BRIEFS

Excessive force verdict given

U.S. District Court Judge Kendall Sharp has reportedly ruled that two Seminole County Deputy Sheriffs did not use excessive force during the arrest of a bank robbery suspect in March, 1990.

The verdict was announced this morning by sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough. He reported, "Sharp issued his ruling yesterday at the conclusion of a trial in Orlando Federal Court. The incident occurred in March, 1990, when two gunmen robbed the SunBank near Longwood."

McDonough continued, "One gunman committed suicide after the robbery. The second, Graham Dobson, was arrested. He has since been convicted and is serving a 25 year sentence in federal prison."

Deputy Tom Johnson was shot and wounded during the robbery. McDonough said he has since recovered and is presently a sergeant in the sheriff's office patrol division.

No belts, helmets, cost states $

WASHINGTON — Millions of dollars in federal highway construction money is being switched to highway safety programs in states that haven't adopted both seat belt and motorcycle helmet laws.

The Transportation Department said Tuesday that $54 million in 1995 funds for 28 states will be affected by the decision.

Under the law, 1.5 percent of federal highway funds are switched from construction to safety programs in states that failed to adopt both seat belt and helmet laws by last Oct. 1.

Officer's traits may affect outcome of violent disputes

By NICK PFEIFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

A new study reports reaction to law enforcement handling of violent domestic disputes often depends on the age, sex or color of the officer.

The information was released in a University of Florida study. Most of the facts gathered in the study however, were from large municipalities which have specially trained personnel for domestic violence calls.

Others, such as the Sanford and Lake Mary police departments, do not call on specific individuals. Most smaller cities say personnel and budgetary restrictions prevent the assignment of any specific individual for such cases.

"When we get a call," said Sanford's Deputy Police Chief Joe Dillard, "whoever is assigned to that zone of the city, at that particular time, goes to the scene and handles the case. We don't have anyone specially assigned to domestic violence situations."

Deputy Doris Hundley, is an investigator with the Seminole County Sheriff's department. She has been helping train deputies in handling of domestic violence cases.

"I wouldn't say age or sex is any major problem," she said. "I can think of one time, many years ago, when there was a problem in a case I was covering, where a father had reportedly beaten his daughter, and the father objected to having a female officer involved, but

County to gain judge

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — After three years of trying and a little help from a state senator, Seminole County is getting another county court judge.

The election of a new county court judge in September will bring the total number of county court judges to five. The judgeship created by the legislature with the appropriation of an $82,000 salary is the first local county judge post since 1985.

Administrative County Court Judge Fredric Hitt said a new judge is needed to help handle the growing number of civil, criminal and traffic cases filed in county court.

There has been an ever increasing number of county court cases since 1985 when there were about 74,000 cases on the dockets. By 1992, the case load had ballooned to 104,000 cases filed annually. Each county court judge's case load is about 26,000 cases.

"We are the second fastest growing county in the state," Hitt noted, "and we don't get a new county judge for ten years. It was long overdue."

Ordinarily, the state Supreme Court certifies to the legislature how many judges it wants. If a LAKE MARY — Proposals for sign regulations are being discussed throughout the county these days. A number of government bodies are considering the matter.

Tomorrow night, the Lake Mary City Commission will hold a joint meeting with the Board of County Commissioners at Lake Mary City Hall.

City Manager John Litton had previously contacted County Manager Ron Rabun, asking for the joint meeting to be set up. In early April, Mayor Lowry Rockett sent a letter to County Commission Chairman Dick Van Der Weide explaining what was discussed during a city Strategic Planning Session, including sign proposals.

"It was the consensus of our City Commission," Rockett wrote, "that a meeting of the two elected bodies would be beneficial so that we may sit down and address items which are of mutual interest, and in some cases, concern."

In addition to enforcement of sign regulations, Rockett also listed other topics which may be discussed including possible annexation, right-of-way maintenance and drainage problems of county roadways in our city.

The Lake Mary joint meeting with the county is scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday evening, prior to the beginning of the regular commission meeting at 7 p.m.

This evening, the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County (known as CALNO), will also be SANFORD — While local community service organizations did not walk away with any of the top honors from the Walt Disney World Community Service Awards that were presented yesterday in Lake Buena Vista, several Seminole County groups did earn honors and money for their work.

The awards are presented annually to non-profit organizations which offer community programs that help promote civic, environmental, educational and other improvements.

Top honors and $50,000 in cash went to the Second Harvest Food Bank which collects and delivers food to those in central Florida who might otherwise go hungry. In 1993, the organization distributed 5.5 million pounds of food in central Florida.

Two Judges Awards of $25,000 each went to Frontline Outreach Inc. and Habitat for Humanity of Greater Orlando.

Special Judges Awards which were worth $7,500 each were presented to eight organizations including the Boys and Girls Clubs of Central Florida which serves Seminole County through the West Sanford Boys and Girls Clubs, the Midway Boys and Girls Club and the Winwood Boys and Girls Club; and Habitat for Humanity in Seminole County which has built more than a half dozen homes for residents in need in Seminole County.

The remaining 56 awards ($2,500 each) included several Seminole County organizations that were selected from the more than 400 organizations that were nominated for awards.

The Grove Counseling Center, which serves Seminole County with a variety of services, won in the category of Social Community

Camp 16491 of The Modern Woodmen of America, a fraternal life insurance society, recently held a fundraiser in cooperation with the Sanford WalMart to raise money to help out 5-year-old Bethany See of Sanford. The little girl, confined to a wheelchair, needed a special lift so that her family could more easily get her into the family van. The fundraiser brought in $2,766 that will be used to pay for the lift. Yesterday, a check was presented to the family. From left: Richard King, district manager of the Modern Woodmen of America and Donald E. PENSACOLA — Pat McCrary was a 19-year-old Marine lance corporal when he was wounded during an enemy ambush 26 years ago in a Vietnamese cemetery. One Marine beside him was killed instantly but another was still alive although hit nine times as McCrary stuck by his side, fending off Viet Cong attackers. McCrary was shot in the right shoulder, but his injury was patched in the field and he rejoined his unit. He never bothered to pursue a Purple Heart, awarded to troops wounded in combat, although he knew his injury had been documented in his service record. He forgot about it until he recently saw a car with a Purple Heart license tag. Monday, a Marine Corps officer pinned the medal on McCrary in a ceremony at The Wall South, a half-size replica here of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial.

