$50,000 Bond Is Set For Murder Suspect
 ATLANTA (UPI) — Dapper lawyer Lord Matherwell, 45, was held in $50,000 bail today. He was awaiting counsel before answering Federal charges he had murdered a 17-year-old Washington, D. C., widow.

Matherwell was turned over to the U. S. marshal's office Tuesday after FBI agents captured him at the Atlanta Airport as he was about to board a plane for Cleveland. U. S. Commissioner Frank A. Holden said the hearing would be continued when Matherwell's counsel arrives.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Robert Sparks, who said Washington, D. C., attorney Samuel C. Klein and John K. Regis had notified him that Matherwell's counsel was on route here from Paris, said he was assured the hearing would be resumed "within a couple of days."

Matherwell is charged with murdering Mrs. Pearl Ada Putney, 74, a Washington, D. C.,

Khrushchev Talks May Help Break Cold War, Ike Says

Be Cautious With Nikita, U. S. Urged

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson warned today that the "greatest tragedy" would result if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's forthcoming visit was viewed as indicating a thaw in the cold war.

Johnson spoke at the American Legion convention and said a hot racial battle and prepared to vote for a new national commander.

"This is the delusion that could lead us into letting down our guard," Johnson told the national Legion convention.

The Texas Democrat said, "There are those who feel that Mr. Khrushchev's visit is simply an elaborate facade for a two-man summit conference, which has been his publicly expressed goal since he attained power."

Mr. Khrushchev's planned itinerary certainly does nothing to dispel this feeling," Johnson added. This was an apparent reference to the fact that five of Khrushchev's 18 days in the United States would be spent in Washington.

"But at this point the wisdom of the invitation is academic," Johnson said. "The issue remaining is whether we conduct ourselves in such a way as to serve the best interests of America."

"On this we must, and we shall, stand behind our president," he declared.

Many Legion members oppose the Russian leader's U. S. tour, starting Sept. 15. Resolutions condemning Khrushchev and his visit are before the convention.

AN UNEXPECTED PLEASURE is conferred on Mr. and Mrs. Myron Accordi of DeBary by Food Fair Manager Henry Ashton, as he hands the couple their certificate for a week's vacation at Miami Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Accordi were given the trip in a Food Fair sales promotion.

'Nature Boy' Who Steals To Live In Style Sought

FRANKLIN, N. H. (UPI) — A piece of pulp and bloodhounds today stalked a handsome 28-year-old "nature boy" accused of stealing to live in style in the woods.

The searchers trekked through the rugged forest near the Franklin flood control dam in search of Frank D. Gibbs, who is wanted on burglary charges in three New England states.

Franklin Police Chief John Picor said two of Gibbs' elaborately furnished camp sites were found Wednesday. He had been living in the woods about three months.

Gibbs' sylvan homes were equipped with stolen items, including a generator taken from the dam's repair shop.

'Urgent' Bills Pass In Flurry By Congress

By FRANK KLEAKER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Our lawmakers are off on their annual headlong dash for adjournment. The aim is to get out of town before Khrushchev arrives.

A measure naming the "Petals River" in California, for example, was rushed through the Senate and on to the White House. This stream formerly was known as "Petals Creek," but you know how it's been raising some places.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to remove the 10 per cent tax from non-men, the breath sweeter. This may mollycoddle drinkers and others for whom Congress has specifically refused to reduce the taxes on whiskey.

One way or another, other urgent measures also are being cleared from the calendars. The House is to adjourn by Sept. 3. Many problems remain and some members don't think they will make it.

There was unfortunate publicity earlier this year about wives, sons, daughters and other kindfolks on congressional payrolls. To help clear the decks for adjournment, the House Administration Committee has taken care of the resolutions offered to stop this. They have been filed, in case anybody ever wants to see them again.

A bill to publicize the travel expenses of judging congressmen, which total about a half million dollars a year, also has been put in shape for possible passage—some other year.

Senators meantime have acted to ease the pain of making public their payrolls, an event set for sometime in the fall. Fearing me of the homefolks might not understand how a clerk or administrative assistant could be worth $14,300 a year, they have authorized fancier titles, each senator to make up his own.

House members have geared for the recess by voting themselves an extra $600 for stationary, raising the annual allowance per member from $1,300 to $1,900. They also voted to ease restrictions on their free telephone and telegraph services.

