

OUR SCHOOLS OPEN WITH GOOD ATTENDANCE FULL CORPS TEACHERS

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR MOST SUCCESSFUL TERM.

The Sanford Schools opened yesterday promptly at 9 o'clock and enrolled the gratifying total in all grades of 685 pupils, two more than on the opening day of last year.

Table with 2 columns: School Level and Enrollment. Includes High School, Grammar School, East Primary, and West Primary.

The total enrollment will doubtless be considerably increased by the opening of the new school.

All the teachers employed were present at their respective buildings Tuesday to begin the work of the new year.

The opening exercises were held at the High School and were characterized by enthusiasm on the part of teachers and pupils.

At the High School Dr. Hubbard, pastor of the Methodist Church, conducted the devotional exercises and addressed the school.

Dr. Brownlee, pastor of the Presbyterian church, conducted the devotional exercises at the Grammar school and addressed the school.

At each of the buildings were many visitors, parents and friends of the schools.

The schools have opened auspiciously and the outlook is bright for a prosperous school year.

Second War Fund Pledges Having returned to the city we will appreciate the favor if all those who are in arrears on their War Fund Pledges will remit to me at once.

Unless all pledged money is collected, there will come a drive sooner than we expect.

Come out to the Annual Business of Seminole County Chapter.

FRUIT LAWS STRICT.

Replevin will not get fruit back

That the state laws governing the shipment of green or immature fruits are going to be lived up to as at no previous time since these measures were passed by the legislature is the belief of those conversant with the recent decision of Attorney-General Van C. Swearingen with regard to replevins on such fruit, according to the statement of John T. Lewis of Williston, one of the state citrus fruit inspectors. Mr. Lewis said:

Heretofore many shippers of citrus fruit have been able to evade the law by replevining their fruit from the sheriffs to which it had been turned over by the inspectors for the state. Their method has been to into court, file a suitable bond and regain possession of the confiscated fruit, which was immediately shipped outside the state when it was out of reach of the state authorities.

Attorney-General Swearingen, however, has now ruled that a replevin is an action at law which applies only when the ownership of property is in dispute, and that the replevin does not apply against sheriffs in cases where fruit has been turned over to them by inspectors because it does not come within the regulations of the law governing the proper maturity for shipment.

Sheriffs of the various counties and all county officers have been notified of the attorney-general's decision.

This will make it impossible to obtain the release of such immature fruit through actions for replevin, which will mean that the fruit must remain in the custody of sheriffs until the next regular or special court session, where it will be in evidence against the shipper. It will mean that in many cases the fruit will probably spoil in sheriffs' custody in which event it will be returned destroyed by the commissioner of agriculture, and will be a certain loss to the shipper.

The possibility of the loss of an entire carload of fruit where samples fail to pass the acid tests of the inspectors, doubtless will make many growers careful to see that their fruit is capable of passing the acid tests, and is otherwise capable of complying with the law in every respect.

The so-called acid test has been proven to be the only accurate index of the maturity of fruit, some fruit being sufficiently mature for human consumption while the rind is still green and other varieties, being wholly unfit for human consumption for a while after the skin has yellowed.

The inspecting force this year consists of John T. Lewis, Williston; Reid Robson, Lakeland, B. E. Raynor, Lowell, and C. E. Johnston, Deland. They were recently called into conference with the attorney-general by Governor Catts, and it is said will make a most active campaign for the full enforcement of the law during the coming season.

Red Cross Colloquy

Mary—Say Bob, what is going to happen on Oct. 2, at the Presbyterian church?

Bob—"Don't you know? Why don't you read the Herald? You'd find out then. It is going to be the Annual Business Meeting of Seminole County Chapter."

Bob—"You are a member, ain't you? Well you have a vote to cast in the election of officers and besides there will be reports of the years' work. Don't you want to hear what the Chapter has done? Even if you did nothing yourself?"

Mary—"Guess I'll go. What time?"

Bob—"7:30 P. M. So long, don't forget."

The banks of Leon county are encouraging the pig club movement by furnishing the boys of the pig clubs money with which to buy pigs. The boys are taking great interest in the work and splendid results are bound to follow.

CALL TO ARMS FOR GARDENS THIS WINTER TO ADDRESS FARMERS OF THIS COUNTY

EVERY LITTLE BIT WILL HELP ARMY.

Call to arms for the farmers, the men in the second line trenches, sounds again in a letter written by J. W. Hallowell, director of State Administration, of the United States Food Administration, to Braxton Beacham, Federal Food Administrator for Florida. Mr. Hallowell appeals is, however, directed not only to the farmers but to every individual who has a foot of ground that may be cultivated.

The greatest possible production of essential food products is, if possible, of even more importance now than last year. He urges in his letter, which Administrator Beacham is transmitting to the people of Florida through the Press-Braxton Beacham, Esq., Federal Food Administrator, Orlando, Fla.

We are safely through the first year of our work and have successfully discharged the primary duties of the Food Administration in sustaining the Army and insuring sufficient supplies for our home population. It is of the utmost importance that the flow of food products to Europe continue without interruption. As the problem during the coming year, is to obtain a sufficient supply of all staple foods, as well as to effect a saving in particular lines, the greatest possible production of essential food products is, if possible, of even more importance than last year.

In the southern states particularly there is a great opportunity for the farmer to render an important service during the coming season. In appealing last year for an increase in production, we necessarily emphasized the particular importance of a greater production of wheat. To this appeal for a greater wheat acreage, the southern farmer was not always in a position to respond.

Render South Self-Sustaining

We now need the farmer to realize that if he can increase his production of corn and meat, and, where possible, grow enough wheat for his own consumption, as well as his production of cotton, he will not only be increasing our national supply of food, but will render the south self-sustaining in its food stuffs. He will be feeding his own hands, and contributing to the feeding of the locality in which he lives, thereby making the south independent in food stuffs. He will have enormously relieved our transportation burden so that that portion of the products of the northern farmer heretofore transported to the South can go for export to our Army and the Allies.

I realize keenly that with the decrease in labor, due to the draft for industrial and war purposes, the farmer is greatly handicapped, yet a little extra effort and a little extra endeavor on the part of each and every one of us is a service and a sacrifice far less than we are asking from our boys in the trenches.

Cultivate Gardens

Even in the south, our railway system is overtaxed in handling our Army and our war materials, and the transportation of food stuffs and cotton to the consuming centers and to the Allies has become one of the most difficult problems that we have to confront.

There is of necessity a decrease in our agriculture labor. If the people of our towns and villages who have the opportunity to do so can undertake the cultivation of gardens in their extra hours, we will have materially contributed to the total labor employed to increase our production. For these reasons, as never before, every town village and hamlet that has a scrap of available productive land for cultivation, should patriotically resolve to make the family unit as nearly self-supporting as possible.

The matter is one to which we cannot attach too much importance. Faithfully yours, J. W. Hallowell

MACEDONIAN FRONT GETS ALLIED ATTENTION GERMANS WANT PEACE(?)

LENINE AND TROTSKY ARE TRAITORS. BUT CAMOUFLAGE PEACE IS WHAT THEY WANT.

German Agents who sold Russia for Gold. Washington, Sept. 16—The committee on public information has released for publication a series of communications between the German imperial government and the Russian Bolshevik government themselves, and also the report there made to George Creel by Edgar Sisson, the committee's special representative in Russia during the winter of 1917-18.

These documents show that the present heads of the Bolshevik government—Lenine and Trotsky—and their associates, are German agents. They show that the Bolshevik revolution was arranged for by the German general staff and financed by the German imperial bank and other German financial institutions.

They show that the treaty of Brest-Litovsk was a betrayal of the Russian people by the German agents, Lenine and Trotsky, that a German-picked commander was chosen to "defend" Petrograd against the Germans, that German officers have been secretly received by the Bolshevik government as military advisors, as spies upon the embassies of Russia's allies, as officers in the Russian army, and as directors of the Bolshevik military, foreign and domestic policy. They show, in short, that the present Bolshevik government is not a Russian government at all, but a German government, acting solely in the interests of Germany and betraying the Russian people, as it betrays the imperial German government, alone.

Church Going and Gasoline

If you cannot go to church services without the use of your car, certainly use the car. Gasoline could not be better used.

It is a matter of common sense. Our Government never intended to put a ban on church attendance.

The trouble has been that there has been too much simple pleasure riding on the Lord's Day. Even church goers may have gone here and there unnecessarily after services.

A telegram direct from Washington to the state food administrator at Jacksonville states that in cities where there are trolley cars, autos ought not to be seen along the car tracks. When trolleys can be used, why use the car and the gasoline?

In country places, if the church going calls for gasoline, use it.

It is a matter of conscience, as Mayor Davidson says it. Come to church, but don't let your car be seen running after the mail, or here and there before and after. Bring the family to Sunday School, church, Christian Endeavor and park your car near the church if you can. It will be a good advertisement of the popularity of religion, and your special brand of it.

Our country needs more church going, more religion, not less. Prayer is a power as much as ammunition. Our Government realizes these facts. Anything that hurts church attendance hurts our cause at home and abroad.

If you can hitch the horse or mule to the buggy or surrey, why, of course, you'll do that, and then add to your church going an additional trip without criticism. Hoof it if you can readily do so; and then you'll appreciate the church service perhaps all the more.

But—come to church. Don't waste oil all the week and then when Sunday comes talk sentimentally about the wrong of using the car.

M. H. Massey, E. D. Brownlee, C. De W. Brower, J. P. Hilburn

The acreage in sugar cane in Duval county will be greatly increased next year and it seems certain that several up-to-date syrup plants will be established in Duval county. A great many farmers will plant from one to two acres of wheat this fall if suitable seed can be obtained.

The harvesting of peanuts in Gadsden county is well under way now and the crop is showing up well. One farmer near Greensboro thinks he will get a yield of 75 bushels per acre.

Card of Thanks. To those who were so kind to our loved one in his illness and those who sent such beautiful floral offerings and in many ways exemplified the Christian character in our recent bereavement we wish to express our heartfelt thanks. BUT CAMOUFLAGE PEACE IS WHAT THEY WANT.

Allied troops are on the offensive on the Macedonian front. Reorganized Serbian forces, aided by French units, are attacking the Bulgarian positions in the mountains on the Serbo-Greek border east of Monastir.

Three important hill positions, which had withstood allied efforts through several days, have fallen to the Serbs and the French. The heights are Sokol, Dobro-Polje and Teak Vetrnik. Sokol is 20 miles east of Monastir.

The captured positions are about midway between the Cerna and Vardar rivers and command the upper course of the Cerna after it makes a wide curve southeast of Monastir. Several hundred prisoners have been taken in the advance, which continues.

Meanwhile, the French and British troops on the main battlefield in France continue their progress.

Between the Oise and the Aisne the French are pressing on North of the Aisne they have taken the town of Vailly and nearer the Chemin des Dames have stormed Mont Des Singes, an important hill position.

Astride the Scarpe the British have pushed forward new posts, while along the Ypres-Comines canal southeast of Ypres, they have advanced on a front of two miles. West of Cambrai and around St. Quentin, the activity has died down after the British capture.

