Sales Tax Beaten By Overwhelming Bi-Partisan Force

Committee Appointed To Find New Way Of Raising $600,000,000 Contained In Bill

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—The House Ways and Means Committee today appointed a sub-committee to draft proposals designed to raise in about $600,000,000 revenue to replace the amount stricken out of the new tax yesterday when the House rejected the sales levy. Senator Blaine, Republican of Wisconsin, announced that hearings will be opened Apr. 14 by the Senate military sub-committee on proposals for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and modification of the Volstead Act.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—House control from party leaders, an overwhelming bi-partisan force yesterday struck the sales tax from the billion dollar revenue bill. It was the most spectacular result in years, finished with the confidence of four previous major victories, the belligerent sales tax opponents swept the provision out 223 to 153.

Cheers from members and the crowded galleries greeted the decisive action, while a White House visitor reported President Hoover was "quite disappointed" at the outcome. Backed by Democratic and Republican leaders, the 225 percent levy on manufacturers sales formed the base of the $1,000,000,000 tax bill and was expected to yield $600,000,000. The Ways and Means Committee that originates revenue legislation has been blamed for the failure.

Counsel For Cities Attacks Validity Of Utilities Tax

QUINCY, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—Attorneys for seven Florida municipalities debated counsel for the state before Circuit Judge F. E. Lewis today on the questioned validity of the utilities tax law. The cities of Lakeland, Orlando, Winter, Titusville, Clearwater, and Leesburg attacked the act as unconstitutional and asked for an injunction halting State Comptroller Ames from enforcing the law.

Under the statute the state takes a tax of one and a half percent on the gross revenue received by corporations, firms, and individuals from the sale or use of electricity and gas for light, heat, power and for telephones and telegraphs.

SIZEABLE LEAD OF ROOSEVELT IS INCREASING

Georgia Primary Returns Indicate He Carried Every One Of State's Counties

ATLANTA, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—The landslide for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in Wednesday's presidential primary in Georgia became more impressive yesterday as additional returns showed he carried each of the state's 159 counties and increased his tremendous lead in popular votes. The governor, in complete returns from all counties polled, 65,517 popular votes to 9168 for Judge G. H. Howard, of Atlanta, who sought Georgia's 28 votes in the Democratic national convention for Speaker John N. Garner. Under Georgia's unusual primary system, whereby the county is the unit, and not the popular vote of the state as a whole, every county in the state will instruct its delegates to the state Democratic convention here Apr. 6 to endorse Roosevelt for the Democratic presidential nomination. At this convention Georgia's 28 delegates to the Chicago Democratic national convention will be chosen, and instructed to seek the nomination of the New York governor.

English Monarch Breaks Precedent Of Long Standing

LONDON, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—For the first time since the reign of James II, the King of England made a public appearance in the poor in Westminster abbey. It is an old custom which originally included the distribution of money and provisions to the needy. Not for 200 years has a king taken part in person. Yesterday King George and Queen Mary came to the abbey with a procession of ecclesiastical and court dignitaries. The Dean of Wells wore the symbolical towel of the lord high almoner. The king and queen sat behind the altar and the 67 men and 67 women who had been selected to receive the gift filed before them. There was one man and one woman for each year of the king's age. To each of them the monarch handed a little red pouch containing 50 shillings, in place of the provisions distributed centuries ago. Then he gave to each a white pouch containing the Maudsley money in specially minted coins. This ceremony is a revival of the times when the king used to walk the feet of the 12 poor men in commemoration of the washing of the Apostles' feet by Jesus.

Five thousand persons shivered in the cold as they stood for two hours listening to "Alfalfa Bill" give a scathing attack upon the Hoover administration and voice a righteous appeal in behalf of the farmer and the "average man." Kidnap Scare Sweeps U.S. Capital As Alice Roosevelt Is Among Those Involved

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—A kidnap scare swept the Capital today after police disclosed that extortion notes, accompanied by threats, had been received by Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, Sir Whitcomb Lewis, London Times correspondent, Ben Lyon, movie actor, and others. Police, however, predicted an early arrest. They are working to identify the man responsible for several if not all of the notes which involve a promise of kidnapping Lewis, a young son unless $1000 is paid, and the daughters of Mrs. Longworth and Lyon, whose wife is Bess Daniels. A threat of suffering for Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, unless she turned over $1500, has brought about an intensive police investigation and maintenance of a detective guard for her home. Police disclosed late yesterday that she, the widow of the former speaker of the House, received two extortionist notes of a type similar to several received by other prominent Washingtonians. Frank W. Burke, police inspector, expressed the opinion that the attempted extortions are an outgrowth of the Lindbergh kidnaping. He said more than a dozen such messages have been directed to well-known people here in late weeks.

LATEST RAY OF HOPE IN KIDNAP CASE DECLINES

Information Stating Child Is On Yacht Said To Have No Specific Significance

HOPEWELL, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—Police announced today that Colonel Charles Lindbergh himself had come to the conclusion that information brought by three citizens of Norfolk had "no specific significance" in the investigation of the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby. Colonel Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the state police, received the report yesterday that Norfolk men had information indicating the baby might be on a yacht in Chesapeake Bay but after investigation and consultation with Lindbergh, he said it had no specific significance. Dispatches from Norfolk had said hope for the safe return of the baby centered largely upon negotiations reported under way there between the kidnapers and three resident intermediaries listed as Rev. Dobson Peacock, Rear Admiral Guy Burrage, retired, and John Curtis, boat manufacturer. Schwarzkopf's announcement today was made in behalf of Lindbergh.

