No settlement for soup kitchen

Motion to approve dies for lack of a second

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Sanford City Commission on Monday failed to approve the settlement of a lawsuit over a downtown soup kitchen, setting the stage for what may become a long and bitter legal battle.

The attorney for Seminole Volunteer Enterprises, which operates the soup kitchen at 407 W. 4th Street, and residents of the historic district who filed a lawsuit in January aimed at closing it, were both shocked that the settlement was not approved.

Seven historic district residents who filed a lawsuit against the city of Sanford agreed on March 30 to drop their suit if Jean Metts, director of Seminole Volunteer Enterprises (SVE), would limit the hours of operation and number of patrons served.

"I am totally shocked," said lead plaintiff Joe DeSantis. "We made the agreement in good faith. I thought it was a done deal. I'm frankly amazed at what happened."

Howard Marks, the attorney representing Seminole Volunteer Enterprises, also said he is also surprised by the City Commission's actions.

"We thought this was a win-win settlement for all parties," Marks said. "It addresses the plaintiffs concerns, our concerns and the city's concerns. We

Two injured in Monday wreck

Emergency crews clean up following a wreck at 13th Street and U.S. Highway 17-92 Monday afternoon. Joseph Lee Herron Jr. was driving westbound on 13th Street, attempted to turn left onto 17-92, and pulled in front of a vehicle driven eastbound by Cynthia McDonald. McDonald's vehicle flipped upon impact, and she and a passenger, Ruby McDonald were pulled from the car. Cynthia McDonald was taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital, while Ruby McDonald was airlifted to Orlando Regional Medical Center. Sanford Police Officer David Morganstern said Herron will be cited for violation of right-of-way, and violation of drivers' license.

Sanford approves restrictions for reclaimed, potable water

Demand for reclaimed water is surpassing city's ability to deliver

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Because of dry weather conditions, the Sanford City Commission on Monday approved water restrictions for both potable and reclaimed water users.

This is the third consecutive year that water restrictions have been enacted in the city. Flows to Sanford's water reclamation facility have been decreasing. Demand for reclaimed water is surpassing the city's ability to meet them, said Paul Moore, director of utilities for Sanford.

Demands for potable water have also increased, although not as drastically as the reclaimed water demands. Moore said that water restrictions are needed to avoid problems that would stem from low water pressure.

FDOC wants motorists' opinions

Surveys to be conducted soon regarding I-4 plans

By Russ White
Staff Writer

The Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) soon will be looking for a few good drivers to give their opinions about the use of planned Interstate 4 express lanes.

Work could begin late this year on construction of a reversible express lane on I-4 from Altamonte Springs to downtown Orlando.

The lane, which would operate westbound during the morning rush and eastbound in the evening will be in a median and separated from the general use by a barrier wall.

The project is an interim step to help ease rush hour I-4 congestion until express lanes are added in each direction as part of the ultimate build-out of the Interstate.

Although the current plan for I-4 would restrict use of the express lane to High Occupancy Vehicles (HOV), some community leaders have advocated High Occupancy Toll (Hot) lanes instead. This, they say, would help ease traffic and raise funds to hasten the ultimate I-4 improvements.

The impending surveys are designed to help determine, among other things, to what extent Central Florida motorists would utilize such toll facility in sufficient numbers to make the expense of its installation worthwhile.

Among the questions FDOT will be asking are, do you favor:

- An HOV lane for car pools and busses?
- An exclusive lane for truck traffic?
- A lane for through traffic that will pay a toll?
- A combination of HOV traffic and those willing to pay a toll to use it?

The surveys will be a cooperative effort of the Central Florida (District 5) and Turnpike Districts of the FDOT and the Orlando-Orange County Expressway Authority. A consulting firm under contract to the FDOT will conduct the motorist survey — the schedule for this pending. An FDOT official said information will be made available soon.

Lake Mary creates plan for downtown development nity." Lake Mary Senior Planner Susan Deines said. "We envision a quaint village-like concept, and we think that is what the people want."

In 1991, a private firm hired by the city conducted a study which indicated the village-like concept was most appealing to city residents. In the same year, the city's Comprehensive Plan included a designated area for downtown development.

Four years later, Bruce Anderson and Associates expanded on the initial study by conducting a general market analysis and determining general infrastructure needs and initial cost estimates. The results showed there was a potential market for businesses such as antique stores and repair and specialty shops.

Deines said the city began seriously looking at developing downtown in 1996 when City Commission appointed a

In the lineup but batting out of order

To be mentioned in the Sports Pages of Sunday's Orlando Sentinel as part of that newspaper's "Tradition of Journalistic Excellence" touched my heart and tickled my funny bone.

I thought I was seeing things — Russ White's name reappearing in the Sentinel. We parted ways, you know, five years ago. I was causing the editors so much grief that they decided to trade me to the Herald for a correspondent to be named later and a stapler. Some say it was a bad deal for the Herald.

