Sanford Wins Game

With Lee in the box holding the locals down to six hits, Sanford again displayed its luck yesterday, winning the third game of the series from Miami on the score of 9 to 1.

An interesting number of star plays were made on both sides, but the visitors went in the game determined to win, and when they brought seven of their men home in the third, the game was practically assured them.

Atkinson was in the box for Miami until the third inning when he was relieved by Tillman. The visitors got seven hits off of Atkinson, six from Tillman, while Miami made only six hits from Lee, the Sanford pitcher.

White, a former Miami catcher, platted with the home team and Manager Reed was satisfied with the work done by every player of the team.

There will be a game today and one tomorrow and then Sanford will leave for Key West where the team will play a series with Keeley's Sluggers, having contracted for the series last night. Sanford expects to have a great trip to the Island City as the Key West boys have promised to show them a good time.

Walker, Miami's new pitcher, is expected to occupy the box for the locals this afternoon and with Ray, one of Sanford's best twirling, a good game is assured.

Manager Reed says that the boys are all determined to work hard and the fans of Miami will be certain to see some interesting games today and tomorrow.

The following is the box score of the game:

Thursday's Game

Yesterday's game of base ball was a most interesting story, but it had a bad ending. The villain, in the minds of the Miami fans, triumphed. With grim determination in the set of his jaws, Farmer, of the Sanford aggregation, met the first ball that came over the plate in the last half of the ninth inning of a nothing to nothing game, and pinged it over the fence. With a yell of surprise, astonishment, chagrin and admiration, the bleacherites arose as one man and clambered out of the park as fast as they could.

Thus was the climax of the game fixed at 1 to 0 in favor of Sanford. The celery team must admit, however, that it had to play ball to get it. With one exception Miami's outfield handled the large amount of business that came to it accurately, taking in several chances that were mighty hard. The fielding of the infield was satisfactory, with likewise one exception. Yesterday was Peddy's "Jonah day," being on a Thursday. Peddy is usually one of the safe men of the team, and his fellow players look to see him back in his form today.

Walker pitched a good game for Miami, getting out of some bad holes when Sanford had a couple of men on bases and a big swatter up to bat. Sanford made Miami play ball several times with two men on bases, but only once did Miami get a man past first base. In spite of the heroic efforts of the fans in the bleachers and the grandstand, who, beginning with the seventh inning sought by every means of noise, squeal, yell, clapping of hands and stamping of feet to say nothing of contemptuous remarks, sought to get the Celery pitcher up in the air. Ray stayed right on the mound and pitched ball to the end.

In spite of the fact that but one score was made, every one who saw the game agreed that it was one of the most interesting and enjoyable of the series thus far. Both teams played tight ball with a few exceptions, and the fans were given very few opportunities to be ashamed of their team.

A good crowd saw the game yesterday. The bleachers were full, a goodly number of enthusiastic fans occupied the grandstand, and not the least vociferous was a well filled "nigger heaven."—Miami Metropolis.

Sanford Wins Last Game

The last game of the season yesterday afternoon resulted in the same old story, Sanford won, 5 to 2. But though the score has no news in it, readers must not infer that it was an uninteresting game. It was one which engaged the attention in fact, there were breathless spots in it when Bundy picked a mean bouncer out of the air sixteen feet from the ground, when Miami's right fielder ran a quarter of a mile, nearly, to get a high fly, picking it out of a field of coconut trees, or when Snedigar executed one of his famous war dances around the second sack.

Fans all agree that it was a good game, nearly as good as the one the day before. A good crowd witnessed the farewell battle, and rooted as noisily as ever. The feature of the game was the fine fielding of the visitors. The goddess of chance certainly held the celery boys in her favor yesterday, and they made good on practically every attempt, and they took some desperate ones too. Well bunched hits in the first game gave Sanford three runs and the game, for Miami never tallied after that, though the home team made several fruitless attempts. Everybody on the Miami team played hard, however, and gave Tillman satisfactory support.

Tillman pitched consistent ball, and White caught in good form. Wallace twirled for Sanford, and didn't go up in the ninth either, as he did once before not a year ago. Lowe took in his deliveries.

The way those three runs happened in the first was on this wise: Farmer, the mighty swatter who stole Thursday's game with a homer in the ninth, slammed a hot-liner to short and got to first on it. Swink sacrificed him down to second, the left fielder caught Bowen's fly and Moreland walked. Then Lowe, the stalwart, slammed one over the fence, and the trio walked home, namely, Farmer, Moreland and Lowe. Roberts got to first on a stroke to right field and Bundy got caught on third.

Then with Peddy put out on a pop up, Snedigar singled, Selph hit for the first base and Snedigar came home on an error. Taylor fanned and Atwood's fly to right was swallowed.

The second was without event. With Bowen's double to center field and a duplicate of the trick by Moreland, the former swatter came home. Tillman and his support headed off the rest of them.

Not till the seventh did Miami get enough hits bunched to score, and then Atkinson got first on an infield hit, Robinson was put out, and Dillon doubled, bringing in Atkinson amid great applause from the bleachers. But the rally was short lived, and White and Tillman both failed to reach station No. 1.

With a combination of errors and hits the Celery Chaps annexed one more tally in the ninth putting a finish to the score board additions.—Miami Metropolis.

STATE HAPPENINGS BOILED DOWN FOR THE BUSY

A Brief Resume of Florida Happenings That Will Interest The Hurried Reader

The eighth session of the State College for Women at Tallahassee will open for the 1912-13 term on the 18th of this month. Many improvements have been made on the collage during the summer and a large enrollment is expected on the opening day.

County commissioners discussing the proposed bond issue for road purposes in St. Johns recently decided not to call for the election on the matter at the present time. This does not mean that St. Johns county is opposed to improvement of roads, but the commissioners were not convinced that the application had been made in proper form, and also that the amount indicated, $250,000 was not sufficient for the purposes intended.

The Gadsden county fair to be held in Quincy this year will be the greatest ever held in that county. Great preparations are being made and the doors will be thrown open on Tuesday, Nov. 12th.

That fine old English game of cricket is being promoted in West Palm Beach, where an enthusiastic club of thirty-five members is giving attention to regular practice. The cricket players are expecting to work up interest in a game with Miami in the near future.

The First National Bank of Plant City has formally opened its doors to the public. This makes the third bank for that bustling town.

TO ERECT WILSON

The Herald will publish the names of all subscribers to the fund as the money is received. It will be transmitted to the National Treasurer Rolla Wells, who will send each contributor a handsomely lithographed receipt.

Address all subscriptions to the "Wilson Campaign Fund," care of this paper. Make checks payable to that fund. Send in your subscription at once, no matter if it be $1.00, $100.00, or $1,000.

Are you a progressive?

Do you want a President of the United States who will be obligated to no other interest than that of the people, and who will place the welfare of the country before that of the exploiters?

If you do, you should freely contribute your share toward the success of the Woodrow Wilson, who is depending on you and not upon your enemies to finance the cause he represents, which is Your Cause!

To the Editor of The Herald:

As a believer in the progressive ideals of government represented in the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson for President of the United States, and to the end that he may take the office free handed, untrammelled, and obligated to none but the people of the country I wish to contribute through you, to be forwarded to Gov. Wilson, the sum of $ toward the expenses of his campaign.

A FINE WINDOW DISPLAY

Furniture House Cannot Keep Goods Longer Than One Day

The furniture house of W. W. Abernathy, at the corner of First street and Palmetto avenue, while not centrally located probably has a fine show window as there is in Sanford, and when it comes to dressing a window Abernathy is the real thing. Having nothing else on his mind the other day Mr. Abernathy decided to put up a real window, using some extra fine furnishings that had just arrived from one of the largest wholesale centers of the north. Selecting all his rugs and art squares with a view of making a perfect blending of colors and pleasing effects he placed a suite of beautiful Circassian walnut furniture in the window, embellished with a dull finished brass bed and a few mission rockers placed carelessly around to fill in the corners. Every attention was paid to detail in the dressing of the window and when completed it drew the attention of the passerby even from the opposite side of the street.

Mr. Abernathy said he answered more questions about the furniture in that window for one day than he ever answered before and ere nightfall a customer came in and purchased the entire outfit. Another window has been furnished temporarily, but it does not compare with the first one, although Abernathy says he will duplicate it if he is obliged to wait for the same material. A glance over the store would convince any one that the hardest part of dressing a window in that establishment would be in determining which suite to use as there seems to be half a hundred suites of beautiful stuff right from the factories and right up to now in stock and finish, but the furniture man grows esthetic by constant association and handling of nice furniture.

Mr. Abernathy is a great believer in advertising and window displays and never rides his light under a bushel. Having the best that the factories can supply at all times he believes in displaying it to the best advantage and letting the public know that he has the best.

The new line that has just been received shows the return to the ancient style of furniture and the massive furniture of several years ago is giving place to the more delicate bits of the Louis XIV period, and the Sanford people who contemplate fitting up their drawing rooms this season will go into rhapsodies over the new styles shown at the store of W. W. Abernathy.

