Hoover Learns That His Plan Is Being Approved By Every Major U. S. Leader

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(A.P.)—President Hoover was informed today by Governor Harrison, of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York that his proposed $500,000,000 credit corporation is expected to be incorporated within the next 24 hours.

Harrison told the President that rapid steps are being made in setting up the institution. Details of the complete proposal, he said, will be laid before every Clearing House and banking group in the country at once.

It is said at the White House that the institution would have a board of 12 directors, one from each Federal Reserve district. The directors and the man to head the group had not yet been named.

Many assurances of banking support for the half billion dollar corporation have already been forwarded to President Hoover. It is said the institution will not be sectional in any nature but national entirely. The President's plan has met the widespread approval of congressional leaders and press and banking groups.

Meantime, financial markets have strong testimony that one of the major objects of President Hoover's program of economic stabilization was already well along the road to accomplishment. That object is the restoration of confidence.

The stock market quieted down, and sagged moderately under profit-taking sales by traders who bought during Tuesday's speculation.

Hoover Says Nation Should Have Used His Loan Theories

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(A.P.)—President Hoover reached back four years today to reiterate his theory of foreign loans, the following of which he said, would have smoothed many a bump from the world's economic path.

Addressing the fourth pan-American commercial conference, the President recalled his plea that foreign loans be made only for "productive purposes," delivered before the same conference in 1927. "I repeat this today because had it been followed during these past five years our problems throughout the world would be far different and our difficulties infinitely less expanding," the President said. He believed his idea was the constitution of the lesson from this depression.

Local Airmen Return After Speedy Flight

Pilot E. J. Goeringer, head of the Sanford Flying Service, and City Commissioner Vivian A. Spear landed at the emergency lake from field shortly after dusk last night, completing a quick flight from Brunswick, Ga., where they had gone yesterday morning with Mrs. Bady Bunnell, who was called there by the death of her father, A. Zelnovitz.

Elks Urged To Attend Chicken Pilau Tonight

Sanford Elks are again reminded that they are all expected to be at Evansdale Park, Lake Mary tonight, starting at 7:00 o'clock, where, under the supervision of L. A. Tate, chairman of the committee, a chicken pilau supper with all the trimmings will be set before them.

German Fliers Said Lost In Atlantic

FARRSBORO, Nova Scotia, Oct. 8.—(A.P.)—Searchers held no hope today of finding two German ship-to-shore mail pilots alive in the mud flats of Cobequid Bay where they crashed early Tuesday. The wreckage of their plane was located by Lieut. Leigh, Canadian flier, and later bits of smashed wings, a customs manifest, and the Bremen passenger lists were found strewn off Economy Point. Leigh said he has spotted what he believed to be one of the bodies and hoped to locate it today. A tug left today to grapple for the plane in the hope of finding the fliers. ## POLITICAL DEATH FOR MANY SEEN AS INEVITABLE

Action Likely Unless Congress Moves To Help Unemployed

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 8.—(A.P.)—Political reprisal was said by speakers before the American Federation of Labor here yesterday to be inevitable unless the coming Congress takes steps to alleviate unemployment. Labor also was lauded for its "courage" in attacking prohibition.

Edward Keating, editor of Labor, the former congressman for Colorado, Representative Ralph A. Horr, congressman from Washington, Spencer Miller, secretary of the Workers' Education Bureau, and A. B. Swales, fraternal delegate from British trade unions, spoke during the brief session.

Keating, while he made no direct reference to the address of Senator James J. Davis, Pennsylvania, former secretary of labor, yesterday, repeated one of the senator's phrases with a directly opposite interpretation.

Davis had indicated he believed heavy taxation of wealth was futile and inadvisable because it would force wealth into hiding. "We would not be eating our seed corn," Keating declared, repeating Senator Davis' language. "We would simply be taxing the godless profits wrung from millions of workers. Go before Congress and urge it to remain in session until it has done what it can to relieve the existing situation."

"What can Congress do? Well, the United States employs 600,000 men and women. Is there any better place to start the five-day week?"

"Congress appropriates billions of dollars for works. Instead of placing a premium on the contractor who pays the lowest wages and works the longest hours, Congress should provide that every one who gets a government contract must put fair working conditions into effect.

"The non-pan-American program of the American Federation of Labor has not been in vain, and you will get a sympathetic ear from Congress. Demand a roll call on every measure—and if Congress betrays you, you will have the record as a weapon to bring about a political revolution in 1932."

