New York State's late celery crop is short due to warm weather, said Roby Laing, local man this morning in discussing prospects for the celery season in this area and the possibility that early celery from Florida might enter a market that is more or less "cleaned up" as far as late and early New York state celery is concerned. Mr. Laing expects to return to Newark, N. Y., tonight by train to resume his operations on a "deal" there. He added that storage of celery may be on a similar basis in New York state this season because of a shortage and also because storage has not been too successful.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!
 Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attacks. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any drug store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2 1-2 times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25 percent more for your money.—Adv.

FERA Operations Director T. K. Apper stated this morning that his visit to Orlando yesterday with County Board Chairman John Meisch, Sr., produced "nothing definite" as to the day when construction on the proposed State Farmers' Wholesale Market might begin. The pair met with Regional FERA Director O. P. Swope and other officials, and were advised to prepare a new set of plans and specifications for the project.

Carl Butler and Ozell Givens, local negroes whose physical and mental condition necessitates immediate treatment, were removed to the State Hospital for the Insane at Chattahoochee Saturday afternoon. The big, gray bus of the Institution, crowded with other persons in various stages of mental and physical incompetency, stopped in Sanford just long enough to make official transfer of the local negroes from the jail to institution agents on the bus.

Wrestling, such as is seen in Orlando every Monday night by upwards of 2000 persons, may be introduced to Sanford next week. It was announced here late yesterday afternoon by Turner Scott, Orlando fight promoter. Mr. Scott visited the city in search of a site and possible sponsor of weekly wrestling cards. He plans to bring all members of Jim Downing's large stable of wrestlers into Sanford every Thursday night, provided arrangements can be made. The ball park is the tentative site, and Mr. Scott's proposal will be laid before the board of directors of the Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce when it meets at Max Stewart's office tomorrow afternoon at 5:00 o'clock.

Fifteen pounds lighter in weight and radiating cheerfulness and enthusiasm, G. to Hot Springs, Mr. Brown has returned in nearly normal health, highly pleased over the treatment he received. Hot Springs, he said, is the most economical place in which he has ever resided, and for once, he said, government control of some phases of the treatment is of real benefit to every person needing treatment.

And so ended the career of Milford, Paola negro who, resisting arrest after having assaulted another negro on Sanford Avenue about 10 days ago, was shot in the leg by Special Officer Benton. Milford died early Sunday morning. A coroner's jury inquest was held late yesterday, and the verdict was "justifiable homicide." The jury was composed of W. E. Watson, Flynn Vause, Joe Rollins, J. H. Milton Edge, young white FERA worker who had been residing on Celery Avenue with his wife, two children and brother-in-law for some months, was placed in the custody of Warden R. M. Stanley of the Johnson county jail system, Wrightsville, Ga., early this morning, and returned to the Georgia city to finish a jail sentence imposed on him when he was found guilty of arson about three years ago. Edge was given a term of from three to five years in Lawrence County, Ga., and he escaped from a prison gang in Johnson county after having served seven months of the term. Constable W. A. McMullen who arrested Edge for being drunk about 10 days ago, learned on a tip that Edge was wanted in Georgia. Investigation revealed that Edge has been living here for about two years. He had been in jail about 10 days, Constable McMullen stated.

HUGH JOHNSON HAS RESIGNED HIS HIGH POST

Roosevelt Enunciates NRA Principles Which Will Be Retained For Future

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. —The fiery General Hugh S. Johnson resigned yesterday as administrator of the National Recovery Act and President Roosevelt accepted his resignation with a mutual understanding to project NRA into an immediate organization.

The retirement of Johnson, much speculated about in the trying days of the Recovery campaign, came as little surprise and was announced at the summer White House, apparently by previous agreement.

Roosevelt set out for Washington last night to bring about the reorganization of NRA which is regarded by the Administration as the keystone of the New Deal.

244 Retail Stores In County Had 1933 Sales Of $2,927,000

Seminole County's 244 retail stores had net sales of approximately $2,927,000 during the past year, it was learned at the Chamber of Commerce today.

A department of Commerce data reported indicated also that there were 279 full time employees in the stores and that their payroll amounted to $375,000.

Sanford had 160 of the 244 stores, 203 of the 279 employees, and the payroll was $263,000 of the total of $275,000 paid the 279 employees.

In addition to the full time employees, those working part time were paid $30,000 additional, making a total payroll for full and part time employees in the county's retail stores of $405,000.

Forty six of the 160 retail stores in Sanford were food stores, while 18 were eating places. Fourteen represented the automotive groups, and 14 represented filling stations. Sanford also had 13 drug stores, 11 chain merchandise stores, and 10 wearing apparel and shoe stores during the past year.

10 Percent Sales Tax Predicted For State

DAYTONA BEACH, Sept. 26. —Ratification of the Homestead Exemption Amendment will necessitate the enactment of a retail sales tax of approximately 10 percent on practically all commodities except food and gasoline, Mack Beth, vice president of the Florida Retail Merchants Association, declared here before a group of business men.