Sudden Death of W. W. Thurston

William W. Thurston dropped dead at his home on Fourth street on Wednesday night. He had been down town at his place of business and feeling badly had returned home and tried to rest. Thinking a hot bath would help him he started for the room and fell upon entering the door. Mrs. Thurston upon hearing the fall ran to his side, but life was extinct before she reached him.

Mr. Thurston came to this city several years ago from Iowa seeking a milder climate for his health. He engaged in the real estate business for a time and afterward purchased a fine outfit for roasted peanuts and popcorn and had his stand on Miller's corner, where he became a familiar figure to every one. He chose the outdoor life for the benefit of his health and though he was almost an invalid he seemed cheerful at all times and made many friends here.

Deceased leaves a wife and daughter and son to mourn the loss of a loving father and husband.

The funeral services occurred from Miller's chapel this morning at ten o'clock, Rev. C. H. Summers of the Methodist church officiating. Interment was made in Lakeview cemetery.

OUR TOURIST HOTEL

Will Not Be Built In Time For 1913 Trade

BUT THE HOTEL WILL BE BUILT

The Location Is The Finest In The State Of Florida

It begins to look as though Sanford will be burdened for another year with an excuse for a hotel. The plans under way for the building of a new hotel will now be materially changed and the new plans will call for the purchase of the entire property known as the Sanford House Hotel Co., and their property now occupied by the so-called hotel.

The plan of W. T. Fields is assuming shape and only a small amount of stock is left unsubscribed. His plan now is to raise the amount here and then put forth the plan of purchasing the property on both sides of Commercial street and thus offering the foreign stock holders a much better proposition.

The owners of the Sanford House at least a majority of the stockholders who live here are perfectly willing to part with their old friend, the hotel and will listen to any reasonable proposition that separates them from their needless hoard. It is the earnest prayer that some plan will be put in operation at once that will rid the city of the venerable and hoary and moss covered relic that has been dubbed a hotel so many years and helped to give the tourists a nightmare and given the commercial men the hock, xom.

The present structure, if never put in shape to give the trade a first class hotel and every one will welcome the day that the old hotel goes down and the new one is erected.

A meeting will be held this week to lease the old structure to some one who will have nerve enough to keep the dining room open during the winter and endeavor to take care of the people that will be here during the season. As yet no arrangements have been made for this season.

On a Fishing Trip

Dr. S. Palestine and Walter Hand are off to the Ten Thousand Isles for a few weeks fishing and as there is some fishing down there and nothing but big fish we can look for some big fish stories when they return.

At the Presbyterian Church

Rev. M. M. McFerrin of Marion, Va., will preach at the Presbyterian church next Sunday at both morning and evening services. Rev. McFerrin comes to Sanford with a view to locating here and all the members of the Presbyterian church should be in attendance next Sabbath. Mr. E. T. Woodruff will have charge of the choir and good music is assured.

For a Military Company

All those who expected to join the Sanford military company and those who did not, but would like to join now are requested to meet at the city hall next Monday night at 8 o'clock. The organization of the company and election of officers will take place at that time and the company will then be ready to become a part of the military organization of the state. The young men of Sanford should sign the roster at once and help to make Sanford company one of the best in the state.

General Gordon Dead

General W. W. Gordon, aged 78 years, a citizen of Savannah and member of the famous Gordon family of Confederate civil war history, died at White Sulphur Springs, Va., Wednesday morning.

General Gordon was brigadier general commanding the first division of the Fourth army corps during the Spanish American war, and captain in the Confederate army. He was first president of the Central of Georgia railroad, former president of the Cotton Exchange, and for half a century head of the firm of W. W. Gordon & Co., cotton factors. He served under Gen. J. E. B. Stewart. His wife was Miss Eleanor Little Kinzie of Chicago. She was the first white child born at Fort Dearborn. His widow and three sons survive.

WHAT MAKES FLORIDA GROW

Spirit of Progress is Apparent in Every Section in the State

Florida made a splendid showing in the last census, but small compared to that which she will make in the next. Too many forces making for progress are at work, forces that are indomitable, that will bring great results because back of them is a strong, boasting, progressive, business-like citizenship.

Over all Florida may be seen the signs.

In the Everglades a vast empire is being opened up and made ready for development, which has already begun. Over this work and in charge of it are state officials who are trusted by the people of Florida and who are carrying out the task in their charge in a manner to which all who know anything about the real facts of the matter can accord naught but highest praise. Those who come to see are converts and invest. They are all good citizens. Each will prove a factor in the future upbuilding of his adopted state.

Into every county is pouring a stream of desirable homeseekers who have not been dissuaded from coming to Florida by either ignorant or intentional calumny howlers. Like those who are going to the Everglades section, those bound for the Gulf coast countries, the central section, north Florida and west Florida are all people of a most desirable class.

Nearly every railroad is extending its lines into new territory and opening up fertile wild lands for settlement. Work is nearing completion upon a canal by a corporation which has been tackling the great task for thirty years, a waterway over three hundred miles in length. Along the coasts of Florida and upon her rivers are plying new steamer lines, with equipment which is constantly being increased and improved to meet the needs of the vast settling country touched.

Jacksonville must have special legislation at once to permit of bonding for an immense sum for the purchase of waterfrontage for terminals in order to secure the greatest amount possible from the government upon her harbor task. Jacksonville cheerfully meets the task and downs the obstacles by going into her own pockets to pay the bill for a special session of the legislature.

Over two hundred miles south on the shores of the Gulf, St. Petersburg holds a membership campaign for her board of trade and when it ends there is a member for every ten residents of the city.

Tampa needs a new city hall and other modern improvements. If a sweeping majority the necessary bond issue is carried.

Near the headwaters of the St. Johns the people of one district of Orange county are determined that they shall have permanent brick highways. They cheerfully assume the burden by a magnificent vote and Sanford will have brick roads.

St. Lucie county many months ago voted bonds and is now paving a splendid highway throughout the entire county.

St. Johns county is working steadily and swiftly upon the improvement of her roads and is laying the foundation for a magnificent system of highways.

Take county by county in turn and one finds the work of progress going on.

Take city by city, town by town and even hamlet by hamlet from the Perdido to Key West and one sees improvement work, new and flourishing businesses, beautiful new homes being built, the spirit of progressiveness everywhere.

Take individual by individual throughout Florida and one will find the great majority sincerely progressive, each confident in the future of his home town, his county and his state, and ready to aid in any way in the splendid work.

For the booster has Florida most firmly in his grasp.

Is it any wonder that Florida is growing?—St. Augustine Record.

The project for a great scheme of Chinese railways, which holds the foremost place in Dr. Sun Yat Sen's program, has commanded the support of the Peking government and may involve a great extension of privileges of foreigners with possibilities of an immense increase in China's foreign trade. The Governor has authorized Sun Yat Sen to establish a corporation to carry out a system of national railways to cover 70,000 miles in extent. Mixed Chinese and foreign corporations throughout China proper for periods of about forty years, after which time the lines are to revert to China.

Aviator Paul Peck of Washington, D. C., holder of the American duration flight record, was fatally injured in a fall with a biplane when flying in a gusty wind at Chicago. He attempted to speed a spiral and when he struck the ground the heavy engine crushed through the wreckage, striking him in the neck.

Instead of being called to trial yesterday the first to be prosecuted for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, Police Lieutenant Charles Becker has won nearly a month's delay of the ordeal. Justice Bischoff, of the Supreme Court, today granted the application of John F. McIntyre, counsel for the indicted policeman, for a stay until Monday, Oct. 7th. The reason for the stay is to allow the appointment of a commission of one or three persons to go to Hot Springs, Ark., to take testimony which is said to be valuable to Becker's defense. This testimony has to do with Sam Schepps, the alleged paymaster of the murderers, who, after his arrest at Hot Springs, is declared to have told various persons that Becker had nothing to do with the Rosenthal murder.

When adjournment was taken for dinner today in the trial of Victor Allen for alleged participation in the Hillsville courthouse murders, Judge Staples had Floyd and Claude Allen, who were found guilty of first degree murder on the same charge, brought into court and sentence of death was passed upon them. The date of execution was fixed for Nov. 22.

A Republican ticket composed entirely of women candidates will be placed in the field in Idaho this fall against the regular Republican and the Progressive party tickets, making three Republican tickets.

Complete unofficial returns from the state election held in Maine Tuesday showed the following figures: Governor, W. T. Haines, Republican, 70,982; Frederick W. Plaisted, Democrat, 67,905; Haines' plurality, 3,023. Two years ago Plaisted was elected governor, the first Democrat to fill that place in the state in thirty years, by a plurality of 8,660. The next legislature will be made up as follows: Senate: Republicans 23, Democrats 8; Assembly, Republicans, 79, Democrats 72. This will give the Republicans a majority of 22 on joint ballot and insures the election of Congressman Edwin Burleigh as United States senator to succeed Obadiah Gardner, Democrat.

Reception for Mr. and Mrs. Wallace

Nearly 200 friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wallace met at the M. E. church Tuesday evening where a reception was tendered the new bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace arrived home from Washington Thursday evening. A social evening was spent, after which a fine supper was served by the ladies of the M. E. church. Several impromptu speeches were made and a general good time had by all present. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace are now at home to their many friends in Mr. Wallace's palatial home on south Main street.—Perry Michel News.

