

Nixon's 'Journey For Peace' To Peking Viewed

Digestion of the very strong shot that came to the body politic — global and domestic — when President Nixon announced he had accepted the invitation of Premier Chou En-lai of the Peoples Republic of China to visit Peking before May, 1972 is not going to be quick, easy or entirely comfortable. Instant reactions followed expected lines. For this was a dose to change the balance of power. Indeed, it opened the way for a re-alignment and a new search for global understanding that shook and shocked Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa, sent Moscow into a deep analysis of what this meant to American-Soviet mutual undertakings.

Those few words spoken by the President of the United States on July 15th with the Premier of mainland China doing the same thing at the same time signalled the end of a quarter of century of open hostility and hate.

Thus men of good will everywhere hailed it for what it could mean even more than for what it obviously meant. For this invitation was not a product of an exceptionally carefully concealed trip by an American presidential advisor to Peking with the invitation as a goal.

President Nixon, enjoying to the utmost his role as precedent-making and precedent-breaking American statesman, had appraised the situation which kept nearly a billion Chinese out of global affairs as not only intolerable and dangerous but as possible of solution.

Thus, now about a week after the event, it is even more important for everyone everywhere — and nowhere more important than in the American political scene — to pay heed to the Nixon admonition to be realistic in the expectations which this historic move arouses.

Any student of history, and the Republican president is such a one, cannot fail to realize that the record of American presidents who went abroad and tried to play the foreign policy game in the opponent's arena is very sad indeed.

Wilson, FDR, Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy all have tried the experiment. None have been truly successful. Each has found that the adventure would have been better not attempted.

Now, little by little and slower and slower, the repercussions abroad are raising red flags of warning. Here at home, the overall gain for the president is so obvious that only the brash of critics are speaking out.

Politically the trip to Peking is loaded with booby-traps. Picture the vast array of what the transfer of the White House in Washington to the other White Houses in the United States means. Imagine, if you can, what this impact would be on the world of mainland China which has been behind the Bamboo Curtain for 20 years.

High hopes are already being raised by such segments of the American economy as the wheat farmers of the Midwest where the possibility of sharing in the sale of wheat to Communist China would provide a market which is greatly needed for economic stability.

Thus the Nixon trip has stimulated the political and economic hopes of many. It has also, which must be borne in mind, changed the aspect of the Indochina war. Communist China, a principal supplier of arms to the Hanoi regime, is a power which even the representatives of the Communists in Paris must respect.

Perhaps the one major and immediate result of the new American policy of talking with the Peking government is on Formosa. For there is the witness to the decision of the United States government to oppose the communist take-over of China, which has been given official support by the United States government.

Even greater depth than otherwise, is thus given the decision of Richard M. Nixon, ardent foe of the Communists who built his political record on such an attitude, to turn the American Chinese policy around. We believe that nothing less than the greatest commitment to the cause of peace could have brought about this transformation of Dick Nixon. We believe that now is the time for all — here and abroad — to respect this interpretation and do nothing to halt or hamper this "journey for peace."

Warning Flags

Wars and rumors of war grab the headlines. But real threats — if not so great, then at least to our national well-being — often are hidden behind dull, innocent-sounding statistics.

Recent figures on productivity, as released by the Department of Labor, show that our growth index has dropped well below that of competing nations since 1965. In that period Japan's productivity increased 13 per cent and that of The Netherlands 10 per cent. The increase for France, Germany, and Sweden was approximately 6 per cent.

Wage increases that exceed increases in worker productivity help to spur inflation. Such inflationary wage settlements have come with increasing frequency the last two or three years. More disturbing, some of those settlements provide for automatic increases next year, and beyond. "It won't take long," warns Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson, "for the rest of the world to catch up, and we'll find ourselves increasingly unable to compete for our share of the world's market."

The ability to compete in the world market, for an exporting nation like the United States, is a life and death matter. Loss of markets means loss of jobs. The world's highest wage scale is more than a bit meaningless when there is no job to go with it. Productivity must be considered more realistically in wage settlements over the next few years. Warning flags already are flapping in the inflationary breeze. —Oklahoma City (Okla.) Daily Oklahoman

President's Power Of Surprise

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Nixon's announced decision to visit Red China before next May illustrates perfectly a president's capacity to change the content of the news, and incidentally, throw his adversaries off guard.

Says one Nixon-watcher: "If I were Muskie (leading 1972-Democratic contender), I'd keep my mouth shut for a while."

What Nixon has done, of course, is to use to the fullest the president's power to surprise. And at least one of his associates thinks he may do it several times more by election time next year. Says this man: "He might very well decide to go to Moscow around July, 1972, the month of the Democratic national convention. I think he'll have something of significance, too, on the SALT talks (arms limitation). I'm sure there will be other things."

This source thought a moment, then added, laughing: "Don't forget, he can go to the moon."

There is no quick assumption here, however, that Nixon's power to command events will

Global View:

Peking Trip Raises High Hopes

By RAY McHUGH
Chief, Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — President Nixon has touched a responsive chord with an Asia-weary, war-weary middle America.

His dramatic announcement of Henry Kissinger's conference in Peking with Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai and the prospect of a Nixon visit to Peking within the next nine months is the biggest political bombshell — or interationally — of his presidency.

