CITY DONATES 20-ACRE TRACT FOR MARKET

Part of Alex French Property At 13th Street Deeded To Marketing Board

The northwestern corner of the Alex V. French property at Thirteenth Street and French Avenue, comprising 20 acres, was offered to the State Marketing Board this afternoon by the City of Sanford as a site for the proposed $75,000 Florida State Farmers' Wholesale Distributing Market.

Decision to donate this property was unanimous and it came at the end of a conference between the City Commissioners, a delegation from the Seminole Agriculture Club, Attorney Fred R. Wilson and E. F. Housholder, and Karl Lehmann of the Chamber of Commerce, who was invited by the Commissioners to participate in the discussion.

Under terms of the recently announced decision of FERA officials to release $75,000 for the construction of this plant in Sanford it was necessary that the city or county donate the land upon which it would be constructed.

Twelve sites were surveyed by the Agriculture Club committee and the French property was considered as one of the most satisfactory.

Despite the fact that the city secured title to the French property as the result of foreclosure action, both City Attorney Wilson and County Attorney Housholder agreed that the State Marketing Board would be handed a clear title to the property, free of all encumbrances.

Both attorneys were instructed to proceed at once in making the necessary arrangements looking toward the early delivery of the deed and other papers.

The 20-acre tract is considered as most advantageously located. It borders French Avenue, a main artery of traffic between Sanford and Orlando. It also borders 13th Street which is closely connected with short-cut roads leading from both the east side and west side of French Avenue. It is immediately adjacent to an Atlantic Coast Line road branch line track, and an announcement was made that a spur could be run directly on the property without much additional expense.

Roosevelt Received By Yale As One Of Its Adopted Sons

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 20.—(AP)—Yale received President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Harvard graduate, into his family of adopted sons today, conferring upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

While the sun shone from cloudless skies on the ancient elms of the historic campus, inside Woolsey Hall, scene of Yale's 23rd commencement, Mr. Roosevelt heard himself called a "brave leader of your people in a time of peril" by President James Rowland Angell as the Chief Executive received the highest honor the University can bestow on an adopted son. Harvard's distinguished alumnus became the fourth President to receive an honorary degree from Yale while in office, and the second ever to come to New Haven to receive the honor.

President Washington and McKinley were awarded degrees in absentia, while another Roosevelt, Theodore, came to New Haven in the fall of 1901 to accept the honor.

San Francisco Gets Slight Earth Shock

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—(AP)—An earthquake lasting about 30 seconds was felt here today. No damage was reported. The shock also was felt at San Mateo where it was described as "quite sharp."

U.S. Seeks Solution Of Its Involved Financial Problem; Silver Purchase Act Signed

Roosevelt, His Leaders Engaged In Study Of Delicate International Situations

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, the state department and the treasury yesterday studied possible ways and means of solving America's involved financial problems with the rest of the world.

Delicate international questions in which the dollar sign loomed large, chiefly through attempts to bring the United States to recover some of the dollars owed it, now engage the Administration's attention.

JOHN GARNER EULOGIZES ROOSEVELT

Vice-President Says Nation Has Stronger Faith In Him Today Than In March 1933

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Vice President Garner eulogized the country today, but said he had greater faith in the national confidence in the President today than he had in March 1933.

He said the President in a statement through the Democratic National Committee in which he also eulogized the country and the closing days of a career's work in the White House.

Actually, the system of currency control, the Federal Reserve Bank and the Federal Reserve Board, and the Federal Reserve Act, which were passed in 1913, are the main reasons for the country's present financial situation.

Claude Pepper Says Trammell's Record Is Only Real Issue

PEPPER INSISTS HE IS FRIEND OF LABORING MEN

Tallahassee Lawyer, In Talk Here, Makes Final Plea For Big Vote Next Tuesday

Claude Pepper, candidate for the U. S. Senate, came back to Seminole County today to thank the voters for the support accorded him in the first primary.

He spoke here this morning following an address at an early hour at New Smyrna, and will be heard later today at Ft. Pierce and Melbourne and tonight at St. Petersburg.

Running up in the election of June 27, when he trailed by but 1,500 votes, Mr. Pepper said he is making the most intensive speaking campaign in the history of the state.