Second Dade jail escapee surrenders

MIAMI — Saying he was tired of being on the run, the second of two Dade Correctional Institution escapees surrendered early today, authorities said. Gary Marshall Dirk, 32, turned himself in at Homestead Police Department, six days after his escape. Fellow escapee Steve Porkolab was caught Friday. Dirk, a convicted rapist, submerged himself in a pond the first afternoon of his escape, said Metro-Dade spokesman Juan DelCastillo. "Like in the movies, his mouth was sticking out of the water in order to breathe," DelCastillo said. Later, Dirk sneaked into a mobile home community and hid in a boat parked on a trailer, where he stayed until his surrender. He left only at night to panhandle for food and water, DelCastillo said. Dirk, who was serving life in prison plus 55 years for raping and robbing a victim, is now also charged with escape. Police arrested Porkolab, a convicted murderer, one day after the Thursday escape. The 32-year-old was nabbed after his father picked him up outside a South Dade bar. Porkolab was serving two life sentences for first-degree murder and attempted murder. The pair escaped from the prison's furniture-refinishing plant after overpowering a shop foreman. The escapees grabbed the foreman's gate keys and drove away in another supervisor's car.

Health & Safety Fair

Screenings, vendors, child services offered free to community

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Fifth Annual Health and Safety Fair will be held Friday, May 6, at the Sanford Civic Center. The day-long event is free of charge with many services to be provided. Main sponsor of the event is the City of Sanford. Co-sponsors are Columbia/HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. The theme of this year's event is "Start Today with a Safer and Healthier You." With the free screenings and other services being offered, there should be little question that participation would be beneficial to persons of all ages.

Health screenings will be offered for blood glucose, blood pressure, cholesterol, carpal tunnel, respiratory evaluations, pulmonary functions, spinal and body fat. For the children, there will be a great number of activities and demonstrations including a reptile display, Sparky the Fire Pup, talking ambulance, birds, face painting, Smokey Bear and Huga-Ling the panda. One of the additional features for the children will be free immunizations by the Seminole County Health Department. A record of the child's immunization history will be required to determine what each child is lacking, to bring them up to date on their shots. Various organizations will have demonstrations including the Batmobile, Canine Unit, driver extraction, holistic skin care, exercise equipment, self protection, and others. City of Sanford Benefits Technician June Strine estimated vendors will be on hand from at least eight different cities in the Central Florida area, with dozens of separate displays. Strine said eight Day Care Centers and a number of schools are planning to bus their students to the fair. The Fifth Annual Health and Safety Fair will be held from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., this Friday, May 6. The Sanford Civic Center is located at 401 E. Seminole Blvd., at the corner of N. Sanford Avenue.

Pensacola, Orlando getting defense accounting centers

By Associated Press

PENSACOLA — The placement of 750-employee defense accounting and finance offices in Orlando and Pensacola will soften the economic impact of base closure and force reduction. The two cities are among 20 sites the Defense Department selected Tuesday for such satellite offices around the country. No other Florida sites were selected. The Defense Department plans to consolidate 300 far-flung offices, which handle payroll and other accounting and finance functions, into the 20 satellite facilities and five existing regional centers. For Pensacola, it will mean expansion of an existing 300-employee office at the Pensacola Naval Air Station. It shares a building with some functions of a helicopter repair depot that will be closing next year, making that space available for the finance and accounting expansion. "The decision tells me that the Pentagon values the hard work and dedication of our community and our citizens," said U.S. Rep. Earl Hutto, D-Pensacola. "Pensacola has an ability to provide excellent customer service and a good labor supply, two important criteria used for this decision." The depot closure will mean the loss of nearly 3,000 high-paid civilian jobs in Pensacola. The Navy plans to move an aircraft maintenance school here from Tennessee next year that will

EVERGLADES NATIONAL PARK — An infrared satellite image of the endangered Everglades shows it all. Thin white lines signify 120 miles of canals that sliced up and drained for development about half of the 8,000 square miles of the Everglades' marshlands 80 years ago. Showing in red because the acreage reflects more heat than water are the hundreds of thousands of acres of farmland, mostly in sugar, that once made up part of the Everglades. Farther south, in what remains of the dwindling ecosystem, a pink bluish bloom in the 35-mile-wide expanse of water that moves southward into a bay at the tip of Florida. That bluish is plant-choking algae which environmentalists say is caused by agricultural runoff. Gov. Lawton Chiles on Tuesday signed into law a bill that aims to clean up and restore the Everglades. The law kills a 1987 federal suit that accused Florida of poisoning the Everglades National Forest at the southern end of the Everglades. But environmentalists say the solution it presents is actually a death warrant for America's biggest marshlands. The law permits the farmers to keep dumping polluted water into Florida's canals, swamps and marshlands as

Twister damages 200 mobile homes in Volusia County

By Associated Press

ORMOND BEACH — A tornado ripped through several mobile home parks, causing significant damage to some 200 homes and flattening a building where residents would have been if a meeting hadn't been canceled. No immediate injuries were reported in the Tuesday 6:35 p.m. EDT touch down in an area home to several mobile home parks, said dispatcher Cheryl Stettler with the Volusia Sheriff's Office. "Somebody up there must have been telling me something," Joe Fischer, vice president of the homeowners association at Holiday Village, said Tuesday. "I canceled the meeting this morning." "We were going to have it in the community building right over there," he said, pointing to the flattened building. The tornado cut a swath approximately 150 feet wide and 1,000 feet long, touching down in three areas, according to emergency workers and officials at the National Weather Service. It also touched down at the intersection of Interstate 95 and State Road 40, but there were no reports of major damage. "I saw the funnel cloud," sheriff's deputy Harland Fogel said. "Then I heard them on the radio say, 'Oh my God, here it comes.'" Pieces of aluminum siding, awnings, and roofs draped over trees and power lines like long, crinkled gum wrappers. The winds snapped limbs, uprooted trees and trunks and power lines. Soaked pieces of pink insulation and white plastic foam material lay in puddles. The Red Cross opened an emergency shelter at Sica Hall Community Center. Two school buses were ready to take homeless residents to the shelter, said Cindy Finney, spokeswoman Volusia County Emergency Management Office. She had no numbers on those left homeless. Blanche Ledorf, 72, who lives at Pinewood Trailer Park, said: "It's really a disaster around here, but thank God nobody got hurt." She said she heard the storm warnings and sought shelter in her bathroom. "I heard a rumbling because the great big tree between my trailer and my neighbor's went," Ms. Ledorf said.