If it is fraught with danger, it also raises hopes. In the end, exaggerated hopes could be the President's biggest problem.

The Democratic Party, particularly its liberal left wing, has obviously been stunned by the announcement. It was no secret in Washington that backers of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., hoped he would win the China invitation and thus vault into a leading role in the 1972 presidential picture. Now President Nixon has claimed a major coup.

The conservative wing of the Republican Party has reacted more in anger than surprise.

"In view of the irrational attitudes of the present government in Peking; in view of their international banditry, their exportation of the most dogmatic, virulent and bellicose brand of communism; in view of our long alliance with Nationalist China, I am disturbed by the President's announcement," said Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

Rep. John Schmitt, R-Calif., an ultraconservative whose district includes the western White House at San Clemente, said he was so angry that he canceled plans to take a cruise on the presidential yacht Sequoia.

"And I won't accept any more invitations from the White House," he added.

Peace Can't Wait For May

By DON OAKLEY

The stated purpose of President Nixon's scheduled visit to Red China sometime before next May (next to seeking "a normalization of relations between the two countries") is "to exchange views on questions of concern to the two sides."

Perhaps the true question of concern to the two sides, certainly the one that has been the subject of most speculation, is Vietnam and the possibility that the President's China visit will be the prelude to an international peace conference designed to arrive at more or less permanent political stability in all of Southeast Asia.

But peace in Vietnam — if by peace is meant the end of the two sides, though one much less common in the situation in West Pakistan, where the East Pakistani army continues its brutal suppression.

Red China's support of East Pakistan, juxtaposed against Russia's support of India and U.S. attempts to keep the favor of both, makes this area of the world even more dangerous than Indochina.

But long before next spring, East Pakistan will either have stamped its will on rebellious West Pakistan or it will be apparent that it faces a protracted guerrilla war, one that could be ignited into general war at any time by the tinder of six million Bengali refugees inside India's borders.

County Will Consider Revising Sign Law

By MARION BETHEA
The county planning and zoning board has denied a request for a recommendation approving a revision of Section 27 of the sign regulations of Seminole County.

Attorney William Hutchison was present to speak for the area sign companies, which oppose the new ordinance. Hutchison said that people who own businesses are in opposition due to the fact that their location signs would be jeopardized and, further, that customers would not know where the businesses are without directional signs.

Gene Duffy, a member of the Florida Sign Association, addressed the board, stating that electrical sign manufacturers have had no consideration in the ordinance. Duffy noted that elevated signage will not perform the job and suggested that a select few of the board meet in workshop session with members of the association to discuss the problem.

Another member of the association, Andrew Anderson, told the board that many persons depend upon signs to advertise their business. Further, he said, a survey was taken of I-4 and over 60 per cent of the signs advertise products which are sold in Seminole County.

With regard to spacing of signs of 300 feet to 2,000 feet, Anderson felt this to be unreasonable in going from one extreme to another. He said that 25 feet on limited access is unnecessary and that 2,000 feet spacing of signs does not mean that one will see a sign every 2,000 feet. Anderson continued that some people do not want to lease their property and some property is swampy and in bay heads in which poles cannot be placed. Anderson said that he believes non-conforming signs are unnecessary.

Richard Hankins moved for the denial, and suggested that a workshop session be initiated with the board and members of the sign association.

Office Will Not Be Moved

By BILL SCOTT
Budget cuts made in the Seminole County Port Authority (SCOPA) projected funding for the county commission high-lighted Monday night's regular session.

Jim Ryan, Sanford Port administrator, said it was the authority's unanimous opinion that something must be done to restore some of the cuts made by the commission.

Approximately $135,000 budgeted to the port's operation from ad valorem taxes was sliced to $46,966 by the commission's action.

Ryan indicated the authority's office in the Paulsich building would not be shifted to the Port of Sanford site, located adjacent to I-4 near the Volusia County line.

The administrator said it was the apparent consensus of authority members that the office would stay where it is unless enough funds are provided by the commission to pay for building an office at the site.

He said there was only $3,600 in the budget now for constructing a building.

"The county commission also did not provide funds for enabling the port to become the county's industrial development authority, even though legislation was passed at Tallahassee and became effective June 13.

Authority member Henry Schumacher threatened to resign his position several times during Monday night's session and leave it up to the county commission to operate the port due to the lack of sufficient funds.

Port Authority requested a total $29,763, but commissioners axed $76,743 from the amount and approved $19,937 less this year than last for the port's operation.

Budget this year is $166,999 with $46,966 being funded from the 17 mill tax levy.

Ruth Nathan Honored At Party

By BOB THOMAS
I am sabbing for my wife, Ruth, who with our son, David, is vacationing in East Lansing, Mich.

Mrs. Ruthie Nathan was feted with a surprise birthday party at a lovely home located at 2705 Truman Boulevard.

The house was beautifully decorated with party accessories, white ginger and orchids. The table was brilliantly attired with a white lace table cloth. The centerpiece was graced by a lovely cake complemented with yellow and green roses.

Attending the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Nellie Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Adam L. Hayes, Mrs. Roberta Roberts, Mrs. Vera Sherman, Mrs. Jeanne Healy, Mr. and Mrs. Derry McGill Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Larry Nathan, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Curry, Mrs. Lillie R. Hall and Miss Katie Robinson.