Miller said the unemployment situation must be relieved "or social revolution will sweep Europe and there will be social unrest in America." Swales reported unemployment in the British Isles is "worse now than it ever was."

Adverse Jury Verdict Causes Man To Suicide

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—(A.P.)—A moment after a jury had returned a verdict convicting him on 16 counts of grand theft and violation of the state corporation securities act, Harry S. McCormack drew a pistol and shot himself dead in the courtroom. Last night the 69-year-old Glendale financier was convicted of having handled the affairs of two large finance and real estate companies, causing a loss of $245,000 to about 300 investors.

EXTENSION OF MORATORIUMS BEING FOUGHT

Hoover Considers Idea But Finds Opposition Arising In Congress; Laval Visit May Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(A.P.)—President Hoover is considering whether the international moratorium should be extended beyond next June, and has found powerful opposition to it in Congress. The subject will be discussed with Premier Laval of France when he comes to Washington late this month, and every authoritative indication is that Hoover will postpone any decision for several weeks.

The bankers on whom the president must depend for carrying his new credit program into operation include some of the most insistent advocates for an extension or for outright cancellation of war debts. Today the American Bankers Association, meeting at Atlantic City, carried forward a pressure felt here for weeks by adopting a resolution urging extension.

Hoover also has before him continuing evidence of the financial troubles of the European nations. The plea of Premier Macdonald of Great Britain for stability and national unity, in today's election manifesto, was read at the White House with interest, as was a state department dispatch saying that M. Laval expressed satisfaction that the debts would be discussed during his visit here.

All of these things will be taken into account before the president decides what he can do. Some of those who have talked with him think it very unlikely he will consider acting before the present moratorium is notified by Congress, after it meets in December. The president also is certain to weigh the power of the opposition. At last night's White House conference, during a full hour of debate on this subject, Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations committee served notice he would oppose any extension of war debt payments unless European armaments and on reparations collections from Germany.

Likewise, Representative Garner of Texas, the candidate of the Democrats for speaker of the new House, said he not only opposed the present debt holiday, but would redouble that opposition against any further suspension of payments.

Whatever it may indicate as to Hoover's own leanings at the moment, Undersecretary Mills of the treasury took the lead in the conference in arguing that the question of an extension be left open for future consideration. Senator Glass of Virginia, a Democrat, and Senator Hingham of Connecticut, a Republican, also were inclined to consider an extension favorably.

Even the president's own personal advisers do not seem to be in agreement. Now and then talk of outright cancellation is heard among them, although the president himself has definitely stated his opposition to such a step. He indirectly reaffirmed that opposition at last night's conference, declaring the views of the government remained as he had stated them last June in announcing the moratorium.

The opposition in Congress to another year's debt holiday rests on two schools of thought. One, typified by Senator Borah, wants to use the year debts as a lever to disarmament. The other, supported by Representative Garner, argues that with so many Americans in need, relief should begin at home.

Bruening Makes Ready To Rule Germany As Dictator As He Fires Entire Cabinet

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—(A.P.)—Chancellor Heinrich Bruening got rid of his entire cabinet yesterday and immediately intimated the formation of a new government that will rule Germany under a virtual dictatorship. The resignations of the cabinet were submitted by Bruening to President Paul von Hindenburg. Bruening straightaway was commissioned to form a cabinet whose members will be able to withstand nationalist and international socialist attacks while the Hindenburg convenes next Tuesday.

With the ministerial difficulties a long series of new emergency decrees signed by the president, which gave the government far-reaching powers in dealing with the nation's financial and economic burden, and in curtailing attempts of the opposition to make Germany Fascist or communist. These decrees were interpreted by some observers as sufficient to enable the government to abrogate such fundamental as the inviolability of the property of the home and the mails. They reach far into the lives of private business, and to the extent of touching the

WITNESSES AT ESTRIDGE IN JAIL, CAPONE TRIAL AFTER SERIOUS EVADE QUIZZES AUTO ACCIDENT

State Fails To Prove Raulerson Critically Injured While Walking Along Highway

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(A.P.)—The wide open gambling halls of Cicero during the days when Capone ruled the village his urban stronghold were disrupted at length in the seat-faced gang leader's trial in Federal Court, charges of income tax evasion. But when the day's court session was finished, not one witness was definitely in reply to the persistent questions from the prosecution that Capone owned or concealed profits from the gambling houses.

