Committee Making Big Plans For Armed Forces Day Parade Here May 18

Top News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today passed a sharply curtailed appropriation for the United States Information Agency. Administration forces pinned their hopes of getting some of the money restored on the Senate.

By United Press Staff Correspondent
Israeli security forces accused Egypt today of instigating new Arab commando attacks from Jordan, Syria and the Lebanon to complicate the situation in Jordan where King Hussein has won a precarious political victory. Dispatches from Israel, Jordan and Egypt emphasized that Jordan's political troubles were far from over. A Jordan source said in Cairo the new cabinet would be short-lived; the same prediction came from Amman. Israeli officials said Jordan's pro-western and pro-communist elements could not work together.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government cuts in postal service were partly revoked today. But the public won't see much effect until Saturday when mail will be delivered again and post offices will open as usual.

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the nation's leading business economists said today the United States now has the "ability to prevent great depressions" like the one that devastated the country in the 1930's. Herbert Stein, research director of the Committee for Economic Development, said "We know that deep and long depressions can be prevented by preventing deep and long liquidations of total money expenditure."

Mrs. Utt Places Fourth In Contest

Tentative plans were set yesterday afternoon for the Armed Forces Day parade to be held in Sanford on May 18 at 10 o'clock. Joel Field, general chairman for the Armed Forces Day celebration, was appointed by the

Chemical Company Plant Is Levelled By Blast; 4 Killed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — An explosion at a Monsanto Chemical Co. plant near here leveled a three-story building Tuesday, killing four workmen, injuring five others and unleashing chlorine fumes which forced 1,500 persons to leave their homes.

The blast, of undetermined origin, "blew apart" the building, one of several single-unit structures known as "shells," at the sprawling Monsanto installation at Nitro, W. Va., 16 miles from here. The building was reduced to rubble.

Child Labor Law Reminder Heard

Preparations being made here for the annual northward trek of agricultural workers brought a reminder of Federal child labor laws from Henry W. Ford, investigation supervisor of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage-Hour field office in Jacksonville.

"The same Federal rules apply in other states as exist here," Ford said, "and although some children may be looking for an excuse to get out of school early as they go with their families in new states, they cannot legally work on farms during school hours if under sixteen."

Crew leaders and parents ought to be interested in young children completing their education, he pointed out, and explained that schools in other sections of the country, where crops are nearly ready for harvest, will be prepared to receive them for the last few weeks of the current school year.

Wage-Hour investigators in these areas will also be alert to the harvest season and to the influx of migrants. They will be making investigations in all types of farms.

Ford said employment in agriculture of children of any age outside school hours is all right, but penalties for willful violations of Federal child labor laws may result in fines of up to $10,000. He said crew leaders and parents should be able to furnish evidence of the age of children who are working.

Armed Forces Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Nearly a dozen organizations were represented at the meeting held in the Sanford City Hall at which time it was agreed that the parade will be divided into five sections.

"We hope to have the biggest and finest parade ever held here," said Joel Field as each organization in the five sections of the parade were placed in the order for their appearance.

Five local bands will participate in the parade celebration, Field said as it was pointed out that the Seminole High School band will appear in the first section; the Lyman High School band in the second section; the Ovidio High School band in the third section; the Crooms Academy band in the third section; and the Junior High School band in the fourth section.

The starting of the parade will be marked by the fly-over of planes from the Sanford Naval Air Station, said Cdr. Lee Hamrick of the local Navy Base who also pointed out that there will be a Fleet Marching Unit as well as a Navy Ambulance and weapons display in the line of march.

The local National Guard Company will appear in the parade with their Armored personnel carrier and a National Guard Truck. Earlier, Major Roy Green has said that there will be an open house at the National Guard Armory here as well as a National Guard helicopter on display in Fort Mellon Park.

Two of the Parade Marshalls were named yesterday by Don Bales, Parade Chairman. Buddy Rawls for Section one and George DeMattio for Section two.

Open house at the Sanford Naval Air Station will be from 10:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m., said Cdr. Hamrick.

The American Red Cross will take a prominent part in the parade along with most of the Seminole County schools represented. Other organizations in the parade will be the Gold Star Mothers, Spanish American War Veterans, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Fleet Reserve Unit, Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts of America, commercial floats, and civic clubs. The Dusty Boots Riding Club will form the last section of the parade.

Names of other organizations who will take part in the celebration and parade will be named at the next meeting to be held "one week from today" said Joel Field.

Those attending yesterday's meetings were: Joel Field, Cdr. Lee Hamrick, Don Bales, George DeMattio, Tommy McDonald, John Keeling, Chuck Vodopich, Frank Takach, Buddy Rawls, Roy Green and Mike Thomas.

Partly cloudy through Thursday. Low tonight 64 to 70.

U. S. Could Aid Jordan In Event Of Attack

President Reveals Two Ways

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the United States could go to Jordan's assistance if it becomes a victim of aggression.

The President also told his news conference the United States may have to go before the United Nations Security Council to report on the stalled Suez Canal negotiations. But he added that this government has not given up hope that agreement with Egypt can be reached.

Eisenhower said the United States has two ways of helping Jordan if it is attacked.

First, he said, a Big Three agreement of May 1956 provides for action in the event any Middle East nation is the victim of aggression, and this could apply in an Israeli-Arab dispute.

Second, the Middle East Doctrine resolution approved by Congress permits the United States to go to the aid of any nation attacked by Communist aggression.

On Suez, he said the United States has insisted in its negotiations with Egypt that the canal be operated in line with the six principles approved by the U. N. Security Council last October. These included provision for agreement on tolls, insulation of the canal's operation "from the politics of any country," and opening of the waterway to ships of all nations.

The President said some progress has been made; he has not given up hope of an agreement, but the United States might have to go back to the Security Council.

The President said he is discussing the Middle East that American ships are not unladen, as he put it, to bull their way into the Gulf of Agaba. But this government has not told them to avoid entering the gulf.

Officials said Egypt already has been informed of the possible U. S. move to refer the stalled Suez negotiations to the Security Council.