One adjournment hurdle was cleared when the House announced to the world, for the 15th time, that it opposes admission of Red China to the United Nations. The Senate may act on this shortly.

In another move to clear the air, Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.) announced that Congress, through the House Appropriations Committee, has reaffirmed its faith in government operation of the Panama Line.

The line runs cruise ships between the Panama Canal Zone and New York. Flood said putting the line under private operators, as proposed by a firm of consultants, would be contrary to the national interest. Among other change, a private operator could start charging congressmen for their fares.

A big roadblock to early adjournment is the peanut bill passed by the House. It says for purposes of acreage allotments peanuts that are balled aren't to be counted as peanuts.

Southern sponsors thought this measure had a straight furrow ahead in the Senate. But Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N. Y.) has thrown in an amendment. It's a civil rights bill he couldn't get out of committee over strong southern opposition.

Under Senate rules amendments don't have to be germane to the bill. Senators hoping to revise the rules have postponed until Janu-

Mexico Digs Out Of Quake

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Search for bodies and survivors in the rubble of the earthquake that devastated the country last week has been hampered by the lack of food and fuel.

Unofficial reports filtering in from isolated towns and villages indicate the quake had caused more than 60 deaths. Several thousand persons were homeless and damage estimated ran into the millions of dollars.

The tremor hit Wednesday evening a seven state area stretching 500 miles from Puebla, just below Mexico City to Progresso, in the southeast.

Head of the destruction was reported in the Gulf Coast section of the Tabasco State. At Minatitlan, a water-mining town of 2,000 population in Veracruz state, reported seven known dead and half its houses destroyed. The part city of Coahuatlan also suffered considerable property damage as did Minatitlan, where a large government oil refinery is located.

To Leave Flooded Area Of Tampa

TAMPA (UPI)—National Guardsmen were ordered to evacuate from the flooded Forest Hill section today, and a Red Cross tent shelter provided evacuated persons are being taken to other areas.

Guardsmen warned the evacuation program could be hampered by heavy rains.

Water continued to rise in the area, and water still in the area is expected to rise further.

Dates For County Fair Feb. 15-20

Hernando County Fair dates will be Feb. 15-20, say officials of the Campbell-Loomis American Legion tent which sponsors the annual fair.

Agricultural, horticultural, school and Home Demonstration Club exhibits will be set up in the Legion building and its surrounding seven acres on 17th St.

Florida Big User Of U. S. Road Fund

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Road Chairman Joe Grotsgut says only five states rank higher than Florida in number of miles built with emergency federal funds voted by Congress last year.

Florida has completed 273.3 miles of roadway at a cost of $44,128,800. Some $2,470,000 of this was financed with funds made available by the federal aid highway act of April, 1958.

The only states exceeding Florida were Texas, Ohio, Virginia, Missouri and Kansas.

BATON TWIRLER Sandra Stedman, 18-year-old past head majorette at Seabreeze High and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Stedman of Ormond Beach, will perform in a special baton twirling exhibition between races at the SCCA sports car events at Daytona International Speedway Sept. 6. Miss Stedman has accepted a scholarship to the University of Miami to become a member of the famous Hurricaneettes.

Brooklyn School Move Challenged

NEW YORK (UPI)—A plan to transfer 400 Negro pupils from Brooklyn to predominantly white schools in the borough of Queens faced a new challenge today from a group of white parents.

Five mothers from the affected section filed an appeal with State Education Commissioner Dr. James E. Allen Jr. to block the transfer.

Basilio Managers To Be Spectators

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Thanks to a couple of passes, Carmen Basilio was assured today of having his co-managers on hand for Friday night's NBA middleweight title fight with Gene Fullmer.

But both pilots—John DeJohn and Joe Negro—will be present as spectators only and not empowered to work in the corner of the onion farmer from Chittanooga, N. Y.

Neither man applied to the California Athletic Commission for a manager's license after a New York grand jury was told that they had talked with the notorious Frankie Carbo while the latter was a fugitive from justice.

Thus the head man in the corner will be Angelo Dundee of Miami Beach, Fla.

Teamsters Invest $10 Million Fund, Mostly In Hotels

MIAMI (UPI)—Nearly one-seventh of the Teamsters' $75 million pension fund is invested in Florida, union spokesmen disclosed Wednesday.

Investment counselor James C. Downs Jr. estimated that more than $10 million from the fund is invested in the state, most of it in hotels in the Miami area.