Ohio Miners Strike In New Coal Taking Area

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—A new field was added today to the districts where thousands of coal miners are on strike in Ohio.

The protest strike against wages in the Hocking Valley and Muskingum Creek fields, involving some 7000 miners, spread to the western field during the day when more than 1000 coal diggers threw down their tools and walked out. The owners of two eastern field mines ordered the workings closed when they refused to accept the wage cut.

At a 9 A.M. Adjutant General Henderson went into the southeastern field to confer with Brigadier General Connelly of Cleveland, who will direct any national guard forces sent into the district. The officers met at Athens, after General Connelly had inspected several mines, including Mt. Pleasant No. 6, where two recent bombings occurred.

The strike situation in this field was quiet, but early in the morning a sniper attempted to pick off a guard at the Lock Run mine near Nelsonville, and the guard answered with fire from a sub machine gun. No one was injured.

84 Percent Of Money For Schools Is Paid

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—The Florida Education Association Journal for March says the state paid the 67 counties of Florida $4,575,204 for their public schools in the five months from Oct. 1 through February.

This sum was paid toward the $5,400,000 appropriation made by the 1931 legislature for financing the schools during a standard eight-month term, the Journal says, and represents about $380 paid toward each $460 allowed for each instruction unit.

"This exceeds by more than a quarter of a million dollars," the magazine says, "the total sum distributed by the state to the counties for the whole of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931. It is 64 percent of the appropriation set up for the current year under the new plan of distribution."

Enoch was arrested when he called the Buchanan home from a pay station, but established his claim that he was drinking and got a wrong number when he attempt-

Gov. Roosevelt may not suit the powers that be but he certainly gets away big with Georgia Democrats.

Most of us have been hearing so much about this General Depression we have forgotten all about our Private Affairs.

Jack Dempsey used to say that the best defense is a good offense. That perhaps accounts for Japan's defensive war in China.

The Washington Post believes that Japan's chances for saving her face over Manchuria would have been better if she hadn't lost her head at Shanghai.

That may also account for the number of candidates.

"Better Citizenship" week certainly came at a most appropriate time. With a big election in the offing and an intensive campaign already under way, there's going to be an excellent opportunity for our people to show some good citizenship.

Kidnaping is getting to be a habit with the underworld, it seems. Twenty-five hundred cases in the last two years. Alice Longworth, daughter of former President Roosevelt, received a threatening note the other day. Why, if you haven't been kidnaped, you are viewed with suspicion by those who have.

The announcement of E. F. Wheeler brings the present legislative session up to the three in number. Mr. Wheeler and Bob Kelly are lined up against each other in Group No. 2, while Group No. 1 boasts only one candidate, Frank Kay Anderson of Alachua.

E. F. Holmes and G. W. Cannon had announced in this group but withdrew. It is now rumored that George McBerry will be a candidate against Mr. Anderson. And there may be others.

Heart Failures

According to recent figures submitted by the New York Tuberculosis and Health Association, considerable progress is being made by medical science toward diminishing fatalities in practically every kind of sickness except heart disease. During the twelve year period ending in 1931 over 190,000 persons died of this affliction in New York City alone. During 1931 twenty-four percent of all deaths were directly attributed to heart failure.

Such figures lead one to believe that the pace of modern life is too fast. The heart, evidently is one part of the human machinery which cannot be abused. Its mechanism is exceedingly delicate, its function absolutely essential to the existence of the entire body. Gln and jazz, which constitute so large a part of modern life, have been taking their toll.

However, another very logical theory has been advanced as to the reason for the increasing number of heart sufferers. Dr. John Wyckoff, who recently conducted an investigation into this matter, reports: "The fact that there are more deaths from this cause today than there were before is a perfectly natural one. The chief point in the increase in heart disease is simply that more people are living to an old age than did formerly. They reach an age now where the heart begins to wear out and break down."

There seems to be no flaw in that statement. As science has made progress in preventing deaths from tuberculosis, pneumonia, and other ailments, which formerly exacted so large a toll of lives, it has created a situation which naturally results in a larger number of heart failures. People evidently have to die of something, and if science can keep them from dying of everything else they simply live on and until the heart wears out and their death is, of course, attributed to heart disease.

However, the heart is just like any other kind of machinery. If properly taken care of, it will last much longer. Protecting it from the ravages of fever or other sicknesses helps materially, but these beneficial influences certainly must be counteracted to a large extent by the speed of jazzmania.

Brisbane Praises

Arthur Brisbane, highest paid newspaper man, whose daily column probably is read by more people than any other feature, is spending a few days in Miami and has been saying some very complimentary things about that city and about Florida. He tells of how Florida men take business philosophically and cheerfully and recites some of the vicissitudes of the land boom, the hurricanes, and the fruit fly, and in the end makes a very pointed inference that this state is a good place in which to invest.

As an example of the rugged foundation and fundamental worth of Florida he recounts the story of a Miami banker, Ed Romfh, whose institution during the boom assumed elephantine proportions with $77,000,000 in deposits, which within a very short time shrank to $12,000,000. He describes a photograph in Mr. Romfh's office showing long lines of customers coming to draw out their money, but he says, "He paid everybody that came, did not rediscout the notes of any clients, and is still in the banking business, shock proof and fool proof."

