2-Car Collision Reported Early Today On 17-92

Two cars crashed nearly head-on early this morning about two miles west of Sanford on Highway 17-92. Damages were light, however, even though wreckage was scattered up and down the highway over a distance of nearly 800 feet. A 1933 Lincoln sedan, pulling a small trailer packed with vacation luggage, and driven by Roy Arnold Lyda of Orlando, was traveling south on a 1936 Ford station wagon driven by Frank Washington Saxton, 27-year-old Navy youth attached to the Sanford Naval Air Station was traveling north when the two cars met. Lyda, 19, was accompanied by his father, mother, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Arnold Lyda Sr. and Saxton was traveling alone. The left front end of the Ford station wagon was smashed. It traveled an estimated 460 feet before coming to a stop 50 feet from the highway on the left side of the road. The Lyda car traveled a distance of 300 feet after the impact. Damages estimated following the collision, according to Ed Cowan, Seminole County Deputy Sheriff who investigated the crash, were $500 to the Ford and $600 to the Lincoln. Saxton was taken to the NAB dispensary suffering with what is believed to be several broken ribs. There were no other injuries. Charges were preferred against both drivers, said Cowan.

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners last night agreed to meet the conditions as set down by David B. Lee, Director of the Division of Sanitary Engineering of the State Board of Health, in a four and one half hour meeting last Tuesday afternoon.

VAH-9 On Board USS Saratoga

Elements of Heavy Attack Squadron NINE (VAH-9) normally based at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Sanford, have been on board the aircraft carrier USS Saratoga for the past week. Cdr. John M. Miller, USN, commanding officer, landed his ASD Skywarrior twin jet bomber on board last Monday, followed quickly by the remainder of the squadron's aircraft. The purpose of the operation which will run through next week is to qualify pilots, flight crews and maintenance personnel in all phases of aircraft carrier operations including both day and night carrier landings for combat readiness. Key maintenance personnel and spare flight crews boarded the giant ship last Saturday at its berth near Jacksonville. Weighing anchor early Monday morning, the carrier has been at sea off the coasts of Florida and Georgia the entire week. A Navy spokesman stated that the smoothness of the squadron's operations during the past week is due to the intensive training phase the squadron recently completed in the Sanford area. It was during the training period that four of the squadron's members died in an aircraft accident two weeks ago.

Life aboard the Navy's largest ship is somewhat novel for the squadron's old timers and new hands alike. All living spaces on the aircraft carrier are air conditioned and flight crews are transported from squadrons ready rooms to the flight deck area on escalators. The large angled flight deck coupled with the Navy's newest mirror landing system permits Lt. Art B. Blismer USN, the squadron's Landing Signal Officer, to bring the pilots aboard with much greater precision and safety than was hitherto possible. The crews of Cdr. Miller and LCDR "Chuck" McBratnie were aboard the huge aircraft carrier for the second time in little over a month. On June 6 they flashed across the United States from an aircraft carrier in the Pacific to land on the U. S. Saratoga in the Atlantic in four hours and 20 minutes. President Eisenhower was on board at the time to personally greet them.

Canty Charged With Shooting

Willie Canty, a Midway Negro, is being held in the Seminole County Jail without bond pending the outcome of the condition of Allen Johnson. Johnson, said Sheriff J. L. Hobby's office this morning, was shot four times with a 22 rifle, as he alighted from a vehicle on his way home from work. Canty has been charged with assault with intent to commit murder. However, the outcome of Johnson's condition will determine further charges which may be placed against him. The incident occurred about 7 p. m. last night, said Justice of the Peace W. Hugh Duncan who issued the warrant for Canty's arrest. Johnson's condition, said law enforcement officials, is critical.

DELAND — The celebrated 1934 Sheppard murder case was reopened today on the basis of a "confession" by a Florida convict that he slugged a Cleveland, Ohio, woman the night Marilyn Sheppard was slain. Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill announced in Columbus that Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, now serving a life term in prison for his wife's murder, will undergo a lie detector test. Sheppard would not consent to a lie test in early stages of the murder case but later asked for one. He was denied the test at that time. O'Neill told his news conference that he is "considering" evidence presented to him concerning the murder of his wife. Sheppard has maintained his innocence throughout, claiming Marilyn was killed by a bushy-haired intruder. O'Neill said he authorized the test on Dr. Sam at the request of the prisoner and his attorney, Lt. Gov. Paul M. Heisler. Private investigators meanwhile were working here trying to determine whether Heisler is telling the truth or spun the story in an effort to win publicity or freedom. Ohio Atty. Gen. William Saxbe also announced that his office is studying legal questions involved in the new break. Whether Dr. Sam could get a new trial on the basis of the developments was the question pondered by legal authorities. An assistant Ohio attorney general thought that "quite possible."

Plea For Zoning, Building Permit System Is Heard

Another plea came from residents of the SanLando section this morning for a system of permits for building and for zoning when two hours' session appeared before the Board of Seminole County Commissioners. Mrs. Frank Parke and Mrs. H. D. Johnston, whose homes are located in the area subdivided by Garapic, Inc. told the board "I like the homestead exemption but if that means I'm going to have shacks built up around me then we ought to pay our way."

County Attorney Mack N. Cleveland Jr. explained to the two ladies that a new zoning law was put into effect July 1 and that the board was appointed a new commission to put the law into effect as soon as possible. Clerk of the Board, G. P. Herndon read a letter from Gary I. Garapic relative to complaints about restrictions in the area for which zoning was requested. Mrs. Parke immediately told commissioners "I don't think I should answer that letter without my attorney since some of those statements are untrue. "We realize," she said, "that there were to be smaller homes but we were assured that they would be nice homes. I think he is taking unfair advantage of the situation."

Neither Humphrey nor Brundage made any reference to a possible tax cut. But President Eisenhower has made it clear repeatedly that there is no present prospect of any tax reduction.