Lifting of taxation from home-owners up to $5,000, he declared, would merely lift a tax burden from 17 percent of the state's population and place the bulk upon the shoulders of 83 percent, and also place a heavier tax burden upon investment property with the result of discouraging the erection of new hotels and other means of rental property.

INITIATIVE WILL NOT BE HINDERED, ASSURES ROPER

Cabinet Head Replies To Group Seeking 'Clarified' New Deal

CINCINNATI, Sept. 26. —(AP)—Directly seeking to reassure business Secretary Roper last night asserted the New Deal would safeguard individual initiative and that there need be no fear that all or most emergency Recovery steps "may become permanent."

In what was generally interpreted as a reply to the request by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States that the Administration clarify its aims, Roper declared there was no thought of bringing about "complete abolition of the old order" of our economic and social system.

Addressing the convention here of the National Exchange club, he said: "Many steps must be taken during an emergency which become unnecessary when equilibrium is fully reestablished."

"The fact that some reforms may be initiated along with emergency acts gives no grounds (Continued On Page 2)

FREE SPEECH UPHELD BY HIGH COURT

Mahoney, Hawthorne Did Not Break 18-Day Election Law As Robineau Charged

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 26. —(AP)—The supreme court yesterday ordered the discharge of N. Vernon Hawthorne, Miami state's attorney, and Dan J. Mahoney, general manager of the Miami Daily News, who were charged with violating the state primary election laws prohibiting circulation.

The court upheld the constitutionality of the act prohibiting circulation of charges without first serving a copy of the charges upon the person against whom they were directed, but it held that Hawthorne and Mahoney had not violated this law.

Hawthorne was charged in information filed in Dade county criminal court with making charges against Rep. S. Pierre Robineau, without first informing him of what he proposed to say. Mahoney was charged with violating the law by publishing what Hawthorne said in his address over radio.

The court held that statements made in such a public forum as a speaker's platform were not included in the class of charges sought to be regulated by the law in question. It also held that a newspaper, in publishing what another says in a public manner is not subject to restrictions of the law.

The court said it construed the law under which the charges were filed against Mahoney and Hawthorne "as an effort on the part of the Legislature to exercise its police power to promote fair play and fair competition in politics by denouncing as an improper practice the unannounced publication and circulation of tangible forms of charges and attacks upon a candidate of a kind designed and intended to be passed from hand to hand, as hostile influences against him, without an opportunity being afforded to defend against such charges or attacks by (Continued On Page Four)

Compared with a year ago, basic farm products now average 35 percent higher.

Whereas late in April this year Chicago market prices of these commodities averaged 37 percent higher than in April, 1932, they now show an average of 101 percent above the corresponding date two years ago.

Memphis To Vote On Using TVA Power

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 26. —The city of Memphis yesterday called a bond referendum election for Tuesday Nov. 6, to vote on issuing not more than $9,000,000 in bonds to acquire, purchase or build an electric distribution system in Memphis for Tennessee Valley Authority power.

The city commission yesterday afternoon passed on first reading an ordinance providing for submission of the question of TVA power to the voters on the day of the general November elections.

Poisoned Well Holds Death For Children

WHELEN SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 26. —(AP) Alarmed by the deaths of two children and the serious illness of six other persons, attributed to a poisoned well, more than a score of their neighbors in this Southwest Arkansas community yesterday sought precautionary treatment for poisoning.

Two of the B. B. Burnett children, Eunice, six, and Louise, three, died suddenly last week and other members of the family and friends who called to lend assistance became violently ill.

FERA PLANS NEW PROGRAM TO AID IDLE

Persons Refusing To Work Or Raise Gardens Will Be Cut From Relief Rolls

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 26. —(AP)—A program of "help those who help themselves" was announced for the Florida Emergency Relief Administration yesterday at a meeting of the state planning and advisory board.

Administrator Julius F. Stone, Jr., said persons on relief who do not raise gardens or perform the duties outlined for them by the Florida Rural Rehabilitation Corporation will be dropped from the rolls.

The order will affect rural areas mostly, Stone said. He added the policy of the FERA from now on was to try to get relief clients in a position to take care of themselves.

The board, in its regular monthly meeting, approved a recommendation for a change in the state constitution setting up a state department of education and a state education commissioner.

Made by the education sub-committee, the recommendation also suggested the election of county boards of education from the county as a whole.

Executive Secretary M. L. Montgomery reported a survey had disclosed $7,344,123.47 was needed to get Florida's school buildings and grounds in good shape. He said the counties had reported they had available $1,466,103.53 in funds, bonds and materials that could be used for this purpose.

Country Club Not Able To Operate On Present Income

That the municipally owned Sanford Country Club cannot operate and balance its limited budget unless it receives more financial assistance from the city and the golfing contingent is a fact revealed in a consolidated statement of Club financial affairs for the period of Aug. 19, 1933 to Aug. 31, 1934.

Receipts during that period totaled $1,169.64, with disbursements listed as $1,396.03, or a net deficit of $126.39 for the period.