Downs was elected chairman of the board of the Miami National Bank, of which the Teamsters recently acquired control.

He said the pension fund, which is invested mostly in stocks and bonds, is growing at the rate of $2 1/2 million a month.

Miami Gambling Try To Continue

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—A wealthy insurance man says he will continue his campaign to bring legalized gambling to Miami Beach despite the withdrawal of Jack Dempsey from the move.

Harry Levy said Wednesday he would start circulating petitions next month calling for a statewide referendum on the casinos.

Levy said the former heavyweight champion's decision to back out of the campaign will have no effect on the effort. "If Dempsey does not choose to go," said Levy, "we'll do just as well."

Dean Alfange, New York attorney who represented Dempsey in a similar move here last year, disclosed that "Mr. Dempsey is out of it and I am out of it."

Alfange and Dempsey presented the casino plan before the Dade County Commission last year and the commission passed the proposal on the first vote. But heavy opposition from residents and Gov. LeRoy Collins caused the commission to drop the idea.

Levy said the move is sponsored by a group of Miami Beach hotel operators.

Policeman Forced To Arrest Friendly Redheaded Beauty

NEW YORK (UPI)—Patrolman Burton Bein, 35, knew that policemen run into strange situations sometimes but he was not at all prepared for what happened Wednesday.

The rookie policeman was walking his beat when a pert red-head stalked up to him, threw her arms around him and gave him a big kiss.

Bein—who was to help celebrate his wife's birthday later in the day—initially pushed her aside and walked on.

But 22-year-old Kathy Stahlke wouldn't be put off. Apparently on a dare from her boyfriend—who was sitting in the shadows watching—she scooted around and tried again.

When Bein pushed her out of the way this time, her mood changed. Instead of having to prevent a kiss, Bein found he had to defend himself against an attack of bites, kicks and scratches.

Other police arrived to help him, and stern duty left Bein no alternative.

He arrested her for disorderly conduct and felonious assault.

State Fishermen, Californians Try Each Other's Fish

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Florida fishermen will try to catch California fish in a special contest to determine which state has the best fishing.

The Florida anglers were selected Wednesday by Secretary of State R. A. Gray from a list compiled by sportsmen's clubs. They will leave for San Diego Sept. 13 for the first round of four days of fishing off the Coronado Islands.

At the same time, California's anglers will be at Islamorada in Florida Keys trying their luck.

Florida's representatives are Robert Ryder and J. Tony De Less, both of West Palm Beach, and Lloyd L. Miller, Miami. The alternate is Mayor Roy H. Martin of Panama City Beach.

The fishing duel was set up after a California writer criticized Florida fishing. Florida immediately challenged California to prove it.

Labor Reform Compromise Predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate-House conferees were optimistic today that they could finish writing a compromise labor reform bill by nightfall.

The measure generally would follow the lines of the House legislation, rather than the milder Senate version, on the controversial issues of secondary boycotts and organizational picketing.

The seven House and seven Senate conferees were close to agreement on these key matters in their eighth day of bargaining.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), one of the negotiators, predicted the lawmakers would settle their differences by tonight and send the bill to the House and Senate for action next week. However, a hitch could develop which would delay or block agreement.

Other congressional news: Housing: The House took up a $1,950,000,000 housing bill designed to replace a more costly measure vetoed by President Eisenhower. Democratic leaders were confident they could defeat all attempts to make major changes.

Argentine Wins Channel Swim

DOVER, England (UPI)—Argentine swimmer Alfredo Camarero won the international cross-channel race today, making the grueling 22-mile swim across the choppy English Channel in 11 hours, 45 minutes and 25 seconds.

The race was marked by a classic start and finish for a time that few of the swimmers had lost his life.

The missing swimmer, Primo Ferreira of Portugal, turned up safe and sound in a French hotel. He had turned around and swim back to Calote, after his coast boat lost track of him two hours after the pre-dawn start in the race from Cap Gris Nez, France.

Sixteen of the 9 registered swimmers failed even to get started because of a low-up in coast boat arrangement and the bitter condition of the channel today made their chances hopeless.

Reports Confirm Red Rocket Power

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A report from behind the Iron Curtain says Russia's new rocket No. 8 was blasted into space by a rocket whose first stage alone developed 600,000 pounds of thrust.

This is nearly four times the power generated by the main stage of the rocket which subsequently put a much smaller U.S. instrument pack into orbit around the sun.