He will cover six counties in six days, that began Tuesday of last week at Pensacola and that will be concluded on Monday night of next week, at which time the candidate will speak at Plant Park in Tampa over a state-wide radio broadcast.

In his address here, Pepper continued to hammer away at the fact that he considers the only issue of the campaign is whether or not the people of Florida feel that they have received from their former senator the aggressive and efficient representation to which they are entitled.

Stressing this point, he charged that Senator Trammell was not only negligent in getting for Florida federal emergency relief funds commensurate with those secured by California.

He pointed out that the latter state with but four times the population of Florida, got $20,000,000 as compared with the $2,000,000 received by Florida.

He also cites the record of the junior senator during his last 6-year term of office as one of "futility," declaring that the Congressional Directory reveals that of the 87 bills Mr. Trammell had introduced since March, 1929, not four have become law, and these are of minor consequence.

The junior senator, Pepper also charges, "has not represented the people of Florida at all upon matters in which they are vitally interested."

These matters which he cited were: he failed to register a vote for against the beer bill, he failed to indicate how he voted on the bonus bill, although he was present on the floor that came up the same day, and he failed to vote on the Wilder municipal bankruptcy act.

Referring to the beer bill, Mr. Pepper read from the Congressional Record the statement of Trammell that he "heard the bells, but was under the impression that it was a spurious bill," although two hours earlier he had been recorded as present.

From junior senatorial address in his own explanation on the floor of the Senate, that he has been there 16 years and still gets the signal "messed." Pepper commented, "I promise you that when I go to Washington as your senator I shall have a boy, read a bill and practice the signals until I am so thoroughly familiar with them that I can vote 'yes' or 'no' on any important controversial question."

The Wilcox bill, the candidate said, was one of the most important ever to come up at Washington. It had been introduced and sponsored by a new congressman, setting his first term, who had passed it in the House.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1934

Wouldn't you like to see Hitler and Mussolini taking their setting-off exercise?

Col. Lindbergh, we get it from the householders, is about to take a flier in the storm market.

One of our exchange advocates bringing more farmers to Florida. This move will not be particularly popular among those farmers who already reside here.

It isn't what Congress did, but what it was threatening to do that makes business men breathe a little easier now that it has adjourned.

The nudist cult has received considerable encouragement from the results of the recent heavy-weight fight. They point out that it pays to be bare.

And on the other hand there is the Florida Herald which says, "There isn't more than one place in a thousand that Trammell will be defeated."

Prize Carnera got $125,000 to take a beating from Max Baer. And in these days most any of us would let a truck driver run off with freight across our face for $125.

Bank clearings in Miami for the first five months of 1934 were $21,148,811, which is $2,000,000 more than for the same period of last year. Folks who have money are beginning to spend it.

Most people don't know any more about the various alphabetical groups of the New Deal than they do about the motor parts of their car. There was, for instance, the fellow who thought the NRA was the law providing for loans to home-owners.

Now that the silver interests have gotten their subsidy from Congress, the copper and tin people are trying to get the government to help them out with big purchases for use in the war. But it might have been expected that the copper and tin people would have got of brass.

Says a society item in the Miami Herald, Mrs. W. H. Markham, who has returned from Montgomery, Ala., where she attended the graduation exercises of their granddaughter, Miss Lennie Norris in Sidney Lanier High, has been elected 4th vice president of the G. W. O. M. P. in a honorary degree of no little significance.

To them that has, it shall be lost, or something like that. In spite of a Congressional investigation of Morgan and Company, the sale of many residential mortgages which have been secured against all Wall Street bankers, the deposits of Morgan and Company have gained $2,000,000 since Aug. 1, 1933, and the assets of the company have increased $28,414,287 during the same 12 months period. It almost makes one feel like saying, "What's the use."

The government wants to get out of the banking business as soon as it can. This is the spirit of a month made by Jesse H. Jones of the RFC in Tennessee when he said, "There is no reason on the part of the President to continue with the administration of the Federal Reserve Bank Corporation." To continue to keep the government in the banking business is a waste of money and credit in the eyes of the government.