The party was given by Ralph Yarborough, and serving as hostesses were Mrs. Nat Bentley and Mrs. Mall Addison. The menu consisted of fried chicken, baked ham, potato salad, green salad and dip, hot rolls, peanuts, candy and crackers.

Mrs. Nathan received several gifts from friends.

Mrs. Anna Thomas will vacation with her son, Lewis A. Jones, and his family for two weeks. The Joneses reside in Willingborough, N.J.

Mrs. Ruby Hurston has returned home following a two-week vacation with her daughters, Mrs. Linda Hogan, and Mrs. Gloria Van Horn, of Rochester, N. Y.

Jester Thomas is visiting his mother, Mrs. Lessie Thomas, and brother, Bob Thomas. His wife, Louise, has been here with Mrs. Thomas for two months. Jester is a resident of Newark, N.J.

Mrs. Mary Gibson journeyed to New York to attend the graduation exercises of her son, Robert, who received his master's degree in social work from Columbia University. Gibson is presently employed with the New York City department of social services. He accompanied his mother on the flight back for a brief stay.

Mrs. Robert B. Thomas Jr. and son, Barry, are visiting with Dr. and Mrs. Matthias

Evans, of East Lansing, Mich.

Maj. Charles Gibson won the Distinguished Flying Cross for participating in aerial flight December 3, 1970 as an ER-66 aircraft commander.

The citation to accompany the award read in part: "... flying in an unarmed electronic countermeasures aircraft, he provided vital support for extremely important heavy bomber strike mission. Although under heavy attack from anti-aircraft artillery, he maintained his aircraft in its assigned orbit to lead maximum support to the bomber aircraft until they had safely crossed the target area. We extend sincere congratulations to Major Gibson and his proud parents."

Sails Through Space

Astronaut Is Bothered

By PAUL REGER
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — It bothers Alfred M. Worden that while he's in a "cushy job" training to go to the moon, his friends and former classmates are getting shot at and killed in Vietnam.

Worden, 29-year-old trained fighter pilot, who has never seen combat, says the contrast between his job and the Vietnam fighting "leaves you with a bad feeling."

"I don't like the idea of my roommate from college being sent over there to fight a war while I'm here in a cushy job," says the West Point graduate.

Worden, an Air Force major, says if he hadn't been selected for the space program "I would be volunteering for Vietnam."

Worden, a balding, fast-talking native of Jackson, Mich., was graduated from West Point in 1955. He got his commission in the Air Force and became a skilled fighter pilot. After four years, however, he found he was more interested in science than as a weapons of war.

He went back to school in 1961, earned a master's of science degree and then spent more than two years learning to be a test pilot and training other pilots. He was good enough to be selected in 1966, for astronaut training.

Worden's first trip into space, as command module pilot on Apollo 13, is scheduled to begin with launch from Cape Kennedy on Monday. It will be flown in the long shadow cast by the deaths in Russia of three cosmonauts. The fatalities emphasize the danger of space flight.

"We're not fighting a war," says Worden of himself and his fellow spacemen, "but damn if our risks aren't as great as the ones combat pilots take."

Air Conditioning For County Jail Studied

By LARRY NEELY
Commissioner Sidney Vihlen Jr., said he, too, would rather spend the money on the productive citizens of the county but added he is familiar with the problems being experienced by the jailers. Commissioner John Kirkbride said the Commission's decision will have to be the practical division.

The commission tentatively included $482 in the sheriff's budget for the next fiscal year, which begins Oct. 1, to be used to purchase fans for each of the seven cell blocks which are not air conditioned. Polk said the hottest part of the year is now and something should be done.

Polk said treatment of the prisoners should be humane as they are "human beings." He said this is particularly the case with those who are being held prior to trial and are presumed to be innocent until proved guilty.

Architects To Draft Plans Detention Facility Gets 'Go Ahead'

By LARRY NEELY
The architectural firm of Environmental Design Group (formerly Schweizer and Associates) was directed by the Seminole County Commission Tuesday to proceed with the design of the juvenile detention facility. The decision was made after it was determined by the Commission that to wait for federal funds would cause an unnecessary delay in both the design and construction of the facility.

Commissioner Al Davis, in charge of the project, reported to the Commission the advisory report prepared by the Law Enforcement Assistance Agency (LEAA) reflected the LEAA would not recommend live-in counselors as had been originally planned by the Commission. According to Davis, the report recommends a capacity of 16 to 20 with the capability to expand in the future of a capacity of 35 inmates. The report stated the initial capacity will fulfill Seminole County's needs for at least 15 years, even with the impact of Walt Disney World.

Commission Chairman Greg Drummond questioned the architects as to what requirements the federal government would put on any federal funds. He said he objected to the "welfare glove with money in one hand and the other hand with the federal claw detaching how the facility is to be operated."

Representatives of the architectural firm were present at the meeting to inform the board of the procedures necessary to apply for and get federal money to develop the program and design of the facility. Last year the voters approved $260,000 for construction costs of the facility in the form of a bond issue.