The aerial and artillery arms have been active on the new American front southwest of Metz. The enemy guns have been hammering the American lines, but no infantry attacks have developed. Allied aviators have bombarded railroad centers and other military targets in the Metz area, while enemy have bombed some places within the American lines, including St. Mihiel.

American attention is directed chiefly at the front in Lorraine, where the Americans are under fire from the fortress of Metz and are apparently making ready for a drive against the Kriemhild line, to which the Germans withdrew their shattered columns from St. Mihiel salient.

Along this front American forces are on the threshold of Germany. The victory of Gen. Pershing's men has had more than a merely local effect. German lines to the southeast have been weakened by the terrific blow dealt along the heights of the Meuse, while to the northwest the Germans are forced to adapt themselves to the new menace which has taken from them the cornerstone of their positions to the east of Verdun.

Speaking unofficially in London today, A. J. Balfour, the British foreign secretary, declared he did not see the slightest hope that a real peace could come from the latest Austrian peace note. The note has not yet been received formally in any of the allied capitals and no official comment on it has been made. Reports from enemy sources are that the note was issued at the command of the Austrian emperor and without consultation with Germany. Leaders of the German rearmament are reported to be discussing it.

While Austria-Hungary was preparing her note to the belligerent nations proposing that they meet in unofficial discussion of peace terms in a neutral country, Germany was making ready to make another offer of separate peace to Belgium. It is announced that the Belgian government has been approached with a proposal that if she will remain neutral during the remainder of the war, Germany is ready to withdraw to the frontiers which were violated in August, 1914. It is affirmed from Berlin that Austria acted on its own initiative in sending out its peace proposals, but the offer of Germany to Belgium points to what may be said to be more than a coincidence and probably a desperate "peace offensive" is now well under way.

AN OKLAHOMA OIL WELL

prophecy of the great English writer has been discounted many times.

The comparatively ancient settlements of the Indians around Tulsa and throughout the state are full of interest. The footprints of the Indians have been obliterated by the march of modern progress, but his name lingers. Where he formerly had his tented villages, or wigwam abodes, cities have been built and towns laid out. His hunting grounds on the Arkansas have been converted into rich and productive farms. Alfalfa has taken the place of prairie grass, and domestic cattle graze in former haunts of the wild beast.

All over Oklahoma prosperous towns and cities have been built. They are laid out along modern lines of city building and their people are enterprising and patriotic. Tulsa holds first place among Oklahoma cities for enterprise and progress. The city has grown more in the past ten years than any other city in the great southwest. It is amply able to care for a large number of visitors such as attend the annual reunions of the Confederate soldiers. Had it not possessed of the facilities for caring for the annual reunions of the Confederate soldiers, it would have been a great disadvantage here with their 1918 meeting. All who come to the reunion will be cared for in most satisfactory manner.

SUPERIOR FOR LAYING HENS

Corn and Meat Scraps Will Produce Satisfactory Egg Yield—Test at Ohio Station.

When wheat and other feeds are relatively higher in price, corn and meat scrap will produce a satisfactory egg yield at a lower cost per unit of production.

Hens fed on corn and meat scraps for 1647 days at the Ohio experiment station laid an average of 371 eggs a hen. Those fed a ration of corn, wheat, oats, bran and meat scrap produced 370 eggs. The feed cost per dozen eggs was 16 per cent higher for the lot getting the variety of feeds than for the corn and meat scrap lot.

Corn, wheat, oats, bran, oilmeal, middlings and meat scrap constituted the ration of one lot that laid 187 eggs per hen one year. Hens fed only corn and meat scrap laid 123 eggs per hen. The cost of feed per dozen eggs was nearly 4 per cent greater in the case of the hens fed the variety ration.

FEW HORSES REQUIRE SHOES

In Case Feet of Animals Become Dry and Begin to Crack Some Attention is Needed.

The nature of the work that the horse is doing determines whether or not he should be shod. Horses working on hard roads require shoes, while with but a few exceptions those working in the field do not need to be shod. In case the feet become dry and hard and begin to crack, attention should be given them. Most of the poor feet are due to improper care. A horse's feet should be trimmed at least every six or eight weeks. In trimming most of the work should be done with a rasp. If the nippers are used, too much of the hoof is generally cut away, while if the rasp is used only a small amount is cut away at a time and the foot can be kept level.

PROFIT IN SHEEP BUSINESS

Most Sensible Way for Any Farmer Is to Begin on Small Scale and Gradually Increase.

The most sensible way for the farmer to get into the sheep business is to begin on a small scale with a few good ewes and a purebred ram, and increase his flock with his increasing knowledge of how to care for sheep and get the most profit out of them.

High Yield From Leghorns.

The poultry department of the University of Arizona has announced Leghorns with an average egg production of 229.9 eggs per hen. The lowest record for an individual hen is 210 and the highest is 250.

That Golden Tomorrow.

It is easy to believe in that golden tomorrow. To young people that is, who are not yet old enough to have seen the golden age of their fathers. They should be reminded that that golden age is long since past and that the golden age of the future will be earned by the sweat and blood of the present.

"PROMISED LAND" DECLARED IRVING

GREAT ENGLISH WRITER MADE GLOWING PREDICTION

HAS LONG SINCE FULFILLED

Reunion Visitors in September at Tulsa Will See Monument To Irving Who Visited

Tulsa, Okla., August 15.—In the early thirties the renowned Washington Irving came over from England and made a tour of parts of the United States. His tour to the southwest included a stop among the Indians at the present location of the city of Tulsa. Local history has it that he paused on an eminence about a mile northwest of the center of the present business district of Tulsa, and took a comprehensive view of the valley of the Arkansas spread out before him. The following description of the landscape and prophecy of the future wealth of the community appears in his sketches of the American tour.

This seems to me to be the Promised Land. With wheat, milk and honey. On the rich herbage of the prairies will be fed herds of cattle as numerous as the sands upon the seashore. And the flowers that bedeck the prairies will be a paradise for a hundred birds.

It was written October 13, 1842, about the time of year that the 1918 annual reunion of the Confederate Veterans Association will be held at Tulsa. The dates of the reunion are September 24-27 inclusive, or some ten days earlier in the fall than the dates upon which Irving wrote his appreciation of the valley of the Arkansas. Visitors to the reunion will have an opportunity to enjoy the same other panoramas made more beautiful and promising by modern enterprise and a city of tomorrow.

The greatest agricultural section of Oklahoma is along the Arkansas above and below the city of Tulsa. A land now flowing with milk and honey, fulfilling the Irving prophecy if not discounting it. One of the beauty spots around Tulsa is Irving Circle, on the crest of a ridge north of the city, now beautified by handsome residences. A monument has been erected there commemorating the visit and prophecy of Washington Irving made more than eighty years ago. The idea was originated and carried out by W. Tate Brady, chairman of the General Committee of the Confederate reunion organization. In the meantime, the

DON'T TRADE GOOD MONEY FOR JUNK

The American Bankers' association recently sent broadcast a warning that people should not exchange Liberty bonds for securities of unknown value. The association points out that many wage earners are lured because of high pay in army lines of work, to buy stocks and bonds for the first time in their lives. It is obvious that persons who never have given more than casual attention to stock market quotations of stocks are not justified in accepting proffers of stocks at their face values. There are hundreds of bona fide securities which offer perfectly safe investment for workers profiting by the high wage tide which at present is sweeping the country. But on the contrary, the profiteers of these war times are not all confined in big business. Mushroom syndicates are springing up over night near the centers of war industry and many thousands of dollars are making quick transition from pay envelopes to the pockets of unscrupulous trade vampires.

Extravagant claims for large returns from small investment should of themselves convince prospective investors that something is wrong with the proposition. The novice in stock lore should remember that the majority of bond and stock buyers have purchased their holdings through brokers. The parable of the cow expecting to find greener grass in farther pastures holds good of investments. Wonderful oil fields in Greenland afford splendid opportunity for the promotion concern's publicity agent to depict streams of dollars rolling into the pockets of those who buy stocks worth $100 par for $7.75 until the subscriber has closed, but the chances are that right across the street there is a vacant lot which would yield honest satisfaction to any one who would go to the trouble of clearing it up. Uncle Sam has been responsible for most of the big wages which make it possible for workers to lay aside considerable for a rainy day. Why not lend to Uncle Sam while his need is great, and besides, he issues to beautifully engraved stock certificates which 10 years from now are worth only the current price of waste paper Tampa Times.

OUR INDIVIDUAL PART.

Some observers think that the most characteristic thing about the American soldiers in France, something which astounds the enemy and excites the admiration of our allies, is the capacity of the American soldiers to do individual thinking and fighting. The German fights successfully only in mass formation, in organized bodies, while every American soldier has an initiative and independence of action which gives him remarkable efficiency in open fighting. They are not senseless cogs, but each is an individual working unit in a great fighting machine. Every American at home should feel an individual responsibility and do his or her part individual part in winning the war. There is not an American citizen who can not help win the war with the war. The Fourth Liberty Loan drive which begins September 28, offers a great opportunity for concerted action and for individual action, and the loan will be a tremendous success if each American will do his or her individual part as each American soldier in France does his part. Our soldiers deserve such support from the people at home.
W. S. S.

THE MAN POWER

Since the draft ages are extended, it is all the more necessary that the men who are exempted from military duty should work the harder on the tasks essential to the maintenance of the army in the field. Every American must engage in some sort of productive labor. The government has indicated the employments that are essential, and the government has taken over the task of assigning men to jobs. The full man power of America must be harnessed in this war, at home or in the field. No halfway measure will serve. The man who loaf on his job, whether it be directly connected with the supporting of the enemy or not, is aiding the enemy. An indifferent worker throws a burden upon some one else. The real patriot in these days is the man who sticks full time at his task, whatever it is. He may have a desire to get into the fight and yet be held at home by family ties, or by assignment or by some other form of service, or by reason of years. He can contribute to the victory, nevertheless, by doing whatever he has to do, to the utmost of his strength and his ability. The man at home must do the maximum work. As the army ranks are filled with additional thousands of men who remain out of the uniform will bear a heavier and heavier burden of responsibility. They must shoulder it manfully, and with just as much patriotic zeal as those who take up arms and face the enemy in the fighting in France. And to the extent they do this, America will bring the war to an early end. Tallahassee Record.

Eighteen to forty-five - the word is
They must go forth, the ones we hoped to hold.
Doing their part until the grip is broken.
The Hun defeated, crushed and backward-rolled.
Into the home it brings her pain and sorrow.
Partings to bear but hope to keep alive;
Fear to subdue, and courage new to borrow.
So young - eighteen so steadfast
forty-five
Eighteen to forty-five, the boys we cherish;
So lately clustered - children - at our knees;
Is there no way to save them - must they perish?
We have been brave, but oh! to part with these,
Wrenches our heart strings; nothing
Only to wait and hope and pray and strive;
Wisdom to see in that which has benefit us.
Taking them all - eighteen to
forty-five.
Eighteen to forty-five, soon they must gather,
Leaving their life work, breaking cherished ties;
Brother and son, the husband and the father.
Laid on the altar of our sacrifice.
Yet we shall let them go, with cherished faces;
Humbly petitioning our God to guard
Our best and bravest through war's stormy places.
And bring them safely to their Great Reward.
Helen Combes

There were few people on the streets in cars Sunday but I noted one or two and unless they had a good excuse they will have their names published in this paper Friday. They should also have their cars painted yellow for they are yellow when they operate their cars on Sunday in joy riding without a good and sufficient excuse.