I'd grown old, of course, and had become a problem on the Sentinel too. That's right — we'd play basketball on the Sentinel building roof on Wednesday. One day, I elbowed a newsroom big shot. My popularity soared but my position was soon lost.

Life at the Sentinel — believe it or not — was far more exciting than the newspaper itself.

Russ
White

• • • • •

Dave Burgin, the best editor of the best newspaper in Florida threatened to "torch himself" if the Sentinel writers and editors didn't get a grip on things. He soon quit.

When the paper's religion writer took a job as a Mormon missionary, the Sentinel turned to me for religion writing. "God works in strange ways," a spokesman for The Catholic Diocese marveled. No stranger than the way the Sentinel works, I thought.

Here's the deal — the Sentinel brass figured since I was a smart aleck sportswriter, I'd be hot as hell as a religion writer. The editors loved it when I called Oral Roberts' Tulsa theme park, "Six Flags Over Jesus." They were pleased, however, when I went easy on the pope. "Stay away from the spirituality stuff — it's mush," one boss said.

I didn't find that much difference between writing sports and writing religion. Both beats require dealing with deities and martyrs, and big crowds on Sundays. After a year and a half, the Sentinel editors preferred I stick to sports and forget religion.

Well, like a trooper I went back to covering All-Star games and the World Series, spring training camps. Tough stuff that someone had to do. Remember the San Francisco earthquake in 1989? I was there for that. Wrote my story from the parking lot at Candlestick Park (we renamed it Wrigley Stadium).

The Sentinel gave extensive coverage to efforts being made to bring major league baseball to Florida. Miami was awarded the first, St. Petersburg the second. Orlando was a player in the first expansion go-round but not much of one in the second. I hadn't given much thought to all this until seeing the item in Sunday's newspaper.

It was nice being in the lineup one more time even if batting out of order.

Russ White's column appears daily in the Seminole Herald.

Caladiums considered angel's wings of tropical foliage

Caladiums are botanically related to other ornamental foliage plants such as Anthuriums, dumb cane, and elephant ears. These tropical foliage plants are native to West Indies and the Amazon basin in Brazil.

According to some authors, the name is derived from the Malay word keladi meaning plant with edible roots. In fact, some plants of this family such as Taro and Malanga are grown in the tropics and South Florida for their edible corms or tubers.

Two different leaf-types are available — the fancy and lance leaves caladiums. The most popular and familiar is the fancy leaved caladium, that have large, beautifully colored, heart-shaped leaves. The lance leaved type have narrow, elongated leaves that taper to a sharp point and a more compact, dwarf growth habit.

Planting And Culture

Plant caladiums in a moderately rich well-prepared soil bed, in a shaded or partly shaded location. Soils for caladiums should be porous and contain plenty of organic matter. These conditions insure aeration drainage, and sufficient water holding capacity for optimum growth.

To obtain these soil conditions it will be necessary to amend our sandy soils with organic matter. Sources of organic matter include coarse peat moss, well-rotted manure, or composted yard and kitchen waste. Tubers should be planted two inches deep and about 18 inches apart. Pack the soil firmly around them when planting. In the fall, leaves may be cut away, and tubers dug up and stored in dry, cool conditions. Tubers could also be left in the soil — they will be back in the spring.

Light Requirements

The caladiums are rugged, but most species will not tolerate full sun in the summer. For best results, plant caladiums in a semi-shaded location. About 40 percent to 60 percent shade is considered ideal. Fancy leaved varieties can be used in areas exposed to full sun for short periods, preferably in the cooler morning hours. Longer exposure destroys the chlorophyll in the leaves and limits growth. Over exposure to full sun may cause foliage bleaching or even burning of the thinner leaved varieties.

Fertilization

A complete fertilizer should be mixed with the soil and organic matter at planting time. A minimum of 2 pounds of a complete fertilizer, such as, 8-8-8 per 100 square feet (two teaspoons per square foot) is suggested. Thereafter, apply 1 pound of 8-8-8 fertilizer per 100 square feet (one teaspoon per square foot) each month during the growing season.

Varieties

Caladiums come in a wide choice of colors. The popular and White Christmas varieties are white with strongly contrasting green.

Popular pink or rose colored leaves appear on such varieties as Lord Derby, Pink Cloud, Kathleen, Rosebud, Carolyn Whorton and others. Crimson Wave has a showy crimson crinkled center.

Red varieties include: Blaze, John Peel, Red Flare and Freida Temple. Dark green veins and borders give added accent to the red leaves. Spangled Banner has red glowing leaves with pink spots.

Pests

The most serious pests on caladium are chewing insects such as caterpillars that chew leaves and damage the plants. Remove caterpillars by hand or use a biological insecticide like Dipel or Thuricide to control them.

