of mathematics old Pythagoras felt a magic spell, which opened the heavens and disclosed the throne of the Eternal, and he offered the mystery of this noble science as a ladder reaching to the skies. Contemplating the wonders of God's handiwork as revealed in the movements of the heavenly bodies, Kepler falls to his knees exclaiming: "Great God, I think thy thoughts after thee."

Rightly interpreted philosophy in any of its aspects affects the character of the students, especially the branch of philosophy that unfolds the science of duty and strengthens the obligation to do right. If the philosopher is as cynical as Diogenes, as cold as Shopenhaur, as selfish as Carlyle, as conceited as Herbert Spencer, on the lips of a devout teacher the theme may lead up to the throne of God. Even the history that is written in blood may be found to be a part of a vast plan by which all things work together for good to them that love God and are called according to his purpose. The teacher is the interpreter. Where he is fit for his place, he teaches much more than is written in the text book. He teaches himself, his faith, his fidelity, his moral rectitude—qualities that count for far more than mere technical knowledge. His influence abides, when the lessons gathered from text books have faded from the mind.

The school may thus cooperate with the church by exerting a Christian influence through its teachers. And allow me to suggest just here that this is a most important matter and one that should be given serious consideration by all people who are interested in Christian work.

As to bow the church may aid the school, I shall not discuss, except to say that it may do so by showing an interest in the work of the school.

Finally the relationship between the school and the church is one of interdependence. The work of the church cannot reach its mission without the aid of the school and the school will fail to truly educate when it does not so teach as to inspire its students to lead lives in keeping with the ideals of the church.

There is no relation, in my judgment between illiteracy and Christianity. Christianity will grow and spread in the world as illiteracy is depressed. We learn to read and reason in school, and as a consequence, we are fitted to read and reason in all the affairs of life. The church is seeking the man who can read and reason. The church makes its appeal to the intellect as well as to the conscience. The church appeals to men as rational beings, and the school aids in developing these rational powers, thus preparing its students to become intelligent Christians; when the church has fulfilled its mission of evangelization and conversion.

Let me now sum up the points in the relationship as I have tried to present them.

Both the school and the church have for their common purpose the development of ideal citizens—education in its broadest sense.

In the second place, the relation is supplementary in its nature. The work of the church completes the work of the school.

The relation also should be and generally is, one of mutual cooperation, where the work of each promotes the work of the other, not only supplementing it, but strengthening it by sympathy and interest.

As a climax to the relationship we have tried to show that the relation is one of interdependence, because neither can reach its highest purpose without the aid of the other.

The relation of the church to the school and of the school to the church is such that the work of either develops, supplements, strengthens and brings to fruition the work of the other.

LEASERS ARE HELD IN LEASH

If You Would Live Long Go Over to Halifax County, Va., and Hear Mr. Thomas Bruce.

If any of these authorities on what constitutes old age are in the vicinity will they please drop around to the Wolcott hotel and discuss the matter with Thomas E. Bruce of Halifax county, Va. Mr. Bruce, who is eighty years young, has some definite ideas on the subject, and he knows where the years may be successfully interned so that they are harmless.

That beneficent spot is Halifax county, Va., huh? It is beyond doubt the most wonderful spot on the whole green earth. If Metchnikoff, who made goats' milk popular by discovering that the Bulgarians who drank it managed to live a long time, had only gone to Halifax county instead, there would be less artificial buttermilk on the market now.

Hello! all of this from Mr. Bruce. The other day he halted in the foyer of the Wolcott, where he has been coming for many years, to hear one man console with another over the death of his father, seventy-five years old.

"He died of old age," the grieving one said.

"Old age?" broke in Mr. Bruce, indignantly. "Old age? Why, I am eighty years old—or, young—myself. My mother lived to be ninety-six years old, my father was past ninety when he went on and I have an uncle living and in good health at one hundred and four. This old age is tommy rot, although I suppose people can't live long around here. They should come to my country, where the years are held in leash."

"And that is—?"

"Halifax county, Va., huh, as I've said."—New York Herald.

PAYING SALARIES TO WIVES

Discussion Started in Periodical Devoted to Women—Husband is the Real Provider.