Walt Mason says: I see the slackers every day; I always find them in my way. And most of them, with limbs endowed of loyalty are talking loud. They gave two bits to win the fight; they eat corn bread instead of white; they walked a mile in some parade and helped to buy pink lemonade. They talk and talk of what they've done to can the turpid, tireless but never pause an hour to view the many things they do not do.

When the year began in March this was the seventh of its months and was properly termed "September." By the commencement of the year two months earlier, its name is now become inappropriate, as is likewise the case with its three following months. Our ancestors called September "Gerst Monat" or barley month, because they then realized the crop.

The first Monday of September is celebrated as Labor Day. September is a month in which events of enormous magnitude have occurred. On the first day, in 1870, Louis Napoleon surrendered to Emperor William at Sedan, which led directly to the fall of the empire and the establishment of the republic. Napoleon abdicated the throne the second day, which led John Hay to write a poem on the "Sphinx of the Tuileries," the closing lines being particularly prophetic: "The people will come to their own at last - God is not mocked forever."

The man who fails to obey the food and fuel and other government regulations nine times out of ten will be the man who refuses to give to the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., refuses to buy bonds and saving stamps and has none of kin in the war and does not care anything about the war. And we should paint these scoundrels yellow and ride them out of town. I do not care how high they may be in Sanford society, or what their names may be or whose child they may be. Some of the prominent citizens are as bad as the least known and these high bred skunks are the boys we want to hook. You can hear them making all kinds of cracks about the Sunday law and the food law and the draft law. When you hear them again report them to the Council of Defense and have them placed where they belong. This town has kowtowed too long to royalty, anyhow.

Slightly Mixed. Mrs. Mix - There was a time when you minded what I said, but now it's like water on a duck's back - in at one ear and out at the other.

Time's Balance. Things have a way of balancing themselves in this world. For instance, in winter snow comes down, and in summer ice goes up.

A Solace to Pride. "You have made some powerful enemies." "That's all right," replied Senator Sorghum. "In so doing I have at least demonstrated that I couldn't be whipped by the little fellows."

Wants Sunday Ride To Editor Herald: If there is anything we believe in more than patriotism, it is religion but this business of no gas on Sunday gives the patriotism hypercritical a chance to shine to be sure the man who works six days a week over-time thrown in spending all he can spare and then some for Bonds, Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. work. Wearing a tired weary smile home to the overworked wife who has dismissed the laundress their only help, that she might work in the fields. Then Sunday comes there last pleasure a ride through the country is forbidden them. They meekly say we will do anything for our boys but then on Monday they take a glance at the merry throng of idlers riding by in swarms and the little maidens driving up and down the streets from ten to twenty times in one afternoon nothing in mind but to see and be seen, one revolts, nothing fair about it. Say Bro, why can't we arrange so every body can have a specified amount of joy gas and use it when he sees fit? Hope some one in authority may see this as we do. Uncle Sams Boy

FRENCH AND AMERICANS MAKE NEW ATTACK; OBJECTIVE IS UNKNOWN

BUT PRESAGES EVENTS OF IMPORTANCE.

French troops today attacked in the Champagne in a thick fog after a period of artillery preparation terminated in a half hour of drum-fire. The early indications were that the attack was progressing most favorably.

The attack by the French army, which was launched at 5:30 o'clock this morning, was along a wide front.

Paris, Sept. 26.—French and American troops began a joint attack this morning on the Champagne front in the region beyond it on the east, today's war office statement announces.

The statement says the French attack was launched in the Champagne in co-operation with the American army, which is attacking further to the east.

Renewed German attacks north of the Aisne have been repulsed. At one point where the Germans retained a foothold in the French positions they were rejected by a counter attack.

The statement says: "Between the Ailette and Aisne the Germans returned their attacks last night in the region of Allemant Laffaux. The enemy succeeded at the latter point in penetrating the French line, but an energetic counter attack by the French recaptured the lines."

"This morning at 5 o'clock the French attacked on the Champagne front in co-operation with the Americans further east."

The Franco-American attack on the Champagne front is the first allied thrust made on that sector since Marshal Foch assumed the initiative in July, and is the logical result of the allied success in Picardy in driving the Germans back to the Hindenburg line from Rheims to Laon.

A drive north threatens the communications lines behind the Hindenburg system of defenses, while the Germans further north are struggling to keep the British and French from breaking through. The front of attack probably extends for a good part of the distance from Rheims to Verdun and perhaps beyond.

Military critics say this was the crucial place where an allied effort, intended to destroy the effectiveness of the Hindenburg line, should be made. For some distance east of Rheims the terrain is level and open and advance for some distance here would outflank Laon and possibly St. Quentin. More important is the threat to the communication lines eastward from Laon, the pivot of the German defenses of Rheims and to the northward.

Should the allies break through there the Germans would have to retreat.

There has been rather lively raiding on both sides of Rheims in the last two weeks and some military commentators have felt that these were the forerunners of greater activity.

In Macedonia the allies are advancing all along the 130 mile front between Monastir and Lake Doiran. The Bulgarian first army on the allied left has been placed in a dangerous position by the cutting of the Prilep-Veles road at Izvor, while the Serbians are in the outskirts of Ishtib, 18 miles east of Veles and one of the bases of the Bulgarian second army. Apparently the Veles-Ishtib line, the most formidable for the enemy south of Uskub, will prove untenable.

Northeast of Lake Doiran British troops have crossed the frontier in Bulgarian Macedonia, threatening the extreme enemy left flank. Enemy territory was invaded at Kosturino a few miles south of Strumitza, the German base in the region north of Lake Doiran. Kosturino is at the headwaters of the Trekanj river, which flows through virtually level country to Strumitza. Meanwhile the French and Greeks are pushing eastward from the Vardar river in the directions of Strumitza, which Important Notice On Age Limits.

The following telegram has just been received from Dr. John R. Mott:

"Forsdick Commission including representatives of Association Catholic National War Council, War Camp Community Service and Red Cross after prolonged consideration of selective service act and in consultation with War Department unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

"First, that for overseas service the organizations affiliated with Commission on Training Camp Activities and the Commission itself will appoint only men who are not in class one and who were thirty seven years of age or over on September 12, 1918. Men under that age may be appointed if they are disqualified for military service by obvious physical defects. The War Department will be requested to call for registration and classification men within draft age who are already working overseas with these organizations.

"Second, that for service in America no exemption will be asked for men of class one. Men of other classes will be used until such classes are called for military service.

"We recommend immediate enforcing of these resolutions giving special consideration to placing domestic service men preparing for overseas who are eliminated by resolution one.

Saturday Is Volunteer Day.

Hundreds of cities, counties and towns in the sixth Federal Reserve District have adopted the plan of making next Saturday, the opening day of the Liberty Loan "Volunteer Day," when every citizen who has made up his mind to invest in Bonds will go to the bank or some member of the committee and make his subscription voluntarily, without solicitation.

"Why not?" says the committee workers. "John Smith is as good a man as I am, and just as loyal a citizen. Why should John Smith wait for me or some other man to hunt him up and beg him to do his duty by his country? Let John Smith and all the rest of the patriotic citizens come up and subscribe without being asked, and then we can devote our time to rounding up the fellows who have to be shown where their duty lies."

In those communities where the "volunteer day" takes hold, it is believed the greater part of the quota in the Fourth Liberty Loan will be subscribed on the first day.

Manufacturers and other business men have been evincing great interest in the industrial honor pennants, which will be awarded all firm business is represented by a subscription from 100 per cent of the officers and employees. They say they will see to it that every man on the payroll takes at least one bond, and are making arrangements to finance the payments. It is expected that the red-bordered pennant with its four blue stripes and the insigna "100 per cent" will fly from many a plant within a few days after the campaign opens next Saturday.

FRANK CAMPBELL DIES FOR HIS COUNTRY

Another Sanford boy has made the supreme sacrifice. Frank Campbell, on the casualty list as one who died from his wounds the announcement coming as a shock to his friends here who did not know that he had been wounded.

The list gave his residence as Orlando, because he enlisted in Company C, of that city, but Frank was a Sanford boy and made his home here with his sister, Mrs. J. E. Moye. He was an employee of A. C. L. Ry., when the country called for men and with many other Sanford boys enlisted with the nearest company, that of Company C at Orlando and after a year at Camp Wheeler at Macon, the boys went to France and were sent to the front at once. Some of the boys writing home said that Frank Campbell was a real soldier, that he went into battle with the idea of doing or dying and had no fear in his heart. Of a cheerful and generous nature, a lover of music and possessed of a rare voice, Frank Campbell was not used to war, but when he decided to make it his business he worked at it full time and with the idea of getting a bad job over with and getting back to home and friends that he loved so well.

He was a friend to everybody and everybody was his friend, and we shall miss him just as we shall miss all those whose last resting place will be in sunny France, among the lilies of France, the fair land they defended with their lives.

Our hearts go out to the grief stricken sister who mourns the loss of the only near relative left her in the world.

WAR WORK COMMITTEES IN ORLANDO

DISTRICT CHAIRMEN HAD GREAT MEETING.

A district meeting of the counties of Orange, Osceola, Volusia, Okechobee and Seminole took place at Orlando Wednesday, the meeting lasting all day. Many prominent workers in the united war workers campaign were present and a general outline of the campaign to be launched on November 11th was given. E. W. Davis of Orlando is chairman of the district and E. G. Duckworth is district director. The chairman of the various counties and their assistants were present at the meeting and some very interesting talks were made by those who had been in the camps and knew of the great work being done by the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army, War Camp Community Service, Jewish Welfare League and the American Library Association. The quota for the district is $83,121 of which Seminole County will be expected to raise $10,657.

Every phase of the united war workers was given at the meeting even to the work of the community women among the girls of the ammunition factories, the work of the hostesses at the camps and the many hundreds of ways in which the soldier boys are helped in the cantonments here and the camps in Europe. The scope of this great work is tremendous and never before in the history of our country has the American army been surrounded by such safeguards as are now thrown around our boys at home camps and in Europe.

The campaign in November will be most systematic in every way and the aim of these in charge of the campaign will be to give every man, woman and child a chance to contribute something to this great work of looking after the boys in the army and navy. The publicity work will not be slighted and pamphlets, newspapers, posters, bill boards and moving pictures will be used extensively.

A county convention will be called here sometime in October at which time the various committees will be given an outline of their work for the campaign.

Those who attended the meeting from Seminole County were H. R. Stevens, Mrs. Stekens, Mrs. E. M. Galloway, Mrs. R. J. Holly, Judge Householder, W. M. Haynes, S. O. Shinholser, Schelle Maines and R. J. Holly of Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson of Moore, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brumley of Chuluota and Mr. and Mrs. Endor Curlett of Geneva.