Sanford Continentals Play Tonight Local Teams Advance In District Tournament

By GARY TAYLOR
Herald Sports Editor

Two of Sanford's three entries in the Florida Little League District Four Tournament made a strong showing last night, while the third swings into action tonight at 8 p.m. at Ft. Mellon Park. The Sanford Americans blasted Ocala WOW 11-4 and the Sanford Nationals dropped Ocala Fisher Park 7-3 in play last night. The Sanford Continental League all-stars meet Tavares tonight. The Leesburg Nationals meet St. Cloud in a 6 p.m. tilt at Ft. Mellon. The Leesburg Americans and the Kissimmee Americans meet at 7:30 p.m. at Westside Field.

strong backing for pitcher Donnie Williams. Williams fished a strong four-hitter while fanning 11. Two of the hits were home runs.

With two outs in the first, Dave Falcone, the Ocala pitcher, singled to left. The next batter walked and Falcone stole third. He attempted to steal home and Williams' throw went past catcher John Litton.

Joe Smith led off the bottom of the initial frame with a single for the Sanford Americans. Joe Ervin then blasted a home drive over the right field fence to put the local squad ahead 2-1. With one out, Ken Lee and Dennis Morris smashed back-to-back singles. Lee scored on an error and Morris crossed the plate on a passed ball.

The Sanford Americans sent 10 men to the plate in the third inning as they scored six more runs and went ahead 10-1. Williams led off as he reached on an error. Lee singled and Williams scored on an error by the center fielder, Morris then singled Lee home. The next two men were out, but John Litton walked and John Yellock singled to load the bases. Smith then hit the ball to the second baseman, who booted it. Yellock was run to score. Yellock scored on a passed ball before Ervin doubled Smith home.

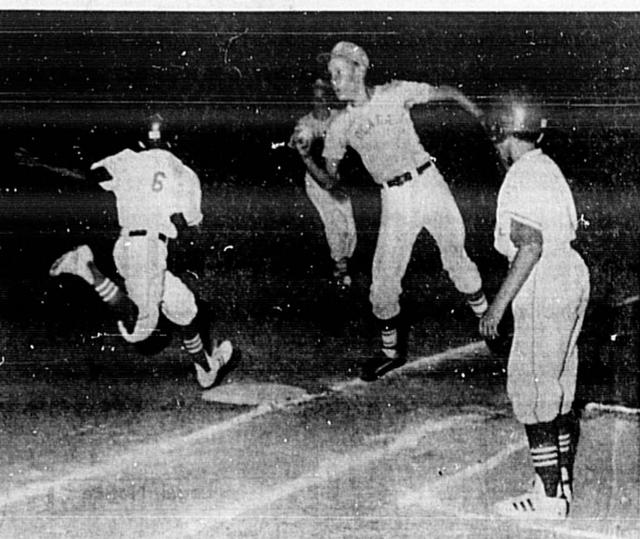

Falcone, who went three for three for the losers, led off with a homer in the fourth, making the score 10-2. With one out in the sixth, Ronnie Callahan reached on an error by the against the Sanford Nationals. He stole second, and with one out, Marty Leavenwood reached on an error by the pitcher. Ocala hurler Gary Martin then singled home McDonnell with the first run of the game.

With one out in the bottom of the first, Cleveland Kiner singled up the middle and went to second on a passed ball. Joe Baker singled and then both runners scored on a ground rule double by Jeff Anderson. Anderson scored on a double by Terry Smith. Smith went to third on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch. That gave Sanford the lead 4-1.

Pinch hitter Butch Smith led off the fifth with a walk for the visitors. Then Chris Neisler, also a pinch hitter, singled. Smith scored on an error. Neisler scored on a single by McDonnell.

Ken Brown went in the second as Bobby Raps reached on an error to lead off the frame and scored on an in-

DONALD MCCOY races to first base, but was late as first baseman Glenn Martin has already stepped on the bag to force the runner. The Sanford Continental League all-stars see action tonight.

In Action At Westside Field Groveland, Clermont Victorious

Groveland bombed Ocala City 13-1 and Clermont stomped the Ocala Americans 10-1 in Florida Little League Major League District Four Tournament action at Westside Field last night.

In play tonight, St. Cloud meets the Leesburg Nationals at 6 p.m. and the Sanford Continental League stars host Tavares at 8 p.m. at Ft. Mellon Park. The Kissimmee Americans meet the Leesburg Americans at 7:30 p.m. at Westside Field.

Groveland opened up with three runs in the first inning. Jimmy Rogers and Clarence Ewe walked and pitcher Dennis Jenkins unloaded a three-run shot. With two outs, Ocala Citrus hurler Richard Symm pitching in relief, fanned James McCoy with the bases loaded after three straight walks.

Rogers again walked to lead off the second and went on to second on a double by Danny Eiland. A walk, an error and a double by McCoy led to three more runs for Groveland in the third.

McCoy drove in three more runs in the fourth as Greg Allen led off with a long home run. Frank Anderson also had a hit in the frame.

Gary Turner led off the fifth with a single for Groveland. Chet Leininger was hit by a pitch and McCoy reached on an error. Rogers was safe on a fielder's choice as the first run of the inning scored on an error, leaving the bases full. Dennis Galassi then stepped in and blasted a grand slam home run. An error led to another run before the inning was over as Groveland posted the 13-1 victory.