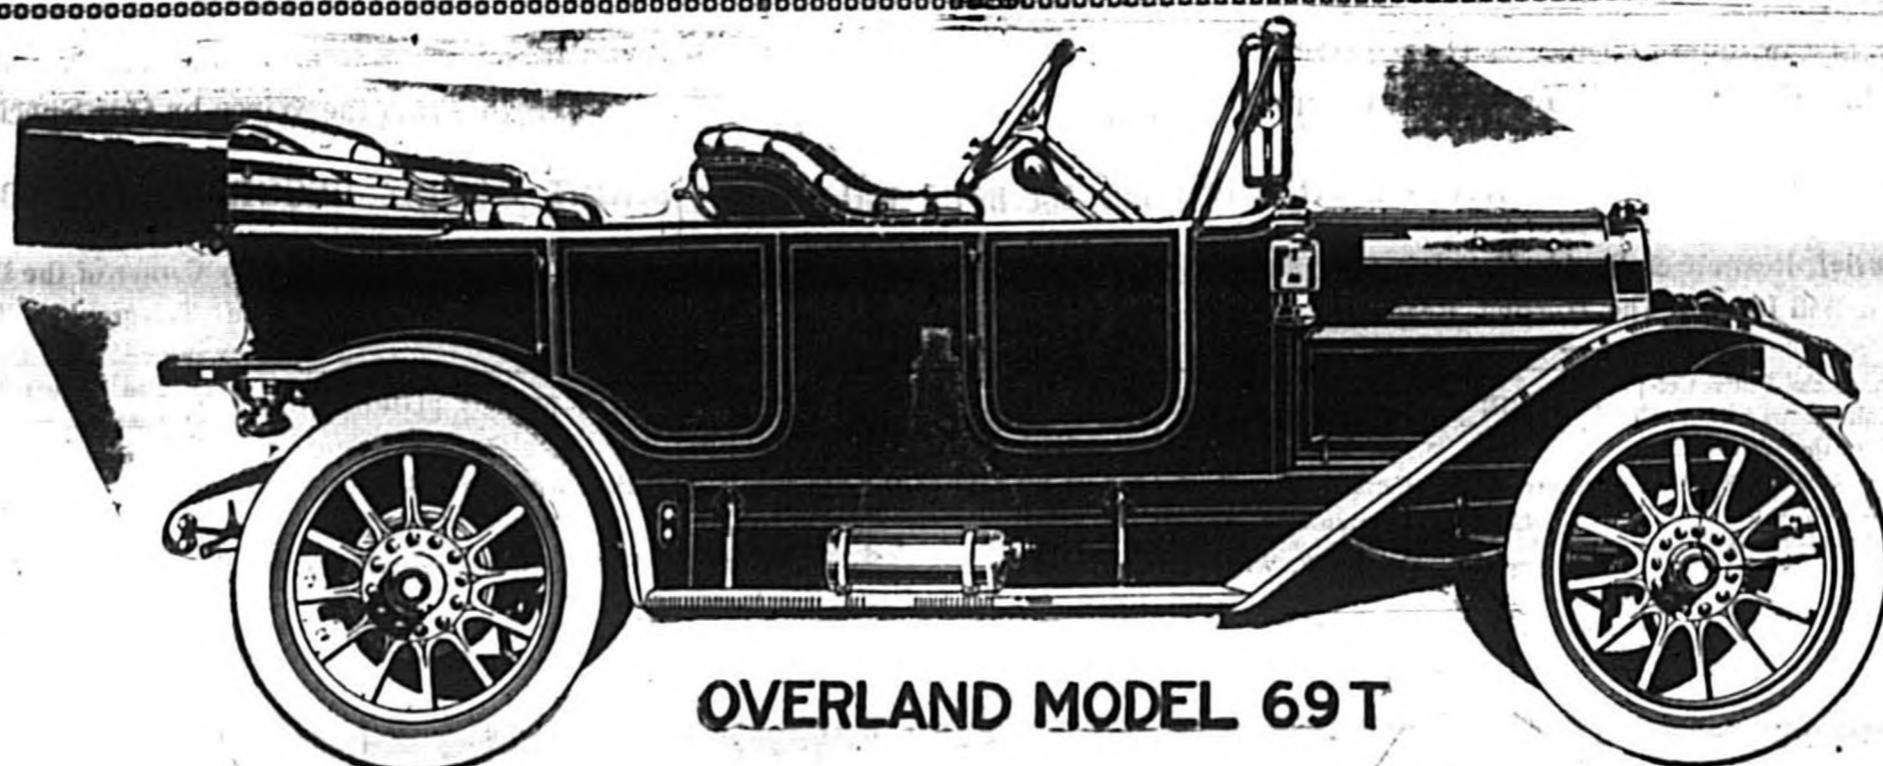

Mrs. Wallace was formerly Mrs. Anna Ludlum, who resided here several years.

1913 OVERLAND

OVERLAND MODEL 69T

SOME FEATURES OF THE 1913 MODEL

- $50 Warner Speedometer Self Starter
- $50 Remy Magneto 30 Horsepower
- $50 Mohair Top and Boot Timkin Bearings
- $25 Prestolite Tank 110 inch Wheel Base
- $25 Clear-Vision W-Shield 5 Passenger Touring Car

BECAUSE YOU KNEW THAT THE 1913 OVERLAND WOULD BE AHEAD OF THE TIMES, AS USUAL

This car, at this price, smashes all previous records. It even totally eclipses our 1912 values, which a year ago baffled the world. 40,000 Overlands will be made in 1913. This enormous jump in production makes possible this new car at this new price. As our production goes up, prices come down, as has been shown in each preceding year.

In this rapid age of progress it is sometimes difficult to grasp the full significance of an important, progressive manufacturing step, such as this car exemplifies. But when you sum up the extraordinary, cold dollar for dollar value which this car offers, as compared to any and all competing motor car values, the giant economical manufacturing strength of the huge Overland plants is realized and recognized. It only proves the ability of this most powerful and efficient automobile factory.

Here we can but call your attention to the bare facts. This is the car—a powerful, big, beautiful, spacious, comfortable, self-starting, thirty horse power, five passenger touring car—fully equipped—all ready for night or day, rain or shine, service. Made of the best materials on the market, by the most skilled men known to the trade, and in the most efficient automobile shops in America.

Equipped with extra large tires, $1,085

GENUINE CO-OPERATION

The adding machine is the symbol of a very practical kind of cooperation that is spreading in the northwest. According to Frank Barker Stockbridge, in the September World's Work, twenty thousand families in Minnesota, Wisconsin and neighboring states are successfully practicing cooperative buying and selling.

For instance, one man telling how it works with him, as a sample of the way it works with all, said: "I've got a share of stock in the warehouse. I bought and sold just $700 worth through the company in the last year. The dividends on the business done was 4 per cent. That makes $28. Then I got $3 dividend on my stock, so I got back $31 on an investment of $50, besides buying some fertilizer and tools as cheap as I could have bought them from any one else, and getting a higher price for my potatoes than any one else would have paid me."

Beyond a small dividend on the shares all profits are divided among the customers of the store or warehouse in proportion to the amount of their purchases or, as in the instance given above, of their sales to the cooperative company of produce as shown on their slips. There are fifty-five stores in Minnesota, forty-one in Wisconsin, twelve in the Dakotas, three in Washington and one in Illinois and they are doing an annual business of approximately $7,000,000. Furthermore, each of these companies is conducting an active propaganda and the number of these stores is increasing rapidly. Besides cooperative general stores there are in successful operation live stock shipping associations, fire insurance companies, potato and tobacco warehouses, grain elevators, creameries, cheese factories, cow testing associations and other developments of the cooperative principle.

As Mr. Stockbridge says: "It is a new economic democracy they are building up in the northwest, and the adding machine is its symbol."

A CHANGE IN DRINKING HABITS

The great Pennsylvania Railroad has announced that liquor will no longer be sold on its dining cars. Twenty-five railroads centering in Chicago have recently issued similar orders. This action is attributed to the steady growing sentiment in the country against whiskey drinking. It is not fanaticism, but commonsense that is bringing about the general feeling of opposition to the use of intoxicants.

The Columbia State, in commenting upon this subject, says that half a century ago it was not bad form to go out to dinner and "get drunk"—even to get under the table, but the fashion died. In more recent years moderate and restrained drinking was tolerated in company, and is still tolerated, but rapidly opinion strengthens that it is not wise. Men of intelligence are learning that drinking "doesn't pay," that even the temporary enjoyment from it is more imaginary than real and that good fellowship may be promoted by other means less injurious to health. They are learning that they feel better after an hour on the golf links or the tennis court than after three high balls, and an elderly man visiting a club of gentlemen now will discover that the proportion of the members taking a julep or toddy is far smaller than it was twenty-five years ago.

Young men at work are discovering that drinking and getting along in the world are not consistent. While those who wish to reform mankind by abolishing the sale of whiskey are probably not advancing with their propaganda—for the reason that men refused to be coerced or driven—common sense is dictating that intemperance or even moderate drinking is useless, and wasteful of time, money and energy.—Miami Metropolis.