The report, tendered to the City Commission Monday night by H. B. Chapman, president of the Club, is as follows:

Receipts From City of Sanford, $500, plus $50 paid by City to Chase & Co. in one month's allowance, with allowance for September dues, $640.50; gasoline sales, $24.90; check from S. G. Gray to close account when he registered as treasurer, $4.24.

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 26. —Comptroller J. M. Lee and Attorney General Cary D. Landis plan to press for an early decision in the circuit court at Tallahassee on the temporary injunction granted the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, restraining the comptroller from levying on railroad property for collection of certain contested tax items.

Democrats Will Hold Control Of Congress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. —(AP)—Democrats will control both branches of the 74th Congress by substantial majorities unless some unprecedented change sweeps aside all present trends before Nov. 6.

That is the outcome of a checkup of votes cast in primaries and reports received by both Democratic and Republican headquarters.

Already Democrats are assured 49 seats in the Senate and Republican leaders concede they do not expect to capture more than 70 House seats which the Democrats are far from admitting.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. —(AP)—The Bronx County grand jury today indicted Bruno Richard Hauptmann on a charge of extortion as the alleged receiver of the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom, shortly after police had found $840 more of the ransom money cached in Hauptmann's garage.

District Attorney Samuel Foley said Hauptmann told him it was part of a bundle of money given him for safe keeping by the late Isador Fisch.

"Every one of the bills is a Lindbergh certificate," Foley stated. Colonel Lindbergh personally appeared before the grand jury for half hour at about the time police dismantling Hauptmann's garage came across the additional (Continued On Page 4)

President Ready To Probe Complaints Made By Strikers

While cotton mill shuttles were a return to normalcy today, strikers leaders and mill operators open divergent views on the re-employment of erstwhile strikers.

President Roosevelt announced upon his return to Washington from Hyde Park that one of the first things he plans considering, possibly late today, will be strikers' complaints of discrimination.

Francis Gorman, leader of the recent strike, charged "rank discrimination."

George Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, said he could not say if the mills would accept the Winant Inquiry Board report or whether they would comply with the President's request that all strikers be taken back without discrimination.

An Associated Press survey in the South showed 750 mills operating with 250,000 workers back, while 170 plants with 92,000 workers are idle.

Adjutant General Lindsey Camp of Georgia said today that 14 persons arrested last night at Shannon were being held incommunicado as "radicals."

Detroit Girl Found Stuffed Into Trunk

DETROIT, Sept. 26. —(AP)—The body of Lillian Gallaher, missing since Thursday afternoon, was found today on her 11th birthday in an apartment only a few blocks from her home.

The body, bound with heavy cord, was stuffed into a trunk. The girl had been slain but police did not disclose at once how she died. They immediately began a search for a man and woman who had occupied the apartment until a few days ago. An elder brother of the girl identified the body.

James McGarty, deputy police superintendent, said the apartment had been rented by M. W. Goodrich, trap drummer, and a city-wide search was started for him.

Lillian had set out Thursday afternoon on a door to door canvass selling chances on a punch board as a school benefit. No further trace was found until her body was located in the trunk.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

KING OF ALL THE EARTH—God is the King of all the earth: King to praise with understanding.—Psalm 47:1.

President Roosevelt to General Herring: "How's your hat, what's your hurry?"

In these days it is no wonder that that filling station operator was suspicious of a twenty dollar bill.

There'd be no trouble whatever in getting lots of business if you just didn't have to collect for it.

Wonder how Bruce (Hauptmann) would like it if somebody kidnaped his ten-month-old baby?

Buller shows in the movie thriller "Treasure Island" were as tough a bunch of pirates as ever hit a throat or scuttled a ship. In fact they were almost worthy of the Merri Castles.

They say this fellow Hauptmann went in for kidnaping because he just had to have luxuries. Why didn't he wait until Sinclair is elected governor and then move to California?

We haven't been able to understand the terminology involved in this Englishman's claim of foul in the yacht races, but we suppose one of them made a move when the other wasn't looking.

Some of those who struck, unfortunately, are finding, now that they are trying to return to work, that their jobs have been given to others. When there are less million unemployed, it never pays to strike. Don't quit one job until you are sure you have another. For some of those ten million unemployed may be looking for work.

"After all," says Arthur Brisbane, "what does a national debt of $27,000,000,000, with a few extra billions for farmers, amount to, in a country that, when prosperous, has an income of 500,000,000,000? It does not amount to much in a country that is prosperous, but in a country that is not prosperous, it may not leave much after paying the debt to buy groceries with."

Our Senate Nominations Committee is horrified at the disclosure that an American missionary in Ecuador preached the gospel and sold gas bombs at the same time. But that's nothing. The magazine Fortune disclosed some months ago that a large portion of the unemployment funds of prominent church organization in England was invested in the stock of munition companies.

Secretary of Labor Perkins' advocacy of the British unemployment date illustration (the distance we have gone since a few years ago when everyone spoke of the "dollar" in terms of the utmost contempt. Then we said what American want is jobs not charity. Most of them now would probably prefer legitimate corporations to government aid, but so far there do not seem to be many jobs at wages which would attract workmen. So some form of aid may be the next best thing. Perhaps the British were not so crazy after all.