About the most foolish proposition that has been advanced for some time is the discussion now going on concerning the payment of salaries to wives. The discussion started some time ago in a periodical devoted to women, and it has been "raging" ever since, with now and then some good soul advocating that the wife be paid regular wages, and the household expenses be apportioned properly—and a lot more of the same line.

The ideal home is the one where the wife is not bothered with finances, where the husband is the provider—and provides. In this ideal home the wife knows the standard of living which should be maintained, and the husband is not annoyed in any way with apportioning the household expenses. The wife has what she wants, because she wants only what the family can afford, and the husband takes care of all expenditures, whether in the way of money outlay or by paying all bills promptly. In the ideal home the question of money is seldom mentioned, for the reason that it does not have to be mentioned. The husband sees to it that the wife is amply provided with funds.—Dayton News.

The Soul That Spoke Hamlet. The inspiration which uttered itself in Hamlet and Lear could utter things as good from day to day forever. Why, then, should I make account of Hamlet and Lear, as if we had not the soul from which they fell as syllables from the tongue?—Emerson.

Just Split the Difference.

In a jury trial in a small town not many miles from civilization the rural gentlemen into whose hands the case of the plaintiff and defendant was placed were so stubbornly divided that they were some twenty-odd hours in reaching a verdict. At they left the court, after having rendered the verdict, one of them was asked by a friend what the trouble was. "Want," he said, "six on 'em wanted to give the plaintiff $1,000, and six on 'em wanted to give him $2,000, so we split the difference and give him $500."

In the Circuit Court, Seventh Judicial Circuit in and for Seminole County, Florida, L. P. Hagan, Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Seminole County, Florida, acting for and on behalf of the Board of County Commissioners, and for and on behalf of the County of Seminole, State of Florida, did on the 23rd day of October, A. D. 1916, file his petition for the above entitled court, alleging among other things that James H. Bryce, is the owner of the following described lands in Seminole County, Florida:

NE 1/4 of NE 1/4 Sec. 7, Twp. 20, S. of Range 32 East. SW 1/4 of NE 1/4 Sec. 8, Twp. 20, S. of Range 32 East. NE 1/4 of NW 1/4 Sec. 8, Twp. 20, S. of Range 32 East. NW 1/4 of NW 1/4 Sec. 8, Twp. 20, S. of Range 32 East.

And further alleging that a public highway has been established in Seminole County, Florida, a certain portion of which passes through and over the lands of the said James H. Bryce, that portion of said highway passing over and through lands of the said James H. Bryce, being more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

A certain strip of land, to-wit, a strip of land, the center line of which is more particularly described as follows: Beginning at the north line of Section 8 (18), Township 20, South of Range 32 East, said point being 1266.5 ft. more or less west of the northeast corner of said Section Seven (7), in said Township 20, South of Range 32 East, and running north and south, said point being in the center line of the Sanford and Geneva road; thence south 56 deg. 39 sec. east to a point on the west line of Section 8 (18), said point being 790 feet more or less south of the N. W. corner of Sec. 8; thence south 56 deg. 39 sec. east a distance of 213.5 ft. to a point on the east line of Sec. 8; thence south 56 deg. 39 sec. east a distance of 1001 ft. to a point 287 ft. more or less north of the southwest corner of the north-east quarter of the said Section Eight (8); thence south 56 deg. 39 sec. east 1000 ft. more or less to a point 530 ft. more or less south of the northwest corner of the north-east quarter of the said Section Eight (8); thence south 56 deg. 39 sec. east 243.5 ft. more or less to a point on the southernmost line of the property of James H. Bryce. The above described right of way 60 ft. in width through the lands of the said James H. Bryce, being the present graded right of way which for several years has been open to the public through the lands of the said James H. Bryce and as is shown by the preliminary survey made by G. R. Bamers, highway engineer, of the County of Seminole, State of Florida.

And it further appearing from said petition that it is necessary that the lands of the said James H. Bryce over and through the said right of way passes is necessary to be had and taken by the county of Seminole for the purpose of a public highway; and it further appearing from said petition that the County of Seminole, and the said James H. Bryce, are entitled to a reasonable compensation, to be paid for said right of way.

