The Rivermen, on the other hand, after losing to the High School B team by a 31-26 count, found themselves to begin a winning streak which included their victory over the Cannons to tie up the fight for the first half title and then continued throughout the second half until the final game when the Eckerson outfit came through to snap their rivals' winning streak.

VERSE FOR TODAY

FRIDENCE IN SPENCH: Be not proud with thy mouth, and let thine heart be hasty to sit on any thing before God; for he is in heaven, and thou upon earth; therefore let thy words be few.—Ecclesiastes 5:2.

NIGHTINGALES
 What is the sound?
 The shrill!
 They perk the sky, the ground,
 They sweep the bush.

This is the hour
 When birds are still,
 Their hush
 And the hills
 As near blooms like a flower.

What is the sound?
 The shrill, half-trill,
 Soft as a kiss,
 Deliculous as a wound?

Nightingales wake;
 To fill
 The world,
 The quiet air.

Who listening shall hear
 The weight, the ache
 Of this?
 Surely the bough must bend,
 The heart must break.

Gov. Cane says Florida doesn't need any new taxes, and believes we're with him on that.

The Tallahassee Democrat thinks RFC stands for Roosevelt's Fiddle Chais.

A theorist is a person who never gets around to doing anything at all because he is always so busy thinking up new things to do.

It will be interesting to see when the new football season opens next fall who will be the first halfback to stage a sit down strike.

"We are ten thousand years nearer to permanent peace than were the cavemen of ten thousand years ago," says Carrie Chapman Catt. Perhaps, but those of us living today won't know any more about it than our cavemen ancestors did.

It is estimated that the Detroit automobile strike cost several times more from the standpoint of economic and material loss than did the flood in the Ohio River Valley.—Tinsville Star Advocate. At least it cost us more advertising than the flood did.

One of America's great heroes lost the other day when Rear Admiral Richmond P. Hobson succumbed suddenly to heart disease. Admiral Hobson was the Lindbergh of the Rudy Vallee and the President Roosevelt, all rolled into one, of a generation ago. Had he lived he would have been the nation's mascot.

Herewith we present a partial list, prepared from the records, of a few of the countless New Deal laws which the Supreme Court has not invalidated: CER, SEC, CFC, ECW, EHFA, E-B, FAA, FCA, FC of T, FDIC, FERA, FFMC, FIA, FELER, FFR, FFC, FFB, FFL, FBR, FMO, FMO, ICC, NA, NBCC, NLR, NLR, NRC, NRS, NYA, PA, PWA, RA, REA, RFC, SAR, SEC, SSB, TVA, USES, USIB, WPA.

One of the acts recently invalidated by the Supreme Court was the Railroad Retirement Act, not a New Deal measure, but signed by President Roosevelt. It was criticized as a heavily drawn body written document. Now a new pension bill has been prepared in praise of both such management and labor. And since everyone is agreed that there will be no one to complain about it, both capital and labor are to be congratulated in so effectively solving the pension problem for themselves.

A Good Place To Live

One can hardly view the battlefields of the world from the vantage point of First Street and Park Avenue without experiencing a feeling of satisfaction and security over the atmosphere of relative calm which prevails here as compared with various strife-torn foreign countries and numerous industrial centers.

In the Far East another Japanese state has just been carved from the flanks of the mammoth tottering Chinese dragon by the aggressive expanding Japs. Like Manchukuo, the new state of Mongokuo, was once an integral part of China, but now declares itself to be a free and independent state, though Japanese agents and military leaders tell local puppet rulers what to do. Japan again steps not only China but Russia in the face.

Mussolini visits Libya, the Italian colony on the northern coast of Africa. On his way over he reviews the magnificent Italian fleet extending clear across the Mediterranean and cutting the "lifeline of the Empire," the British Empire; and in Tripoli he makes a dramatic speech in which he says, "Say to the three hundred million Moslems of the world that I am their friend." Most of the three hundred million Moslems of the world live in British domains.

The war in Spain continues merrily on. Hundreds of thousands of lives have been lost and billions of dollars worth of property destroyed. Suffering has been caused which only death can eliminate, and hatred has been engendered which will last for generations. According to the latest estimates, there are now eighty thousand Italians fighting on the rebel side in Spain, and some forty thousand Germans. The "little world war" is already taking place in Spain.

In Paris, and in most of Europe the same vicious elements which precipitated the revolution in Spain are at work threatening the stability of every government. On Wednesday six persons were killed and more than 150 were injured when extremists of both the radicals and conservatives clashed in a street battle. Foreign experts say that in at least a dozen countries of the world revolutions are brewing.