He was born in Alliance, O., June 7, 1881, and had made his home here for 37 years. His residence was 1520 West First St.

Mr. McClintock was a retired automobile mechanic.

Survivors include: his wife, Mrs. Clara McClintock, Sanford; and one sister-in-law, Mrs. Rex Paschard of Daytona Beach.

Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. Thursday at Brison Funeral Home. A Christian Science service will be held. Burial will be in Oaklawn Memorial Park.

DCT's First Annual Employer-Employee Banquet Success

The first annual Employer-Employee Banquet of the Seminole High School Diversified Cooperative Training Program "was well attended," said the program's coordinator, Louis J. Girard.

In addition to the employers of the 16 pupils taking advantage of the DCT opportunities, said Girard, guests included Fred Murray, Seminole County Vocational Director; R. T. Milwee, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Andrew Bracken, Seminole High School Principal; R. F. Cooper, chairman of the Board of School Trustees; Stewart Gatchel, Supervisor of Secondary Schools, and B. L. Parkins, chairman of the DCT Advisory Committee.

Principle speaker for the event was Lee Moore, of Goodbody & Co. whose subject was "The World's Market Place" Moore explained the operation of the stock market and then went on to tell how a bond issue is conducted. This, he tied in with the similarity to the Sanford Docks and Terminals project.

All guests spoke briefly on the program and the opportunities in (Continued on Page 9)

Fringe Area Taxpayers Plan Mass Gathering

Chester H. Miller was elected temporary president of the newly started Fringe Area Taxpayers Association at a meeting held last evening, attended by the original committee for forming the organization, plus other interested taxpayers of the area. Other officers appointed temporarily were Mrs. Edna L. Heehler, secretary; and Robert W. Lord, treasurer.

The committee made plans for a mass meeting to be held Thursday evening, April 18, at 8 p. m. at the Farmers Auction Market on Route 17-82. Post cards were mailed earlier this week to many home owners in the area, but the committee stressed that this is an open meeting for all business and property holders in the affected areas.

The following statement was issued by the committee at the close of last night's meeting:

"As we understand and are led to believe, the bill to be presented to the Legislature has not as yet been drawn, for the enlargement of the city limits of Sanford. But we believe that it will be unlimited as to the time when, and as to the space or territory to be annexed, but any area without regard to shape or size that

Rev. Spear To Give Message At Easter Sunrise Service

The annual Easter Sunrise service, sponsored by the Seminole County Ministerial Association, will be held Sunday morning at 6 a. m. at the Sanford Memorial Baseball Stadium, according to an officer of the association who made the announcement this morning.

The Seminole High School Glee Club under the direction of Miss Ollie Reese Whittle will sing at the Sunday morning service and the Seminole High School Band under the direction of Bandmaster Ernest Cowley will play for the service.

The Rev. J. W. Parham of the Central Baptist Church will preside with the Rev. Fred Bovey of the Free Methodist Church delivering the invocation and the benediction. The Rev. David Carrell of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church will read the scripture and deliver the prayer.

The Rev. Robert H. Spear Jr., of the Nazarene Church will be the speaker for Sunday morning's Easter Sunrise service. His topic will be "After the Cross, a Memorial" (Continued on Page 9)

36 Are Interested In Forming Army Reserve Unit Here

More than 30 attended the initial meeting last night at which plans were outlined for the organization of a Reserve Unit in Sanford.

According to Capt. Lee Moore, who is spearheading the organization of the local Reserve Unit, from the names submitted but for one reason or another could not attend the meeting the total interested members would come to 36.

"There will be no problem as far as a meeting place is concerned," City Manager Warren E. Knowles told the group.

Col. Grabm stated that the Corps of Engineers "would enter into an agreement with the City of Sanford for utilities and other necessary matters for the proposed Army Reserve Unit."

Another meeting will be held at the Sanford City Hall on May 2, at 7:30 p. m. to continue the organization of the unit here, Capt. Moore said today.

It was agreed at last night's meeting that those attending would make as many contacts as possible to enlarge the list of interested people by the time of the next meeting.

Capt. Standfill, Ass't to the Senior Advisor of the Orlando Sub-District, said, at last night's meeting "Brig. General Lyle Matheny (Chief of the Florida Military District) assured me that if Sanford demonstrated interest we would get the unit here."

In a discussion of the manpower potential in the Sanford-Seminole County area it was "generally agreed that Sanford could support both the Army Reserve Unit and the National Guard here."

Capt. Moore said "Our goal at the present time is a total of 50 people to complete our first organization."

"We are going to submit two lists," he said, "one of people interested in the company and another of Field Grade officers interested in attending a USAR school here."

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE County Council, Parent Teachers Association were announced this morning. (Left to right) are: W. J. DeShazo, principal at Ovidio High School at large; Mrs. I. B. ### Strawberry Birthmark Will Usually Disappear

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

YOU don't always have to undergo disfiguring surgery to get rid of a strawberry birthmark. Not all of these marks need treatment. But, generally, their disappearance can be hastened by controlled application of dry red marking frequently found in infants is a benign tumor of arterial origin. And they have shown it can be treated in various ways.

Sooner Disappears
This mark, which may appear anywhere on the body, occurs in about one out of every 10 or 12 births. Generally, it disappears spontaneously within a few months.

Occasionally, it grows for six to 18 months and then gradually begins to vanish.

A survey by the New York State Department of Health failed to show a single case among 4,892 babies in local hospitals in which the mark was present at birth.

Traditional Belief
In most cases, the investigators report, the tumor usually is noticed from one to six weeks later. This evidence, contrary to traditional belief, is reported in a recent issue of Cancer, a journal of the American Cancer Society.

The larger growths may require injection of a solution into or about the artery to halt the flow of blood feeding them. If such an injection fails to stop the blood supply of the tumor, the artery can be closed by surgery.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mrs. H. R.: What would cause a swelling on the left side of my stomach which causes a feeling of crowdedness after I have been in a sitting position for a period of time?
Answer: From the description you give, it is possible that you have a hernia of the abdominal wall. On the other hand, the swelling could result from other causes, such as a tumor. It is important that you have an examination made by your physician as soon as possible.