There are many other examples of business in Florida which met the unusual fluctuation of fortunes with equanimity and success, and it is upon these businesses that public confidence is being placed, with the result that this state will be in the vanguard of the parade back to the levels of sane prosperity.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. A. M. Frederick, of Miami, president of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs, arrived in the city today. She will be the guest of Mrs. Henry Wight and will be present at the meeting of the Wednesday Club to be held at the home of Mrs. Wight this week.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dickens will be glad to know that their son, Arthur, who was accidentally wounded in the leg three weeks ago, has improved so much that he is able to be rilled about in a roller chair whenever he wants to go. In a few weeks more he will be able to use his limb.

Fifty railroads, comprising practically all the lines east of Chicago and north of the Norfolk and Western, today refused to grant an increase in wages demanded by locomotive engineers. The engineers' demands were presented on Jan. 22 and were for an increase amounting to about 10 per cent a year. The railroads declare they are financially unable to bear the increased expense.

North Dakota was the first state in the Union to give expression to public sentiment in a presidential primary. The balloting took place Mar. 19 and awakened as much interest as any ordinary presidential election. La Follette swept the state, beating Roosevelt two to one, while Taft merely had scattering votes.

Along with the growth of Sanford is the growth of new business. This will be a new department in the establishment of J. B. TAXES AND THE AUTOMOBILE

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

Leaders of the automobile industry have asserted that motor vehicles could be taxed on a sliding scale. They have held that reasonable taxes on the individual vehicle would not so much as to make revenue as heavy loads because they would foster ownership of cars.

They now consider their average annual investment in the motor car as a business investment. It is estimated that during 1932 an average of 1,000,000 cars were sold in the United States. The total investment in cars for that year was $1,000,000,000.

The new tax law has been so drafted as to tax the car as a business investment. It is estimated that during 1932 an average of 1,000,000 cars were sold in the United States. The total investment in cars for that year was $1,000,000,000.

ments on a quarterly basis. By paying one-fourth of the total fee, the motorist gets a sticker which he attaches to the car windshield. At the end of the period another payment of the same amount brings him a sticker of another color, and so on.

In adopting the new program, Arkansas officials were influenced by thousands of citizens, but by the practical consideration that probably from 50,000 to 50,000 vehicles otherwise would not be registered. They recognized that not only a revenue charge but also a license fee.

THE MENACE OF THE BORNADO

NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE

This week's disastrous tornadoes in the Southern states are another proof that these storms never arise from purely local circumstances but always as a result of weather conditions covering a wide area, often the entire continent. This fact is small consolation to those ruined and bereaved, but some day it may be, for this is the thing about tornadoes which promises that they can be predicted. If meteorology can learn enough about their upper roots in the clouds, tornadoes being up-side-down cyclones, with their violence mostly below. Already it is possible to detect with some assurance the kinds of weather by which tornadoes are bred. What is needed in addition is increased knowledge of upper air conditions during such "tornado weather" to allow reasonable guesses of the places where actual storms are likely to be generated.

The weather conditions back of this week's family of storms were especially clear on the weather maps of Monday and Tuesday mornings, between which times the storms occurred. For several days previously two of the larger but slower cyclonic storms common at this season were moving eastward across the United States. One of them, some hundreds of miles in advance of the other, was central on Monday morning in the neighborhood of Nova Scotia. Its follower centered over Arkansas. As usual, there was a southward drift of cold air behind the foremost cyclone, creating cold weather over the Great Lakes. A northward drift of warm air from the Gulf of Mexico preceded the second cyclone, creating unusual warmth in the region where the tornadoes were to strike. That was Monday's condition at the ground surface. The cause of the tornadoes, however, was in the strata a mile or more above the ground.

Conditions at those higher levels are less known than on the ground, but it is probable that a blanket of the cold air from the north had slid out southward on top of the warm, moist air from the direction of the Gulf. Thus the atmosphere over the states which were to suffer was unstable—a stratum of cold and heavy air lying on top of a stratum of warm and lighter air. The condition was topheavy and could not endure. Apparently at several points almost at once the unstable equilibrium broke, vast upward whirls of the lower warm air got under way and the tornadoes resulted.

This topheavy condition in the atmosphere is usually the reason why tornadoes begin. It is a condition not always so easy to detect from the weather maps as it was on Monday morning, but it would be detected always by a sufficient number of weather observations at different heights above the ground, made either by balloon or, preferably, by airplane. Such an extension of the routine work of the Weather Bureau, upward from the ground level long has been felt to be desirable. Someday, doubtless, it will seem worth while to provide the funds.

SUN BATHING

MIAMI HERALD

In order to get its mind off financial affairs and crime, Chicago pretends to be scandalized over the proposal to permit nude sunbathing on the lake shore this summer. It is suggested that a high stockade be built to segregate the men and women so that only Old Sol will be privileged to view the scenery, aside from airplanes that may fly over the country.

The councilmen, for some reason, became excited by the idea and divided into two camps. The sunny devotees have their oratorical advocates while the civic welfare and public respect busy discovering an issue over which to stage a merry conflict. To prevent a rumpus, the mayor placed the question on file. Where it belongs and may remain.

The war is just a bit of nonsense that shows the good old summer time is on the way, that spring fever has started to break out. It is all right to sop up the ultra violet rays, as Miami can testify, but one does not have to recline on the beach for that purpose. The sunbathers just as much in a back yard as out on the public sands. A person can also soak up sufficient sunshine while wearing the ultra modern bathing suits and without casting aside all apparel.

These nude bathers who insist upon completely disrobing and then occasionally demand their attention. This they receive to their heart's content when a city council engages in an argument over their contentions. But it affords amusement, and so there is some return for the foolishness.

