Local Club Plans Big Opening Day

Mary Papworth To Pitch First Ball To Mayor Of DeLand

Concert By Elks Band Before Game Is Another Big Feature; Local Club Is Ready

By PETER SCHAAL

All the glories and color of a league opening day will be offered the baseball and sport-loving fans of central Florida and Sanford, next Sunday afternoon at 8 o'clock, when the newly formed Central Florida Baseball League will play host to Manager Randle and the Chamber of Commerce sponsored DeLand team in the opening game of the 1931 season.

Following a telephone conversation with Mayor Earl W. Brown, of DeLand, one of this section's most popular civic leaders and sportsmen, the last detail in an elaborate pre-game program was completed, gladly he said, in the evening day exercises, by watching the first ball pitched and the pitcher of that first ball will be none other than Harry M. Papworth, president of the Hernando County Chamber of Commerce, the man who, for nearly 50 years has made Sanford and its people and possibilities one of his chief hobbies. Mr. Papworth, upon being asked to take a leading part in the exercises, accepted with evident pleasure, the task of hurling that first ball over the plate, and when he found out that his friend, Earl Brown, the youth mayor of DeLand, has consented to catch his offering, Mr. Papworth's face was wreathed in a smile which seemed to indicate that he was pleased beyond measure.

Under present plans, and through the co-operation of the DeLand Elks Band, the program is expected to get under way promptly at 8:00 o'clock, when the band will play the first number of a twenty-five minute concert. Promptly at 8:25 o'clock, the players of both clubs will assemble in front of home plate, and will march to the strains of band music, to the flagpole in center field where the Stars and Stripes will be raised. Just as the flag reaches the top of the mast, the players and fans are expected to come in attention as the band begins playing "The Star Spangled Banner." The players will then march back to home plate, take their positions, and Mayor Brown and Mr. Papworth will go through the final part of the ceremony which official opens the season. Immediately after Mayor Brown catches the ball, umpire-in-chief Roby Laing will announce the batter for the first "Play Ball", and the game will begin.

It should be a jam-up ball game, from DeLand indicates that DeLand outfit is primed to win this opening game, and still an old score of last year when the local amateur club beat them four out of six games played. It is understood that Ken Douglas, the DeLand ball artist will be on the mound for the victors, and he is backed up by the fastest club ever to represent DeLand in semi-pro circles. Douglas has a wide following in the University City, and a large delegation of DeLandites expected to be present. Incidentally, as a matter of civic pride, it is interesting for local fans to know that the DeLand outfit is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, and that the City of DeLand donated a large sum for the purchase of equipment. With all that backing, a large crowd must surely be expected, and it remains for Sanford fans to be on the ground to demonstrate to the DeLanders that while they were not invited upon to buy uniforms, or to support the efforts of the youngsters who will play, they are trying to make the DeLand outfit a success.

mighty good. Britt is the sectional high school player who has been called by Manager Rive one of the best looking high school players he has ever seen. Manager Rive hopes to develop the youngster before the season is over, but his stay at first may be short, because Jack Peters, who performed creditably at that place last season, will be back from the University of Florida before many weeks roll by.

George Deutch hits fail to be a fixture at second base, and when Bookie Bach, the former Jersey high school star returns from the hospital in about 10 days, a real fight for permanent possession of that position looms as a strong possibility. George has had considerable semi-pro experience, and fields with the best of them. Best of all, he has taken a real interest in the game this season, and seems anxious to become a regular. Jimmy Wright, the former Rollins star, is giving John Edward Higgins, who once was the sensation of the Seminole High school team, a hard fight for the shortstop berth. They both field at about the same speed and precision, that is, in early practices they have, and it seems as though hitting is going to decide that race. Third base is expected to be well taken care of by the lanky Philip Miles, who has developed into a fancy fielder, and who has been working harder than any youngsters. Phil had difficulty in getting his batting eye adjusted last year, but under the direction of Manager Rive, he is expected to be a power with the bat before the season is two weeks old.