Garnish For Ham
If you're having baked ham for Easter dinner, here's a very pretty, very tasty garnish to try. Thin cottage cheese slightly with cream and heap it in small mounds around your meat portion. Make an indentation in the center of each mound with a spoon and fill with mint jelly. This tastes good too with lamb or cold cuts.

Powerful Drugs Are Disclosed At Convention

MIAMI — Several powerful new drugs which lower blood pressure faster and longer than present compounds were disclosed Wednesday at the 131st convention of the American Chemical Society.

The 6,000 chemists also heard reports on a new fast-working pain-killer and a new method for synthesizing an anti-knock additive for gasoline. Several hundred papers were read on chemical discoveries.

Dr. John H. Biel of Milwaukee told the delegates that one of the blood pressure-reducing drugs is synthesized from acetylene gas. In tests on dogs, he said, this chemical acted faster than compounds now in use.

A second series of drugs showed potencies up to 150 times greater than hexamethium bromide, one of the most common compounds now used to reduce blood pressure. Dr. Allan P. Gray of Decatur, Ill., said one of the drugs lowered the blood pressure of dogs by 50 per cent for more than four hours.

Development of the new pain-killing drugs was announced by Dr. George DeStevens of Summit, N. J.

He said the drug is one of the fastest-acting ones known and, in tests on animals, relieved pain in only 10 minutes, compared with 45 minutes required by morphine. It also was reported low in toxicity.

DeStevens said the drug appeared to be free from some of the serious side effects of morphine, such as the tendency to slow the rate of breathing. The compound, an analgesic, eases pain without causing the patient to lose consciousness.

A new method for synthesizing tetraethyl lead — the anti-knock additive used in gasoline to raise its octane rating — was disclosed by S. M. Biltzer, project manager of the Ethyl Corp. research and development department at Baton Rouge, La.

Discovery of a simple method for removing within an hour nearly all radioactive "fallout" particles from water was reported by William Lacy, senior chemist for the U. S. Corps of Engineers. He said this is accomplished by stirring powdered shale into the contaminated water.

Sewing machines should be cleaned thoroughly and oiled before beginning spring sewing projects. To be sure the stitching apparatus is free of oil, take a few stitches through a blotter

NEW YORK: New York Post-Editor Robert Schaffer on the extra-heavy load of mail New York postmen had to tote Monday:
"I don't think there is any doubt this is the biggest volume since the Christmas rush, when we hit a peak of 20 million in one day."

GALVESTON, Tex.: Teamster Union boss Dave Beck on whether his recent appearance before the Senate Rackets Committee will result in a contempt of Congress indictment or his ouster:
"I've gone through these things for 40 years. They don't mean a thing. It just runs off my back like water off a duck."

RICHMOND: St. Clair Drake, Negro professor at a Chicago college, in a letter to officials of a dinner for "distinguished Virginians" who invited Drake and two other Negroes by mistake:
"I always remember that Negroes played a significant part in the making of the first permanent English settlement at Jamestown in Virginia."

Company Reveals
'Pinwheel' 'Copter
VAN NUYS, Calif. — The Bureau of Aeronautics has witnessed a flight demonstration of the "pinwheel" strap-on-the-back rocket—powered helicopter which enables its pilot to fly like a grasshopper.

In a demonstration by the Rotor-Craft Corp., pilot Dick Whitehead put the one-man aircraft, first of its kind, into the air with a hop and then came down literally dangled beneath the pinwheel blades twirling over his head.

The tiny 'copter, powered by two rocket engines weighing less than a pound each, can be folded to fit a hangar "the size of a telephone booth," Rotor-Craft President Gilbert Magill said. Magill explained that the purpose of the little craft is "to fly an infantryman and his equipment about the battlefield and over terrain inaccessible to other helicopters."

The "pinwheel" was developed under a Navy contract and will be sent to the Naval Air Test Center at Patuxent River, Md., for further performance demonstrations.

Vehicle Tax Would Be Easier On Pocketbook Than 3 Mill Levy

What will it be—$5 for the privilege of operating an automobile on paved, well maintained, and improved streets—or an added three mills to the tax bill in the coming years for such a program?

The City of Sanford is faced with a terrific problem, a problem so big that few citizens will even take the time to add up the total, and find out just what money the city needs for streets and streets alone.

For instance—in the City of Sanford—the present city limits at that, there are eighteen miles of unpaved streets. Over these streets the greater percentage of automobiles operate, and it is these streets that the city intends to pave.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles stated that the average cost for the construction of a city street is $5 per foot which includes curb and gutter. There are 5,280 feet in a mile which makes the cost $26,400 per mile. As we stated, there are eighteen miles to be constructed for a total cost of $475,200.

That's not all of the problem. There are an estimated three miles of city streets which need reconstruction or widening. And in addition, Sanford has 38 miles of city streets which need to be repaved.

On top of that, there's the cost of maintaining the city's streets, keeping them at the standard demanded by modern day motorists and Sanford citizens.

The cost runs into the hundreds of thousands of dollars—an unbelievable figure unless you take the time to sit down and figure it out for yourself.

Community leaders have proposed that each automobile owner, as an individual, be taxed five dollars per year for the privilege of using the streets for their pleasure and business. Each person who owns an automobile or truck in the city would pay an equal share for the privilege of having good streets over which their vehicles travel.

Now, there are some who have complained that because of the number of trucks or automobiles they own, they are not in favor of the privilege tax. That is certainly each individual's right to have an opinion—but unless the tax is spread out over the entire city with each of the more than 7,000 automobile and truck owners paying a share, the few taxpayers, at least 50 per cent less, will be burdened with an additional three mills to raise sufficient funds for street improvement, maintenance and construction.

Which is the best? The $5 tax on individuals who own automobiles and use the streets or a three mill levy?