Now, therefore, this is to command all persons interested in or having liens upon the above described property, to per se, to be, and appear before the Judge or our Circuit Court in and for the County of Seminole, State of Florida, at the court house in Sanford, Florida, on the first Monday in December next, the same being a Holy Day, to-wit, the 4th day of December, A. D. 1916, to show what interest they or any of them may have in the property which the County of Seminole seeks to take and condemn for road purposes as aforesaid; and further to show cause that they, or any of them may have, why said right of way should not be taken for the uses and purposes set forth in the petition heretofore filed in this cause by the said L. P. Hagan, Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Seminole County, Florida, acting for and on behalf of the Board of County Commissioners, and for and on behalf of the County of Seminole, State of Florida, against the said James H. Bryce, or else be barred forever from claiming or exercising any right, title or interest in and to the above described property. Herein fail not, as otherwise a default will be entered against you.

Witness, E. A. Douglass, Clerk of the Circuit Court in and for Seminole County, State of Florida, and the seal of said court at Sanford, Fla., on this 24th day of October, 1916.

WARNED OF DANGER

CLEVER DOG WIGWAGGED SIGNAL TO MASTER.

Animal Used Tall and Code, With Some Profanity, to Tell Owner of the Close Proximity of Grizzly Bear.

Fishermen are noted for the tall stories they tell of their prowess, but, according to Percival Rousseau, painter of dogs, they are not in it when a bunch of sportsmen get together and begin telling what their dogs have done in the search for game.

Mr. Rousseau, at his studio in New York city, recently showed a group of 16 of his pictures at the Knoodler galleries, including several "dog portraits" which he has done for American owners. In his association with dog fanciers he has heard many "tall" stories, but the most extreme of all is one which he repeated in telling of a certain shooting meet which he once attended.

"Do any of you gentlemen know the Russian setter, sometimes called the golden setter?" asked an admirer in the navy, who was a member of the party gathered in Mr. Rousseau's studio. "I was once stationed at St. Petersburg, now Petrograd, as a naval attaché, and I was once at the Russian embassy. While there, being by chance able to render some slight service to a Russian nobleman, and his knowing me to be very keen on good dogs, made me a present of a very fine Russian setter of his own breeding. I kept the dog with me until ordered back to my ship and then took him aboard. We were some time cruising about, during which time, finding the dog unusually intelligent, I taught him to do some things, among them the wigwag system of signaling, for which nature seemed to have qualified him peculiarly with his magnificent tail. He became very expert and would go forward and signal to me everything he saw, until he became the terror of the men.

"After some time we put in at the coast, and after having got a few days' shore leave I went for a shooting trip up in the mountains. I was quite anxious to see what he would do on birds. He was very good, and we were having great sport when I saw him signaling violently from a thicket where I thought him on a point.

"His tail was going so fast I could hardly spell out the message. It was: 'Master, there's the d—est biggest grizzly bear in here you ever saw. I'm backing out. You'd better run like h—!'"

Pads in Steel Helmets.

A new steel helmet for the protection of British troops on the firing line is being issued at the rate of 50,000 a month, according to the Army and Navy Journal. Advantage was taken by the designers of the experience gained from the use of the French helmet or casque, and faults which had developed in the latter were remedied. The British helmet is a round cap of the hardest steel, with a narrow "lip" back and front, and designed with a much lower pitch than the French type. It is perfectly smooth, having no fluting or projections for bullets or fragments of shrapnel to strike against. Ingenious devices have been employed to obtain both a good fit and a comfortable one. Inside the dome of the helmet are fixed a number of rubber studs, to take up the shock of the blow struck from any direction. They come between the helmet and its double lining of felt and wadding. The wadding comes next to the head of the wearer and covers it closely, so that it is a "bullet-proof" penetrator the steel cap and inflicts a scalp wound the wadding will act as a dressing. The helmet is secured on the head by means of a stout chin strap.