Pinewood managers were cutting up the many downed trees. "But that's minor compared to life," Ms. Ledorf said. "That's all I'm grateful for." Shangri-La Mobile Home Village was pummeled for "a good five to 10 minutes," said Mike Crifasi, 35, a resident of Shangri-La Mobile Home Village. Tornado conditions in Volusia County arose from an unstable air mass coming in contact with warm temperatures, said Larry Lahiff, a meteorologist with the National Weather Service. "Afternoon heating was enough to set off some fairly strong thunderstorms," Lahiff said. "There was damage near Lake Okechobee. A porch roof was torn off in a thunderstorm." Weather officials issued severe thunderstorm warnings Tuesday afternoon for several areas in Central Florida, only to upgrade them as the day wore on. Indeed, nasty weather stretched across Florida and included hail and heavy rain, Lahiff said. In Tallahassee, authorities reported uprooted trees, broken power lines and minor street flooding. In South Florida, three-inch balls of hail fell in Lantana in Palm Beach County.

Teen arrested for attempted rape

SANFORD — An 18-year-old Sanford man was arrested by Sanford police Monday morning on charges he battered and attempted to rape a woman.
 Fedrick Devon Beasley, 18 Cowan Moughton Terr., Sanford, was taken into custody on charges of aggravated battery, attempted sexual battery and attempted kidnapping. The woman reported she was walking along 15th Street near Mulberry Avenue when Beasley grabbed her and told her she owed him $15. Beasley allegedly told her to "give it up" which she said she construed as a demand for sex. The woman said Beasley grabbed her by the neck and stabbed her in the chest, before dragging her into a nearby wooded area, the knife held to her side.

 The woman said Beasley stood over her and began punching and kicking her. A man walked by on a nearby sidewalk and she said she screamed for help, but the man did not stop. The woman said her attacker attempted to drag her to a nearby field and while she resisted, the passerby returned with two other men and Beasley fled.
 The woman identified Beasley from a photograph. Police report Beasley told them he confronted the woman because she owed him $15 from a drug sales transaction, but denied stabbing her or attempting to rape her, according to police reports.

Teen's lashing sentence reduced

By DENIS D. GRAY
Associated Press Writer

SINGAPORE — The American teen-ager convicted of vandalism will be lashed four times instead of six, but his father decried Singapore's refusal to spare him the "barbaric punishment."

Citing close relations with the United States, the government today reduced Michael Fay's sentence, noting that President Clinton had publicly commented on the case three times.

"To reject his appeal totally would show an unhelpful disregard for the president and the domestic pressures on him on this issue," a statement said.

It said the Cabinet had advised President Ong Teng Cheong to reduce the sentence, advice the president must act on according to law. The statement did not say when the painful strokes with a 4-foot rattan rod would be meted out.

Fay, 18, of Kettering, Ohio, is serving a four-month jail term for spray-painting cars and other acts of vandalism last October. Several other youthful expatriates were arrested and some face similar charges.

Fay's aim last hope to escape the lashing is to be declared medically unfit. A doctor will be present when the beating is administered.

In Ohio, Fay's father, George, said the reduced sentence "changes nothing, as far as I'm concerned. It is barbaric punishment for a crime not committed."

George Fay, an automotive supply company chief executive, said he would consider suing the Singaporean government then giving any money he wins to charity.

"Obviously, four strokes are better than six," the elder Fay said. "But it infuriates me that they are trying to defuse this issue by such a lame effort as to reduce this barbaric punishment by six strokes to four strokes."

Fay's American attorney, Theodore Simon of Philadelphia, described the four strokes as "torture, torture, torture and torture," and the case "a gross miscarriage of justice." Fay and Simon say the teen-ager's confession was coerced.

Fay has lived in Singapore since 1992 with his mother, Mrs. Randy Chan, and stepfather, Marco Chan.

The sentence reduction came as a surprise. Senior government officials have repeatedly said giving in to U.S. pressure on this case would undercut their authority.

Fay, a high school senior, pleaded guilty last month to two charges of vandalism, two of mischief and one of possessing stolen property. Three skin-splitting lashes of a rattan cane are mandatory upon conviction for each vandalism charge. Fay was also sentenced to four months in jail and paid a fine of $2,244.

"On the merits of the case, (the Cabinet) found no special circumstances to justify commuting the sentence of caning," the statement said. "The government cannot ... exempt him from all six strokes without undermining its ability to enforce future caning ordered by the Courts."

"However, the government values Singapore's good relations with the United States, and the constructive role of the United States in the region," the statement said.

It added that Singapore also appreciated Clinton's statement that American expatriates must honor their obligations and respect the laws of other nations.

"Therefore ... (the Cabinet) sought a way to accommodate President Clinton's appeal without compromising the principle that persons convicted of vandalism must be caned," the statement said.

The statement said the government would consider similar sentence reductions for eight others allegedly involved in the vandalism spree, including two other Americans, a Hong Kong youth, two Malaysians, a Thai, an Australian, and a Belgian.

The next pretrial hearing for American Stephen M. Frechill, 18, is scheduled for May 16, while an unidentified Australian skipped bail and the Thai enjoyed immunity because his father is a diplomat. No charges are believed pending against the Belgian.

Caning is usually carried out in the early days of a prison sentence, but in Fay's case it was delayed pending the outcome of the request for a pardon.

As of Thursday, Fay will have served five weeks and could get time off for good behavior. If he does, he could be released by June 21.

The maximum penalty for vandalism is three years in jail, a fine up to $1,282 and three to eight strokes.

SAN FRANCISCO — Doctors at a San Francisco hospital are undertaking the first U.S. study of the effectiveness of the French abortion drug RU-486 when used as a "morning after" pill.

The drug was designed to end a pregnancy once a woman is aware she is pregnant, up to seven weeks after conception.

RU-486 has been tested in England as a morning-after pill up to three days after sex. The California study will test its use up to five days afterward, and at a lower dose to reduce side effects such as disrupted menstrual cycles.

The experiment marks the first time in North America that RU-486 has been tested as an "emergency contraceptive," Dr. David Grimes, who will oversee the study at San Francisco General Hospital, said Tuesday.

Richard Glasow of the National Right-to-Life Committee in Washington said calling RU-486 an emergency contraceptive instead of an abortion pill is a smokescreen because the drug doesn't prevent conception, the union of egg and sperm.

But Grimes said medical opinion considers the beginning of a pregnancy to be the implantation of the fertilized egg in the uterus, which occurs about two weeks after conception.