Whether in a container, in masses or as border material this popular summer tuber will provide color to the home garden all summer long for very little cost and maintenance.

Mom glad son views marriage as partnership

DEAR ABBY: I feel the need to respond to "Curious," regarding who should write thank-you notes.

When my son and his wife were married, they decided that it would be a joint effort, with each responding to the gifts from their own family and friends, and working together on those for mutual friends. I had several of my friends and family members compliment me on what wonderful thank-you notes they received — and they were very impressed that he had written them.

When he was young, I impressed upon him the fact that household responsibilities are for all who live in the home, not designated to certain genders. I came from a home with all sisters, and we helped with all duties. His father came from a home with all brothers, and I know he would never write a thank-you note because this would have never been expected in his family. I am proud and pleased that my son assumes and shares all responsibilities with his spouse. The husband of "Curious" needs to get a clue!

PROUD MOTHER IN OGDEN, UTAH

DEAR PROUD MOTHER: Orchids to you. You have done your job well, and you deserve to be proud. Whether it's conscious or unconscious, mothers have tremendous influence on the attitudes they impart to their sons — and you seem to have imparted a sense of gender neutrality to yours.

DEAR ABBY: Last summer, my Cadillac "died" amidst busy traffic in a rundown area of town. I had to walk quite a ways before finding a telephone to summon help. When I returned to the car, I "directed" traffic around it for at least 45 minutes.

During that time, 17 people stopped and offered to push my vehicle to the curb or phone for assistance. I thanked them all, but said help was on the way. One lady even offered to let me sit in her air-conditioned car to wait, as it was a hot day. When I refused with thanks, she handed me a cold can of pop!

Finally a nice man parked on a side street, walked back and said he wanted to help me, even though I said help was coming. He replied, "If my mother were in trouble, I would want someone to help her!" Then he got my car started and insisted on following me all the way to the Cadillac agency (at least 10 blocks). These wonderful good Samaritans all stopped during their busy day to help a stranger!

I am a 67-year-old Caucasian woman, Abby, and 16 of those 17 people who stopped were black. When my local paper chose not to print this, I hoped that you would. It is a true testament of compassion, when all we seem to read about is the bad side of life.

Downtown Development Advisory Committee (DDAC) to study the feasibility of downtown development.

Following its creation, DDAC, along with City Commission, authorized Miller-Sellen and Associates to perform a development feasibility study. Last April, Phase I of the study was published and included a detailed planning, economic and market analysis, growth projections and development yield projects, as well as a cost/benefit analysis for the city.

Phase II of the Miller-Sellen report, published in February, focused on various financing mechanisms for the city.

In March, City Commission held a strategic planning session focusing on major issues facing the city. City officials determined development of the downtown district is a priority and discussed hiring an outside consultant to determine the continued feasibility of the project.

The most recent discussion for developing the city's downtown district occurred last week during City Commission's Comprehensive Plan work session.

According to Deines, the city uses the state-mandated Comprehensive Plan to project outward development. It steers the city's long term, long range development goals.

There are eight elements in the plan, including the future land use, which governs the city's zoning. The last update to the plan was made in 1991.

During the work session, Deines presented the Commission with numerous proposed amendments to the city's Future Land Use Map, including zoning changes in the proposed Downtown District.

The two amendments for the project included creating core and transitional districts for downtown development, Deines said. However, Commission decided against creating the transitional district.

The core district will support primary business interests while the transitional district would have supported mixed office and residential property.

Currently, the core district is zoned for numerous uses, including residential. Once the zoning district is established, zoning will include PO, professional office, C-1, general commercial and PUD, planned unit development. New residential development shall not be permitted.

The core district is approximately 36 acres, and the property is owned by various private owners. The area includes property situated within the confines of Lake Mary Boulevard, Fourth Street, Wilbur Avenue and First Street.

"This is a unique design and a unique zoning district," Deines said.

The proposed transitional district included the blocks surrounding the core district. Zoning would have included a mix of office and residential uses.

Due to community, Commission decided against including a transitional district for the Downtown project.

A public hearing and first reading of the Comprehensive Plan is scheduled for April 20 during Commission's regular meeting. A work session will precede the meeting.

If Commission approves the plan, it will be sent to the state Department of Community Affairs for review, Deines said. Once the state finishes its review, City Commission will address the state's suggestions and will eventually hold the second reading of the plan.

Deines said she believes the second reading of the Comprehensive Plan will be in September.

water customers who continually fail to comply with the water restrictions may receive up to a $50 fine.

The area's rainfall deficit through February was 3.73 inches, and in March only .44 of an inch of rain was received.

Under the restrictions, homes and businesses with even numbered addresses may irrigate on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 4 p.m. to 10 a.m. No irrigation may occur between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Units with odd numbered addresses may irrigate on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 4 p.m. to 10 a.m. No irrigation may occur between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

No irrigation may occur on Sunday.