The supporters of the Prohibition candidate are beginning to realize the seriousness of the turning tide of public sentiment and reports are coming to the headquarters that it is being circulated in the rural districts that Mr. Knott is a Catholic, in the face of the fact that Mr. Knott has been for many years a devout member of the Baptist church, has contributed liberally of his means and time for the up building of this denomination and for years has been a deacon of his church, and the secretary of the board of trustees of Columbia College, a Baptist educational institution in this state.

This statement from the Secretary of State shows beyond any possibility of argument that Mr. Knott is the rightful and legal nominee of the Florida Democracy. At no time since Sept. 21st do the records show that Mr. Catts was ever entitled to be considered the Democratic nominee.

Frank Miller, our local undertaker went to Columbus the other day and succeeded in having the National Association of Undertakers hold their next convention in Jacksonville. I am glad Frank did not bring them to Sanford for few people ever die here and one undertaker seems to be enough. With the whole delegation here there is no telling what would happen to our health resort.

Sanford is a church going community and yet if one will visit the various churches on Sunday morning he will find comparatively few people in the churches. By a few I mean that there are many good citizens of Sanford who never go to church and at the present time there should be at least double the number. Every man and every woman who can do so should attend some church. There are circumstances that prevent a regular attendance of every one every Sunday but we should endeavor to attend a church in Sanford either in the morning or in the evening every Sunday. I know some people here who have never been seen in the church at any time and they are posing as prominent citizens. They have no valid excuse for not affiliating with some church and they should make up their minds right now to take part in the religious life of our city. Certainly it will do them no harm to attend church on Sunday. As the New Smyrna News aptly remarks:

"There is no question but what it does some people good to go to church, especially if they go only once in a great while, and that isn't saying that it doesn't do every body good to go to church just as often as the opportunity presents itself. In this age of the world it does some men good to sit in a pew and listen to facts about actual conditions and about the influence they should have among the men with whom they are associated. When a man goes to church and has these truths so forcibly impressed upon him that he goes home and dreams that the devil is chasing him all through the balance of the night I am sure it has done that man good."

The Florida Alligator is the official college paper of our great state University at Gainesville and aside from being a nifty college paper filled with the true college spirit the Alligator has some good solid truths for the students to digest. Among the editorials last week is this one that should be read by every student of the Sanford schools:

Procrastination is the chiefest sin encountered in a college career. You are feeling a little bad this morning and you put off that lesson until the afternoon, while a football scrimmage or something equally as interesting prevents your getting the lesson then. And so goes the time. The day for the class arrives and you hurriedly scan the lesson to "shoot up" the professor if he happens to ask you some little question which does not require thought.

The same process continues until the end of the month and the time for examination is at hand. It is then a matter of having to cram. The examinations must be passed or father and mother will wonder if the course is too hard for their little boy or if it is possible that he has been led into bad habits. Then of course comes disagreeable explanations of unfair deals or a compromising acknowledgement of the truth with a promise to "shoot 'em up" next month.

There is only one way of avoiding such unpleasant situations and that is to be prepared with every lesson. Further still, there is only one way of being prepared with every lesson and that is to get your work on a systematic basis. Have certain periods to study and let nothing short of providence hinder you from studying at those hours.

Many boys come to college with the determination of studying twelve or fifteen hours a day. That, however is only the theoretical side of a very practical problem. A few people have had the ability to concentrate for a long period of time but the average mind becomes so disorganized after a couple of hours hard study that it is useless to continue.

The mind must have relaxation the same as muscles. A boy concentrates his mind on his lessons for five hours every day during his freshman year is doing exceedingly well. Make out your schedule of study hours and follow it just as seriously as you do your class schedule. If you have a schedule of study hours and something happens that makes it impossible to study then, make up the time from your recreation periods. By using this method you will find you have time for many things that are now crowded out.

COUNTY HAPPENINGS

CHULUOTA SNAPSHOTS

This pretty fall weather is ripening up the fruit, and the crop will soon be on the move toward the north.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Jacobs and son, George, Mrs. M. E. Jacobs, Misses Ethel Collins, Katherine Flint and Mary Aulin were guests at the home of the latter's father, Mr. Aulin, Sr.'s birthday party in Oviedo last Wednesday. The occasion was a very enjoyable one to all present.