Even the government's "star witness" for the day, Leslie Shumway, an employee of who was known as "Capone joints" Cicero, could not say definitely, testified, that any of the profits from the whirling roulette wheel, the rattling dice games and the horse racing bets found their way into Capone's pocket.

Showway worked as lookkeeper in "five or six Cicero joints" in which Frankie Pope, a well known Chicago gangster said by police in charge of gambling for Cornelius (Continued on page four)

OH YEAH?

By PETER SCHAAL

Not since you back in 1914 when this writer heard his first World Series returns in the old Imperial Theater, now the Baskin Building, where, perched on a long ladder, J. L. Huet did the announcing, before a big crowd of fans who saw the Braves take four straight from Connie Mack's Athletics, has a World Series provided me as much pleasure as this present one.

We started out pulling for the Macks, figuring that Murderer's Row would easily dispose of Wild Bill Hallahan, Burleigh Grimes, and Paul Herringer. We felt sure that all of Mack's athletes would make a supreme effort to give the Old Master his third World Series victory in a row for a new world's record. We looked at batting, fielding, and picking averages from all angles, and naturally decided that the Macks were the boys this year.

After seeing Lefty Grove pound out an submission, Murderer's Row stopped cold; this crazy Pepper Martin out-hitting Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Christy Mathewson, and Honus Wagner in their palmist days to become the one man World's Series, and old Burleigh Grimes chucking a two-hit game right on top of Hallahan's three-hit performance, our prediction for a quick Mack victory paled plenty. There appeared to be no hope whatever. Those Cards certainly deserved every bit of credit showered upon them, for there was no reason to think that they were playing over their heads.

After yesterday's great game in which Earnshaw pitched an even better game than did Grimes, allowing only two hits, to shut out the Cards 2 to 0, our confidence in the Macks' power and strength has returned as if by magic. From now on it's going to be Mack all the way even if the experts say his pitchers are gone, and that Earnshaw is his only hope. Murderer's Row—pardon our repeating that so much—has found its batting eye, and, by the time you read this, may have wiped Wild Bill Hallahan from the mound by scoring a decisive victory.

We claim that the Cards are a great ball club, with fine pitchers, spectacular fielders, and a one-man batting attack in Martin, but the Athletics are just a little better. The difference lies in their managers. Connie Mack is the ideal manager; Gabby Street the average manager; Connie Mack is the leader; Gabby Street is the slave-driver; Connie Mack is the master of strategy; Gabby Street is the hit and miss psychologist.

Football fans in this neighborhood don't need to worry about what they can do over the week end. There are games galore, starting Friday afternoon with Sanford's tough scrap here with the Ocala Wildcats. Friday night, Yans have their choice of going to Deland to see Leesburg mop up on Deland, or to Orlando to see Coach Harry Greene's Orlando Tigers try to stop Coach Rainey Sawthon's Robert E. Lee gridders at Jacksonville. Both games start at 8:00 o'clock under the floodlights. Saturday afternoon practically every fan who can raise $5.00, and a ride to Gainesville, will of course, see the Gators' battle with the Tarheels in what will be the best game the Gators will play this year. Saturday night, Jack McDowell's Rollins Tars will open their season against Alabama State Teachers' College at Orlando, Tinker Field, in a night game starting at 8:00 o'clock. If that isn't enough football, you fans can travel to Lakeland Tuesday night to see Coach Goof Sawyer's Southern College eleven meet Bowden College, Georgia, in a stiff night game.

JINX LANDS IN CAMP OF LOCAL GRID PLAYERS

McLucas Loses Sharon, Hill, Odham Just As Hard Games Arrive

By PETER SCHAAL

Some sort of a jinx has hit Coach Leonard McLucas' Seminole High football camp. Faced with meeting the strongest team of the year here Friday afternoon, none other than the Ocala Wildcats, he finds that each day brings him more bad news. Monday morning he learned that Odham, one of his most promising halfbacks would be out for two weeks because of a split muscle in his left leg. That was a serious blow, for Odham was one of the main cogs in the pony back field.

Yesterday afternoon, destruction fell harder than ever, however. "Judge" Sharon, youngster who was about to land a berth on the first string eleven as a tackle, reported at the field with his nose in bandages, declaring that he had been injured by a blow to the head two weeks. It seems that Sharon received a blow on his nose several days ago while practicing, and that the injury has become infected.