All the other counties in the district were well represented and the

RED CROSS ELECTION WED. NIGHT

REPORTS FOR YEAR WILL BE INTERESTING.

On Wednesday night, October 2 at the Presbyterian church the Seminole Chapter Red Cross will hold their annual election of officers and have a business meeting of unusual interest. There will be reports from the secretary, treasurer and other officers and a detailed report of all that has been accomplished during the current year.

Every member of the chapter in Seminole County should be present at this important meeting and election of officers. Seminole has made a most enviable record for the past year in meeting every requirement of the needs of the army and navy and it will be a revelation to those who hear the reports to find out just how much good work the local chapter has accomplished during the year.

There are members of the Seminole Chapter who have never attended a meeting and who know nothing about the work of this great order and a special appeal is made for them to come to the business meeting next Wednesday night and find out about the good work of the Seminole Chapter and how the earnest ladies have been working the summer months making surgical dressings, hospital garments, etc., how the children and the girls have been making bed clothing for the Belgians and French refugees, how they have made gun cases and all things needful for the soldiers and sailors and the people in the devastated countries of Europe.

Those who attend the meeting Wednesday night will never again ask what the Red Cross is doing and will never refuse to pay their membership dues and to help the Red Cross in every particular. Every member should be there.

NOTICE

The Order of the Eastern Star will hold their regular meeting Thursday evening Oct. 3, at 7:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be present as there will be candidates for initiation. Refreshments will be served.

WOMAN'S CLUB

First Business Meeting Next Wednesday.

To the Women of Sanford: The first business meeting for the year of the Woman's Club of Sanford will be held in the club rooms, Wednesday, October 2nd, and it is earnestly hoped that every member of the club, and every friend of the club will be in attendance.

At no time in the history of Sanford has the city so needed the Woman's Club, and at no time has this organization so needed the interest and help of the women of Sanford. Every woman should rally to its support, for the club's great purpose is to pass on comprehension, confidence and courage to meet the stress of the times. To develop the very best that exists within one, to give the best to humanity, to help to make this world a better place to live in; these are the first and highest duties of every true patriotic man and woman in these times when the world rocks upon its foundations. It is not only a time to declare loyalty, but to prove it, and the women of Sanford by co-operation plus team work can do many splendid and much needed things for their town and nation which would otherwise be neglected, or lost sight of in their zeal for the temporary demands of the hour.

The spirit of the present is "Service present duties for the newer, more pressing demands, but rather let us sacrifice our little pleasures, and forego our hundred and one desires that we have been accustomed to gratify, and work with a redoubled effort until the storm of this world war is over and our victory proclaimed.

One who attended the great Biennial of the General Federation of Women's Clubs last spring tells us that "the General Federation is working to make and keep a better world, a better country; better cities, towns, homes and people in it. It is striving to bring beauty, and happiness and understanding through the common language of art, and music, and books, and literature of many kinds. It is trying to safeguard women at their daily tasks, to give little children their right of healthy, happy childhood; to reduce not only the death rate but the half-death rate among the babies of the land. It is endeavoring to help in giving every man, woman and child the opportunity for education of the right kind. It is bending every effort toward stamping out preventable disease and to raise the moral standard in communities. It is building citizens for cities which it hopes to help make physically and spiritually right." The Sanford Woman's Club is a unit of that vast organization, and is fired by the same hopes, aims and ambitions; and many willing hands will make easy the tasks which could not be accomplished by the few. Every woman of Sanford is invited to attend this meeting. Let us in truth "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

Mayor Davison Administrator

Mayor Davison has been appointed County Food Administrator vice H. B. Lewis resigned. Mayor Davison is a busy man these days, being County Fuel Administrator and many other positions aside from that of being mayor or of Sanford, but he is patriotic to the core and willing to work night and day for the winning of the war.

He will handle the office of Food Administrator in good shape and those who want him can always find him at his store, the Sanford Furniture Co., where he will be ready and willing to serve the public. This appointment will give general satisfaction throughout the county.

LINEN SHOWER NEXT WEEK TO SECURE THE NEEDFUL.

The local chapter of the Red Cross is preparing to do its share in the nation-wide linen shower which will be held September 30 to October 5. The government has given all chapters a certain allotment, which must be filled, the articles needed being bath towels, hand towels, handkerchiefs and napkins. The place of collection will be at the Red Cross work rooms and a call is made for all Sanford people to donate liberally. The local chapter is in receipt of the following notice from division headquarters in Atlanta, explaining the movement:

"The Red Cross commissioner of France has cabled that the hospitals are in urgent need of the following supplies: One million two hundred fifty thousand bath towels, 2,500,000 hand towels, 1,750,000 handkerchiefs 125,000 napkins.

"The American Red Cross headquarters at Washington has carefully considered the best way of filling these requirements. It is exceedingly difficult to secure these articles in large quantities in the open market today at any reasonable price, and we have finally decided to ask our chapters to share in providing the articles on a plan which was tried most successfully in a limited number of chapters some months ago.

"The plan referred to, known as the linen shower is to ask each family to contribute one article or a set of household linen from its reserve stock. In this way without material reduction either of the household or of the sources of supply large quantities of useful articles can be secured for Red Cross work and it is hoped that chapters in all parts of the country will join in this plan of filling the present requisitions.

"The articles wanted should be new, or substantially new, and be of strong rather than fine texture. The laundering facilities abroad are poor and this, together with the hard and constant use to which the articles will be subjected make it clear that we would not be justified in using much-needed shipping space to send over anything but strong and durable articles. Articles of very fine quality or those which have already been put to considerable use will last but a short time and necessitate early replacement.

"All chapters in the United States are being called on to provide their share of these articles during the week commencing September 30, 1918. We know that your chapter will co-operate in the matter at this time, giving the plan the widest publicity. Every article contributed will be put to real use in hospitals whose equipment and facilities are being sorely tried. We hope that every householder in your section will have a part in the linen shower and once again show that the Red Cross can fill every need for relief."

In addition to the above list given, the government is asking for a large supply of sheets, and has divided this up between the chapters, in the same proportion as the other articles named.

The articles should be new or substantially new. All articles, whether new or otherwise, must be carefully laundered before bringing them in. If donations should have to be purchased the approximate dimensions desired are as follows: hand towels, eighteen by thirty inches; handkerchiefs, eighteen by eighteen; napkins, fourteen by fourteen; sheets, sixty-four by 102. Sheets should be heavy, unbleached muslin, finished with two-inch hem at top and one-inch hem at bottom.

The Boy Scouts will also be enlisted in this great cause and will call for the materials Saturday, October 5th or before if possible.

Seminole Chapter has been allotted 150 bath towels, 302 hand towels, 211 handkerchiefs, 15 napkins, 71 sheets. Bath towels must be 19x38 inches, napkins 14x14 inches, sheets 64x102 inches.

JUNE CAPRICE ON KISSES

William Fox's Pretty Star Declares Stolen Ones Sweetest

Take it from Miss June Caprice the William Fox star, stolen kisses are the sweetest. And she has had experience for in her new play "A Camouflage Kiss" she is kissed "smack" right in the dark. Then later in the play another kiss is still taken from her baby lips and still later she receives several real sweet-toothed kisses. So you see she is able to judge and give sage advice.

"But girls," she declares, "beware of the man who camouflages his kisses. A man who camouflages his kiss is like the man who sneaks to the rear of the army while the boys with the big hearts are fighting valiantly for their country. He's usually the biggest of the men who 'kisses' the girls for the gallant deeds of others."

Miss Caprice has a humorous and thrilling play in "A Camouflage Kiss." She has an excellent supporting cast. The play will be at the Lyric today.

"Bringing Up Father At Home"

In order to perpetuate the popularity of that most beloved and witty of all Irishmen "Father" of "Bringing Up Father" fame, Manager Gus Hill has provided an entirely new musical comedy along entirely new lines. The latest stage version of the world famous George McManus cartoons is entitled "Bringing Up Father At Home." It is in three acts and will be seen at the Lyric, on Monday September 30th.

A company of thirty people has been engaged including fifteen prodigiously beautiful and talented young women, who it is understood form one of the most imitable singing and dancing choruses ever organized. Walter Veron will be seen as "Father" and Louise Earl as "Mother."

In announcing the other details of this exceptional theatrical event the fact must not be overlooked regarding some of the features and innovations introduced. There will be unique specialties, exclusive musical numbers, ensembles, novelties and surprises, besides a scenic musical investiture calculated to add to the reputation of Mr. Hill as one of the most successful promoters of things different in a theatrical way.

Elder Springs.

A lot of nice rains this week came in good in the late potato patch. We were nearly ruined out from church Sunday morning but had a beautiful service Sunday night.

Rev. Hurendon gave the children a most impressive talk in their usefulness to the church after which the children rendered a well prepared program which was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. J. M. Wynn and Mrs. B. J. Overstreet are spending the week at Coronado Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wheeler are home again.

The little Misses Alice and Dolma Cassidy of the Heights spent Monday with Grandma Riley.

Quite a crowd of Elder Spring folks and some from town enjoyed a picnic at Thomas Ford Friday in honor of Mrs. J. M. Lord's 65th birthday.

Friends of Mrs. W. C. Riley will be glad to learn she is well again. Mrs. J. S. Barnhart and Mrs. W. O. Nolan were shopping in town Wednesday.

AMUSEMENT

A PLAY THAT WILL PLEASE KISS

Mr. Exhibitor, when you show June Caprice in "A Camouflage Kiss," you will not have to look a comedy to round out your entertainment. In this new William Fox photoplay you have so much comedy that your patrons won't want to laugh any more. And, besides, you have a drama that is high in thrills and stirring action. In fact this screen offering has everything.

You have in June Caprice a star that always attracts—a star whom the critics have never found wanting. She has given your patrons many a pleasant afternoon and evening. Her plays are always happy ones—plays that put your film friends in a pleasant frame of mind as they depart.

"A Camouflage Kiss" is really the tale of a man who is an excellent business man but who is minus the streak that makes a man pleasing in the company of women. This man is bashful so bashful in fact that he deters from kissing the girl to whom he becomes engaged simply because she says he cannot kiss her. Perhaps you know such a man, Mr. Exhibitor. Perhaps in real life he is not so comic but on the screen with all the frills of shyness, he just oozes comical situations.

And this man makes a false step. He gets a handsome man to kiss his bride-to-be in the dark, believing the girl will think he, the bridegroom-to-be, did it and will like him. Now it happens that the man engineers this so well that the girl does believe he kissed her and she is delighted. How the thought of his courage appeals to her. Then comes the break. The handsome man continues to show his bravery by grasping the girl in his arms in the daytime and kissing her again. The girl knows that kiss. She knows too that her bridegroom-to-be was afraid to kiss her. Scorn, disgust, for him. And for the man who kissed her pleasant smiles and in the end her hand.

But that is not all. There are other complications in this play. An-ding of cattle and have the right and regulations promulgated by the State Livestock Sanitary Board enforced, was judged by Honorable W. S. Barber, judge of the fifth judicial circuit of the circuit court in and for Lake county, at Tavares.