FLORIDA TO THE FRONT

Sometimes when you are boasting your city and state the thought comes to you that such efforts are a waste of time. That the home people get tired of such twaddle and the foreign subscription list is of little moment. The Herald has never been troubled with such thoughts because the paper has produced such good results that we could not stop talking about our community if we wanted to do so. That The Herald is read in other states and commented upon the following from the Buffalo News, one of the brightest and biggest dailies of New York state would indicate:

"Florida is coming to the front industrially in the finest fashion. The Sanford Herald has long devoted itself to the patriotic task of showing the world what a splendid state Florida is for everything else, as well as for an adorable winter climate and a lotus eater's paradise.

The facts in favor of the development of Florida in agriculture, including fruit and truck farming, have been slow in coming to the knowledge of settlers ready to move from other sections into the peninsula, and still less does the general public understand what is going to make the state one of the most desirable in the Union to live in.

The great railway over the keys to Key West is only a sample of the enterprise that has become common in Florida. Holding fast to the attractions of winter, sports, fishing and shooting, dancing and flirting, ideal hotels and gay company, the state still is conscious of its grand opportunities for capital in competent hands to direct it.

Nothing that The Herald can say of the purity of the air of Florida is an inch beyond the truth about it. Before any thing was known of that country it had the reputation of holding the fountain of youth within its borders and uncounted multitudes find it there every year in the quality of air and water, and the steadiness climate that is pronounced faultless, neither hot nor cold, by the most traveled and experienced of world visitors.

The Herald is beginning to have its reward for the long and faithful service that it has rendered the land it loves with an almost passionate fervor. It is certain that many a northern visitor is envious of the Florida of the Floridians and dreams of it continually when the blasts of winter dominate this part of the world and he belongs for the time being to the Can't Get Away Club.

And all Americans share with the citizens of Florida the feeling of pride in the coming to her own of a noble state, one whose development has been long in assuming a vigorous form, but is today advancing by leaps and bounds."

The Pensacola News also mentioned the Marianna Leader in complimentary terms for endeavoring to tag the state papers on the initiative and referendum. Since Sparkman has been tagged long ago it makes but little difference about his opinion. Just ask him in passing about the ownership of his latest venture.

A BUNCH OF DEAD ONES

A newspaper that eternally boasts for the home town asks the people to patronize home industries and in other ways keeps everything moving and from all the work and talk gets but little encouragement from the dead timber that makes up many of the business men of some places feels justified in giving said "dead ones" a good roast and along this line the Key West Journal certainly held out a hot one as follows:

There is no use in beating around the bush any longer. The fact of the matter is that Key West is the deadest town on the map. Our business men carry off the prize for being the deadest and most unenterprising set in the United States. We actually believe that most of them are still dating their letters "August." If there is any other set of men in the world who have no interest in the city in which they live, who do not know what the word "progressive" means, who are content to live and die in the rut to which they have always been accustomed, then that set of men surely live in Key West. We understand fully that some of these "impediments" might take some of our revenue from us, but we would rather be broke and go out of business than to refrain from expressing our honest opinion of the business men of Key West. If we were organizing an order of "dead ones" we would begin in Key West and we believe we could enroll most of the business men of this city."

THE NEW TRIBUNE BUILDING

The Herald is in receipt of a cut of the New Tampa Tribune building and if it is half as fine as it seems from the engraving it must be a beauty. A personal letter from Editor Stovall is as follows:

"This is the most modern and up-to-date publishing structure in Florida. The building is unique, ornate and is of 12-inch Roman bond buff brick, trimmed in marble and is erected especially for newspaper and commercial printing purposes. It is strong, durable, well lighted, with all modern improvements so essential for the purpose for which it was designed. The Tribune is especially proud of its new home and cordially invites you when in Tampa to be its guest, so that you may see and fully appreciate the fact that the Tribune's new building is one of the classic and most modern in Florida."

Felkel and Sanborn of the Pensacola News are certainly going some in the journalistic field and among their latest achievement is the issuing of a Sunday morning paper. The News being an afternoon paper and there being no other Sunday paper in Pensacola indicates that Herbert and Sam are alive to their opportunities and have the nerve to wade in whether the water is cold or not. We wish them success in their latest endeavor to bring Pensacola to the front.

GO EASY ON HEALTH FADS

Trouble is That They Cannot Be Made to Suit the Physical Make-Up of All People.

Cleveland is the home of the newest fad. The Ohio city has a "Keep Well" club composed of persons who believe in restricting indulgence in food. They fast now and then from a week to a month. One apostle of the cult declares he has found abounding health in a diet of eight quarts of milk daily for eight months.

It may be that this foodless life is beneficial to some Clevelanders. It is probably also true that many people in other cities—perhaps even some in Detroit—eat too much, particularly in the summer time. But it is equally probable that many imitators of the cult will starve themselves beyond the endurance point of weak hearts and so commit virtual suicide.

It is just at this point that so many health, beauty, and nostrum fads become so deadly and so damaging. Every well-informed person knows that a wise medical practitioner when called to attend a sufferer, must try to adjust his remedies to the physical powers and idiosyncrasies of the patient. The remedy which acted like magic in the case of Jones who had la grippe may prove useless and actually dangerous to Smith, owing to some disturbance of Smith's digestion, weakness of his heart, or what not. So with health fads. Hence, before becoming any sort of a faddist see your family doctor.—Detroit Free Press.

WHEN MISS ANTHONY FAILED

Bowed in Defeat Before Her Woman's Nature, Though Probably She Never Knew It.

In an article on "A Woman and Her Raiment" in the American Magazine, Ida M. Tarbell has the following to say about bloomers:

"The story of the bloomer is quaint. It was launched and worn. It became the subject of platform oratory and had its organ. Why is it not worn today? No woman who has ever masqueraded in man's dress or donned it for climbing will ever forget the freedom of it. Yet the only woman in the Christian world who ever wore it at once naturally and with that touch of coquetry which is necessary to carry it off, as far as this writer's personal observation goes, was Mme. Dieulafoy, and Mme. Dieulafoy was protected by the French government and an exclusive circle.

"Bloomers proved too much for even the courage of dear Miss Anthony. For two years she wore them, and then with tears and lamentations resigned them. In that resignation Miss Anthony paid tribute, unconsciously no doubt, to something deeper than she ever grasped in the woman question. Her valiant soul met its master in her own nature, but she did not recognize it. She abandoned her convenient and becoming costume because of prejudice, she said. What other prejudice ever dimmed her! She thrived on fighting them; she met her woman's soul, and did not know it!"

Like Many Writers. Minnie—"I wonder what ever became of Jennie Smart, who took first prize in our graduating class?" Mamie—"Why, don't you know? She wrote an article on 'The Degradation of American Womanhood,' got $1,000 for it from a magazine, went into Wall street, made a fortune, and went to Europe and bought one of the sweetest little princess you ever saw!"—Terro Haute Express.

Debt Collection. No doubt the world does owe all of us a debt, but the question of collection is one which does not seem to be in a fair way to be settled. It is a lamentable fact that there will never again be such brilliant truths and witticisms spoken as those which were given to the world by the ancients. Still, there is balm in reflecting that they were born before we were and naturally had the first chance.

Mr. Swope is engaged in the real estate business and has the famous Black Hammock lands near Oviedo. He states that there will be more people come to Florida this year than ever before.

Fair Date is Changed

In conversation with Mr. W. R. O'Neal this morning he gave out the following relative to the Orange County Fair:

"Owing to the fact that Sanford has arranged to have a field day of sports on the 14th of February next, and contemplates making this an annual event, the board of directors of the Orange County Fair Association, this morning changed the date for opening the fair. The date as fixed will be February 17-22 inclusive."

MONROE NEWS

Bert Locke has returned. He has spent the summer writing home folks in New York. Washington, and Springfield in Virginia and reported having a fine time. He will engage extensively in the commission business here this season.

Mr. Jordan is back on his job as station foreman after a visit to Alabama. He is looking fine.

Rev. Summers preached a very interesting sermon here last Sunday afternoon. He will preach for us every second Sunday.

Criminal Court

Three cases tried in Criminal Court this morning, failed of conviction in either instance. They were as follows:

Frank Graham, colored, on the charge of larceny, on the first trial resulted in a mistrial, while in the second, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Noah Green, colored, on the charge of larceny, was found not guilty.

T. C. Caldwell, arraigned on the charge of aggravated assault, was found not guilty.

State vs. J. A. Denton, charged with issuing worthless drafts. Denton is remembered that J. T. Henson, a well known trader of this city, presented Denton, who bought the former's crop, charging the latter with issuing worthless drafts in payment of a portion of the purchase, some of the drafts being returned "for lack of sufficient funds." Jury brought in verdict of guilty and the case was appealed by the attorney for the defense.

SOME IMPRESSIONS AND EXPERIENCES OF A TRIP TO OLD ENGLAND

Lengthy discussions will be indulged in as to whether "we have made as many miles today as we made yesterday," or what line that ship away off on the horizon belongs to, or just when we will be able to get ashore in New York.

The time from two o'clock Wednesday until our arrival in Charleston the next afternoon was passed very quickly for the most of us, among whom the Captain and I were both fortunate enough to be.