At the present time, the City of Sanford is spending an annual appropriation of approximately $65,000 for the street operations alone. In addition, and normally, the city has an additional 40 to 50 thousand dollars appropriated for a street rehabilitation program, the repaving of some of Sanford's streets. The dollar has been stretched very tightly and the city has taken advantage of several golden opportunities to repave streets at a minimum cost. The job has been expertly done—but there has not been enough.

As these streets were repaved, others were tearing up and disintegrating. Motorists, trucks and heavy vehicular traffic has worn our streets until they are in deplorable condition.

New streets are needed badly, reconstruction has been planned for a number of years but funds have not been available, new repaving projects are coming up, and the cost of maintenance is going up.

The city's leaders have come up with an answer to the problem and the proposal was made. Now, citizens must make a choice, do they want a fair tax on individuals who own automobiles and use the streets, or do the citizens want an additional millage added to their tax bills that will come to at least three mills if not more?

The answer is a simple one—the individual tax for the use of an automobile is the most economical on the pocketbook.

Automobiles are too costly these days to have them torn up on bad streets and streets that need repaving. In the long run, economical because of less wear and tear on the automobiles and more economical than an added millage would mean.

Frankly, the Board of Sanford City Commissioners, should be commended by the citizens of their city for the manner in which they guard the interests of individuals. To each one should go the thanks from the citizens for shouldering the burden of operating a city at the least possible cost to the taxpayer.

Little do the citizens of Sanford know how many times a commissioner will shout "That isn't fair to the taxpayer!"—"No added tax is necessary!"—"We've got to look out for the citizens of our community!" as he protects the interests of those who do not attend the meetings.

There is a problem to be met and the Board of Sanford City Commissioners in meeting it fair and square with the "individual citizen" in mind. They've come up with an answer!

All winter, politics and international affairs have held our attention. But now that the baseball season is underway a fellow can start concentrating on the really important matters.

A baseball umpire always has the last word—unless he's married.

The Crucifixion

"Now there stood by the cross of Jesus His mother, and His mother's sister, Mary the wife of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalene. When Jesus therefore saw His mother, and the disciple standing by, whom He loved, He saith unto His mother, Woman, behold thy son! Then saith He to the disciple, Behold thy mother!"—St. John 19:25-27. ("Christ on the Cross" by engraver Albrecht Durer, courtesy Toledo Museum of Art.)

Spanish Eating Implements

By DOC QUINN
United Press Staff Correspondent
BARCELONA, Spain — I have just been introduced to the pasparagu pincer, the champagne fizzer, and the porron. They are implements for eating. I don't know what to do with any of them until advised by experts in the fine art of stuffing yourself, Spanish style.

I ran across the first two at the very la-de-da Ritz Hotel and the third at a bistro where garlic hangs from the ceiling as decoration and the chef dumps snails and baby octopuses on the stove-top in front of you to cook.

One course of the lunch at the Ritz was asparagus espargagos. It was delivered along with a clamp-like device with diagonal grooves on the business end.

Stalk Too Limp
"What in the name of Escofier are these pincers for?" I asked the Barcelona belle on my right. "Those pincers," replied the lady, "are asparagus-eating pincers. They are called pinzas de espargagos."

Well, sure enough. The trick is to clamp the asparagus in mid-stalk, dip the green end in the excellent sauce that comes with the course, and munch away. There is one minor trouble. The asparagus stalk, as served, is about 19 inches long and quite limp. When seized with the pinzas, it droops drastically and has to be eaten by holding it on high and then lowering the end into the mouth.

The swizzle stick that comes with your champagne glass is for use in keeping a collar on your champagne. In Spain they apparently like it that way. I don't even like a collar on my hair. The thing causes such a fizz that it should be called a fizzle stick. It is a pencil-long stick with paddles on one end. When lowered into the champagne and twirled, it causes such a rush of bubbles that you have to go easy to keep the glass from foaming over.

Old Spanish Custom
This widget, which seems designed to take the sparkle out of the sparkling stuff, I would recommend only for those who feel it urge to have their noses tickled every time they take a sip.

As for the porron, it is the instrument of an old Spanish custom, which enables you to show off while you drink your wine. I am told there are porrons in every restaurant and home around here. It enables you to hold your wine at arms length and squirt a jet into your mouth, if you can hit it. Like a farm boy getting a drink of milk right from the faucet. It is mandatory for a newcomer to wear a bib at this.

A porron is a wine pitcher with a long spout which narrows down at the end to a hole about broomstraw size. Tip it, and the wine comes forth in a curving jet. I tipped it. Wine rattled my right eye, then my right ear, then my nose. You've got to have practice.

4 New Corporate Billionaires Are Added To List

By ROBERT G. SHORTEL
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — The number of American corporations with total assets of one billion dollars or more now stands at a record 81, a United Press survey shows.

Industry added four new corporate billionaires in 1956, climaxing another booming year of economic growth.

The list of billion-dollar giants has almost doubled since the end of World War II, mirroring the nation's fabulous postwar growth and prosperity.

The 81 companies in the Billion Dollar Club had assets aggregating $241,447,251,425 at the end of 1956. That was equivalent to more than $1,400 for each man, woman and child now living in the United States.

At the end of 1955, these 81 firms boasted total assets of $228,315,687,311. The sharp increase recorded in 1956 reflected the record $5 billion dollars spent for expansion and modernization by companies producing everything from hairpins to automobiles.

Bell Heads List
The Bell Telephone System retained its ranking as the world's biggest business enterprise, with total assets of $16,206,571,233. It was the first time assets of any company had ever topped 16 billion dollars.

Metropolitan Life was the next biggest, followed in order by Prudential Insurance, Bank of America, Equitable Life Assurance Society, and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

America has a virtual monopoly on corporate-billionaires. England has a few such giants, including Royal Dutch-Shell, Imperial Chemicals and British Petroleum. Canada lists Aluminum, Canadian Pacific, Railroad, Canadian National Railroads and two banks in this exclusive group.

The newcomers to the American list this year were Massachusetts Investors Trust, the nation's oldest and biggest investment company; Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, the seventh railroad to join Detroit Bank & Trust Co., the 25th bank in the group, and Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., a principal shipper of natural gas.