Jenkins had two hits for the winners, including the three-run blast in the opening frame. Galassi, Eiland, Willie Webb and McCoy had one hit each. Jenkins went the distance on the mound for Groveland, fanning 11 Ocala batters, while allowing four hits. Larry Swick and Chet Leininger accounted for two of the hits. Berryhill had the lone run by the Ocala Americans, coming in the third inning.

With Double-Header Sweep Gordon's Wins Second Half

Gordon's Drugs had to hang on for a pair of one-run victories last night as they captured the second half championship in the women's softball league in a three-way playoff. Gordon's topped Motor Parts 8-7 in the opening contest, and then came back with a 7-6 win over first half champion Ralph Pillow Motors in the nightcap.

Motor Parts jumped to an early 4-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning of the opening contest. The run came on a pair of singles by Linda Bernal and Judy Clark, a costly error on the part of the second baseman, Stephanie Treadway.

Gordon's came to life in the top of the second frame as they scored five runs and took over the lead. Beth Shoemaker reached on an error by Lavanna Stone, the Motor Parts pitcher, and then Debbie Westfall, Bonnie Godwin and Ginger Vullterbals slammed consecutive doubles. Patty Carlton singled to stretch it into a double.

Beth Shoemaker reached on an error by the second baseman, Stephanie Treadway, with one out in the sixth. Then with two outs, Bonnie Godwin, Ginger Vullterbals and Patty Carlton hit consecutive singles. This put Gordon's in front 8-4. Motor Parts pulled to within one in the bottom of the sixth on solo home runs by Beth Godwin and Judy Clark and a costly error led to the scoring.

Gordon's pushed five runs across in the third to take a commanding 7-0 lead. Singles by Dale Gallant, Babs Vullterbals, Joan Turner and Beth Shoemaker, followed by a long triple by Debbie Westfall, produced the scoring. Westfall scored on a sacrifice fly by Bonnie Godwin.

Singles by Fritzie Pillow and Jeanette Blalawski led to a pair of runs for Ralph Pillow Motors in the fourth. With one out in the fifth, Leo Helms singled and Fritzie Evans followed with a home run to cut the margin to 7-4. Back-to-back doubles by Fritzie Pillow and Winnie Dodgion led to another run before the inning was over.

The first two batters for Ralph Pillow Motors went down quickly in the last inning. Then Fritzie Evans singled, Fritzie Pillow also singled, and an intentional pass to Winnie Dodgion loaded the bases with two outs. Mary Gardner hit into the shortstop who was covering at second, forcing the runner.

Freida Evans was four for four for the losers. Fritzie Pillow was three for four. Patty Carlton and Debbie Hunt had two hits each for Gordon's.

FREIDA EVANS rounds first for Ralph Pillow Motors as Gordon's Drugs first baseman Bonnie Godwin shouts encouragement to outfielders chasing the ball. They didn't get to it in time as it went for a home run. Gordon's won the game and the second half league championship last night.

HIGHER AND HIGHER is the style these days as the impressive lobby makes a comeback in hotels and apartment buildings. The lobby of the new Regency Hotel House at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport is in the style of an outsize Roman at-will, rising 10 stories. Guest-floor balconies and walkways overlook the lobby floor. Visible in the background is a circular mobile constructed of 700 multicolored Japanese tiles.

Half-Million In Loot Recovered For Bank

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Just 24 hours after a judge refused to listen to a convicted bank robber's tale as "the son of God," some $500,000 in loot from the Palm Beach robbery was uncovered in a Massachusetts basement. Richard Sullivan had asked for a special hearing Monday with U.S. District Judge Charles Fulton, ostensibly to tell where the money taken in the March 3 burglary of the Bank of Palm Beach and Trust Co. was hidden. Sullivan, already sentenced to 12 years in prison in connection with the burglary, told the judge he would not disclose unless Fulton listened to his testimony. "The whole story did not come out in the trial, your honor," he said. "I have to tell you. I am a man of God. "Very honest," he added, "I'm the son of God and you've got to listen to me." Fulton refused and had the man escorted back to the coun-

Zoo Society Searching For Fund Raiser

By ANN SIECKOWSKI
The Seminole Zoological Society, still searching for an accomplished fund raiser, heard a plea from President George Edwards, "Simple, we need help or we are going to founder."
He added, "The criteria for success is present here. Certainly, the need is present. There is money in the Central Florida area. And there is leadership locally."
"These need to be placed together under the guidance of an expert coordinator to assure success in the fund raising effort."
The group has a goal of $500,000 by Sept. 15. The members are convinced that if they are able to present a substantial part of that amount in evidence to the City Commission, the Oct. 3 deadline for closing the Zoo might be extended if necessary.
Memberships are being purchased with the following reported a balance, as of July 15, of $2,000.36, with pledges not yet received. She also reported that Thomas Clark, of Titusville, asked for brochures he could distribute in the Titusville area as a means of helping the project to keep the Zoo.