Mrs. F. M. Story is spending the week with her daughter, Mrs. W. S. Borgeard at Winter Garden.

Quite a number from this place attended the preaching service at Lockwood Sunday.

H. L. Green and family spent the week end with friends at Christmas. Billie Jacobs and family spent Sunday in Orlando.

The friends and relatives took their dinner baskets well filled and went to the home of Mrs. P. J. Long, Wednesday and surprised her with a family reunion. The occasion was Aunt Sissy's (as she is familiarly called) seventy-first birthday anniversary. The old home was made to resound with laughter and happy children's voices once more. J. Tilden Jacobs read a poem, composed for the occasion by himself and wife, which spoke touchingly of Mrs. Long's kind Christian life, and spoke of the family of brothers and sisters, parents and husband gone before. The day will long be remembered by all present as one of their happiest times.

One of the prettiest social affairs of the season was the reception tendered Dr. T. G. Simmons and his bride at the Chuluota Inn Tuesday evening, the 17th inst. This was planned as a surprise for the Doctor by his friends. Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brumley gave the use of the hotel and Mr. and Mrs. J. Tilden Jacobs were to take the management in hand and the entire neighborhood lent a kindly helping hand. The reception was held on the broad piazza which was arranged beautifully for the occasion. The decorations were elaborate, consisting of trailing jessamine arching palms and evergreens interspersed with pink and white flowers. The tables held vases of pink and white roses and asparagus ferns. The piazza was arranged into a receiving and a serving room and presented very pleasing effect. Mr. and Mrs. Brumley and J. Tilden Jacobs met the guests at the head of the steps and directed them to the receiving line, composed of Mrs. J. E. Snyder, who presented the guests to the doctor and his bride, Mrs. E. E. Tribble and Mrs. W. S. Higgins. After the guests were seated, five little girls, Edna Bentley, Verlie Provatt, Fannie Graves, Hazel and Evelyn Jacobs gave a demonstration of "How the Doctor Gives His Medicine," with their dolls, which was very true to the point, but very laughable. Mrs. E. E. Tribble read a very pretty "Welcome to the Bride," which was her own composition and was enjoyed very much. R. E. Franklin furnished music for the occasion, playing the victrola during the evening. Mrs. Lizzie, Mrs. George and Mrs. Tilden Jacobs, Mrs. J. E. Snyder and Mrs. W. S. Higgins served punch and wafers to the guests, of which there were about one hundred during the evening. Every one expressed themselves as having a perfectly lovely time.

Black Hammock Developments
The Spinks residence on Main street has been purchased by O. P. Swope. The house, a bungalow, was completed last spring by Mr. Z. Spink who designed and built it for his own home. Artistically it is one of the prettiest structures in town. Mr. Swope has just received a car load of furniture from his former home in Wichita, Kansas and will occupy his new home at once. Mr. Swope since coming to Oviedo has steadily increased his holdings of Black Hammock land. His recent purchase of 40 additional acres makes him the largest individual owner of this rich truck property. Mr. Swope has also bought the Hill property, a 16 acre grove, one mile south of town. His faith in the present and future values of Seminole county land is amply demonstrated by these recent additions to his already large holdings.

N. F. Lezette, John S. Drewrey, W. H. Howard, George Morgan and W. J. Lawton have all tiled truck land in the last two months and now have lettuce and celery in. Oviedo's acreage in truck is steadily increasing.

W. H. Browning just finished clearing his fine tract east of the A. C. L. Depot. This plot now set in cabbage is one of the prettiest in East Seminole.

W. H. Howard, the turpentine operator, has purchased 5 acres of citrus land, which he will set to tangerines.

OVIEDO

Mr. W. R. Kimbrell, the Seaboard engineer is recovering from his recent automobile accident. While driving his Ford runabout six miles below Sanford he turned out to let a car pass, the wheels went beyond the curbing and the car was overturned. Mr. Kimbrell broke three ribs and his collar bone, while Mrs. Kimbrell was severely bruised. Mr. W. J. Lawton, driving by, brought them to Oviedo.