It is nearly twice the thrust of the Atlas, the only American intercontinental ballistic missile expected to go into military service in the near future.

The new information about the Soviet solar rocket is reported in a Czechoslovak military-aviation magazine article just distributed in translation here by the Commerce Department.

Olmedo, Mackay Doubles Team

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UPI)—Alex Olmedo and Barry Mackay, who represented the United States in singles when the Yanks recaptured tennis' coveted Davis Cup last year, were expected to receive the same assignments for the defense against Australia this week end.

There was a chance that Perry Jones, non-playing captain of the U. S. team, would drop the talented but erratic Mackay out of singles in favor of 19-year-old Earl Buchholz Jr., one of the world's most promising young players.

Worry Clinic

Jerry wants to know the exact mechanism by which tobacco reduces an athlete's "wind". If you have normal athletic curiosity, you will wish this case.

Dr. George W. Crane, M.D., Case C-489: Jerry L., aged 28, is the college swimmer mentioned yesterday.

"Dr. Crane," he added, "our coach forbids smoking. He says tobacco cuts down a man's wind. And I am sure he is right, for I used to smoke and within a week after I stopped, my wind was definitely improved."

"But would you please explain the mechanism by which smoking reduces an athlete's wind?"

WHY SMOKER "WINDS"

The first way in which smoking reduces an athlete's wind is the increase of the carbon monoxide within your blood.

This dangerous gas is usually produced whenever coal or tobacco or other inflammable items are burned.

And cigarette smoke always contains carbon monoxide. The effect of inhaling this gas is to knock millions of your red blood corpuscles out of action.

They become "inert", so they cannot pick up oxygen in your lungs and then release it in your muscles.

Smoking thus produces what we physicians call "functional" anemia.

You readers know what would happen if an athlete lost a pint of blood just before he was to run a mile. He'd be short winded, wouldn't he?

In that case, however, his red corpuscles would have leaked out of the veins.

But the very same effect can be produced if you inhale carbon monoxide till a pint of your red blood corpuscles are "inert" and thus unable to pick up oxygen.

These inert corpuscles are still in your veins, but they cannot carry oxygen, so they are functionally useless.

LIQUID STRANGULATION

A second medical reason why smoking reduces an athlete's wind is the irritating effect of hot smoke on the mucous membranes of the lungs.

There is always a thin film of moisture lining the lung membranes, through which the oxygen must pass as it crosses into the tiny blood vessels.

But smokers have a much thicker film of this moisture. So this extra layer of mucus slows down the exchange of gases between the air inside the lungs and the blood in the tiny capillaries.

Smokers thus cough a great deal more than non-smokers because of the thicker layer of gummy mucus caused by the irritation of the windpipe, bronchi and lungs.

Listen to a smoker when he first lies down at night and also when he arises next morning. It may be five minutes before he can quit his bout of coughing.

And it is this same thicker layer of sticky mucus that also slows down the exchange of oxygen across the lining of the lungs. But there is a third way in which tobacco hampers an athlete. It irritates the lining of his arteries and thus thickens them. This reduces their diameter, so they can't carry as much blood per second.

The heart then tries to offset this narrowing of the arteries by raising your blood pressure. The narrowed coronary arteries cause coronary thrombosis.

So send for my booklet "How to Break the Tobacco & Liquor Habits", enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 30c (non-profit).

You athletes can then pass it along to your dad and maybe add 5 or 10 years to his lifespan, too. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 3c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Rodriguez Upset

Victor Over Stitch

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Hawk-beaked Luis Rodriguez, unbeaten welterweight from Cuba, was ready today to take on hard-hitting Rudolph Stutch again after upsetting the Louisville sausage-stuffer in a briar split-decision Wednesday night.

Rodriguez, who went into the nationally televised bout a 2-1 underdog, baffled Stutch with a right-hand lead and crisp jab that piled up points while the unusually sluggish Stutch was missing most of his roughhouse rights.

Nursing a swollen knuckle on his right hand, injured in the fourth round, Rodriguez with trainer Ricardo Riesgo interpreting said "I can fight better than that. I was two pounds overweight."

Rodriguez, who now had 22 victories and one "no contest" on his record in 23 fights, weighed 147 to Stutch's 145.

The upset may have hurt Stutch's hopes for a title bout with welterweight king Don Jordan.

Man Hit On Head, Robbed, He Says

Dairy Queen employe, Andrew Young reported to Sanford police that he was hit over the head and robbed of $37.80 at 8th St. and Willow Ave., Tuesday night.