Of the 81 companies in the list, all but 13 showed increases in total assets during 1956. Eight of the companies suffering declines in assets were banks.

Big Every Way
The companies included in the list affect almost every facet of American life. They are the nation's biggest employers, its biggest corporate taxpayers and the most popular with the nation's investors.

The Billion Dollar Club is one of the best barometers of the nation's postwar economic growth. Between 1946 and 1955—a period that included the dazzling 1950s—a total of 43 companies joined the billionaire ranks. From 1946 the list has grown by 38, almost double.

The latest roll of billionaire firms consists of 25 banks, 22 industrial and manufacturing firms, 14 insurance companies, seven railroad, six public utilities, three credit firms, one investment firm and one mail order house.

A number of companies are within striking distance of the billion dollar assets level, including Anaconda Co., International Paper and Public Service Electric & Gas Co.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
It is practically certain that Allied restrictions against trade with Communist China will be relaxed materially before long.

Great Britain, West Germany, France, Japan and other countries are determined to ease up the embargo against trade which has been imposed since the Chinese Reds entered the Korea War in 1950.

The United States is against any relaxation. The Eisenhower administration maintain the United States blanket embargo on Red trade.

But other Allied countries are unwilling to maintain the present restrictions on their trade. They want the money and they want to get into what is potentially one of the richest of world markets. What will happen in United States policy if the trade of other Allied countries with Red China becomes important remains to be seen.

But there is likely to be increasing pressure on the government from the big manufacturers to ease American restrictions.

Britain, Germany Eager
British and Germany, for instance, want to build up a big export trade in motor cars and tractors with Communist China. Some American manufacturers like Ford and Chrysler are on record as favoring increased trade. Henry Ford II, speaking at the annual convention of the National Automobile Dealers Association in San Francisco on Jan. 23, said that trade with Communist China might be in the best interests of the United States. He called for "realistic decisions" on trade and aid policies regarding Red-ruled countries.

Britain, West Germany, France and Japan, among other countries, already have relaxed their trade restrictions to a considerable extent. Britain notified the United States in May, 1956, that it intended to increase its trade with the Chinese Reds. This easing included the shipment of some items which had been classified as strategic.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan discussed the trade situation with President Eisenhower at his conference in Bermuda last month. No agreement was reached.

Trade Group To Meet
Now it has been decided that the 15 countries which belong to the China Trade Co-ordinating Committee shall discuss relaxation at a meeting to be held in Paris soon. Members of this committee, called "Chincom," include the United States, Canada, Japan and 12 European members of the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Britain took the initiative in arranging this meeting. Britain believes it can export 112 million dollars worth of goods to Red China a year. It especially wants to develop export of automobiles. The automobiles supposedly would be strictly for civilian use. There's the question arises of how anybody could keep Chinese Communist army men from riding in such vehicles if they liked.

One argument while those who favor increased trade use-including some American exporters—in that tight restrictions only serve to make Communist China almost completely dependent on Russia for goods it needs. The official American stand is that any relaxation will aid the Communists.

Researchers Test New Safety Latch For Refrigerators

WASHINGTON — Government researchers have lured 201 tiny tots one by one into a refrigerator-like "playhouse" to test their reactions when trapped.

The result was a government proposal to prevent "ice box" deaths. Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks in a report to Congress proposed standards for an easily operated release mechanism for escaping from inside a closed refrigerator.

He said the standards were set after a series of tests by the Bureau of Standards and Children's Bureau with 201 children ranging in age from 3 to 8.

The report said the children one by one were lured into a "playhouse" by showing inside a Mickey Mouse—Donald Duck cartoon. The plywood "playhouse" inside was the size of the average family refrigerator. Once the child was inside the cartoon stepped, the "playhouse" door was shut and the child was left in darkness.

Child development experts observed the trapped children's behavior through a "sniperscope." Infra-red motion pictures were made. Sound recordings were taken of the children's outcries.

The report said three-fourths of the children found a safety latch on the "playhouse" door and released themselves in less than three minutes. One tenth of these got out in less than 10 seconds. The tests revealed that some children made a purposeful effort to escape by searching for the latch while others engaged in "violent" action both directed toward escape and undirected. "Because some youngsters did nothing at all, test observers concluded no safety release will be 100 per cent effective."

Conring The News

BY VIRGINIA CONN

Maybe if I start early today I can get everything in before the distractions start. Before going any further I'd like to express my belated opinion of the navy staying in Sanford—since I did not hear about the parade, the decision or the clamor until one o'clock in the morning when the headlines started up at me. The people of Sanford should be proud of themselves for the job they have done in convincing the navy department that the Air Station is wanted here, and will be adequate. This decision will mean much to every citizen in Seminole County. If you know of the requests for Sanford duty that have flooded Washington you would know how much the word of mouth opinion of former navy-jets means. You have done the navy a great service, and we are sure that it will be returned to you in many ways. So many words have been written about our wonderful relationship, that I can say no more, except please do not do anything that will jeopardize this feeling of friendship. The air will soon become noisier than ever, the traffic will be worse, and many more men will flood the town, but your decision has been made, and we fervently hope that you will be as happy with it as we are. Sanford can do nothing but expand with the base, and while industry may be attracted by this expansion, the canal may become a possibility, and the base may become a nuisance to some of you—remember that these men and their families might be yours, and this town means something to them as individuals—please treat them always as friends. So often after we have succeeded, we are apt to run down the very thing that gave us our start—like a rich man who casts out the poor relative who once lent him the money to begin in business. In the navy we have been "poor relatives" many times, and we like Sanford because we are important to you and not a bunch of drifters, house wipers, drinkers, who heaters trouble makers, and nonbill payers. Some of us must be, of course, but on the whole there is a very good group here, and since I'm a bit glib myself on the last adjective, I'd better quit this discourse.

The moon was just another VAH-9 service, so we just admired the beautiful night and sang "Pennies From Heaven"; at least we sang the chorus! Singing and sighing were John and Jean Doolley, Cy and Jean Filton, Valen and Grace Fitton, Louise and Jim Parker, Jack and Barbie Morrison, Ruth Jean and Harry Robson, and the Conns. Forget to say that we also took a trip around the Lake and saw the Sanford "skyline". Such fun!