A man in Pennsylvania has produced a career at also check on 1343 children who ought to be home in bed must at least be on the streets. And in order to enforce this order, authorities have ordered a provision common in Nazi, Soviet, and Communist Europe of detaining children from the necks of children and after some extent, those who are parents, even though they would like their children to be home, may object to this kind of order. All these parents may be an authority who, when ordered to do so, will object.

Florida's Home-Building Boom

The most frequently repeated argument in favor of the Homestead Exemption Amendment is that it will restore prosperity, induce new residents to come here, and build their homes, and revive real estate activity. Writing in the Englewood, California Daily News, a newspaper columnist declares: "In less than a decade after Florida passes that Homestead Exemption law, Florida's real estate values will be doubled, its prosperity greatly increased, and its population practically doubled." The best argument against this view is the fact that it appeared in a California newspaper which undoubtedly would have nothing in the world more than to see Florida's prosperity greatly increased. If California favors homestead exemption for Florida, it must be bad.

However, there are many people in Florida who take this same fallacious view of the Homestead Exemption Amendment. They assert, with positive conviction though entirely without proof, that the passage of this amendment will attract to this state a vast horde of home builders. They pretend to believe that the assurance of permanent escape from home taxes, seldom amounting to more than $50 or $100 a year, will induce thousands of persons now living in other states to desert their present homes and move into this state. They overlook completely many other necessary items of consideration which enter into the task of choosing a home site.

Equally as important as the taxes one has to pay on his home are the taxes one must pay on his business. It is also necessary to have a business where one locates his home. Or if not a business, then at least a job, unless one has an independent income. Those with independent incomes will not locate here just because they have to pay taxes on their homes. When they think of the seven cent tax on every gallon of gasoline they buy, the highest tax of that kind in the country, they will give some consideration to that fact. And then, if they have to pay a sales tax on everything they buy, on top of that, the mere absence of any tax on their homes may not seem so alluring.

We recall that when the campaign was on to exempt incomes and inheritances in this state from taxation, the same hue and cry was raised as is being heard now that such exemptions would induce hundreds of big industries to move to this state and countless millionaires to establish their residences here in order to escape taxation. The amendments carried, just before the slump began, which has continued to this day. So unpopular did the exemption on inheritances become that it has since been repealed and we know a great many people who would like to tax incomes. These amendments not only failed to bring prosperity but they cut the state off from a much needed source of revenue.

With the location of an industry as with the location of a home there are a great many things besides taxes which have to be considered. The owner of a steel mill must consider the proximity of iron mines, the distance to markets, the facilities for transportation, the availability of suitable labor, and many other similar things, as well as the taxes he has to pay. You cannot locate a steel mill in a state simply because there happen to be no state income taxes there. Nor will anyone build a home in this state simply because he will not have to pay any taxes on it.

We do not mean by this that the reports of people coming to Florida and building homes are not true. They are coming now, before the Homestead Exemption Amendment has been voted on. They will continue to come and build homes regardless of whether the amendment carries or not. They are coming here because of advertising, because they like the climate, because they have a little more money to invest and spend now than they had a year ago, because of the release of government credit for home building, because the value of real estate, including homes, is going up, just as the price of everything else is going up, and because Florida today offers the best business opportunities of any other state in the union. But to say that anyone would leave his old home and build a new home in Florida simply because of a different set of tax laws is to ignore a great many other vitally important factors.

Ragweed

"It may be ragweed to you, but it's hay fever to me," says a sixty-five year old of the persons who suffer from hay fever east of the Mississippi River. As the Autumn months begin to dawn and the wind borne pollen of the ragweed begins to spread, hundreds of thousands of Americans enter upon that season of the year which to them is hell on earth.

"The majority of hay-fever cases," explains the United States News, "begin toward the end of summer and last usually for a month or more each Autumn. It has been reported that sometimes these attacks recur in the same person for more than 30 years. The only relief possible is for the patient to go to some locality free from ragweed pollen."

"However, medical authorities realize that an enormous amount of suffering can be obviated by preventing ragweed plants from blooming and forming pollen. To effect that result, numerous civic organizations have entered the picture and, with the aid of health service units, have started campaigning against the ragweed."

In some states the cutting of ragweed has been made an important public health issue and laws have been passed to make its cutting obligatory. The ragweed occurs in most parts of the United States and well up into Canada.

Uncle Sam's specialists advise that ragweed be controlled by cutting twice each year, first just before the flowers form and again before flowers develop on the low-growing branches that shoot out after the first cutting. The proper time for cutting varies according to seasonal conditions in different localities.

Officials believe that the cutting of ragweed along highways and on vacant lots of cities and suburbs is especially important.

Tear Gas Barrage Routs Thug With Kidnaping Mania

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 24. (AP)—Brought to bay in a choking cloud of tear gas, John Baldwin, a gas flushing jail breaker, was in custody Tuesday after police had unsuccessfully interrupted his second kidnaping in four days.

Majorie Evans, 21, and her escort, S. R. McKane, whom he had kidnaped two hours earlier. Officers, who broke into the room, unaware that another abduction had been carried out, replied to the gunfire with gas. Gunning and cursing, Baldwin staggered into the hall into the arms of officers.