Even in the United States there is trouble. Sit down strikes, an importation from Europe, rage from one end of the country to the other. Hundreds of thousands of workmen quit their jobs, and take possession of the property of their employers. Twenty thousand striking automobile workers defy an order of the court to evacuate property illegally seized. The strong arm of the government is apparently paralyzed.

And so it goes. The Ohio valley is just now digging itself out from the worst flood in history. The middle western farmers are already worrying about next summer's drought, not having recovered yet from the one of last summer and the summer before. In Chicago taxi cab drivers surge through the streets overturning autos, wrecking windows with stones and brickbats. In Washington Secretary Hull is busy apologizing to Germany for the indiscrete remarks of some of our leading citizens.

So we can be thankful that we live in Sanford. We may have high taxes and burdensome bond debts. The weather may be too warm for celery in January and there may be too many bugs in March. We may not make as much money as they do some places and we may miss a lot of excitement, but neither will we starve or break each others heads in riots and revolutions. Sanford is the safest and most peaceful city in the world today.

Doing Things Differently

People do things differently in different parts of the world. And what may seem exceedingly strange to one person may be the perfectly natural thing for another to do. Training, custom, and environment have much to do with the way we behave ourselves, and none of us can be too sure that we are the ones who are right.

"In German railway dining cars," says Walter J. Holmes in Forbes Magazine, "no one is served till all are seated for a particular setting. Then a waiter brings a huge bowl of soup down the car aisle and serves everyone. Later the meat course is served to all diners at the same time, and so on."

Other peculiarities cited abroad by Mr. Holmes are listed as follows:

Singapore newspapers are sold folded and sealed as evidence that the boy has not picked up the paper in some car seat or hotel lobby.

Thrifty citizens of Manila wait until a newspaper has been on the street a few hours and then buy it from the boy for less than the regular price.

Ceylon, Germany, Belgium and other countries now sell railway transportation by the week or month (ride as much as you like) instead of by the mile.

Large-size women's shoes are used in window displays in Denmark. Seeing them, women with large feet believe that theirs are average; women with small feet are flattered.

In leading cities of the Orient there is a driver and helper on each taxicab. Most Japanese street cars have a conductor and conductorette, and Shanghai buses usually operate with a crew of three—a striking contrast to New York subways.

Throw a shudder at the thought of what would happen if New York operated subways on the methods of Paris and London where doors open and passengers jump off before the train stops.

In Kobe, Japan, the writer recently saw an electrical device "guaranteed" to cure headache, and "invented by Thomas Edison." An enormous quantity of goods made and sold in Japan is claimed to have been made in America.

Arguments about half fare for children riding street cars in Manila are settled by backing the child against a painted mark on the car wall. If his head reaches above the mark, he pays full fare.

Brewers of Denmark have agreed to place no advertising on useful gift items such as bottle openers or ash trays.

Japanese factories operate as usual on Sunday, but workers are generally given three days off each month.

5 & 10 Strike Half Work... But Not Appetites

Work stopped but their appetites didn't. In a 5 & 10 store in New York last night the store's lunch counter was still open while the store was closed with customers. The girls served a delicious lunch and a delicious 50 weekly salary. (Associated Press Photo)

INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY
By MARK SULLIVAN

Democratic Senator Burke of Nebraska, in his radio speech, called the President's court proposal "the greatest disaster ever done to the cause of democracy." The statement is wrong, but justified. Perhaps if differently phrased the truth in it might be more readily grasped. I imagine that much of the public thinks of such statements as mere argumentative rhetoric. The public does not realize that America has come to a phase in which the very essentials of civilization must be rethought—for the benefit of a generation that has not had to give thought to them.

Once in so often a citizen finds himself summoned into court in a litigation in which the government is the other party. At all times every citizen is subject to it. When it happens the citizen knows that before the court he stands equal with the government. The court feels no obligation to decide in favor of the government. There have been complaints against all courts, but none ever said that a court had a fixed bias in favor of the government. There have been severe judges, so-called "convicting judges," but no one ever charged that their severity was due to any sense of obligation to do what the government demands.

The independence of the judiciary, this safeguard against oppression by government, is the most precious possession of man. Because we have long had it we have come to take it for granted. No American is able to conceive a court as being anything different. He cannot conceive a court as being what courts are in Russia, Germany and Italy, mere agencies of the government, carrying out the will of government, never dreaming of doing anything the government does not desire.