On top of that bad news, Coach McLucas learned that a strong, willing, and very potential back field star named Hill, a newcomer from Georgia, has been discharged. Powerfully built, Hill headed for a first string berth with ease, for he was picking up football sense hand on a glove. Hill has not stopped practicing though, because there is a large possibility that he may get in one of the last games on the schedule. He will be used next year to great advantage, and if he continues to attend practice sessions, he will have every opportunity to learn.

Coach McLucas did not let the loss of three men at one time stop him. Yesterday afternoon he had his second and third teams using Ocala plays against the first out, and he could be surprised how these youngsters fended the first team.

As has been the case during the past 10 days, a tiny speed demon named Brown, running at halfback, has proven the sensation of scrimmage. Brown runs like a deer when he gets that ball, and he evades tackles and blockers with an ease which has certainly brought favorable comment from the 25 or more fans who gather daily to watch workouts. It is hardly possible that there is a faster man on the field than young Brown, and surely there are few as fearless, for he tackles and blocks big fellows like Ernie Ware, Usher Kanner, and Levi Bramon like a demon.

While the first team did as good as could be expected against the tricky plays, Coach McLucas was thoroughly displeased over the work of some of the linemen. He indicated that unless his big guards and tackles showed more stuff that he might start and finish Friday with the tiny but scrappy members of his team, including Varner, Biggers, Coleman, Dighton, and Smith. Speaking of Smith, there's another boy who, like Brown, is tiny, but has more courage and value as a tackle and blocker than some of the larger boys. Smith made a

DRY CLEANERS IN WIN OVER GUARD TEAM LAST NIGHT

Veteran Players Get 18-11 Verdict Over Crew Of Youngsters

By E. H. CULLUM

Company D of the National Guards went down to a crushing defeat last night when they met the Seminole Dry Cleaners Diamond Ball team in the first game of the fall season, the score at the end of the game being Dry Cleaners 18, Company D 11.

Two southpaws, Johnny Hodge for the Cleaners and W. Kinlaw for Company D opposed each other at the start of the game. Both Hodge and Kinlaw were very wild. Johnny, after striking out the first man up to face him walked three in a row. However, Johnny struck out Locke for the second out; Lloyd singled scoring Sexton and Moye was out at the plate in an attempt to also score on the hit. Company D boys managed to squeeze over one more run in the second; they got one more in the fifth, three in the sixth. Homer Tills relieved Hodge in the box in the seventh inning. The Company D team scored four hits and a walk, good for five runs off his delivery to bring their total to 11 for the night.

The Dry Cleaners put the game on ice right from the start, securing two runs in the first and six each in the second and third. Jesse Cook, another southpaw went into the box for Company D in the fourth and managed to hold the heavy hitting Dry Cleaners to four runs for the balance of the game.

In view of the fact that with one or two exceptions this is the first game of diamond ball the Company D boys have ever played under light, they put up a good fight against a team made up of players that have been playing ball all season. Company D has some very promising material on their team and when they get to clicking together they are going to be a

If the autumn morning is crisp and clear, serve Shredded Wheat Hot. It's simple enough. Just pour hot milk over the biscuits instead of cold. You can't serve a better way. It doesn't cool while you're serving it—hot milk holds its warmth.

If the day promises the warmth of Indian Summer, serve Shredded Wheat with cool milk. Just heat the biscuits to retain their crispness, and add bananas or other fruit, if you like, then serve with milk or cream.

Which ever way you serve Shredded Wheat, the result is the same. A delicious, healthful breakfast, easily served and warmly appreciated by every member of the family.

WITNESSES AT CAPONE TRIAL EVASIVE QUIZZES

Shumway even took the profits from the Hubway, a notorious gambling house, to a safe in a nearby building, he testified, but he professed not to know who got the money from the safe.

"Once Al Capone asked me what I would do if I were held up while taking the money from the Hubway to the safe," Shumway related. I told him I'd let them have the money, and he said, 'That's right!'"

Whether Capone owned the Cicero gambling places, they were profitable for somebody, the government alleged—and Prosecutor David L. Grossman produced accounts to prove it. The evidence introduced in the form of a summary of several large blue ledger books which Shumway used for his accounts, showed that the Hawthorne Smoke Shop, one of the gambling houses in question, made a net profit of $300,250 during the months from May to December, 1924; $117,011 in 1925 and $170,011 in 1926.

The other government witnesses introduced yesterday, the second day of the trial, were the Rev. Henry C. Hoover, of Irving, Ill., Chester Bragg, a life insurance salesman of Berwyn, Ill.; David Morgan of Warm Springs, Ill.; members of the West Suburban Ministers and Citizens' Association which raided the Hubway.