SANFORD FORUM

Sanford, Florida, Sept. 24th, 1934.

Dear Mr. Editor:—I read, with a great deal of pleasure and interest, the letter of George G. Herring published in the "Sanford Forum" of Sept. 22nd, 1934, and wish to say that I am in perfect accord with the views therein expressed by Judge Herring.

I also want to avail myself of this opportunity to congratulate you on the many sensible and helpful editorials you have published, especially of late, with most of which I have been in complete harmony—in principle, at least.

I am proud to number both you and Judge Herring among my friends. However, I do want to take issue with you on your viewpoint as to the merits of the Homestead Exemption Amendment, and with both of you as to what "Will Shakespeare said."

In order to arrive at a true interpretation of what Will had in mind in the passage from Hamlet, let's see what you quote, in your humble opinion, you have to retrace your steps about a dozen lines to the point where he begins to recite a number of ill which anyone could avoid "when he himself might his quietus make with a bare bodkin," or by suicide.

Then he proceeds as follows: "Who would fardels (burden) bear, To groan and sweat under a weary life, But that the dread of something after death, punishes the will, And makes us rather bear those ills we have, Than fly to others that we know not of."

The "dread of something after death" is the thought that makes us willing to "bear those ills we have."

I cannot see the analogy between the proposed Homestead Exemption Amendment and the "dread of something after death."

In fact, when the voters of the State of Florida go to the polls on November 6th next and make it a part of our organic law, I feel that it will produce more to de-

HUGH JOHNSON HAS RESIGNED HIS HIGH POST

(Continued from Page 1) nation, the President indicated quite clearly what he regarded as principles to be maintained. He said:

"The elimination of child labor, the recognition of the principles of fair wages and of collective bargaining, and the first effort to eliminate unfair practices within business—these among others are chalked up to your credit."

Johnson, who had a heart to heart talk with the President here two weeks ago after another previous resignation, stated:

"We are in agreement upon the general form of reorganization and I do hope you will now also see eye-to-eye with me on the subject of my resigning from a job which as reorganized seems altogether superfluous."

Thus, ended seemingly on the best of terms, the turbulent career of the old Army officer and industrialist with the NIRA.

The President in his letter of replacement took the occasion to ask the Recovery chief to take a complete rest for a while.

The two letters, one from Johnson, submitting his resignation, the other from the President accepting the resignation as of Oct. 15, follow:

Johnson letter: "New York City, Sept. 24, 1934. "Dear Mr. President: "The reorganization of NIRA which has been the subject of so many conferences and memoranda between us, is becoming momentarily more urgent. We are in agreement upon the general form of reorganization and I do hope you will now also see eye-to-eye with me on the subject of my resigning from a job which as reorganized seems altogether superfluous. Added to this are private considerations which are becoming more and more poignant. I therefore urge your acceptance of my resignation."

"Our cordial and warm relations over so long a time make it unnecessary to say that you will continue to have my loyalty and, when circumstances permit, my services in the new duties you have in mind."

"While I feel that my executive responsibility should cease at once, may I suggest that this resignation be effective, Oct. 15, in order to give me time to make such arrangements as may be necessary."

Initiative Will Not Be Hindered. Assured Roper

"I shall see you in Washington very soon. "Faithfully yours, "FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT." (Signed)

will indicate what features should be made permanent and which are to be utilized only until the emergency has passed.

Roper only a month ago broadcast to the nation's business leaders, after consulting President Roosevelt, a message that the New Deal was wholeheartedly for preservation of the "profit motive." He did not specify last night what Administration policies would be changed or how.

Obviously, however, Roper's generalized statements were considerably significant by Roosevelt followers. It was emphasized that the secretary of commerce had given weeks to preparation of his address. It was assumed, too, that Mr. Roosevelt knew of its content.

"Let us make every effort," Roper said, "to safeguard local and individual initiative by weakening dependent agencies as soon as possible from the nursing bottle of federal aid after the emergency that bring the national government into co-operative relief endeavors have passed."

"One of the vital needs of this year is, therefore, to wean dependent units from their federal dependence where it is possible for them to stand on their own feet."

The New Deal, he said, was designed in purpose and program "to reestablish balance and equilibrium in those segments of our economic and social system where, over a series of years, business initiative and effort have found structure alone."

"There are those who assert," he added, "that the New Deal means the complete abolition of the old order of our economic and social system. Nothing could be farther from the truth."

New Deal leaders desire and the New Deal contemplates maintaining those institutions and methods which have proved to be sound, adequate and constructive in our progress thus far.

"It would safeguard these institutions by eliminating those dependent factors, evils and abuses which contributed predominantly to the economic collapse from which we have all suffered so severely."

Conceding that the Recovery program had not been perfect "either in conception or execution," Roper said:

"Mistakes have been made and methods have been changed and corrected, a process that will continue constructively throughout the course of the present Administration."

"After economic and social conditions have been presented by the emergency action of President Roosevelt. The merit and purpose of our constitution have been upheld in every sense of the word."