So long have we in America felt secure in this possession of an independent judiciary that today we think it is like the air we breathe, something conferred upon us without effort on our part. Without effort by this generation, true enough. But we have forgotten that to achieve it took effort upon the part of scores of generations. It took over six centuries. It took wars and bloodshed and many martyrdoms. Victory was first achieved in England. It had been won there before America wrote its constitution. But it had been so recently won that the writers knew how important it was. They wanted America to be a country in which the question should never arise. So they wrote the constitution in such a way as to assure the independence of the courts, and the protection of the citizen's rights by the courts. These assurances are specified in several parts of the constitution and implicit in all of it. Among other ways, it was provided that Federal judges should hold office for life, and be not removable except for cause and by process of impeachment.

Now let us turn to Mr. Roosevelt's present action. Why is he irritated against the Supreme Court? His grievance is this: That in several cases the Supreme Court has decided against the government. The President wanted to dismiss, and did dismiss, a member of the Federal Trade Commission—and the Supreme Court, by a unanimous decision, declared the President's act illegal. The President, with his conscience, wrote and promulgated N. R. A.—and the court, by a unanimous decision, said it was unconstitutional. In some other cases the court, by a majority of 5 to 4, 4 to 3, 3 to 2, decided against the government. Because the court decided against the government, the President is irri-dated. He proposes an action designed to make the court one which will decide in favor of the government. He proposes to so change the personnel of the court that it will give the decisions he desires. If this proposal succeeds, if the supreme bench is turned into a court which under these circumstances will find in favor of the government, then there will have been wrought a destruction of the judiciary. The destruction will be so far-reaching that every one will know that before the courts the citizen is no longer equal with the government.

It is said that the change would not be permanent. It is said that the new justices appointed by the President would decide in favor of the government with respect only to the specific measures which the President has said he wanted. N. R. A., Triple-A, and the others. It is said that thereafter the new justices would feel and share the tradition of independence that the Supreme Court has had for nearly 150 years. But to this there are several answers. In the first place, the President must appoint his new justices not merely with a view to their deciding in favor of the government with respect to N. R. A., Triple-A and the other measures the president has mentioned. The President must appoint his new justices with a view to future measures. We can safely surmise that it is the future measures that the President, consciously or unconsciously, has most in mind. The past measures that the Supreme Court has invalidated, N. R. A., Triple-A and the others, do not, by their absence, seriously inconvenience Mr. Roosevelt. The Administration and the country are doing very well without them. Moreover, even if the new justices were disposed, after a period of deference to the President, to become again independent, it would be difficult for them to do so. The country would not quickly reacquire confidence in the independence of the court. The new judges would be spoken of as the "President's judges."

And finally, the form of society which the New Deal contemplates cannot exist alongside an independent judiciary. For the functioning of such a society it is necessary that the courts be inactive. Those which find in favor of the government, and aid the government to carry out its will. If it were the Supreme Court alone that kept its independence, that would be dreadful enough. But the independence of the lower Federal courts, and of the state courts, depends upon the independence of the Supreme Court. It would be of little use for the lower courts to make independent decisions, to hold the balance even between the citizens and the government, if the cases on appeal were to be always decided in favor of the government. The tradition of an independent judiciary, the whole morale of all courts, would in time disappear. America would become a country in which the citizen would go into court knowing that the decision was predetermined against him.

South county (Ky) over its name to the large number of mineral and medicinal springs found within its confines. A tomato vine 18 feet high with 50 tomatoes was grown by J. H. Brantley of Petersburg, Va.

Six Stars In The Musical Romance At Ritz Theater

"Sing Me A Love Song," Cosmopolitan's latest musical comedy, at the Ritz Theater today, has James Melton, Patricia Ellis, Hugh Herbert, ZaSu Pitts, Allen Jenkins and Nat Pendleton in the stellar roles.

The story concerns a wealthy young man who falls heir to a department store. Knowing nothing about the management of it, he leaves it in the hands of two other men. When he finds out, however, that they are crooked, he enters the store as a clerk to find out what it is all about.

He falls in love with a pretty clerk, getting into one scrape after another through his devil-may-care attitude. When he and his girl finally land in jail, he makes his identity known. When his girl leaves him flat because of his tightness, he wakes up too himself, and takes charge of the business, in earnest.

High Court Given Severe Criticism By Law Professor

WASHINGTON, Mar. 18.—(AP)—Dean Leon Green, of the Northwestern University Law School, urged Congress today to pass the Roosevelt Court Bill in order to get "fair Court."

Green was cross-examined by the Senate Judiciary Committee after he made one of the most severe criticisms of the present Supreme Court that the Committee has heard to date.

Before another large crowd, Green asserted the majority of the Court had "assumed an attitude of intolerance, and displayed interference toward much recent legislation" submitted to it.

President Lazaro Cardenas, deposing 1937 "aviation year" in Mexico, announced 1,000,000 pesos ($277,000 U. S.) will be expended for new fighting planes.