Jane Miller, Betty Hazlett, and Skip Horrell were hostesses for a party given at Skip's house in Grove Manor Tuesday morning. Guests were the wives of VAH-9 Hamburgers were grilled and served with all the fixings at noon, and there were four tables of bridge. The rest of the girls sat in the sun and worked on their tan. There was much hilarity, especially since, for once, no one was collecting money from anyone. Dottie King was Jane Miller's guest, and welcomed back in the fold for the day. She wasn't a very good guest, but it was nice to see her again, after such a long absence.

Enjoying the better things in life were Betty Hillner, Ruth Barron, Muriel Glidwell, Marcia Cousins, Jean Fowler, Shirley Stevens, Fran Murray, Mille Thomas, Nita White, Ruth Chaffee, Lois Grander, Jeanne McGuire, Shirley Ross, Flora Wigton, Toni Waters, Mary Jane McCarthy, Julie Anderson, Margaret Fennell, Leta Peterson, Pauline Byas, and Paul's mother, Mrs. Byas, and Terry Durand VAH-9 children all have an Easter egg hunt Saturday afternoon behind the H. O. Q. at three-thirty. Parents are requested to bring four dyed eggs to Leta Peterson by Saturday morning, and to gather with the children by three, if possible.

DAR Convention Tackles Political Resolutions

WASHINGTON UP—THE Daughters of the American Revolution tackled some "political" resolutions today as they got down to business at their 66th annual Continental Congress.

The 4,000 or so daughters also were to hear reports from their national officers. These included comments by President General Mrs. Frederic A. Groves on the recent Denver DAR chapter's controversy over refusing to let a boy of Mexican descent carry the American flag.

The daughters were scheduled to hear the first reading of this year's suggested resolutions from Mrs. T. B. Throckmorton serving her seventh year as resolutions committee chairman. Voting on the resolutions will come later this week.

Some Controversy, Expected. Mrs. Throckmorton, whose committee has approved more than 20 resolutions for action by this year's congress, announced in advance that some of the resolutions are "political" and "quite controversial."

The business session this morning preceded a scheduled afternoon tour of the White House.

At the colorful opening session Monday night, Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland called for further United Nations effort to aid Hungarian freedom fighters who, he said, should have received "basoonkas and zrenales" rather than "resolutions of sympathy."

Sen. Richard B. Russell D-Ga. told the daughters that recent Supreme Court rulings and pending civil rights bills are "disastrous and degrading blows" to state rights.

Hitting at what he called "invidious" encroachment by the federal government, Russell was loud applause when he said that American compassion for refugees from communism should not develop into "gateways for Communist Trojan horses."

Urges Firmness. Mrs. Groves urged the daughters Monday night to be "minutemen" against "infiltration by the enemy, unsound fiscal policies and weak or harmful legislation."

In her annual report today, Mrs. Groves brought up the Denver D.A.R. incident which caused the resignation of Mrs. Charlotte Booth as chairman of the Denver chapter's committee on patriotic education.

Mrs. Bush had been widely quoted as making unfavorable hearing stories told are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Oscar Zeltrower displayed cream and sugar bowls that the circle had purchased with saving coupons for the church kitchen. The group then voted to buy 25 additional song books for the church.

Plans were completed for the Sunday School Easter Egg Hunt to be held Saturday at 3 p.m. Refreshments of chicken and egg salad, sandwiches, potato chips, coke and candy Easter bunnies were served by Mrs. Herbst.

Mrs. John Jones will be hostess for the May meeting.

Home Demo Group To Meet Thursday

remarks about a Mexican boy carrying the American flag in a patriotic celebration.

She reported that 300 letters were sent to newspapers and magazines giving the organization's position on the case. She said "every unfavorable editorial was answered."

She also told the daughters that "any great patriotic and conservative organization will be under fire in these critical times," and reassured them that "we have every reason for pride in the accomplishments of our national society."

Mrs. Bush had been widely quoted as making unfavorable hearing stories told are cordially invited to attend.

Yellow Jackets Dump Seminoles 7-1; Take Third Place In OBC

The Sanford Seminoles dream of Orange Belt Conference laurels went down the drain last night as upstart Leesburg turned in the rout sign in the second inning to blast out six runs over the hapless Seminoles and went on to take third place in the OBC by dumping the Seminoles 7-1.

All-Sports Banquet Scheduled May 2

Athletic Director Fred Ganas announced this morning that Seminoles High School will hold an all-sports banquet May 2.

With the large lead the Leesburg team could do no wrong. They went the rest of the game without an error and pitcher Dave Swan allowed only five hits, all of them coming in the third and fourth innings, and three walks.

Seminole Pitching Staff Tacked to Cross

Figuratively, the Seminoles pitching staff was tacked to the cross from lack of support on the field. Doyle Corley rapped out a perfect game last night for his team effort as he singled twice in two official trips to the plate.

had faced six runs earlier in the inning. Figuratively, the Seminoles pitching staff was tacked to the cross from lack of support on the field.

Seminole Travel To Leesburg Today For Track Meet

The Sanford Seminoles thirtynine boarded a bus for Leesburg early this afternoon for the real test of strength of the season as they were scheduled to participate in a tri-school track meet with Leesburg and DeLand.

Swimming Teams Look For Close Contest Today

Despite having only five men to compete in a 15 event swimming meet with Mount Dora, and despite having a rule prohibiting one participant from entering more than two events, the Sanford Seminoles looked forward to a close contest with host Mount Dora today in an afternoon meet.

The Sanford Seminoles girls' team on the other hand, are looking forward to a possible win in only their second endeavor.

Frank Baker Says J. Coombs Should Be In Hall Of Fame

TRAPPE, Md. UP —Frank Home Run Baker has declared that ex-Philadelphia Athletics teammate Jack Coombs, the pitcher for whom he hit one of baseball's most famous home runs, "richly deserves" being voted into the game's Hall of Fame.