Declining representations have come from some quarters that business opposes the principles of an amended national economy as exemplified in the Recovery program. The commerce secretary cited a pointed by the United States pointed by the United States chamber of commerce a year and a half before the advent of the Roosevelt Administration. He quoted the report as saying:

"A freedom of action which might have been justified in the relatively simple life of the last century cannot be tolerated today because the inelastic action of one individual may adversely affect the lives of thousands. We have left the period of extreme individualism and are living in a period in which national recovery must be recognized as a controlling factor."

This statement from business to the President was illustrative of similar pronouncements from the business group during the same period.

Washington Daybook

BY HERBERT FLUMMER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The Senate is going "redder." In addition to the famous red carnation of Senator Copeland of New York and the even more famous red hair of turbulent Huey Long of Louisiana, it is going to be further adorned when it meets next January by the red necktie, horseshoe diamond pin and all, favored by Senator-designate Bilbo of Mississippi.

It seems fair enough to style Mississippi's latest choice for the Senate that way. Election day is merely realization of primary results down South and Bilbo made a runaway race of it against the veteran, Senator Hubert Stephens. Just why Mississippi turned on Stephens after having sent him to the House for five terms and then twice to the Senate is a matter that may well occupy the attention of Senator Pat Harrison, senior senator from that state. He has had four House terms and his third high in the Senate will be up at the end of '38. He is next at bat for re-election. If there is any special significance to Stephens' defeat, Harrison will be quick to do it up and learn thereby.

Washington press galleries anticipate a flood of "copy" when Senator Bilbo takes his seat. He is getting plenty of advance notice as a rival to Huey Long for doing the novel thing on or off the floor. The glimpses of his platform available heretofore, despite the support Roosevelt theme song, give Administration key man no great amount of joy. Senator Long is also an ardent Roosevelter—sometimes.

Bilbo is described as having used Long technique in his primary battle. He also favors, by all accounts, such Long policies as wealth redistribution, the topic on which the Louisiana has entertained the Senate at great length so frequently.

There was no test of "New Deal" sentiment involved in the Stephens-Bilbo runoff. Both campaigned as "New Dealers." Bilbo supplemented that with promises on his own hook, going beyond the present scope of the "New Deal" in some highly important respects. Democratic leadership in the Senate has had to deal with the embarrassment caused by such election commitments in the past. But for the fact that party leaders are counting confidently not only on retaining but increasing materially their Senate majority this year Bilbo's case might be causing them concern.

It is representative of the "New Deal" sentiment that has affected a double defeat. Having failed to beat Stephens out for the Senate nomination and thereby "ruined" himself out of Congress, he is attempting to throw his support to Stephens in the "back-up" run-off. It is not work as often it does not. Personal popularity is not a transferable commodity.

This statement from business to the President was illustrative of similar pronouncements from the business group during the same period.

U. S. SEEKS TO LOOSEN CREDIT FOR BUSINESS

Jesse Jones Says Big Sums Are Available In RFC But Technicalities Interfere

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Efforts to loosen credit by encouraging loans to commercial enterprises and making loans for the relief of mortgage-pressed properties were undertaken today at the Treasury and White House.

The chairman of the Industrial Advisory Committee of the 12 Federal Reserve banks met with Secretary Morgenthau and members of the Reserve board to discuss means of encouraging the extension of credit to commercial enterprises.

President Roosevelt went over with Chairman Jones of the RFC plans to aid the mortgage market. Jones said hundreds of millions of dollars had been available in the RFC for the mortgage market, but that technicalities had prevented loans.

He indicated that the President was ready to cooperate with the movement by Winthrop Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National Bank, to create agencies eligible to borrow from the RFC.

Republicans Will Bear Down Against New Deal In Future

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Spectacular contests over the New Deal are being fought in most of the 32 states where 34 senators are to be elected in November.

Leaders of the Republican organization, basing the political future of their party on opposition to the New Deal, have issued an urgent call to their candidates to "bear down" on the Roosevelt policies with everything they have.

Generally, Old Guard Republicans on the whole are opposing those parts of the Roosevelt program that fit their ideas of government and are favoring on some Republican policies.

Happy in the knowledge that they already are assured of a majority in the next Senate, Democratic leaders say they are going to eliminate a number of Old Guard Republican senators "before retaining all of their own seats."

National Air Policy Set Before Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—A time when giant passenger airplanes regularly will fly the Atlantic and when thousands of Americans will have small airplanes of their own, was announced Monday before President Roosevelt's aviation commission.

The commission's first hearing, commerce department officials drew a picture and proposed a national aviation policy, including:

- Creation of a permanent aviation authority with full control over all phases of commercial aviation.
Development of lighter-than-air trans-Atlantic transportation.
Federal encouragement of the aviation industry to make it self-sustaining.

A $20,000,000 appropriation for use within the next two years for building airports in co-operation with states on a dollar-matching basis.

That the nation be "aerodynamic" as it has been "motorized."