Leslie Howard says Luckies are "tops" with his throat

"Years ago, as an ambitious young actor, I was impressed how well my throat liked Luckies and how well they suited my idea of a perfect cigarette. That impression still stands. In my recollection of 'Hamlet', with its many performances each week and the attendant tax on my throat, I have been convinced anew that this light smoke is both delightful to my taste and the 'top' cigarette for an actor's throat."

Leslie Howard

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Mr. Howard verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

Spirit Of Revolt Martyr Hovers In Spanish Cafes

Durruti, Noted Bank Robber, Used Loot To Aid Unfortunates; Was Mechanic In Railroad Shops

MADRID, Mar. 13.—(AP)—Buenaventura Durruti's body lies in its grave, but his spirit is still hovering in the Spanish cafes. This is the legend, much of it the work of the Robinhood of the Spanish civil war.

On July 14, 1894, Buenaventura was such a kindly boy that his playmate tells of seeing him take off his shoes to avoid trampling on ants. He disliked rough games, his said, just he hurt his knees. But he grew into a man powerful of body as if he were a giant.

He returned to Spain, and an anarchist party writings attribute to him the assassination of Cardinal Bertrando of Saragossa. He robbed banks, but every cent of loot, his admirers insist, went to anarchist organizations.

Through Argentina, Uruguay, Paraguay, Chile and Mexico, Durruti fled. Winding up in France again he was jailed for an attempt on Alfonso's life.

Released and expelled from France, he was denied asylum in Belgium and Luxembourg, and soon was driven from Berlin by German police.

For participating in the Spanish revolt in 1932, he was deported to Africa, and he once laughingly estimated that he spent half his time in jail from then until last July. Thenceforth he was to wander into Madrid cafes guarded like a prince by admirers armed to the teeth.

He was stern enough by then, according to cafe gossip, to line up and shoot 200 of his own men when he found them looting occupied territory.

But Frederica Montseny, minister of health, says that as a commander of Madrid's hetero-skier warriors he went barefoot again in the Aragon war camps when he learned that his men were without shoes, that he slept on the ground to give his "militias" a younger, older, or fatter soldier in his ranks.

And if a man came to him asking leave, Emma Goldman relates, his answer was a kindly narration of the loss such absence would mean to the comrades. If that failed, Durruti would order the man freed to go home, but on foot.

"By the time you reach your village," she quotes him as saying, "everyone will know that your courage failed you, that you have run away, shirked your self-imposed task!"

Few went, although his column was noted for its lack of military organization. He died in action on the Madrid front. His funeral in Barcelona called forth one of the largest demonstrations since the outbreak of the war. His legend, resounding through the cafes, calls for more fervor than could his swaggering presence.

China To Require Auto Fuel Reserve

NANKING, China, Mar. 13.—(AP)—Awakened to the fact that it takes a lot of motor fuel to keep a modern military force moving, China's defense experts have hit on the scheme of requiring every automobile owner to keep a 50-gallon oil reserve available on his premises at all times.

In event of war, this reserve automatically would become the property of the military, who found that motor fuel supplies now available would keep the war machine running for about two weeks.

Scandal sheets are out of favor in China. In Nanking, stories about love affairs, sexy court reports and similar subjects are banned.

A record total of 22,400,000 kronor (approximately $5,600,000) was donated in Sweden in 1933 for cultural and charitable purposes.

Horse and dog racing devotees who picked winners at Florida tracks last season collected $30,830,818, according to figures released by the state auditing department.

OPAL, Wyo., Mar. 13.—(AP)—Who wins when three black crows and a coyote meet in combat? Ed Drollet and Hershel Bon-durant, ranchers, said they saw a coyote running in circles, three crows flying noisily about him. They swooped in turn, clawing and pecking viciously. Finally, after 30 minutes, the coyote fell, exhausted, and the birds tore him to shreds, the ranchers said.

Man May Share Icarus' Dream to Soar Alone

Foot-Propelled Device For Flying Developed In Italy

MILAN, Mar. 13.—(AP)—Four men may share Icarus' dream of human flight as a result of the cycle-plane now undergoing tests here. The cycle-plane has no motor, consumes no gas or oil. All it requires for operation is a pair of sturdy human legs and a spirit of adventure.

The apparatus, a cross between a bicycle and a glider, was designed by Enzo Bossi, an American citizen of Italian origin, who is employed by a Philadelphia aviation company.

It is a small-cabin, high-wing monoplane, whose twin propellers receive power through a geared mechanism which the pilot operates with bicycle pedals.

In recent trials, Vittorio Bonomi, a boyhood friend of the inventor, piloted the novel apparatus five-tenths of a mile, which he asserted was a world record. Soon, he says, he hopes to make a flight between cities.