The Electric House

Mr. E. Courtney's statement in a recent issue of Collier's to the effect that electricity is still a mystery which even the most learned scientists do not understand, reminds us of the college professor who in the midst of an exceedingly boring lecture suddenly pointed his finger at a freshman who had been busy day-dreaming and demanded, "What is electricity?" Confused, and completely unaware of what the professor had been saying, the student finally blurted, "I knew, but I have forgotten."

But while it is true that nobody actually knows what electricity really is, modern scientists have been able through the genius of such men as Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Edison to harness it and to make it work for us. There is hardly an incident of the day from our breakfast toast in the morning to our newspaper in the evening which is not inextricably interwoven with the use of electricity. Even the car which drives us to town must use it. And without electricity the radio would be completely impossible.

Mr. Courtney points out that in a recent house which he visited, an eight room house of the $12,000 type, there are three and one-half miles of electric wiring, and at least two hundred outlets, capable of producing 108 electrical horsepower for household duties. This amount of power, it is further pointed out, produces sufficient energy to take the place of 864 household servants. All that is necessary to run the place completely is to push a button.

Among the innumerable gadgets about this place which make it truly a wonder house is a receiving set which enables the owner's wife to learn from her husband while he is yet a mile away that he is bringing company home for dinner. A radio device on his car makes it possible for him to send this message to her and to open the garage doors without getting out of the car when he arrives home. When he wants to go out again, the sound of the motor will also open the doors.

A master switch near the owner's bed enables him to turn on every light in the house, to make every nook and corner as light as day, just in case of burglars. A device in the bathroom automatically dries and refreshes his towels after he has finished his shower. An infra-red lamp overhead gives him a nice coat of tan while he is rubbing himself down. An electrical exerciser gives him a four minute workout while he is shaving.

In his bedroom a thermostat connected with the mattress of his bed automatically turns on and keeps him warm in case he kicks the covers off in his sleep. In the morning an electric alarm awakens him, another electric device closes the windows in winter and turns on the bedroom sunlights even though it may be snowing outside. In the summer a cooling device keeps the temperature down to a refreshing level.

There are automatic cookers, automatic washing machines, automatic clothes pressers, and automatic doors between the kitchen and dining room which open and close as you walk toward them or away from them. An automatic food cart carries things back and forth without direction. The dishes are washed and dried by electric dish washers. Telephones are stationed conveniently throughout the whole house so that no matter where one may happen to be he can talk with anyone in any other part of the house without raising his voice.

Undoubtedly the time will come when every house will be equipped as this one is. Housekeeping will be a pleasure. Servants will be unnecessary. Electricity will do the work. And if you get bored with life, it will entertain you. Every house will have its own television machine, where operas, carnivals, and musical comedies, can be seen and heard for the price of turning a switch.

National Housing Act

One of the bills passed by Congress in the closing minutes of its Seventy-third session was the so-called National Housing Bill, one of the measures sponsored by the Administration. To show how this measure will assist in restoring prosperity and creating a better psychological feeling in the various communities throughout the country, we quote the following from the July number of Good Housekeeping in which an article, "Spruce Up, America," by Mary Margaret McBride, appears:

"If you wish to make improvements on your home and have not the ready cash for the purpose, you will be able to go to your bank or some designated agency in your community and make application for a loan. If this application is approved, you will get your money, Uncle Sam having made himself responsible for your ability and intention to pay back the loan in a specified time with reasonable interest in the meantime.

"The Government does not lend you, personally, the cash for fixing your roof, or building your new porch. It merely insures a certain percent of the advance which comes directly from your bank or some local institution qualified to make such loans.

"The President's idea all along has been to have private credit for the benefit of this scheme. Hundreds of thousands of dollars of private capital will be loaned at fair interest through banks and other organizations to the home owner. The use of a mutual insurance principal will help lenders of this money to guarantee, with Government help, their own loans."

"The national government's concern with the home owner's repairs, and why the President himself has been so interested in this bill, is because of the psychological effect these improvements will have, not only on the home owner himself, but on the community as a whole, and the tide of dollars it will put back in circulation.

"Not only will the painter, the carpenter, the roofer, the plumber, and all their helpers be receiving wages," Good Housekeeping states, "but the manufacturers and retailers of the various supplies—of shingles, paint, tin—will be able to move their wares and receive cash which they in turn will pass on to those who mine metal or cut down forests or get together the raw material from which paint is made. And those in turn will turn the money over to the butcher and baker, who will put it into music lessons for a gifted child, new clothes, new shoes, a long overdue dental or doctor bill."