Charleston we will leave for another chapter.

It was on the afternoon of Thursday, July 11th, just twenty-four hours after leaving Jacksonville, that the Comanche sighted the entrance to the harbor of Charleston, S. C.

So it was with a great deal of interest to one of the passengers at least that the low structure rising from the middle of the channel at the harbor's entrance was pointed out to him as Fort Sumter.

Having passed the fort we were soon drawing alongside the dock. It is then that one gets his first impression as to the age of Charleston.

Upon reaching the streets of the town and exploring them for two or more hours one finds that he is well repaid for enduring the intense heat of the mid afternoon, by the usual sights he has an opportunity to see.

little balcony that sticks out over the street and thus offer to the inmates of each house a good view up and down the street. But between each house and the next there is a stone wall somewhat higher than one's head, which evidently encloses a small garden or court, for sometimes one may see the tops of plants above the wall, or perhaps the gate that opens through the wall gives a glimpse of walks lined with rows of boxwood or beds of flowers.

But there are other sides to Charleston life. Charleston is a wide awake modern city, with many up-to-date business establishments, factories, banks all the accompanying instruments of commerce.

Historically and artistically Charleston is so intensely attractive that those who have written of her have oftentimes been led to treat without due consideration the mere material side of the city's past record and present life.

Among the more interesting sights of Charleston besides Fort Sumter and the old parts of the town, that will repay the visitor, may be mentioned Battery Park with its Jasper Monument, Washington Square and the historic Pitt Monument, the United States Custom House, Marion Square with its Calhoun Monument and fronting it the South Carolina Military Academy, and St. Philip's church, the resting place of John C. Calhoun.

Promptly at four o'clock we were all back aboard the boat. But as is usually the case we were there much too soon, and had an opportunity to watch the loading of the boat by the negroes.

After the boat is fully ready to sail and the negroes have finished their work, they gather at the edges of the wharf in the expectation of some passengers tossing them a nickel or a dime for the pleasure of seeing them scramble for it.

and proudly sticks out his tongue from the cavernous depths of his mouth and exhibits on the end thereof the nickle. Sometimes it happens that the coin will fall near the edge and then the fellow that has rushed too near the edge will possibly be pushed overboard by his eager opponents.

It was getting nearly dark when we finally sailed from Charleston. But we were soon out upon the ocean again, where one could enjoy the fine ocean breeze once more. This was on Thursday and from then on all began to count the hours until the arrival in New York should take place.

Friday was another beautiful and calm day

Orlando Snake Story

A jar of snakes hatched in the sun are now on exhibition at the Reporter-Star office.

A real live snake story, and one that is true, comes from the banks of the Econlockhatchee, in Orange county and is vouched for by one of the prominent families of that section.

One afternoon last week, Mrs. A. J. Reed, whose postoffice is Maitland, R. F. D. No. 1, and box 29, came into this office and presented this editor with a glass jar containing some seven or eight snakes.

"I came to Orlando to visit my sister, Mrs. E. C. Drawdy, and thought that I would bring along the jar of snakes, produced by sunshine."

When questioned as to what kind of snakes they were, Mrs. Reed stated, "Some of the neighbors call them 'sting snakes,' while others say they are the 'cat snake.'"

But snakes they are, and real lively ones at that, for they do not hesitate to strike at any one, although only a few days old.

These young snakes are rather slender, and are striped, somewhat resembling the rattler.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

Use Muck Lands For Fertilizers

Nature Has Provided a Way For Fertilizing the High Pine Lands of Florida at Very Small Cost

T. K. Bates in Times-Union

Some experiments have been carried on in the Sanford celery delta by a few of our growers that have conclusively proven that the lowlands of the St. Johns river, its tributaries and adjacent lakes, known as river prairie and muck lands, will eventually release to their owners untold fortunes which are now stored away in their top soils and which are now available in a lasting manner.

These muck deposits are at times submerged and occur in sloughs, pockets and depressions. The composition is that of decayed humus which has been gathering for untold ages. Erosion from the highlands and the natural wash of the lakes and streams have deposited vast quantities of grasses, weeds, twigs, leaves, bark, mosses, root, vines, ashes, trunks of trees, and animal matter which has festered, rotted and decayed, thus gathering unto it in the various chemical changes such elementary constituents of plant food as are necessary to increase the output of any given crop grown upon land properly top dressed with nutritious food from 20 to 35 per cent.

As an indicator of the advantages of muck to growing crops, a record was kept of the celery production on the above mentioned area for a term of five years and was placed in comparison with the adjoining land which did not receive the muck treatment.

While these tests were made the land was in constant use, growing three crops of vegetables and one of corn, or two of hay, each season. No very perceptible falling off in ratio of production was noted and from careful observation the muck will continue to exert its influence over growing vegetation coming within its zone for a period of seventeen years.

The muck was applied in clods and lumps after the soil had first been turned under and was then pulverized with a cutaway harrow and well worked into the ground for a depth of seven inches. The cost of applying was one dollar per load or twenty dollars per acre. The relative increase in production for the period of five years amounts to 775 crates of celery—to say nothing of the increase yield in the other crops—which at a market price of $1.50 per crate amounts to $1,062 thus creating a value of $53.10 per load for this period of five years, all of which goes to demonstrate the value of this neglected avenue of wealth production.

A sample of this muck soil was sent to the Department of Agriculture at Washington for analysis. A statement was returned to the effect that the sample showed two and one-half per cent ammonia, giving it a value of $8 per ton. The average Florida soil is deficient in humus, which is caused by the annual burning over of the woods, prairies and lowlands by stockmen each spring, thus destroying tons upon tons per acre of vegetation which should be returned to the soil in decayed form instead of in ash.

One acre of soil of ordinary tansity and an foot in depth weighs 1,750 tons. If the value of muck is $8 per ton, as stated by Mr. Wiley, the yield per acre in fertilizing material has a value of $12,550 and still this type of land because of its overflowing proclivities can be had at a dollar or two per acre along almost any waterway in the state.

tags amounted to $46,859 for last year and showed that 183,437 tons had been distributed, the value being $4,952,799, of which Sanford used 5,500 tons with a value of $192,500. There were shipped from this point by our local plant 7,500 points in the state.

Florida is the second state in the south in the average number of pounds of fertilizer per acre used and consumes a higher grade than any other state. South Carolina uses 320 pounds per tilled acre, valued at $2.49, while Florida used 191 pounds per cultivated acre, valued at $2.74.

When the top soil of a Florida acre has been turned by the plow and the rays of the sun have reached down and gathered the moisture from it and copious rains fall and wash the humus and color out of it and it again becomes dry and glistens under the rays of the sun, the casual observer would deduce that there was little good to be brought from said acre. It seems that the Omnipotent Provider has prepared for just exactly this condition by distributing over the state large areas of prairie and muck deposits for the specific purpose of having it used to bring into a profitable state of fruitification the millions of acres of land within our state that from all surface indications is pronounced worthless.

An Old Story

From Aesop's Fables comes the story of a father and his several sons who were divided in opinions and efforts to such an extent that the family was not a prosperous or happy one. The father one day called his sons about him and showed them a fagot composed of a number of sticks bound securely together.

This was written over two thousand years ago but it is nevertheless striking up to date—yes, up to the minute. Mr. Farmer of the Sanford district, you are never going to accomplish the satisfactory sale of your products either at home or in the markets as a single stick. You are never going to be able to buy your supplies of crates, fertilizers, etc., at a minimum cost as a single stick. You are never going to have a uniform pack that will be a credit to you in the markets as a single stick. You are never going to be able to regulate the production of your commodities so as to avoid glutting the markets (with consequent great loss to yourself) as a single stick. In fact, you are not going to be able to hold your own as a single stick.

That day has passed. Competition is too keen and extensive in your line, and every other fellow who touches any part of your business "gets his" first, and you get what is left—and you know that has been for the past few years since this business of producing vegetables has grown so large.

No, Mr. Farmer of the Sanford District, the day of the single stick has passed. There is a way, however, a sure and practical way, that will lead straight to Prosperity. Do you ask what it is? The answer is, "The Florida Vegetable Growers' Association."

CAMERON CITY CLIPPINGS

The friends of J. C. Rich were shocked to hear of his being in a runaway accident, in which he was badly hurt. Being thrown from the buggy he fell on his head and shoulders and was picked up unconscious. He is now on crutches with a badly sprained knee and is slowly recovering from the shock and the bruises. Mr. and Mrs. Rich are now in Wichita with the son, Dr. Rich.

We learn with regret that Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Worthington are planning to leave this community and take up their residence in Tampa during the coming month. They will be greatly missed by their many friends here.

The Armour Fertilizer people are going to paint their Cameron City warehouse very soon.

J. D. Petrie has returned to Cameron City to live and will farm this coming season.

Among the Sunday visitors this week were Miss Mabel Anderson of Sanford, Howard McClelland from the West Side and Prof. and Mrs. Maris.

We hear that McClelland, the enterprising groceryman at Moore's Station, is greatly improving his property by using paint. Mr. Gilbert is doing the work.

Word comes from Dr. and Mrs. Swartz that they are enjoying their pleasant home and surroundings at Baltimore and that Dr. Swartz is gaining strength slowly.