Plenty of good material is available for outfield duty, with Roy Harrison, Jim Spencer, John Miller and Buddy Lake leading the field. Bill Blaser, who had a try at first, will be given a chance in the outer gardens, as will Roy Britt, while Fred Holly, Emil Ammon, Mutt Moys and Lofton Edenfield will also be given chances there. Manager Rive is confident that his pitching staff will best any team in the league. Cal Dennis, the iron-nut right-hander who won a wide circle of fans because of his fine pitching last year, will alternate on the mound with Lefty McLanahan, the former Florida State Leaguer who has looked fit as ever in workouts during the past few days. That duo does not expect to run across any hard hitting outfits during the entire season, but if they ever run into any trouble, Manager Rive expects to give his favorite youngster, Bud Lake, a chance on the Ring them bells and blow that bugle! Prepare the fatted calf and engage the most luscious of maidens! The Brooklyn Busts, battered beyond bare belief, bombarded and blasted the Phillies' three most promising youngsters to the tune of a 6 to 1. The win will probably go down in the history of the New York suburb as one which deserves an annual holiday, and in the dim future we can see hoary grandfathers telling their open-mouthed and wondering grandsons all about how the Robins smote the Phillies on Apr. 30, 1931.

Babe Phelps, the former Jacksonville hurler, was the boy who did the trick from a pitching stand-point. He allowed the Phillies 10 hits, all singles but one, and kept these hits well scattered. In the meantime, the Robins clouted the offerings of three hurlers for 10 hits, including a homer by Johnny Frederick, looked good on the bases, and fielded like champions as they racked up four double-plays. It was the third victory of the year for the Robins.

Our own Ben Cantwell, pitching in a mighty fine relief role, got into another ball game, which he got no credit for winning or losing. It was opening game of the Giant-Braves series, and was won by the Giants 2 to 1, with Fred Fitzsimmons pitching in mid-season form, although the Braves but two hits. The Braves scored their only run without a hit when Mackeyville worked Pitts for a run. Terry allowed Critt's tag to go through him in trying to get Worthington, and Berger's long fly seeing the Rabbit smoe from second. Tom Zachary kept the Giants' 10 hits well scattered, but when a rally began in the eighth, Ben went to the hill and stopped the play. The defeat put the Braves into fourth place.

The Reds not only lost the opening game of the series to the Pirates by an 8 to 3 score, but also lost the services of their rookie first baseman, Mickey Hanks, who had his arm broken between the wrist and elbow when Thurston Pirate shortstop, crashed into him in the fourth inning. The hitting was about on a par, although L. Warner aided much in the win by poling out a home run which scored three men ahead of him. Pie Traynor batted 1000, getting four hits in four trips up.

The Yanks broke their losing streak at the expense of the Athletics when Henry Johnson, who has been poised to the A's for many years, held them to six hits and beat them 7 to 2. Walberg and McDonald did mound work for the champions and were touched for 8 hits. Johnson continued his strike-out pitching, cutting down 7 of the Mackmen in that manner.

A comedy of hits, runs, and errors ended in the eleventh inning when the White Sox came out on top of a 10 to 9 score while playing the Browns. Seven errors were made in the second inning, while most of the scoring was done in the first three innings. The Sox made it their third straight win, while McKain, who relieved Branton in the second, won his third game of the year.

Some fancy seven hit pitching by Walter Hoyt of the Tigers resulted in a win for that outfit over the league-leading Cleveland Indians by a 9 to 4 score. Hoyt had the young sluggers eating from his hand, while Fonseca, the Indian first sacker got three of the seven hits. The Tigers jumped on Huddlin for four runs in the very first inning, and were never headed.

The Cubs and the Cardinals were rained out, while Washington and Boston were unable to start their series because of cold weather.

The leaders to date: Home runs, Hornsby, Cuba, Stans, 71; runs, 5 each; triples, 11; hits, 5 each; bases, 3 each; doubles, Yonniek, Indiana, 7; runs batted in, Gehrig, Yanks, 7; runs, 5 each; stolen bases, Berger, Braves, Gehrig, Yanks, Johnson, Tigers, Cissell, White Sox, 5 each; most strikes out, one game, Johnson, Yanks, 12; most bases on balls, one game, Morris, Red Sox, Franzer, White Sox, 10; most runs, Klein, Phillies, 16; most hits, Alexander, Tigers, 27.

A brand new batting leader was crowned in the big leagues yesterday when Dale Alexander the slugging Detroit rookie, whacked the ball for three hits in four trips up, jumped into the .500 class, taking Davis, Philly catcher's place, since he went hitless in three trips. Alexander also leads the field with 27 hits. The players and how they are batting: Player and Club G A B R H Avg. Big Crowns Expected At Saucy San Faust Spring Ball Tonight

Approximately 100 couples representing dance-lovers from all sections of central Florida, are expected to attend what is considered to be one of the most outstanding events on the early spring calendar when the members of Saucy San Faust, local fraternity, will play host at their second annual Spring Ball at the City Hall tonight.