PRESIDENT PICKS BOARD TO ADJUST STRIKE DISPUTES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Moving swiftly as angry demands came from textile centers for resumption of the nation-wide walk-out, President Roosevelt last night named the Labor Relations Board which has supreme power to adjust disputes between the worker and employer in the industry.

The board will be composed of: Walter P. Stacy, Chief Justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court, chairman.

Admiral Henry A. Wiley, James Mullenbach, labor arbitrator, Chicago.

All three were members of the National Steel Labor Relations Board named in June to solve disputes in that industry.

The board was created by executive order. It is to have full authority to investigate all alleged violations of Section 7-A of the Recovery Act and such part of any code of fair competition or agreement which includes this section.

Upon request of the parties to a labor dispute the board is authorized. (Continued On Page 4)

Carlton Loses Suit Asking Tax Reduction

SEBRING, Sept. 27. (AP)—Former Governor Doyle E. Carlton yesterday lost a suit in circuit court here in which he sought to redeem on a lower assessment basis properties on which taxes had been unpaid for several years.

Circuit Judge Barker, in an opinion on the Carlton case and another from Hardee county held that the taxpayer has adequate remedy at law to recover taxes paid where they are discriminatory in assessments shown, which remedy he can maintain a suit in chancery to adjust taxes.

Earthquakes Terrify Washington Staters

ELLENBURGH, Wash., Sept. 27. (AP)—Four earthquakes shocks within two minutes terrified the people of Ellenburgh late yesterday, as the tremors, the twentieth of a series within 18 days, shook plaster from buildings.

Yesterday's shocks, occurring about 4:45 P. M. (Pacific Standard Time), were the most severe during the 18-day period.

NYE TO PRESS FOR GREATER WAR TIME TAX

Senator Answers Munitions Makers Who Say U. S. Should Stay Out Of Their Plants

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Senator Nye of North Dakota, chairman of the Senate Munitions Investigating Committee will press the next Congress a bill for confiscatory federal income taxes in time of war.

Making this announcement to newspapermen yesterday, Nye said he would fight for this legislation as his reply to assertions of munitions manufacturers and militarists that the government should not nationalize the munitions industry. He intended, he said, to strip war of all its profits.

His bill, Nye said, would provide for doubling income taxes on incomes below $10,000 and taxes of 98 percent on all incomes above that figure to become effective on the day that the United States declared war.

"The country is with us on this," he declared as he interrupted a conference with William John, British member of parliament, to point to more than 10,000 telegrams, cablegrams, letters and post cards from people and organizations in this country and abroad, urging his committee to go the limit in describing the activities of the munitions industry.

John, one of the whips of the British labor party, called on Nye to discuss the American investigation. He said British public opinion had been greatly stirred by revelations in the United States. The British parliament, he predicted, would order such an inquiry.

The senator said his committee will need an additional appropriation from Congress next winter to complete its investigation.

He declared himself hopeful it would be granted, despite what he said was tremendous pressure from munitions makers to throttle the inquiry.

Stacks of congratulatory letters were piled high on the Senator's desk as he spoke. The committee action in suppressing some foreign names in correspondence introduced as evidence, he remarked, had brought a wave of indignant protest from his correspondents.

Il Duce Will Drive Women Back To Homes

ROME, Sept. 27. (AP)—Premier Mussolini yesterday began his campaign to escort women from the mill back to the kitchen. The gradual exodus of female workers from ranks of industry and commerce is designed by the Fascist state to solve the male unemployment question and at the same time increase the population.

Definite orders were issued by the government yesterday that the number of women admitted to examination for state and semi-state jobs be sharply reduced.

Aviation Board Asked To Build 2 Dirigibles

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—A proposal that the federal government construct two giant dirigibles for regularly scheduled round-the-world passenger service rested yesterday before the Federal Aviation Commission for its consideration.

Word of the proposal came out, just as Secretary Swanson intimated that the Navy General Board had taken a stand against lighter-than-air craft and would not recommend replacing the huge Akron, destroyed in a fatal plunge into the Atlantic in 1933.

STOCK PLAN DELAYED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Failure of federal reserve board members to agree on controversial proposals of stock market requirements yesterday brought 15 days of grace to traders whose operations were scheduled to go under government control Oct. 1.

'IRON FACE' OF HAUPTMANN UNBROKEN BY POLICE GRILLING

Here is a group of camera studies of Bruno R. Hauptmann, the unemotional German carpenter upon whom authorities seek to place the responsibility for kidnaping and murdering Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. Apparently true to the nature of the man, the pictures show him to be stolid, self-possessed, tight-lipped person given to calm deliberation. The photographs were made at various times during the unrelenting questioning to which officials subjected him after a portion of Lindbergh's ransom money was found in his garage. A grand jury in New York indicted him for extortion while New Jersey authorities gathered evidence designed to place him on trial for murder in that state. (Associated Press Photos)

RECOVERY HELD AS RETARDED BY FEARS OF PEOPLE

Publisher Knox Says President Is Wrong In His Contentions

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 27. (AP)—Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, said last night that the "present state of public mind" is an "absolute bar to recovery."