"This pill prevents pregnancy. It does not interrupt it," he said.

A study of RU-486 as an abortion pill was conducted in Los Angeles in the late 1980s, and another such study will be conducted in Oregon and other sites by the U.S.-based Population Council.

RU-486 is not approved for general use in the United States and most other nations. Only France, Sweden, China and the United Kingdom allow public distribution of RU-486.

Currently in the United States, women who have unprotected sex and want to avoid pregnancy can take standard birth-control pills as a "morning after" pill, taking two pills within 24 hours after sex and two more 12 hours after that.

The Clinton administration has encouraged RU-486 research for purposes from contraception to treating cancer, said Food and Drug Administration spokesman Lawrence Bachorik in Washington.

The San Francisco trial will begin as soon as at least 150 volunteers are available, and should take a year, Grimes said. It is part of a 14-nation international study of 2,100 women organized by the World Health Organization.

Area filled with good people doing good works

Look at what has happened in the local area in just the past few days. It seems as though almost everyone is receiving some form of tribute.

County employees were honored during a gathering Friday night. The Longwood City Commission honored members of its various boards and committees last week. The Lake Mary City Commission honors different groups and individuals during almost every commission meeting.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce as well as others paid tribute to secretaries. Students are winning scholarships, and the RSVP gave out plaques to a number of volunteer workers.

Some of the largest honors were given out by officials at Disney World this Tuesday. Many Sanford, Lake Mary and Seminole County organizations received financial gifts and honors during the annual Community Service Awards breakfast.

Newcomers into the area may get some good opinions about our people. Appearances indicate everyone in Central Florida is an outstanding individual who volunteers to help others. They may also find our residents are mindful of those activities and give well-deserved thanks whenever possible.

What is heart-warming is ... this is true. We do have people who go way beyond what is required in order to help others. And even though there are many who receive honors for their efforts, there are hundreds of people who also work hard behind the scenes.

Some people work in the background. Others may have worked hard but ended up being number two in a fund-raising drive or some other competition.

We believe that everyone who gives of their time and talents to the benefit of others are winners. They all deserve our appreciation for a job well done.

For those who may not have been honored, as well as those who were, thank you. You helped make this a better place in which to live.

Thanks to voters

I would like to take this time to thank each and every citizen of Lake Mary for voting in the recent runoff election on April 19. The trust and confidence to elect me is deeply appreciated and will be the key factor in my decisions.

Many thanks to the Sanford Herald for the objective and fair analyses to which the Sanford Herald determined their endorsement. It is because of this high standard and fair objective reporting that I continue to subscribe to your paper.

Not only does a candidate take many hours away from the family to go door to door so the people can meet the candidate, the supporters and many of the volunteers also spend many hours to help the candidate. It is these people who help and make the candidate's work just a little easier. I would like to thank all citizens and special friends who encouraged me as they spent time working very hard. Thank you so very much. Your work and special attention to detail and follow-up is a key factor for which elections are decided.

The press and Nixon, Kennedy scandals

There has been much consternation about the shameful amount of press attention paid to scandal.

My view, like most goody-goody, has been that when the media goes into its firestorm mode, it distracts the public from serious matters. Like many Americans, I dutifully follow the feeding frenzies, but in principle I don't like it.

With the death of Richard Nixon, and the recent publication of Richard Reeves' book "President Kennedy," I'm beginning to rethink the matter.

I always thought that Watergate was essentially trivial, despite the big legal words that went with it ("obstruction of justice"). I never bought the garbage that beneath it all was Nasty Nixon seeking to subvert the Constitution.

I believed then that if Congress wanted to threaten impeachment of Nixon for the legalistic stuff, that was its right.

But consider William Safire's recent column about Nixon. Safire writes: "It was April 29, 1975, the day the capital of South Vietnam fell to the communists, and he (Nixon) took personal responsibility for the debacle." Nixon said this to Safire: "Terrible day for freedom, and all my fault... the fall of Saigon is the direct result of the way I messed up Watergate."

What Nixon said, in its way, reveals a situation far more impeachable than Watergate. After the Paris Peace Accords were signed, the North Vietnamese ignored the deal and began massing troops.

America was the functional guarantor of the accord. It was assumed that American bombers would retaliate if the North misbehaved. Nixon won in 1972 by a landslide. Under a full-strength president that guarantee could have meant something. But as Watergate grew, Nixon lost influence in Congress, with foreign governments, and with the public. In 1975, after Nixon's departure, the North Vietnamese regulars invaded.

I dutifully follow the feeding frenzies, but in principle I don't like it.

America did nothing; in fact, there was little to be done by then.

It gets more complicated. But the haunting question is this: If Nixon believed South Vietnam was falling because of his weakness on Watergate, should he have resigned earlier, in favor of a president who in 1973 and 1974 might have been able to act when the time came to honor our guarantee? Nixon stayed.

Later, South Vietnam fell to a harsh communist government. People were killed and sent to "re-education camps."

Would it have happened without Watergate? I don't know. What I do know is that a scandal had a massive effect on policy.

The case of John Kennedy is simpler, and we were much luckier. As president, he was a desperately ill man, taking mind-bending drugs.

Reeves reports: He (Kennedy) was regularly injected "with mixes of vitamins, pain-killers, human placenta and amphetamines." "He usually spent more than half of most days in bed." "He had persistent venereal disease... and a baffling range of allergies that sometimes laid him out."

That was the same John F. Kennedy who was described by a corps of tamed journalists as personifying "vigor."

Shelby may be ready to defect to GOP

WASHINGTON — Sen. Richard C. Shelby, D-Ala., has privately told key Republican officials he will leave the Democratic party and turn Republican if the GOP falls one vote shy of capturing the Senate in November's midterm elections.

According to sources who have spoken to the conservative Democrat, Shelby's switch rides on Republicans gaining six seats — an increasingly likely scenario amid a spate of Democratic retirements and the fact Democrats are defending 21 seats this year compared with the Republicans' 13.

Despite their 56-44 majority, Democrats fear that any Republican inroads this November will doom President Clinton's initiatives — including health care reform.

"He (Shelby) said, 'If you get six I'll be the seventh... one Republican official told us 'Shelby is a conservative first and a Democrat second. I think they (Democrats) abused him.'"