Organized by a group of young men during their high school days here, Saucy San Faust has since become a recognized social organization among the young people of this section. While their last year's dance was said to have been highly successful in its purpose, tonight's dance is expected to far outshadow the event of last year. No effort has been spared in decorating, providing entertainment features, and securing good music for the entertainment of the large crowd that is expected to attend the City Hall ball. The ball has been transformed into a "glitzy" affair.

The dance, open to the public, and the City Hall band, local orchestras, will furnish the music. A number of specialty acts are scheduled to be presented, and "no-track" valets will be featured.

People Honored Upon Wedding Anniversary

Twenty-five years of married life were appropriately celebrated at the Catholic Parish House last night when nearly 75 friends of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Fellows, gathered to congratulate them upon their having reached their silver wedding anniversary.

It was a surprise party, and the honor guests knew nothing of the plans, arranged by Mrs. Julia Ludwig and Mrs. Mary Schaal, until they reached the hall, where they expected to attend a bridge party with but a few friends.

The couple entered the room surrounded by four couples, the girl members of the couple being their own daughters, the Misses Irene, Anna Marie, Ruth and Naomi Fellows, escorted by Clarence Bookam, St. Clair Cameron, Peter Schaal, and Max Bradbury, respectively. Just before entering the room, Mrs. Fellows was presented with a huge bouquet of white roses, tied with a large silver bow, and wrapped in silver paper.

As the couple entered, their friends showered them with rice as they marched to the end of the room, where, under an arch of flowers from which was suspended a large silver ball, they were presented with a chest of silver by the Rev. J. J. McInerney, who made a short presentation talk in which he extended the congratulations of the parish. The guests then crowded about the pair offering congratulations and gifts.

Several tables of bridge were then formed while the younger guests danced to music furnished by Miss Madeline Mallett, R. Hensel, and Johnnie Peckam. Mr. Peckam also entertained the guests with a tap dance, and Mr. Mendel played several violin solos.

Prizes were awarded to the Rev. J. J. McInerney and Mrs. B. E. Tackach for having high bridge scores while Mrs. Julia Ludwig won the white prize. ## Party Hints

By RUTH BURBARD
 "The Fairy Garden" is a lovely feature for any child's party—providing there is a garden or a corner of the lawn suitable for the game.

Make trails of crepe paper flower petals of as many tints as there are children, each trail leading through all kinds of exciting places until it finally ends where a daintily wrapped package is hidden. Give each child a small basket in which is a single flower petal and tell him to follow the trail indicated by the flower petals the same color as the one he has in his basket, gathering up the petals as he goes.

When each child has found his package, which contains a flower petal, tell him to place them in the basket he had in the garden of the yard. Have the guests prepared for dancing. After the party games and some refreshments.

When the children have quite forgotten about the "Fairy Garden" suggest that they go out and see if their petals have begun to sprout.

In the evening, a small slip cut to the length of which upright wooden sticks are placed in the ground. The flowers are placed on the sticks.

May Day Passes Quietly In U. S.; Killed in Cuba

A workman and a communist abolitionist were wounded severely by gunfire at Melkman, Germany, in Berlin a group of young communists shot a policeman so severely he may die.

May day is the major holiday of the communists. Cries of "Long live Stalin" echoed in the Moscow streets and 30,000 soldiers paraded to demonstrate Soviet Russia's preparedness for the "war of intervention."

Several American cities—principally New York, Boston and Cleveland—had demonstrations in which many thousands of persons took part. There were some arrests, but only isolated cases of trouble between demonstrators and police.

Boston Common and New York's Union Square were gathering places not only for communists and radicals but also for patriotic organizations and at Boston—children.

In New York about 5,000 former service men gathered at Union Square, their meeting being followed by a demonstration of socialists which attracted an estimated 15,000, including many former service men who remained to see how the socialists would observe the occasion.

While the socialists were holding forth the communists were mobilizing for a march to the square which, by police permit, they were to occupy after the time of the socialists had expired. By that time the crowd at the square had increased by several thousands. Hundreds of extra police flanked the square, while other police details were held in readiness in side streets and in the doorways of nearby buildings.