The cycle-plane is about 21 feet long, with a wing spread of 48 feet. Its propellers revolve in opposite directions. It weighs 210 pounds without a pilot, has an air speed of about 20 miles an hour and landing speed of less than five miles an hour.

The controls are manipulated entirely by hand to leave the feet free to generate power. In flight the pedals need be operated only occasionally between periods of coasting on favorable air currents.

Aviation enthusiasts here say the simplicity of operation and comparative safety will make it an ideal device for training student pilots.

Demand For Corn Seeds Exceeding Normal Supplies

Unexpected Yields From Hybrids Is Declared Cause

By PAUL D. SHORWAKER
Associated Press Farm Editor
CHICAGO, Mar. 17.—Unexpected yields of corn from hybrid seed under 1946's adverse conditions have caused the demand for such seed to exceed the supply. Commercial producers have reported that farmers are clamoring for suitable hybrids to plant this spring.

foliage, disease resistance, uniform maturity, drought and cold resistance, tolerance to injury by bugs and insects and capacity to utilize soil minerals and moisture efficiently. After years of inbreeding ears sometimes become small, almost like nibbles, but inherent qualities remain.

A hybrid is produced by crossing two or more unrelated inbred strains, which have developed certain outstanding individual characteristics. On large scale operations, hybrid seed is produced by planting the pure inbred strains in rows of varying number, one row of one strain to two, three or four rows of another. Tassels are removed from rows determined as the female parents before any pollen is shed. Rows where tassels are permitted to grow become the male parents and pollinate the other rows. Such fields are isolated from other corn to prevent wind-blown pollen from reaching them. Only corn produced by the female plant is used for hybrid seed.

A single-cross hybrid comes from two inbred strains, a three-way cross involves three strains. Corn produced from hybrid seed does not make good seed for the next year's planting. Hybrid seed sells for from $8 to $10 a bushel. A bushel will plant from seven to eight acres.

Meryle Morgan of Galis, Ill., one of the first commercial producers of hybrid, along with the Wallace of Iowa, calls hybrids "the corn of tomorrow."

"In the next year or two I think you will find that we will have some hybrids that will put our best corn of today completely in the background," Morgan says. "We are developing some stock now that we believe will be far better."

"You know any kind of corn can be produced if you have the patience. Commercial development of hybrid corn is so recent that only the surface has been scratched."

He sees a great opportunity ahead for farmers producing corn for industrial purposes.

Three Pigeons Are Hatched In 2 Eggs

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Mar. 18.—(AP)—One of Camille DeBock's pigeons hatched three squabs from two eggs, which DeBock says is the first time this has happened in 22 years he has been raising birds.

The egg containing the twins cracked lengthwise instead of around and the squabs came from each half of the shell. All three birds are perfectly formed and in good health.

Ceylon elephants are said to take three baths—voluntarily—each day.

Old Whist Club Has Two Ex-Champions

LIBDON, O., Mar. 18.—(AP)—Two former national champions are members of the 64-year-old Libdon Whist club, whose weekly sessions serve to keep alive the interpopular "grandfather" of contract bridge.

Dr. J. F. Steele, a member of the Libdon club for more than 40 years, claimed championship distinction for five for five successive years back at the turn of the century, and C. F. Wright, whose membership is of only slightly shorter duration, later gained the title.

The Libdon club, with 14 members, is believed the oldest between New York and Chicago.

Mrs. Zele Pixley of Brook, Nev., has a quart glass fruit jar made in 1858 which she says has been used every year since its purchase.

When lime is deficient in the soil, legumes cannot co-operate with nitrogen-fixing bacteria to form nodules on the roots, and the crop as a result will be poor or fail completely.

Gold was first discovered in the Black Hill region of South Dakota July 27, 1874, at the site of the town of Custer.

Last year many mid-western fields planted with hybrid seed, produced from controlled-pollinated stock, yielded 50 or more bushels to the acre while nearby fields seeded with open-pollinated varieties were a nearly complete loss.

Just as better livestock has been produced by intelligent breeding, the corn is being developed now in the search for "perfect seed."

The first step in producing a hybrid is to control the breeding of the corn plant, which has both male and female characteristics. This is known as inbreeding. This process of self-pollination is accomplished by placing a paper bag over a forming ear, before the silks appear, to prevent wind-blown pollen from reaching it.

The tassels of the same plant is covered with another bag into which the pollen falls. When the silks appear, the bag over the ear is removed and the bag containing the pollen is placed over the ear.