Howard Swartz of New York will spend several days here this week on his way to Gainesville to resume his work in the school at that place.

The Wight Grocery has purchased several loads of celery boards from the Buss place to use in the erection of a barn on their store property at Beck Hammock Station. Dr. Buss desires to sell the remainder of his celery boards.

A letter from Mrs. Ludlum Wallace tells of her recent marriage at Spokane, Wash., and her new home at Perry, Mich.

A merry party gathered at the home of James McMillan Sunday afternoon and enjoyed the luke. Among the guests were the families of R. E. Gormly and W. W. Dresser.

A young man, named Hutchins, has moved on to the Dutton farm and will share-crop it the coming season.

GENEVA JOTTINGS

Joe Seig is home for a short visit.

Rev. E. Leo Smith, pastor of the Baptist church, held a short series of meetings last week, which resulted in two new members added to the church, Carol Culpepper and Hillie Grant. They were baptized in Lake Geneva Sunday.

We are glad to learn that all who have been on the sick list for the last two weeks are convalescing.

Clifford Proctor is home from Fort Pierce.

The ladies of the M. M. S. society were delightfully entertained by Mrs. David Speer and Mrs. J. V. Wicks at the home of the latter last Thursday afternoon. The invitations were in the form of little boots with a request written in verse that each lady should enclose in the boot money to the amount of four times the size of her shoe. This contribution to go into the society fund. Among the amusements furnished for the guests was a contest in which each lady was given a row of pins and requested to take them from the paper one at a time and then replace them in the same way. The hostess gave two and one-half minutes' time for this to be done. Mrs. Pattishall won the contest, finishing in less than the given time. After this pieces of white muslin and needles threaded with black thread were passed and the ladies were asked to outline some animal. This resulted in some queer productions and caused much merriment. Mrs. Aubrey Moran was the winner for this contest, her outline of a horse being almost perfect. Mrs. E. Leo Smith, who was the guest of Mrs. Wicks, favored the company with some fine piano selections, which every one greatly enjoyed. After this a delicious two course luncheon was daintily served consisting of chicken salad, wafers, pimento sandwiches and olives; ice cream with maraschino cherries and Nabiscoes. It was late in the afternoon when adieus were said, all thanking the hostess for a very enjoyable time.

Mrs. H. H. Pattishall had for her guests last week Mrs. Beggs and Mrs.

Wilson of Titusville.

Mrs. J. H. Huddleston went to Jacksonville last Saturday to visit her daughters Mrs. Fred Yerkes and Mrs. Eustus Baxter.

MOORE'S STATION

This Sunday, the 16th, Rev. C. H. Summers has an appointment to preach here.

There was an interesting program and a good crowd at the Farmers' Improvement Club meeting Friday evening, the 6th. Next regular meeting will be on the 20th. All invited. This week Friday evening the debate will be on the liquor question.

About twenty matrons and maids attended the Aid meeting at Mrs. Jos. Hickson's last Wednesday. Delicious ice cream and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cameron are spending some time at Coronado Beach. On Monday, the 2nd, Mrs. Cameron was stricken with paralysis on one entire side and both sides of her head, being in a serious condition since. She was quite ill before going to the coast, but it was thought she would be benefitted there.

Mrs. C. C. Morris and three children left the first of the week for a visit with Mr. Morris' sister in Ft. Myers.

Ed Cameron went to Jacksonville last week to enter Draughon's Business College. His brother Henry went with him for a few days, seeing the sights.

Mr. Fountain and family have moved from the Brady farm over to the east coast, where Mr. Fountain will work on an experimental farm.

Duncan Mitchell is at home after doing guard work at a camp near Norwalk several months.

Fred Cowan is here for a visit and expects to return to camp soon.

Miss Mae Prevatt of Geneva was a visitor at the McClelland home Friday.

Golden Lake is being lowered and the hyacinths taken out. Messrs. Hancock, Schwartz, Dutton and McMillan are footing the bill. Jas. McMillan has charge of the work.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Worthington, their daughters, Miss Worthington and Mrs. Kitchener and grand daughter, Margery and L. J. Hancock dined with Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Sunday.

Joe Cameron has some good looking cattle in pasture on the Herndon and Howard & Packard farms.

Sam Keene, enroute from a business trip to Georgia to his home in Bowling Green, was a recent visitor at the home of his daughter, Mrs. K. L. Britt.

Jas. Hichson of Celery avenue wanted the public to know that there was a black hog at his place and that he was unable to find the owner.

OVIEDO

Rev. E. Leo Smith and family, returned from Geneva Monday morning, accompanied by Rev. Mr. Cole. Rev. Smith held a few days' series of meetings which resulted in great good. A Great Boon To Women

A Wonderful Remedy for Women's Diseases Offered on Absolute Guarantee Of Money Back if it Fails

There is no other treatment for woman's diseases that can possibly do as much good as Reno's New Health. The best proof of this is the fact that it is sold under an absolute guarantee of money back on first bottle if it does not relieve. No other medicine of this kind has merit enough to be sold in this way without bankrupting the proprietor.

Reno's New Health is a powerful remedy for Beauty, Profuse, Irregular, or Suppressed Menstruation, Sickly Periods, Constant Weariness and Weakness, Depression, Cramps, Dizziness, Violent Headaches, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Back and Groins, Leucorrhoea and all Inflammation and Ulceration and Discharges of the Vagina and Uterus.

Do not confuse Reno's New Health with patent medicines. It is the prescription of an eminent New York physician, now placed within your reach because it has proven such a blessing to weak and sick women that it would be a sin to confine the prescription to any private physician.

Reno's New Health has saved thousands of women from surgical operations. Many a woman suffers pain in both sides from the hips to the knees, often so severe that she can hardly walk or stand. A surgeon advises an operation but it does not cure. Even if the woman lives to leave the operating table, she will be a nervous wreck. Use Reno's New Health to save yourself from an operation and restore in a natural way the organs to their natural conditions and functions.

Statistics show that Reno's New Health is saving more women from the operating table than any other known remedy. It so invigorates and restores the system that all foreign growths are absorbed and the organs are restored to their normal condition. Be on the safe side. Use Reno's New Health and get well.

The guarantee under which Reno's New Health is sold positively protects you from spending a penny without getting a dollar's worth of relief. If Reno's New Health cures you the cost is small, if it fails the cost is nothing. Could any offer be more fair?

Are You Nervous?

What makes you nervous? It is the weakness of your womanly constitution, which cannot stand the strain of the hard work you do. As a result, you break down, and ruin your entire nervous system. Don't keep this up! Take Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is made from purely vegetable ingredients. It acts gently on the womanly organs, and helps them to do their proper work. It relieves pain and restores health, in a natural manner, by going to the source of the trouble and building up the bodily strength.

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Grace Fortner, of Man, W. Va., took Cardui. This is what she says about it: "I was so weak and nervous, I could not bear to have anyone near me. I had fainting spells, and I lost flesh every day. The first dose of Cardui helped me. Now, I am entirely cured of the fainting spells, and I cannot say enough for Cardui, for I know it saved my life." It is the best tonic for women.

Do you suffer from any of the pains peculiar to women? Take Cardui. It will help you. Ask your druggist.

POULTRY

EARLY MOLTING OF CHICKENS

Western Poultryman Gives Excellent Method of Controlling Hens in Changing Feathers.

Most people believe that if they can force their hens to molt early they will lay more eggs during the season, but this is not true. Hens that have molted late will lay more eggs during the winter than the early molters.

This has been shown by the most careful experiments, but the facts are not generally known.

Molting hens require a large amount of feed containing nitrogen such as oil meal, meat and other feeds rich in protein. Molting can be forced by cutting down the feed of hens as it has been shown by experiments that scantily fed hens begin molting earlier than those on full feed, but the former do not finish molting much earlier.

Starved hens molt more uniformly than others and this is particularly noticeable in hens two or three years old.

In an experiment conducted by the Cornell experiment station it was found that on a basis of 100 hens the fed flock produced eggs to the value of $29.97 more than by the starved flock.

The total income from all the birds was $378 for the starved flock and $408 for the fed flock, a difference in favor of natural molting for the year of about $30.

A western poultryman of long experience gives his method of controlling molting as follows:

As soon as the hens are through laying he turns them out on alfalfa, feeding them dry bran only, in addition. Under this treatment they get thin. Then he feeds them a mixed ration of grains and meat, giving a light feed in the morning and all they will eat at noon and night. Under this treatment they finish molting quickly, get new feathers and begin laying in September. By October 1 they are all in good laying condition and make a profit through the fall and winter.

The KITCHEN CABINET

MAILES KINGWILEY says "Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do that day which must be done, whether you like it or not. Being forced to work, and forced to do your best, will breed in you a hundred virtues which the idle never know."

THE BALANCED RATION.

Preparing a balanced ration for one's family means more than one would think. The season, the climate, age, occupation and condition of health must all be considered in determining the food for an individual.

In different seasons different foods are best, this is also true of climatic conditions. The age, too, has much to do in deciding what is best for the diet. The occupation of a person, namely an indoor or outdoor worker, the kind and amount of food varies for such.