The Arcadia News tells of a farmer who grew ten thousand bushels of navy beans and sold them for twelve and a half cents a pound, and adds the best part of it is he will get two or three other bushels from the land on which the beans were produced. This is a popular advantage of farming in Florida. Such a thing could not happen in any other state.

After putting up 2,000 gallons of guava juice for jelly the guava factory located in Fort Lauderdale has been forced to close due to lack of containers. The closing of this factory together with the scarcity of sugar for canning purposes means the waste of hundreds of bushels of guavas.

UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE

We are sorry for those who do not relish persimmons. Just now they often form the basis of a one-course meal with us. Persimmon short-cake, at present made mostly with corn flour, with cream and a bit of honey, if one cares for it, makes a satisfying dish.

Once again we are caused to mourn the departure of a dearly loved member of our community, when just a short week from the death of her neighbor, whom she had helped to care for, Mrs. Martha Bertleson also passed away on to her reward Sept. 19th. It was a terrible shock to all of us as she, ill but a day and a half at the home of her son, Andrew, and wife in Sanford. She leaves to mourn her loss four daughters: Mrs. Christine Borrel, Mrs. Annie Magnuson, Mrs. Charlotte Karr and Mrs. Jennie Erickson and one son, Andrew Bertleson, besides nine grand-children.

Rev. Massey of the Baptist Church of which she has long been a consistent member, delivered a thoughtful address, taking for his subject the cry of ancient Simeon "Now, Lord, lettest Thy servant depart in Peace" and tho a mother in Israel has departed, we must believe He has called her to rest.

It was her delight to be employed in useful work and to lend a hand to those in need and with her cheery smile and willing hand lightened many a burdened one. She would often testify of her love for Jesus and she showed it in her life. Surely at the Great Day she will hear the Master's "Well done, good and faithful servant."

The interment was by the side of her husband, who was buried many years ago, in the Upsala cemetery. We sympathize with those who are left.

A quiet home wedding occurred Sept. 21st, 1918 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Tyner, when their eldest daughter, Mabel, became the bride of Fred J. Krell of Arcadia, in the presence of a few invited friends. Rev. Hilburn of Sanford, performed the impressive ceremony, making them man and wife and after congratulations, ice-cream and cakes were served.

The bride, who grew to womanhood here, was beautifully attired in a white satin gown, lace trimmed, fashioned by her own nimble fingers. She will be much missed in the home but she goes forth with the prayer that God may bless their wedded life and that they may be all the world to one another. The bridegroom has employment at the aviation camps as carpenter in Arcadia.

Took the Discuit.

The Madam's Prevailing and Defeating society was in session, and all was proceeding peacefully and harmoniously, till the rat-story man spoke.

"Some people," he said, "consider the rat hasn't got much sense; but they're wrong. For instance, once I saw a mother place her year-old babe in front of the cottage to sun himself, and, to keep his spirits up, she gave the little chap a big feeding bottle of milk. As I watched I saw a rat creep up to the child, and my heart was in my mouth. I feared for the baby. But bless you, the rat was only after the milk! He just slipped the teat out of the child's mouth and into his own, and then thoughtfully put the end of his tail into the child's mouth by way of a comforter."

With a great sigh the president handed him the discuit.—London Tit-Bits.

"Gun Without a Peer."

What the Scientific American calls "a gun without a peer" is the new 529 millimeter mobile howitzer built by the Creusot works for the French army. It is mounted on a railroad carriage and fires a shell 20.47 inches in diameter. It is a fort wrecker, and one shell from it is said to have sufficed to reduce Fort Malmanson, on which the Germans had spent so much time and labor, to a pile of dust and debris.

Hotel Proprietor—Did you enjoy the concert playing in the next room to yours last night?

Guest (savagely)—Enjoy it! I should say not. I spent half the night pounding on the wall to make the idiot stop.

Proprietor—Why, Jones told me this morning you applauded every one of his pieces and he was going to send for some more music right away so that he could play for you again.

Cockney Repartee.

Some of the senior boys from a Vauxhall school's literary class were taken to the old Vic to see "The Merchant of Venice."

When Shylock, in the court scene, was urgently demanding his pound of flesh, a bright cockney boy, in eager tones, cried out to the judge:

"Hi, you! Ask him for his meat card!"—London Tit-Bits.

The Lute.

The lute has vanished. It was one of the oldest of instruments, and had a beautiful vibrant tone somewhat like that of the harp. But its size and complexity were against it. It had a long, tall, and many strings, and while its size increased its power and range, it also increased its weight and made it cumbersome. The minstrel of today plays on the mandolin, the guitar or the banjo—and the lute is forgotten.

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Sanford woman who is having headache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles should be glad to heed this Sanford woman's experience:

"Mrs. L. Y. Bryn, 112 Palmetto Ave., says: 'Some years ago I was in awful shape from kidney trouble. I had a terrible soreness in the region of my kidneys and was down and out. It was nearly impossible for me to get around at all. I was nervous and the last little thing set my nerves on edge. Often I got dizzy and black specks floated before my eyes. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I bought a box and they helped me right away. Three boxes entirely rid of this attack and I am glad to recommend Doan's.'"

The Flavor Lasts

Nathan Bedford Forrest is general secretary. The committee is composed of a number of Tulsa's most enterprising citizens, and they are taking much interest in their work.

The usual mess hall and sleeping arrangements have been provided for from 6,000 to 10,000 old Confederate veterans who are to be preferred guests of the reunion committee. Owing to demands for tents in the army, it was impossible to secure tentage for these old soldiers, but probably a better arrangement than tents has been made. The school authorities of Tulsa, at the request of the reunion committee have ordered the public schools to be suspended for the entire week of the reunion, and the old soldiers will sleep in the school houses. These buildings are of brick, one story high, and they are provided with ample toilet facilities, water and electric lights. Five thousand double mattresses have been purchased by the reunion committee, and other necessary bedding provided. A large tent will be used as a mess hall. It will be located within a block of the convention hall in which the business sessions of the reunion are to be held. E. A. Pickens, the man who has successfully catered to many Confederate reunions, has been engaged by the reunion committee to do the honors for the old soldiers. He is now in Tulsa waiting for his friends to come. He will serve his guests three meals a day free of all charge.

The convention hall in which the business sessions of the reunion will be held is new and attractive. It seats more than 6,000 people, is well ventilated and so situated as to not be interrupted by the noise of street traffic. The hall is equipped with a fine pipe organ, one of the finest in the southwest.

Ample arrangements have been made to accommodate all reunion visitors, in hotels, rooming houses and private homes. The city is full of good hotels and rooming houses. Restaurant facilities are as good as any city affords.

Tulsa is situated in the great oil belt of Oklahoma. It is a wonderful section of country. The surroundings are entirely different from any other reunion city. It will be a new experience to thousands of reunionists a cordial welcome to every reunion visitor, and put forth her best energies to make the week the greatest one the Confederates and their friends have ever enjoyed. "On to Tulsa," is the watchword throughout the south and southwest.

Every mail brings to the reunion committee hundreds of requests for reservations of rooms at the hotels, boarding houses and private homes. Applications for certificates upon which tickets can be purchased, keep two stenographers busy attending to them. The heads of departments and divisions report increasing interest in the Tulsa reunion all over the south and southwest. The demand for rooms is not confined to one section. It is widespread. Tulsa expects a large attendance and is making preparations accordingly.

GIVEN HONOR NOT DESERVED

Error of Learned Men Responsible for America Being Named After Amerigo Vespucci.

The story of how the new world received the name of America is a striking example of what publicity will accomplish. Amerigo Vespucci, a highly educated Florentine, was head of a business house in Seville, Spain, probably as agent for the great trading firm of the Medici, and helped to fit out one of the expeditions with which Columbus sailed. When the latter's monopoly was revoked, Vespucci undertook several voyages of exploration on his own account, during which he claimed in many letters to have been the first to reach the mainland of the new continent, giving the date as June 10, 1497.

On April 25, 1507, the learned heads of the University of St. Die, in Lorraine, decided, incorrectly, that he was entitled to the honor of discovery, Columbus having only reached the islands of the West Indies, and that the western hemisphere should bear his name. The name America was, therefore, first used in the book "Cosmographie Introdution," by Martin Waldseemuller, professor of cosmography at the university.

It has since been shown that Vespucci was preceded by both Columbus and John Cabot, but it was too late, the new world had been christened America and the fact advertised in print. The house where the meeting was held at which the classical error was made was still standing at St. Die at the outbreak of the war, and was annually visited by many tourists from both North and South America.

POI HAWAIIAN NATIONAL DISH

Is Being Introduced into the United States and is Said to Be Meeting in Favor.

Hawaii is making a food-saving contribution in the shape of poi, its national dish made from the bulb of the taro plant. Until 20 years ago poi was made under primitive conditions, the bulbs being peeled, boiled and pounded in a wooden trencher until a semi-liquid paste was formed. But today modern sanitary machinery is used to manufacture the product, under supervision of health authorities in the island, and five factories at Hilo now turn out several tons daily.

This new form of poi is being sent to the United States, reaching markets as far away as New York city, and a demand which began with the Save Sugar, Children!

A Penny Here means a Bun Over there

Volunteers who had come to the United States is generally being extended to Americans who have learned to like the fish.

But is frequently used in Hawaiian hospitals in the diet of patients whose stomachs are too weak to digest other food, and the war interest in substitute foods is expected to lead to its wider introduction elsewhere.

No Lazy Man's Place.

If you say "The Bird of Paradise" and then listened to some folk talk you may be under the impression Hawaii is a land where Americans go and just naturally forget how to work, lie down beneath a shady, spreading tree and listen to the thrum of the Hawaiian guitars until they're lulled into a sleep from which they seldom are aroused. "That stuff" said S. S. Paxson of Honolulu, "is all right, but it's for story books and comic operas. I went to Honolulu 13 years ago from Philadelphia, became president of the Rotary club, a member of the legislature and head of the largest automobile concern in Honolulu. When I came back to the United States I don't find any of my old companions are staying up any later at night than I do or traveling faster than I do. Don't let any one put that 'go-to-sleep-and-never-wake-up' idea into your head. Hawaii is not a lazy man's country, by any means."

Would Save Sea Loss.

New York steamship underwriters and government officials have authorized official tests of a new invention which, it is claimed by its designers, will save property valued at thousands of dollars in the event of the sinking of vessels. It is called a pneumatic safe and is said to float on the water, though of steel construction. It is impervious to fire and theft as other safes. The device is said to weigh three tons. As evidence of his faith in the success of the invention the man who constructed it will lock himself inside when the safe is lowered overboard. In case the invention bears out what is claimed for it it will be adopted for use on American oceangoing vessels.

Britain's "Baby Army."

When the British troops reached Italy they were nicknamed "The Baby Army." The Italians were so surprised at the smart appearance of the newcomers—differing so materially as it did from the picture presented by the home troops when they passed—that, in the belief that they had come straight from England, they were called "The Baby Army," as a matter of fact the British soldiers were worn veterans from the Ypres salient.

Luxury Market Hard Hit.

"Don't try to sell luxuries in New Zealand." This is the advice United States Consul General Winslow gives American merchants in a commerce report.