Friday night the three senior classes of the Methodist Sunday school held a get-together meeting at the church in honor of the delegates to the Ocala Wesley Class Federation. Reports on the convention were delivered by the delegates to an appreciative audience of Sunday school workers and teachers. The church was attractively decorated with flowers and ferns by a committee of young people under the direction of Mr. George Morgan, assistant superintendent of the Sunday school. At the close of the program the refreshment committee, composed of Mrs. W. H. Howard, Mrs. H. B. McCall and Mrs. Nancy Leahart served sandwiches and coffee. A social hour was then spent in informal discussion of Sunday school work. Among the out of town visitors were Misses Blanche and Georgia Pattishall, Mrs. Pattishall, Miss Katherine Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon, Messrs. Pattishall and Oatling, all of Geneva, Mr. Harry Phillips of Sanford, Mrs. A. S. Brown, superintendent of Gabriella Sunday school.

Oviedo was represented at the Rollins-Columbia football game at Winter Park Thursday by the following party, Misses Marie Marshall and Edith Howard, Roy Williams, Clarence Gutteridge, A. L. Hatch. Clean up day was observed Friday.

A Halloween social will be held at the school house Friday night for the benefit of the Woman's Club. It will be a masked costume affair. A sausage eating contest will be a feature of the evening entries having already been made by George Morgan, T. C. Brannon and Joseph Loihart. Other athletic stunts of a similar nature are promised by Mrs. T. C. Brannon, who has the social in charge.

Mr. John Evertson has arrived for the orange season.
Mr. Charles Gutteridge, Jr. is spending the week end with his parents.

The basket ball court at the public school is being put in shape by the trustees for the coming season.

Rev. Charles Stones preached a strong sermon on Armenian Suffering and Relief Sunday morning. The church raised $50.00 for the relief fund.

Mr. C. F. Fisher, formerly of Rock Springs, Wyoming is developing a large tract of Black Hammock land. He has 16 acres cleared and plans on getting in a truck crop at once. He has purchased the Akins residence with 4 acres of land and will make Oviedo his home.

The Florida Groves Co. started a large grove Monday, clearing a tract of 80 acres between Oviedo and Foy City. This land will be ready by spring for both citrus groves and trucking.

S. W. Swope is having a twenty acre tract cleared adjoining his present grove. He will set this additional tract to late Valencia orange trees. When completed he will have a fine 40 acre grove on Black Hammock land.

Greece's Petroleum Springs
Petroleum springs in Greece, described by a historian of 400 years before Christ and viewed during the succeeding 2,300 years as nothing more than curioities, are soon to be exploited by capitalists of the vicinity.

FOOLED THE GAME WARDEN

The following from the Eustis Lake Region revives an incident which had long escaped our memory: "Recently Editor Bob Holly of Sanford visited Eustis. Captain Ben Vogt then and there revived a joke he and some friends played on Game Warden Megargee when they informed him that Bob Holly was out fishing with a net. Here is Capt. Vogt's story:

Children's Party

A most attractive event in children's circles last week was the beautiful party on Saturday afternoon at the Parish House given by Mrs. T. J. Miller and Mrs. Claude Herndon in honor of two little sons of the family. It was the fifth birthday of Master Frank Miller, Jr., and in a few days Claude Herndon, Jr., would reach the same dignity, so it was a pretty compliment to entertain for the two handsome little fellows at one time. The specious hall was attractively decorated in a color scheme of pink and white, with trailing vines and ferns to give a relieving touch of green. Long tables with their pretty appointments and flowers were placed at the side of the hall and overhead were festoons of pink and white that reached to the corners of the tables, while at other ends were placed the lovely white tulle cakes ornamented with pink, white and roses. Games were played upon the lawn until the march was formed for refreshments. Assisting the hostesses were Theodora Miller, LeClare Jones, Helen Gonzales, Helen Terwilliger and Esther Miller.

Prominent among the tiny guests were the Miller twins, very important and very lovely in their baby grace. Forty-five other little folks enjoyed the happy afternoon with the young honorees, who were the recipients of many lovely gifts.