Rotary League Gets Underway Tomorrow

Hot air whippers across the state, spring is in the air, and the youth of Sanford are set for that thrilling and familiar sport identified with the scream, "Play Ball!"

The Lions club is already in full swing; they take care of the younger baseball fans and future stars, while the boys between the ages of 13 and 16 letter around with a wistful look in their eyes.

M. Smith Wins Women's Open

DALLAS, Tex. UP —Margaret Chamberlaine Wiff Smith, the freckled fledgling who was the latest of this country's top amateurs to join the play-for-pay golf brigade, has broken into the stilet class only four months after joining the tour.

DERBY NEXT GOAL GEN. DUKE

While Miss Smith's game came apart a bit at the seams in taking a final round four over par 75, Mrs. Hagg's woods deserted her completely and her deft putting touch disappeared as she soared to a 79 that dropped her into third place with a 289 worth $750.

Now Hear This!

JACKY FENWICK

The Enlisted Men's Wives Club met Monday night, at 8:00 P. M. at the U. S. O., and a very informative meeting it was. After a short business meeting, there was a talk on "Survivor's Benefits" by Mr. F. A. Palmer an insurance counselor for the Navy. And I think the important result of the whole thing was that we all realized just how little we really know about our benefits. There are many kinds of husbands. (Which is fortunate for those who just can't see what "Jane Doe" saw in her!) There are those who make an effort to see that their wives understand what's going on, and what changes have been made, and just how well off she'd be in an emergency. And there are also those who don't think that their wives can understand, so why bother telling them. This is indeed a sad state of affairs, and can be cleared up in a very short time if you will contact Mr. Palmer. He is anxious to help those who ask for it, and is available each Thursday at the Chaplain's office, aboard the Air Station. He has given me permission to say he is also listed in the phone book, and will gladly see you at your home at your convenience. Now is the time to look into this, especially if there are growing children in the house. Do you know what to do if something serious happened? After the talk, there was an interesting question and answer period, followed by coffee and cookies. Almost forgot, but during the business meeting it was decided to hold an Easter Egg Hunt for the children of the club members, and that will be this coming Saturday, at 2:00 P. M. Everyone is to meet in front of the Pinerest School. The "hunt" will take place in the large field behind the school, but don't let your "kids" start in too soon! Each mother is asked to supply one-half dozen (6) eggs, already hard-boiled, and colored. Try to get these to Mrs. Alice Drake's house either Friday evening, or Saturday morning. Her address is 119 Pinerest Dr., in South Pinerest. Remember, the children of the members of the Enlisted Men's Wives Club only. Sorry it can't be for all the children, but that's one of the advantages of being a club member!

Don't have a report as yet as to how the "bake-sale" went on Tuesday, but I didn't get out to the base myself until nearly 4 o'clock, and no one was around, so I guess we can assume it was a sell-out! Before I leave the subject of the Enlisted Men's Wives Club, I want to remind all members that the next meeting will be the "White Elephant Sale". So start digging through your spare rooms, attics, utility rooms, closets, etc., and plan on getting the things down there to help the club raise some money! (More about this when I get a few more details myself.)

Also, on Monday night, the "square-dance" group which has been started at the Chief's Club, had their second get-together, and from all reports, it was even more successful and more fun than the one last week! Fifteen couples turned out this week. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Amos Linquist, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Greene, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Brinn, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bone,

Mr. and Mrs. Newberry, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meads, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Aeder, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Sundvall, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hillips, without whom it never happens in the "caller" for the group, and is doing it "gratis" so everyone can come out and have a good time! Someone, somewhere, rounded up some records that have the "calls" on them, as well as the music. This was a very thoughtful gesture, as it gave Chief Hillips a chance to rest his vocal chords, and also gave him and his wife a chance to join in the fun and do a little dancing themselves! Each week, when I hear the reports of all the fun, I realize I've been missing something, and as soon as I can convince my husband that he'd like it too, I'm going to accept Mrs. Greene's very thoughtful invitation to "come on out and join them". I seem to be thinking of everything at the last minute, so before I change the subject, I want to let everyone know that they're doing it again next week, again on Monday night, at 8:30 P. M. Try and be there.

And don't forget the "Shipwreck Dance" on Friday, April 26, at the Chief's Club. There will be a charge of $5.00 per person, but this will also include a delicious buffet, and served by the Chief's Wives Club. Just wanted to let you know in enough time to get your baby-sitters lined up, etc., so there won't be any last minute rush! In addition to the buffet, there will be door-prizes awarded, so you'll surely get your money's worth!

Also want to remind all Chief's Wives that there will be a meeting tomorrow night, Thursday, at the C. P. O. Club. Final arrangements for the dance will be made, so be sure to be on time.

Seems like I'm full of reminders today, and this one is about the dance at the E. M. Club this coming Friday night, April 19. It's from 8:00 until 12:00 P. M., and the winners of the "Name" contest will be announced at that time. Don't forget, and don't say you didn't know in time! I've been talking about this one for WEEKS!

assistance on honesty, and a young man who aggressively defended his right to choose that loneliness.

The front of the clinic—the main building of the Country Day School—faced one of the main highways of the County; this was also the busiest street of the thriving suburb of being, where there was another entrance, a pleasant lawn bordered a small public park.

Tinsley Park had, years before, been given to the town, and amount of political snagging had been able to divert it to more lucrative uses. There were tennis courts, a soft-ball diamond, a large swimming pool. But five acres still were devoted to grass and shade trees, to gravel paths, and rest-inviting benches.

In this setting, at three in the afternoon, an apparently able-bodied young man was of himself notable. The young man sat and looked meditatively in the general direction of the old school—the new clinic—and, perhaps, thinking himself unobserved, mumbled to himself and made faces.

He was not unobserved.

But it took an uninhibited four-year-old to come up to the man, to stand with sturdy brown legs apart, bright brown eyes alert, lilling voice demanding, "What're you doin'?"

Chad only glanced at the child. "Sittin'," he answered gravely.