"The President and Congress, however, do not intend only those to have a part in the program who must ask the Government to guarantee their part on the project. Anyone who can afford to undertake it on his own is urged to go ahead.

new gutters came, and the paint and furniture and linoleum factory people as well as those who did the actual repairs.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

There is now employed on the construction of the great "Deering Palace," in the outskirts of Miami, a large force of men, both in the actual construction of the building and the preparation of the grounds that are literally being hewn from the wilderness.

John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency, estimated today that about $600,000,000 in national banks throughout the United States now is available for farm mortgage loans under the provision of the Federal Reserve Act making it possible for national banking associations to lend money on improved farm lands.

The marriage of Miss Hazel Stiles to Mr. Charles McMahon was solemnized at the Catholic Church Wednesday morning at 9:00 o'clock with Father Brennan performing the ceremony. Miss Stiles was lovely in her going away gown of blue chiffon tulle, a nobby little hat of blue braid, ribbon and red French roses.

Bill Directs Buying Of Metal Until It Comprises 25 Percent Of Monetary Stocks

But the time for the silver purchases was left entirely in the hands of the President. During the long negotiations which resulted in the compromise bill, he and the treasury took the stand that unless the specific terms of the purchases were left to their discretion the government might be at the mercy of speculators.

The President was given permissive power to nationalize the domestic stocks of silver, estimated at between 200,000,000 and 250,000,000 ounces. In any event, the domestic silver is to be purchased at a price not to exceed 50 cents an ounce and a 50 percent profit on all transfers of silver after May 15 was provided.

The stocks of silver for use by manufacturers, silversmiths and others who require the metal in their business operations were exempted from the levy.

If the price goes to $1.29 an ounce before the amount necessary for the 25 percent reserve is acquired, the treasury may stop its buying operations. It may even sell until the price goes below the $1.29 figure.

President Roosevelt in his message asking silver legislation indicated he had in mind an international monetary conference at which the principal nations might come to an understanding on the value to be assigned both silver and gold for monetary purposes.

GUY T. HELVERING, commissioner of internal revenue at once promulgated regulations governing the tax on transfers of interests in silver-bullion to carry out the purposes of the act.

Pepper Insists He is Friend Of Laboring Men

(Continued from page one) and hated poverty all my life. That is the reason, in an effort to destroy it, I have advocated and will fight for old age pensions and unemployment insurance, subjects about which my opponent has been strangely silent.

"I have worked in steel mills twelve hours a day for seven days a week. I have plowed many a day for sixty cents a day. I worked my way through college rolling coal and waiting table. I yield to no man a greater sympathy for the man who works than I have for I have been a laboring man all my life. I have not been so fortunate as the distinguished Senator who has drawn a quarter of a million dollars from thirty-five years of office holding not to speak of the host of relatives, who have ever backed in his reflected glory on the public payroll.

"The charges made by Senator Trammell and his supporters have now become so ridiculous that they are obviously designed as smoke screens to shield the undercover work now being carried on so vigorously by his hired workers.

"Every single one of the charges is not only false but maliciously made with knowledge of its falsity. The master politician of Florida is now on his last legs. In his desperation he is not ashamed to hit below the belt, even to use a slug. If he is such a friend of the people it is strange that the magazine TIME, a trustworthy observer who sees the Senator when he is in Washington and not when he is in Florida campaigning for six more years as senator, says of him: 'He never offends Big Business.'

"Why are these interests prepared to spend a king's ransom to nominate Pepper," Labor asked, "assuming the truth of the charges?"

In one of the front page articles Labor charges: "While Claude Pepper was looking after his corporation clients' interests before the Legislature at Tallahassee, Trammell in the United States Senate was defying the power trust lobby, and voting to put over the plan sponsored by Francis D. Roosevelt to develop Muscle Shoals in the interests of the people instead of for the benefit of the Alabama Power Company."

Another article charges: "The shipbuilders' combine" is trying to oust Trammell as chairman of the Senate naval affairs committee, adding: "The big ship builders can gouge the public treasury to the tune of tens of millions of dollars unless a man of Trammell's 'international fortitude' is on guard."