The case of the glass breaking vandals was broken in Sanford this morning after reports were made in the Volusia County area of show windows broken by gusts of some time. Deputy Sheriff Ed Cowan, investigating the incident in the Sanford area when 11 businesses houses reported glass broken, uncovered the three 19-year-old youths who did the shooting. W. It was reported this morning that $2,029.28 worth of glass show windows was broken by the glass breaking culprits in the Sanford area alone. Those reporting show windows broken were: A. D. Roler, 111 French Ave.; Pure Oil Station, 508 French Ave.; Spar Service Station, 1001 French Ave.; Seminole Truck and Tractor Company building, Busy Bee Drive Inn, 1919 French Ave.; Cities Service Station, French and Park Aves.; Clarke Plumbing and Heating, 2649 Orlando Highway; Toddy's Drive In Restaurant, Orlando Highway; Bass Grocery, 27th St. and Sanford Ave.; Squires Mens Shop, south Sanford Ave.; and 17th St. Laundrette, south Sanford Ave. The three men, said Justice of the Peace Duncan, face 11 counts of vandalism in Seminole County in addition to the various incidents in Orange City and Deland. It was reported that more than $3,000 worth of glass show windows were broken in that area. The incident occurred on July 16. The three men, all attached to the Sanford Naval Air Station were identified as Edward L. Geitz, William F. Shepp and Thomas H. Cantille, all 19 years old. Duncan said that the men face felony charges if by one year in jail or each count. Bonds he said had been set at $1,000. The boys are to be held in Seminole County Jail at 10 o'clock taken into custody shortly after 1 o'clock.

Government Ends 1957 With Over $1 Billion Surplus

WASHINGTON — The government ended fiscal 1957 with a surplus of $1,642,000,000, the Treasury Department announced today. This compared with $1,626,000,000 surplus in fiscal 1956. Treasury receipts in the fiscal year which ended June 30, were $71,943,000,000. Expenditures were $69,341,000,000. Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey and Budget Director Percival F. Brundage said in a joint statement that receipts were 341 million higher than estimated in January. Budget expenditures were 444 million higher than estimated, "mainly due to larger expenditures for the Department of Defense which were not fully offset by lower expenditures in other departments." Humphrey and Brundage said that the surplus—the second successive fiscal year in the black—has resulted in a reduction of the public debt. Neither Humphrey nor Brundage made any reference to a possible tax cut. But President Eisenhower has made it clear repeatedly that there is no present prospect of any tax reduction.

McClellan, Ala., and one of the very first in the Nation to run its own self-sustaining messing facilities. The unit is composed of enlisted men and officers from an area encompassing Sanford, Daytona Beach, Deland and their respective vicinities. The 3003rd Station Complement is commanded by Col. Floyd M. Call, Winter Park. In preparation for this operation, training for cooks and bakers was carried on at the Orlando Air Force Base and in a pre-camp training period of three days at Ft. McClellan, prior to the arrival of the entire unit on July 14. The training was conducted under the supervision of Mess Officer, 1st Lt. Luther L. Rozar, Greenville, and food supervisor, 1st Lt. Irvy J. Henderson, Orlando. The training included all phases of food preparation—cooking, baking, serving, as well as operation and mess management. The unit scheduled for a four day bivouac and field training exercise, will find the mess personnel operating field kitchens and mess facilities for the unit, which has a strength at camp of 120 enlisted men and officers. The mission of a station complement, is to operate a mess, camp or station, and to provide training facilities and supplies for all units attached to it for training. Members of the unit will return to their bases July 23.

Theatre Manager Starts Crusade Against Smoking

NEW YORK — There's a new sign over the candy counter in a Brooklyn movie house: "Live Longer—Reach for a Sweet—Instead of a Smoke. Effective August 1, Sale of All Cigarettes, Plain or Filter Tips, Shall Be Discontinued At the Avenue U Theatre." The theatre's owner-manager, Albert L. Green, said, "I guess you could call it a one-man crusade. I hope I didn't bite off more than I can chew." Green said he started after the U. S. Public Health Service issued its report on the relation between smoking and lung cancer last week. He stopped smoking himself. He asked his employees to give it up. "My assistant stopped, the matron stopped, the operators stopped, the cashiers and the doorman—they all stopped," Green said. "There's still a smoking section in the Avenue U Theatre, "But I don't want to be a party to selling them." Green said. "Maybe if some of the customers can't buy them here they'll give it up and maybe they'll be grateful." Like the picture Green's showing this week, it's a "Friendly Persuasion."

City

by revenue certificates of a bond issue.

George M. Garrison, developer of a subdivision west of the city on the Country Club Road, told commissioners last night "I am ready to go" as he explained that his area would contain 322 homes with 101 of them completed within a year. He also told the board of commissioners last night that the five thousand gallon interim treatment tank will be put in "at its own expense."

An interesting picture of Utility Department revenues was explained by City Manager Knowles last night when he pointed out that the annual increase in net revenues from water would be 1.34 per cent and the increase in net sewer revenues would come to three per cent.

However, Knowles told the board that the increase in cost of operation each year would be 24 per cent in the water department and 64 per cent in the sewer department. This, he said, would bring about a gradual decrease in net revenues from the two departments which would level off by 1953 and bring the revenue and cost of operation to an equal point without any surplus at all. Knowles, however, pointed out that should the Sanford area go into a rapidly increasing percentage rate growth, it would tend to advance all of the mentioned dates, or, if increase of the percentage rate was large enough, it could completely reverse the actual conclusions.

The 90-minute meeting last night, which was a special session called primarily to discuss the treatment plant issue and agreements reached with David Lee in Jacksonville, ended with no definite date for a treatment plant construction program.

However, the commission is on record to live up to the requirements set up by the Board of Health for the future construction of Sanford. Unless the requirements are met the City of Sanford would have its expansion brought to a complete halt with no subdivision growth.

Teamsters Go Back To Work Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — An embargo of Railroad Express shipments to seven cities due to a three-month Teamsters strike was lifted today. The Teamsters will return to work Monday under terms of a contract agreement reached Thursday.

The strike had affected Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Newark, N. J., Philadelphia, St. Louis and San Francisco.

The three-year contract calls for a money package of 15 cents an hour retroactive to Nov. 1, 1954 with subsequent increases of 1 cent an hour beginning Nov. 1, 1957 and another 7 cents Nov. 1, 1958. The Teamster wages for the first year will run from $2.04 to $2.31 an hour.

Delegates from Sanford were among those who attended, principally from Georgia, South Carolina, and Alabama, although 35 different states and six foreign countries were represented at the seminar.

Industrial Development Coming To 'Slow Halt' In City, County

Industrial development seems to have come to a "slow halt" in Sanford and Seminole County.

Perhaps there is a bit of background work being carried on in an attempt to woo the industrial developers to choose the Sanford and Seminole County area for their location—but there is no perceptible program being carried on that puts the local name at the top of the list when sites are being chosen.