This inbreeding, using corn produced the previous year as seed, may be carried on up to seven years in the process of developing a pure strain. It is painstaking labor and frequently inbreeds showing poor traits are discarded after a few years.

The purpose is to bring out good characteristics, strong roots, good ears, sturdy stalks, good also to talk about. They are planning new constitutions.

The two military men who came to power in the countries during the political convulsions which followed the struggle both have indicated their sympathy for socialism. But how far either government will depart from the traditional federal pattern of the United States remains to be seen.

In Paraguay, Col. Rafael Franco, who has been president a year, proclaimed "totalitarianism" as one of his first acts but amended that to "a natural democracy of workers and peasants" in Bolivia. Col. David Toro proclaimed a "socialistic" state after taking office last May. He announced a 53-point program which provided for compulsory work by all able-bodied men, compulsory organization of workers and employers' syndicates, wage increases in accordance with higher living costs, insurance for employees in all commercial enterprises, and gradual nationalization of transports.

Toro's foes, however, assert that machinery to put these measures into effect has never been set up.

Some observers expect a compromise with a legislative house composed of representatives of workers and employers' syndicates, and a senate chosen by popular vote of the people.

Bolivia's constitutional commission will likely recommend a separation of church and state, it is understood, but this relation will not be disturbed in Paraguay.

Eclipse Of June Will Be Longest In Near Century Sun To Hide Face For Seven Minutes; Seen Best At Sea

By SAM JACKSON
(AP Feature Service Writer)
LACK OBSERVATORY, Mount Hamilton, Calif., Mar. 18.—(AP)—The longest total eclipse of the sun in more than a century will occur June 8, but to astronomers it is likely to be a total loss. The sun will be hidden completely for 7 minutes and 4 seconds, nearly an all-time record. Yet, scientists who last year hurried to points all the way from Greece to Japan to study a mere 2-and-a-half minute eclipse expect to pass this one up.

The reason is that it will follow a nearly landless course through the South Pacific, missing islands as effectively as if guided by a master mariner. The eclipse will start in the Ellice and Phoenix archipelagoes near Samoa, where the sun will rise entirely obscured. A rare sight to the layman, this means little to the astronomer because he can't effectively photograph an eclipse close to the horizon. As the sun climbs into the sky, the path of totality will cross the South Seas until it reaches Peru. There, near Cuzco, the ancient Inca capital, there will be a totaly eclipsed sunset. Hawaii and Mexico will see a partial eclipse and a very slight dent in the sun's disc will be visible in the southwestern United States.

From New Zealand to lonely little Canton Island will go on expedition under C. B. Michie to await the eclipse in its 4-minute stage. Los Angeles' Griffith observatory considered a trip to Christmas island but doubt that the island actually lies in the path of totality has about caused Director Dinsmore Alter to give up the idea. The isle most favorably located in the path of totality is Endeavour, an uninhabited atoll in the Phoenix group, but there is no anchorage and landing is dangerous.

A huge, American-built flying boat is to be placed in service in Japan by the Japan Air Transport company. The plane can carry 32 passengers besides two pilots, a mechanic and a steward. Tourist travel in Cuba reached near record proportions during the last year, 157,903 visitors entering the island as compared with 133,009 in the banner year of 1935-1936.

CANNED SALMON SHIPPMENTS FROM ALASKA IN 1936 SET AN ALL-TIME HIGH BOTH IN POUNDS AND VALUE. MORE THAN 407,000,000 POUNDS VALUED AT $46,173,176, WERE PACKED. THIS SINGLE YEAR'S CROP BROUGHT MORE THAN SEVEN TIMES THE AMOUNT UNCLE SAM PAID FOR "THE RUSSIAN ICE BOX."

AMERICANS IN 1935 CONSUMED MORE THAN 668 MILLION POUNDS OF CHEESE—THREE AS MUCH AS IN 1909. WHAT MARIE ANTOINETTE REALLY SAID WHEN SHE WAS TOLD THAT THE PEASANTS CRIED FOR BREAD WAS, "LET THEM EAT BRIOCHE."

Think Disease Took Sheep On Mountain

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Mar. 18.—(AP)—Disease apparently has wiped out the band of mountain sheep that tourists saw on lofty Pike's Peak.

Clyde McReynolds, chief caretaker for the Colorado Springs water department, was making frequent trips to the Pike's Peak region, said no trace of the sheep has been seen for months. He believes they died of the mouth and hoof disease. The band was infested with the disease several years ago, and medicine was placed in salt in the hope it might cure the animals. The band was very wild and tourists caught only distant glimpses of it.