They entered the gambling house, said Bragg, about noon on a Saturday in May 1925. A second floor of the place was equipped, Bragg said, with what appeared to be roulette wheels, chuck-a-luck games, and other devices for gambling.

Bragg was assigned to guard the door during the raid, he said, and Capone came on the run from somewhere nearby and began pushing on the door to get in.

"I asked him, 'What do you think this is, a party?' and he replied, 'I'm the owner of this place,'" Bragg testified.

Capone followed the raiders to the gaming rooms, Bragg said, and from there on the story was taken up by the Rev. Mr. Hoover.

Capone came into the gaming room, the minister said and demanded of him:

"What are you always picking on me for? Can't I run a place in Cicero? You pulled the last raid that you're going to pull on me!"

Capone was informally dressed in a pajama jacket, trousers and bedroom slippers, when he appeared during the raid, Bragg said, but that did not prevent him from making arrangements to guard the money in the treasury and more out some of the gaming devices. Shumway related that the gambling was resumed the same afternoon in an building a couple of doors down the street.

Both Bragg and Morgan testified that soon after the raid, they were beaten severely. "A thousand men jumped on me," Morgan recounted, "pushed my nose over to my left ear and beat me until I thought I'd die."

Doolittle Plans Risky 'Dawn-to-Dusk' Flight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(A.P.)—Maj. James Doolittle, speed pilot, last night announced plans for a "dawn to dusk" flight Monday connecting the capitals of Canada, the United States and Mexico.

Set for Columbus Day to commemorate the discovery of America, the flight will start at Ottawa, include fuel stops at Washington, Birmingham, and Corpus Christi, and end in Mexico City.

Doolittle will use the same little racing biplane with which he set a West-to-East transcontinental record September 1 of 11 hours and 15 minutes.

"Weather permitting," he said, "I will take off from Ottawa at the crack of dawn, and I hope to reach Mexico City in less than 12 hours."

He estimated that the flight would cover 2,500 miles, slightly farther than his 2,154 miles transcontinental flight.

"It will be more difficult to equal the trans-Atlantic mark, however," he said, "because the itinerary connecting the three capitals lies in a southwesterly direction and there will be greater chance of having to tack head winds."

Doolittle arrived in Washington yesterday morning by plane and spent the day conferring with State and Commerce Department and customs officials for clearance over the borders.

"The success or failure of the flight," he explained, "depends as much on the ground arrangements as on the actual flying. I expect to spend from 5 to 10 minutes at each stop. No more."

He expects to fly to St. Louis in the morning and on Saturday to pick up his fleet racer in Chicago and fly it to Ottawa. If weather does not permit making the flight Monday, he said he would make the attempt on the first succeeding day offering good conditions.

PLANES AT KEY WEST
KEY WEST, Oct. 5.—(A.P.)—Four Navy seaplanes arrived here yesterday en route to Panama from Norfolk, Va. The planes, the sixth and final flight of a squadron of 20 planes to be transferred to Panama, will leave here Friday, refueling at the U. S. S. Swan at Trujillo, Honduras.

2 Rum-Runners Found Tortured To Death

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(A.P.)—The bodies of two rum-running gangsters, slain not in gangland's modern machine gun manner but by brutal torture, were found tucked up in burlap bags yesterday.

They were found by a laundryman in a parked automobile in the Bay Ridge section of Brooklyn.

The bodies were identified as those of William Price and Edward Flanagan, Brooklyn racketeers who, police said, were engaged in rum-running in Long Island Sound.

Price was said by authorities to have been a lieutenant of "Van-der-Hugens, hoodlum chieftain and alleged beer runner. Flanagan also was reported to have been one of Higgins' hangers-on. Both men had been stabbed

Gandhi Admits Failure In Settling Problems

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(A.P.)—Mahatma Gandhi announced today at a meeting of the Indian national committee, presided over by Prime Minister MacDonnell that he had failed completely to settle the Hindu-Muslim communal problem. He qualified his statement however, by saying that this doesn't mean he has abandoned hope of ever arriving at a solution of the issue.

"I propose to use the present failure as a stepping stone to success," he said and added that the work of trying to solve the communal problem must continue and failure thus far must not be permitted to block other work.

The foundation conference suggested the appointment of judicial tribunals at the end of the conference to examine claims of various Indian committees.