The washing of mobile equipment such as automobiles, trucks and trailers will be allowed. Low volume washing must be performed with the use of an automatic shutoff nozzle and on porous areas.

Commercial or home improvement projects requiring the washing of outdoor hard-surfaced areas are also allowed. Routine washing of hard-surfaced areas is prohibited unless performed by a commercial service.

Irrigation for new lawns and landscaping will be exempt from the restrictions for the initial 30 days. Meanwhile, irrigation which uses well water must comply with the St. Johns River Water Management District's year-round restrictions of no watering between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Slow claims payments by health maintenance organizations has been a leading complaint among consumers, doctors, hospitals and other medical providers across Florida, and has been the focus of a 13-month examination by the state Department of Insurance.

Additionally, the orders against the companies charge that each HMO denied car accident injury claims "without ever conducting a reasonable investigation."

And United Healthcare was charged with also handling workers compensation claims the same way. Those charges are based on procedures spelled out in the companies' policy manuals.

Nelson said between them, the two companies have over 615,700 individuals and group enrollees in Florida, plus another 226,000 in Medicaid and Medicare plans that aren't regulated by the state insurance department.

The two HMOs now have 21 days from receipt of Nelson's orders to request a hearing to challenge the charges, or face a penalty. Nelson said in the orders to show cause, the fine for United would be $100,000 and for Physicians Healthcare, it would be $75,000.

According to Nina Bodner at Nelson's office, if the state does win the judgements against the two companies, "the money would go into the department's General Trust Fund, to help finance further or additional investigations and improve consumer services."

The investigation actually started as the result of a large number of complaints against SunStar Health Plan, Inc., which covered about 86,000 Floridians.

Examiners discovered not only chronic delays in making payments, but also that SunStar was in serious financial trouble. As a result, two months ago, the state took over the company and its policyholders have been offered coverage with other HMOs.

The two HMOs now have 21 days from receipt of Nelson's orders to request a hearing to

Youth Workforce gets local voice

From staff reports

SANFORD - Larry Strickler, Regional Manager for BellSouth in Central Florida, has been appointed to the statewide Youth Workforce Development Council under Enterprise Florida. Strickler's appointment gives Central Florida a voice at the state level, to push for innovation and help plan for the local area's future in youth programs.

The challenge for the statewide Youth Workforce Development Council is to identify the key leverage points that could transform the entire youth education/workforce development system - to better prepare our youth for success in the workforce.

"Workforce development is a strategic initiative which helps match employer and workplace needs through education and skills training," Strickler said. "This is true for both adults and youth. My focus is on our youth as future employees."

In Florida, the statewide council is similar to the school-to-work councils in other states. The council will review current youth programs across the state that are funded through the Workforce Investment Act (WIA), compile a best practices strategy, and advise the State Workforce Development Board on youth programs.

Strickler was instrumental in the development of a successful local youth program in Central Florida known as EXCEL. Alternatives. This program was designed to offer a second chance to middle and high school students who have been expelled from school.

Strickler, who serves on the local workforce development board, has over 20 years experience in local workforce development, education and economic development. His experience includes four years as a Seminole County School Board member, Chairman of the Seminole County Private Industry Council, inaugural chairman of the first statewide school-to-work council, board member of Take Stock in Children, and many other activities.

"We need a workforce development delivery system that meets the needs of our local and global job markets," Strickler said. "With this approach we should be able to get our youth and their parents to see the relevance of education and the career opportunities as they move through a lifelong learning process."

Lundblad stationed in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS — For most, this legendary town famous for gambling, showgirls and venues from the top names in show biz, the city's "strip" is a party atmosphere 24 hours a day, seven days a week. For the son of a Longwood woman, Las Vegas holds a dramatically different image.

For Airman 1st Class Jason Lundblad, son of Steven and Joann Lundblad of Longwood, his trip to Vegas was amid a vast barren desert where he and more than 1,000 pilots, maintenance, supply and support crews from the U.S., Britain and Turkey converged to determine who was the best of the best.

Dubbed "Red Flag," this multinational exercise pitted the best air and support crews from each country in an exercise that simulated air-to-air combat, gunnery competitions and aircraft support, such as refueling, in an actual combat situation.

"Red Flag provides an opportunity for pilots and aircraft maintenance crews to work in an environment that mimics a combat zone as closely as possible," Lundblad said, a 1993 graduate of Beantley High School. "It's challenging because every team member is responsible for getting our aircraft off the ground and into combat. If one person doesn't perform at the best of their ability, we could lose a pilot."