No, New Zealand is not pinched for money. Its wallet is well filled. "There is no particular necessity for retrenchment," as the consul puts it, but the public is opposed to the purchase of luxuries, especially luxuries that have to be imported, thereby using tonnage needed to head off the U-bonds.

Trinidad, too, and the whole of the British West Indies, is abstaining from use of imported goods. This has caused the population to change its whole menu, for many foodstuffs were formerly imported. Now the people eat home-grown plants that only the antiquaries ate before. They like the new diet so well they say they will never again import any staple food except cornmeal.

Marksmanship and Muscles.

Marksmanship with the rifle is not so much a matter of keenness of sight as of muscular steadiness. Arthur L. Gates of Teachers' college, New York, describes in the Journal of Applied Psychology some tests made by him which prove that the most accurate marksmen are those whose muscular control is so perfect that slight distractions, subjective anxiety and auto-suggestion do not disturb it.

TULSA REUNION OLD CONFEDERATES

COMMITTEE PREPARES TO ENTERTAIN ONE OF LARGEST REUNION CROWDS

DATES ARE SEPTEMBER 24-27

Committee Busy With Organization Work and Large Fund Secured to Defray Expenses of Big Meeting.

Tulsa, Okla., August—The Confederate veterans, Sons of Confederate Veterans, and the Southern Confederate Memorial Association, hold their annual reunion this year at Tulsa, the first time the reunion has been held in Oklahoma as the state in which to meet. The dates of the reunion are September 24-27 inclusive. Ticket rates of one cent a mile each way from all parts of the country, have been granted by Director-General McAdoo of the railway administration. Tickets will be placed on sale about September 19, good for return passage until October 31.

These rates will apply to all members of the associations named above and to members of their families. Tickets are to be purchased on the signed certificate of department, state and camp commanders and adjutants. The certificates were supplied to the reunion committee by the railway authorities at Washington, and the committee sends them to the offices of the various Confederate organizations throughout the country to be used in securing the low rates for all entitled to them. No ticket can be purchased unless the certificate is shown to the ticket agent. It is, therefore, important that all who intend coming to the Tulsa reunion provide themselves at once with the necessary certificate, by applying to commanders and adjutants.

The Tulsa reunion promises to be one of the most successful meetings the old Confederates and their families and friends have ever enjoyed. A fund of $100,000 has been provided by the people of Tulsa to entertain the reunion. W. Tate Brady is chairman of the general committee and

"Y" MAKES BETTER SOLDIERS

Colonel Wheeler says that he'd rather have 900 army men with a "Y" than a thousand men with none. Pershing endorses the conclusion. These men are speaking of the relation of the "Y" to the morale. Wheeler says the "Y" makes "better fighters." It's not hard to understand for anyone who has had experience with Y. M. C. A. activities. When the writer was an undersized youth, someone gave him an annual membership in the "Y". He might never have joined had it not been for the gift, for his salary was just about what the soldier-boy's is today, and he thought the Y. M. C. A. was something religious. It was, and is, but not as he thought. In perhaps ten years of daily "Y" activities, he hardly ever heard the word "religion" mentioned. Certainly no offerer than in the office where he worked, for example. The religion of the "Y" is the religion of service. It aims to give the youth of the race what they need, whatever that may be. This youth needed physical training and he got in the gym. Muscularly, he was timid and backward for it so happened he had never roughed it much with other boys and he didn't know himself. He never would have made an athlete, but he was soon able to take care of himself with the gloves, in physical games, etc., and of course he gained in health and strength, which has stayed with him always. He wanted something mental, too, and he got the chance to study shorthand, German, business arithmetic, public speaking and even a little Greek and music. Maybe he learned little, but he got the mental exercise. Above all, he made friendships which have lasted. Some of his most intimate friends he first met at the "Y". Such a personal experience is common, but most of us don't stop to sum it up and to give credit. What the "Y" did for the writer is doing for the soldier-boys of the cantonments here, in its adaptable way. Again, it is giving them what they need. Instead of physical training, of which they got in the cantonment, they get in the "Y" an education that will make them of use to the world. It is not only a matter of better morale and better military training, but it is a matter of better citizenship. Whenever you have had a chance to help the "Y" work in the camps here or abroad, don't shrink and don't shrink. The "Y" is worthy of all you can do for it.

WHY NOT "WORK OR FIGHT" FOR WOMEN?

Protest Marshal General Crowder has said to the men of the United States, "Go to work, go to war, or go to jail." But what of the women? Why shouldn't the women go to war work, or to jail? Hundreds of women have already answered the call to service, but the patriotic organizations are calling

FOOD ADMINISTRATION

In order to meet the demands for dairy foods during the approaching winter, the United States Food Administration has pointed out that southern farmers should greatly increase their acreage of cover crops and winter pasturage. By so doing the farmer will assist in conserving the mills feeds and coarse grains. Braxton Beacham, Federal Food Administrator of Florida gives indorsement to this movement, not only through his efforts to assist in those things indorsed by the Food Administration, but because of his practical knowledge of live stock. Bearing out the idea of greater pasturage of live stock in Florida during the winter, Mr. Beacham issues the following statement:

"All well informed persons, who have discussed the problems of raising live stock in Florida, hammer incessantly on the needs of a greater and better pasturage. The present time should develop this movement more than has been done in past years, because of the short supply of mill feeds, and the greater demands on the United States for furnishing these feeds. The northern states during the winter months must depend on the mill feeds, but here in Florida, where we are blessed with such a temperate climate, we can carry much of our stock on pasturage, or on open range, during the winter season.

"I greatly indorse what has been said by Federal Food Administrator John M. Parker, of Louisiana, who sums up the situation, as follows: 'With the lessening of man power both for planting and harvesting crops, the small grains can be used to great advantage where heretofore the planting has been extremely limited. Wheat, oats, rye, vetch, and the clovers planted in most of the southern states at any time before the middle of November, will start a vigorous growth and will not winter-kill except in very extreme weather.

On properly cultivated fields, these grains and legumes will afford not only rich and nutritious pasture all the winter, but in the spring will make reasonable grain returns as the grazing does not seriously effect productivity. A vigorous campaign along these lines will be an indestimable benefit in conserving these food products so vitally needed. This southern effort when carried out in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture and demonstration agents, will bring about great relief and great saving.

"Of course the Florida farm people has plans to meet his local conditions and the opportunities for increasing his production. The Federal Food Administration is not only willing to help, but will aid in the winter struggle across the water."

CHANGES FROM THE TEMPLE

Next Sunday is Promotion Day at the Sunday School, we want every member to be present.

On last Wednesday evening a new department was organized in the Sunday School to be known as "The Army and Navy Department" in which it is to be enrolled the names of our members who are in active service, and the Supt. of this Department will keep in active touch with every member thus enrolled.

Mr. E. V. Booth and family, who formerly resided in Sanford, passed through the city last week enroute from the East Coast to Java Grande where Mr. Booth has accepted employment.

Miss Maude Jenkins and mother are spending their vacation at Walland, Tenn.

Miss Mayme Steele is teaching the Second Grade Girls in the Junior Dept. while Miss Jenkins is absent.

Mrs. A. C. Williams and Miss Mamie Kate Williams have returned from a pleasant trip to Georgia.

Hon. R. L. Nutt, Tax Assessor of Lake County, passed through Sanford Wednesday, enroute home after attending the Seminole Baptist Association at New Smyrna.

Rev. M. H. Massey and Jno. D. Jenkins attended the Association as delegates from Sanford.

Hon. J. Elden Jagers is the principal and Mrs. Jacobs the assistant for this Lake Monroe School. They began teaching last Monday.

Letters have been issued to Mrs. Gallagher and Miss Margaret Gallagher to unite with the First Baptist Church of College Park, Atlanta, Ga. Edwin Millen and H. M. Jernigan are the latest recruits from our number to enter the service, they are Both of these young men were members of the Seminole County Guard, and the training they received here will be of great benefit to them. In the death of Mrs. Martha Bertleson last week we lost one who had been a member of this church since 1886, she having joined two years after it was organized. Her family has our deepest sympathy.

Miss Rosamond Radford, who was one of our high school graduates last term, has entered a Baptist school in Georgia for the coming term.

Miss Clara Millen, who has been Supt. of the Junior Dept. of our Sunday School since its organization, has tendered her resignation on account of having accepted a position in the Jacksonville schools as teacher. She has had remarkable success as a departmental superintendent, and has kept her department up to the very highest standard. As a small token of the esteem in which she is held the Sunday School presented Miss Millen with a very pretty little radio clock on the eve of her departure for her new home.

News has been received by the home folks that Leslie Hill has arrived safely overseas.

Mrs. Forrest E. Gatchel has been elected Supt. of the Junior Department of our Sunday School, a position which she will fill with credit. We learn with sadness of the death August 25th of Arthur Lossing from wounds received in action. He was a most excellent young man and one of our most enthusiastic workers in the Sunday School and in the church.

If all could fatten like these the entire drove would be ready for the market six weeks earlier and to save six weeks feed is an item that you fully understand. The hog that fattens easily must be in prime physical condition. The B. A. Thomas Hog Powder is a conditioner for hogs. It keeps their system clean and healthy and enables them to fatten quickly without falling a prey to the usual diseases of hogs. The B. A. Thomas Hog Powder is not stock food. It's straight medicine and we took the agency because it enables you to feed out your hogs much earlier. L. Allen Seed Co. 5-Fri-11c

Women Take Big Part.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 25.—Thirty thousand southern women will be actively at work next Saturday in the canvass for the Fourth Liberty Loan. It is estimated by Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, director of woman's work for the six states comprising the Sixth Reserve District. At the instance of the Men's organization, every county chairwoman's work will be a member of the men's county executive committee, and it is believed the fourth loan campaign will be marked by even better co-operation between the men and women than in former drives. The women will make the usual house-to-house canvass every day.

Woman's work in the Liberty Loan will be featured by exhibits in many hundreds of fall fairs, both state and county. Elaborately decorated booths have been planned, and it is expected many subscriptions will be taken from visitors, to the fairs. Women will play a prominent part in the many parades and pageants to be staged in connection with

Look! Kiddles! Circus is Coming

"Ringling Day" the big holiday for which young and old impatiently wait at this season of the year, promises to eclipse all other events on the calendar at Jacksonville, Monday, October 7th. Exhibitions will be given both afternoon and night. It would seem as though everybody in this locality were planning to attend.

Those who do will see many wonders. There will be the great street parade—more than three miles long this year—of odd of strange and remarkable odd animals in the gigantic Free-Continent Menagerie, and whole hours of sensations in the mammoth main tent. This season the Ringling Brothers are opening their program with a wonderful spectacle entitled "In Days of Old." More than 1200 actors take part in the great production, which tells the story of the days "when knight-hood was in flower." There is a ballet of 309 dancing girls and no end of other-striking features.

Following the spectacle will come a thousand arena sensations. There will be seventy riders, headed by May, Wirth, who somersaults from the back of one galloping horse to another; Lily Leitzel, the world's greatest aerial gymnast; Australian woodchoppers felling giant trees; Hillary Long, who leaps the gap on his head, and a world of other startling features. Eighty clowns will furnish fun and more trained animals and trick horses and elephants will appear than ever before.