Perhaps it is because Sanford and Seminole County does not have a person geared with the funds sitting on the doorsteps of those who might move to or build in the Central Florida area.

The way we see it from here, we have the organization and the man ready to work day and night when it comes to building and promoting Sanford and Seminole County. But, the organization and the man must stand back because neither he nor the organization can find sufficient funds to carry on this type of program.

No doubt, when it comes to attracting industry, there's an expense involved that can't be counted in pennies or even a few dollars.

Attractive folders, prospectus, telegrams, air trips, entertainment, advertising in trade magazines, industrial magazines, industrial papers, and many other expenses can't be purchased with "chicken feed"—it takes real money and a substantial amount to let "the world know" that Sanford and Seminole County is the best place in the world to locate.

As Sanford grows there must be jobs—and to produce the jobs for the people within its area the community must have industry, all kinds of industry.

Hundreds, and we dare say thousands, have boosted Sanford and Seminole County as the area complete with ready resources for most any type industry. But those compliments haven't carried very far — they were spoken here and failed to bounce into the ears of some who might be preparing to locate an industry somewhere in Florida.

Sanford and Seminole County, backed with a sufficient Industrial Program budget within the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, can get the help and assistance of the Florida Development Commission to begin its action in luring both large and small industries to the area.

Both the city of Sanford and Seminole County should share in the cost of advertising the area. They spend hundreds of dollars each year for piece-meal promotion but never get the results that an overall industrial program can produce. And money, invested wisely in such a program, under the leadership of our Chamber of Commerce, would treble the income of the city and county in taxes from industries locating here.

We certainly can't stand by and twiddle our thumbs and expect industries to look us up because someone has said "this is the most wonderful section of the state" with every convenience and resource necessary for an industrial location.

We must consider the fact that luring and wooing of industry to any area is one of the most competitive fields that we can get into—highly competitive.

But Sanford and Seminole County have the product, the location is here, the personnel for payrolls is here, rail, water, truck and air travel comes into the picture, water, recreation, good schools—yes, Sanford and Seminole County have all of them.

It's time for civic leaders to begin thinking of the problem "How are we going to get industry here?"

Provide the budget is the answer.

Farm Equipment Can Be Dangerous

Modern mechanized equipment has been a major factor in revolutionizing agricultural techniques that had been virtually unchanged for centuries. This equipment is absolutely essential to successful farming today, and to the continued existence of the family-sized farm which is the backbone of all American agriculture. At the same time, like all mechanical innovations, it has led to a safety problem. It can be dangerous if misused.

The farm equipment industry has been carrying on an aggressive safety program. It is obvious that the great majority of accidents connected with the uses of tractors and other equipment are the direct results of human carelessness, ignorance, and apathy. Young children are allowed to run the machines—and disaster is thus invited. Farmers make mechanical changes or additions of their own devising—and these, more often than not, create critical special hazards. All kinds of elementary safety rules are ignored—and the casualty statistics mount.

Special emphasis is being put on proper lighting for equipment which is moved on roads. The industry's motto in this is "Be safe—be seen," and that covers the situation like a glove. Many an unlighted or inadequately lighted tractor has been driven down a road at night, to come to crashing grief and to bring death or serious injury to its driver and others.

The equipment makers are doing everything possible to build safety into the machines. They are publicizing safety instructions and messages. The rest is up to the user. He, and he alone, can stop the chance-taking that accidents feed fat on.

There's no getting around it; science does provide many wonderful things. We now have the satisfaction of knowing that our grandchildren can look forward to being blown up only by "clean" bombs.

Lauren Bacall Wants Privacy

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Lauren Bacall has three things on her mind these days: Her career, her children and her house, but any other marriage is pushed out of sight at this time.

The slender, frank talking actress sat cross-legged on the sofa in her den to tell how she is trying to adjust to being a widow with two children at 32.

The gossip columns, for one thing, have not been able to pin her with any "date." Since the death in January of Humphrey Bogart, she has dined only at the homes of friends or with old friends Spencer Tracy or Frank Sinatra.

"I'm probably never get married again because I can't go through this date business," she said. "I'm not good at making small talk. I like to talk directly to people."

Physician Cures With Hypnosis

United Press Science Editor
By DELOS SMITH
NEW YORK — An un-specialized physician using only hypnosis and suggestion cured nine out of 12 cases of asthma, two out of three cases of eczema, but had no success with one case of warts.

Another un-specialized physician using the same tools did quite as well with asthma and skin conditions, and he also enabled a few of his patients to give up cigarettes, including a woman who smoked four packs a day.

Between them, these two tried out hypnosis and suggestion on 161 human beings whose ailments had not yielded to pills or another conventional medical treatment.

Their not conspicuous was that hypnosis was a mighty handy tool for a doctor, that it wasn't too difficult to use, and a doctor didn't need to be specialized in psychiatry or anything else to employ it.

They are English doctors. The English generally are more willing to admit being unorthodox than Americans. Their findings and views were published by the British Medical Assn.

In this country, there are a scattering of un-specialized physicians who employ hypnosis now and then on medically recalcitrant patients. They don't report on it because their colleagues might be shocked.

Generally speaking, hypnosis has no standing in general medical practice either here or in Britain, but in Britain there is a movement a foot to give it standing. This has the friendly backing of the B.M.A.'s technical journal.

"Problem patients" of the general practitioner, said Dr. H. Stewart, are "patients who have gone from consultant to consultant and from out-patient department and have ended with the label 'incurable' or 'functional,' with a regular bottle of medicine or tablets."

He tried out hypnosis and suggestion on 41 such patients and got what he called "cures" in 23 in seven he got "partial cures"; in 11 he failed. His "cures" were largely in the disorders which are known to have a psychological component upon which suggestion might work; his failures were largely in the frankly neurotic disorders.

Dr. A. Fry reported results from 120 patients with assorted but unyielding to conventional treatment complaints. Of this number, 27 "fully" improved, 26 "partially" improved and the remainder were "resistant." He did not use the word "cure."

Conservative In Appraisal

Both doctors were conservative in appraising their results. Stewart said hypnosis was "valuable when other methods have failed." Fry said it was not a panacea but far more can be done with it than has been supposed.

The B.M.A. also published the academic sanction of Dr. Alexander Kennedy, professor of psychological medicine, University of Edinburgh. He said there was a place for a treatment hypnosis which could remove physical symptoms "bothering people even if the treatment didn't get to the deeply buried states of mind

President Tito of Yugoslavia is making a $20-million dollar bet of Soviet Russia's expressed desire for better relations.