In his letter President Green says: "Information has come to me that powerful interests have been spending great sums of money in that state in the hope of defeating the senator."

"Dancing Around" At Milane Tonight

Theater goers of Sanford tonight will have an opportunity to witness one of the snappiest stage shows of the current season when "Dancing Around" comes to the Milane Theatre for a single day's engagement. This attraction is really a passing show of youth beauty, music, song and dance, and it consists of 20 talented stage personalities.

Claude Pepper Says Trammell's Record Is Only Real Issue

(Continued From Page One) big in getting it through the Senate and President Roosevelt had given his personal endorsement," he said, "but Senator Trammell hasn't so much as voted for or against the bill when it came up for final passage after more than a year of strenuous work to secure its enactment."

Referring to "reckless charges that have been bandied about during the eleventh hour of the campaign," Pepper especially denounced an assertion of his opponent that he had spent $100,000 for campaign purposes, and a further charge by a Washington publication, circulated in behalf of Trammell, that he would spend from $100,000 to $500,000.

Aside from the fact he said that such charges were "so absurd as to make them ridiculous," Pepper denounced them as "false and infamous."

"Nobody better knows the fallacy of the accusation than the Junior Senator himself," he said. Pepper said that he challenged any person in the world to prove that he had accepted one cent from any vested interest, and he offered, if such proof could be furnished, to print in the newspapers of the state, at his own expense, an advertisement showing this proof.

"I challenge any of you to prove that I have employed even one paid worker, other than my office force and personal staff, during this campaign," he said.

"Furthermore, I am advised by those who have campaigned Florida ahead of me that I have kept my expenses lower than they believed possible, taking into consideration that I have been on the stump since Mar. 5, have visited every county in the state, and some of them several times."

Such "malicious rumors" as those referred to, Pepper declared, were but the "unscrupulous methods of a desperate politician who

Parsley grows nine feet high in Africa.

"Pepper also advocated old age pensions, federal aid for the public schools, depression insurance and tariff protection for Florida products commensurate with those granted the industrial centers."

"Our growers and shippers are robbed, our railroads and transportation agencies are robbed, labor is robbed of the opportunity to work, general business is robbed of the prosperity to which it is entitled," he said, "and yet Senator Trammell has never lifted his voice against this discrimination or done one thing about it. I promise you to work night and day against this inequitable practice. Florida cannot prosper as it should so long as it is denied the right to compete with California on fair terms."

Feds Hope To Reduce Lead Held By Cocoa In Game On Cocoa Diamond Tomorrow

CENTRAL FLORIDA LEAGUE
Team	W	L
Cocoa	11	7
Sanford	10	10
Vero Beach	8	12
Kissimmee	7	13

Two full games behind the league-leading Cocoa Indians, the Sanford Celeryfeds tomorrow will have a last opportunity for several days to cut down this lead and place themselves in a more favored position to win the first half pennant.

The Feds travel to Cocoa for a tilt tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. At the same hour, the Vero Beach Jaycees will be at Kissimmee engaged in a double-header contest that will be a battle for last place. If the Kowboys should by any chance win two tilts, they will be tied with the Jaycees for last place.

Manager Sid Rive has indicated that big Lee Mansfield will start on the mound for the Feds. He also said that his team's chances have been hard hit because Roy Britt, one of the finest of the league's outfielders, has found it necessary to give up baseball.

Britt was probably the team's most popular player. He was well liked by all fans, and his loss is bound to be noticed even at the box-office. The reason for his departure could not be ascertained.

With Britt gone, Manager Rive may have to fall back on his pitch-

7 FED ERRORS PLAY BIG PART IN 11-4 DEFEAT

Islanders Earn Only 4 Runs When Locals Miscue Early, Often

Manager Stuffie McCrone's Daytona Beach Islanders lost little time in scoring an 11 to 4 victory over Manager Sid Rive's Sanford Celeryfeds in an exhibition game played at Municipal Park yesterday afternoon.

Spotting the Feds a run which they earned in the first inning, the Islanders went into action against Lee Mansfield in the third inning, and before the dust had cleared away, three runs had come over on two scratch hits, a long double, a pair of stolen bases and an outfield error.