Grown folks present were Rev. Arthur Peck and his mother, Mrs. Peck, Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. Allan Jones, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. A. R. Chappell and Miss May Doyle.

Congregational Bazaar

Attention is called to the mistake published in the last issue of The Herald, of the date for the Congregational Christmas bazaar. It will be held Saturday, Dec. 2nd and not the 22nd as appeared.

Camp-Hike

Of interest to their many friends in Sanford and elsewhere is the marriage of Mrs. Hattie Bose Camp to Mr. E. M. Hawkins at a grand Sunday evening at the home of the bride on First street.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. D. Brown of the Presbyterian church, in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives.

Mrs. Hawkins was very attractive in a handsome dress of voile and tulle. The bride is well known here, having made Sanford her home for a number of years. The groom has been identified with the business interests of Sanford for some time and is connected with the Sanford Bottling Works. Their many friends extend warmest wishes for a happy and prosperous voyage on the sea of matrimony.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served. Roses and ferns prettily adorned the rooms and decorated the table. Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins will reside in their bungalow on First street.

Priscilla

Mrs. J. J. Pardon delightfully entertained the Priscilla Club on last Thursday afternoon, the meeting being just another good time enjoyed by these congenial friends; cake and ice cream was served at the refreshment hour. Enjoying the gracious hospitality of Mrs. Pardon were Mrs. Tom Davis, Mrs. H. H. Hill, Mrs. A. E. Hill, Mrs. Easterby, Mrs. Pace, Mrs. C. C. Woodruff, Mrs. Patten and Mrs. Long.

NEGROES FOOLED AGAIN

"Recruiting Agent" Failed to Arrive

Because of the industrial activity in the north, caused mainly by the European war, there is a great demand for labor in northern states and to meet that demand a large number of negroes have been induced to leave the south and go north to find work at higher prices. For several days there has been considerable of a stir among the colored population in this section, that many as wanted to go should be at the Coast Line depot on Thursday night, and upon arrival of the north bound train from Tampa at midnight would be met by a colored "recruiting agent" who would furnish them with the necessary transportation to pastures new. Some three hundred were at the station upon the arrival of the train, but only about twenty five got aboard. When the train arrived at Winter Park and the "recruiting agent" had failed to put in his appearance, they left the train at that point and made their way back to Orlando, a sadder but wiser lot.—Orlando Sentinel.

simoleons for the privilege of fishing "with a net" surreptitiously. Charlie's visual organs were good, but sometimes he was visionary. "Bob" Holly, now of the Sanford Herald—"Our Bob"—was once the subject of Charlie's microscopic vigilance. He came to Eustis one and soon dropped on a scent. Somebody told him, confidentially of course, that somebody had gone out on the lake and had "a net" of fair proportions with him, and that it was not a trap net either. Charlie went down to the shore, chartered the boat, Tibberias, and with a crew sailed for Gobbler's Point, within the shadow of which was "Bob" fishing with "a net" sure enough. An introduction to Annette was all Charlie got on this occasion. The case was not brought before a justice of the peace, but Charlie went on a gill hunt for his informant, who, just then, could not be found. But "Bob" didn't cease fishing. He "floundered" around some for a while until he landed his affinity, and he still sticks to the lake shore for some reason or other. He is now living at Sanford on the shores of Lake Monroe.

Birthday Party at Oviedo

Many friends and relatives were happy to meet at the home of Mr. Andrew Aulin Wednesday afternoon in honor of his seventy-third birthday, which was celebrated by a reception given him by his children, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wheeler, Mrs. and Mrs. Theodore Aulin, Mrs. Mary Aulin and Mr. Andrew Aulin, Jr. The house was tastefully decorated in cut flowers and ferns. The following program was rendered during the afternoon:

Delicious refreshments were served, consisting of a variety of choice cakes, with hot coffee, chocolate and ten and confections. Little Florence and Evelyn Wheeler, Mr. Aulin's only grandchildren, assisted in the serving. It was at a late hour that the many guests departed, thanking the children for a most enjoyable afternoon, and wishing Mr. Aulin many more such pleasant celebrations.