Terry Owens, M.J. Jammes Wed in Double Ring Rites

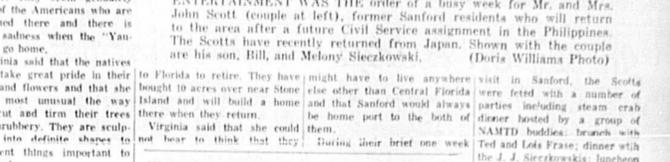

By BERTHA SNYDER
Miss Terry Lee Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Owens of Osteen, and Marjorie Joseph Jammes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jammes of Paola, were united in Holy Matrimony July 10, 1971, at 4 p.m. at the Osteen Baptist Church.
Rev. Gene Houghton, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.
Mrs. Clarence Snyder played the traditional wedding music.
Two pedestals holding arrangements of white chrysanthemums flanked the altar.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace over tulleffeta street length gown with long pointed sleeves and standup collar. A white sash low accented the empire waist line. Her fingertip veil was attached to a white satin bow and she carried a shower bouquet of blue carnations and white daisies with white satin streamers.
Miss Inez Sermons, aunt of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a blue street length dress with white accessories including a head band of white hearts. She carried a bouquet similar to the bride's.
James Albany, of Sanford, served the groom as best man. The bride's mother wore a green and white floral print with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations and red rose buds.

Area Couple Relates Experiences While On Assignment In Japan

"Now is the time for all good friends to get together."
During the past week, that time was during the annual reunion of equal John Scott, his lovely wife, Virginia and John's son, Bill.
Scott was leading chief for Naval Air Maintenance Training Detachment at SNAS for three years before it closed.
A close friendship developed between the men in that group which has flourished since the retirement of most of the men and they often get together.
Scott retired from the Navy in 1968 and received a Civil Service appointment at Alstut, Japan, in Aerospace Engineering for Naval Aviation Engineering Service Unit (NAESI). He and Virginia have spent the last three and one-half years in Japan and their life there is one interesting (and often hilarious) episode after another.
According to Virginia, the Japanese people are enormously friendly despite the language barrier. They seem genuinely fond of the Americans who are stationed there and there is great sadness when the "Yankees" go home.
Virginia said that the natives there take great pride in their trees and flowers and that she found most unusual the way they cut and trim their trees and shrubbery. They are sculptured into definite shapes to represent things important to the people.
She said that toy shops are everywhere but no guns or toys which might be described as war toys could be found in any of the stores. Animal toys seem to be the most abundantly available.
One rather noisy habit of the Japanese is that of shooting off fireworks every Sunday morning.
The Scotts found the Japanese to be very hygienic-oriented and very well-mannered. Scott said that the taxis in Atsugi were immaculately clean and carried a vase of fresh flowers inside all the time. The garbage trucks were equipped with lovely chimes which played native tunes as they made their daily rounds.
Because the roads were so bad, and the economy poor, most Japanese women either walked or rode bicycles on their trips away from their homes. Virginia said it was not at all uncommon to see a man over his own child strapped in front, one on the back and another carried papoose style on her back (which incidentally is the way all babies are carried in the Japanese village where the Scotts lived).
Scott said that the air over Los Angeles would seem like clear glass compared with the air pollution in Tokyo. He said that the situation is so bad that oxygen equipment is located at corners of the busy streets and that for a small fee, one can place the oxygen mask over his face and breathe pure oxygen for 30 seconds. People line up at each station for a breath of clean air.
He said that when he was in Japan before, it was possible to see the top of Mt. Fuji from Tokyo, but that in this last tour, he was only able to see it through the pollution haze.
Needless to say, the Scotts were happy to be back in the United States for a visit. They will go to the Philippines for two years now and then return to Florida to retire. They have also other than Central Florida Island and will build a home there when they return.
Virginia said that she could not bear to think that they might have to live anywhere other than Central Florida and that Sanford would always be home port to the both of them.
During their brief one week visit in Sanford, the Scotts were feted with a number of dinners hosted by a group of NAEMT buddies; brunch with Ted and Lois Frase; dinner with the J. J. Sieczkowski; luncheon with Joe and Mary Ann Kretzowski in Titusville; and a dinner with the Tom Lanes in Cocoa Beach.
Fran and Mort Morton had a big party at their home with all the old members of the group invited. It was great to have the Scotts around.

ENTERTAINMENT WAS THE order of a busy week for Mr. and Mrs. John Scott (couple at left), former Sanford residents who will return to the area after a future Civil Service assignment in the Philippines. The Scotts have recently returned from Japan. Shown with the couple are his son, Bill, and Melony Sieczkowski. (Doris Williams Photo)

Sausage Pudding Favored

By TOM HOGE

Associated Press Writer Rosaleen Fitz-Gibbon of New York's Irish Pavilion bubbles over with memories of her native Ireland, and one recollection is "fishless Fridays."

"Somewhere Irish country people, even those living in coastal towns, ate fish only on Fridays," Mrs. Fitz-Gibbon recalled when I paid a recent visit to her colorful restaurant in midtown Manhattan.

"A fishless Friday meant that the day had been preceded by a heavy storm which prevented the fishermen from putting out to sea. How we children loved those days, because it meant a day of sweets," she laughed. "Our mother never really thought of eggs as a substantial substitute for fish and, to our delight, would add fritters to the menu."

Mrs. Fitz-Gibbon smiled dreamily at the image of all those fritters.

"To us a platter piled high with sugar-dusted, golden coated morsels was heaven," she said. "Until you broke open the crust, you never knew what was inside."

"Sometimes it was pineapple, or orange or some kind of jam. More often it was banana or apple, or perhaps both. Anyhow, we all ate as if it was our last fishless Friday."