It is only within recent years that women have begun to study these needs of the family, and now there are comparatively few who give it more than a passing thought. Many women feel that instinct tells them the kind of food to prepare. It may be true with some, but instinct is not a reliable guide, as many sufferers from all sorts of stomach troubles and other diseases painfully testify.

There are many people today suffering in middle life because of improper feeding in their youth.

The proteids are represented in our diet by meats, eggs, milk and cheese; the carbohydrates by sugars and starches and the fats by butter, cream and nuts. When we speak of a balanced ration we mean all these food principles used in the diet in proportion to the needs of the body. A growing child needs bone and muscle-building food, such as eggs, milk, grains as cereal food and as bread. The outdoor worker is able to consume and assimilate more and heartier food than the office man or school teacher.

The problem of foods, as to quantity and food value, must be worked out by every woman who has the responsibility of feeding a household.

We are glad to learn that in these days of high prices in meats there are other foods of equal value as to sustaining power in nuts, peas and combinations of vegetables, with a very little meat for flavor.

117 EAST FIRST STREET - SANFORD, FLORIDA - 117 EAST FIRST STREET

Letter From Col. Thrasher Paris, August 31, 1912.

Editor Sanford Herald

This morning I was at the Place de la Bastille, and on top of it, and when I returned to my hotel the Sanford Herald of August 16th had just arrived, and as usual I read it with avidity and interest, and found many items of news, and among other things was the article about the anniversary of the fall of the Bastille, July 14, 1789.

Possibly a few lines from one who was on and in it today concerning the famous and historic Bastille may interest some of The Herald's many readers.

The Column, which stands on the spot where the old Bastille stood, is called the "Column of July," and was erected to the memory of the brave patriots who were killed there. The Bastille was a strong and almost impregnable fortress and prison, just at the entrance to the city of Paris. The walls were ten feet protected by a moat and many cannon. The revolution had begun and the cry spread speedily throughout the city, "Down with the Bastille." The garrison consisted of 138 men, but nearly one-half of them were old or wounded soldiers, with a very scant supply of provisions.

The Bastille was stormed by the citizens and several regiments of soldiers, headed by French guards, and after some fighting and loss of life the brave band surrendered. The prisoners were set free. The rage and fury of the populace was so intense and furious they could not be restrained and the Commander of the old fortress, DeLaunay, and his officers were slain and their heads cut off as trophies. That place is also a noted one in the annals of two subsequent revolutions, viz: June, 1848, and on June 25th Archbishop Affre, while exhorting the populace to peace was struck by a stray ball and instantly killed. Again 1 May, 1871, the sight of that old Bastille was the last stronghold of the Commune.

The Column of July is 154 feet high, and rests on a massive round white marble base, originally intended by Napoleon for a colossal fountain. On that marble base rises a square base on each side of which are six bronze medallions, symbolical of Justice, the Constitution, Strength and Freedom.

It is of bronze, thirteen feet in diameter, to which there is a door and spiral stairs, with 240 steps from the bottom to the top, and from that great altitude one may (as I did this morning) see Paris spread out like a map. The Column is divided by four bronze bands, into five sections, on which the names of 615 fallen braves are emblazoned in gilded letters. The top is surmounted by a huge globe on which the Genius of Liberty stands. Herewith I enclose a postcard picture of the Column of July. Bear in mind the fact, that there are no sky scraper buildings in Paris (or London). The Eiffel Tower, it is true, is about 1000 feet high, but that is a skeleton framework of steel, and I don't count it. Consequently the view of Paris from the top of the Column of July unobstructed by sky scrapers, including the Pantheon, the Cathedral Notre Dame, the Dome over Napoleon's Tomb, the Arch of Triumph, the opera house, the Louvre, and the river Seine, winding its way through the city, with its thirty bridges, is simply grand, attractive and intensely interesting. I should have mentioned also the Place De La Concord and the obelisk from Luxor, Egypt, which stands on the exact spot where the guillotine stood, and where, between January 1793 and May 1795 nearly 3,000 persons perished by the guillotine. That place is the most beautiful in Paris and one of the finest in the world. It is 390x235 yards and bounded by beautiful monuments, gardens, etc.

This is long enough. Jacksonville has taller buildings than Paris and yet Paris was more than one thousand years old before Columbus discovered North America—and at one time it was no larger than Sanford. A. M. THRASHER.

STATE HAPPENINGS BOILED DOWN FOR THE BUSY

A Brief Resume of Florida Happenings That Will Interest The Hurried Reader

Tampa is to have a guava jelly factory which it is said will operate on an extensive scale.

The big auto aerial truck recently installed at the central fire station in Jacksonville made its "maiden voyage" in response to a fire alarm Thursday afternoon.

It will be a surprise to the outside world to know that the magnificent Tampa Bay Hotel, down in Tampa, supposed to be an enduring monument to the enterprise and charm of that city, is falling into a melancholy state closely resembling ruin. This hotel when built was viewed with pride by every citizen and it carried Tampa's name and fame to the remotest bounds of the country. As a ruin it hasn't the age necessary to attract legends and romance to it, and attract tourists because of its antiquity and its historical associations, and it would seem that Tampa pride and enterprise should combine, to repair the beautiful structure and again put it in commission as a great modern hotel.

In an article written for the Tampa Morning Tribune, General Manager William Chase Temple, of the Florida Citrus Exchange, gives his estimate of the citrus crop of Florida for the coming season. Mr. Temple says the crop this year will be fully 50 per cent greater than last year, which will make the produce this year more than seven million boxes.

The new 5 and 10 and 25-cent store in Tampa has been completed and was opened to the public Thursday morning. A fine soda fountain has been installed in this up-to-date store and a rest room for ladies, with rugs on the floor, plate glass mirrors on the walls and chairs and tables of mission oak are also to be found there.

John B. White, erstwhile postmaster of Mulberry, but who got into serious trouble with Uncle Sam, because he ran a savings deposit scheme that did not have the sanction of the postoffice department and resulted in negro patrons losing their savings, was brought in from Montgomery, Ala., last Saturday night by Charles W. Hatden, an Alabama deputy sheriff, and is now in the Tampa jail.

Allens Are Captured

Sidna Allen, leader of the Allen clan which shot up the Carroll county courthouse at Hillsville, Va., Mar. 14th, killing Judge Massey and others, and his nephew, Wesley Edwards, are manacled in cells at the city jail in Des Moines, Iowa, as a result of love affairs which led detectives to them. Both have announced their willingness to return to Virginia without requisition.

Edwards, for the love of whom Miss Maude Iroler of Mount Airy, N. C., had innocently led detectives to Des Moines, was captured as he was returning to his boarding house after having worked all day with a paving gang. Just as he boarded a street car, detectives and officers surrounded it. Edwards was trying to escape by crawling through the front end of the car when officers caught him. The arrest of Sidna Allen was effected earlier in the day.

A visit by Edwards to Miss Iroler in her North Carolina home about a month ago and the accidental loss of a letter put the detectives on the trail. The fugitives had been in Des Moines since April 28th.

Rev. J. F. McKinnon is one of the latest to join the ranks of autoists. He recently purchased a handsome E. M. F. touring car, which will be very useful to him in making trips over the county as superintendent of public instruction.

SANFORD'S MILITARY COMPANY

Enthusiastic Meeting Held and Officers Elected Last Night

Sanford will have a military company. This fact is now assured and the manner in which the boys attended the meeting last night and their determination to organize under the leadership of good, able and efficient officers bespeaks success for the company that will hereafter carry Sanford's colors upon the encampment field or perhaps upon the field of battle.

For several months W. C. Palmer has labored to organize a military company here and the full attendance at the first public meeting demonstrates that the Sanford boys are anxious to join the state militia with a full complement of good men.

E. G. Moore, as a representative of the state, acted as temporary chairman and Will Lefler as clerk.

The object of the meeting was stated and the matter put up to the boys in the true light so there would be no mistake made in their enlistment.

W. C. Palmer was nominated as Captain and to demonstrate their regard for him the nominations were closed and he was elected unanimously.

P. L. Moore was nominated as First Lieutenant and this position being a man's job was passed up to Moore and he was elected unanimously.

The second Lieutenant's position was the prize among the boys and Willie Hill, Ed Lane and Archie Betts were nominated for this position. Mr. Betts withdrew his name and Willie Hill was the successful candidate.

All the officers have had experience in military tactics. Captain Palmer served in the National Guards and in the war with Spain was a member of the cavalry and saw hard service on the Cuban campaign.

First Lieutenant Moore served the full term in the Spanish-American war as a member of the South Carolina company and was afterwards connected with the militia of that state for several years.

Will Hill, the second Lieutenant, has had experience in several well known military colleges and has a good knowledge of military tactics.

The Sanford company will be mustered into the Florida National Guards with a full complement of men and the citizens will never have occasion to be ashamed of their military boys at home or abroad. This company will do more for the young men of Sanford than any other form of recreation or exercise or training could do, and a term in the company will make the boys better men in every way.

The company will receive new members up to a certain time before the roster is closed and all the men who have not already signed should see the officers and find out the requisites for becoming members. The new company will become part of the Second Regiment, thus giving Orange county two good companies in the Second.