Speaking before the Dane County Republican Club, Knox took sharp issue with President Roosevelt's Green Bay, Wis., speech, in which the Chief Executive said confidence had returned to the country.

"The people are consumed with fear lest, in the presence of failure, panic be made in the future to measure more radical than any that have been tried in the past," the publisher asserted.

"The President was wrong in his attitude in his Green Bay speech and everything which has transpired since then proves it."

"Unrest" has increased among the farmers to a point where some of the radical legislation, including the infamous Bankhead Act, is about to be suspended by executive order.

The government bond market, reflecting government credit, has steadily weakened.

"Business, measured by every index, is at lower levels than it was a year ago."

"The number of unemployed has increased, and private financing of business enterprise has shown no improvement."

U. S. Deficit Jumps To Half Billion Mark

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—The government's expenditures yesterday brought the deficit since July 1 above the half billion mark. Treasury figures for Sept. 24, the latest date available, showed a $512,000,000 excess of outgo over income.

Emergency expenditures of $782,000,000 came near the total revenues of $914,000,000. Of these revenues, $122,000,000 were derived from processing taxes. The outgo for the Farm Administration was $76,000,000, leaving $46,000,000 of revenue which is to be paid out later.

ATLANTA, Sept. 27. (AP)—Mayor James L. Key, Atlanta's widely-known chief executive who gained international prominence with his attack on the U. S. prohibition law while visiting in France, took a substantial lead early last night in his race for re-nomination against two opponents.

Lindbergh Money Has Turned Up In 176 Different Places Since It Was Paid

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—The $20,000, $10,000 bills recovered. It has been turned up in 176 places by investigators who have traveled 7,600 miles and interviewed at least 5,000 persons.

The first bill to show up was received at the East River Savings Bank branch at Amsterdam Avenue and 96th Street Apr. 6, 1932—two days after the ransom was paid.

The bulk of the amount recovered is the $13,750 found in Bruno Hauptmann's garage, and the $2,980 turned in to the Federal Reserve bank by a mysterious "J. J. Faulkner."

Bills were passed at intervals in the Bronx, Manhattan and Brooklyn, and then began to appear last fall in northern New York state and Maine. It has been established that Hauptmann went on a hunting trip to Maine last October.

The high for recklessness was achieved Sept. 9, when six of the bills were passed in Yorkville restaurants and cabarets.

It was Sept. 15 when Hauptmann handed the bill to a Lexington attendant that led to his being traced—through his automobile license number—and arrested.

Al Smith Stirrs State Convention With Ringing Address

BUFFALO, Sept. 27. (AP)—Governor Herbert Lehman was renominated by the Democratic State Convention today after a stirring address by former Governor Alfred Smith who joined with President Franklin Roosevelt two years ago to force Lehman's nomination over Tammany opposition.

The Empire State Democracy with Postmaster General James A. Farley, again heading its ruling committee, heard its leaders call yesterday for an "overwhelming confirmation" of the New Deal and victory over "utility-minded" Republican opposition.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, in the state convention keynote address, termed the Roosevelt Administration policies "the single issue" in both state and nation and added: "We pledge, not a reversal of policy, but the perfect (Continued on Page Six)

DISGUISED, LINDY SEES HAUPTMANN

Flier Stands Among Detectives Facing Line-Up Of Thugs; Outcome Not Stated

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—Colonel Charles Lindbergh made a surprise visit to the Bronx county building today and disguised and in the line of detective he viewed Bruno Richard Hauptmann, former German machine gunner charged with extorting $50,000 from the flier.

District Attorney Samuel Foley disclosed the meeting after Hauptmann had pleaded not guilty to an indictment returned yesterday charging extortion in the Lindbergh kidnap case.

Lindbergh wore a cap and shell-rimmed glasses, entering the building unnoticed.

Hauptmann was unaware of Lindbergh's presence. The district attorney said the outcome of the meeting would not be disclosed.

County Judge Lester Patterson fixed bond for Hauptmann at $100,000 which his attorney said would be unable to make.

A former Welfare Island prisoner who told detectives he had heard the Lindbergh baby kidnaping planned in a New Jersey speakeasy prior to his arrest was rushed to police headquarters last night by another "important break" in the case in the next 24 hours.

The prisoner was reported to have told the detectives the two men he heard plotting the crime were named "Hauer and Kaupman." He now believes the man he knew as Kaupman was actually Bruno Richard Hauptmann, indicted yesterday for extortion in connection with the case.

Roosevelt To Name 5-Man Board To Re-Organize NRA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—President Roosevelt expects to name a board of five within the next 24 hours to administer the reorganized Recovery unit.

The President has decided definitely upon a board of five members to replace resigned General Hugh Johnson.

Pending an announcement by the President, there were few indications today as to who he had in mind to take over NRA. It was assumed the new board would take over much of the task of reorganizing the NRA.

Meanwhile, Mr. Roosevelt is giving thought to a radio address he will deliver Sunday night in another appeal to the nation.

In it he probably will discuss in some details his thoughts for the future of NRA as well as his ideas on the business situation.

Tonight the President will make a brief radio speech in connection with a New York Herald-Tribune current topics discussion.