Other foods, particularly products of the pig, emerged from Mrs. Fitz-Gibbon's memory. Ham, pork, bacon and sausages, she reminded me, all are historic Irish fare. In times of need—and Ireland has had its share of such times—the pig was known as "the gentleman who pays the rent."

"When I was young," said my hostess, "we used to kill our own pigs and cure our own bacon. For days afterward, mothers occupied the entire kitchen table making black puddings, boiling crabs, or pigs' feet, and salting sides in crocks."

The making of pork sausage has been a tradition in Ireland. In fact, it is said that no companion ever visited Irish author James Joyce in Paris without bringing the famous man a couple of pounds of Irish sausage and a bottle of Irish whiskey to wash it down.

Another anecdote tells of a reporter from an Irish newspaper who telephoned poet William Butler Yeats to inform him he had won the Nobel prize for poetry back in 1923. It meant winning about $28,000, the reporter added.

"I'm flattered, my good man," said Yeats. "You must come round to celebrate with us. We are having sausages for tea."

"One of my favorite sausage recipes is sausage pudding," said Mrs. Fitz-Gibbon. We serve it once in a while."

SAUSAGE PUDDING
1 pound sausage meat
2 tablespoons stock or beef gravy
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
4 ounces breadcrumbs
2 slices of bacon
1 tablespoon tomato ketchup
1 ounce cooking oil
Salt and pepper
Dice bacon and mix with breadcrumbs, parsley, ketchup and gravy. Add sausage meat a teaspoonful of salt and pepper and mix well. Put mixture in a baking tin well greased with the cooking oil and bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Turn into a large hot dish and surround with mashed potatoes sprinkled with parsley and chives. Platter can also be decorated with broiled halibut steaks and small amounts of peas. Serves two persons. Good with chilled ale.

Chicken Cooking Contest

By GAYNOR MADDOX
SEA Food Writer

Home-makers are getting more sophisticated every year. One proof lies in the National Chicken Cooking Contest held recently in Ocean City, Md. Such a contest has been held in the Delmarva area for a long time. The home-maker who won this year's $10,000 first prize was far more sophisticated than winners in the past," says Madrox Marchbanks, contest publicist for Best Foods.

In the company's national home-making contest for girls 18 to 22, Miss Marchbanks observes, "We see evidence of greater maturity recently over former contestants. The girls were aware of some nutritional values, aware also of people and political significance. Many talked about the importance of eating that was a new slant."

In the executive offices of Best Foods Corp., International, in Englewood Cliffs, N.J., many women are employed. Do the younger ones differ from their counterparts of a few years ago?

"The former secretary has returned to work now that she has seven children. She wears H-Pants in the office; at home her oldest child is about to enter college, but she refuses to use any food that is not powdered or packaged or ready to serve. No time for cooking, yet her children still seem to eat," Miss Marchbanks says.

"Among today's 18 to 22 year olds, marriage comes much earlier. Yet they don't want to spend much time in the kitchen. Therefore, though our food products are the same, our methods of selling them must change. With our corn oil, margarine, mayonnaise, corn syrup, peanut butter, etc., we try to tie in with ready-to-serve foods, with gravings, with dressings, all simple additions to ready-to-eat or quick-cook foods," explains the University of Georgia graduate in home economics.

Do young housewives read the food labels more than they used to?

"Yes, I have observed them for hours at a time in their supermarkets. They do more today and apparently with some interest. But what that interest is exactly, I can't say," Miss Marchbanks says.

WAX BEAN RELISH
A new version of one of our favorite quickly made relishes.
1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon (generous) celery seed
1/4 teaspoon (generous) turmeric
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1 can (15 1/2 ounces) cut wax beans, well drained
In a 1 1/2 quart saucepan thoroughly stir together the sugar, flour, mustard, salt, celery seed and turmeric; gradually stir in vinegar, keeping smooth. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and boiling. Remove from heat. Mix in beans. Refrigerate, covered, for 4 hours or overnight to allow flavors to blend. Makes 1 1/2 cups - 4 servings.

SHREDDED CHICKEN
A top-of-the-range recipe.
3 pound broiler fryer, cut up
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup onion salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup fat free chicken stock
1 egg sherry
Wash and drain chicken on paper toweling. Mix flour, salt and pepper; coat chicken with flour mixture. In a 12-inch skillet, melt butter; add chicken and brown on both sides; turn chicken tightly and cook, turning as necessary, until tender—about 15 minutes. Remove chicken and keep hot. Tip skillet and spoon off most of fat. Add cream and stock to skillet and over low heat stir with a wooden spoon to get up brown particles. Stir in sherry; sauce will be thin. Serve chicken with sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Tuna Fish Dish a la Italiano

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

A pleasant change of pace from standby warm-weather dishes takes a cue from the Italians. It is tuna with a mustard-fruit sauce. The blend of seafood and fruit is a specialty of Lombardy and stems from the Italians love of candied fruits. Traditionally, coks blend candied fruit or whole fresh fruits. Traditionally, coks blend candied fruits or whole fresh fruit with mustard seed and served this with all forms of seafood. This Mostarda e Tonna or Mostarda di Frutta can be economical when made with canned tuna in vegetable oil and canned fruit. Serve with rice and a refreshing beverage.