Prizes For Best Acre. A plan has been worked out by the Farm Journal of Philadelphia, for the encouragement of maximum farm production throughout the United States in 1919.

That magazine purports to offer gold, silver and bronze medals—first, second and third prizes, respectively—to America's largest raisers of corn, cotton, wheat, potatoes, oats and alfalfa grown during the year. The first prize will carry with it the substantial sum of $1,000 in cash; the winner of the second in each instance will receive $500; the third will get with the medal $250.

As a first, second and third prize will be given for the largest average yield per acre of each of the above-named crops, the plan calls for the distribution of eighteen medals in all, accompanied by a total cash bonus of 10,500.

The plan is to make the rules as simple as possible. There will be no entry fee of any kind. The contestant will simply raise the winning crop and receive the medal and cash award. The only stipulation is that the crop be raised by himself.

For Rent. Two apartments over 10 Cent Store. Cool, nice rooms with front porch. Four rooms $15.00 per month. Eight rooms $30 per month. N. H. Garner. 1-1fc Services At Baptist Church. Next Sunday, Promotion Day exercises will be the feature at the First Baptist Church Sunday School beginning at 9:30 a. m. A new department to be known as the "Army and Navy Department" will be inaugurated.

The preaching services will be at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. In the morning service, the pastor's theme will be "The Mutual Abiding." In the evening "Proxy in Religion" will be discussed. Vital attention needs now to be given to some perilous tendencies of the present age. The B. Y. P. U. meets at 6:30 in the evening. Cheering music, a hearty welcome and a "Come Again" awaits you.

Who Is To Blame. If some persons are not interested in religion and avoid the church, what is the trouble? Where shall we place the responsibility? A great supper was once prepared, but those invited began to make excuses for refusal to attend. What weight is to be given the excuse? How am I treating the grace of God?

Another vital problem of our day is the utilization of resources. Sir E. Ray Lankaster says: "It is a matter of practical certainty that by the unstinted application of known methods of investigation and consequent controlling action, all

In connection with the meetings for the worship of God, these will be the subjects for thought at the Congregational church, morning and evening respectively. These are days when we all must wake up to the whole circle of truth and life. If not attending elsewhere you are invited to attend and share in these services.

Hilburn of the Methodist Church performed the ceremony in the presence of friends and relatives. The contracting parties are well known in Sanford where they have resided for several years. The groom is the proprietor of the Bell restaurant and their many friends extend best wishes and long life of happiness.

INJURY BY RODENTS

Well Fed Rats Breed Often and Have Very Large Litters.

INJURE PRODUCE IN STORES

Not Only Foodstuffs and Forage, but Textiles, Clothing and Leather Goods Are Often Ruined—Cut Off Food Supply.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The effect of an abundance of food on the breeding of rodents should be kept in mind. Well-fed rats mature quickly, breed often, and have large litters. Poorly fed rats, on the contrary, reproduce less frequently and have smaller litters. In addition, scarcity of food makes measures for destroying the animals far more effective.

Merchandising in Stores.—In all parts of the country there is a serious economic drain in the destruction by rats and mice of merchandise held for sale by dealers. Not only foodstuffs and forage, but textiles, clothing, and leather goods are often ruined. This loss is due mainly to the faulty buildings in which the stores are kept. Often it would be a measure of economy to tear down the old structures and replace them by new ones. However, even the old buildings may often be repaired so as to make them practically rat-proof; and foodstuffs, an flour, seeds, and meats, may always be protected in wire cages at slight expense. The public should be protected from insanitary stores by a system of rigid inspection.

Household Supplies.—Similar care should be exercised in the home to protect household supplies from mice and rats. Little progress in ridding the premises of these animals can be made so long as they have access to supplies of food. Cellars, kitchens, and pantries often furnish subsistence not only to rats that inhabit the be utilized or promptly destroyed by fire.

Rats find abundant food in country slaughterhouses; reform in the management of these is badly needed. Such places are centers of rat propagation. It is a common practice to leave offal of slaughtered animals to be eaten by rats and swine, and this is the chief means of perpetuating the infestation. The law should require that offal be promptly cremated or otherwise disposed of. Country slaughterhouses should be as cleanly and as constantly inspected as abattoirs.

Another important source of rat food is found in remnants of lunches left by employees in factories, stores and public buildings. This food, which alone is sufficient to attract and sustain a small army of rats, is commonly left in waste baskets or other open receptacles. Strictly enforced rules requiring all remnants of food to be deposited in covered metal vessels would make trapping far more effective.

Military training camps, unless subjected to rigid discipline in the matter of disposal of garbage and waste, soon become centers of rat infestation. Waste from camps, deposited in covered metal cans and collected daily, should be removed far from the camp itself and either burned or utilized in approved modern ways.

GIVE FEED ANIMALS RELISH

White Preference for Certain Food Is Formed by Habit, It Is Better to Cater to It.

Animals are much like human beings in that they have their own individual preference for certain foods. While this preference is formed by habit, to get the best returns with the feeds, it is best generally to cater to the animal's appetite. Some horses will not do well with certain feeds in the ration. Others do not especially care for oats, but require corn, some require more hay than others, some must have ground feeds. To get the best results such animals should be humored.

Our problem in feeding is to watch the animals and see that they get the feeds they require and no more. Feed

LESSONS FOR THE Home Embroiderer

Specially prepared for this Newspaper by Pictorial Review.

The Way of a Dress Trimmed With Braid.

By KATHRYN MUTTERER.
Take a simple tunic and treat it to a border of braid and you transform an unpretentious model into a creation. Trimmings of braid were used in a very little while. In fact, in these days of great demands upon one's time, one has little time to apply soutache braid by hand. If one prefers the later method, however, it should be sewed in place with small running stitches taken through the center of the braid, with an occasional back stitch.

Another method is to whip down the braid along one edge, to make it stand out. It is not necessary to base the braid in place, but the never so beautiful as they are this season and the idea of combining with them bold embroidery designs gives them added elegance. The border on the tunic of the costume illustrated is by no means difficult to apply and the needlewoman acquainted with the machine can stitch on the needlewoman must be cautious not to draw it too tightly in rounding curves and turning corners, neither must it be left so loose that the braid lies in loops.

The leaves in the center of the motif are worked in gold embroidery with heavy rope silk and stand out effectively. If preferred, they may be done in gold or silver threads. The center vein and outer edge of the leaf may be executed in outline stitch. The large motif requires 4 1/2 yards of braid and the small motif 2 yards. The pattern gives 2 1/2 yards of 7-inch braiding and embroidery border for trimming girdles, skirts, and costumes.

The trimming is used on a costume of dark crepe Georgette, built over a foundation of tulle. The decorative piece skirt is side-plaited, and the tunic blouse has an applied yoke of self-material, outlined with a silk cord. The collar is also trimmed with braid.

Pictorial Review Transfer Pattern No. 12427, blue or yellow, 16 cents, gives 3 1/2 yards of 7-inch braiding, and two motifs. Costume No. 7537, 25 cents. Six sizes, 34 to 44 bust. Pictorial Review Patterns on sale at local agents.

Designed to Conserve Wool.

JACKET 7566 SKIRT 7400

A tailor that saves both wool and material in this design in dark brown jersey and silk. The three-piece skirt is in suspender effect.

Although designed upon lines to save wool as well as material, there is an unpleasant suggestion of scantiness about this youthful tailor. Dark brown jersey is utilized for its development, with heavy silk for the trimming of the jacket. The fronts are rolled back and finished with a large collar. The back is in two sections, the lower section gathered to the upper. The side panels fall in points at either side of the front, giving novelty to the straight line of the jacket. In medium size the model requires 4 1/2 yards 54-inch material.

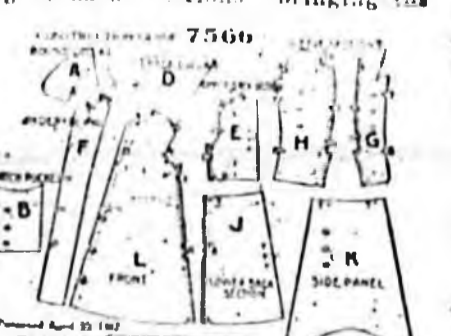

The plait in the upper back section may be formed by creasing on slot perforations, bringing the folded edge to correspondingly small "o" perforations and stretching 1/4 inch.

Why He Would Not Build.
It is in a Jewish legend that Methuselah declined at the age of six hundred or so to go to the trouble of building a house because the Lord answered his question as to how much longer he had to live, and the patriarch decided that three hundred years was too short a time to warrant him in making the exertion. Undoubtedly Methuselah preferred his tent and was ready to grasp at any excuse for sticking to it.

from folded edge. Gather upper edge of lower back section between "T" perforations, sew to lower edge of upper back section, with center-back and side edges even. Close under-arm and shoulder seams as notched. Adjust under-facing underneath with notches, and corresponding edges even. Line of single small "o" perforations indicates center-front of jacket.

Next, line and sew the collar to neck edge of back, and to the front, with notches and single large "O" perforations. Adjust under-facing with side panels, plait under edge, placing "T" on corresponding small "o" perforations and tack. Face the lower edge with a band to the line of small "o" perforations. Adjust panel on jacket with upper edge along the crossing of small "o" perforations in front and along the joining of back sections, bringing the back edge of panel to large "O" perforation in upper back section. Front of panel indicated by large "O" perforations.

To make the sleeve, close seams as notched, easing any fullness between notches at elbow; leave extensions free. Turn extension under on slot perforations, lap to small "o" perforations and finish for closing. Turn hem at lower edge on small "o" perforations. Sew sleeve in armhole as notched with small "o" perforation at shoulder seam easing in any fullness at top between seams, or the fullness may be shrunk out. Hold the sleeve toward you when basting it in armhole.

Adjust the belt on the coat for a finish, or a separate belt may be used. The skirt is a three-pleat model with a jumper attached.

Origin of "Algeron."
The name Algeron was originally "als Gernon," and was first applied to one of the crusading Perceys. His name was William, but his fellow knights called him William als Gernon or Gernon, meaning William with the Whiskers, or just Whiskers, for short. As Algeron the name has persisted in the family to the present time, and the tenth duke of Northumberland, who died recently, was Algeron Percy.

CAGE TRAP WITH SPLENDID CATCH OF RATS.

dwelling, but to many that come from outside. Food supplies may always be kept from rats and mice if placed in insect-proof containers covered with wire netting. Sometimes all that is needed to prevent serious part of the loss.

Produce in Trains.—Much of the fruit, vegetables, and other produce comes in transit by rail and on ships. Most of the damage is done at wharves and in railway stations, but there is also considerable loss in ships' holds, especially to perishable produce brought from warm latitudes. Much of this may be prevented by the use of rat-proof covers at the docks by the carrier. The fumigation of loading vessels at the end of each voyage and by the frequent fumigation of vessels in coastwise trade, but still more by repainting old and derelict wharves and station platforms with modern ones built of concrete.