We get the sixth, Shelby will be the seventh." Based on his voting record, Shelby has always been something of a Republican in Democrat's clothing throughout his career in state and national politics. Shelby's most dramatic breaking of ranks occurred last year when he sided with Republicans on several key budget battles. So other senators wouldn't think they could cross the new president with impunity, the White House tried to make an example of Shelby. But the strategy backfired when Shelby's popularity back home soared. Republicans now hope to stoke Shelby's lingering resentments as well as his deep misgivings with what he sees as the left-leaning Clinton administration.

Shelby's chief of staff, Tom Young, did not comment directly on whether the senator has discussed switching parties with Republicans, but did note that Southern Democrats have been courted by Republicans since the 1970s. "He's going to keep working in the party," said Young. "He's happy in the Democratic party and he wants to move it to the center... where most Americans are. Most Americans are economic conservatives and they don't want the federal government running everything."

The Shelby scenario could become Bill Clinton's worst nightmare. Even if the GOP didn't win a numerical majority of the Senate, philosophical control would be enough to make good on a threat issued by Republican leaders last year: to slice the Clinton presidency in half by electing Republicans in midterm elections. One Republican lawmaker believes a three seat pick-up in the Senate "would have bought us victory on three or four more big issues in this Congress."

A strategist with the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee put it this way: "Is it possible to retain numerical control with a majority but lose political control? Yes, that's possible. They (the White House) understand how key it is."

"We don't have any votes to lose in the Senate," agrees one White House official. "The Senate is already somewhat difficult for us to put together enough votes to win... We're very realistic as to what can happen particularly in terms of the House and Senate. There are very real concerns about the numbers overall."

The Shelby saga seems rooted as much in personal insults as ideology. The White House and Shelby swapped snubs during the first months of the administration, when both Clinton and Shelby had something to prove — Shelby that he wasn't the president's puppet, and Clinton that he wasn't a pushover. White House officials believe that Shelby threw the first punch, and later both sides agreed that they "had gotten off on the wrong foot."

But the strategy backfired when Shelby's popularity back home soared.

Liberation from Adolph Hitler

BOSTON — It seems that their feelings are hurt. The Americans, the Brits, the French — all their friends — are throwing a big party on June 6. But the Germans haven't been invited.

It will be the 50th anniversary of D-Day. There will be parachute drops and aerial displays and veterans swarming over the beaches named Utah and Omaha.

Bill Clinton is coming. So is Queen Elizabeth. So is Francois Mitterrand. But Helmut Kohl won't be there to commemorate the Allies' assault on Normandy. And frankly, he's feeling left out. So are some of his countrymen.

After all, the Germans were there for the first D-Day. Without the Germans there wouldn't have been any D-Day at all. If there is to be some historic re-enactment perhaps some of the old veterans could come out with their hands up. Just for an authentic touch.

But I am being sarcastic and the German government is being serious. Those who object to this closed party explain that they are now a part of democratic Europe, not a fascist enemy.

They are asking for some sense of closure on the Nazi era. It's 50 years, after all, they say. Two generations have been born since then. And besides, one man said to a radio reporter, Germans too want to celebrate the day that began "their liberation from Adolph Hitler."

Well, I am not one of those children of World War II veterans who refused to buy a Volkswagen or bridled at a German accent. I do not believe the sins of the grandparents should be visited on the grandchildren.

But I am also queasy at the notion of transforming a historic commemoration of what Eisenhower called "the Great Crusade" — a day that cost 6,603 American lives — into a government celebration of letting bygones be bygones.

What a pain history is at times. We can't live with it. We can't live without it. We are told that those who don't remember the past are doomed to repeat it. But those who can't forget may be doomed as well.

At times it seems to me that the practical need to burn the score cards, the old enemies lists and start fresh is essential. Otherwise we walk through life looking behind us, as if we were being stalked through a dark alley by old adversaries.

But at other times there is a compelling need to remember, to distinguish right from wrong, victim from assailant. To maintain our sense of justice and honor those who upheld it.

On any given day, these messages are in the news. Stories about the power of memory and stories about the price of forgetting.

We read of murderous feuds between international Hatfields and McCoy's. In Bosnia, people shoot each other in revenge for events that can be traced back 800 years. In the Middle East, Israelis and Palestinians kill each other now in the name of Israelis and Palestinians who killed each other then.

At the same time, all through Europe, there are young, ignorant neo-Nazis painting swastikas on walls. In America, a cult of "revisionists" denies that the Holocaust ever happened.

In Japan, young students learn more about Hiroshima than Pearl Harbor. In Italy, a "post-Fascist" leader calls Mussolini "the greatest statesman of the century."

I remember nine years ago when President Reagan visited Bitburg, where side by side with Helmut Kohl, laid a wreath in a cemetery where SS soldiers were buried. That gesture didn't strike me as a moment of reconciliation but one of moral blindness.

Now we are getting ready for D-Day. The veterans landing at Normandy this June are senior citizens. The Holocaust survivors are mostly old people; their collective memory soon assigned to museums. The landing may indeed have begun the liberation of Germany from Hitler, but few Germans thought so in 1944.

I were planning this history party, would I invite Germans? Sure. I'd invite the realists, the Schindlers, any survivors of the anti-Nazi underground.

To put it simply, the D-Day commemoration isn't about German-bashing. It isn't an insult. It isn't a time warp. It is a gathering for those who fought against tyranny. After 50 years, that is worth remembering.

After all, the Germans were there for the first D-Day.

Police

that was a long time ago, and I don't think there are those problems now, no more than any other case."

Sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough said each deputy has undergone a two hour course in recent changes in domestic violence laws. "We try to keep on top of all of these laws," he said, "and will continue to offer training whenever possible."

In Lake Mary, Police Chief Richard Beary commented, "All of our officers have been trained in handling domestic disputes. We have special instruction classes taught by the State Attorney's office for our entire staff, and each of them should be able to handle the situation regardless of who they are."

Beary said Lake Mary also operates under a "Preferred Policy on Domestic Violence." "Under this policy," he said, "if there are any signs of physical violence, or any other reason to believe a crime has been committed, our officers are instructed to make an arrest. They are to do so without having to get into an argument or dispute with the parties involved."

Neither McDonough, Beary or Dillard said they have heard of any problems regarding the age or sex of an officer. Both sheriff's deputies and police officers reportedly respond with back-up officers to have more than one unit involved in a domestic dispute call.

The university study reported that law enforcement officers often have difficulty with the aggressor in domestic dispute cases, depending on the age or gender of the officer investigating the case.

There is a certain way the aggressor involved feels about the race, age or gender of the police officer involved, a University of Florida study finds.