Announced that the committee would submit today proposals for excise levies on certain industries to round out the bill so it may yield enough revenue to balance the budget in 1933.

This embraces parts of the administration program proposed earlier. Unable to proceed further because of the tumult in the unworkable House, the leaders on both sides agreed to postpone action on an amendment to levy a tax on beer of 2.75 percent alcoholic content and forced an adjournment of the branch over protests.

Despite the defeat, Speaker Capper said amendments to take up the slack of about $45,000,000 would be offered by the committee until the bill had been re-written on the floor and sent to the Senate.

On the Senate side, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, forecast that Congress would be forced to return after the national political convention in June, to complete the work because he did not believe it was possible to draft a satisfactory tax bill before that time.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, expressed confidence, however, that Congress could finish its work before June. After the battle, Representative Snell, of New York, the Republican leader said:

"We want the country to know that the Republican fully appreciates the need and business necessity of balancing the budget and will do all in our power to accomplish this goal as soon as possible."

Labor Department Investigating New Smuggling Racket

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—The inside story of a new "racket" which the labor department is working overtime to crush was unfolded before the Senate immigration committee yesterday by Secretary Doak.

He related how his department had uncovered a growing conspiracy in which alien smuggling, extortion and even murder play a part.

"We have been very actively engaged," he said, "in trying to ferret out these racketeers who have brought people into this country after working overtime to crush the immigration committee."

These racketeers charge a large price for bringing aliens here and then they make them pay so much every month on the threat that they will show them over."

A group of Asiatics living in Cuba, he said, were offered an opportunity to get to the United States for $100 apiece—then they were landed on a small island off the Florida coast where they nearly starved to death.

U. S. Plainsman Is In Moscow To Give Advice On Cattle

MOSCOW, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—Robert F. Lamont, Jr., wearing the 10-gallon hat of the American plainsman, reached Moscow yesterday to talk with Joseph Stalin about running Russia's cattle industry.

The soviet government invited the son of the American secretary of commerce to look over the ground for himself and to come all the way from his 15,000-acre ranch in Colorado.

He wouldn't talk about the under-taking yesterday, because, he said, he doesn't know much about it himself yet. Yesterday he met the officials of the agricultural commissariat's live-stock division.

Then he will investigate the present status of the industry for about three weeks before going back home to think the matter over.

Lamont left Denver last month, announcing that the Russian government had asked him to take complete charge of cattle breeding. Soviet officials want to raise the per capita consumption of meat to 100 pounds a year, placing it on a par with that of the United States, he said, but he thought that would take about 20 years. Russia has 35,000,000 cattle and 17,000,000 sheep, as compared with 65,000,000 cattle and 20,000,000 sheep in the United States. Mr. Lamont said. He indicated that if he could inaugurate a scientific breeding system he might be willing to undertake the job on a year contract. Reports said the Russian government had offered him $50,000 a year.

William Powell Is In New Role At Milan
A brand new William Powell — a smooth and delightful comedian — is revealed in "High Pressure," the Warner Bros. production playing at the Miami Theater. It is a story of slick stock speculators and their fast-stopping legs and presents Powell in the most significant characterization of his career.

He has some of the attributes of a band and of Get-Rich-Quick-Wall Street, but is more of an irresponsible and irresponsible nature, boyish, loving fun, pleasure and luxury, and altogether lovable. It is a role that reveals the polished and sophisticated William Powell as a high class comedian.

The story deals with characters who are speculators and good hearted, but so irresponsible and so anxious to get rich quickly that they make pretty close to the mark on the way of the law.

The fast and furious scenes which are held in the stock exchange are kept in the background, the main thing being the comedy and the plot of the story.

BODY CHAIRMAN GIVES LECTURE ON WATERWAYS

Herbert M. Corse, chairman of the Inland Waterway committee of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce delivered an interesting address over station WJAX yesterday afternoon which has been given the approval of heads of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and other waterway enthusiasts who heard it.

In his address, Mr. Corse explains the part his group is taking in the developing of waterways in Florida, particularly in the canal measures now being discussed.

His address in full is as follows: "The Florida State Chamber of Commerce through its Inland Waterways Committee, and co-operating with other chamber of commerce groups throughout the state, has been taking an active part in the development of inland waterways.

"The United States Government, in its program of constructing a continuous coastal waterway on both the Atlantic and Gulf coasts is nearing completion of inland water highways both from the East leading from New England and Canada, and from the West leading from the Gulf Coast, Mississippi Valley and Mexico. By the first of next year the Atlantic Coastal Waterway will be complete from Boston to Miami, with but one outside gap, a distance of 80 miles on the Carolina coast. Plans are underway to eliminate this gap.