Several arrests were made in Cleveland as a result of minor disturbances in Public Square where a demonstration marked the start of the "hunger march" of 75 delegates of Cleveland's unemployed workers to the state capitol.

In Boston, Congressman Hamilton Fish, assailed communism while a few hundred yards away communists gathered from all over the state to hear their own orators condemn the "bourgeois."

Detroit's demonstration was orderly. Police in other cities found little occasion for action. At Washington no particular precautions were taken, and the day was without incident.

Some European countries took pains to prevent threatened outbreaks. In Portugal, where demonstrations were forbidden, mounted police rode into a crowd at Lisbon, using the flat sides of their swords to clear a square. More than a score of persons were injured. Afterward armored cars with mounted machine guns patrolled the streets.

There were demonstrations in Australia, and although arrests were made, the marchers for the most part were orderly.

In Belgium and the Balkans the authorities refused to permit celebrations in 1935. In such numbers as to become a threat. There was no observance of the day in Italy where May day was abolished as a holiday several years ago.

Laymen Protest Cannon Holding Place In Church

more far-reaching than that of a show. A great many laymen are refusing to contribute to any of the causes except the local church repairs. Some of our best people who know something of the story have had their confidence in the standards of the church severely shaken.

The laymen are the supporters of the church. In the light of these facts which are becoming very generally known, we earnestly pray that our bishops find some means to restore confidence in the moral integrity of the church. The least that could be asked of Bishop Cannon under these circumstances is that for the good and peace of the church he resign his office.

"We regard the situation as very serious for the present and future of the church. Reports that gravely reflect on the moral character of Bishop Cannon have been published throughout the country. He has made no public statement that would vindicate himself or that would relieve the church of the embarrassment which she suffers by reason of the fact that he is one of her bishops. The committee of the church has been most diligent in its efforts to bring about a situation that

The committee will meet shortly and expects to make recommendations to the Legislature. A resolution was adopted yesterday calling on bankers and all public spirited citizens to consider promptly the problem

State licensing of bankers was suggested by Dr. J. H. Therrell, Ocala, as one possible means of preventing bank closings. The suggestion was met by some bankers, however, with the argument that competent management was the best safeguard.

"It was not business judgment, but political violation which in Australia, under radical leadership, mortgaged the earning power of anticipated years ahead, laid burdens of social services, destroying trade and industry, checked the support of extended foreign credits needed over a time of readjustment, but a lack of principle that bordered on repudiation.

"It was not business judgment, but political violations that by unwise tax burdens, unbalanced budgets, unsound finance, reckless injection of government into commodity trade in many countries of the world gradually created a distress expressing itself through rebellion and revolution, themselves creating new hazards to further discouraging agencies of employment and earning power supplied by capital venturing only when secure behind stable governments.

"Business judgment, invested with the responsibility of the conduct of industry, realizes that its chief duty rests in the maintenance of efforts to reabsorb the 5,000,000 out of work. Throughout the vast industrial structure of America scores of inspiring efforts to achieve both these ends are under way.

"America's fundamental faith in voluntary cooperative effort expresses itself in the complex world today by the gradual development of great trade and community associations. Through them, joint counsel and common effort hold the promise of measurably leveling the peaks and depressions of industry."

an official declaration of the government's feeling that the uprising was distinctly different from those of previous years and here a revolutionary situation.

The explosion occurred in the midst of a great crowd of demonstrators, including many middle-class citizens, which gathered in Reco square and raised clouds of dust with the demonstrators.

The fragments of the bomb fell in all directions but caused no casualties. Troops of cavalry rode through the demonstrators and eventually succeeded in clearing the square.

In pre-occupation over their own troubles, the public has almost forgotten the revolt against the government in the Mexican states. The rebels were believed to be still occupying Pinalteco against the advancing forces of the federal expedition.

The government's claim said the federal troops were consolidating their positions over a 30 square mile area preparatory to marching on Pinalteco. The latest operations extend from Alhama 20 miles northward of the city, to Pinalteco, 12 miles northward.

The minister of marine, commanding the Mexican navy, announced that another detachment of infantry had effected a landing and was supporting the other columns of troops advancing over difficult terrain. The government morale was excellent, he said, and supplies and ammunition had been rushed to the base of operations.

The Labor vessels were reported to have seized two trampships, laden with guns and ammunition, which had been commandeered by the insurgents of the shipment of much needed supplies. A report from Mexico last night said a battery had been landed and placed in position on a height dominating Pinalteco.