Lundblad made the journey to the middle of the Nevada desert with the 55th Fighter Squadron from Shaw Air Force Base, S.C., allowing a rare opportunity to exchange ideas with other aviators specialists from British and Turkish air forces participating in Red Flag. However, Lundblad's main objective is to apply job knowledge while under combat pressure and under the watchful eye of Red Flag officials, who critique the work performances of the exercise participants.

"I'm an avionics specialist," Lundblad said. "I'm responsible for maintaining and repairing the electrical systems on our fighter jets. I work on a variety of electrical systems like the jet's oxygen, communications, flight control and radar systems."

Over the last 25 years, Red Flag has evolved from a handful of participants into the world's largest aerial wargame. Simulating the first 10 days of a combat environment, Red Flag puts young pilots and maintenance crews from around the world against each other in an environment that mimics an actual war zone.

While Lundblad may not get to watch Wayne Newton on stage, or hear the cascade of coins from "one armed bandits," he will leave Las Vegas knowing he's among the best at what he does.

thought it was pretty reasonable. For the City Commission to hinder the agreement, it's astonishing."

The mediation agreement limited the number of persons fed on site meals to 50 per day. Meals could only be served Monday, Tuesday and Friday from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Previously, meals were served three times per week for up to 100 people at a time, without time limits.

Now, the matter will go back to court. Circuit Judge Thomas Freeman at 1:30 p.m. today will hold a hearing regarding the plaintiffs' request for an injunction of a parking waiver granted by the City Commission in November which enables SVE, located at 407 W. 4th Street, to serve meals.

Commissioner Whitey Eckstein motioned for the settlement to be approved, but the motion failed for lack of a second. Commissioner Velma Williams reached for the gavel in the hopes that Mayor Larry Dale would make a second, but did not say anything herself as the motion failed.

After the meeting, Williams said that she favors the mediation settlement being accepted. However, she said she did not want a vote to wind up in a 2-2 tie. Williams said that had a vote been taken, she did not believe that the matter could be reconsidered at a future meeting. She plans to propose that the mediation settlement be accepted at the next commission meeting, April 24.

"When I realized it would be a 2-2 tie, I thought it would enhance my chances of bringing it back up again if we don't vote on it," Williams said. "I was thinking that this thing is going to fall apart if we vote. When there's a tie vote, you don't accomplish anything."

Because no vote was taken, anyone on the commission can motion for the mediation to be accepted at a future meeting. Had the vote finished in a 2-2 tie, the motion to reconsider could have only come during the next commission meeting, according to the city's rules of procedure.

DeSantis, the lead plaintiff, said he does not know whether April 24 will be too late for a mediation settlement.

"We're in court (today)," DeSantis said. "We're in a quandary here."

Mayor Larry Dale, who was present at the mediation negotiations and acknowledges that the settlement represented a favorable deal for the city, said he may or may not have voted in favor of accepting the settlement had it come to a vote.

However, Dale said that because he has taken personal criticism for his stance that the parking waiver granted in November violates the city's land development regulations, he did not think it was his place to second the motion.

"Had Velma (Williams) seconded the motion, she may have been surprised at what would have happened," Dale said. "I did not come in there with a mind set to defeat the settlement. But, I did not think it was up to me to second the motion."

Commissioner A.A. "Mac" McClanahan missed his fourth consecutive meeting because of illness. He said last week that he favors accepting the settlement. McClanahan's absence left only four commissioners present.

"Had Mac been here I think things would have been much different," said City Commissioner Brady Lessard. Lessard, who represents the historic district, said he opposed accepting the settlement because the parking waiver granted in November violates the city's Land Development Regulations.

Without a parking variance, city codes would require 20 parking spaces for a restaurant serving 50 people. Seminole Volunteer Enterprises does not have onsite parking. Lessard believes that the waiver set a precedent that may make it difficult for the city to turn down future waiver requests.

"I would love to see the city get out of legal jeopardy."

Lessard said, "But, I don't think this provided the opportunity."

Meanwhile, Eckstein said he is disappointed that his motion to approve the settlement failed. He has consistently supported the programs at Seminole Volunteer Enterprises.

"We should be glad that we have somebody who is willing to take on the responsibility of feeding the poor," Eckstein said. "There is a need."

Depending upon the rulings in Judge Freeman's courtroom, meals may resume today. Appeals Judge Debra Nelson issued a 90-day stay order in March which prohibits meals from being served pending mediation.

City Attorney William Colbert and the plaintiffs claim that the 90-day stay order is still in effect, pending today's hearing. However, Marks, a Winter Park attorney representing SVE, claims that because the mediation was attempted, meals can now be served.

Casselberry man charged with lewd behavior at Oviedo Mall

By Bill Korme
Staff Writer

OVIEDO — A Winter Springs father who took his children to see the Easter Bunny at the Oviedo Marketplace on Sunday wound up alerting police after he saw a man exposing himself to children.