BILL MURRAY GIVES SECOND TALK IN STATE

 by filled the block between Adams and Forsyth, with an additional throng packing the streets from these other directions.
 With characteristic humor and keen sarcasm, Murray held the rapt attention of his hearers for two hours. They punctuated his address frequently with outbursts of applause and cheers of encouragement.
 Near the close of his address, a voice in the crowd yelled for his views on prohibition. He gave them quickly and with emphasis.
 "There are more damn fools on both sides of the liquor question than on any other issue today," he declared and added, "I think it is more sensible to worry about buying a meal and having a surplus to buy a drink than to worry about where you are going to get the drink."
 The prohibition question, he asserted, has been under discussion 1200 years.
 "I know one thing," he said. "We'll destroy ourselves economically by dividing on the question of the 18th Amendment."
 After telling the milling throng that he already had 23 pledged votes for the nomination, Oklahoma's 22 and that of his brother elected as a delegate from South Dakota, Governor Murray said he wanted Florida's 18 delegates.
 "Next week," he added, "I am going into Nebraska, and watch me carry Nebraska."
 He declared he would make bids for the votes of Oregon, Ohio and West Virginia and "then I think I'll go into Pennsylvania and give 'em a round."
 Introduced by Mayor John T. Alsop, Jr., who expressed admiration for the fiery Oklahoman but said that he did not agree altogether with the latter's views, Governor Murray said in his opening remarks, "whether the Lord Mayor agrees with me or not I don't care a darn, nor do I care whether anyone else agrees with me. I am preaching what I think is right."
 "If I can't be nominated," the governor said at one juncture of his speech, "I want to be the balance of power between the people and Wall Street. They say I am out of the picture but by the time Chicago rolls around I'll promise you it will be the most dreaded picture they ever saw."
 Murray charged that some of the other candidates for the nomination had declared themselves on any question and added they "either don't know anything or are afraid to express themselves."
 Four years ago, the speaker told his hearers, the country was produced a return to prosperity by the Republicans. He described the present conditions as constituting the "worst panic this country has ever experienced."

 Typical Murrayisms to which the crowd was trained are as follows:
 "We've had too much bunk on the stump and in the press. Anyone who says he can abolish poverty is just a plain fool."
 "We have a good business man in the White House, the wealthiest man we have ever placed there. We had a business man at the head of the treasury and look what a mess we are in."
 "We had an absurd idea that an engineer would make a statesman. That he can ditch, drain and dam the country is a guarantee that he is a good engineer but certainly, no indication that he is a statesman."
 "History shows us that the men who knew the most about the people made the best Presidents."
 "I am opposed to any New Yorker for the nomination. I may not be nominated myself but I'll scuttle their ships. The man reared in New York, in the shadows of Wall Street, cannot know any more about the people than Satan can comprehend a plan for salvation."
 "When you make the farmer prosperous and give the laboring man a decent wage everyone will be prosperous and the country will progress."
 "Learn the past and you'll know the future. Learn the past and you can solve the future."
 "Civilization invariably has begun with the plow. When the plow has been junked at the end of the furrow, commerce and business were junked, too."
 "The first function of the government should be to foster the interests of the man with the plow."
LAKE CITY, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—North Central Florida maned several thousand persons here yesterday afternoon to hear William "Alfalfa Bill" H. Murray, governor of Oklahoma, bring his presidential aspirations into Florida.
 Introduced by State Senator Fred Cone, Murray spoke from a bench in Olustee Park in the center of the city.
 Liberal applause greeted his remarks and especially his citation of his Oklahoma record. Murray centered most of his speech on attacks upon the Republican administration.
 Franklin D. Roosevelt was the only Democratic candidate, for the nomination, named for Murray. He dismissed Roosevelt with the plea that a "New Yorker is not aware of the public pulse and therefore not qualified to serve the party."

My community is the place where my home is founded, where my children were educated, where my income is earned, where my friends dwell and where my life is chiefly lived. I have chosen it, after due consideration, from among all the places on earth. Let us let my neighbors say a prayer for me.

WHEELER STATES MID-WEST IS ON VERGE OF REVOLT

Something Has Got To Be Done To Refinance Farmers

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—Declaring "the people of the Middle West are on the verge of revolt," Senator Wheeler, of Montana, announced yesterday he will introduce in Congress within the next few days a farmers' reconstruction finance bill parallel to the measure recently enacted for the benefit of financial institutions.

He doesn't see, he said, "how any one can be much of a fighter against it, because it contains almost identically the same provisions the administration has made in the bill for the relief of the financial institutions."

"Something has got to be done," he said, "and the Democratic senator from Montana, who represents the farmers, otherwise they will lose their farms and move to the cities, thereby increasing unemployment."

Senator Wheeler made his announcement at the headquarters of Governor Roosevelt's pre-convention campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"My bill," he said, "will provide for loans to farmers, so they can save their farms, at the same interest rate now charged by the reconstruction finance corporation to financial institutions."

"The general feeling in the northwest and the middle west is that the administration's relief measures adopted by Congress have not been of any benefit to the small business man or to the laboring man or the farmer."

"They feel that President Hoover's idea has been to help those at the top, and that he has helped the bankers, the railroads, and the insurance companies, but that none of this has or is likely to seep down through so that the small business man or the farmer will get any benefit from it."

"The banks out there are not functioning, so far as the farmers are concerned."

"I believe that in this country we can have no pick-up until the purchasing power of the farmer and the laborer is restored, bringing commodity prices."

"Wife-Swapping" Participant Has New Difficulties

CAMDEN, N. J., Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—Binney Woodward Earl, one of the principals in a society "wife-swapping" of 1928, faced new alimony problems yesterday.