The child had a crest of bright brown hair, an enchanting grace. "O.K. What's your name?"

"Chad. What's yours?"

"Johnny."

"That's a good name."

Johnny shifted his brown sford on the gravel. He pointed a finger toward the blonde young woman who was seated on a bench some fifty feet away. She wore blue chambray, white sandals, and she held a book in her hands. She was a very pretty young woman, her hair thick, and silver-gilt rather than yellow.

"We come here every day," said Johnny conversationally. "So I'll have children to play with. Because I'm an only child, and Mother doesn't want me to grow up to be a stinker."

"I think you're bad," Chad agreed with his mother.

"Oh, yes. They have temper tantrums on the floor, and won't let anybody ride their trike, and that's why Lacey brings me here to play."

Lacey, Chad surmised, would be the blue-chambrayed girl on the shady bench. He wondered why more women didn't wear neat blue cotton dresses.

"Are you an only child, Chad?" Johnny was asking.

"Huh?" Then Chad laughed, and nodded. "And a stinker!" he agreed.

"Is it fun?"

"No," said the man soberly. "It is not fun, Johnny. Nobody loves you."

It was not fun; it had not been. To walk the streets of his home town, a curl to his lip, his feet ready to defend himself—and his ideas. "Chad, you're slipping all over!" one omnivorous boy had asked when Chad was fifteen. "Everybody else goes to church."

"Did it ever occur to you?" had asked Chad, loftily superior, "that I might be a Mohammedan? You've been in our house—you've seen all those little rugs in the hall? Old silken Oriental rugs they were slipping all over the place. Well, those are prayer rugs. I use one when I pray to Mecca."

Oh, but that had made a fine row! The boy had swallowed the story verbatim, and repeated it! The minister had come to see Chad's grandmother, the men down at the store had razzed his father—and everyone had protested with Chad for telling such a story.

"It wasn't any of their business why I don't go to church!" Chad had growled in his own defense. And that still was his defense.

But it had not been fun... and nobody had loved him.

"Lacey loves me," said Johnny, "even when I'm a stinker."

"As much as she does when you're not one?"

"Well, no," agreed Johnny thoughtfully. "She makes her face cross."

"You see?"

The boy saw. They sat on in comfortable companionship for another ten minutes or so, then Johnny went off to his Lacey, and Chad strolled down the path to the street, down that direct to the bus stop.

Med Fly-Fighters Close To Complete Mastery Of Insect

One year after discovery of the Mediterranean Fruit Fly on Florida's east coast, state and federal fly-fighters stand very near complete mastery of the destructive insect.

It was on Apr. 13, 1936 that the spectra of the Medfly suddenly appeared among vacationers at Miami. Once before, in April of 1929, the same pest visited Florida and was beaten off in a campaign that lasted 18 months and proved the only successful eradication of the Medfly in history.

The 1929 invasion came in Central Florida and seriously crippled the citrus industry for two years. Last year the Medfly appeared in an area noted more for people than plants. The switch from an agricultural section to a thickly-populated area created problems that ultimately brought a new look in the time-honored profession of fighting Fruit Flies.

This most recent chapter in the story of the Medfly began with one man's curiosity about larvae found in a dooryard planting of grapefruit. On Apr. 13 Orlo Pryor of Miami Shores took his problem to the Seminole county agricultural agent's office. By the time he received a definite answer—the larvae appeared to be that of the dreaded Mediterranean Fruit Fly.

In the week that followed adult flies were trapped by State Plant Board personnel and sent to Gainesville and Washington to provide positive identification. By the time the reports were returned, state and federal fruit fly experts had begun to assemble in Miami to lay plans for a war of eradication.

To provide time for these plans to be formulated a preliminary program of ground spray and the picking of host fruit was launched. This project was patterned along lines of the first eradication program and proved cumbersome and expensive.

Within three weeks of Pryor's visit to the county agent, the program had been streamlined and placed into action. This new plan called for drastic change—an end to the time-consuming fruit picking operation and a switch from ground to air for the dispensing of the malathion-sauce bait spray.

As it turned out, this program was the only answer to a situation that eventually ballooned from an infestation of a few square miles into a huge undertaking involving 26 counties in south and central Florida. Air power provided the type of eradication demanded by greatly increased populations of people and plants.

Now, one year later, the number of counties under aerial treatment has been cut to six, and those under state and federal quarantine regulations to an even dozen.

In that span of time, a total of 782,327 acres has been sprayed one or more times, accounting for an aggregate of 4,189,113 acre-inches of Fly finds, which once totaled several thousand a month, have dropped in proportion to the spraying. A check through the records for the month of March reveals that only 13 adult flies were trapped, and the lowest find figure since the program began.

With fly finds lessening and the spraying acreage falling off, the emphasis has been on survey. This system of trapping and fruit-cutting looms as the first line of defense against any further return of the Medfly. This phase of the program likely will be continued for two or three more years as a joint operation by state and federal forces, with the State Plant Board planning to maintain a modified trapping project in the future.

Science Whiz Ups Winnings To $192,000

NEW YORK — Robert Storm, 10-year-old science whiz, set another all-time TV quiz show record Tuesday night when he won his winnings to $192,000.

The fifth grade student breezed through a three-part series of questions on various aspects of science on the "20 Questions" $64,000 Question. He gets a chance next week to pursue his chase of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

"It's up to the boss whether I can go on," said Rob with some detachment after the show.

"—the boss? The boss is Mom."

Storm, natty in a striped jacket, waltzed through a three-part question on his 10th appearance on the giveaway. It marked the third time he has reached the $64,000 level. Next week, if he chooses, he can gun for another $32,000. If he makes that, he can try for his fourth and final $64,000 on April 30. That would give him $236,000 in all.

Whatever happens, Rob is assured of the $192,000 he has won thus far—or what will be left after it's spread over a three-year period. That three-year spread would leave him with some $93,000 after taxes.

The Mayflower II had been scheduled to sail to Plymouth, England, today and leave from there tonight, or early Thursday for Plymouth, Mass., following the same Atlantic route her namesake took three centuries ago.