Adelaide Kerr Declares There's No Use Now For 'Skeleton In Closet'

By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK, Mar. 18.—There is no excuse for a "skeleton in the closet" now. The fashion word has switched the spotlight and its brightest corner is on that dark spot and brightened it up in a way that makes disorder a disgrace. From the top of the highest shelf to the depths of the dimmest corner it has provided a set of orderly preferences which almost make it possible to find your red dancing slippers or black hat in the dark. No more fumbling through a jumbled pile of shoes or knocking over a row of wobbling hat racks. The modern closet is equipped with containers which enable you to see your way and can present a sight as your drawing room. The newest things are boxes for hats, shoes and gloves, made of a transparent plastic material which reveals what is inside. A number of women are also using them in their bureau drawers for gloves, handkerchiefs and artificial flowers. A larger edition for storage on top shelves has transparent sides and heavy, colored tops and bottoms which permit them to be stacked, after they have been packed with heavy things. The modern closet is also equipped with an entire ensemble of dress bags (holding from two to eight frocks), shoe and laundry bags all made of the same material, giving a harmonious color effect. Printed chintzes are the favorite fabric for making them at present, though plain colors can also be had. Transparent dress bags are also available and are preferred by some women, since they show at a glance what dress they contain, as well as protecting them from dust. Closet shelves are dressed up too with quilted chintz to match the dress bags or with a heavy colored paper of the same hue. Shoes can be stacked in one of the new three-tiered, metal racks and kept in good shape for long wear by inserting inexpensive shoe trees before they are put away. Many women, who like perfume as well as order in their wardrobes, fasten little satin sachets to dresshangers, so that their frocks take on a faint perfume as they hang. The age range of University of Florida students is 15 to 56. The Big Bend area in Texas contains what is believed to be the largest tree in the state. It is a section of a petrified tree trunk 10 feet in diameter and 40 feet long. Reindeer are the only deer of which both sexes bear antlers. A movement is under way to enact legislation to set up a state police patrol system in Georgia.

City League Teams Await Crucial Fray Tonight

Eckersons And St. Johns Primed For Title Battle

Canmors Are Rated Pre-Game Favorites; Rivermen Confident Of Breaking Through Zone Defense Of Opposition

The two leading teams of the city anxiously await the opening whistle tonight when they will make their bid for the championship of the Sanford City Baseball League as the Eckerson Canmors and the St. Johns River Line battle it out beginning at 8 o'clock on the Seminole High School court.

Rivalry from the start, the two are bitter court foes, their first contest of the season being abruptly concluded when two players, not participating in the contest at the time, engaged in a heated discussion which led to a suspension and an undue culmination of the game.

Following later to play off the unfinished engagement, the two clubs went as it took and nail with the Rivermen breaking through the Ekerson impregnable zone defense of the Eckersons to score a 6-17 win, giving up the fight for the first half game.

After that neither club could score until the last inning as the St. Johns vowed to hand the high-scoring Eckersons another setback while the latter were firm in their conviction that the St. Johns would become an easy victim. The Eckersons were right in their opinion except for the fact that the Rivermen were not easy victims, battling it out to the very last before bowing by a 36-31 count.

The Eckersons are rated an edge in tonight's fray, their height and their defensive play giving them a wall of defense for which they are famed, the Eckerson men will have their worries holding down the opposition.

However, the Rivermen, confident that they can break through that wall in the same manner they did in the first meeting, are set to give their foes a drubbing in the tie fray, making the grudge match take on the aspects of an exceptionally good row.

During their campaign of the season, the St. Johns lost to the Eckersons by a 31-26 count, then defeated Lake Mary, 32-11, Lakeland Cleaners, 19-11, and the Eckerson Cleaners, 24-17. In the second half of the season was a 40-18 victory, after which the Lake-Rivers fell, 42-14 and the Eckerson Cleaners came through with a 36-31 triumph.

The Eckersons, after opening their season with a forfeit win over the National Cleaners, came through by a 23-13 count against the Lake-Rivers, won 23-13 over the Lake Mary entry, defeated the St. Johns 24-15 and then lost to the Rivermen, 24-17 in the second half. They defeated the Lake-Rivers, 29-16 and then topped their rivals of tonight, the St. Johns, by a 36-31 count.

Linking up tonight in the starting positions for the Eckersons are Whidden and Gravitt, forwards, Eckerson, center, and Young or Gavock and Fox guard, while the Rivermen will consist of Altman and Higgins as the offensive, Hendon at the pivot post, and Kinlaw and Haganey at the guard terminals.

Charming Maid Is Winner In Ninth Race Last Night

Taking command when Big Boy lost his own race by cutting off the field as he crossed to the inside, Charming Maid capped honors in the feature race, the Saturday night, last night at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club track in Longwood.