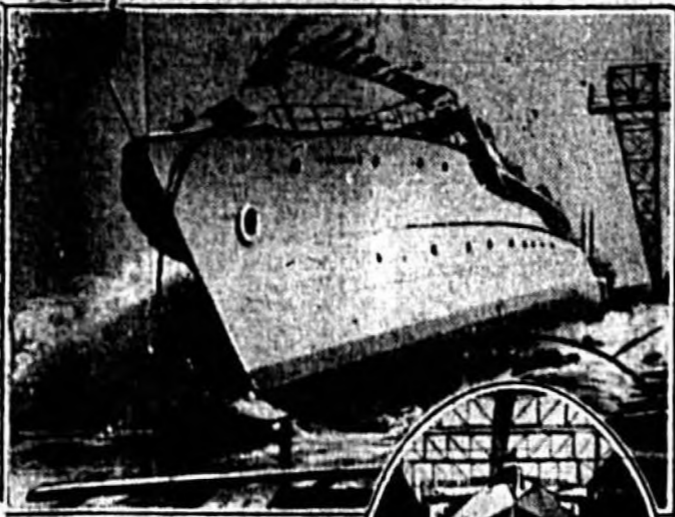

Mrs. Irma Leigh Earl of Burlington, N. J., who divorced him in 1918, brought suit against him through Robert Peacock, the attorney who won a divorce and a $15,000 a year alimony for Mrs. Maybelle Stillson Earl in 1928. Mrs. Irma Earl has asked for no specified amount.

The aftermath of the "wife-swapping" by which Earl remarried Mrs. Maybelle Earl, relieved him of the $15,000 alimony order.

Emil Reinbold, a Palm Beach neighbor of the Earls, was named co-respondent in that divorce suit. About the same time Reinbold divorced his wife, naming Earl.

After the divorces Earl and Reinbold married each other's former wives. A double divorce at Tampa last year ended that arrangement, however, and last September Mrs. Maybelle Stillson Earl Reinbold added another Earl to her name. Reinbold and his original wife still are separated.

LAUNCHING A SHIP

Popular Mechanics Magazine

Two ways of launching a ship are shown. At top, a thousand-ton vessel slides into the water sideways, a method that is claimed to put less strain on the ship since every section along the fore-and-aft line theoretically meets the water at the same time. Bottom view is that of endwise launching. Regardless of the method, heavy hawsers hold the ship in check as she slides down the ways on a thick coating of grease.

Despite a Japanese warning that the Chinese were violating the Japanese ultimatum of Feb. 20 calling for the evacuation of a 12 1-2 mile zone around Shanghai by occupying the Chiawangiang positions, the Chinese have shown no signs of leaving.

Japanese officials Wednesday asked British consular authorities to request the Chinese to withdraw south of Soochow Creek. Japanese military headquarters remained unanswered and there said today their communication was a delicate situation within the area concerned.

They hoped, the Japanese said, that events would not force them to take positive measures there.

Despite admitted uncertainties in the situation, the Japanese continued today to move out the Eleventh Division of their troops, the final contingent leaving for Japan.

Formal negotiations for an armistice between the Chinese and Japanese meanwhile opened for the second day with all the participants hopeful for success.

A session of the peace parley ended yesterday without definite accomplishments and troops in

said, however, that he was sensing a renewed confidence in things by the people generally and declared that conditions are not in as bad a shape as the ballyhoo would lead one to believe.

The distinguished ex-cowboy, attorney, bank president and World War veteran with citation for "gallantry in action" has changed his mind relative to the backbone stamina of some Americans as the result of the stress of economic affairs. He said that after the World War he had been convinced that there were no cowards here, but as he viewed the economic wreckage he has changed his mind. It is a different sort of cowardice, but a lot of people "got the buck ague," and Mr. Hurley would have everybody brace up and face things with eyes to the future.

controlled Congress following Mr. Hoover's lead in the adoption of the economic program. He emphasizes the difference in the present crisis in comparison with previous ones by pointing out that in the others finance had a well defined leader, industry had one, the railroads had theirs, and the manufacturers theirs. Everything has depended this time on the President and as Mr. Hurley views the situation Mr. Hoover has done his best to preserve America's heritage.

Meanwhile the war office is going ahead with plans to replace some of the troops in Manchuria. No figures were available, but it was emphasized the troops which began landing yesterday are replacements only and that the Manchurian force will not be increased.

SHANGHAI, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—Sniping between Chinese and Japanese soldiers in the vicinity of Chiawangiang today added to an uneasy situation of armed watchfulness around Shanghai.

Both sides said there also had been a skirmish between their outposts near Kating, northwest of the city, each accusing the ad yesterday that only a few voters turned out but that the result was Roosevelt 28, Howard 4.

 In the Democratic preferential primary in Georgia Wednesday the governor for the first time was opposed by a candidate advocating the nomination of Speaker Garner of the national House of Representatives. It was his third victory in a preferential primary. He won New Hampshire in a contest with Alfred E. Smith and swept North Dakota over the opposition of Gov. W. H. Murray, of Oklahoma.
 A tribute to the governor's popularity in Georgia came from the Roswell precinct, north of Atlanta, where the mother of Theodore Roosevelt lived. This district gave Roosevelt 115 votes and Howard none.

 In Warm Springs, where the governor founded the Warm Springs Foundation for the treatment of persons suffering from after-effects of infantile paralysis, Roosevelt received 218 votes and Howard 1.
 The governor maintains a vacation residence at Warm Springs, Meriwether county, in which Warm Springs is located, gave Roosevelt 2175 votes and Howard 34.

BOSTON, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination, and Frank J. Donahue, Massachusetts Democratic state chairman and supporter of Alfred E. Smith, both disclaimed responsibility yesterday for failure of their forces to effect a compromise before the impending Massachusetts primary fight for national convention delegates.