Especially since the recent purge in the Kremlin leadership, Russian Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev has said he wants to establish solid friendship with Tito.

At the same time he has sharply criticized some aspects of Yugoslav policy.

Now, evidently, Tito has decided to find out exactly where Khrushchev stands.

It has been made known that he is sending a delegation of economic experts to Moscow to ask the Soviet government to make good on two aid commitments on which it reneged.

Allergy Or Just Fantasy?

By HERMAN M. BUNDESEN, M.D.

YOUR mind can do some strange things.

I have often advised those of you with asthma and certain other allergies to avoid domestic quarrels and other emotional disturbances whenever possible.

We know for a fact that this tension often triggers an allergic attack.

Produce Symptoms

But we also have reason to suspect that anxiety and tension alone will produce allergic symptoms in a person who apparently has no real allergy. Numerous experiments seem to bear this out.

In certain persons, the problems and challenges met in everyday life are enough to initiate body disturbances identical to those produced by allergens. This means that actual asthmatic attacks may be brought about simply by troublesome situations, even though the person is not allergic to the usual foreign proteins which both asthma and

Domestic Difficulty

Perhaps it is the illness of a child, loss of a job or some grave domestic difficulty. Quite often a disturbance, strong enough to produce an allergic reaction, is unconsciously associated with feelings of guilt, resentment or remorse.

How Do You Work?

Are you a PUTTER, forever picking up and putting down, asks Myrtle Wilson Home Demonstration Agent.

Are you a CAN'T FINDER, always on the hunt?

Are you a NEVER-GET-THROUGHER?

Do you CARRY THE WEIGHT of a day's work on your shoulder as you do your tasks?

Are you a PUTTER-OFFER, and at the last minute do you hurry and rush to get things done—and maybe you have an accident?

Are you an OVER-DOES one day, and then do you take two or three to get over it?

Are you a PROPER-PRISY PERFECTIONIST—who wears herself out and the family on unnecessary work?

Are you a MARTYR who glories in being worn out?

If you are guilty of any of these habits, you will find it profitable to mend your ways.

Does the old saying, "Man works from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done" describe you? Do you often work for more hours in the day or another day in the week? You do? Then let's take a look at the way you work and let's try to find extra seconds, minutes, hours.

TO IMPROVE THE WAY YOU WORK, try to find the easiest and quickest way to do your job. Select a job you do often—maybe one you find hard to do or don't like.

1. List everything you do as you work. Let someone—a member of your family or a friend—help you by writing down what you do as you do it.
2. Study your list. Let someone help you. Ask yourself the following questions:
 - a. Can I leave any part of this job out?
 - b. Can I keep all my supplies within easy reach?
 - c. Can I make both hands work?
 - d. Can I combine this job with another one? Make one job out of two or more?
 - e. Can I use better tools for the job? Are they in good condition?
 - f. Can I sit to do the job?
 - g. Can I change the order of my work?
 - h. Can I leave this job out?
 3. Write down your improvements.

Let others help you with suggestions for improvements. This is your improvement plan.

4. Try this new method or way of doing your work until it becomes a habit. Ask your family to help you with this too.

HAVE FUN — ENJOY YOUR "FOUND" HOURS WITH YOUR FAMILY OR FRIENDS.

Mrs. Olga Hunter Hosts BPW Club

The Business & Professional Women's Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Olga Hunter July 17th at 7:00 p. m. Mrs. Myrtle Gradik, president, presiding. An out-door supper had been planned, but due to the bad weather it was necessary to move indoors. A wonderful meal of chicken-in-the-rough, potato salad, rolls and butter, and coffee and tea was prepared and served by Olga.

A short skill based on the BPW Club was presented by Olga Hunter with Olga writing and directing the skill. Shirley Vihlen took the part of Myrtle Gradik, Duane Vihlen as Muriel Wontenay, and Vihlen as Elmer Wontenay. The skill was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. After the program a short business meeting was held. The next meeting will be held August 21 at the home of Harriett Slawter. Harriett plans to serve supper on the patio, weather permitting. The September meeting will be held at the Twin Lake Home of Viola Kastner.

Conning The News

Always in a hurry, but this afternoon, I have to conduct a new member of the Hospital Auxiliary through the hospital, and that takes a little time. It is a help, however, your first day at work, if you know where things are, and where you must go.

Ran in on the VAH-5 luncheon this afternoon. Was amazed to see so many new faces. Among them was that of Betty Deadman, whose father is a local business man, Raymond Hall. Betty attended Seminole High School, and is naturally, delighted to be back in Sanford. Especially since the Deadmans live in Lake Mary very close to her family.

George and Tom Waters have gone to Alabama on a week's leave. Some of the VAH-5 wives whose husbands are away met for bridge at Skip Horrell's house the other day. There they drank cold drinks and ate potato chips to the sound of shuffling cards. Present at this occasion were Betty Harlett, Jean Fowler, Darnell Killcline, Ruth Chaffee, Shirley Ross, Julie Anderson, and her mother Mrs. Keller, and Leta Peterson.

Jean Fowler is having her home air conditioned today, so that will be the spot to meet from now on. But that is just my opinion. Haven't asked Jean yet.

Betty McElrath is teaching knitting at the Rollins Hobby Shop Wednesday afternoons. If that heel won't turn, or you drop a row of stitches, go see Betty.

Brack Perkins is a beach commuter these days with Jesse and the children over at New Smyrna. Spongers will have very little trouble finding a Seminole tag over there this month.

John and Jean Dooley are leaving for New England the first of August. Jean Fliton goes to New York July 29.

IATU had a luncheon at the Barbizon in Winter Park Thursday. Jean Dooley and Maile Barlow were the hostesses and I hear it was delightful.

John and Dodie King brought a summer cottage at Sanlando Springs Wednesday. It is already rented for two months.

Cdr. Hodges Helps Girl Scouts Win Aviation Badge

The second meeting for the Intermediate Girl Scouts earning their aviation badges was held at the home of LCDR and Mrs. Kink Hodges in Grove Manor. Cdr. Hodges told the 25 girls who attended about the four major factors in flight. Lift, thrust, drag, and gravity have been impressed on their minds as the factors governing flight.

He reviewed the principles stressed when Lt. Beck spoke to the girls last Saturday. Mounted pictures were passed around to enable the Girl Scouts to identify different types of aircraft. Letters symbols and names of aircraft were explained and the reason for using them.