Where cargoes are being loaded or unloaded at wharves or depots, food liable to attack by rats may be temporarily safeguarded by being placed in rat-proof cages, or pounds, constructed of wire netting. Wooden boxes containing reserve food held in depots for a considerable time or intended for shipment by sea may be made rat-proof by light coverings of metal along the angles. This plan has long been in use to protect animal stores on ships and in warehouses. It is based on the fact that rats do not gnaw the plane surface of hard materials, but attack doors, furniture and boxes at the angles only.

Packing Houses.—Packing houses and abattoirs are often sources from which rats secure subsistence, especially where meats are prepared for market in old buildings. In old-style cooling rooms with double walls of wood and sawdust insulation, always a source of annoyance because of rat infestation, the utmost vigilance is required to prevent serious loss of meat products. On the other hand, packing houses with modern construction and sanitary devices have no trouble from rats or mice.

Garbage and Waste.—Since much of the food of rats consists of garbage and other waste materials, it is not enough to bar the animals from markets, granaries, warehouses and private food stores. Garbage and offal of all kinds must be so disposed of that rats cannot obtain them.

In cities and towns an efficient system of garbage collection and disposal should be established by ordinance. Waste from markets, hotels, cafes and households should be collected in covered metal receptacles and frequently emptied. Garbage should never be dumped in or near towns, but should left in the trough or scattered on the ground out of reach of animals does not produce.

WINTER TASKS FOR FARMER

Among Other Things to Do During Cold Weather Season Is to Form Co-operative Clubs.

Paint, prime and spray home for boards.

Form co-operative clubs for purchasing and selling all farm supplies and products.

Clear your pasture of all rubbish, etc., repair the fences and make preparation for sodding them to Bermuda or other grasses next spring.

Purchase commercial fertilizers co-operatively, and pay for them in cash if possible.

Remove all stumps, terrace your land and clean out all ditches.

Winter plow your land when in condition.

Make compost and top dress grain with stable manure.

Repair and paint implements and machinery.

Clean and spray poultry and hog houses.

Mate poultry and set eggs for production of pullets for fall laying.

Use the spill-log drag on your roads. Get your neighbor to do the same.

DRY FEED INSTEAD OF SLOP
Doesn't Freeze Up to Insult Appetite of Hog in Winter—Germs and Odors Are Avoided.

The farmer, whose pigs have lost their avidity for slop should try feeding the slopstuff dry. Many a time pigs may be found fastidiously nosing through thick slop, when if dry middlings be placed in a trough hard by they will devour it in fierce competition. Some men like milk toast, and some men don't like milk toast; that is the way with pigs. Try raising a bunch of pigs on dry middlings instead of slop, and the chances are that the pigs will demonstrate the success of the experiment. Germs and odors don't accumulate around a trough in which dry feed is provided; dry feed doesn't freeze up to insult the appetite of a hog. Like slop may do in winter.

Keep Well

Do not allow the poisons of undigested food to accumulate in your bowels, where they are absorbed into your system. Indigestion, constipation, headache, bad blood, and numerous other troubles are bound to follow. Keep your system clean, as thousands of others do, by taking an occasional dose of the old, reliable, vegetable, family liver medicine.

Thedford's Black-Draught

Mrs. W. F. Pickle, of Rising Fawn, Ga., writes: "We have used Thedford's Black-Draught as a family medicine. My mother-in-law could not take calomel as it seemed too strong for her, so she used Black-Draught as a mild laxative and liver regulator. We use it in the family and believe it is the best medicine for the liver made." Try it. Insist on the genuine—Thedford's. 25c a package. E-75

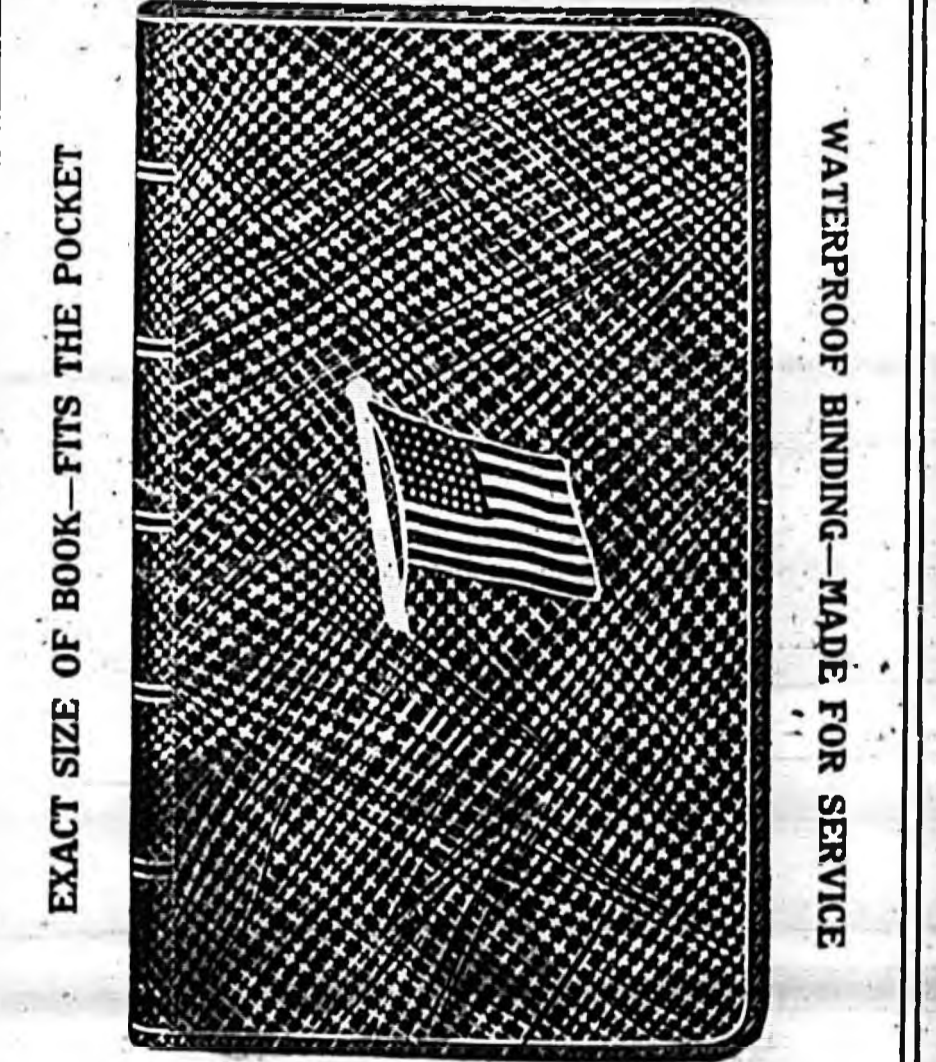

Clears the Head.
Many colds in the head are relieved, particularly that heavy, dull feeling, when breathing through the nose is impossible, by employing as a throat and nasal douche half a teaspoonful of baking soda to a glass of warm water. Fill the passages with as much of the liquid as possible, thus giving the passages a thorough cleansing, while breathing through the nose is possible.

IT BETTERS THE TIRE

Seems like a broad statement and salesman for new tires may dispute it, but it's a fact that good vulcanizing as we do it improves a good tire 100 per cent. It adds resiliency, durability, and toughness to the shoe and you save a lot of money over the cost of a new casing. Try our may!

Preacher Serving in Y. M. C. A. "Hut" in Training Camp Finds His Duties Many and Varied.

If there is a notion that Y. M. C. A. work in the camps consists in selling stamps and handing out pocket testaments, let it be dispelled at once. One preacher, serving in a hut in a New Jersey camp, reports that he has done almost everything under the sun except preach.

He has built fires, swept floors, looked after hundreds of packages of laundry, umpired basketball games, organized a glee club, stage-managed a circus, sold ice cream at the canteen, and back three times a week to provide salad cream. He has written letters home for boys who could not write, and he has taught those same boys their first lessons in the English language.

Perhaps oddest of his many tasks was one that came his way on a wild and stormy night in April, when the master of arms at the military station entered the "Y" but after taps, carrying a red box under his arm. "Say," said the master of arms, "we've got a lot of T. N. T. mines stored at this station. Here's the detonators. In this box. There's considerable lightning around, and it isn't safe to leave these things close to the lines. Would you just as soon take care of the box over night?"

LEARNING WHITE MAN'S WAYS

Eskimos Said to Be Making Gratifying Progress as a Result of Missionaries' Teachings.

On Herschel Island, where the sun shines continuously for eight weeks in summer, the Eskimos had a sun dance, not always clothed in the garments of propriety, a writer in an exchange says. They had an idea that when the sun came back its movements were directed by an invisible power, but they had no tangible conception of a God. They had no belief in a future life, either of reward or punishment. Today they are religious, truthful, kind to their children and to the aged. They are anxious to learn; they are practical, extremely industrious, and in their habits, well clothed and well housed. Insanity is unknown, but tuberculosis is common.

They while in summer and trap in winter. They are clever in trading, good workers on land, water and ice, and take excellent care of their household effects. Tools, if broken, are neatly repaired. When on Herschel Island or at Fort McPherson, they eat the white man's food with great relish. In summer they eat their fish and blubber raw and in winter frozen. They like food cooked, but it is a matter of indifference to them. They will barter for the white man's food, eat a hearty meal of it, and then go out and eat blubber and raw fish as dessert. The contents of a deer's stomach they consider a great delicacy.

Sugar 12 to 15 Cents a Pound. In these days of tribulation, when everything rises but father's wages, we all very constantly bemoan the high cost of living. But this, observes Popular Science Monthly, is not the first and only time that prices have been high. During the Civil war wages ran from $1.12 a day for laborers to $2 a day for skilled workmen. This, however, did not prevent a shave from costing 10 cents or a haircut 20 cents. Hotel rates were $1.50 to $2 a day.

War Prisoners to Form Club. A dozen British prisoners of war who had escaped from Germany met at a dinner recently given in London to celebrate their escape. At this dinner it was decided to form a club, membership of which was to be confined to those who have succeeded in making their way out of a prisoners' camp of internment camp in Germany. The site of the club premises has not yet been settled, but the club will certainly be the most novel thing of its kind in London.

Many Lambs Killed by Battlers. Battlers, always plentiful in parts of Washington state, are this year more numerous than in any previous season. Sheepmen are forcibly reminded of the fact by the loss of lambs. Older sheep know the menace in the tattoo of the rattlesnake, and will change their course at the sound, but the lambs are often bitten. There is nothing that can be done for the relief of a lamb which has been bitten. It dies in a little while.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Slightly Nervous. Flanagan, a brand new soldier, was placed on guard one dark night. Fulling to see another soldier approaching until he was almost beside him, Flanagan nearly jumped out of his skin but managed to quaver: "Who goes there?" On being told the fellow's name, and finding out for sure that he wasn't going to be killed right away, says Flanagan, regarding his courage: "Advance then and give the password."

Grasses and Clovers on Properly Managed Farm Will Double Crops Now Being Secured.

Grass and live stock should go hand in hand. There is no farm which, if properly managed and kept at least one-half of the time in grass and clover, will not gradually bring under a proper system of rotation, would not produce more, in fact, double the crops which it now does, and yet constantly be growing better and better.