TUNA WITH MUSTARD-FRUIT SAUCE

2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
1 onion, sliced
1 cup diagonally sliced celery
4 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 can (15 ounces) sliced pineapple and syrup
2 tablespoons vinegar
4 1/2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
Water
1 can (8 ounces) sliced peaches, drained
1/3rd cup watermelon rind pickle
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Marshmallow cherries
Hot cooked rice
Drain 1 tablespoon oil from tuna into large skillet. Add onion and celery; stir over high heat for 2 minutes. Measure cornstarch into 2-cup measure; gradually stir in syrup from pineapple. Add vinegar and mustard and enough water to make 1 1/2 cups. Add to skillet with tuna, pineapple, peaches, watermelon pickle, salt and pepper. Stir constantly over medium heat until sauce thickens and comes to a boil. Garnish with Marshmallow cherries. Serve with hot cooked rice. Follow package directions. Makes 6 servings.

This epicurean dish is from "Italian Family Cooking" by Ed Gobbli (Random House) and was served to me by the author.

1 pound raw shrimp, in shell
1 can (15 ounce) artichoke hearts
Juice of 1 lemon
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 teaspoon finely chopped fresh mint or 1/4 teaspoon dried mint
1 teaspoon finely chopped parsley, Italian if possible
Salt and hot pepper or freshly ground pepper to taste.

Boil shrimp in a little water for 5 minutes. Shell, devein and cut into slices about 1/4 inch thick. Set shrimp aside. Drain artichoke hearts and chop into pieces no crisper than round bread crumbs. Mix well with shrimp and remaining ingredients. Serve chilled or at room temperature to 6 to 8.

PHYLL'S CHILLED BORSCH
Make well ahead of serving.
1 container (8 ounces) commercial sour cream
1 can (16 ounces) cut or sliced beets
3 beef bouillon cubes dissolved in 1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup cold water
2 tablespoons firmly packed dark brown sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
2 tablespoons minced scallion (green onion), green top included

Into a tall refrigerator container turn the sour cream. Drain beets, reserving beet liquid, and dice beets. Gradually stir beet liquid into sour cream, keeping smooth; add beets and remaining ingredients, mix well. Cover and refrigerate for 4 hours or overnight to chill and allow flavors to blend. Serve chilled. Makes about 5 cups of servings. (Mix well just before serving.)

Warm Weather Special

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Jellied main course salads are particularly popular in summertime because they look cool and taste cool. Desserts that use a new recipe for one came into our test kitchen we were delighted to try it.

And as weren't disappointed. This recipe, which uses a new tomato sauce, produces a salad that is delightful to look at and good to eat. The tomato sauce gives it a pretty rosy color and adds excellent flavor.

An contrast to the soft texture of the salad, we suggest you serve it with crisp salad greens, marinated cucumbers and melon cubes. Desserts might be a shortcake or pie made with fresh strawberries or fresh peaches.

TOMATO SHRIMP SALAD

1 1/2 cups cold water
1 cup boiling water
1 can (15 ounces) special to main sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
4 or 5 drops tabasco sauce
1/2 cup oiler (8 ounces) commercial soup
1 cup cut-up cooked shrimp
3 hard cooked eggs, diced
1/2 cup minced celery
1/4 cup sliced stuffed green olives

Stir in a medium mixing bowl. Sprinkle the gelatin evenly over the cold water to soften for about 5 minutes; add the boiling water and stir until gelatin dissolves.

Stir in tomato sauce, lemon juice, Worcestershire, salt and tabasco; cool.

Add sour cream; beat until combined; chill until slightly thickened. Fold in the remaining ingredients except the salad greens and cucumber.

Pour into a 6-cup mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with salad greens and cucumbers.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

NOTE: The special tomato sauce called for contains tomato bits, onions, celery and green peppers. If you use raw shrimp in the shell, buy 1 pound (medium size) and cook, shell and devein before cutting up.

A strawberry pie with an old-fashioned look satisfies the yearning for an old-time Sunday dinner. For those who skip pie making because their crusts just don't work, this version saves the day. It has a simple brown ginger snap crust. Filling this are juicy strawberries in a custard made from sour cream, eggs and sugar. Everything blends together during baking. The Strawberry Short Pie is best when served slightly warm or at room temperature. Don't refrigerate before serving. The pie makes a fitting climax to a chicken dinner with hot biscuits and pickled peaches.

STRAWBERRY SOUR CREAM PIE

4 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 pint fresh California strawberries
9-inch unbaked Ginger Snap Crumb Pie Shell
Beat together eggs and sugar; blend in sour cream. Have enough strawberries to measure 2 cups (use 1 1/2 cups strawberries for garnish or in fruit cup). Arrange strawberry halves in pie crust. Pour sour cream mixture over strawberries. Bake in 325-degree oven 1 hour or until custard is set. Serve warm or cold. Makes one 9-inch pie.

(*Or use 1 package (20 ounces) frozen whole California strawberries, thawed and well-drained.)

GINGER SNAP CRUMB PIE SHELL

1 1/2 cups ginger snap crumbs
3 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
Mix together crumbs, sugar and butter in 9-inch pie plate. Press over bottom and sides of plate. Makes 9-inch crust.