Frank Roca, 32, said that when he arrived at the mall with his two children at about 1 p.m., he saw the man expose himself, according to a police report.

the family walked about 75 feet away where the man had moved.

Roca told investigators he saw the man expose himself to a girl who appeared to be about 12 years old. He said his children did not see what was going on.

Roca asked a store clerk to call 911, then went to the man and asked him to stay seated until a police officer arrived.

Oviedo police arrested 41-year-old Jose R. Robon, of 257 N. Post Way, Casselberry, and charged him with a lewd and lascivious act in the presence of a child under age 16. Seminole County Jail officials said he was released on a $10,000 bond.

FWC's Rosado is Officer of the Year

TALLAHASSEE - When nobody gets arrested and nobody gets hurt, Law Enforcement Officer Dave Rosado of Duval County believes his profession is at its best. When crimes and accidents don't happen, that's when Rosado feels law enforcement officers have accomplished the ultimate goal of the job.

Shupe Outdoors

That's the attitude and professionalism that earned Rosado the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission's (FWC's) Law Enforcement Officer of the Year Award. He is the first officer to receive the award for the new agency, which came into existence last year.

Col. Bob Edwards, director of the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission's (FWC's) Division of Law Enforcement, presented the award to Rosado March 14 during a banquet at the Florida Capitol.

The Marine Industries Association of Florida hosted the banquet in the officer's honor and presented him a framed print of Florida wilderness scenery in appreciation for Rosado's job performance.

"Over the years, Officer Rosado's performance has served as a benchmark for excellence, consistency and professionalism for his chosen profession," Edwards said. "He is a field training officer, academy counselor and instructs DUI/DWI (boating-under-the-influence/driving-under-the-influence law enforcement techniques) at the academy and on a local level. Officer Rosado has taken a proactive approach to DUI enforcement."

Rosado does make his share of arrests when he has to. He made 445 total arrests during 1999 and issued 1,058 warnings. He also conducted 1,139 boating safety inspections.

"In over 3,000 citizen contacts by Officer Rosado, not one resulted in a bad experience (citizen complaint)," Edwards said. "That's remarkable."

Edwards said the FWC is particularly proud of Rosado's project, Operation Life Ring. The operation was the largest multi-agency DUI detail in the state. It was a year-long enforcement effort during which hundreds of boating and fishing pamphlets and educational materials went out to boaters.

"Our agency has noticed a considerable increase in citizens using 'designated operators' (non-drinking boat drivers) on the water in Duval County, which is a direct result of Operation Life Ring," Edwards said.

WINTER PARK - Winter Park scored two goals in the final five minutes to erase a Lake Mary lead for the third time in the game and held off the Rams, 7-6, in a boys lacrosse Central Florida High School Conference contest at Rollins College Monday night.

Lake Mary (7-6) led 3-0 in the first quarter and 6-5 in the fourth quarter, but could not hold off the Wildcats (8-4).

After the Rams built the 3-0 lead, Winter Park scored a goal late in the first quarter and the only two goals of the second to tie the game at 3-3 at halftime.

Lake Mary regained the lead in the third quarter, but the Wildcats rallied again, scoring twice with a man advantage to take a 5-4 lead after three periods.

Lake Mary came back to tie the game on a goal by David Wong and then took its final lead, 6-5, with five minutes left on time by Greg Padriza.

But Winter Park again came off the deck to claim the win on a game-winning goal by Kyle Lantigan.

Alan Lynch led the way for the Wildcats with two goals and ten assists. Also contributing were Collin Turner (two goals), Steve Bierman (one goal, four assists), Thi Le (one goal, one assist) and Lantigan (one goal).

Doing the scoring for the Rams were Ken Ho (two goals, one assist), Wong (two goals), Padriza and Stuart Banks (one goal each) and David Sloan and Chad Sloan (one assist each).

Lake Mary will host Colonial at Don T. Reynolds Stadium at 7 p.m. on Wednesday.

SANFORD - If the first night of the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Women's Spring Slow Pitch Softball League is any indication of what is to come, this is going to be a good season.

Sunniland Corporation scored six runs in the bottom of the third inning to erase a 4-2 deficit and held on for a 9-7 victory over FBI in the first game last Tuesday night at Pinckney Park.

In the nightcap, the Sharks scored two runs in the top of the seventh inning to break a 9-9 tie, then turned a huge double play with runners on first and second with no one out in the bottom of the seventh inning to hold off Donnie's Darlings, 11-10.

The league will play another doubleheader tonight at Pinckney Park beginning at 7 p.m.

AVON PARK - Former Seminole High, American Legion Post 53 and Sanford Recreation baseball league star Chaz Lytle made an amazing freshman season at South Florida Community College even more memorable when he was named the Florida Junior College Player of the Month for March.