She led the field from the start, and she was not overtaken until she was within a few feet of the finish line.

Her time was 1:10.4 for the 1/4 mile race. She was owned by J. M. Winters and trained by J. M. Winters.

Other winners in the feature race were: 2nd, Miss Maud; 3rd, Miss Maud; 4th, Miss Maud; 5th, Miss Maud; 6th, Miss Maud; 7th, Miss Maud; 8th, Miss Maud.

The hurling staff has not as yet gone to extremes in their warming up period, Milan's orders preventing them from possibly ruining their salary wings by hurried training.

The squad was augmented by a few players who arrived here for tryouts during the past few days. Included among these is Sanford "Sandy" Peelle, a former Cleveland chain player, who, last season at Monessen in the Pennsylvania State Association, averaged 305 in 311 trips to the plate, accounted for six home runs, six triples, and 22 doubles. Asking for, and obtaining his release from the Cleveland organization, Peelle is here endeavoring to gain a foothold with the Lookouts as a catcher.

It is likely that the squad will have its first full workout Saturday, prior to its initial exhibition encounter.

Lookouts Prepare For Exhibition Contest Sunday

Getting the kinks out of their season after being off the diamond over the winter months, the Chatsanooga Lookouts are now holding practices prior to engaging in more strenuous workouts in preparation for their contest Sunday at Longwood when they will meet the Rochester Club of the International League in the Lookouts' initial spring training game of their present season.

The drives some of the players have been making during the initial training sessions were pleasing to Clyde Milan, manager of the Chatsanooga team, and to Cal Griffith, president of the club, who is working out with his protegee. One of the longest drives was made by Bob Estrella, Cuban member of the squad who patrolled the outer pastures as a regular last year and seemingly has clinched his position again for the coming season.

The hurling staff has not as yet gone to extremes in their warming up period, Milan's orders preventing them from possibly ruining their salary wings by hurried training.

Center Jump Is Ruled Passe By Court Officials

Voicing almost without dissent the National Basketball Rules Committee last night eliminated the center jump, taking away from the game, a phase which had been in vogue for more than 10 years.

Except for the start of the first half and the start of the second half as well as following technical or double fouls, there will be no center jump at all.

Following a score from the field, the ball will be taken out of bounds by the opposing team, following the same plan now in use regarding converted fouls.

Harvard Prexy Is Against Court Plan

WASHINGTON, Mar. 18.—Dr. James R. Conant, president of Harvard University, has expressed his opposition to the Supreme Court plan to "seize" the executive branch of the government.

His attack was contained in an open letter to Senator Dwight D. Eisenhower, who is the author of the plan, and to Senator Charles McNary, who is the author of the plan.

Dr. Conant declared: "My opposition to the President's proposal is based primarily on one point. The Administration intends to bring about what seems to me to be a constitutional change without a special appeal to the country—an appeal which might have been submitted to the voters a few months ago."

Tobacco sold in the Owensboro, Ky., market this season netted growers $2,106,510.

In the town of Louisa, Va. (population 201), there are 53 widows and 39 maiden ladies.

Roosevelt Visits 'Other Home' In Georgia

With a cheery wave to many old friends gathered around the little wooden railway station at Warm Springs, Ga., President Roosevelt is shown leaving his special train for the short drive to the "Little White House" where he will spend a fortnight. Seated beside the President is his daughter-in-law Miss James Roosevelt, and at the right is Miss Marguerite Leland, one of his secretaries. (Associated Press Photo)

Pilot Killed, Seven Bail Out In Plane Crash

Lieut. Carlisle Phillips, pilot of a big army transport plane, was killed when the ship crashed near Greenville, Ala., but seven soldier companions bailed out and landed safely with parachutes. LAGUARDIA, LEWIS, JOHNSON BLAST NAZIS

A drive against Nazi doctrines in America got off to a booming start with a mass meeting in New York at which Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia (left), Labor Leader John L. Lewis (center) and former NRA Director Hugh Johnson fired their loudest guns against Hitlerism. They are shown speaking. Said LaGuardia: "Adolf Hitler is not personally or diplomatically sophisticated (interpreted by some as meaning Hitler is not worth meeting on the field of honor)." Said Lewis: "Nazi tactics have degraded German workers almost to serfdom." Said Johnson: "Adolf Hitler and his Nazis have become a sort of monster, threatening the peace of the world." JUSTICE McREYNOLDS FIRES BACK

The first retort from any member of the Supreme Court since President Roosevelt opened his criticisms of the tribunal came from Justice James C. He said: "The evidence of good sportsmanship is that a man, who has had a chance to prevent a fair trial to a fair tribunal, must be a good sport and accept the outcome."