The Islanders got four runs in the sixth, mostly on errors: After Rhoades was out in the infield, Blalock singled to left. He stole second, and McCrone drew a walk. Kelly was slow in tagging Blalock out at third on an attempted double steal and the runners were safe. Martin hit to Schirrad who made a quick throw to the plate only to have Abbott miss tagging Blalock. With the bases still full, Harris singled to right, scoring McCrone. Sparkman failed to handle the hit cleanly and Martin scored from first as Harris went to second. Shannon doubled to right, scoring Harris. Manager Rive let Elmer Mattair go to the mound for the Feds at this point, and Laviano and Vickers were both out on flies.

The final Islanders run was unearned. Maltby opened with a single to right and when Sparkman again loafed on the play, Maltby went on to second. Rhoades had fled out to Schirrad when Maltby tore out for third in an attempt to catch Mattair asleep. On a throw to third, Kelly let the ball get away from him, and Maltby scored. Blalock and McCrone both fled out.

The Islanders earned only four of their 11 runs, while the Feds earned all of theirs off the hurling efforts of Drake and Vickers.

The fielding feature of the game was Sparkman's one-handed catch of Maltby's liner in the ninth, while Manager McCrone led his players at bat with three hits in four tries.

JAPANESE PRINCE AMAZED UPON HIS VISIT TO HOUSE

Turbulent Activity On Floor Surprises Nipponese Noble

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Amazement was expressed by Prince Fumimaro Konoye, member of one of the five noble houses of Japan and President of the Japanese House of Peers, after visiting the Senate and House. He was introduced on the floor of the Senate by Vice-President Garner.

After seeing the turbulent House in action the Prince remarked: "But the members shout at each other! In the Japanese Parliament, a speaker must ask the permission of a Minister before he may speak, and he must stand at rigid attention as he does so."

The Prince, who lunched with Secretary Hull, said afterward that misapprehensions in Japan about the United States and in this country about Japan must be erased.

He admitted frankly that Japan wanted to extend her sphere of influence in China "economically," but he denied emphatically that the empire had any wish for further territorial aggrandizement.

He asserted that the Japanese public was "afraid" that the United States would try to halt this "economic" penetration and that considerable feeling existed.

"Japan will not become the dominant world power that the United States seems to fear," he said.

He saw no reason for conflict between the commercial interests of Japan and the United States in the world at large, he said, and declared that in fact there was an opportunity for parallel endeavor by the two countries.

As for a war between Japan and Russia, he asserted that there was "no immediate danger."

The Prince has been in this country about two weeks and expects to remain for two months more. The purpose of his visit is "to meet official persons unofficially."

On his visit to the Capitol he was accompanied by Ambassador Saito, members of the Embassy staff and his suite.

DeLand Trio Narrowly Miss Death On Links

DELAND, June 20.—J. W. McCormick, Willis McCormick and E. E. Brown, all prominent DeLand citizens, had a narrow escape from death about 3:30 P. M. Sunday when, while playing golf on the College Arms course, they came almost in the direct path of a bolt of lightning that struck a tree some 20 feet distant.

All suffered from shock, Mr. Brown being the least seriously stricken of the three, and some 30 or 40 minutes being required for their complete recuperation.

There was, so far as known, no witnesses to the accident which took place near the 7th green.

Masson, Humorist, Dies After Illness

GLEN RIDGE, N. J., June 20.—(AP)—Thomas L. Masson, 67, humorist and editor of "Life" for 28 years, died Monday at his home after two years of poor health. He underwent an operation two years ago and never fully recovered. For the past four months he had been confined to his bed.

An Indian cemetery, believed to date back before the Spanish conquest of Chile, was found by workers in Chile.

BLACK-DRAUGHT For CONSTIPATION

"I am 71 years old and have used Theodor's Black-Draught about forty years," writes Mr. W. J. Vanover, of Rome, Ky. "We are never without it. I take it as a purgative when I am bilious, disy and have swimming in my head. Black-Draught relieves this, and helps me in many ways. . . . Keep a package of this old, reliable, purely vegetable laxative in your home, and take it for prompt relief at the first sign of constipation."