A question and answer period followed, during which time Cdr. King was bombarded with queries. The meeting lasted about an hour and a half. The next meeting will be announced by Mrs. Norris Jordan, when a date has been set.

Meeting Called Tonite To Reactivate Local Men's Golf Association

Rotary Players Urged To Return Uniforms

More than 60 Sanford area golfers will form a nucleus this evening for a Men's Golf Association at an organizational meeting to be held at the Mayfair Inn Country Club.

Sonny Powell, temporary chairman of the group, said last night that Col. S. G. Harrison had been named chairman of a nominating committee that will select a slate of officers to be elected at tonight's meeting, which will begin at 8 p.m.

Powell said that all golfers interested in forming the new association are invited to attend the session tonight that will reactivate the organization which has been idle for several years.

Already indicating that they would attend the meeting are golfers from the Navy group at the Sanford Naval Air Station, a large group of golf enthusiasts from the DeBarry area, and golfers from Sanford and the surrounding country.

It is expected that a number of golfers will speak up at the organizational get-together to tell "what a men's golf association means to me."

The new group will spearhead regular tournaments and competition with similar golf groups in nearby cities and towns.

"We will get our organization set up at the meeting Friday night," Sonny Powell said, "and will, more than likely, appoint committees so that association activities can begin immediately."

Powell outlined such committees as membership, tournament, publicity and others to be named at tonight's session.

"We are hopeful that all of the golfers in this area will turn out for tonight's initial meeting to reactivate the Men's Golf Association," he said.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Take it from the big hitters playing in the PGA golf championship, the biggest fallacy in golf is the 100-yard drive.

Under normal conditions, without the east being downhill with the wind behind it, there ain't no such thing.

That's the opinion of top pros, including such sluggers as Sarazin, Sammy Snead and Mike Souchak, the new PGA driving champion.

Souchak won the PGA tee title as the current match play tournament got under way with an average of 248 yards. Snead was second with a 240-yard average.

With more than 100 of the nation's top pros competing in the driving championship, it is rather amazing that the longest ball of any one which was struck was a 254-yard, 10-inch ball by Mike Knopf Morgantown, W. Va. (Clem Wexman Pro)

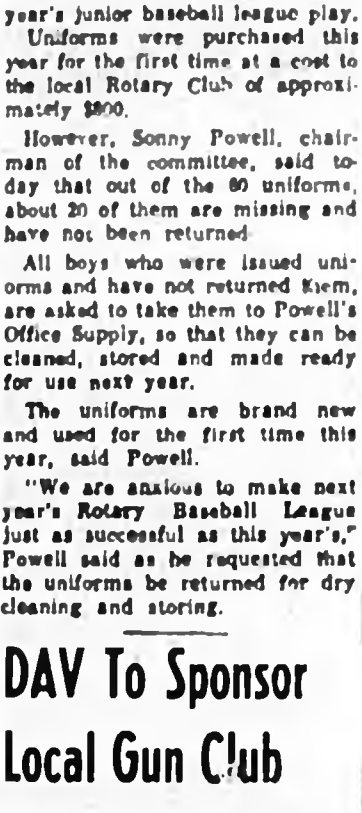

Even the women pros have been heard to toss around such the shot claims as 250 to 270 yards and Snead figures they have to be hitting off the top of Pikes Peak.

"On the level, I just don't think under normal conditions anybody is going to hit the ball more than 260 to 265 yards," he insists.

"Maybe George Bayer could hit it 30 yards because I've seen him carry 280 yards," asserts Souchak. "But I would have to guess that even 'Big Moon' can't do better than 280 to 285 yards. But he's in the class all by himself and the average for any top hitter would be closer to 260 yards."

Says 300 Yards Impossible
"Nobody is going to hit the ball 300 yards," Tommy Bolt asserted. "And I don't think that even Bayer is going to hit over 275 yards on the flat, normal fairway."

Leland Gibson summed it up succinctly: "On the flat, with good carry and run, the best of your pros won't average better than 260 yards."

PANCHO GONZALEZ whips over his famous serve in the round-robin Tournament of Champions at Forest Hills, N. Y., to defeat Ken Rosewall, 6-2, 8-6, 6-4. The match gave Gonzales two victories to no defeats in the race for the $1,500 singles prize in the professional tennis tournament.

DAV To Sponsor Local Gun Club

Interest in another sport is being created in the Sanford area with the Disabled American Veterans of Chapter 30 sponsoring the organization of a gun club.

Jim Hay, an active member of the local, DAV unit said today that the gun club is being organized, provided there are a sufficient number of sportsmen interested in both shooting and collecting.

The club, Hay said today, would be regulated under National Rifle Association rules.

Additional information may be had by calling Jim Hay at FA 2-6588.

This is another indication that the sports activities in Sanford and Seminole County are diversified.

Athletes Don't Die Young Survey Says

EAST LANSING, Mich. — College athletes apparently neither burn themselves out nor die young, nor live longer than non-athletes, a study at Michigan State University revealed.

Athletes live just as long and die from the same causes as non-athletes, reported Dr. Henry J. Montoye and Dr. Wayne D. Van Huss, associate professors of health, physical education and recreation.

The scientists also reported they found no significant difference in the number of former college athletes who died from heart diseases compared with non-athletes.

The study, now in its seventh year, took a comprehensive look at what happened to 628 lettermen in various sports after they left MSU and compared them with 563 non-athletes, all graduated before 1937.

Of those deceased it was found that the average age of the former athletes was 73.8 compared with 74 years.

Some 68 per cent of the former athletes were smokers compared with 60 per cent of the non-athletes.

Both athletes and non-athletes apparently agree on marriage, for about 87 per cent in each group took the step.

The figures indicated tennis players come from the smallest families and wrestlers from the largest.

CHAPTER 16

When Nola Mathers was about to leave she leaned forward on her horse, her gray eyes meeting mine. "Mr. Beeson, we don't want to fight with you. Will you come to see us, please, just as soon as we're settled?"

"I expect to," I said. "You told me your father had spoken of me. What did he say?"

For the first time she seemed embarrassed. "He said you were a strong-minded young man who was so certain you were right that you would make mistakes."

The smile that lit her eyes lighted her entire face. "We're strong-minded too, my father and I, but we still want to be friends."

I shook my head at her. "Not if you're going to plow our grass under. No people can be friends if one is determined to destroy the other."