Lytle, who learned the game under his father, Charlie, and Seminole High and Post 53 coaches Mike Powers and Rod Ferguson, hit .556 for the month with seven extra-base hits, eight RBI and three stolen bases.

For the season Lytle is hitting .330 with 20 stolen bases and has struck out just seven times in 180 at bats this season, which is believed to be close to a state record for lowest TBS.

Knights of Columbus, Central Baptist renew Church Softball battle

By Dean Smith

SANFORD - Only two weeks into the season and it appears two old enemies are on a collision course for another championship battle.

The Knights of Columbus and Sanford Central Baptist Church have rolled to pair of victories in the A Division of the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Spring Church Slow Pitch Softball League at Zinn Beck Field.

The Knights of Columbus outscored Westview Baptist Church 23-14 in the opener last week, then topped Christians United 19-7 last night.

Sanford Central Baptist Church thumped Christians United 17-1 in its opener last Monday and then walked past Westview Baptist Church 25-11 last evening.

With eight teams in the league this season, there is also B-Division and in the B-Division, Lightbridge Baptist Church beat Sanford Church of Christ, 15-5 last week, and Sanford First Church of the Nazarene held off Centro Cristiano, 19-17, last night.

After two weeks in the season, in the A Division, Sanford Central Baptist Church and the Knights of Columbus are both 2-0, while Christians United and Westview Baptist Church are both 0-2.

In the B Division, Sanford First Church of Christ and Sanford Lightbridge Baptist Church are both 1-0 and Centro Cristiano and Lightbridge Baptist Church are both 0-1.

Each team will play the other three teams in its division twice and play the four teams in the other division once and then there will be a post-season tournament to decide the champion.

Next Monday night will feature a pair of B Division battles and an A Division encounter for early leadership at Zinn Beck Field.

In the B Division, Centro Cristiano challenges Sanford First Church of Christ at 6:30 p.m. and Lightbridge Baptist Church tackles Sanford First Church of the Nazarene at 7:30 p.m. At a 30 p.m. will be the heavy-weight A Division struggle between Sanford Central Baptist Church and the Knights of Columbus.

LAKE MARY - The Seminole Community College softball team suffered through another tough weekend, dropping a doubleheader to Santa Fe Community College in Gainesville on Thursday and then splitting a doubleheader with Miami-Dade Community College at Lake Mary High School on Friday.

The Saints won the opening game of the Mid-Florida Conference doubleheader in Gainesville by scoring an unearned run in the bottom of the sixth inning, 1-0.

Hummel led off the inning with a double, just the fifth hit allowed by Oviedo's Sarah Reeber (10-3). Shu, Colzie followed with a bunt single and then stole second, giving Santa Fe runners on first and second with no one out.

But Reeber appeared like she might get out of the inning, getting ground out and a pop up to the infield. But after a walk to load the bases, a throwing error by Lake Howell's Jen Gillespie allowed Hummel to trot home with the winning run.

The Saints didn't give the Raiders a chance in the nightcap, scoring eight runs over the first three innings and coasting to a 9-2 victory.

SCC finally won a thriller of its own in the opening game of Friday's non-conference doubleheader as Lake Mary High, scoring a run in the bottom of the seventh inning to win 1-0.

SCC baseball team gets big split

SANFORD - Lake Mary's Shawn St. Dennis had a big day in his return to Seminole County, but the host Seminole Community College baseball team pulled off a major upset in the nightcap of its Mid-Florida Conference doubleheader with Santa Fe Community College Saturday at Raider Field.

St. Dennis, the former football and baseball star for the Rams, hit a two-run home run in his final at bat in the first game and a three-run home run in his first at bat in the second game for the Saints.

But this was very nearly the Raiders' day.

SCC took leads of 2-0 and 4-3 before the Gainesville visitors battled back to take a 7-4 lead, the final two runs coming on St. Dennis' home run, heading into the bottom of the seventh inning (the final one when double-header is played).

The Raiders were able to mount a rally, however, with Adam Shorts, who singled, scoring on a wild pitch. Christian Corvo, who walked, scoring on a bunt single by Carlos Vera, and Ben Johanning, who singled, scoring the tying run on a sacrifice fly by Oviedo's Rich Rodriguez, and sending the game into extra innings even at 7-7.

But SCC ran out of miracles as Chris Cooper blasted a game-winning, two-run home run in the top of the eighth inning to give the Saints a 9-7 triumph.

Santa Fe looked to be in good shape for a sweep as St. Dennis' three-run shot keyed a four-run top of the first inning.

Santa Fe tacked on a run in the top of the second inning to give the visitors a 5-0 lead.

The Raiders finally got on the board in the bottom of the third inning getting a solo home run from Shorts.

SCC then exploded for six runs in the bottom of the fourth inning with a two-run double by Jared Bahrnsen being the big blow.