Young said he was checking supplies in his truck when he was struck by two young Negroes about six feet tall.

Joe Brown Fights

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown makes his first home state appearance since winning the title when he meets Santiago Ramirez of Cuba in non-title bout tonight. Brown won the 135-pound crown from Wallace (Bud) Smith in New Orleans.

Lake Mary Has Way With Projects

The Lake Mary Boy Scouts are going to sell baked goods Saturday to raise funds for their new hut which is being built in stages.

It is likely that this bake sale will be a success from the standpoint of getting the support of Lake Mary residents. These folks out there really get in behind community projects, especially those involving the youngsters.

Another recent case was the way the mothers of the Little League pitched in to assure success of their baseball game and barbecue one Saturday. They worked overtime to stimulate interest in the event and their efforts resulted in 400 people attending. And at a profit of about $300 toward the Little League operation.

To cap the whole thing off that time, some of the mothers even welded the big steel framework together for the protective screen behind the plate at the new baseball field.

That was an emergency of good proportions for a small community — the welder couldn't show up to finish the welding, so two mothers, who had done some welding during World War II, grabbed a torch and finished the job in time.

Trucks Keep Busy

The August bulletin of the Chamber of Commerce reports an interesting case in the gradually changing Seminole County economy.

Farm acreage and income have not remained the same giants they used to be in the county, as lands have been turned to other uses, but an industry allied with the farmers and which got its start here because of the concentration of crops, is flourishing, the bulletin says.

The industry is trucking, which the C of C sheet says is growing to the point where it is an "economic factor." Some truck lines have been granted licenses to haul commodities other than fruit and vegetables and are operating the year round where they used to have a seasonal business.

One firm with a Sanford terminal has 44 refrigerated trucks operating which haul only frozen foods. One of the four of its kind in Florida, its payroll has reached $287,000 a year, the bulletin reported.

Diversification has become an overworked word in a lot of cases, but it is proving helpful in Seminole County.

Comics Say Fans Sick

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Sick" comedians have been scrutinized by the comedy team of Rowan and Martin. They decided the audience is sicker than the sick.

"It's a cult that's grown up in a few big cities," Dick Martin suggested. "Most of the sick comedians depend on the same people returning night after night to hear their gags. The nightclubbers who follow them around are real addicts."

"The sick ones would never be popular on television," Dan Rowan said. "Their material is too far out."

"That's why they're popular in clubs," Dick said. "They can get away with controversial and spicy jokes with a limited audience — and use terms the average televisioner doesn't comprehend."

"They never get a laugh in real joints because the audience doesn't know what they're talking about."

"The comedy team, who appear in movies, TV and clubs, have no 'sick' routines themselves, but study the off-beat competition closely."

"Sophisticates — or pseudo sophisticates — are flattered by the sick jokes because the comedians throw around psychological terms and other words that aren't usually identified with entertainers," said Dan.

But even without censorship, mass audiences would never dig the humor. In fact, most of the country would be offended by the new group."

Assignment Washington

BY ED KOTERBA

WASHINGTON — They've put an iron curtain around Senator John Kennedy's haircuts — Capitol Hill.

Not the Senator's office, but the army of red-tape clerks who do the Capitol housekeeping. Those ladies and gentlemen said the professional details of Kennedy's haircuts are off-limits to reporters.

This amazing rule of secrecy came up when I set out to ask the Senator's barber a few professional questions about the most controversial head of hair in America today.

For some time now, critical ladies who carry weight in the voting booths across the nation have considered Kennedy's unruly hairdo a vital issue in the upcoming Presidential election.

The dark brown locks that ride the handsome young Senatorial head like a frightened tumbleweed have become an international trademark — good or bad. So, I set out to find out for the ladies, how does the man from Massachusetts accomplish this meticulous dishevelment?

The most reliable source, naturally, would be his regular barber. I stopped by Room F-33 of the Capitol, the Senatorial barber shop, to chat with Dave Highley, the soft-speaking gentleman who gives Kennedy the works every 10 days.

"I'm sorry," he said, gently. "I can't talk to you without permission from the sergeant-at-arms."

A call to the housekeeping office, and the clerk says, "That's right, nobody can give that approval except Joe Duke himself." Duke left word that he would not approve of any reporter talking to Kennedy's barber.