"These findings suggest that batterers often look at certain physical characteristics of police officers before deciding whether or not to submit to authority," said researcher Richard Greenleaf, who studied 749 domestic violence cases in Charleston, S.C., from 1988 to 1991.

"They see a 'female officer,' a 'black officer' or a 'young officer,' as opposed to simply a police officer."

The study points to the need for police departments to train officers about how the lack of respect for certain physical traits can contribute to violence in arrests, he said.

Greenleaf's study found social deference to be a factor in whether batterers resist arrest, obstruct an officer or verbally or physically assault an officer.

"Female citizens are most likely to defer to male officers," Greenleaf said. "However, there were too few cases involving female batterers or female officers in the study to make any confident conclusions."

Although police-citizen conflict was reported in only 10 percent of the domestic disturbances, officers who were under 30 had a greater chance of meeting resistance when the batterer was older.

"This supports the idea that police departments should look carefully at their hiring practices. Perhaps the minimum age for police officers should be raised to 25 since it is such a dangerous job and requires such deference to authority," he said.

The study also found that nonwhite officers responding to domestic disputes were more likely to encounter resistance, obstruction or verbal or physical assault than white officers.

"To the extent that nonwhite officers are not as readily deferred to by white citizens, they face double jeopardy," Greenleaf said.

Dillard said the Sanford police did not have any more problems in this area than investigating any other call. "As an officer, our people are able to handle almost any situation," he said, "regardless of any other factor."

The type of assignments given to police officers who are young or nonwhite may explain some of the resistance they encounter, Greenleaf said.

"Previous studies suggest that younger and less experienced officers, for example, experience more conflict with citizens because they end up on the least desirable shifts and assignments. An officer is more likely to encounter people who are drunk and disorderly at midnight than at noon."

Judge

county isn't on the high court's recommendation list, it means no new judge.

After not making the cut for three years, Hitt approached State Senator Gary Seigel (R-Longwood), who serves on the Senate Judiciary Committee.

"Judge Hitt contacted me," Seigel recalled, "and they had all the statistics. We were, I think, third in the state in jury trials. We haven't had a new county judge since 1985, which is nine years. In filings, I believe, we were second in the state. We deserve to get one."

Seigel was told by a court administrator it was a very close call that Seminole County was not on the Supreme Court's recommendation list.

"I used all that information," Seigel explained, "and I got the committee to amend it to add us in. Of all the 50 or 60 judges created, only Seminole and Santa Rosa counties were outside the Supreme Court recommendation to get new judges."

"The reason was we were very, very close and the reason is we made a pitch and the Senate went along with it and so did the House," the senator said. "But I think we should have gotten it anyway. We were within just a few, anyway, in filings and when you looked at the number of jury trials, handled per judge, out of 67 counties, we were number two or three."

The legislature approved a six percent raise for county court judges effective in October. Although the exact salary OK'd for the county court judge was in an overall appropriations bill, Seigel said, "I think right now, they get about $82,000."

Since a new judge was funded, the county is making preparations not the least of which is office and court space.

"We are working on that project right now," Hitt commented. "We are looking at two possible spaces in the courthouse, but neither one is optimal."

"We have to start working right now," he continued, "because we have to have the dockets ready, the organization in place and the parties in the cases ready to go into the courtroom the day the judge is sworn in. We have to work three months in advance to have the dockets ready for him (or her) and have the facilities and staff ready."

Although the state funds the judge's salary, the county provides the office space and support staff.

"When a new judge comes on line," Hitt explained, "obviously there has to be support staff from the state attorney's office, the public defender's office and the clerks' office, so everyone has to ratchet up their budgets, their manpower to cover it."

The judge would take office in January.

Signs

discussing the latest efforts to coordinate a county-wide sign recommendation.

During the CALNO meetings in both March and April, the possibilities of establishing a standardized county-wide sign ordinance were discussed. Herb Harden, planning manager for Seminole County, addressed the group in April, and suggested the best approach might be to obtain approval from all municipalities.

At that time, he gave the members a list of what each city has for sign regulations.

The discussion is set to be continued at tonight's CALNO meeting, beginning at 7 p.m., at Seminole County School Board offices in the Reflections Center, 520 Lake Mary Blvd.

IN BRIEF

AROUND THE STATE

Heat ground Hawks

MIAMI — Steve Smith scored 25 points, including three free throws in the final 18 seconds Tuesday night, leading Miami's tight-free 90-86 victory over Atlanta that gave the Heat a 2-1 lead in their first-round playoff series.

With one more win, Miami would become the first No. 8 seed to beat a No. 1 seed in NBA history. Game 4 will be Thursday.

In the final 78 seconds, Atlanta's Mookie Blaylock hit a trio of 3-pointers — his only points of the game. The baskets cut Miami's 85-77 lead to 87-86 with 19 seconds left.

Smith hit two free throws with 18 seconds to go. Blaylock missed a 3-point try. Miami got the rebound and Smith hit a clinching free throw with 6.7 seconds remaining.

Miami's Rony Seikaly, making his first start since March 26, had 20 rebounds and 12 points. Craig Ehlo had 20 points for the Hawks.

Duke stops FSU

TALLAHASSEE — Duke's Ryan Jackson and Ray Farmer each hit two-run home runs while pitcher Josh Shipman scattered nine hits over eight innings to give the Blue Devils a 4-1 victory over Florida State on Tuesday night.

Duke improved to 26-17 on the year, 9-7 in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Florida State, which lost its third straight game and fourth in seven outings, fell to 40-14, 10-5.

AROUND THE NATION

Webber nips Penny for Rookie

OAKLAND, Calif. — Chris Webber, who helped make the Golden State Warriors the league's most improved team, Tuesday was named the NBA's rookie of the year.

Webber, the youngest player in the league this season, edged Orlando's Antwan Hardaway.

Webber edged Hardaway, 53-47, in balloting by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Jamal Mashburn of Dallas got the other vote.

Marlins win again

ATLANTA — Chuck Carr had Florida's first five-hit game and the Marlins moved two games over .500 for the first time in their two-year history with a 6-3 victory over the struggling Atlanta Braves on Tuesday night.

It was the Braves' fourth consecutive loss and ninth in 11 games, while the Marlins won their third straight and fifth in six games.

Charlie Hough (3-0) limited the Braves to four hits over six innings before giving up a two-run homer to Charlie O'Brien in the seventh. He allowed three runs and six hits, didn't walk a batter and struck out five in seven innings.

Jeremy Hernandez got the final two outs for his fifth save.