"We're not going to destroy you," she said sharply. "Mrs. Pardee understands. All we want is a place to live. That will be on the other side of the valley. It won't concern you in the least."

"It will concern me because you'll fail," I said. "This isn't farming country and it never will be. After you fail, some of your people will spread out. They'll want our water and our land, but if they try to take it I'll try to kill them and they'll try to kill me."

Nola looked at Sarah. "Dad's right. You can't argue with him. Good day, Mrs. Pardee."

She rode away, down the road toward Carlin. Watching her, I felt a stirring of interest. I had never felt for another woman. I sensed that she possessed the tough-fibered courage a person needed to conquer this country and live here. She would survive. I thought, when the rust had faded away from my eyes, I was surprised to find myself regretting that destiny had rigged the game so that she was on the other side of the fence and we could never be friends.

"Roll me back into the house," Will, Sarah said.

I had never heard her voice tremble so with emotion. When I looked at her, I saw she was crying. I wheeled her across the yard and up the ramp into the house.

"Will," she whispered, "put me on the couch."

I lifted her from the wheel chair, her hands clutching me as if afraid I would let her fall. When I placed her on the couch she gripped my arm and pulled me down beside her. She wasn't crying now. She stared at me for a long moment, and then said: "It would be no use to remind you what I've done for you. You could balance it all off with things you've done for me. That's fair enough. But I thought we understood each other. I tried to make it clear because I didn't want this to happen." She swallowed. "Why did you do it, Will?"

"I couldn't sit there beside her, I pulled loose from her grip and ran walking around the room, my heart pounding, my throat tightening so I couldn't swallow. I came back to her. I had to say something, had to make her understand, but the words wouldn't come. I wiped my hand across my face, and it came away wet with sweat."

"We should have talked about it before," Sarah said. "But I thought I'd told you enough. About Joe, I mean, and..."

"Joe had nothing to do with it. I'm not trying to exact his boots. We could have killed bunch of them this morning. They were all in the open, six of them. I think Joe would have done it, but I couldn't."

"Oh, Will, I'm glad of that! But why did you—"

"Listen, Sarah. I sat down beside her again and took her hands. I know what you've done for me. Whatever I've done for you will never come within a mile of balancing what I owe you. I did what I did because I owe you so much, and because I've got a home I don't want to lose. Mathers is wrong. They're all wrong. You know what will happen when they try to farm the land."

"But it's their right to try, Will," she said. "We can't go on keeping people out of the valley. That was what Joe did, and it's what you're trying to do. Can't you see how wrong it is? They're here. Maybe John Mathers will fall, and maybe the dream he has will turn into a nightmare, but they've got the right to try."

I was silent. She was right, according to her convictions, but I was right, too, according to mine, and what could you do about a situation like that? Here was one of the differences between Joe Pardee and me. He would never have admitted that Sarah was right by any standard.

Finally I said, "I came back this morning because I knew how you would take it, and I don't have enough courage to fight you about it. I agreed that you could make use of my occupation. Well, you've made this one."

She smiled faintly. "The day will come when you'll thank me for it because you will have nothing to regret."

"I couldn't agree to that, of course, but I let it go. I don't want to hurt you—not ever—but I won't let them have our grass. If they come, I'll kill them."

Her voice was very low when she said, "I couldn't have stood it if you had killed John Mathers or some of his men."

"I may have to kill some of them yet," I said, "if they try to steal our grass."

"But they won't," she cried. "They're going to buy Anchor from Alce Dodson."

"They're loco," I said. "Alce won't sell."

GUNLOCK by the prize-winning western novelist WAYNE D. OVERHOLSER

"I'll sell, all right. John Mathers sized him up as a weak man. He is, Will. You know he is."

"Not that weak. Sarah, Mathers is a crazy idealist. I tell you, before he's done he'll bring misery to the whole valley."

She shook her head. "No, he'll bring happiness. He has a wonderful dream. Will. We can't turn against a man because he's an idealist."

"He could take his dream somewhere else," I said.

"You had your chance to make him take his dream elsewhere—his. It was Gene Dillingham, standing in the doorway, his hands above his head, his waistband. Now, it's too late. I'll take my time. Mis Pardee."

"Put me into my chair, Will," she said. "I'll get it."

I obeyed, and she wheeled herself into her bedroom. I stood staring at Dillingham, bearing his hard breathing, seeing his big face twisted with hatred of me.

Sarah returned with his smile, and as he poked it in my eye, returned to his hips. He took off his gun belt and laid it on the porch. Then he said: "I've had the short end of the stick from the day Joe died. Now I'm gonna give it back. Take off your gun, Beeson."

Now I understood why he hadn't fought the time I had knocked him down, and why he'd stood beside my bunk in the dark, hating me and wanting to kill me, but keeping himself under control. As long as he had a chance on the Box P, there was a chance he would eventually become foreman. He had been that sure I'd fail.

Now he would never walk in the footsteps of Joe Pardee, and that was what he had wanted above all other things. I had freed him this morning, but he wouldn't believe it until he heard Sarah say the words, and he had grinned because he was thinking then that he would beat me until Sarah was dead, or never able to ride again.

There was a moment of terrible silence; then Sarah understood, and she cried out, "No, Will! Get out of here, Gene!"

But Gene's challenge I could not avoid, not even for Sarah. I took off my gun belt, laid it on the couch, and walked toward the door, Dillingham backing away until he was off the porch. He did not stop until he was on the other side of the cottonwoods; then he spit on his hands, a grimacing in his thick lips as he said, "All right, Beeson. Now we'll see."

A desperate hour for Will Beeson! I was an animal, fighting without rules, without any sense of sportsmanship or decency. I wanted to Dye. "Cuz three 'Gunlock' here tomorrow."

Round Table Seeks TRA Title

For aspirants to the TRA title, American Champion, there is a cloud on the western horizon. The cause of the disturbance will shortly be more than atmospheric in Oklahoma-oilman Travis M. Kern's Round Table who will head East to make his bid for horse of the year honors following his engagement, on Saturday (July 20) in the Waggoner Stakes, a $100,000 event for 3-year-olds at Hollywood Park.

In becoming the first 3-year-old to win the Hollywood Gold Cup in which he beat such stalwarts as Porterdale and Find, Round Table did so with a flourish. The son of the imported Princequillo romped the mile and a quarter in 1:56 3/5 to equal the track record held by Swaps and come within two fifths of a second of the world record set by Noor at Golden Gate Fields in 1950.