At the Congregational Church

Services will be resumed in the Congregational church next Sunday, and the Rev. J. D. Langley, who has been a resident of this city for the past year, will preach morning and evening at the usual hours. The congregation is urgently invited to come out and hear his message and every one, stranger or otherwise, will be cordially welcomed. Good music under direction of Mr. E. T. Woodruff. Tues & Fri

Capt. R. H. Marks has returned from a business trip to Jacksonville.

The Stumon Orchestra will furnish music at the Imperial Theatre for the present season. The new manager of the Imperial has several good things that are new to Sanford and will announce them in a later issue of The Herald.

Park Trammel Sees Victory For Wilson

GRAND OLD PARTY IS WRECKED

The Same Old Roosevelt is Trying To Straddle The Old Issues By Adopting New Ones

Hon. Park Trammel, the present attorney-general and the Democratic nominee for Governor of Florida, in commenting upon the national situation, said:

"As I view the situation, it is practically the same old fight between the Democrats and the Republicans, with the difference, however, that in the present contest the Democrats are united and in harmony, while the Republicans are divided into two factions. One wing, being headed by Taft, and the other by Roosevelt. This split in the Republican party, coupled with the fact that the Democratic party has a strong platform—full of progressive Democratic policies, and has in the field a most excellent ticket—makes the situation most favorable for a Democratic victory in the November election, and I believe we are going to win.

"The old Republican party has struck the rocks, and its ship is going to pieces. Through all the years of its power, both under the Roosevelt and Taft regimes, it has been the friend and promoter of the special interest classes, in fact, it has been in partnership with the favored few. One group of the tariff barons are placing their hope and trust in President Taft, the other group knows from experience that they have a friend and champion in Mr. Roosevelt. The great masses of the people need not expect any real sympathy or substantial relief from the success of either of the candidates leading the two wings of the Republican party. The high protective tariff, which is really the paramount plank upon which Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt stand, has nurtured and fostered trusts and monopolies in America until today the great problem of the nation is one of putting down these gigantic trusts and monopolies which have flourished so under Republican rule.

"The Democratic party and Democratic leaders have heretofore led in the advocacy of progressive policies, and in fact and in truth the Democratic party is today the party of progressive policies and principles. It is in this party that we have the hope of once again restoring to the people their government with the benefits which justly belong to them.

"It is apparent that Mr. Roosevelt is trying desperately to catch support from Democrats, but in my opinion few if any Democrats will be disposed to support a Republican heading a new party which was launched because he did not, when he asked for it some three months ago, get the nomination for President from the Republican convention. While he and his running mate and the other candidates of the new party are under a new banner in their effort to catch both Republican and Democratic voters, it is very apparent that the Bull Moosers or the National Progressive party, is in reality but one wing of the Republican party. It was suggested and created almost entirely by Republicans who only three months prior to the birth of the Republicans were delegates to the Republican National convention which nominated Mr. Taft. The convention brought together by Mr. Roosevelt to nominate him was composed almost exclusively of Republicans. In the several states, including Florida, those whom the Bull Moosers have nominated for the various offices, with but very few exceptions, have been life-long Republicans and have heretofore spent their energies fighting Democracy and its policies. The Democrats neither north or south are lining up with this wing of the Republican party, which for the last thirty days only has been calling itself the Bull Moosers or the National Progressive Party.

"This Roosevelt wing of the Republican party sailing under its new name by assuming a 'fence straddling' policy on the negro question I am told, hopes to break in on the Democratic party the game will not work. Overtures and promises are all right if past events give them the stamp of sincerity, but are vain

SANFORD GROWERS HAVE MONEY

Several Hundred Tons of Fertilizer Being Sold for Cash

One can hear rumors of the Sanford growers being broke because the tail end of the crop last year went bad and some of the stuff did not bring good prices. There are plenty of people in every community that are eager to cry "hard times," shut up in their shells and realize a profit on the misfortunes of their neighbors. The story that the growers would not plant much stuff this season was mere fallacy when one contemplates the extensive preparations being made to grow stuff this season in the celery delta.

Several growers banded together this year to get their fertilizers and get the benefit of the price in quantity. Wilson & Toomer through their local agent, R. C. Maxwell, made the best figure and received the contract for seven hundred tons of fertilizer. Not only is this a large order for fertilizer, but the payment is to be cash, which explodes the time worn theory that there is no money to be made here.

Paying cash for fertilizers, buying it seven hundred tons at a time and riding in automobiles does not seem at first blush like a bunch of growers who went broke and if the real truth is known the majority of the growers made money last year just as they do every year. Only it is not good business to tell how much money you have made and maybe the growers are getting wise to this fact.

However, figures would indicate that the Sanford Celery Delta must be in very good shape financially and there seems to be quite a bit of planting going on and quite a bit of real money being expended.

Rev. Waldron Resigns

Rev. Geo. B. Waldron, pastor of the Congregational church, has sent in his resignation to the trustees, but as yet there has been no opportunity to bring it before the church. It must necessarily be accepted, however, as Rev. Waldron has been appointed Supt. of Congregational Home Missionary Work for the State of Florida and will enter upon his new work immediately. He intends making Sanford his headquarters and will continue to occupy the parsonage for the present. He returns this week and will be present at prayer meeting Wednesday evening, when he wishes to meet as many of the church people as possible.

and unreliable when all out of harmony and accord with the past conduct and record of those who hold out the promises.

"The people remember that only a short while ago Mr. Roosevelt was President for seven years. During those seven years the Democrats of the south, believing as they do in a white supremacy, used their best efforts to have the United States offices of the south filled by white men, but despite their efforts and the southern sentiment on this question, Mr. Roosevelt, throughout his entire time as President, retained the negro Joe Lee, of Jacksonville, as collector of internal revenue of Florida, with his score of negro deputies. He insisted on retaining the negro, Crum, as collector of customs at Charleston, S. C. He is the man who, while President, dined the negro, Booker Washington, at the White House. He is the gentleman who brazenly proclaimed in connection with the negro holding public offices in the south that he would not close the door to the negro. This is a little of Mr. Roosevelt's record upon this question when he was in power and not trying to get the voters of the south to support him. So far as the south is concerned, certainly his past record shows that no confidence is to be placed in him maintaining the white man's supremacy.

"With our party united and in harmony, I am looking forward to a great Democratic victory in November."

The terms for peace between Italy and Turkey have been practically arranged, with the exception of a proposed loan to Turkey, of between 500,000,000 and 600,000,000 francs concerning which Italy is now communicating with the French, English and Belgian financiers, according to a telegram received today by the Paris Temps, from Rene Puaux, one of its editors at Geneva. The terms of the proposed settlement include, the despatch states, the tacit acceptance by the ports that Italian occupation of Tripoli is an accomplished fact, Turkey being permitted to retain a Mediterranean port at the extreme end of Lybia, with a narrow strip of country allowing communication with the Arabs in the interior.

Bertram G. Spencer, who as a masked burglar shot and killed Miss Martha B. Blackstone at Springfield on March 11, 1910, paid the penalty of his crime with death by electrocution at the Charleston state prison at 12:18:02 this morning.

A secret John Doe investigation surrounding the arrest Saturday night of "Gyp the Blood" and "Louie Lefty," two gun men who are alleged to have slain Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, was begun today before Justice Goff. The purpose of the investigation, according to the assistant district attorney, is to determine whether the police destroyed or suppressed letters or any other evidence which implicated the men in the murder when the cues to their whereabouts was obtained.

Hopes of settling the strike in the Kanawha coal fields of West Virginia diminished today when the operators refused to accept Governor Glascock's plan of arbitration jointly offered the operators and the miners. The plan was agreeable to the miners. The executive's plan was believed to be a solution of the trouble. The operators refused to accept it on the ground that all men, both union and non-union, would not abide by the decision.

El Tigre, one of the richest mining camps in North Mexico, was retaken by federals at 4:30 this afternoon, after having been in the hands of the rebel band of Inez Salazar for two days. Telephonic communication with the camp was restored just as the federal troops were moving in, and Superintendent L. R. Bodow telephoned that the rebels still were in sight, going over the hills. Not a shot was fired in the recapture of the town.

Captured "Gyp the Blood"

"Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie," the missing gunmen indicted as two of the actual slayers of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, were found by the police Saturday night living with their wives in a flat in the Brookville section of Brooklyn. They were arrested by Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty and a squad of detectives who brought them to police headquarters and locked them up. They were arraigned yesterday.

The two men had been occupying the flat since August 15, and were alone until last Tuesday when they were joined by their wives through whom clues to their whereabouts were obtained by the police.

The four were sitting at tea when Deputy Commissioner Dougherty and his men burst open the door of their apartment, and with revolvers drawn ordered them to hold up their hands. Neither of the men made any show of resistance.

"Drop your guns. You've got us," said "Gyp" calmly.

"Give us a little time to get dressed, will you?" said "Lefty Louie," with equal composure.

Scarcely another remark was made to the police by either man until they were examined at police headquarters, later by Assistant District Attorney Moss, acting for District Attorney Whitman, who has gone to Hot Springs to take testimony of persons who talked to Sam Schepps, a witness in the case.