The Saints got a run back in the top of the fifth inning, cutting the deficit to 7-6, but the Raiders answered with an insurance run of their own in the bottom of the sixth inning as Shorts led off with a triple and Corvo hit a sacrifice fly off of Oviedo's Chris Richardson, who prepped at Bishop Moore and played for Sanford American Legion Post 53 last summer.

Bahrnsen made the lead stand up, throwing two innings of one-hit relief, striking out two, to secure the victory for Mathew Baker and earn his first save of the year.

With the split, SCC improved to 13-32 overall and 6-16 in the conference, while Santa Fe fell to 16-20 overall and 14-8 in the M-FC.

Today, the Raiders travel to Daytona Beach Community College for a 3 p.m. conference game and on Thursday continue up the state to Gainesville to battle Santa Fe Community College in an M-FC game at 3 p.m.

On Saturday, April 15th, SCC

Ron Mercer followed up a 17-point effort in a 82-80 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers on Sunday with a 14-point output on Monday, but Ray Allen poured in 33 points as the Milwaukee Bucks clobbered the Orlando Magic 104-87.

The loss dropped the Magic's record to 38-38, while the Bucks improved to 38-39, just a game back of Orlando in the race for the eighth spot in the playoffs. The loss was also hard because now Milwaukee has the tie-breaker over the Magic should they end the season with the same record and also came on the same night that Orlando could have moved into a tie for the No. 7 seed as the Detroit Pistons lost, dropping their record to 40-37.

SEMINOLE GIRLS SOFTBALL TEAM HAS BIG WEEKEND

SANFORD - The Seminole High School softball team picked up a couple of big wins in the past few days, claiming a 4-0 district victory over Lake Howell on Thursday behind a four-hitter from Ginny Carnes (6-8) and then freshman Jenny Abendroth (1-2) scattered six hits in hurling a 2-0 shutout at Deltona on Saturday.

The Fighting Seminoles (8-13) moved a step closer to earning the top-seed for the district tournament when they blanked the Silver Hawks (7-12).

Mindy Crouse tripled, while Mindy Duvall doubled and had an RBI and Abendroth drove in a run for the Tribe. Savage had a double for Lake Howell.

On Saturday, Crouse again led the way, going 3-for-3 with a triple, while Amanda Howard drove in a run.

In other softball games, Winter Springs hammered Lake Brantley, 13-2; and Oviedo suffered two losses in the Kissimmee Klassic at the Osceola Softball Complex, dropping a 14-1 decision to undefeated Ft. Lauderdale-St. Thomas Aquinas (21-0), 14-1, on Thursday and falling 2-0 to Lake Wales on Saturday.

Doing the damage for the Bears were Megan Wright (2-for-4, double, RBI), Shana Coulson (2-for-3) and Kelly Cruz (2-for-4, three RBI). Samantha Seales (2-for-3) and C. Noland (2-for-3, RBI) led the Patriots (5-14).

Michelle Grinage and Jamie Dalton were both 1-for-3 for Oviedo in the loss to St. Thomas Aquinas.

HOROSCOPES

Your Birthday

WEDNESDAY, April 12, 2000

Someone with either more experience or who is older than you might take a genuine interest in your milestones in the year ahead. But help you count milestones you might not recognize.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful when shopping today, because there's a chance you could be tricked into believing something is worth far more than it actually is. Given their generosity, the day's gift card for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by reading $2 and $40 in Astro-Graph, the Sunday paper, P.O. Box 1270, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10166. Be sure to state your Zodiac sign.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) If you prepared to weather some opposition today, if you want to do something you believe is good for the family, but can't be appealing to them. Don't expect an easy ride.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21) Take more than adequate time to size things up properly today before rendering a set of key decisions or judgments you make in haste are likely to come back to haunt you.

CANCER (June 22-July 22) You can bank on considerable building good today, but help you count milestones you might not recognize.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A number of people will be in accord with your choices today, but not everybody. Don't let the blossoms gain the upper hand and distract you from your goals.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Provided you go along with the will of the majority today, everything should run smoothly for you. However, if you're overly inclined to do things your way, problems can arise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Just because a friend of yours is in an economy kick today is not a valid reason for you to stave your pal by picking up his or her share of expenses for an activity.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You will only look bad in the eyes of others today if you try to take full credit for something else. Just a hand in bringing about share the spotlight so you'll share the limelight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) See everyone is able to move as fast as you can, and you can find things up before you try to push them too hard. Instead, adjust your pace to accommodate them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Investing people who get along well with others should put a longer-term things, and you're planning a social event, be selective regarding your guest list.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Plans that were conceived well in advance could fall through today if you don't get less impeded and try to speed things up. Avoid attempting to push things through to completion.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) If you place too much value on your efforts, you could be disappointed by the responses you receive from others. Be realistic about the worth of what you do.