He suggested the Rules Committee. The Rules Committee, which has so many regulations that members have rules on how to set up rules, said, "No."

Kennedy's office interceded and beseeched Sergeant-at-Arms Duke to please let the barber talk to the reporter about their boss's haircut. Negative.

It appears that they have thrown a heavier iron curtain around Senatorial haircuts than they ever did on Senatorial payrolls.

But there was one recourse — the Senator himself. In his office, he propped his feet on his desk and grinned when I told him about the silly tales I had heard, like the time he berated a barber who deviated one-tenth of an inch in trimming his locks. Then he gave me the inside story.

"I have a lousy time trying to keep my hair trained," he said. "It's stiff and wiry and it's thick and it falls low on my forehead. I can't seem to do anything with it."

Did he mean his disorganized hair wasn't planned that way? "All I tell my barber," he said, "is 'Straight down the sides and some off the top.'"

The Senator said, ruefully, that even the hair oil that he pours over the bushy bob doesn't seem to help.

I left the Senator with his troubles and got to thinking that his wavy unruly hair made him more human. He was on common ground with unruly hair sufferers all over the country. And most of them are voters.

Be Funny, Army Orders Instructors

By LOWRY BOWMAN

ATLANTA (UPI) — Why does a second lieutenant roll with laughter when told he's a miserable round tent peg in a square hole? Because a first lieutenant told him so in a merrily mischievous manner. That's why.

The order has gone out to instructors at the Army's Infantry school at Ft. Benning, Ga.: Be funny!

This non-classified military information came to light this week in the form of a report from the public information division of the Army center at Ft. Benning. It was a six-page study of the way soldiers are made at Ft. Benning.

Let the document speak for itself:

"The students were getting restless. A few sleepy heads were nodding. Others whispered to each other.

"The instructor saw he was not getting through to the students. He deftly reached under the podium, drew out two huge cymbals and slammed them together with the enthusiasm of a high school musician. Drowsiness vanished in an instant. Students roared with laughter.

"... a sample of humor that infantry school instructors at Ft. Benning inject into their classes."

It must be quickly added that the cymbal-banging bit is an exception to the general rule. The Army points out specifically that "no longer do soldiers hear an unrelated joke before the instructor gets down to the subject. Now the joke-story must lie in with the subject matter."

An example:

In one skill that has "proved a favorite with advance and associate officers classes" a student who has been let in on the secret ahead of time — doubtless with much conspiratorial giggling — rises to ask: "What lights a tracer bullet?"

"The instructor acts startled," the Army chuckles, "and out comes a swami in full regalia including a turban and crystal ball. The swami, an assistant instructor, gives a nonsensical answer as a puff of smoke emerges from behind the crystal ball."

Washington Calling

By MARQUE CHILES

WASHINGTON — This is the time of year when vacationers begin to take a last, long, loving look at the line of the surf and the generous expanse of sun and sand. They know that all too soon the city, the old routine will catch them up again.

The vanishing American seashore, source of pleasure, strength, relaxation for millions of Americans is currently the subject of a drive in Congress. Conservationist Senators are pushing measures to save the last remnants of natural shoreline. They are opposed by a powerful lobby of industrial and speculative interests.

The argument of the conservationists is that with America's exploding population there will soon be no shorelines left that preserve the natural beauty and the sense of solitude and lonely grandeur that were part of America's heritage. Unless national parks are created of what remains it will all go into overcrowded beach developments intensively exploited for industrial uses.

The argument of the opposition is simple — the right of private developers to go where they like and do what they please. That, too, is part of the American heritage, a privilege going back as far as the privilege to seek solitude and commune with nature; the right of a Thoreau to be alone on Walden pond.

But with an ever-more crowded America the conservationists are pressing to save a small part of the past so that later generations will have a glimpse of what the earlier America was like. Because it is threatened by imminent industrial development the most urgent pressure is on to save the Indiana dunes.

The 25-mile expanse of dunesland on Lake Michigan between the industrial center of Gary and Michigan City has steadily disappeared as industry with smoking chimneys and mill towns, has spread. Today approximately three and a half miles remain, which Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois is trying to save as a national park.

He has, however, a powerful opponent in the Bethlehem Steel Corporation which has acquired much of the land for a projected $350,000,000 plant development. With it goes an industrial harbor and related housing developments. Bethlehem acquired the property from a company set up by Clint W. Murchison, one of the Texas billionaires whose speculation in land reaches into every corner of America.