Terry Pendleton drove in Atlanta's other run with an RBI triple in the second.

Gary Sheffield and Jeff Conine each drove in two runs for the Marlins.

Jordan's double beats Cubs

HOOVER, Ala. — Michael Jordan's bases-loaded double broke a 1-1 tie as the Birmingham Barons defeated the Orlando Cubs 4-1.

The Barons scored in the first inning on an RBI double by Mike Robertson.

The Cubs tied it when Pedro Valdes walked and scored on a single by Chris Peterson.

Suns clubbed

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — Scott Stuckey and Joel Wolfe each had three hits and two RBIs in leading the Huntsville Stars to a 10-3 Southern League victory over the Jacksonville Suns.

Huntsville (16-8) had 10 hits and 10 walks as Jacksonville (10-16) lost its sixth straight.

Ernie Young had two hits, including his sixth homer of the year, and three RBIs for the Stars.

Lyman gets by Rebels, 3-2; Orange Park, sectional next

By TONY DeSORMIER
 Herald Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — Clutch defensive play and just enough offense propelled the Lyman Greyhounds to a 3-2 win over the Jacksonville-Forest Rebels in the 5A-Region II fastpitch softball championship game Tuesday afternoon.

Lyman, 22-1, advances to the 5A-Section I game against Orange Park, a 7-0 winner over Lynn Haven-Moseley in the Region II championship game. The sectional championship game will be played Friday afternoon at Lyman.

"We held it together there at the end," said Lyman coach Christy Tibbitts, who has led the Greyhounds to their first district and regional softball championships. "We did what we needed to do, that's what counts."

The biggest defensive play came in the top of the sixth inning with the Greyhounds protecting a 3-2 lead. Jenny Williams hit a two-out single for the Rebels and attempted to go to third when Ali Sieracki followed with a single to center field.

Jamie Beland, Lyman's center fielder, came up throwing and made a perfect throw to third baseman Jamie Sharp to nail Williams and end the inning in a play so close that the Forest fans were still debating it on their way to the parking lot after the game.

Williams had given the Rebels a 1-0 lead when she tripled and scored on a wild pitch in the top of the first inning.

Jamie Beland got the run back in the bottom of the second when she was hit by a pitch, took second when her twin sister Jodi walked, went to third on a wild pitch, and scored on younger sister Jonnie's sacrifice fly.

Jonnie also drove in Lyman's other two runs when she doubled home Karen Kalkack and Jamie, who both had walked, in the bottom of the fourth inning.

Lyman's one defensive lapse led to Forest's second run. Stacy Kirk led off the Rebel fifth inning with a single. An out later, Kristie Williams singled to right field, sending Kirk to third. When the throw in from the outfield got loose in the infield, Kirk was able to score.

Williams was able to take third on the play, but was stranded there as Lyman pitcher Michelle Bishop retired the next two batters.

The game showcased sterling defensive efforts by Lyman shortstop Carolyn Crager and Forest third baseman Joannie Morgan. Crager collected six assists and a put out while Morgan came up with four assists and snared a Crager line drive to end the first inning.

"Their third baseman is very good," said Tibbitts. "She kept us from having some big innings."

"Carolyn has been our shining star on defense lately. She's definitely filled that spot (created when Bishop moved to the mound to handle the pitching chores). Carolyn played third base last year, but she's more comfortable at shortstop. She's done an excellent job there."

Christy Tibbitts and her Lyman Greyhounds followed up their first softball district championship by winning their first regional title Tuesday.

Greyhounds, Rams reach 5A-4 semis

From Staff Reports

There were upsets all over the 5A-District 4 baseball tournament Tuesday night.

For starters, top-seeded Oviedo was eliminated by No. 8-seed Spruce Creek 4-3 at Oviedo's Sticker Field. At Conrad Park in DeLand, sixth-seeded Lake Mary bested No. 3-seed DeLand 2-0. And in Altamonte Springs, the Lake Brantley Patriots and Lake Howell Silver Hawks suffered an upsetting routout.

Only the second-seeded Lyman Greyhounds escaped unscathed, thrashing the No. 7-seed Deltona Wolves 9-0.

The Lake Brantley-Lake Howell game has been rescheduled for 4 p.m. today. Originally, Lake Mary and Lyman were supposed to play at 8 p.m. in the second half of the semifinal doubleheader at Conrad Park, but that may be changed because of the make-up game.

SPRUCE CREEK 4, OVIEDO 3

OVIEDO — Spruce Creek ruled the season of the Seminole Athletic Conference champion Oviedo Lions by rallying for three runs in the top of the seventh inning and hanging on for a 4-3 victory.

Trailing 1-0, Oviedo took a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the sixth on Mike Rugenius' two-run single. After the Hawks came back with three runs in the top of the seventh, the Lions mounted one last rally as Adam Coleman singled and scored on Carlos Martinez's triple.

Flames split doubleheader

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Timing is everything. Gager Pest Control and Wheelchel & Howard both had big run-scoring innings against the Flames in Sanford Recreation Department Men's Tuesday Night Spring Slowpitch Softball League action at Chase Park.

The difference was Gager's big outburst came in the first inning, giving the Flames a chance to recover, while Wheelchel's came in the last inning and didn't give the Flames an opportunity to bounce back.

After Monroe Harbour Marina claimed a 7-0 forfeit victory from Discount Propane because of a rules violation, Gager Pest combined some shaky Flames defense and clutch hitting to score five runs in the bottom of the first inning.

But the Flames defense and pitcher Tom Gracey allowed only one more Gager runner past first base the final six innings and the offense scored three runs in the second inning, one in the third and two in the sixth to pull out the 6-5 victory.

The late game between Wheelchel & Howard and the Flames were tied at 4-4 entering the sixth inning, when Wheelchel got a two out, run-scoring single from Steve Aten.

Wheelchel & Howard then came up with six insurance runs in the top of the seventh.

First-place Red Sox, Cubs roll; Cardinals, Orioles win

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Who says you have to hit to win? Hitting was the exception, not the rule in the Sanford Recreation Department Little Major Baseball League Tuesday night as the eight teams combined for 52 runs on only 32 hits.

In fact, one winning team, the Cook Construction Orioles, did not get any hits and scored 14 runs while another winner, the Railroaders Cubs, only collected two safes in seven innings but still managed to score five runs.

In the marquee matchup of the evening at Lakeside Field, the National Division-leading Cubs (11-1) scored a pair of unearned runs in the top of the seventh inning to edge the second place Rinker Materials Dodgers (9-4), 5-3.