 The declarations came as, with Smith and Roosevelt slated for the primary, the time for filing withdrawals and the deadline for any compromise—Friday at 5 P. M.—drew near. There was no indication such action by either side would be taken.
 Governor Roosevelt made his statement in a reply to a question from the Boston Traveler regarding his status in Massachusetts politics. He said he had given his power of attorney, to be used in the primary by delegate candidates, to his son, James, for use "only in the event that Mr. Donahue was not willing to go along with some kind of a formula which would have made a contest wholly unnecessary."

Donahue replied "I suppose that at no time has his young son ever asked for a conference with me in regard to any compromise." James Roosevelt lives in Cambridge and with Mayor James M. Curly, of Boston, has led the Roosevelt forces in Massachusetts.

PALM BEACH, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—The worst depression is that of feminine personality, says Mrs. Nathan B. Spingold, the former Madame Frances, world famed dress designer.
 "Women won't dress so as to bring out their own distinctive personalities," she declares. "Instead they smother what they have by dressing just alike. They look like the parade of the wooden soldiers."
 "Why should every woman on the beach wear striped shirts and blue pajamas just because her cabana neighbor does? What will look fashionable on one woman will look just foolish on another."
 "I think women are afraid to develop their own personalities. I can't deny that style costs money, but it's worth it."
 Madame Frances, who is credited with having initiated the vogue of wearing pajamas on the street in Palm Beach, decries the practice of donning these loose, bifurcated garments for formal occasions.
 "There should be no such thing as formal pajamas," she thinks. "Pajamas are for the beach, for lounging, for informal teas and such, but are absolutely out of place for a formal dinner or dance."
 "No, you can't say that blondes should wear this, brunettes should wear that and red heads something else. It all depends on the personality. Billie Burke, the loveliest red head in America, is beautiful in red."
 "I hope that women will soon throw off the false sense of thrift that is smothering them and helping to continue the so-called depression."

For many years, Mrs. Spingold, as Madame Frances, costumed the cream of the stage and society in New York. She retired from business about five years ago and is now the wife of a wealthy broker. She lives here in winter on Wells Road.

ST. PETERSBURG, Mar. 25.—Twenty-four girls will compete for the title "Miss America" as the International Society holds its annual ball here next Monday night, to open the Festival of States celebration.
 The society also will select a European queen Wednesday night at another ball, from among a dozen girls who have been selected to represent that many foreign countries.
 Senorita Martha Lopez, being sent here by the Cuban National Tourist Commission, as Miss Cuba, will be an honor guest at both balls. Sharing honors with her will be Miss Bertha Finlay, Havana, who is being sent here by the American Legion Post of the Cuban capital.
 The festival program is to open Tuesday, with the day to be observed by local and visiting Grotto members who will stage a parade, ceremonial and other events.
 Wednesday night will be one of the high lights of the celebration, when the festival queen is selected from among queens of a dozen state societies, who have entered contestants. The selection will be made at the waterfront pagoda, in which several hundred children will take part. The pagoda will carry out the Washington bicentennial celebration idea.
 Highlight of Thursday, closing day of the celebration, will be the annual float parade, to be held during the afternoon.
 The state tour of the festival queen and her party is to leave here Apr. 4. Principal cities of Florida will be visited.

REVERE, Mass.—It is planned to have a tree from each of the 13 original states planted in a grove in front of the Revere World War Memorial Building.

TAMPA, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—An injunction suit filed in February by the Rev. E. H. Crowson, former Methodist pastor at Pinecastle, designed to restore him to the list of traveling preachers in the Florida Methodist Conference, was virtually thrown out of court here yesterday by Circuit Court Judge F. M. Robles.
 The judge directed an order in favor of three presiding elders of the conference, dismissing the action on the ground that the court was without jurisdiction.

 Action of the conference in Tampa last December in sustaining charges against Crowson and placing him on location, was wholly within the province and jurisdiction of the conference and not a matter for court determination, Judge Robles held in substance.
 Presiding elders in whose favor the order was directed are: Dr. J. H. Daniel of the Orlando district, who preferred charges against Crowson in the conference; Dr. S. W. Walker of Tampa, and Dr. E. W. Watt Smith of Miami.
 Charges against Crowson in the conference were that he was "out of harmony and disloyal to the principles and doctrines of the Methodist Church, particularly the presiding eldership, because he had agitated and sought modification in salaries and rules governing presiding elders."

MISSISSIPPI Solons Score Another Hit On Sales Tax Bill
 JACKSON, Miss., Mar. 25.—Mississippi's Senate yesterday registered another defeat against the battle-scarred three per cent sales tax bill, the plan fostered by Gov. Mike Conner to balance the state budget and restore its credit.
 Supporters of the bill were able to muster a bare majority of 23 votes at the Senate's first test-of-strength. Twenty-four senators opposed the bill. A three-fifths majority is needed to finally pass the revenue project, but the bare majority can put through continual motions to reconsider, and keep the tax bill the pending business.
 Yesterday's vote came soon after Gov. Conner had sent another message to the legislature, pleading for support of the measure. He repeated his former contentions that the sales tax is sound in principle, that it is the only plan that will pull the state from its financial crisis and that unless the bill is passed, bond buyers will continue to ignore state offerings.
 The bill was passed by the House last week. It underwent two months of wrangling there, and incited impassioned speech-making state-wide mass meetings and organized protests from every section of Mississippi.