Each of these regions is "autonomous," with its own local government; each is fiercely proud of local traditions, culture of language.

All are causing trouble to the Rome central government. In some cases there is active assistance from abroad.

The Communists, always eager to add to a boiling pot, are riding the "independence from Rome" tide for all it's worth.

And Austria, which gained its independence as a "neutral" state only four years ago, is by no means impartial about the Austrian minority in northern Italy.

A big chunk of northern Italy once belonged to Austria.

The Austrians still call it the "South Tyrol," the southern part of the Austrian province of the same name. The Italians call it the "Alto Adige" — the region above the Adige River.

This 2,800-square-mile area has been a constant source of Italo-Austrian friction ever since this country annexed it at the end of World War I.

After World War II, still-occupied Austria and a liberated Italy signed — under pressure from the Western allies — an accord whereby the Western was declared part of Italy but entitled to separate provisions.

Italy guaranteed the Austrian minority full equality with Italian-speaking citizens and special rights as regards schools, customs, language, and other things.

The Austrian minority, with vociferous support from the Vienna government, claims that it is being "submerged" by the Italians. Incidents, including bombings and explosions, erupted early this year. A renewal of agitation on a far wider scale is predicted by some sources for this winter.

Italy Shows Signs Of Bursting Her Republic Seams

ROME (UPI) — Italy is beginning to show some disquieting signs of coming apart at the seams as a republic.

It is something like "states rights" in the U. S. A., the North-South hangover from the American Civil War, and then some.

Italy is a unified word for a peninsula and island which have many aspects.

The sun-baked and turbulent island of Sicily — a land of passion and politics — the Austrian-speaking northern region of the Alto Adige (South Tyrol), and the mountainous French-ruled region of Valle D'Aosta are causing acute headaches.

Each of these regions is "autonomous," with its own local government; each is fiercely proud of local traditions, culture of language.

All are causing trouble to the Rome central government. In some cases there is active assistance from abroad.

Outdoor cooking has become so popular with men that a nationwide Cookout Championship this summer will determine the nation's top amateur chef. The competition for men only will be concluded later this year in Hawaii, the island paradise that soon will be our 50th state.

Here's a new idea for outdoor cooking to get a smokier flavor and juicier grilled meats. If the barbecue has a spit, hang quilted heavyweight foil over the spit so that it reaches the grill on both sides and makes a tent. Or if there's no spit, you can make an "igloo" of quilted foil with a hole

Into Blast Life Indians Within Game Of 1st Place

United Press International
The Indians, who were in a position to take the pennant, were kept out of first place by a combination of a hot and humid day and their last two victories in Calver's personal effort.

led the score in the top of the frame as Elton Howard's two-run double.
The league-leading White Sox dropped a 7-4 decision to the Red Sox and with Calver, a second day, during Wednesday's hitting rigging the ball the way he is, they could be in for trouble.
Right now, Calver leads the American League in homers and is tied with Washington's Herman Killebrew for the most runs hit in a. Each has driven in 20.
Baltimore reclaimed third place with a 6-5 triumph over Kansas City while Detroit moved into a tie for fourth by defeating Washington, 6-2.
In the National League, Pittsburgh topped San Francisco, 5-4, in 10 innings; St. Louis best Milwaukee, 5-2, and Chicago defeated Cincinnati, 9-5. Los Angeles and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Two errors by the usually smooth-fielding White Sox contributed toward their defeat at the hands of the Red Sox. Al Smith dropped Vic Wertz' fly ball during a four-run Boston rally in the seventh and the Red Sox added two more unearned runs in the eighth with the aid of Turk Lewa's error.
Boston's run by Bob Nieman, Brooks Robinson and Willie Tash carried the Orioles to their victory over the Athletics. Jerry Walker registered his ninth victory with a helping hand from Milt Pappas in the eighth. Bud Delay not only lost his ninth game but was fined $50 for hitting Nieman on the left elbow with a pitch in the fifth inning.