A winner of 5 of 10 starts and $17,726 last year as a 2-year-old, Round Table was sold by his breeder, Arthur B. Hancock early in 1957 for a price reported to be somewhere between $125,000 and $175,000.

First stop on Round Table's schedule will be Chicago where he will be pointed for the American Derby at Washington Park on August 31. Meanwhile Gallant Man, another candidate for the overall Championship, will have returned to the races at Saratoga.

"That's a hat?"

"Insect!" she screamed at him. If you are troubled with summer insects — flies, mosquitoes, ants — we have the insecticides and lotions to control these pests.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A PRINCETON GRADUATE, who inherited a cattle ranch out West, soon discovered that the ornery galoot on adjoining one was rustling his stock. "Be careful," he was warned.

"That old crook is liable to drill a couple holes in your hide. So this is the note the Princetonian typed out: "Dear Sir: I'd appreciate it if you'd stop leaving your hot branding irons where my fool cattle can sit down on them."

A lad had taken a lass for a ride in his ancient jalopy, when out of the middle of nowhere, it broke down. Undaunted, the lad waxed amorous. "My kisses," he urged, "will put new life in you."

"Zat so?" she mocked. "Then why don't you hop out and kiss the car?"

"Today's directors' meeting sure is gonna be something," he boasted to his wife. "I'll be a real battin' of wits."

"How brave of you," yawned she, "to go completely unarmed!"

Pat Boone, America's newest singing boy friend, in his film debut, and the lovable Janet Gaynor, returning to the screen after a 19-year absence, are united with co-stars Terry Moore and Dean Jagger in "Bernardine," opening Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. The Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope. De Luxe color comedy with music, was directed by Henry Levin and produced by Samuel G. Engel.

Comedy, 'Bernardine' Opens Sunday At Ritz

There'll be plenty of excitement for the followers of Pat Boone, and lots of nostalgia for those who remember Janet Gaynor, at the Ritz Theatre during the engagement of "Bernardine." Twentieth Century-Fox's warm-hearted CinemaScope, De Luxe color comedy, which starts Sunday at the Ritz. The nation's number one singing sensation makes his film debut and the screen's most loved star returns after an absence of 19 years. Few both "Bernardine" is an audacious picture and for the public it is a delight.

Young Boone's suave manner and smooth singing style, which won him so much acclaim on radio and TV and made him a favorite of teenagers all over the land comes through magnificently on the screen. Think up another young star for the movies right now? As for Miss Gaynor she still retains the same charm that made her the first Oscar-winner in Hollywood history back in 1928 for her work in "Seventh Heaven."

The casting of this charming story about a group of high-school seniors in the throes of growing up, and their approach to the girl problem, certainly entitles Producer Samuel G. Engel and Director Henry Levin to unstinted praise. For the gang who drink Cokes in the backroom of the Shamrock Cafe, and dream of a mythical girl, "Bernardine Mudd," who lives in Sneaky Falls, Idaho, by the banks of the Itchy River, they chose their types with great discernment.

Pat Boone, as the leader, is a delicate and sensitive dreamer, who evasions a Shangri-La for "guy's like us, where mothers have to come to their sons for spending money and permission to leave the house." Richard Sargent, who sets his first appearance here, plays the role of Sanford Wilson, with unbridled rancor. He is the moody one who lacks technique with the girls. Terry Moore is the pixyish young lady who busts the boys' heads, and the other young men, Bonnie Burns, son of George Burns and Gracie Allen of TV fame, as the lady killer, Val Benedict, the football type, Tom Pittman, the clown; Hosses Dambard, the book-worm and grade-A student, whom all despise, and James Drury, as Pat's older brother and an Air Force Lieutenant, are all ideally cast for their roles.

On the adult side, the parental roles are played with great understanding by Miss Gaynor, Walter Abel and Natalie Schafer, Academy Award-winner Dean Jagger as the town banker, Isabel Jewell, the proprietor of the Shamrock, and Russ Conway, the gym instructor, give equally splendid performances.

And now for the whipped cream, which tops off this delightful story, written for the screen by Theodore Reeves from Mary Chase's Broadway play. Pat sings three songs—"Bernardine" and "Technique," the latter a Calypso-type number, both written by Johnny Mercer, and "Love Letters in the Sand," a ballad by Nick and Charles Kenny and J. Fred Cooty. His singing would be enough to give "Bernardine" top rating in anyone's book, but the other exciting scenes, such as the outboard motor boat races on Lake Squawits in Arizona, all add up to splendid entertainment for the entire family. Don't miss "Bernardine."

'Boy On Dolphin' Filmed In Greece

The first U. S. motion picture ever made in Greece — a breathtaking beautiful CinemaScope romance called "Boy on a Dolphin" — opens Sunday at the Movieland Ride-In Theatre. The talents of marquee-magnets Alan Ladd and Clifton Webb are combined with the allure of the glamorous "new face" from Italy, Sophia Loren, in an enchanting seaside romantic tale.

The dynamic three-star status belongs to all the Greeks, art collector Webb flashes a picture before her eyes.

Producer Engel achieved another "first" by obtaining permission from the Greek Ministry of Education to film important scenes in front of the world famous Parthenon on the historic Acropolis. He also lured into the plot famed Greek land marks like Delphi, Corfu, Ios, the Monastery of Meteora, and the ancient island of Hydra, where his company worked on location for three months.

Director Jean Negulesco and ace cinematographer Milton Kraser, who teamed up to successfully produce "Three Coins in the Fountain," have now turned their cameras on the classical beauty of Greek architecture and sea scenes.

Alan Ladd attempts what is probably one of the most off-beat, and subsequently, awarding roles of his career since he became an overnight star in "This Gun For Hire." He plays the rugged and serious-minded American archeologist roman-roles are played with great understanding by Miss Gaynor, Walter Abel and Natalie Schafer, Academy Award-winner Dean Jagger as the town banker, Isabel Jewell, the proprietor of the Shamrock, and Russ Conway, the gym instructor, give equally splendid performances.

Pat sings three songs—"Bernardine" and "Technique," the latter a Calypso-type number, both written by Johnny Mercer, and "Love Letters in the Sand," a ballad by Nick and Charles Kenny and J. Fred Cooty. His singing would be enough to give "Bernardine" top rating in anyone's book, but the other exciting scenes, such as the outboard motor boat races on Lake Squawits in Arizona, all add up to splendid entertainment for the entire family. Don't miss "Bernardine."