Real Champagne Used To Christen Grace Line Vessel

KEARNEY, N. J., Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—A bottle of 1910 champagne from Sonoma county, California, was shattered across the black bow of the first of four $5,000,000 new Grace liners as she slid down the ways into the muddy Hackensack River yesterday, christened Santa Rosa.
 The christening, in pre-prohibition style, was made possible by a dispensation of the federal government.
 The bottle was swung by Miss Wendy Iglehart, daughter of Lt. Stewart Iglehart, president of the Grace lines as President Hoover pushed a button in Washington commending the 18,000-ton vessel to her place in the South American trade.
 Hailing the ship's launching as another evidence of the revival of shipbuilding in this country, President Hoover said in a message read at the ceremonies that "the effort put forth in the rehabilitation of the American Merchant Marine have proved beneficial to the country at large."

SENATE IS TOLD OF EFFORT BEING MADE TO FREE AL

Control Of Public Officials Charged As Scheme Being Used

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—While the federal government was making secret plans for getting Al Capone behind prison doors, a senate committee was told yesterday that criminal organizations in Chicago were attempting to procure his freedom through control of public officials.

This warning came from Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission. He has been a leader in the movement to free the Illinois city from gangster rule.

Loesch charged the attempt to free Capone in a letter to Chairman Borah of the Senate Judiciary Committee which is considering the promotion to the circuit court of Judge James H. Wilkerson of Chicago, who sentenced Capone.

The letter was in reply to a request from Borah for proof of the assertion by Loesch and Robert Lam Randolph, chairman of Chicago's "secret six," that gangland was attempting to prevent Wilkerson's confirmation.

"It is my opinion," Loesch said, "that the combinations here now formed for getting men into public office turn very largely on the effort of the criminal organizations headed by Al Capone to control sufficient of the elected public officials to get Capone freed from the penitentiary sentences now hanging over his head, or secure reelection of the sentences."

Loesch charged "two persons" adherents of Al Capone are members of the Illinois state senate, and that five candidates for ward committee in Chicago were recently intimidated by gunmen into withdrawing to assure the election of a sixth who is a "known partisan of Capone's." He added:

"If a criminal organization controls the majority of the ward committee members, it, by virtue of the powers of the latter, practically controls the county of Cook, including the judges."

Loesch said Capone had been in jail for five months pending appeal of his sentence "but up to very recently there seemed to be no institution in his activities or in the number of people who called on him, night and day."

To back up his statement that criminal organizations "are taking it upon themselves to control the county of Cook," Loesch informed persons believed to be leaders of all unions in Chicago were recently intimidated by gunmen into withdrawing to assure the election of a sixth who is a "known partisan of Capone's."

Nine-tenths of the union members, he added, are law-abiding citizens but are afraid to take much part in union affairs.

"It is not simply truth," Loesch said, "to say that the honest men who are here in fighting for their lives and safety from the most fascinating and powerful criminal organization which has ever affected this nation."

"I am not suggesting that there may be union men honestly opposing Judge Wilkerson's confirmation, but I will give it, as my conviction, that no matter what ground may be taken to defeat confirmation, if he fails of confirmation such fact will be claimed by the criminal organizations as a victory for them and for Capone, and will have a prejudicial effect upon every law-abiding official seeking to curb the criminal career of Al Capone."

LATEST RAY OF HOPE IN KIDNAP CASE DECLINES

(Continued from Page One) ... of the three men named as kidnapers, Dean Peacock said, was apprehended about two weeks ago. He declined to say which one of the three was first interviewed by whom.

The three went to Colonel Lindbergh's home near New York, N. J., on Tuesday to consult with the father of the kidnaped baby.

They were seen by Colonel Lindbergh last night and dinner with him was served Wednesday.

continued. "We are a little afraid that this publicity will complicate matters, but still we are very optimistic and we think the negotiations will move rapidly."

At Maundy Thursday Communion services at Christ Episcopal Church last night, Dean Peacock asked that a special silent prayer be offered by the congregation for the speedy return of the Lindbergh baby.

Dean Peacock was acquainted with members of the Morrow family at the time the late Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow was in Mexico City. At that time Dean Peacock served as dean of the Cathedral, Mexico City.

Mr. Curtis, a prominent business man, is president of the J. H. Curtis Boat and Engine Corporation.

NEW YORK, Mar. 25. (A.P.)—The Daily News says the Rev. Dodson Peacock, of Norfolk, Va., informed it by telephone that he and two other prominent residents of that city are acting for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in negotiations with a kidnaper claiming to hold the fier's son.

"The kidnaper, according to the Rev. Mr. Peacock, says that the baby is on a boat in Chesapeake Bay and he will give him up for $50,000," the News related.

"We are convinced he has the baby and is acting in good faith," the minister said.

"We expect to have the child within two or three days if everything goes well. The baby, as soon as the money is paid will be delivered to me."

"The other two intermediaries are Rear Admiral Guy Burgess, retired, who commanded the cruiser Memphis when it returned to New York from Europe in 1919, and John Hugh Curtis, a boat manufacturer.

"They conferred with Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh at Hopewell Tuesday evening and returned to Norfolk Wednesday after receiving Lindbergh's consent to deal with the supposed kidnaper."

The Master Farmer Creed, A Good One For Agriculture

In a number of states throughout the South and Middle West, the practice of selecting "master farmer" each year is followed by the practice of the agricultural extension service.

Recently I read a "master farmer creed" which seems to be a pretty good one for farmers in any state. I quote it here.

"I believe in the dignity, the importance, and the future of agriculture, that farming is entitled to be as remunerative as other occupations that farm life in its fullness is the richest life; and that the safety of my state and my nation depends upon a sound and prosperous agriculture with contented people living in comfortable and inspiring homes."