Jim Bunning, the American League strikethrow leader, fanned 11 Washington batters but still needed the aid of three Detroit relievers to hold down his 12th triumph. Bunning had a one-hitter until the eighth.
The Giants' loss to the Pirates was more a blow to their morale than to their NL lead. Since the second-place Dodgers were idle, the Giants' lead was only shaved to three games but what really hurt was the fact that Jack Sanford had Pittsburgh beat 4-0 on two hits until the sixth.
Larry Jackson pitched a seven-hitter against the Braves and struck out seven in winning his 11th for his Cardinals. The Cards hopped on Carlton Willey for two runs in the first inning and scored what proved to be the deciding run in the fifth on Joe Cunningham's single and Ken Boyer's double.
Tony Taylor collected four hits and Ivy Noren drove in three runs with a pair of doubles to lead the Cubs to their victory over the Reds. Frank Robinson's 32nd homer lengthened Cincinnati's lead to 5-2 in the third inning.

Sanford Loses Another To Palatka, 5-4

The Sanford Greyhounds went down in another defeat here last night by a score of 5-4. Again it was a dramatic play of the home team that resulted in the loss by Palatka.
Manager Joe Kolar pitched a fine ball game for four innings before suffering his first although he was charged with all five runs. There were two Sanford errors in the first inning, letting in the first score and there were two more routing in the four-run inning.
After the Palatka four-run inning in the fourth, Bullet Bob Pearson and BC Kiger combined to throw a shutout ball at the Reds the rest of the way. Pearson gave up only two singles and no walks but was lifted for a pinch hitter in the fifth inning.
The Greyhounds showed a little life in the bottom of the ninth when left fielder Doug Hoffman led off with a smash over the left field fence. Manager Joe Abernathy, who was two for two for the evening, singled and Leo Vento was safe on an error by the shortstop. Connie Lescano sacrificed, Abernathy to third and the next batter, Jake Jacobs, sent him home on a bust.
The Greyhounds close out the home season here Friday night as they go against the Tampa Tarpons. They will play Saturday night in Tampa to end the season. Friday night will be family night and the entire family will be admitted for $1.

Salts Appear Sure Winners Of FSL Struggle

By United Press International
St. Petersburg has all but clinched the second half pennant race in the Florida State League.
With only three days remaining in regular play, the Salts hold a comfortable two and a half game lead over second place Tampa.
St. Petersburg picked up a half game Wednesday night despite missing a doubleheader with Tampa. Tampa won the opener, 4-3, and the Salts rebounded to take the nightcap, 7-0.
Meanwhile, Daytona Beach, which had been in second place, dropped two games to Orlando, 3-6 and 2-1. Palatka defeated Sanford, 4-3.
Orlando's newly acquired Max O'Connell pitched a no-hitter to lead the Dodgers to victory in the first game, which went seven innings.
St. Petersburg's Nippy Nowakowski put on the next best pitching performance of the evening as he stopped Tampa on three hits in the 7-0 nightcap shutout.

Antonelli Has Chance To Rub It In Braves

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UPI)—This could be the season when Johnny Antonelli squares matters once and for all with Milwaukee and San Francisco.
His "beef" against the Braves goes all the way back to 1948 and, while Johnny pretends indifference, he would be less than human if he didn't get some satisfaction out of beating his favored one-time teammates out of a pennant. Such a feat also would erase a few harsh memories in San Francisco.
And the big southpaw, with 18 victories already accounted for, could accomplish both objectives with a fat 20-plus game season.
Johnny was an 18-year-old "phenom" when he was signed in 1948 right out of high school and, by contractual agreement, could not be farmed out to the minors. It ranked less-rewarded players among the Braves' veterans. He was unwelcome.
The Braves won the pennant with young Johnny sitting ignored in the bullpen. The next two years he pitched only briefly and then he went into service for two years. When he rejoined the Braves in 1953 as they shifted from Boston to Milwaukee, Johnny had a 12-12 year which was no real criterion of his ability.
"They were a rough six years," says the six-foot, two-inch left hander. "They never let me forget it. I plagued my days and haunted my nights."
Thus it was that he was "glad to be traded" when he was sent to the then New York Giants in 1954.
Johnny that next season hurried the Giants to the pennant with a record of 21 wins, going on to win one game in the Giants' sweep of the World Series against Cleveland.
But this is his first real chance to snatch the flag right away from the team which didn't want him — and he can square a couple of old issues with the pe-

JOHNNY ANTONELLI

Francisco, Johnny got off on the wrong foot as he had a feud with the West Coast sportswriters. There were unpleasant words back and forth followed by a generous apology on Johnny's part.
But civic pride was bruised and there were irritated suggestions from some quarters that he be traded. That was in late July. But now, with 18 victories under his belt, damaged local pride has been healed by civic jubilation.