And now for the whipped cream, which tops off this delightful story, written for the screen by Theodore Reeves from Mary Chase's Broadway play. Live Creatures In Thrill Film

Thousands of dreaded Luber grasshoppers — appearing 10 and 12 feet long on the screen — are the heroes in "Beginning of the End," thrilling science-fiction production which opens at the Ritz Theatre July 26 and 27, with Peter Graves and Peggy Castle in the starring roles.

Through the use of a newly-developed film process, producer Bert I. Gordon shows, for the first time, live giant-size carnivorous creatures attacking people and demolishing cities.

Six hundred of the Luber grasshoppers were captured by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Texas and shipped in specially constructed cages to Hollywood for use in this production. It was necessary however, to clear the shipment through Federal, state county and city authorities before the dangerous insects could be brought in.

Producer-director Gordon was considerably concerned at first over his responsibility for the grasshoppers, knowing full well what trouble he would be in if any of the bugs got loose in California. But his fears proved groundless. As completed, the monsters had devoured each other until only three were left.

SEE WHERE V. M. Molotov, last of the Old Bolsheviks, has been purged from his high ranking job with the Communist party. In the Soviet Union, it appears the proper pronunciation of "old" is "ex." Molotov, we read, is the Russian word for "hammer." This time, however, it looks like Moly, himself, got socked. Angiers from all over the world will compete in the International Tuna Cup matches off Nova Scotia. That's a big fish story—and it's true! In a popularity poll of French first graders a bike racing champ came in second to Napoleon. No doubt of it—he carried the entire look-Ma-no-hands vote.

Commission To Form Committee

John Krider, of Sanford, was appointed as a representative of the Seminole County Board of Commissioners in an organization of county commissioners to look into and make further plans for a proposed International Airport to be located in the Sorrento-Cassia area near Sanford.

Carl Lehman, of Lake County called for the appointing of representatives from each of the nine counties proposed to be served by the International Airport.

Larry Hughes, of the Board of City Commissioners, Eustis, an outspoken advocate of the International Airport stated that "in 10 years this airport can become as large as one in Miami."

"One city, one county, cannot afford such a project because it is too expensive," Hughes said as he pointed out the proposed location of the airport on a huge map.

Hughes also pointed out other aspects that would benefit the location of the proposed airport in the approximate area of Sorrento or Cassia. Fuel could be barged in to the proposed Sanford Docks and terminals was one of the benefits of locating the huge airport centrally. And, as another benefit, he stated that it would serve all nine counties with no city in the area further than 45 miles from the airport.

It was also pointed out that the proposed location would be only about four or five miles from the Interstate Highway which would give easy access from Orlando and other centers. "We will be 20 miles from downtown Orlando and only 20 miles from Daytona Beach," Hughes stated.

"I am very enthusiastic about the project," Hughes told the group, "because it will be a stable situation serving a population of a half-million people."

Wally Schana of Howey, told the group which evidenced extreme enthusiasm over the proposed international airport, "a point to bring out is that an airport of this size should not be located near a large city."

Carl Lehman, who later was appointed coordinator of the project, told the group that "there is no land sale promotion behind this. There are at least three possible sites available anyone of which could be used."

"The whole project is in a formative stage," Lehman said "and must make some definite progress within the next few weeks."

A. D. Mims, of Winter Garden, and a member of the Orange County Commission, told the group that he believed that "Orlando would compromise on the location."

Hughes, speaking to the group said "If we wait until after the next session of the legislature we might as well forget the project. The CAA will be more than happy to approve the proposed location in order to get it away from Pinellas, and the heavy air traffic in the immediate Orlando area."

Sheriff's Office To Get New Radio Equipment Soon

Completely new radio equipment for the Seminole County Sheriff's Department will be installed in the near future.

Sheriff J. Luther Hobby opened bids for the equipment Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

The only bidder was Radio Corporation of America, Sheriff Hobby awarded the contract to RCA for a bid total of $9,832.

Seminole County's radio system will be tied in with the Civil Defense statewide system, said Sheriff Hobby. The Federal Civil Defense will pay 50 per cent of the bid price.

Hobby said that the complete radio system, including 10 mobile units, will cost Seminole County between $1,800 and $2,000.

RCA submitted a bid for the present sheriff's department radio equipment for a trade-in price of $1,250. This, in addition to the fact that outlying communities of Altamonte Springs, Oviedo, and Longwood will pay for their mobile unit, as will the constable, and the civil defense will pay for half of the bid price, will reduce the cost to the Sheriff's Department.

On two instances, bids were rejected on radio equipment when Seminole County attempted to purchase the equipment for the Sheriff's office. There were two bidders when the bids were first rejected, RCA and Motorola. In the second instance, bidders were RCA, Motorola, and General Electric.

RCA, said Sheriff Hobby, represented by D. O. Cove in the Florida District will defer bidding until Jan. 1, 1958.

Coroner's Jury Rules Youth's Death Accidental

A coroner's jury returned a verdict Friday afternoon in the accidental death of Edward M. "Ed" Smith Jr., when his play vehicle ran into the path of an oncoming car last Tuesday morning shortly after 10 o'clock.

Asst. State's Attorney Tom Waddell conducted the inquest and questioned witnesses to the fatal accident.

Leo Rock, Police Sergeant for the Sanford Police Department described the accident and presented pictures taken at the scene. He stated that "there was no evidence of speed as the car moved from four houses west of the impact."

Mrs. Peggy Harden, a passenger in the automobile driven by Mrs. Bert Hollingsworth, described the scene as "blinded by two badges as the car was driven down the center of the street."

Speed of the car, said Mrs. Harden was approximately 15 miles per hour. She told the coroner's jury of six men that "he was going under the car when I first saw him."

The jury of six men were: Grady Duncan, R. Z. Johnson Jr., Ralph Goodspeed, Oscar Decker, H. B. Bourquard, and N. W. Davis.

Verdict returned Friday afternoon read, "Edward M. Smith Jr. met his death by unavoidable accident due in part to shrubbery on street parkway obstructing view of the street."

It was reported this morning that shrubbery is being removed along the parkway by residents of the area.

However, as described by Police Sergeant Rock, there is no hedge bordering the driveway from which the three boys whisked out into the street. There are three shrubs, one on each side of the driveway and one at the corner of the property line. It was described that these shrubs hid the view of the youngsters as the car traveled east toward Meltonville Ave. at the time of the fatal accident.