The Dodgers had scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning on a two out, two run double by Jason Murray, to force extra innings.

In the other game at Lakeside Field, the Fun World at Flea World Cardinals (4-9) scored seven runs in the first inning and eight runs in the fourth inning to rout the Expos (2-11), 17-2.

In the games at Roy Holler Field, the Orioles (7-0) took advantage of 19 walks and two hit batters to beat the Fisher, Laurence, Deen & Formang Blue Jays (2-10), 14-4, and the American Division leading Sunniland Red Sox stretched their unbeaten streak to 13 games in topping the First Union Bank A's, 8-1.

Balough strikes again

By PAUL MARSEOLIA
Special to the Herald

ORLANDO — Panama City's Gary "Hot Shoe" Balough overcame oil pressure problems to win the 50-lap Late Model main event last Friday, April 29, at Orlando Speedway.

"We went out to qualify and our oil pressure dropped to about 30 lbs.," said Balough, who now has 17 FASCAR feature wins on the season. "I nursed it some and we qualified 17th. We changed the oil filter before the feature and that pushed our pressure back up to 80 lbs., so we were good enough to race."

Pete Orr, who set the evening's fastest qualifying time but started eighth by virtue of the draw, needed six laps to move into second place and challenge Balough, who had taken the lead from Ed Meridith on the third lap.

Orr and Balough raced nose-to-tail, but Orr was unable to get around Balough, who took the checkers less than a car length ahead of Orr. Rounding out the top five were Mario Gosselin, Scott Bramlett, and Bob Ackerkboom.

"It was just a little bit faster than Gary," said Orr, who drives the Horsen Around Farms Camaro. "This is a real tough track to pass on when you're running as close as me and Gary were."

"I never could really plan my moves, though, because Mario was really chasing me. I was trying to race Gary and still be cautious. One bad move and Mario would have gotten me."

Orlando's Frank Pierce survived a third-lap three-car melee to win his first ever Sportsman main event.

Pierce tangled with Rick Johns and Walt Loggins going into turn three and was forced to the high side of the track, where he smacked the outside wall. While Loggins and Johns continued to race, Pierce had to pit briefly and resumed the race from the back of the pack.

Two laps later, Loggins took Johns to the wall, sending both cars to the pits. While Loggins was out of action for the evening, Johns was able to return to the track after some repairs.

Meanwhile, Pierce was charging from the rear to overtake Barbara Pierce, Curtis Warnore, Jeff Rule, and Johns for the win.

Robert Jenkins led every circuit to win the Bomber headliner. Bobby Stevens was second in front of Glen Castro, Bill Gibbons, and Doug Gould.

Greg Hughes outdueled Ross Eldridge to notch his second consecutive Modified win. Finishing third through fifth were, respectively, Wayne Parker, Bruce Thompson, and John Willis.

scored a run. Jason Grignet also scored a run.

LAKE MARY 2, DeLAND 0

DeLAND — Brian Marotta tossed his second one-hit shutout of the season for Lake Mary Tuesday night, boosting the Rams to a 2-0 victory over the host DeLand Bulldogs.

Marotta, who doubled home Jim Ruzart in the top of the first inning to give the Rams a 1-0 lead, struck out 15 and walked three while pitching his sixth complete game of the season.

Matching Marotta almost pite for pitch was DeLand ace Gary Glover, who allowed just three hits. Fittingly, DeLand's only hit was a check swing single by Glover in the second inning.

Lake Mary got to Glover for another run in the fourth inning when Chris Klebl led off with a double, took third on a wild pitch and, after Dan Story walked, scored when Rene Perez hit into a fielder's choice, forcing Story at second.

Story's single in the second inning was the only other Ram hit.

Diet drinks don't slow metabolism

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is it true that drinking diet drinks with NutraSweet or artificial sweeteners slows down your metabolism? DEAR READER: Sugar substitutes, such as NutraSweet, do not affect metabolism... except that by taking the place of high-calorie sugar, they force the body to burn fat for energy. Avoidance of sugar is the cornerstone to any diet program for weight reduction. DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 27 and suffer from sciatica. I don't want to get addicted to painkillers. Is there any treatment or exercise I can apply to eliminate the pain once and for all, or are painkillers an appropriate remedy that won't cause harm to my health? DEAR READER: Any medicine has side effects, some of which can be serious, such as the addiction that may result from narcotic analgesics. Therefore, I urge you to see an orthopedic surgeon who will diagnose the cause of your sciatica (a herniated disc or bone spur, for instance) and refer you to a physical therapist for rehabilitation. Stretching and strengthening exercise, in conjunction with ultrasound therapy or acupuncture, often relieves the pain of sciatica. If this so-called "conservative management" is ineffective, you'll perhaps have to consider surgery to remove pressure on the sciatic nerve. As a general rule, it's better for you to avoid the chronic use of painkillers. DEAR DR. GOTT: Are medicines obtained in Mexico as genuine as those prescribed by American doctors? The savings are tremendous. My personal physician feels they are unreliable and un dependable. DEAR READER: Your doctor is correct. Although many drugs sold in foreign countries are completely reliable, there is an inconsistency in the quality. Countries like Mexico just don't insist on the quality control that is expected of medications sold in the United States. Although you could probably use the foreign brands with impunity, in my experience the domestic versions are superior.

MEDICINE

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

There are many bridge professionals in North America. Some are high-profile players, winning national titles and world championships. But most stay primarily in the background, competing with clients in regional tournaments. However, many of these are top players who also compete in North American Championships. One of the best is Chuck Said.

Born in Baghdad, Iraq, Said moved to the United States in 1957. He is noted for his unflappable nature; even when things go wrong, he remains calm. All bridge players lose more events than they win, but Said has won far more than most, in the process amassing over 16,000 masterpoints.

Said played today's deal brilliantly. North's raise to three spades is at best debatable. But if he hadn't raised, there wouldn't have been a story. West doubled because he knew his opponents were in a 4-3 fit and his heart holding looked ideal.

West started with two top clubs. How should South play to try to make the contract? There was one chance: if West had 10-third of spades and two or three diamonds, Said ruffed the second club with the spade ace. He played a diamond to the dummy's nine and ruffed the club jack with the spade king. Said cashed the spade queen and diamond ace before leading the spade six and finessing dummy's nine. It held! Now came the spade jack, on which Said discarded his diamond king. When both opponents followed, Said claimed 10 tricks: three spades, five diamonds and two club ruffs in hand.
